CONSTRUCTIVE POLICY OF DEVELOPMENT BY STATE BEING FRAMED

Subject Being Considered By Members From Northern Minnesota.

Bill for State Aid in Clearing Lands Cannot Be Passed.

Senator Vibert Working on Plan for Dynamite for Settlers.

(By a Staff Correspondent).

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The members of both branches of the legislature from Northern Minnesota have begun to plan their legislative campaign, and they expect to get their measures ready and introduced early, so as to have plenty of time for the arguments that doubtless will be needed to convince their colleagues from other parts of the state of the merits of the measures that will be proposed for the development of Northern Minnesota.

Though the Northern Minnesota Development association went on record in favor of state aid in the clearing of lands, it is not likely that the Northern Minnesota members will attempt to accomplish anything along that line at this session. Recognizing that this would be a great help in state development, they also recognize that it would be impossible to get through a bill providing for it, and that to attempt the impossible would be to jeopardize and perhaps defeat the possible and practical projects they will get behind.

The Reclamation Amendment.

The two principal measures, from the viewpoint of state development, will be the resubmission of the reclamation amendment—"Amendment No. 3"—after it has been broadened to allow for partial clearing of state-owned tracts of cut-over land before they are offered for sale, and some form of state aid in buying and distribution of dynamite for use in stump-destruction.

Representative Charles H. Warner of Aitkin, joint author with P. H. McGarry and D. P. O'Neill, both now members of the senate—of Amendment

HOW STEAMER WAS SUNK BY GERMANS

Seacocks of Charcas Were Opened and Shells Then Fired Into Hull.

New York, Jan. 8.—Details of the sinking of the British steamer Charcas off the coast of Chile by the German auxiliary cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich, formerly a North German Lloyd steamer, were brought to New York today by the Charcas' captain, A. C. Norris, who was a passenger aboard the steamer Carillo from Colon.

Capt. Norris said that the Charcas was overhauled in foggy weather eight miles from the Chilean coast. A boarding party from the cruiser took off the crew and opened the Charcas' seacocks. Then, from a distance of a mile, the cruiser fired seven explosive shells into the steamer's hull. The Prinz Eitel Friedrich, Capt. Norris said, was fitted with four four-inch guns and machine guns.

Capt. Norris was accompanied by eight members of the crew of the lost ship when he arrived here.

ATTACK MADE ON SALTILLO

Fifteen Thousand Constitutionalist Troops Are Engaged.

Early Reports Say Hundreds Already Killed or Wounded.

Laredo, Tex., Jan. 8.—An attack on Villa troops in Saltillo was begun by about fifteen thousand Constitutionalist troops about 3 a. m. today. Early reports from the battle said that hundreds already had been killed or wounded. The Carranza forces were attacking from mountains about the city and were pouring in a fire from fifteen cannon.

To Attack Naco.

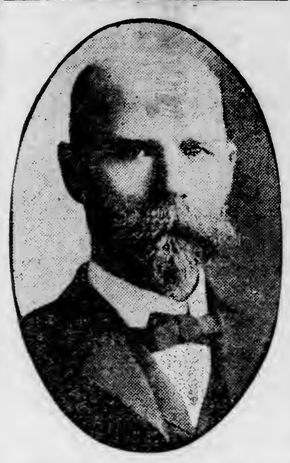

Washington, Jan. 8.—Gen. Villa's intention to attack the Carranza garrison at Naco was communicated to the war department today in official dispatches from army observers on the frontier.

Secretary Garrison said, however, that he had received no report from Maj.-Gen. Scott that Villa had notified the chief of staff of his intention of attacking the border town.

State department dispatches today from Eagle Pass said it was reported the Carranza forces evacuated Saltillo Wednesday and that Villa troops reoccupied the city the same day. The Carranza agency here today issued the following statement:

"In the streets of Puebla," 700 dead were gathered up and dead Villa troops were found scattered for thirty miles outside the city. More than 2,000 Villa troops surrendered voluntarily."

FOR STATE INSURANCE

Repeal of Elwell Road Law Sought By A. V. Anderson.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—State employers' liability insurance is proposed in a bill which Senator Richard Jones of Duluth is preparing for early introduction. Those who support Mr. Jones in this measure, and share his belief that it is needed, feel that while the workmen's compensation act has worked economies and benefits to labor, the employers have been denied their full share of the benefits because of high liability insurance rates. They believe that the state can do it cheaper, and that as the state is imposing automatic compensation requirements, thus throwing a burden on industry that it often used to evade through the courts, the state ought also to assume the handling of the liability insurance.

May Be Secured by Statute.

It has been assumed that state liability insurance was not possible in Minnesota save through a constitutional amendment, but Senator Jones believes that it is possible to get around this point and accomplish the result by a statute. The belief that a constitutional amendment is required seems to be based largely on the decision of the supreme court many years ago, which held that, as the Constitution forbids the use of public money for works of internal improvements, the law establishing a state elevator at Duluth was unconstitutional. The fact that no work of internal improvement is involved, and that the state would

HOLDUP OF MAIL CAR PREVENTED

Man Arrested in Chicago With Plans All Worked Out.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Holdup of a United States mail car operating on Chicago's trolley lines was prevented today by the arrest of Frank M. Royer, who, the police say, confessed, and two accomplices, Richard Andrews and Charles Stammer.

Maps of West Madison street, on which the mail car runs, were found in Royer's possession, the police said. Notations also were found on the maps showing the part each of the three alleged holdups were to play. One was to "attend" to the motorman; the second to get the registered mail and money and the third to "get all stray cops!" They had planned to escape in a motor car.

Stammer and Andrews, according to the police, are automobile bandits and are held under bonds of $60,000 for a series of fifteen robberies.

DUTY OF UNITED STATES TO REST OF WORLD MADE PLAIN BY THE PRESIDENT

REPLY TO NOTE IS SUBMITTED

Great Britain Sends Preliminary Answer to U. S. Ambassador.

Washington Believes It Will Recognize Existing Emergency.

London, Jan. 8.—Ambassador Page today received from the British government the preliminary reply to the American note protesting against British interference with American shipping. He forwarded it immediately to Washington.

The time of delivery of the more definite supplementary reply which the British government is to make is uncertain. It probably will be within two weeks.

Further negotiations between the two governments concerning specific cases of detention of American vessels will precede the preparation of the final British answer.

Emergency Recognized.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Conversations between Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, Secretary Bryan and Counselor Lansing have led the latter to believe that the British government's reply to the recent American note on the subject of interference with shipping will recognize the emergency which exists, as indicated in the American note.

At noon it had not been received, but officials expected that with prompt transmission it would be uncoded and before them by night.

It has been understood that the reply would not be completely responsive; in the first place, because the

PEACE CENTENARY BEING CELEBRATED

Three-Day Festivities Begin in City of New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 8.—Celebration of the Centenary of Peace between Great Britain and the United States was begun here today with a salute of twenty-one guns timed to end 100 years to the moment, after Andrew Jackson triumphed over the British army at Chalmette. Other ceremonies of the three days' celebration included the unveiling of a statue of Jackson on the spot where the general had his standard at Chalmette and the formal exchange of greetings between Assistant Secretary Peters of the treasury department, who is President Wilson's representative, and the envoy of King George, Consul Carew-Hunt.

Many prominent Canadian and American peace advocates were here for the series of exercises which were to take place at sites and in buildings made famous by events of a century ago.

America Should Keep Own Poise to Best Bring About Peace.

Attention Should Not Be Diverted From Our Own Country.

Richmond, Ind., Jan. 8.—President Wilson made a five-minute speech on the duty of the United States to the rest of the world here today. In a short stop en route to Indianapolis he declared to a crowd of several thousand persons that if America keeps its own poise it will be best able to bring about peace in Europe. He was warmly cheered.

"I haven't made a speech for so long that I fear I don't know how," he said. "You know I have been confined for a couple of years at hard labor and am out on parole for a day or two. I have to hurry back for fear I will forfeit the parole.

"But I do want to say this, my fellow citizens, that it is a very genuine pleasure to me to get abroad again and stir among the people I so dearly love. Because the one thing we have to think about down in Washington is the best thing to do for you and the thing that you want us to do for you,

EMPLOYERS OPPOSE MINIMUM WAGE LAW

New York, Jan. 8.—A state law providing a minimum wage for women and minors was opposed by a majority of the employers who testified at the opening of a series of hearings before the state factory investigating commission. Labor and trades union representatives who were witnesses were unanimously in favor of such a law. The purpose of the inquiry is to determine whether to recommend the enactment of minimum wage legislation.

Heads of department stores warned the commission that the consumer, through increased prices of goods, would have to bear the cost if minimum wages were fixed; that such a law would not tend to develop the maximum of efficiency among workers, and that it should be left to the stores themselves to decide the amount their employes shall receive. The commission was told that the number of unemployed would be increased because stores would be compelled to discharge workers incapable of earning the fixed wage.

Dissenting from the opinions generally held by those witnesses, Prescott Lynn, general manager of the John Wanamaker store, declared in favor of having a minimum law tried out. He read a statement setting forth the views of John Wanamaker, and said a minimum wage of $9 a week for women should be fixed.

SIEGE WARFARE WITH A FEW ARTILLERY DUELS PREVAILS ALONG ALL BATTLE FRONTS

FIERCE ATTACK MADE ON SKIS

Germans Forced to Retire on Orbey By Brilliant Exploit.

St. Die, Department of the Vosges, France, Jan. 6, via Paris, Jan. 8, 2:30 a. m.—A brilliant exploit by French Alpine troops who charged on skis down the snow-covered mountain slopes at Bonhomme, a post on the Alsatian frontier, forced the Germans to retire on Orbey, five miles down the valley of the River Weiss, toward Colmar.

The Germans held the railroad from St. Marie to St. Croix, menacing St. Die, where the French heavy artillery opened fire on Jan. 3. This led the Germans to expect an attack from that direction. At the same time the Alpine troops, leading the way for the French infantry, advanced on the German customs house at Diedolshausen, near Bonhomme.

A strong German detachment with quick-firers held the route, but the winding nature of the road prevented the Germans from firing more than 700 yards along it.

Alpine Troops at Work.

The French advanced to within this distance of the Germans, while the Alpine troops began to climb the heights to attack the Germans on their flank.

Progress was slow and the dark forms of the soldiers, outlined against the snow, made excellent marks for the German sharpshooters. Many of the men rolled down steep slopes, leaving crimson stains behind. The survivors pushed forward until they gained the shelter of the pines at the summit.

Then began an exciting charge on the Germans at Diedolshausen. The Alpine soldiers on their skis slid down the mountainside at a dizzy speed, while the infantry in the road below opened fire on the Germans.

Caught between two fires the Germans gave way, fighting obstinately along the five miles of their retreat.

NOTHING REVEALED BY X-RAY TESTS

Steamship Sails From Galveston With Cotton for Bremen.

Galveston, Tex., Jan. 8.—After X-ray tests had shown no contraband concealed in her cargo, the American steamship Nebraskan sailed today for Bremen, carrying a cargo of 10,317 bales of cotton. The tests were made under the supervision of the British consul in order to avoid possible delay by British warships searching for contraband. The Nebraskan is the second vessel to sail from Galveston for Bremen direct since the outbreak of the war.

NEW GREEK MINISTER TO THE UNITED STATES

ALEXANDER VOUROS.

Washington, Jan. 8. — Alexander Vouros, who was one of the attaches of the Greek legation in Washington for many years, is returning to be the minister of his country. He will replace A. Schliemann, who was recalled to Athens on account of politics. Mr. Vouros was very popular in Washington and he will be very welcome in the diplomatic circle.

ILL TREATMENT OF CATHOLICS

Churches Destroyed and Clergy Ill-Used By German Troops.

London, Jan. 8.—At the request of the Belgian legation in London, the British press bureau today issued detailed allegations of the maltreatment of the Catholic clergy in Belgium and the destruction of their institutions by German troops.

This statement says that churches and religious houses were destroyed or profaned in almost every village and in many towns where the German troops passed. In most cases the edifices were utilized as stables and prisons, and when not placed in safe hiding, the sacred vessels were stolen.

The statement makes the declaration that members of the clergy have been exposed to special indignities at the hands of German soldiers. In the dioceses of Liege, Namur, Malines and Ghent many priests and others connected with the churches were either shot or hanged. Many other priests were carried off to Germany where

ANOTHER GERMAN SHIP HAS BEEN INTERNED.

Paris, Jan. 8.—A Madrid dispatch to L'Information states that the German auxiliary cruiser Otavi has been interned at Las Palmas, Canary islands.

The German steamer Otavi arrived at Las Palmas on Jan. 5. She was previously reported on Dec. 3 as being at Pernambuco. There has been no mention heretofore that the Otavi had been converted into an auxiliary cruiser, but it is likely that she was used by the German cruiser Karlsruhe as a supply ship.

PURSUIT OF TURKS STILL CONTINUES

Mud in Poland Hinders Progress of the German Army.

Another Effort to Be Made to Reach the City of Warsaw.

London, Jan. 8.—Aside from the continued Russian pursuit of the Turkish forces defeated in the Caucasus and the continuation of the Russian advance through the passes of the Carpathian mountains, siege warfare with intermittent artillery duel seems for the moment to prevail almost everywhere in the area of hostilities, in the eastern arena as well as in the western.

The reports reaching London show that Gen. von Hindenburg, the German commander in Poland, for some time past made no appreciable progress toward Warsaw, the mud of Poland having evidently done for him what the broken dikes and the resultant inundations did for the Germans in West Flanders. A dispatch coming to London from Copenhagen declares that von Hindenburg is expecting heavy reinforcements and that with an army of one million men he proposes to make one more supreme effort to break through to the Polish capital. The Russians would appear to have had ample time to reinforce themselves and to strengthen their positions around Warsaw, and it is the opinion of British observers that the trench warfare for which the Western theater of the war has become famous, will

GARIBALDI DIED DEATH OF A HERO

Grandson of Italian Patriot Killed While Aiding Comrades.

Paris, Jan. 8.—Constantino Garibaldi, the second of the grandsons of the Italian patriot to die in the fighting in France, was killed during an attack on a series of three German trenches. The story of how he met his death is told by his brother, Capt. Ricciotti Garibaldi.

After mines had been laid and exploded, according to Capt. Garibaldi's story, the regiment of Italian volunteers rushed forward shouting "Viva Trieste!" They captured the first two trenches without difficulty, but the third trench was a more difficult proposition, being separated from the others by about 100 yards of open ground and commanded by a hill.

Notwithstanding this, the Garibaldians stormed the trench, but the Germans delivered a fierce counter-attack and the position of the Italian volunteers became difficult.

Col. Peppino Garibaldi, the commander, ordered the regiment to fall back and Constantino, who commanded the reserves in the second trench, went forward to aid his comrades. Almost immediately he was struck in the neck by a bullet which severed the carotid artery and he fell within a few yards of his brother, Peppino.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Capture of another town in Alsace to the south of Sennheim, is reported by the French war office in its statement of today. The German communication neither affirms nor denies the report, saying merely that fighting is still in progress for possession of the town. It is stated, however, that repeated French attacks in Alsace broke down under the German artillery.

In a few other localities between the North sea and Switzerland sharp fighting is in progress, in which each side has scored minor victories, but over most of the line there is little activity.

The armies in the east are similarly inactive. The German communication mentions an engagement east of the Rawka river, in Poland, where it is said that the advance is still in progress, but the spectacular clashes of great masses of troops during the earlier part of the war have no parallels now along the Warsaw front. There, as in the west, the Germans and Russians have dug themselves into the ground and are taking up the tedious operations of warfare in the trenches.

Great Britain's preliminary reply to the American note concerning British interference with American shipping was delivered today to Ambassador Page who forwarded it to Washington.

Constantinople, regarded by the allies as one of the greatest prizes of the war, should they win and Turkey be forced to give it up, may be abandoned soon, as the seat of the Turkish government. A dispatch from Sofia, Bulgaria, gives in circumstantial detail an account of unsettled conditions at Constantinople, where it is said that internal disorders, as well as attacks from without apparently are feared.

It is asserted that preparations have been made to remove from the city archives of state and the treasury, should the necessity arise, and that at Adrianople arrangements are under way to receive the government officials. An Anglo-French fleet is hammering at the Dardanelles, which, if passed, would give access to Constantinople east of the city on the Russo-Turkish frontier. Russian forces, which are said to have defeated the Turks, are seeking to penetrate Asiatic Turkey in the direction of Constantinople.

The Russian sweep across Bukowina, Austria's northeastern province, and through Galicia to the Carpathians, against which the Austrians have been driven back, is admitted in an official statement today from Vienna. The Austrian military authorities say that the retreat of their troops was made necessary by the numerical superiority of the Russian forces.

Fighting has been resumed on the Servian front. An Austrian force which occupied an island near Belgrade was attacked by Servians, according to an official statement from Nish. The hostilities were on a comparatively small scale and there is no indication that Austria contemplates another attack in force on Servia at this time.

MILLIONS TO RUN SCHOOLS

County Superintendent Reports Expenditures of $2,868,424.

Many New Buildings Are Erected; Big Development Shown.

St. Louis county's school system, including the high and graded schools of the cities and villages and the rural schools of the outlying districts, cost $2,868,424.23 for the 1913-1914 year according to figures available yesterday afternoon from the annual report of N. A. Young, county superintendent of schools. This is an increase of $402,-999.13 over the 1912-1913 period, when the cost of maintaining the schools was $2,465,425.10.

Attendance Is Large.

The report shows that 36,292 attended school during the 1913-1914 year. Of this number 32,709 attended schools that were qualified to receive aid under a state apportionment based on attendance. On the other hand 3,583 attended schools that were not qualified to receive aid from this source. The following table shows how the apportionment was divided among the city and rural districts:

	High and graded school districts.	Semi-graded and rural school districts.
Pupils entitled to apportionment	25,816	6,863
Pupils not entitled to apportionment	2,757	828
Total enrollment	28,603	7,689

High and Graded Schools.

The average attendance for children attending high and graded schools was 154.8 days, in the semi-graded and rural schools 133.2 days and in the county at large, 150.1 days. The number of pupils from 5 to 21 years of age attending school was 34,857. Of this number 27,336 were in the city and village schools and 7,521 in the rural and other schools of the country districts.

The report also shows that 1,202 teachers were employed, of which 1,069 were women and 133 were men. The men teaching in the high and graded schools numbered 107 and in the rural districts 126. Of the women teachers, 795 taught in the high and graded schools and 274 in the country districts.

Men Get Higher Wages.

Men teachers fared considerably better than women in the matter of wages. The average monthly wage paid to men teachers was $120.17, as compared with $78 for the women. In the city schools, the average monthly wages was $128.30 for the men and $82.92 for the women. In the semi-graded and rural schools, the average wage paid was $86.73 for men and $66.65 for women teachers.

The report also details the training of the teaching staff in the county schools. Among other things, it shows that 165 have had a college education, 676 were graduates of normal schools and 845 had high school education. In the high and graded schools the standard was as follows: College education, 143; normal school training, 552, and high school graduates, 636. In the country schools there were 17 college graduates, 124 teachers with normal school training and 209 who have had a high school training.

County Has 315 Schools.

St. Louis county now has 315 schoolhouses. Of this number 236 are frame buildings, 68 are brick structures, 10 have been built out of logs and one is of stone construction. The report estimates the value of the buildings as $5,411,996.44. The high and graded schools have cost the county $6,283,-179.21 and the schools in the rural districts $258,817.23. Although the school buildings of the cities and villages are by far the most costly, they are outnumbered by the country schools. The report shows that of the 315 schools, 173 are rural and semi-graded schools and 142 are in the country districts.

Twenty New Schoolhouses.

Twenty new schoolhouses were erected during the 1913-14 year. Of this number there were six frame and seven brick high and graded school buildings and seven frame rural school houses. The total amount paid for new schoolhouses and sites for the year was $746,801.09, as compared with $722,122.99 for the previous year.

Sixty School Districts.

The county has sixty school districts. During the period covered by the report, the county superintendent's office paid 438 visits to the schools. The report also shows the following facts of interest:

POINT GROUPINGS TO BE MAINTAINED

Supplementary Order on Recent Increase in Freight Rates.

Washington, Jan. 8.—In an order issued today by the interstate commerce commission, supplementary to the orders granting an increase of 5 per cent in certain specified freight rates, the Eastern railroads were directed to preserve "existing groupings and relationships, even though by so doing some rates are increased slightly more than 5 per cent."

In the opinion of the commission, such relationships "in the interest of carriers and of competition between shippers and receivers ought to be maintained." The commission therefore ordered:

"That in establishing the increased rates approved, the rates from Chicago to New York and Montreal and from New York to Chicago may be increased 5 per cent, and those increased rates may be scaled to or from percentage points or groups upon the established percentage grouping and percentages; that the rates via ocean and rail and established all-rail differential lines may be made the same differentials under the standard all-rail rates as now exist, and that the established groupings of points of origin or of points of destination under common rates may be preserved even though so doing results in increasing some rates slightly more than 5 per cent."

The commission further fixed a definite percentage of the New York-Chicago rates which may be charged to and from intermediate points. Percentage scales also were established for the charges to be exacted between the various freight territories.

PARCEL POST PLAN READY

"Market Basket" Project Will Be Tested in Large Cities.

A plan to bring the producer and consumer into direct relation and reduce the high cost of living through the medium of the parcel post is being worked out in several large cities of the United States, and if it proves successful, it will be extended to Duluth, according to postal authorities at Washington, D. C. Postmaster William E. McEwen has done much of the preliminary work already, and if this office gets orders to go ahead with the project some very quick results can be obtained.

The plan in substance is to get the producers surrounding Duluth in direct contact with the consumers of the city, and use the parcel post as a medium for the producers to send their produce to the city in parcels not exceeding fifty pounds. The plan in detail is to secure the names of all farmers producing butter, eggs, poultry, and other produce admissable to parcel post. All parcels of the farmers included in this list would be collected daily by the rural carriers on the five routes running out of Duluth. The list of farmers and the produce they offer would be furnished Duluth residents, who desired to obtain daily or weekly deliveries of produce. In cities where this plan is to be carried out as a test the blanks were sent to the farmers at the beginning of the new year.

This is the first step taken in the "Minnesota Market Basket" project since several hundred names were secured at the parcel post exhibit at the state fair.

The plan will be tested in Minneapolis, Chicago and other large cities, and Postmaster McEwen is watching every step in the development of the work. He is a hearty advocate of the plan, and believes that Duluth would be greatly benefited if the project works sucessfully and is extended to this city.

EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY

Measure Has Been Introduced in the North Dakota Senate.

Governor Desirous of Cutting Tax Commission to One Member.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The employers' liability measure introduced in the senate by H. A. Bronson of Grand Forks county, and which bears the distinction of being the first bill introduced at this session, is fathered by the North Dakota Federation of Labor.

The system favored for North Dakota patterns very largely after the Minnesota act, being on an optional basis. It was worked out by Senator Bronson, working in conjunction with a special committee of the labor organizations of the state.

Today the legislature recessed for the inaugural ball. That big event takes place this evening in the chamber of the house of representatives. It will be the second inaugural ball for Governor Hanna. Indications are that there will be a very large number of visitors in the city for the event. Preceding the bill there will be a reception in the governor's offices, in which all state officials will participate.

The Tax Commission.

Governor Hanna, in his message to the state legislature, was silent with respect to the state tax commission, but his silence doesn't mean that the governor hasn't a notion as to what steps should be taken in connection with that body. At the conclusion of the assembly two years ago, he made known his views, insisting that the state should have established a one-man commission, instead of a three-man body. The present assembly will see an effort made to bring about the enactment of a law coinciding with the governor's view.

At the present time there are only two members on the commission—George Wallace and F. E. Packard. Since the resignation of L. E. Birdzell of Grand Forks, four months ago, Governor Hanna has allowed the position to remain open.

Working on Committee List.

Speaker A. P. Hanson is spending the week in lining up his committees. The task is one of big proportions, with the house membership of 112. There are about eight choice committees, on which almost every member would like to land. It is understood that he is strongly favorable to the plan proposed by Governor Hanna, in urging that no member be loaded down with appointments on the big committees.

Treadwell Twichell, it is reported, is slated for the chairmanship of the appropriations committee, in recognition of his previous legislative experience. A. G. Divet of Richland county probably will retain the chairmanship of the judiciary committee, while L. L. Twichell of Cass county is being groomed by some for the chairmanship of the ways and means committee. W. S. Dean of Grand Forks county is also seeking the chairmanship, having been at the head of the committee two years ago.

Speaker Hanson announced his first committee yesterday, being the house members of the joint committee on rules, and the house rules committee. The members follow:

Joint rules committee—Watt, Kellog, Divet, Hendrickson, Bratton, Hjort, Johnson, Baldwin and Dixon.

House rules committee—Baldwin, W. J. Burnett, List, Converse, Frazer, Hickle, Wolfer, Haraldson and Torson.

INHERITANCE TAX RULING

North Dakota Act Discriminating Against Foreign Heirs Knocked Out.

Grafton, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—County Judge Shepherd of this place has declared that feature of the state inheritance tax law which provides for alien heirs to pay a higher tax on inheritance unconstitutional. His decision was in the estate of the late Father Stephan of Vesseleville. The priest left about $2,000, a part of which went to one brother in this state and the rest to another brother in Prague, Bohemia. The law provides for a tax of 1½ per cent on inheritance to heirs in the United States and 25 per cent on inheritance to aliens. The case probably will be taken to the supreme court.

GETTING RESULTS.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The five-acre demonstration plats maintained in this state by the development agent of the Great Northern railroad did good work last year in showing what can be produced by the soil of North Dakota and greater things are expected this year. J. J. Hill is greatly interested in these plots and is exploiting the returns secured last year. The figures announced by the road indicate that more than double the average yields have been procured. On wheat some of the domenstration plots went as high as 36 bushels, but the average was 19.6, as against 10.18 on adjoining farms and 8.57 in the county averages.

On barley the Great Northern demonstration plots showed 41.7 to 22.1 on adjoining farms and 18 in the counties in which the plots were located.

On oats the demonstration plots showed 45.65, adjoining farms 26.28 and county averages 22.8.

The Great Northern people believe that any reasonable method that will double the yield is worthy of consideration and they will continue the demonstration work in the state.

SPOONER MAN HAS VERY CLOSE CALL

Unable to Leave Burning Home, But Is Carried to Safety.

Spooner, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nels P. Olson's house caught fire presumably from crossed wires about 1 o'clock Wednesday morning and nearly burned to the ground. Mr. Olson, who was asleep, came near being smothered as he was unable to help himself out and was brought out by a passing stranger. The loss on the building is about $1,500, with $1,100 insurance; loss on furniture about $1,000, $600 insurance.

Railroad Man Dies.

William Rogers, formerly a well known railroad man having been employed at Wyoming, Bemidji and other points on the Northern Pacific, died Wednesday afternoon in the village hall of heart trouble. He has been ailing for some time and has been allowed to sleep in the hall. He was around town during the forenoon, but was found about supper time dead. He was about 61 years of age, and is said to have several children in different parts of the state.

Orson Bisbee, one of the best known lumber and log scalers of the northern part of the state died from the effects of a stroke of paralysis Thursday afternoon. He has been following the lumbering industry in Michigan, Wisconsin and Northern Minnesota. He leaves a wife and one son.

BOYS ORGANIZE DRAMATIC CLUB

High School Boys Plan to Put on Several Amateur Plays.

Duluth Central high school now has a dramatic club. At a meeting held yesterday afternoon the club was organized and officers elected. Harry Haines, who has been active in the promotion of dramatics at the high school, was chosen president. Jacob Garon was chosen vice president, Donald Alexander, secretary and treasurer, and Irving Grover, advertising manager.

In promoting the work the students are to have the aid of L. C. Rasey of the English department. The new organization, which is to be called "The Lambs' Club of the Duluth Central High School," will meet every two weeks. Several plays will be put on during the year. All boys of the school are eligible to membership.

WIGGINS WILL SETTLE.

Ashland Report Says Portland Man Will Pay Up Claim.

Ashland, Wis., Jan. 8.—It looks, from reports, as though D. L. Wiggins, the Portland lumberman, formerly a resident of this section, will not be prosecuted for alleged embezzlement of money belonging to Edward Tordenshield of Park Falls, as it is expected a settlement will be effected.

Wiggins was guardian for Tordenshield and his accounts are alleged to have a shortage of $1,600. This, it was charged occurred sixteen years ago, and with interest amounts to $2,600. It is understood that Wiggins will pay, under the terms of the agreement, part of the amount in cash and give security for the balance on a piece of timber land in British Columbia of which he is part owner.

VICTIM OF ICY WALK.

Miss Borg, Student at Normal School, Falls and Breaks Leg.

Miss Z. R. Borg, a student at the Duluth normal school, whose home is in Anoka, Minn., fell on the sidewalk on West First street at :30 yesterday afternoon and broke her leg. She was taken into French & Bassett's store and an ambulance was called. She was taken to St. Mary's hospital. The matron of Torrance hall accompanied her to the hospital, having been summoned by telephone.

REARGUMENT DENIED.

Supreme Court Declines to Aid Crosby Kidnapers Further.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 8.—Efforts on the part of Peter L. Newman, W. J. Sullivan and George C. Payne, who kidnaped Theodore Sjogren, miner, during a strike at Crosby, April 17, 1913, have failed to keep them out of prison. They will be sentenced next Saturday.

The supreme court Wednesday denied Sullivan's application for reargument of his appeal from conviction in district court.

The men will be sentenced on the indeterminate plan. The offense carries with it a maximum sentence of forty years.

This is the first kidnaping case brought to the supreme court. Moreover, Governor Eberhart asked Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith to aid in conducting the prosecution. Another unusual proceeding was the filing of an affidavit of prejudice against the Crow Wing county sheriff by the attorney general.

FARGO HOPING FOR SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fargo wants a symphony orchestra. It is one of the sequences to the completion of the new $100,000 auditorium. Leading musicians are enthusiastic over the proposition and music lovers among the citizens, it is asserted, would finance a proposition of that kind if established and legally incorporated.

The matter will be taken up by public-spirited citizens within a short time and effort made to develop the idea to successful fruition.

A. O. Rupert, a leading musician of Fargo, has been suggested as the man to head the symphony organization, and A. J. Stephens for manager and director of the choral union.

TWO GENERALS IN FOOTBALL MATCH.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Dublin, Dec. 25.—A letter received here from the front says that last week a football match was played between the staffs of the First and Second Cavalry divisions. Maj.-Gen. Gough and Maj.-Gen. Ryng played on opposite sides.

The result of the match is not stated, but a return match was arranged. A football game in which two major generals took part is probably a unique record in military operations.

To Stop Falling Hair

Falling hair—the forerunner of baldness—is nearly always due to the presence of a parasite known as the dandruff germ. If your hair falls out, the chances are ten to one that the dandruff germ is the cause of it, and you cannot do better than to get your druggist to make you up a bottle of the old reliable formula, consisting of 6 oz. Bay Rum, 2 oz. Lavona de Composee, and ½ dram Menthol Crystals. Apply night and morning, rubbing briskly into the scalp with the finger tips. This preparation, which enjoys a world-wide reputation as a hair grower and dandruff destroyer, is claimed by many to restore gray hair to its original color as well as making the hair grow, and destroying the dandruff germ.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

ARE SPLIT ON MILITARISM

Opponents Say Principles of Warfare Should Not Be Taught.

Militarism or non-militarism is the rock on which the Duluth Central high school body threatens to split. At a meeting yesterday, following the meeting held to organize a dramatic society at the high school, the boys held a stormy debate in which both sides of the problem were hotly discussed, each side having a number of supporters.

Will Have Drill Company.

As a result of the meeting the high school will have a drill company. Sixty students are already "enlisted" on the side of militarism, and have decided to organize into a company for regular military drill. One hundred boys are expected to join the ranks. The new organization has the support of Superintendent Robert E. Denfeld and Principal Leonard Young. What action will be taken by those opposed to the military movement is not known. Their opposition, in spite of the fact that the principal and superintendent have stamped military drill with their approval, is not downed entirely. They claim that the principles of war should not be taught in the schools.

The movement has been agitated for some time by The Gazette, the bi-weekly paper issued by the agricultural department of the school. Irving Grover and Kenneth Jones are backing the movement at present. Its avowed purpose is to promote school spirit and provide healthful exercise.

First Form of Work.

"Setting up" exercises will be the first taken up. The boys will then take up military drill. In their drill work they will be assisted by C. C. Jones, second lieutenant of Aad patrol, who has offered to help drill the boys.

The lack of space has been very largely the cause of drill work not being taken up before. The gymnasium of the Washington school will be used and the campus also as soon as the weather permits.

Approved by Faculty.

"I am heartily in favor of such a measure," said Principal Young yesterday, "and I will not oppose anything the boys may intend to do in this line. I realize just how important the work is, both from the standpoint of providing healthful exercise and a knowledge of military tactics.

"The European war, especially, has made a good many people wake up to the fact that entire military unpreparedness seems to be inadvisable. Just how far this military drill will be effective I cannot say, but undoubtedly it will be a good thing for the school."

Superintendent R. E. Denfeld expressed himself similarly. "For the last ten years," he said, "prominent citizens have been eager to have this military drill made compulsory in the schools. Some of the men have offered to drill the companies, and one prominent citizen even offered to buy the entire supplies, if such a course were provided."

To Cure Catarrh Purify the Blood

Reason it Out, Where Does it Start the Mucus From?

Innumerable catarrh sufferers have cured themselves by purifying their blood with S. S. S. Catarrh often invades the entire system before it chokes the nasal passages. It becomes so chronic and extensive that the stomach, liver, kidneys, bronchial tubes and most of the glands are involved without such serious conditions being realized. Catarrh may be the result of some serious blood trouble of former years, and this is only one of the many peculiar effects of impure blood. Now S. S. S., in its influence upon the mucous surfaces, causes those catarrhal secretions to be changed or converted into a substance easily, quickly, and naturally expelled from the body. It so changes this mucus that it is not the ropy, clogging stuff that plugs the nose, chokes the throat, causes severe bowel trouble, upsets the stomach and contaminates the food just entering the blood. It is often difficult to convince catarrh sufferers that chronic cough, chest pains, gagging, fetid breath and other symptoms are only the local evidence of deep seated trouble. Get a bottle of S. S. S. today and try it. You will get good results, real benefit and soon be aware of a gradual cleaning up and a check to the progress and dangers of catarrh. Avoid substitutes. S. S. S. is prepared only by The Swift Specific Co., 61 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. They conduct a medical department for free advice that is worth while consulting.

TWILIGHT SLUMBER NO NEW ANAESTHETIC

Duluth Physician Says That Alleged New Somnolent Has Been Used for Years; In Old Days to Quiet Nerves of Shaky Hangovers.

Twilight slumber, the anaesthetic which has been made much of, of late, and which has been featured in one of the popular photoplays—in fact the play being built around it—is "stone age stuff," according to physicians in Duluth and elsewhere. Recently a much-talked-of case in Minneapolis occurred where a young woman became a mother under influence of "twilight slumber," and came through, it is alleged, without realizing the pains of labor. The case attracted a good deal of attention.

A local physician said that there is nothing new in twilight slumber, which the Germans have, for years, called "dammerschlaf." It has been known to physicians for these many years, according to the doctor quoted and to other physicians. It was abandoned, he said, for a long time owing to the fact that the ingredients were too much out of proportion, and often fatal cases—so far as the child was concerned—resulted, although it relieved the mother. The drugs used are a combination of morphine and hyocin or scopolamin. Smaller doses, it is claimed, are now used and better results are obtained.

"In the old yays, and not infrequently now," said the local physician, who, according to the ethics of the profession, did not want to have his name used, "we used this combination or drugs chiefly for fellows who had been on a prolonged drunk. These 'jags' disquieted their nerves to such an extent that they could not sleep, and liquor instead of continuing as a narcotic, became a stimulant that kept them awake. When they would come to us all shaky and almost dead and a bunch of nerves from want of sleep, we would give them a dose of what is now called 'twilight slumber,' and they would settle down and be happy for a time at least. There is nothing new about this drug combination, except possibly its being given in better form, but few physicians use it, for in present day surgery there are better things."

TAXPAYERS HAVE READIER MONEY

At Least They Are Paying Up More Promptly, Says Treasurer.

Taxpayers are more prompt in paying their taxes this year than ever before according to County Treasurer George H. Vivian.

All real and personal property taxes for the year 1914 became due last Monday. Taxpayers are given until March 1 in which to pay their personal property taxes without penalty. Real estate taxes may be paid in two installments. The first half must be paid before June 1 to avoid the penalty.

The tax rate in Duluth is 34.9 mills this year as compared with 36.3 mills a year ago.

OFFICERS INSTALLED.

Dance Features Meeting of B'nai B'rith Lodge.

Covenant lodge, Independent Order of B'nai B'rith, entertained at its annual winter dancing party and also held its installing of officers last evening at the Old Masonic temple. About thirty couples enjoyed the dance program furnished by the Lavick orchestra.

During the evening Bernard Silberstein, representing the district grand lodge, installed the newly elected officers for 1915. A special ceremony was the feature of the installation.

The officers installed for the ensuing year are: Dr. Samuel Gross, president; Max Oreckovsky, vice president; A. B. Kapplin, secretary; Dr. M. S. Hirschfield, treasurer, and J. J. Robinson, monitor.

Former Chief Pardoned.

Big Collier Through Canal.

Panama, Jan. 8.—The United States naval collier Proteus passed through the Panama canal yesterday. She is the largest ship which has used the waterway. On an average six ships are making the trip through the canal daily. The canal channel is in better condition than it has been since Oct. 15, when the last big slide occurred.

At the Glass Block White Sale

A Notable Day Tomorrow

Notable because it will be the busiest day in the most successful White Sale we've ever put on. A White Sale we can scarcely hope to surpass another year—in point of prices—for the low cost of raw cotton has sent white goods down to figures they may never touch again.

No wonder women have been enthusiastic over the opportunity for investment which these low prices have meant to them. The opportunity has been nothing less than extraordinary, and the knowledge that our big stocks are still large and varied, should be good news to all thoughtful housewives.

"The Sound of the Carpenter's Hammer"

A big, corner of this great store—clerks swift and efficient—a noticeable absence of confusion — stocks pleasantly visible and in perfect condition—this was the impression made by our Linen Depar.ment Monday morning, at the opening of the great White Sale. And it is still the impression made by the Linen Department, after nearly a week's heavy selling; it is the real secret of the innumerable comments during the past few days on the success of this big sale.

This has been Duluth's greatest White Sale, simply because we prepared for it. The impression of perfect order and system, amid a surge of busy customers, was the result of careful and elaborate planning long in advance. Planning that meant progress, even though it involved calling in the carpenters to remodel the entire department.

The sound of the carpenter's hammer is the best evidence of a store's progressive spirit.

Fruits and Vegetables Are Cheap for Season—Apples a Feature.

Householders will find today that the cost of living has been increased through a higher range prevailing in many lines of produce, and in some edibles the end in that way is considered to be by no means in sight.

Butter is up a cent, being quoted at 34 cents in tubs, 35 cents in prints and 36 cents in jars. The markets are strong in all quarters with the figure in New York standing at 37 cents in tubs. The bulge is due to the fact that the make of fresh butter is now the smallest that it has been in years, while the consumption demand is good. Stocks in the associated warehouses on Jan. 1 furthermore were 7,000,000 pounds short of what they were a year ago. Taken everything into consideration, the prospects are regarded as pointing to further advances.

In strictly fresh eggs, there is hardly a real market, according to the Bridgeman-Russell company, and the Victor Produce company, for the reason that current receipts are so small that almost any price may be obtained. Their quotation today is nominally 41 cents a dozen.

The exceptionally cold weather during December affected the supply in general through stopping hens from laying, so that the increased production, while ordinarily met with in January, is likely to be delayed. The scarcity in the market is shown in the fact that both fresh and storage eggs are being shipped from Duluth to points in this district that are the largest producers during the summer season.

Storage eggs are up 3 and 4 cents a dozen today at 27 and 30 cents, and unless the weather becomes mild over a period, a still higher range is predicted as a shortage in supplies is thought likely to be brought about.

Poultry Prices Up.

In the poultry list, live and dressed hens and springs are up a cent a pound. The demand for them is good, while receipts are light and will probably remain so for some weeks. Now that the holiday season is over, the call for turkeys, geese and ducks is comparatively limited, and is confined to a few outlets.

Good Apple Movement.

Changes in fruits and vegetable prices, as reported by the Fitzsimmons-Palmer company and the Stacy-Merrill Fruit company, are comparatively few and unimportant. The apple movement is heavy, and supplies in some of the earlier varieties are being cleaned up. Quotations in some directions are up slightly to take care of the accumulated storage charges. Sales of oranges are heavy and prices remain low. Some trouble has been experienced by dealers through fruit freezing in transit during the cold weather, but the percentage of loss was small. A moderate advance has come about in grapefruit, but a lighter movement than in some other years is reported owing to the large supplies and cheapness of apples and oranges. California pears and drum Emperor grapes are still offering freely at unchanged prices.

Cranberry supplies are being rapidly cleaned up and advances are expected shortly.

Vegetable Supplies Liberal.

California celery is a feature in vegetables. The quality of all green vegetables are good this winter, and quotations are reasonable.

Quotations in roots are firming up all round. Minnesota potatoes are still selling at 50 cents a bushel, but an advance is looked for. Floating stocks in the hands of small operators are said to be about cleaned up, so that the selling pressure from that quarter is being relieved.

NAVAL RESERVE MEASURE POPULAR

Recruiting Officer Speaks Highly of Secretary Daniels' Plans.

The recommendations of Secretary of the Navy Daniels for a naval reserve from honorably discharged enlisted men, appears to be meeting with approval among the rank and file of naval men. Peter Coyle, naval recruiting officer at Duluth, speaks very highly of the proposed measure, and gives The Herald the following article from a naval paper:

Secretary Daniels sent to both naval committees the draft of an amendment providing for the authorization of a naval reserve from among honorably discharged enlisted men of the navy which he strongly recommends to be incorporated in the forthcoming naval appropriation bill. The principal features of the bill are as follows:

"Men who have had twenty years of honorable service may upon their own application be transferred to the reserve on half pay; those of sixteen years' service with one-third pay; those of twelve years' service with one-fourth pay; those of eight years' service with $60 per annum; those of four years' service with $30 per annum, and those now in civil life who have been honorably discharged within eight years may enlist in the naval reserve and receive pay at the rate of $12 per annum and be furnished with uniform clothing outfit. Provision is made for periodical assembling for muster, inspection and drill. In his letter to the committee Secretary Daniels states that the records of the navy department for the last three years indicate that there is an annual average of about 3,550 men honorably discharged from the service who do not re-enlist in the navy, but take up civil pursuits. The greater proportion of these men quit the service after only one enlistment. It is believed that the legislation herein proposed offers an inducement which will cause more of these experienced men to remain longer in the regular service, and that practically all of those who do not re-enlist in the navy will nevertheless enlist in the naval reserve. The number of enlisted men of the navy and their length of service on June 30, 1914, was: Under four years, 34,027; four to eight years, 10,909; eight to twelve years, 4,529; twelve to sixteen years, 1,588; sixteen to nineteen years, 745; nineteen to twenty-two years, 407; twenty-two to twenty-five, 249; twenty-five to twenty-eight, 136; more than twenty-eight years, 77; total, 52,667. Commenting on the above table the secretary says: 'It will be noted that about two-thirds of the total number of the enlisted men of the navy are serving in their first enlistment, a fact which indicates the necessity of making a substantial inducement to men to remain in the service for eight, twelve, sixteen or twenty years.'"

ASKS $250,000 FOR OPENING OF CANAL

President Says Proper Celebration of Event Would Cost That.

Washington, Jan. 8.—In a conference late Tuesday with Democratic and Republican leaders of congress, President Wilson asked for an appropriation of $250,000 to defray expenses of the celebration planned for opening of the Panama canal next March.

The president summoned to the White House, just before he took the train for Indianapolis, Senators Overman, Hoke Smith of Georgia and Gallinger and Representatives Underwood, Sherley and Mann and laid before them tentative plans for the celebration submitted to him by Secretaries Bryan, Garrison and Daniels. The plan includes the entertainment of visiting officers of foreign fleets which are to participate in the naval review and pass through the canal, if that is possible, and the transportation of the fleet and visitors.

Although all details of the program were not made public, the president told the delegation that the estimated expenditure for the celebration would be about $250,000. Democrats and Republicans alike approved the plans and expenditure. It was determined that no presidential message would be necessary in order to procure funds, but it was agreed that another conference should be held with regard to the matter as soon as the president returned from Indianapolis.

Possibility that the naval parade through the canal cannot be held as suggested recently by Col. Goethals, on account of the slides, was discussed at the conference, but it was agreed that preparations should go forward without regard to such a possibility. The plan contemplated a reception for visiting naval officers and representatives of foreign governments in Washington and for their departure from the capital March 5 for Hampton Roads, where battleships will be boarded for the canal cruise.

GERMAN SHOT BY HIS OWN RIFLE

French Bullet Entered at Muzzle and Exploded Cartridge.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Dec. 25.—The Reuter correspondent in Amsterdam sends the following story told by a wounded German soldier:

"From one of the trenches, I aimed at my adversary, seventy yards away. It was an easy shot, and I was sure of success. I was just pulling the trigger. My aim was clear, my bullet could not fail.

"Suddenly I staggered back, and when I recovered I found my rifle damaged at the lock and the chamber. I had an ugly wound in my forehead. I examined my rifle, and found in the barrel a French and a German bullet, both flattened. What had happened?

"After close examination I discovered that a French bullet had entered my rifle at the muzzle, had followed the course of the barrel, had exploded my cartridge and the butt of my rifle, and thus had wounded me."

ENGLISH BUGLER'S COSTLY MISTAKE

Stops Charge of Germans, But Then Sounds Wrong Call.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Berlin, Dec. 20.—An English bugler's mistake, due to the fact that his knowledge of the German army bugle calls was not quite perfect, frustrated a clever strategem of the enemy in Flanders, according to a report of a German returned from the front on furlough. At one point along the line the artillery had been preparing the ground for an assault, and the order was finally given for advance.

The Germans were charging successfully, losing not too heavily and being well supported, when they were amazed to hear the bugle call, "Cease firing!" They threw themselves down, reviling and lamenting the fact that, at such a favorable moment, it had been felt necessary to stop the advance. In their position the next call could hardly be anything but the "retreat," and they lay listening for it. To their amazement, however, an amazement instantly succeeded by full realization of what had happened, the "mess call," the signal for rations, was blown. The English bugler, who, safely ensconced in some deceptive place, had stopped the charge with his first call, had made a costly mistake.

The charge was resumed, and when it ended the Germans had taken the trenches at which they had been aiming.

MANY WOUNDED IN STREETS OF BERLIN.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Berlin, Dec. 20.—No fair picture could be drawn of the Berlin of war time that did not include mention of the thousands of wounded in the streets. In motor cars, in wheel chairs and in the crowds on the streets, they are everywhere, limping, maimed and swathed in bandages. At one dinner table in the Hotel Adlon were four officers, every one of whom had his arm in a sling and two of whom had their heads in bandages. One, a captain, had lost his right hand, but he had the iron cross of the first class and he seemed the happiest of the party. Indeed, the cheerfulness of the wounded contrasted strikingly with the sad eyes of the many women in mourning. The toll has done little to weaken the spirit of the populace, but it is beginning to horrify the visitor.

NO MORE FRATERNIZING WITH GERMAN SOLDIERS

Berlin, via London, Jan. 8.—The German army authorities have issued a general order prohibiting in future troops in the field from fraternizing with forces of the enemy as they did at several points in the western theater of the war at Christmas.

To such an extent was this fraternizing carried out that one place where the Germans and British played football Christmas day they agreed to suspend hostilities for two days more.

CONVENTION TO BE HELD AT BUFFALO

Twelfth Annual Gathering of the Religious Education Association.

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 8.—The twelfth annual convention of the Religious Educational association will be held at Buffalo, March 3 to 7. The thirty different meetings of the convention will focus attention on the topic of "The Rights of the Child." There will be about 100 papers and addresses discussing the place of the child in the family, the churches, the state, the schools and the civic life and the plans for properly fitting the child for the needs of modern life.

These conventions constitute one of the notable features of modern religious and educational life. The speakers include leading representatives of practically all the different religious communions and of the different types of schools and colleges. Usually the speakers come from many parts of the world, as the organization is international in its membership and field, but the war prevents many foreign speakers from being in attendance. Some of the notable persons who will participate are: Bishop Charles D. Williams, Bishop F. J. McConnell, President John T. Finley, Mrs. Anna Garlin Spencer, Dr. Walter Rauschenbusch, Charles T. Stelzle, Philander P. Claxton, Rabbi Abram Simon, Mrs. Ella Lyman Cabot, Graham Taylor, President Charles F. Thwing.

The association recently adopted the policy of alternating types of convention. The one held last year was of the "specialized type," consisting of reports and conferences on higher education; the one for 1915, at Buffalo, will be of the "popular type" with large public meetings in addition to the many conferences and reports of special commissions.

Woman's Realm

At the meeting of the Woman's council this morning the need of a visiting housewife and the need of lunches for school children were discussed. As it was thought advisable that the subjects be taken before the clubs represented and that action might not be delayed too long it was decided to hold an extra meeting of the council Friday morning, Jan. 22, the secretary to urge the attendance of the presidents of the clubs at that meeting. Another important question before the council is the need of a room where free dental work may be done for the school children by dentists who have volunteered their services. At the next meeting it will be decided whether the council will undertake one or more of these branches of civic betterment.

Need of Housewife.

Regarding the proposed visiting housewife, Miss Edna Meeker said: "I think every woman realizes before I speak that there is need of a visiting housewife. About 1903 there was started in New York a system by which 'day women,' as they are called, went from one tenement to another teaching the women and doing actual work when it was necessary. One woman said of the visiting housewife, 'It isn't so much what she does as what she tells me.'"

Miss Meeker reported that in Minneapolis a visiting housewife averages twenty cases a week. She teaches food values and the cutting out and making of clothing. A report from Chicago showed a housewife has charge of from twenty to twenty-five families, as intensive work is desired. The housewife often spends an entire day with one woman, going to market with her and giving instructions along other lines relating to housekeeping.

Works Without Pay.

It was told at the meeting how the work of a visiting housewife had been carried on for sixteen years without compensation by Mrs. L. F. Swingle, who was appointed by the West Duluth W. C. T. U. Mrs. Swingle has had as many as eighty-three families on her list at one time, and in one year, with the help of three other members of the organization, made 500 visits.

Mrs. H. H. Phelps reported on the free lunches that were served last year at the Franklin and Longfellow schools, reading communications from teachers to show the children who were improperly nourished at home improved mentally and physically when provided with these lunches. According to one principal interviewed by Mrs. Phelps, it is advisable to serve lunches in the morning as many children are restless and dull on account of inadequate or poor breakfasts.

A motion was carried to the effect that the various clubs take up the matter of providing lunches for the children who do not receive the proper nourishment in their homes, each club to be in charge of one school and the work of all the clubs to be under the supervision of the Associated Charities.

In the absence of Mrs. J. L. Washburn, chairman of the committee, Mrs. C. F. McComb reported the committee on correctional institutions had visited the municipal lodging house, the jail and the Bethel home and that there was nothing to object to in any case. The other institutions yet to be visited are the work farm and the industrial home. The committee has planned to hold monthly meetings and to make monthly visits to the five institutions. This committee is a new department of the Woman's council, having been organized this year.

It was decided the council continue its membership in the national civic association.

"MILLION-DOLLAR BRIDE" HAS MOTHER-IN-LAW ARRESTED

MRS. KEITH DONALDSON.

This is Mrs. Keith Donaldson, once the "million dollar bride," as she looked when going to court in Philadelphia to prosecute her mother-in-law for assault. She was divorced from her husband some time ago, and the court gave her permission to have her child for a certain part of each year. When she went to her mother-in-law's house to see the child, she was denied admittance, forced herself in, and, she says, was assaulted and placed under arrest. She spent four hours in a cell. She then had her mother-in-law arrested for assault.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Baldwin Players in "The Traveling Salesman."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville and motion pictures.
GRAND—Vaudeville and motion pictures.
REX—Photoplay.

Two New Players.

Two new members of the Baldwin Players will make their debut before a Duluth audience Sunday afternoon. They are Miss Ray Baker, ingenue, and Miss Margaret Lotus, the new "second woman."

Miss Lotus arrived in Duluth early in the week, and Miss Baker reached the city this morning from New York. Miss Baker went directly from the train to the Lyceum theater, where rehearsale for "Our Wives" was in progress. She had been given her part before leaving New York and spent her time on the train studying it, so that she was letter perfect in her lines when she reached the city. The rehearsal for "Our Wives" was in progress able her to step into her place Sunday afternoon without difficulty. Miss Baker was engaged by Walter Baldwin, Sr., who is now in New York. She comes highly recommended as being one of the most popular ingenues seen in stock in recent years. She has had a short but very thorough training in stock companies, and Mr. Baldwin, in a letter received this morning, stated that he expected her to become a great favorite with Duluth audiences. "She is a very charming and cultured young woman and a very clever actress," Mr. Baldwin writes. Miss Lotus, who arrived last Sunday, is also expected to make many friends among the patrons of the Baldwin Players.

Three more performances of "The Traveling Salesman" will be given, tonight and tomorrow afternoon and night. If the box office is a good standard by which to judge, it is one of the most popular plays yet presented by the company in Duluth.

New Bill at Grand.

Dancing is the strong feature of the new bill which opened a week-end engagement at the Grand theater yesterday. Singing and chatter are second and with several good photo-plays, round out a uniformly good program. Big audiences saw the shows yesterday.

The Dancing Tyrells, who presented a number of the latest dances, are graceful and skilful in their interpretation and were warmly received. The girl member of the team is attractive and the two work harmoniously.

Marshall and Cumby, two colored comedians, are but mediocre, and their jokes are trite and commonplace. The audience last night seemed to take it their comedy, however, and laughed at spent some time in Germany, studying its educational system. ironically. That the old jokes are often enjoyed the most is a common saying with vaudeville performers.

Joe Roberts and company in "The Cowboy, the Swell and the Lady," have a humorous novelty skit that goes well. A little singing, a little more chatter, and some better acting, win for the company liberal applause. The Standard Brothers have a good acrobatic act.

In the picture program the Hearst-Selig News Pictorial showed many current news events, and "The Black Diamond Express," this week's installment of the "Hazards of Helen" series, is another thrilling picture featuring Helen Holmes. The chief film feature is a detective drama, "An Affair for the Police." A George Ade fable, "The Fable of the Long-Distance Lover and the Lollapalooze," is up to the Ade standard.

Some Coming Orpheum Acts.

That the Orpheum theater is more than keeping up to the standard of excellence of Orpheum vaudeville is the opinion of anyone who has been attending the shows during the last few weeks; it is also a fact that there is not another Orpheum house on the circuit where the same brand of vaudeville can be seen for the prices now charged at the Orpheum here.

The present vaudeville bill is an excellent one all the way through, with first honors as the headline feature in "The Sons of Abraham," one of the best of vaudeville playlets. William Edelrette's posing dogs and horse have an act so artistic that it removes it from all acts of the trained animal class. Hines & Fox never fail to win big applause with their clever song and piano offering, while Alexander & Scott in an original novelty singing number, and Ernie & Ernie in dancing and acrobatic novelties, round out the unusually good bill in

The next few weeks' bills will bring some of the biggest acts in vaudeville to the Orpheum, which will include several stars of the first magnitude. Next week's bill includes the Six American Dancers, Waldemer Young & Jacobs, in "When Caesar Ran a Paper;" Lydell, Rogers & Lydell, "A Native of Arkansas;" Joe and Lew Cooper, the song-writing singers, and Charles Weber, eccentric juggler. Some of the early bookings will include Ray Samuels, "The Blue Streak of Vaudeville;" Claude Gillingwater & Co., in "The Wives of the Rich;" Jack Gardner, Emma Carus, "The Edge of the World," "The Bride Shop," Valerie Bergere, and several vaudeville notables.

At the Rex.

A four-reel feature film of unusual merit, "False Colors," by Lois Weber, comes to the Rex theater today. It is a skillful portrayal of the type of persons who are always pretending to be what they are not. An interesting love story is interwoven throughout the plot.

Phillip Smalley, the well known "movie" star, will appear in the leading role. Mrs. Smalley, Adele Farrington, Courtenay Foote, Charles Marriott and Herbert Standing are cast in strong dramatic roles.

The mid-winter dinner at the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. will take place this evening at 6:30 at the association hall, Sixth avenue east and Third street. This is the second of these enjoyable affairs, and it is expected that the attendance will reach 225. The entertainment is in charge of Norman D. McLeod, secretary, and J. R. Batchelor, physical director. The boys are looking forward to having a big time.

The association boasts 400 members, and their plans for the next four months are to be outlined tonight. The lease of their present building, which has been in effect for the last twelve years, will expire on May 1, and the boys will, after that time have temporary quarters at the main building of the association, Third avenue west and Second street.

After dinner, moving pictures will be shown, awards presented in the Hustler club, the orchestra and mouth organ band will render selections, and there will be a number of songs.

Gymnasium classes will start this week, and the boys are urged to get into a class. There will be instructions in swimming. The intermediate Bible Study club will organize next Saturday at a dinner at 12:30.

MOTION PICTURES WILL INTEREST YEOMEN.

The local homesteads of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen will put on 1,000 feet of Dedication picture films at the New Grand theater, Jan. 18, afternoon and evening. TESTS FOR MARINERS.

Federal Inspector of Hulls Is Conducting Examinations.

Tests are now being given at the office of the Duluth Federal inspector of hulls and boilers for persons applying for engineers', masters' and pilots' licenses. Examinations will continue until the middle of next March.

An order recently sent from Washington and received at the local office is of great interest to marine men. The order follows:

"Any person holding chief engineers' license for lake, bay or sound steamers for three years as chief engineer of said steamers, is entitled to examination for chief engineer of ocean steamers." This examination may be taken here.

For the last five years this country has used from 63 to 67 per cent of the copper it produced.

In the heart of the Rocky mountains may be seen the Mountain of the Holy Cross, 14,000 feet high. It derives its name from the gigantic cross on one side, near the summit, formed by fissures in the rock. The fissures are usually filled with snow.

FLANNEL WASHING AN ART

Philadelphia Telegraph: The care and washing of flannels is a subject which every good housewife should understand, for at this season of the year these materials are much in use, and unless they are properly cleaned and cared for they are apt to be entirely ruined. Some women refuse to buy flannel in any form, contending that it is almost impossible to wash satisfactorily; that it shrinks beyond recognition, making it uncomfortable to wear. If flannel is washed in the wrong way, all this and even more will happen; but if the right method is used, the results will be entirely satisfactory.

Washing Flannels.

Woolen and flannels must not be soaked, boiled, scalded or wrung out by twisting. They must not be dried by a hot fire. The fibers of wool are hooked and curled, and when they are crushed together by rubbing they form knots which thicken the fiber and shrink it in both dimensions. This is one of the principal causes of the shrinking that is so much feared. Or the expansion and contraction caused by alternate heat and cold may cause the fibers to interlace. Flannels may be shrunk, if so desired, before they are made up, by first placing them in cold, then in hot water. When they are already made up they can be washed without shrinking if the proper precautions are taken.

Prepare suds by dissolving one bar of hard white soap, shaved fine, in a boilerful of water, and adding two tablespoonfuls of aqua ammonia. Do not use yellow soap which contains borax or soda in any form, or washing fluids and powders of the composition of which you know nothing. Pour the suds into a tub and allow them to become cool enough to bear the hands comfortably before putting in the flannels. Wash these articles one at a time as quickly as possible. Do not rub soap on them or rub them on the washboard. Souse them up and down in the water and rub them together with the hands until cleaned. Do not put them through the wringer nor wring by twisting, but squeeze out the soap suds with the hands, shake out carefully, stretch to their proper shape and wash in a second lather prepared like the first but not so strong. Rinse in warm water as near the temperature of the suds as possible, to which a little bluing may be added. Press out the rinsing water, shake vigorously and stretch the articles to prevent shrinking.

Pull each piece as nearly as possible into its proper shape and hang up carefully in such a way that the shape may be preserved. A clear, bright day with sunshine and a light breeze is desirable for drying. Flannels should be taken down while still slightly damp and rolled up in a dry cloth. If the weather is not clear, they may be dried indoors, but never near a stove. The object should be to avoid extremes of heat and cold, as this causes flannel to shrink and become hard.

In addition to soap suds, flannels of delicate colors may be washed in bran, flour starch, rice, etc. To use flour starch, take a teacup of flour and mix it with a little water to form a smooth, fine paste. Add boiling water, stirring vigorously to make a smooth starch. Boil five or ten minutes and strain through cheese cloth into half a tubful of warm water, stirring vigorously all the time. This will make good suds without soap.

Knitted Shawls.

To wash knitted or crochet shawls, fold them as flat as possible and lay carefully in a pillowcase, run through at several intervals with basting thread to keep flat. Then they should be treated like other flannel or woolen goods. If washed separately, observe the usual precautions for woolen goods, gently squeezing through the hands and keeping the suds and rinsing water of the same lukewarm temperature. Take out pillowcase, but do not hang knitted goods up to dry. Put in the oven on a big platter, shaking and turning occasionally, or lay on a clean cloth in the sunshine.

Etiquette of the Visiting Card.

Perhaps the question of the uses to which one is permitted to put a visiting card ranks among the most perplexing of the minor annoyances of modern life, with the answering of invitations a close second. To be the possessor of an engraved visiting card is almost imperative even among those who have a very limited circle of friends, and whose social intercourse is most informal.

The conventional visiting card varies in size from year to year, but the name is always engraved in the center, and is all that is required, unless its owner, living in a large city, has her street address placed in the lower right hand corner, or if she resides in a small town, the name of the place may be substituted.

When calling, a married woman sends up as many of her own cards as there are ladies in the family, and if it be the first call of the season, two of her husband's cards for the master and mistress of the house. An unmarried woman leaves one of her own cards for each lady in the family when paying her respects. If unable to attend an afternoon tea or reception, one's visiting card enclosed in an envelope, that exactly fits it, and mailed to the hostess, so that it will be received on the day of the "tea," is accepted as though one appeared in person.

In fact, a card sent in this manner answers for all similar functions, such as musicals and card and garden parties. When one has been a dinner guest, or spent some few days in another's home, a personal call within a week is the proper appreciation in the first case, and in the second a letter expressing enjoyment of the hospitality dispensed, mailed within twenty-four hours after the return home, is the courteous practice.

A card with one's reception day or days engraved or written in the lower lef hand corner and sent out to one's friends is all the invitation necessary to an affair which ranks among the informal ways of paying social obligations.

It is not necessary unless you are an intimate friend to send a note of condolence when sickness or death enters a family, neither is one obliged to answer these. Remember, too, that one never writes any form of regret or acceptance on a visiting card, even though the invitation be of the most informal kind.

It sometimes seems as though the usages of society were exceptionally irksome and unnecessary, but as they are meant to protect and add to the graciousness and dignity of society, we should conform to them in the same spirit.

STATE SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following decisions were rendered today by the Minnesota supreme court:

ST. LOUIS COUNTY.
Entitled to Recover.

1. Keyes vs. Ry. Co., 36 Minn., 290, to the effect that for the wrongful injury to an animal, the injury being such as may be cured by treatment, the owner is entitled to recover the diminished value of the animal after cure, so far as effected, the expense of treatment, and the value of the use of the animal while under treatment, followed and applied.

2. Where the defendant in such an action insists on the trial that the rule of damages is the difference in value before and immediately after the injury, and the evidence upon the subject is limited accordingly, the charge of the court in harmony with the rule so insisted upon is error without prejudice.

3. Where the owner of the animal is given the difference in value before and immediately after the injury, he is not entitled to the expense of treatment administered in efforts to cure the injury.

Affirmed on condition.

BROWN, C. J.

ST. LOUIS COUNTY.
Properly Submitted.

Frank Klink, respondent, vs. Val Blatz Brewing company, appellant—Evidence in an action to recover rent held to establish the existence of the lease sued on.

Question of defendant's alleged surrender of the leased premises to plaintiff so as to terminate the lease, held properly submitted to the jury.

Order affirmed.

PHILIP E. BROWN, J.

HENNEPIN COUNTY.
Under Wisconsin Law.

Frank A. Johnson, appellant, vs. Peter Nelson, respondent—

Plaintiff on April 2, 1913, entered defendant's employ upon railroad construction work. He worked at two different places in this state. On June 26, the same year, he was asked to go to Wisconsin on similar work there being done by defendant. He accepted, and was injured four days thereafter. His original hiring was for no definite time, and for no particular place. On June 10 defendant had elected to accept the provisions of the workmen's compensation act of Wisconsin. In this action to recover damages for the injury, alleged to have been caused by defendant's negligence, it is held:

1. That plaintiff's right to damages or compensation depends upon the law of Wisconsin, where the injury was received.

2. The defendant being under the act when plaintiff was requested to go to work in Wisconsin, the latter also elected to accept the provisions of the act, since he failed to give written notice to the contrary. The contract of hiring, as referred to in the Wisconsin act, must be considered made when the employment in Wisconsin was accepted.

3. Plaintiff cannot plead ignorance of the laws of the state wherein his employment was performed, and under which alone his right to redress for the injury must be asserted.

Judgment affirmed. HOLT, J.

RAMSEY COUNTY.
City Entitled to Conveyance.

In re application Midway Realty company to register title to land, Midway Realty company, appellant, vs. Charles L. Lovell, et al, defendants, city of St. Paul, respondent—

The evidence justifies a finding that the tax certificates and tax deed, through which appellant claims title to the parcels of land in controversy, were derived from dealings in tax certificates and tax matters concerning the same land, and other lands, within the terms of a certain written contract made between appellant's grantor or assignor and two other persons in the name of one Lovell.

The finding is also sustained that the one who negotiated with the city of St. Paul to sell or exchange said parcels of land was authorized by the others interested therein to make the deal.

The city, having been permitted to go into possession under the contract and make valuable improvements upon the land, is now entitled to a conveyance thereof, it being all the time ready and willing to perform according to contract. The reception in evidence of a preliminary written proposition to deal with the city, if error, was without prejudice.

Order affirmed. HOLT, J.

Hallam, J., took no part.

ISANTI COUNTY.
Trial Court Erred.

Barney Bauer, respondent, vs. Great Northern Railway company, appellant—

1. Plaintiff, a car repairer in the employ of defendant, was injured while adjusting a door upon a box car which had been placed in his department for repairs; it was claimed on the trial that the door was defective, in that the hinges holding it in place on the car were out of order, by reason of which the door fell upon and injured plaintiff; the negligence charged was the failure of defendant to provide plaintiff with a door in safe and suitable condition for use. Defendant claimed that it was plaintiff's duty to repair the door, if out of order, before attempting to place it in position on the car, and was therefore not entitled to recover.

It is held that the trial court erred in instructing the jury that defendant was under legal obligation to furnish a safe and suitable door, and in refusing a requested instruction that if the duty of repair rested with plaintiff he could not recover.

2. The question whether defendant was under obligation to furnish a safe door, and the question whether the duty of repair rested with plaintiff, were made issues of fact by the evidence, and should have been submitted to the jury.

Order reversed. BROWN, C. J.

WASECA COUNTY.
Not Justified by Evidence.

Albert H. Schuette, appellant, vs. Christian Sutter, respondent—

1. Under the evidence the plaintiff had a right by prescription and by way of estoppel to the use of a ditch on the defendant's land; and the finding that the defendant did not obstruct said ditch was not justified by the evidence.

2. Upon the obstruction of such ditch the plaintiff was entitled to injunctive relief.

3. The plaintiff was not entitled to specific performance of the defendant's agreement to construct a system of tile drainage upon his land in place of the system of open drainage, the action was not one for specific performance, nor was it tried as such nor was relief appropriate to such action given, and the judgment was erroneous.

Judgment reversed. DIBELL, C.

CLAY COUNTY.
Right of Appeal.

Red River Potato Growers' association, respondent, vs. J. W. Bernardy, et al, appellants—

From an order imposing punishment for civil contempt there is a right of appeal. From an order imposing punishment for criminal contempt there is no right of appeal.

A proceeding in civil contempt is one instituted in a civil action for the benefit of a party to the action, and where punishment is imposed it is remedial and is imposed for the benefit of the party and to aid in the enforcement of his rights. The contempt proceeding being in aid of the enforcement of the order disobeyed, it falls with the annulment of that order.

A proceeding in criminal contempt is one instituted for the sole purpose of penalizing the defendant. Its purpose being public, an order punishing a person for criminal contempt does not fall on account of irregularity of the order disobeyed, unless the court was without jurisdiction to make it.

Orders in this case imposing fines to be paid to the plaintiff were orders in civil contempt, and since the order disobeyed was reversed on appeal the orders imposing the fines must also be reversed.

Orders imposing simple fines for contempt of court in violating an injunction, where the forbidden acts have been wholly performed and cannot be recalled, are orders in criminal contempt.

Reversed with directions to proceed in accordance with opinion.

HALLAM, J.

STEARNS COUNTY.
Mortgage Created.

Stephen Tenvoorde, respondent, vs. Nancy R. Tenvoorde, et al, Defendant; Nancy R. Tenvoorde, et al, appellants—

1. The plaintiff, having an option to purchase a lot, entered into an arrangement with the defendants whereby title was to be taken in the name of one of them, and held as security for advances to the plaintiff, and this was done. It is held that by this arrangement an equitable mortgage was created.

2. The evidence justifies a finding that an arrangement such as is recited was made.

3. A money judgment was docketed against the husband of the defendant in whose name title was taken, and the court directed that the amount due upon this judgment be taken from the amount necessary to be paid in redemption by the plaintiff, and deposited in court to await the determination of the claim of the judgment creditor to the land if such claim should be asserted. Held error.

Judgment reversed. DIBELL, C.

SWIFT COUNTY.
Not Liable for Death.

G. J. Kohler, as administrator, respondent, vs. W. J. Jennison company, appellant—

The owner of a mill pond who permits children to use as a playground the ice formed thereon in winter, is not liable for the death of a child from falling into a hole caused by the ordinary operation of the mill, even though the dust from the mill has caused the hole and the ice about it to become so covered with dust that it is impossible for the eye to distinguish between the ice and the water.

Judgment reversed.

PER CURIAM.

FORMIDABLE SUNK BY TWO TORPEDOES

Marquis of Crewe So Announces to the House of Lords.

London, Jan. 8.—The marquis of Crewe announced in the house of lords that it was the definite opinion of the British admiralty that the battleship Formidable had been sunk by two torpedoes discharged by a submarine.

The earl of Selborne, former first lord of the admiralty, in an address in the house of lords, had described the dispatch of Sir Christopher Cradocks' squadron to the Pacific as a blunder, as the squadron, he said, was wholly inadequate for the task assigned to it—to destroy the German warships there. He then asked for more information concerning the loss of the battleships Formidable and Bulwark and data about other naval operations.

The marquis of Crewe said he could not add anything to what Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, had said in the house of commons. Before adjournment, however, the marquis said that, in the opinion of the admiralty, the Formidable had been struck by two torpedoes fired by a submarine. He added that the captain of the Formidable had sent signals to the other ships not to stand by, which was taken to mean that submarines were in the vicinity, and that they might suffer the same fate as his ship.

There were now only two German cruisers and two armed merchantmen to carry on commerce raiding, the marquis of Crewe said, and they could not long escape the allies' ships. The manning of new ships included monitors, he added, had been completely provided for.

GERMAN NOBILITY KILLED IN BATTLE

Up to November 779 Members Had Lost Their Lives.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Berlin, Dec. 26.—Publication of the Almanac de Gotha for 1915, and the various genealogical annuals which has just taken place here reveals that, up to Nov. 1, 779 members of the German nobility had met death on the battlefield or had succumbed to wounds received in action.

It is shown that of members belonging to the "graefliche" houses, or families carrying the title of count, seventy-four had fallen in battle or died of wounds by Nov. 1. The "freiherrlichen" or baronical families had lost 209 members through the war, while the very essence of German nobility, the "Uradeligen" families, who trace their ancestors to the year of 1350 or beyond, had lost 246 members in all. The families hit hardest are the Armins with 8, the Wedels with 8, the Oertzens with 7, and the Deckens with 6 members. But the class of nobility which seems to have suffered most, though it is by no means the most numerous, is that where members have been knighted by letters-patent, and who are known in Germany as "briefadelige" houses. This class lost 250 members.

The total number of losses through death on the battlefield or as the result of wounds received in action of the German nobility is, therefore, 779, up to Nov. 1.

REVIEW OF THE LATE ELECTIONS

Republicans Consider Result as Very Gratifying to Party.

Washington, Jan. 8.—An exhaustive review of the November elections issued at Republican national committee headquarters over the signature of Secretary James B. Reynolds, says in part:

"The result of the elections of November last proves three very important political facts:

"First—The Republicans carried upon national issues states that would give a clear majority in the electoral college and elect a Republican president.

"Second—The Democratic majority in the next house is only the result of the Progressive vote in certain districts of the country and the Democrats will be really a minority party in the house of representatives.

"Third—Two-thirds of the Progressive vote of 1913 have not only ceased to support third-party candidates, but has returned to the support of Republican principles and candidates.

"This is the story that is told by the official figures of the last election just compiled by the Republican national committee."

This is followed by tables, statistics and an exhaustive analysis of the vote by states.

LEVY APPORTIONED TO CITY FUNDS

Will Be Augmented By Revenue From Fees and Licenses.

Finance Commissioner Voss yesterday apportioned the 1914 tax levy into the several funds, there being a total of $863,851.42 available.

The total levy, as prepared by City Auditor Campbell, will be augmented by the revenues from wheelage tax fees and licenses. The sum has been apportioned by Commissioner Voss as follows:

Bond interest, $99,447.74; bond sinking, $79,558.19; public safety fund, $261,789.45; library fund, $23,114.88; public welfare fund, $48,917.53; public works fund, $134,388.38; permanent improvement fund, $154,278.38; public utility fund, $24,737.55; general fund, $36,877.77; firemen's relief fund, $5,375.55; policemen's relief fund, $5,375.55.

The 1914 tax levy was divided by Auditor Campbell to represent the city valuations totaling $40,344,405 for real property, $13,411,128 for personal property, and $18,916,729 for money and credits. In addition, Auditor Campbell's statement includes the apportionment of $255,338.79 for state purposes, $571,421.31 for school purposes, and $185,456.58 for county purposes. The county valuations of real and personal property aggregated $323,964,970.

FRENCH HORSE RACES TO BEGIN IN SPRING.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Havre, France, Dec. 25.—The chief race courses in Paris, Longchamps and Auteuil are to be vacated by the war authorities and placed at the disposal of their owners once more. If a sufficient number of horses can be got together, racing will commence at the usual spring date, beginning with steeplechasing. The suburban course of St. Ouen is also being prepared for early use.

LIFE OF AEROPLANE IN WAR VERY SHORT.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Petrograd, Dec. 15.—Russia has recently completed several new aeroplane factories which are each to supply twenty or thirty aeroplanes weekly for army use. Under service conditions, the life of an aeroplane is comparatively short, and a considerable part of the output of these factories will be needed to replace wastage at the front.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Panama, Dec. 28.—The total net emigration from the isthmus through the terminal ports of Balboa and Colon since July, 1913, has been 20,404. This figure does not represent a corresponding reduction in the canal force, for in June, 1913, there were 42,262 employes on the rolls, while on Nov. 25, 1914, there were 26,957, a difference of 16,305. It may be assumed, therefore, that in addition to the 16,305 canal laborers who have returned to their homes, over 4,000 others have left also.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

not enter this business for profit, leads the supporters of the Jones bill to believe that no constitutional amendment is needed.

Elective in Form.

The Jones bill will follow the practice established in the workmen's compensation act of making the measure elective in form, but virtually compulsory in effect, by denying to those employers who refuse to avail themselves of state insurance their old common law defenses against personal injury cases.

Senator Jones has been studying the Washington and Ohio state insurance laws and the New York compensation act, and has taken what he believes to be the best features of each. From the New York law he has borrowed the principle of classification of risks. Rates will be graded according to hazard, and a separate fund will be kept for each class of risks. Reserve funds will be provided to equalize rates. Provision will be made for a readjustment of the rates in each class every five years, and in the fixing of rates recognition will be made of the use of safety appliances, those who use them getting lower rates than those who do not. Rates will be based on payrolls, and will be fixed by the body having charge of the state liability insurance, instead of being fixed in the statute as the practice is in the state of Washington.

It has not yet been decided whether to create a special board of three members to have charge of state liability insurance, or to turn it over to the state insurance department. An appropriation of $100,000 will be carried by the bill to provide for putting it in operation, though it is not contemplated that the state shall be at any expense, the costs being borne by industry.

Would Repeal Elwell Law.

Representative A. V. Anderson of Goodhue county has introduced a bill repealing the Elwell road law, regarding which there has been much controversy. The Elwell law, which is entirely distinct from the Dunn road law, provides for road building on a plan similar to that used for county and judicial ditches. Roads can be built on bond issues, retirable in ten years; half the cost to be met by the county, 25 per cent by the state and 25 per cent by assessments against benefited property.

Representative E. C. Pless of Sibley county will soon reintroduce his bill of two years ago restoring capital punishment. As a concession to those who do not believe the state has a right to kill, his bill will provide that invariably the punishment of a convicted murderer shall be determined by a jury instead of by the court. So reluctant is the average jury to be instrumental in bringing about a hanging, that there were many acquittals under the old law. Mr. Pless believes that with the punishment left to the jury there will be few hangings, but that where hanging is obviously deserved, it will be possible to impose that extreme punishment.

New Judge at Mankato.

Governor Hammond today appointed William F. Hughes to be municipal judge in Mankato to succeed Judge Arthur Comstock, who has been elected to the district bench. In appointing Mr. Hughes, Governor Hammond stated that there are three active candidates for the place, which will be filled in an election in April, and that though all three were candidates for the appointment, rather than interfere in a local election to the extent of giving one of the candidates the prestige of the place, he appointed a man who is not a candidate and will not be a candidate. STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

No. 3 in the last session, is considering a measure along that line, and Senator F. D. Vibert of Cloquet is figuring on a plan of securing the state's help in providing the settler with cheap dynamite.

Both of these members will consult with and co-operate with the other senators and representatives from Northern Minnesota, and when the reclamation amendment comes into the house it will probably have the names of a considerable number of members associated with that of Mr. Warner as co-authors of the bill.

Amendment No. 3, which failed of ratification though it received a very large vote, simply provided for setting apart a reclamation revolving fund of $250,000 out of the permanent funds of the state, to be used in building roads and rebreaks in, around and through lands owned by the state. While the primary object was development, the ostensible purpose was fire protection in the state forests.

After this proposed constitutional amendment had been put through the legislature two years ago, the plan of inducing the state to clear a part of each tract of cut-over land before it is offered for sale was devised, and has been much agitated. It was indorsed by the Northern Minnesota Development association at its last meeting.

May be Offered Again.

While the matter is not yet definitely outlined, in all probability the reclamation amendment voted upon this fall will be offered again, with the amount of the fund considerably increased and the scope of the authorization broadened to include land-clearing as well as road-building and fire protection.

There will be conferences next week at which this very important matter will be discussed, and when an attempt will be made to outline a practical plan of committing the state to a constructive policy of development.

The Northern Minnesota members are much encouraged by Governor Hammond's vigorous declaration in favor of such a plan, and they count confidently on his support. Moreover, the ice was broken two years ago when P. H. McGarry, D. P. O'Neill and C. H. Warner put through Amendment No. 3, and an educational campaign in the meantime has gone far to awaken a wider interest in the problems of Northern Minnesota.

Dynamite For Settlers.

Senator Vibert's plan of inducing the state to help settlers buy dynamite by lending its large purchasing power, though its details are not yet fully worked out, is also of great importance and much practical promise.

Dynamite, under ordinary conditions, is the heart of the clearing problem, the cost of clearing is largely, aside from labor, the cost of dynamite.

"When the settler buys his little quantity of dynamite, enough to clear a few acres," said Senator Vibert yesterday afternoon, "it costs him 14 to 16 cents. In carload lots it can be bought for 9 cents. I believe that the state, buying in quantities large enough to supply approximately the whole needs of the cut-over section, could furnish dynamite at very much less than that, even.

"Now if the settler can buy two pounds of dynamite for what one pound costs him now, plainly he could clear two acres where now he can clear but one. And to get two acres cleared where one is being cleared now is something that will work out to the profit and glory not only of Northern Minnesota but of the whole state."

Senator Vibert is now engaged in studying up the plan adopted by the state years ago to relieve farmers who suffered from a grasshopper plague. The state then made seed loans, which were repaid through taxes when the crops matured. If some analagous plan can be worked out to furnish dynamite and help the settler to clear his land and put it under cultivation, it will not cost the state a penny, and it would advance the work of development amazingly.

The plan is attracting much interest among Northern Minnesota members, and they are hopeful that when it reaches the form of a bill and comes before the legislature they can induce that body to see the justice and good business policy of it.

No Trouble in Sight.

Though there were a few mutterings the night the speakership contest was ended, and even a few threats, there seems now to be small probability that the defeated faction will jeopardize legislation and the success of the session to put the victorious faction "in a hole."

While in framing his rules committee, Speaker Flowers included none but his own supporters, the Gordon people are not criticizing that policy. They say that the rules committee is virtually the speaker's cabinet, and that the speaker is no more obliged to take in his opponents than a Republican president would be to put Democrats in his cabinet for the sake of conciliating the opposition. Indeed, it is reported that the Gordon followers were offered a chance to furnish some of the members of the rules committee, and that those to whom the places were offered declined.

County option makes its first appearance in the senate, and despite Speaker Flowers' declaration for speedy action on that measure in the house, it now seems likely that it will not be taken up there until the senate has acted upon it.

Indeed, this is reported to be the policy of the county optionists. They feel surer of the senate than they do of the house—indeed it is believed that while there is a scant majority for the bill in the senate there is a scant majority against it in the house—so they plan to put it through that body first, hoping that the prestige of a victory in one branch will give the bill greater momentum in the other branch.

The bill introduced yesterday was offered by Senator F. H. Peterson of Moorhead, and it is said not to be the measure proposed by the Anti-Saloon league, though not differing from it vitally. The introduction of the measure seemed to come as a surprise to the league people, none of whom have been very enthusiastic, so far as surface indications go, for the policy of early and speedy action.

The Efficiency Plan.

The resolution proposed by Representative Spooner of Morris in the house yesterday, offering a plan of handling the report of the Craig efficiency and economy committee, brings that subject to the front.

The reorganization plan proposed by the commission will not have easy sledding. There is a good chance to pass it, but its friends are not underestimating the strength of the opposition.

The board of control and its friends are against it.

Many boards and officers who will be materially upheaved by it are against it.

Natural conservatism and the let-it-alone policy, always to be reckoned with, are against it.

There are even some evidences that in this non-partisan legislature there are Republicans against it, because they fear that in some unexplained manner the Democrats will profit by it.

While it is likely that the senate will stick at it more than the house, still there is nothing now in evidence to warrant any charge that the senate is bent upon its defeat.

Some of its warmer friends in the house have felt that the action of the senate in preparing a committee called "the committee on civil administration" to handle it shows lukewarmness. They feel that there are valuable advertising associations surrounding the words "efficiency and economy," and therefore that the phrase should have been made a part of the committee's label. Members of the senate rules committee who devised the name of this committee profess surprise that anybody should figure it out that way, and while they admit that there are strong opponents of the bill in the senate, and perhaps even on the rules committee, they declare that it will have a full fair hearing in the senate.

Mr. Spooner's plan is to have the committee work done by one organization for both houses, thus having one set of hearings instead of two, and one set of clerical employes and expenses instead of two. Moreover, he would give the committee power to compel the attendance of witnesses, which regular standing committees do not have unless it is specifically upon them.

This is the plan that has been discussed by the members of the efficiency and economy commission, and which seems to have their approval; though they have been careful to refrain from any appearance of interference or attempted dictation.

However, the senate usually has its own way of doing things, and it seems confident that it can get as far and as fast as the house can on this matter.

Mr. Spooner's Explanation.

Mr. Spooner's explanation of his resolution, which at his request was laid upon the table for further consideration, is as follows:

"The movement, now quite widespread and apparently favorably considered, for a reorganization of the departmental administration, or the civil administration, of this state, was initiated through and by the introduction and adoption in the house of 1911, of the resolution of Feb. 24, 1911.

"The first effect of the adoption of that resolution was the forced withdrawal and revision and a reduction of requisitions for appropriations, in that session theretofore made, resulting in reductions in appropriations finally requisitioned, exceeding a million dollars.

"The next effect of the adoption of that resolution was the official exemplification of previous unexpended appropriations and of fiscal conditions as contained and set forth in the little booklet, 2,000 copies of which were printed—one of which I now hold in my hand and of which I have yet left several copies which I will be glad to furnish to members of this house desiring the same.

"These revised and reduced requisitions, plus the information officially disclosed in this little booklet, added to other information which I had previously gathered relative to the fiscal administration of the affairs of this state during the preceding several years, satisfied me of the desirability of the creation of a legislative commission, given the power of compulsory attendance of books, documents and witnesses to inquire into existing departmental administration of the affairs of this state and report thereupon to a succeeding legislature and accordingly I introduced in that session what came to be known as House File 1120 thereof—passed in that house by a very large majority, but defeated in the senate of that session—as was the like bill, the Sawyer bill, defeated in the house of the session of 1913—resulting in the appointment by the governor of the existing economy and efficiency commission referred to in the resolution.

"This commission composed of thirty citizens has devoted more than a year of hard labor, at little or no cost to the state, resulting in a final report thereof, including a bill for a law relative to the future civil administration of the affairs of this state, which I now hold in my hand—a copy of which I suppose to be in the possession of every member of this house.

"This bill with a little later introduced in this house, carrying the names of several authors or nominal authors not yet selected or agreed upon for the purpose, and when so introduced, will properly be referred to some specially constituted committee for the consideration thereof which committee will undoubtedly hold a series of public hearings thereon before reporting the same back to this house for final consideration herein.

Best Course of Procedure.

"At the last meeting of the committee of thirty there was consideration given to what will constitute the most desirable course of procedure in this legislature—after the introduction of the bill and it seemed to be the general belief of those present, at that time, that the course outlined in the resolution now before this house, would be the proper course to be taken and, accordingly, at my request, the attorney general drafted the resolution; but because of the fact that information has come to me indicating that a different course of procedure is contemplated in the senate, I now move that this resolution be temporarily laid upon the table and I hope that some member of this house will second my motion.

"I think this course advisable in order that before acting upon this resolution there may be conference between this house and the senate calculated to secure a mutual understanding which may result in an agreement to take united action for, of course, it is of the highest importance that there shall be united action and that duplication of public hearings need not be rendered necessary; but, of course, all should know, for it is a fact, that any committee created to which this bill when introduced, is to be referred, not created under resolution duly adopted, can be possessed of no greater power for dealing with the important subject matter of this bill of paramount importance, than any ordinary standing committee of either house of this legislature."

Telephone Regulation.

The bill for the state regulation of telephones, which passed the legislature two years ago and was vetoed by Governor Eberhart because he favored the state control of all public utilities and thought this a half-way measure, will be before the legislature again in a few days.

It will be introduced in the house by Frank E. Minnette of Sauk Center and George W. Burrows of Breckenridge, early next week.

While the measure provides generally for putting telephones under state regulation, the main feature and chief purpose of the bill is in its "physical connection" feature, which requires telephone companies to give their subscribers connection with subscribers to the lines of other companies. Rates for this service are to be fixed by the railroad and warehouse commission.

The measure comes from the independent telephone companies, and has always been hotly opposed by the Bell interests. It has been before the legislature for many years, but never got through both houses until 1913, when Governor Eberhart vetoed it. It was passed over his veto by the house, but failed to get enough votes for that in the senate.

It is expected that the bill will pass this time with comparatively little opposition.

Semi-Monthly Pay Bill.

Senator George H. Gardner will introduce another legislative old-timer next week. This is the semi-monthly pay bill, which requires public service corporations to pay their men twice a month instead of monthly. It is aimed mainly at the railroads, and comes principally from the shopmen and switchmen.

The shopmen at Brainerd are strongly in favor of the bill, and Senator Gardner was elected on a pledge to support it. Senator Gardner believes that it will be a great benefit to the community, and that it will make a public market at Brainerd possible.

The railroads have always opposed the measure strongly, on the ground that it involves a needless increase of clerical costs. They have also contended that a monthly payday conduces to thrift among the workers, and that a more frequent payday works in the other direction.

The senate has adopted its rules, but the house has only authorized the appointment of a rules committee, which will not be formally announced until Monday. The senate committees will be announced Tuesday morning, but the house committee assignments can hardly be made before Wednesday.

Speaker Flowers yesterday appointed W. J. North of Duluth as a member of the committee on legislative expense, and Charles T. Murphy of Aurora as a member of the committee on mileage.

Most of the members have gone home for the week-end recess, and there will be no sessions of either branch until Monday night, when both will reconvene. Nothing will be done Monday except possibly to introduce bills, and an adjournment to Tuesday morning will be taken promptly.

SIEGE WARFARE ALONG ALL BATTLE FRONTS

Developments Expected.

Austria-Hungary again admits the retirement of her forces in Bukowina and it is from this Russian forward movement before which the Austrians are giving way that the most spectacular developments of the next fortnight may be expected to spring, according to the opinion held today by some British observers of the war. The argument is made that once Russia gets good foothold beyond the mountain passes, something that may be accomplished in a fortnight if the Russians are not checked, a big stride toward the overrunning of Hungary would have been made. If this is accomplished it would be the first considerable invasion of any territory of the Teutonic allies.

Both British and French newspapers continue today to agitate the alleged arrest by the German authorities in Belgium of Cardinal Mercier. The Germans have been quick to deny that the Cardinal has in any way been detained. The London papers nevertheless still give great prominence to the incident and publish the pastoral letter of the cardinal which was said to have given offense to the Germans, appending to it comments gathered far and wide from prominent clergymen and others. They also cast doubt on the German denial, and declare it will require a statement from the cardinal himself to clear the matter up.

French Statement.

Paris, Jan. 8, 2:40 p. m.—The extended French official report given out in Paris this afternoon shows the customary artillery activity all along the line from the sea to Alsace and says that the French guns are gaining the advantage. The French claim some infantry advances. Near Reims they moved forward 200 yards and elsewhere fifty. At another point they retired fifty yards. Referring to the situation in Alsace, the French report claims favorable developments. The statement follows:

"The artillery of the enemy showed, during all the day of Jan. 7, great activity in Belgium and in the vicinity of Arras. The French artillery responded spiritedly and efficaciously.

"Our infantry made some progress near Lombaertzyde. We occupied a point fifty yards in advance of our trenches a hillock which had been held by the enemy. To the east of St. Georges we gained ground, and we inflicted serious damage on the trenches of the enemy in the vicinity of Steenstraate.

"In the sector of Arras, at the forest of Rerthonval, without being attacked, we were compelled to evacuate certain trenches, where our men were up to their shoulders in sand and water. To the left of Boisselle our line of trenches has been moved forward, and we occupied the road from Boisselle to Aveluy.

"In the valley of the Aisne the artillery exchanges yesterday were quite spirited. Our heavy artillery secured good results near Blanc Sabion. At this point the mine throwers of the enemy inflicted losses on us, but in the afternoon we checked this fire from the Germans.

"In the sector of Reims, to the west of the forest Des Zouaves, we blew up a blockhouse and occupied a new trench 200 yards in advance of our lines.

"The artillery engagement between Betheny and Prunay was conducted yesterday with great fierceness. The Germans left many dead on the field; our losses were not heavy. Between Jonchery-sur-Suippe and Souain we time and again reduced to silence the artillery of the enemy, demolished his trenches and destroyed his breastworks.

"In the Argonne, to the west of Haute Chevauchee, the enemy, by means of a mine, blew up some of our first-line trenches, which were completely demolished. A violent attack undertaken at once by the enemy on our positions was repulsed with the bayonet. We took some prisoners and we maintained our front, except for a distance of eighty yards. Here the demolition of our trenches obliged us to establish our line twenty yards further back.

"On the heights of the Meuse and between the Meuse and the Moselle there is nothing to report. Here the wind blew a tempest all day long, Jan. 7.

"Our offensive continued yesterday in the region of Thann and near Altkirch and brought important results. We reoccupied the trenches on the eastern flank of 'Hill 435,' a position where the enemy two days ago succeeded in re-establishing himself. We then gained some ground to the east of these trenches. Further to the south we occupied Burnhaupt-le-Haut, and at the same time we made progress in the direction of Pont d'Aspach and the Khalberg.

"The artillery of the enemy, which had endeavored without success to reach our batteries, gave over shooting at our artillery in favor of the exclusive bombarcment of the hospital at Thann, which has been evacuated."

Austrian Statement.

Vienna, Jan. 8, via London, 12:17 p. m.—An official statement on the progress of the war was given out today. It follows:

"In the Carpathian forest lands in the southern part of the crown land of Bukowina, regard for the safety of our advance troops obliged us to fall back on the principal mountain passes before an enemy numerically superior to ourselves.

"On the Hungarian-Galician front everything is quiet; in the higher districts there is some frost and snow.

"On the Dunajec river and in Russian Poland there have here and there been some artillery exchanges."

Russian Statement.

Petrograd, Jan. 8.—The following statement from the Russian general staff has been issued:

"On the left bank of the Vistula on Jan. 6 there was an almost general lull along the front of Sochaczew-Bolimow, where only desultory fighting took place.

"The Germans, with a view to approaching our positions, are endeavoring to apply the processes of siege warfare. In certain places they advanced by sapping and are resorting to steel shields in protecting themselves.

"In the region of the village of Sochaczew the Germans, who, on the night of the sixth, captured part of our trenches, were forced out of them in the morning, by bayonet attacks.

"In the course of this fighting we captured five quick-firers and several prisoners.

"In Galicia the situation is without important change.

"In Bukowina we continue our offensive."

German Statement.

Berlin, Jan. 8, by wireless to London, 3:30 p. m.—In the official statement issued at Berlin today the Germans announce that they have made further gains in the Argonne forest, in France and that attempts of the French to advance in the vicinity of Reims and in the Vosges mountains have been repulsed. The statement adds that fighting is still in progress for the Alsatian village of Oberburnhaupt.

In Russian Poland, where unfavorable weather is interfering with military operations, the Germans report the capture of 1,600 prisoners. The text of the communication follows:

"In the western theater of the war: The continuous rains swamped the ground in Flanders more and more and our operations in consequence are very much hindered.

"To the east of Reims the French attempted during the night to take one of our outer trenches, but they were driven back into their own positions by a counter-attack, losing fifty prisoners.

"In the center and in the eastern part of the Argonne we made further progress.

"A night attack by the French against our positions on the Buchenkopf, south of Diedolshausen, in the Vosges, was repulsed. Repeated French attacks on a height to the west of Sennheim (Cernay) broke down under our artillery fire. We took two officers and more than 100 men as prisoners. Fighting still is going on for the village of Oberburnhaupt (Burnhaupt-le-Haut), to the south of Sennheim.

"Unfavorable weather also is being experienced in the eastern theater of the war.

"On the east Prussian frontier and in Northern Poland the situation remains unchanged.

"East of the Rawka river our attacks are progressing. One thousand, six hundred Russians were taken as prisoners and five machine guns were captured from us.

Fighting Resumed on Servian Front.

Paris, Jan. 8.—Fighting has been resumed on the Servian front, according to an official communication issued at Nish, Servia, and forwarded to the Havas agency here. The fighting in which the Servians are the victors, according to the statement occurred near Belgrade. The communication follows:

"Strong forces of the enemy occupied the small island of Ada Tziglia, near Belgrade on Jan. 3. Small detachments of our troops surprised and routed the Austrians during the night of Jan. 4, capturing 45 soldiers, a sergeant major and two sergeants. Our loss was insignificant.

"Besides this engagement there is nothing important to report on any of the fronts."

Instances Given.

The following specific instances are given in the statement of the press bureau:

Aug. 27.—An American and a Spanish priest, among a group of seventy civilians, were dragged about from place to place all day and molested, insulted and threatened with military execution. They were taken to the church at Campenhout and shut up for the night.

Aug. 21.—The priest of Duechen, an invalid 87 years old, suffering from disease, was accused by the Germans of having fired on them. He was arrested, hoisted on a cannon, tossed into a ditch, tortured and shot.

A witness deposes that he saw the priest Gelrode brought into Aershot, Aug. 24, with three wounded men. The Germans said he was an English spy and took him to the town hall. The following day they beat him with rifle butts and then on the Demer bridge they shot him and cast his body into the river.

Statement by Priest.

A priest makes the following deposition:

"Aug. 15—German soldiers swarmed into the village of Schaffen and began to burn and pillage on the pretense that shots had been fired on them. One hundred and seventy houses were burned and twenty-seven civilians were murdered. The Germans maltreated me in every way. They erected a gallows on which they said they proposed to hang me. They thrust me into a house which was on fire, but dragged me out again. They sent me off, and at a distance of 200 yards they began shooting at me. I fell and pretended to be dead and so I escaped."

Killed Without Cause.

Continuing, the statement says the commission of inquiry collected evidence that in the diocese of Malines alone twenty-six priests were killed without cause. Similar atrocities occurred in other dioceses. In the Liege diocese ten priests were shot and in the Namur diocese twenty priests were killed. The priest of Spontin was first hung up by the feet and then by the hands and pierced with bayonets. In the diocese of Tournai a bishop 74 years old was seized as a hostage and struck by a soldier. Three ecclesiastics were shot in this diocese.

The statement concludes with these words:

"Nothing can demonstrate more clearly the tendencies of the Germans in dealing with members of the clerical body than the words of a proclamation posted by the German authorities at Grivegnee, Sept. 6, which says: 'When hostages are taken the priests, burgomasters and members of the communal administration are to be put at the head of the list.'"

legal propositions advanced by the United States, though not new and in fact once partially accepted, have since been made subjects of controversy and are not generally accepted as binding by the maritime powers. That applies particularly to the assertion of the right to ship cargoes of food and other contrabands of a conditional character, as well as to such absolute contraband as copper, where shipped to neutral countries, through which it might reach a belligerent. Therefore officials expect a separation of these legal questions from the general representations for treatment in the subsequent note which is to come in a fortnight.

The state department believes, however, that the preliminary British note delivered to Ambassador Page today deals with the American protest against needless detention and seizures of American cargoes, which have complied with all the British requirements so far laid down. When the United States, without abandoning its contention in regard to the exemption of certain classes of commerce from interference, gave its official sanction to the inspection of outgoing cargoes by British consular officers and by treasury agents, it felt it had a right to expect that ships thus laden would be permitted to proceed without interference.

IMMIGRATION BILL BEFORE COMMITTEE

Literacy Test Provision to Be Argued in Conference.

Washington, Jan. 8.—The immigration bill prescribing a test of literacy for aliens coming into this country was before a conference committee of the house and senate today. Before sending the bill to conference the house registered its disagreement to the senate amendments, excluding "members of the African or negro race" and exempting from the literacy test and the contract immigration provisions of the law, Belgian agricultural immigrants coming to this country because of conditions caused by the European war. Both of these amendments caused protracted discussion which kept the house busy throughout the day's session. The negro exclusion amendment was defeated 252 to 75 and the Belgian exemption without a division. Representative Cullop of Indiana sought unsuccessfully to broaden the exception in order to admit not only farmers, but industrial workers from Belgium, and Representative Gallagher of Illinois proposed to extend the exemption to farmers from Poland.

The house concurred in one amendment, that to exclude all persons of "constitutional psychophatic inferiority and persons with chronic alcoholism."

CROWDS GATHER TO HEAR PRESIDENT

Executive Will Put in Busy Afternoon at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 8.—Four busy hours await President Wilson when he arrives here this afternoon to address a public meeting arranged by the Indiana Democratic club in celebration of Jackson day. He will speak in a hall which will seat more than 4,000 persons.

The president on his arrival about 2 o'clock, was to be met by the members of the Democratic club, in sixty automobiles. While no arrangements have been made for a parade the sixty automobiles will escort the president to the home of United States Senator John W. Kern, where a luncheon will be tendered him.

From the luncheon, the president will be taken immediately to Tomlinson hall, where he is expected to begin his speech about 3 o'clock. Dick Miller, president of the Indiana Democratic club, will call the meeting to order and turn over the gavel to Governor Samuel M. Ralston, who will introduce the president.

The members of the Indiana legislature which convened here yesterday, including the forty-seven Republicans and two Progressives, arranged to attend the meeting in a body.

After the speech a reception will be held for the president at the Indiana Democratic clubrooms and it is the intention to have the president meet as many prominent Indiana Democrats as possible. The reception probably will continue more than an hour and then Mr. Wilson and his party will depart about 6 o'clock on their return trip to Washington.

The announcement that President Wilson will speak here today has aroused much interest throughout the state and large delegations began arriving early this morning.

THE TRUTH ABOUT CATARRH

A Germ Disease That Can Be Stopped By Killing Germs Which Cause It.

A good many claims are made for this and that remedy for Catarrh and doubtless, if you are a sufferer from this disease, you have yourself tried many of them and received no permanent benefit.

The fact remains, however, that there is a way to get rid of catarrh forever and certainly the method most likely to succeed and to cure where all else has failed is one that your own druggist has so much faith in that he will sell it to you on a positive guarantee of success or money back.

That's exactly the way that Boyce Drug Store and many other leading druggists in this vicinity are selling Hyomei, the great Catarrh germ-killer, a wonderful medicated but pleasant smelling air which you breathe into your nose, throat and lungs through a small inhaling device that druggists furnish with it. Hyomei is made from the pure healing oil of Eucalyptus, combined with other powerful germicidal ingredients and it not only clears up the head and air passages and heals the sore, swollen inflamed membranes of your nose and throat but it goes farther and does more. Its penetrating air is absolute and positive death to every catarrh germ in your system. It destroys them utterly. And when the germs go the disease and all its disagreeable symptoms stop. If you have Catarrh breathe Hyomei. It's the only sensible thing to do and you gain nothing and lose much by waiting. Don't trust to memory. Cut this out of the paper now and take it into your druggist the very next time you pass his store. Insist on getting the complete outfit which includes the free rubber inhaler as it is very necessary to use this inhaler to get best results.

"TIZ" FOR TIRED AND SORE FEET

"TIZ" for Puffed-up, Burning, Aching, Calloused Feet and Corns.

Why go limping around with aching, puffed-up feet—feet so tired, chafed, sore and swollen you can hardly get your shoes on or off? Why don't you get a 25-cent box of "TIZ" from the drug store now and gladden your tortured feet?

"TIZ" makes your feet glow with comfort; takes down swellings and draws the soreness and misery right out of feet that chafe, smart and burn. "TIZ" instantly stops pain in corns, callouses and bunions. "TIZ" is glorious for tired, aching, sore feet. No more shoe tightness—no more foot torture.

PUT SULPHUR ON AN ITCHING SKIN AND END ECZEMA

Says This Old-Time Eczema Remedy Is Applied Like Cold Cream.

Any irritation or breaking out on the face, arms, legs or body when accompanied by itching, or when the skin is dry and feverish, can be readily overcome by applying a little bold-sulphur, says a noted dermatologist.

He states that bold-sulphur instantly allays the angry itching and irritation and soothes and heals the Eczema right up, leaving the skin clear and smooth. Bold-sulphur has occupied a secure position for many years in the treatment of cutaneous disorders because of its parasite-destroying property. Nothing has ever been found to take its place in treating the irritable and inflammatory skin affections. While not always establishing a permanent cure it never fails to subdue the itching irritation and drive the Eczema away and it is often years later before any eruption again appears on the skin.

Those troubled should obtain at any pharmacy an ounce of bold-sulphur, which is applied to the affected parts in the same manner as an ordinary cold cream.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.

GERMANS EXPLAIN MERCIER INCIDENT

Government Merely Asked Cardinal to Abstain From His Attitude.

Rome, Jan. 8.—The German government has sent to the Vatican an explanation of the Mercier incident in which it says there is absolutely no truth in the report that the cardinal was ever arrested by the German authorities in Belgium or even confined to his own palace or prevented from leaving it. Continuing the explanation says:

"The German authorities, entrusted with the most delicate and difficult task of maintaining order in Belgium and convincing the hostile population of that country of their sincere desire for their good, simply addressed to Cardinal Mercier a most deferential prayer that he abstain from any attitude which might make difficult the accomplishment of their duty, or ultimately entail risk to the Belgian people."

In following this course, the Germans, the explanation goes on, had in mind the fulfillment of the Christian duty, "which must be particularly dear to a minister of the church of avoiding the shedding of blood."

"Any agitation or tumult arising from even an indirect cause," the German communication says in conclusion, "will render necessary severe measures on the part of the troops for the restoration of order."

GOVERNOR OPPOSES FEDERAL LEASING

Ammons in Message Protests Against Proposed Legislation.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 8.—Opposition to any form of Federal leaseholding of public domain and its resources and a discussion of industrial disputes were the outstanding features of the biennial message of Governor E. M. Ammons, submitted to the twentieth general assembly today.

The message urges the assembly to "protest against the passage of any leasehold bill" by congress; declares a Federal leasehold will prevent Colorado from extending its taxing power to 40,000,000 acres and charges that a royalty leasehold system would "involve a conflict of state and national authority," and tend to make "monopoly cheaper."

The recent Colorado coal miners' strike is discussed at length, the governor advocating the assumption of responsibility for fulfillment of contracts by both organized capital and labor. Under such a plan, the governor says, "industrial disputes could be determined in courts of justice like other controversies."

The governor urges the establishment of a state police force and recommends the enactment of laws "defining and providing sufficient penalties for treason, sedition and armed resistance to militia or civil officers."

COAL OPERATORS WILL NOT CHANGE PLANS.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 8.—Eastern Ohio coal operators will try to operate their mines in "open shop" basis despite the investigation of Federal conciliators, it was announced here today.

"We made our plans before Secretary of Labor Wilson appointed the conciliators," said Walter R. Woodford, president of the Operators' association. "I see no reason why we should change them."

Hywel Davies, Federal conciliator, arranged another conference with Woodford today. Davies expects to meet Daniel J. Keefe, his colleague, in Cincinnati today.

CHARGES BREAKING OF TRUST LAWS

Suit Started Against W. K. Vanderbilt By Railroad Stockholder.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 8.—Clarence H. Venner of Boston, on behalf of the General Investment company of Maine, of which he is president, and Joseph W. Jackson, a stockholder in the Lake Shore railway, yesterday filed suit against the Lake Shore and William K. Vanderbilt, seeking a judgment of $1,369,737.46 from Vanderbilt in favor of the railway company.

The petition repeats the charges of violation of anti-trust laws made by Venner in opposition to the merger of the Lake Shore and the New York Central and further asserts that Vanderbilt had himself elected a director of the Lake Shore and that he used his influence to bring about the merger.

It is alleged that the New York Central since 1888 has been the illegal owner of $90,000,000 in 3½ per cent trust bonds of the Michigan Central and that Vanderbilt owns $7,500,000 of these securities.

A MATTER FOR EACH STATE.

The woman suffragists have once more failed to secure presidential indorsement of their cause. That the visit to the White House would result in just that way was reasonably certain before the visit was made, for the president had already expressed his views on the subject, and nothing had since occurred to change those views.

But there was one marked difference between this visit and that other one. The Associated Press dispatches say that the utmost good feeling was displayed by the women when they left the White House. Very different this from the close of the other visit, when the women held an indignation meeting almost as soon as they were out of the president's sight. And yet there was really nothing more promising for suffrage in this second interview than there had been in the former one.

So now everything is ready for the big house debate on suffrage. The floodgates of oratory will be opened and there will be the proper amount of banging of desks and raising of voices, of sobs and sarcasm. And when it is all over the vote will be taken and there will be—perhaps—a majority in favor of the suffrage amendment, but it is unlikely that the necessary two-thirds vote will be obtained.

And this—if it comes true—will be as it should be. The Herald believes in woman suffrage. But The Herald also believes in popular government, which is government by a majority. In this question, as in the question of prohibition, the people themselves should cast the deciding vote, and this would not be the case if the matter were put through by the method of a constitutional amendment.

There is not a shadow of doubt that woman suffrage is coming. There is not a shadow of doubt that it will be in force in all the states, sometime. But any matter that touches so nearly the individual interest should be decided as nearly as possible by the determination of the individual, and for that reason we believe the suffrage proposition is one that should be settled in each state by popular vote, instead of by the indirect method of congressional and legislative action.

On Dec. 31 two couples in Fond du Lac, Wis., celebrated their wedding anniversaries—one the fifty-seventh and the other the fifty-eighth. Seems like New Year's eve used to be a lucky time to get married.

THE PROFESSION AND THE MIND.

Show an architect a large building and he will see first of all the features of it that are concerned with his own trade.

Show a fisherman the stock in a sporting goods store and the fishing tackle will get most of his attention.

Show a farmer an exhibit of manufactured articles, and he will be most attracted and talk most intelligently about the implements intended for use in agriculture.

And so with other professions and trades. Therefore it is nothing to wonder at that a man whose business it is to study war materials and methods should lean naturally to the idea of the likelihood of war. Therefore, it is easy to understand the attitude of men like W. M. Lewis, field secretary of the United States Navy league, in his address to the Duluth Office Men. It is Mr. Lewis' business to think about war and armament, and so it is no such shock to him as it is to others to realize that the United States is spending more of its citizens' money on war investments than on any other one thing.

Mr. Lewis was careful to say that he thought the present annual expenditure of a hundred and forty millions of dollars for the navy is enough. He should have no trouble in avoiding an argument on that point. Efficiency is what is needed, he says, and he would spend this hundred forty million to loosen up a little the chip that he and his associates like to see on Uncle Sam's shoulder.

But every man to his trade, and no doubt if Mr. Lewis were engaged in work that aimed for peace instead of for war, he would be just as positive on the other side as he is on the side he now espouses. The professional army or navy man has only one rival in enthusiasm when it comes to preparation for war—and that is in the manufacturer of war materials, who gets big and sure profits out of government contracts.

The surest way yet found to test a prophet's faith is to offer to bet against his predictions.

STOPPING THE WAR BY EMBARGO.

"Stop our exports," say certain enthusiasts at Washington and elsewhere, "and you will stop this European war inside of ninety days." Then they elaborate still further on the extent to which the world is dependent on this country for food, clothing and other supplies, and how it is the duty of the United States to refuse to furnish these supplies to nations that are so wicked as to do to each other what a lot of disgruntled Americans want us to do to Mexico.

All this talk is very interesting, and it is ground for satisfaction that so much of it is being spouted in congress, where it will be put on perpetual record unless the spouters cut it out when they look over the proofs of the Congressional Record. It will be handy, along about the time the next congressional campaign opens, to refer to these declarations—especially those of Representative Bartholdt.

You see it is as sure as anything can be sure that the Republicans will make an effort to discredit the Underwood tariff law in that campaign. They will tell about the needs of the infant industries and the suffering of the oppressed farmer with his wheat worth only a dollar and a quarter or so a bushel; and how the clothing manufacturers and the textile makers are desperately in need of "protection."

And about that time it will be real convenient to have some of these "America - Furnishes - Everything" speeches of Republican Bartholdt to offset the old-fashioned and threadbare stories of foreign competition and all that. It may keep the Republicans out of mischief for awhile as they try to explain how, if America is generally so flooded with these foreign goods, it is possible that with only the American mills running (and not all of them, according to the Republicans), this country can not only maintain its own supply but have enough left over to ship abroad.

Just bear these little congressional debates in mind. They will prove to be far from wasted.

How that suggestion that we BUY Mexico must grate on the sensitive feelings of THE Colonel!

WHY NOT A BIG CITY CHORUS?

Two or three weeks ago the statement was made by R. Buchanan Morton, recently from Edinburgh, Scotland, and now in charge of the music at the Glen Avon Presbyterian church, that Duluth ought to have a large, mixed voice chorus, representative of the entire city, and trained to give at least one important musical entertainment every year.

The suggestion was made merely as a declaration of the speaker's belief, and with no contemplation of immediate steps for starting such an organization. Neither was any suggestion made as to who should undertake the task. It amounted to a declaration by a new comer that he sees in Duluth certain powers and facilities which at present are not being developed, even if recognized.

There is no apparent reason why Duluth cannot have such a chorus. In almost every section of the city there is some sort of vocal organization, and the formation of a chorus would mean only the utilization in one organization of all these voices and such others as might be found available. And the proposal need not necessarily mean the abandonment of any of the present singing societies or choruses. In fact, it would be a pity to lose the advantages each of these affords its own community and members.

It would be a means of profit, pride and pleasure to the city if, by next Easter time, a home-constituted chorus could render an oratorio or some other entertainment. It would be less of a strain to prepare for an Easter performance than for one at Christmas.

In the meantime it is easily possible that the present city orchestra will have grown to a position where it could help in such an event. If it were thought desirable, outside soloists could be brought here for the occasion, but there is a good supply of local talent capable of taking those parts.

Who should assume the responsibility of definitely organizing such a movement as this? It means hard work, patient work, and lots of work. But it would be a real satisfaction and well worth while to have a first class, standard oratorio well rendered by a Duluth chorus.

Thank goodness there's no tariff on the kind of salt you have to put on the war news.

Delicatessen

Editorial in the Springfield Republican.

It is surprising to read that the German government has instructed the public to boil potatoes in their jackets; Germans are thrifty folk, as well as noted for their cookery, and should hardly need advice as to the economical use of potatoes. In hardly a less degree than Ireland is Germany, and particularly Northern Germany, the land of the potato, and scientific agriculture has done wonders, evolving two well differentiated types, one suited for distillation, the other adapted for food and rich in nutritive values. While the potatoes hold out, Germany will be very far from starvation, and no country turns this delectable tuber to better account—it was no accident that Germany originated the potato salad.

In variety and bold individuality, indeed, German cookery is unequaled, largely for historical reasons. There has been no Paris to impose classical restraint; each province has developed its own specialties and clung to them while borrowing freely elsewhere, and these two characteristics have governed the remarkable growth of culinary art in Germany during the past half century. While France, having reached perfection, has stood still, Germany, able with its new wealth to live more luxuriously, has developed on its own lines, holding fast to the old and adding to it; no country is more catholic in its culinary art, and none is more distinctively national—the delicatessen store which is to be found wherever Germans go is a good reflection of one important phase of Deutsche kultur.

Before 1870, if we may trust cosmopolitan critics, German fare was a trial to foreign sojourners. One of these, perhaps a little homesick, divided German cookery after the manner of all Gaul into three parts—the salt, the sour and the greasy. Certainly there is a robustness in German taste. "Der mensch ist was er isst," punned a German philosopher, and strong fare has gone to the making of a strong race. Some American students of civilization have been disposed to regret that they consider a relative effeminacy in American diet—a taste for sugar and breakfast foods and lean beefsteak, with tea or ice-water, in place of the coarser, heartier fare which has given the Germans stamina. Climate, no doubt, has much to do with it; even in the time of Tacitus the remarkable capacity, in the most liberal sense, of these northern tribes was noted, and it is a general observation that nowhere is there so much talk about eating—Germans believe that what is worth doing at all is worth doing well.

The climate of Northern Europe is both cold and depressing; the air has not the tang which stimulates the American, nor are houses heated so extravagantly. Under such conditions diet must yield both heat and stimulus—hence, "the salt, the sour and the greasy." Hence the spiced sausages and the Bismarck herrings and the copious drafts of beer. Germany is not a land favored by Nature; in relatively few places do vineyards flourish, and rye and barley do better than wheat. For centuries, down to our own times, the people were poor; they lived much less luxuriantly, for example, than the English did in the days before agriculture yielded to manufacture. If England is backward in culinary art, it is largely because it had so rich a choice of food which needed little skill. "Since the French can do such wonders with a few thistles," observed Walpole, "what could they not do if they had a little butcher's meat?" England never got very far beyond roast beef, plum pudding, and the delicious dairy products which have declined in modern times.

For vegetables English cooks have little feeling, while it would be enough for the fame of Germany to have invented sauerkraut—like the equally famous Strasburg pie, a product of the border province, Alsace. When Prof. Muensterberg came to this country American hosts provided sauerkraut, and were skeptical when he told them that in Germany he had never tasted it and that none of his friends ate it. "All Germans eat sauerkraut," they assured him; it is never safe to assume that all in any country do anything. Is the new and richer Germany turning away from this historic delicacy as vulgar? German-Americans, at all events, are true to their sauerkraut, and have kept it up to nearly its pristine perfection, which is more than can be said of the majority of foreign products transplanted to this country, from beer to sausages. The spirit of haste in the atmosphere is not favorable to perfection; Nature ripens in a way which no scientific skill can simulate, and no patent devices can produce quickly in a packinghouse such a delicacy as a Westphalian ham or a smoked Pomeranian goose-breast. Goose is to Germany what roast beef is to England or chicken to France, and its greasy richness has doubtless done not a little to the building up of the sturdy Teutonic race.

Gastronomic experts of cosmopolitan tastes rank Germany like Italy only below France, which excels in the perfect combination of flavor with delicacy. German cookery has plenty of flavor; delicacy cannot be considered its strongest point. For some foreigners the fare is too hearty, for some palates it is overspiced. If feminine taste has controlled American cooking, as some have held, the German cuisine is boldly masculine, revealing a land where man is worshiped and well cared for. This may account for the craving which many American men periodically feel for the contents of delicatessen stores or a heartsome dinner at a German restaurant, with a juicy knackwurst, sauerkraut, and a seidel of Muenchner. What effect will the waste of war have upon the German kitchen? Will it undo forty years of prosperity, and throw the people back upon the shifts compelled by the long poverty due to the 30-years' war? At any rate, while potatoes, cabbage and rye hold out, the Germans will fare well, and never are the merits of sausage more obvious than in times of—let us say deviation from normal diet.

Hoch Der Gobraugh!

Emporia Gazette: Our Irish friend, Dave Leahy, is such a pro-German that he is complaining because Stubbs is trying to feed the Belgians too much Kansas flour. We should like to hear Dave singing "Garry Am Rhine" or "Deutschland Ober Three Grains of Corn, Mother." How beautifully he could recite that beautiful verse which ends, "What Has Old Deutschland Done, Mother, What Has Old Ireland Getun!" Dave will probably insist on singing "The Wearing of the Dutch Companie" on Herr Patrick's days!

"No. Sentimental arithmetic."

Contrast in Costs of City and Farm Living

William R. Lighton in the Country Gentleman.

At the end of our first year of work, when Laura balanced her housekeeping accounts she dared me to guess what we had spent in that year for table supplies. It amounted to only a few cents more than $100. That had gone for coffee and sugar and flour and the few things we couldn't grow for ourselves. Surplus sold from garden and dairy and poultry yards, now a little and then a little, had more than offset the sum spent for these staples. The difference paid the cost of our gardening.

Poultry and cows were paying for their keep in the increase of flock and herd and in the value of manure, carefully husbanded, that went out to our fields and orchard and garden. The supplies that went upon our table from all these sources stood as profit earned and paid.

I'm not talking figuratively when I say that our farm was already saving us $600 a year as compared with the cost of living as we had known it in town.

To put it another way: We had to use in that year only $100 in money in the business of feeding the family, to effect exchanges that couldn't conveniently be made directly.

When I say that our table living cost us nothing, I haven't set a price upon the time we spent on the garden and the chickens and the rest. I don't see how that can be done in making a comparison with our town conditions. We spent no more time here in the new ways than we had spent in town at our housekeeping and at keeping things up round our home. We had changed the uses we were making of our hours, that was all; we had just about as much leisure as ever. Besides, the abundance of everything, and first quality, was to be considered.

Then there was the matter of rent. I don't quite know how to get at that so as to satisfy everybody. A house like our farmhouse—one affording such ample room, I mean—couldn't have been hired in town for less than $100 a month. We had never paid any such rent; but there's the fact. We were living as we had always wanted to live, though we hadn't been able to afford it. If I credit Happy Hollow farm with rent at $100 a month that would repay the whole cost of the house in sixteen or seventeen months, which doesn't seem exactly reasonable, does it? I'll tell you what I'll do: I'll call it $50 a month and let it go at that. So there's another $600 a year to the good.

Then there was the cost of fuel. To heat our house in town used to set us back from $150 to $200 every winter, the cost varying according to weather conditions and fluctuations in the price of coal.

At Happy Hollow we have burned ten cords of wood a year in heating and cooking. It has cost us about 85 cents a cord to cut this wood and bring it down to the house from the hill—$8.50 a year.

In getting out this supply we're cleaning up the wood lot, taking out the dead and down, the broken and the too old trees, leaving the young and thrifty timber to grow. That is increasing the value of our woods many times more than the work is costing; but let that go. Say we're saving $150 a year on fuel. That makes a total saving on the three principal cost of living items of $1,350 a year. Mind you, we were living better than we had ever been able to live on that amount of outlay.

Then there's the matter of health. We had always been tolerably sane livers, and none of the family had any leaning toward invalidism, but in town I was always paying doctors for something or other. I don't remember what those bills amounted to in the course of a year, but they came in as regularly as the grocery bills. As near as I can figure it, $100 a year would be about right.

That was cut off short when we came to the farm. What they say about fresh air, fresh food, vigorous exercise and sound sleep must be true. For two solid years there wasn't a doctor on the place, except once when my boy was bucked off a horse and had his collar bone broken. The gain in health can't be measured, but the saving can.

The Bible as Literature

Washington Gladden in the Atlantic: The ignorance of the Bible is to be deplored for other than religious reasons. Its cultural value is very great. We have been learning during the last half century that a knowledge of English literature is an indispensable element in public education; that "in getting to know," as Matthew Arnold contended, "the best that has been said and thought in the world," we broaden our horizon and purify our ideals, and thus prepare ourselves for the duties of citizenship. Our colleges and universities have been enforcing this truth upon us by their requirements for admission.

But if a knowledge of literature is indispensable to the education of a citizen, acquaintance with the English Bible is surely fundamental for that knowledge. All our best English literature is shot through and through with Biblical quotations, maxims, metaphors, characters, allusions; the one book with which a reader needs to have familiar acquaintance is the English Bible. It is ridiculous for any one to undertake to teach English literature who does not know his Bible at least as well as he knows his Shakespeare. On the pages he is undertaking to elucidate he will meet the Bible five times where he will meet Shakespeare once. For purposes of critical exposition, it is certainly quite as necessary for him to understand Jacob as to understand Shylock; familiarity with Job is of greater practical value than familiarity with "Paradise Lost."

The Last Word.

Kansas City Star: A little girl traveling in a sleeping car with her parents greatly objected to being put in an upper berth. She was assured that papa, mamma and God would watch over her. She was settled in the berth at last and the passengers were quiet for the night, when a small voice piped:

"Mamma!"

"Yes, dear."

"You there?"

"Yes, I'm here. Now go to sleep."

"Papa, you there?"

"Yes, I'm here. Go to sleep like a good girl."

This continued at intervals for some time, until a fellow passenger lost patience and called:

"We're all here! Your father, and mother, and brothers and sisters and uncles and aunts and first cousins. All here. Now go to sleep!"

There was a brief pause after this explosion. Then the tiny voice piped up again, but very softly:

"Mamma!"

"Well?"

"Was that God?"

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Of the total number of persons who enter congress with the idea of being statesmen a large per cent end up by being just congressmen.

Bill Murray of Oklahoma made full arrangements to be a statesman when he came here. A few days after his arrival a committee wrote to him asking him to see about the establishment of a new rural route down in his district.

"Well, rural routes are good enough things, of course," remarked Murray to a colleague, as he read the letter, "but I can't bother with such chores as that. Real statecraft, as I look at it, is something more than tending to rural routes."

"And what brings you here?" asked Murray's friend.

"I'm interested in having a rural route extended," replied Murray. "There's one house about a quarter of a mile beyond the end of the route that ought to have daily mail service and I intend to get it for them."

"I shouldn't think you'd feel like taking the time to bother with such trivial affairs," suggested the friend. "When a man's going in for real statesmanship—"

"Statesmanship nothing!" snorted Murray. "The only statesmanship I know is to be useful to my constituents. I've found that any other kind is a drug on the market."

Representative Ezekiel Candler of Mississippi walked into the outer office of the postmaster general the other day and sat down alongside of a comparatively new congressman, an ex-judge, with whiskers and judicial dignity and statesmanlike bearing.

"I've been waiting here for two hours to see the postmaster general!" snapped the dignified ex-judge. "This job of mine may be one implying statesmanship, but I haven't felt so insignificant and I haven't done so much sitting about twirling my hat in outer offices since I was working as errand boy."

"You haven't got much on me at that," observed Zeke Candler, in a comforting tone. "I just came from the market house, where I went to find out the local price of chickens for a constituent back home. And I'm on my way to a store to see about four yards of silk that a man from my district bought when he was up here. He sent the stuff back as unsatisfactory because his wife didn't like the pattern, and now the store won't refund his money. I'm going over to talk them into sending his money back."

"'Tisn't exactly statesmanship," remarked the ex-judge.

Augustus Peabody Gardner, the congressman who has been calling attention to the ruthless manner in which a foreign nation could walk over us because of our naval and military unpreparedness, lives up to his own doctrine.

Gardner is always prepared when he goes into a fight.

By this I do not mean that he carries a brace of pistols or wears a big nickel-plated sword. For the fighting he ordinarily engages in does not call for that kind of preparedness. Gardner's fighting is done in debate; his weapons are language and facts. When he enters a debate on the floor of the house he always has in his mental arsenal a reserve supply of retorts and facts—a great many more than he is likely to need, lest an emergency should arise. In other words, he does not rely on the come-backs he can prepare after the debate starts. He has them ready beforehand.

Gardner prepares a speech and then goes through it asking himself: "If I heard somebody else delivering this, where could I attack his argument? And if I attacked it, what could the other fellow say back?"

He never delivers a speech until he has applied that test. If there is a place in the speech that will cause somebody to get up and ask a question, Gardner knows that place is there before anybody else does.

A while ago Gardner had an appointment with the president to discuss the question of our military and naval strength. The day before the conference Gardner put in about six hours thinking what the president might say to him, and what he would say back to the president. This may be one reason why the president and Gardner are said to have talked to each other that day rather savagely.

A Man of His Word

A school teacher in a big city is very fond of pearls—their pure, soft luster sends a thrill into her soul.

But on her scant pay she knows that she can never afford real pearls. So, one day, she went to a jeweler to buy a necklace of make-believe pearls.

Months passed. A break in the metal clasp needed attention and she took the necklace back to the store to be fixed.

The same salesman approached. He looked at the necklace. He looked closely at the teacher. Then he politely said:

"Please step this way."

He led her to the manager's office. He whispered in the manager's ear. The manager bade her be seated.

"The necklace has been satisfactory?" he inquired.

"Perfectly," she said.

"It has never caused you any uneasiness or been the subject of inquiry?" he continued.

She wondered what he was getting at, but she replied in the negative.

The manager mused, then said:

"My dear young woman, this necklace represents the queerest experience our store has ever had. For months detectives throughout the country have been trying to locate it. Our salesman made a mistake. These pearls are genuine. There's a standing reward of $20,000 for their location and recovery. We thought they had been stolen. Our salesman tells me that you bought them for $25, thinking they were imitation pearls. I take it this is true?"

She nodded.

"What will you take for them now?"

"Give me what I intended to buy and they are yours," she said.

The manager wrote on a slip of paper.

"It is our fault. The missing pearls have been recovered. You have found them. The reward is lawfully and rightfully yours. I offer you this with my best congratulations."

And he presented to her a check for $20,000.

Do you believe this is a fairy story? We have been told that it really happened.

You see, this merchant was a man of his word.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

Keep It Up, Theodore.

Red Lake Falls Gazette: Col. Roosevelt believes that for him to tell what he may know of the preparedness of the American navy "would do no good." If he had taken a like position on some other question it would be well.

Governor on the Job.

Winona Leader: Governor Hammond, with his well-founded ideas of Democracy, backed up by a non-partisan legislature, surely ought to be able to accomplish great things for the commonwealth of Minnesota for the two succeeding years. Let us hope that this will be the outcome. At any rate we can expect to have the governor on the job all the time, instead of gallavantin about the country in an effort to advertise himself.

Quite True.

Princeton Union: It has been said that the men of few thoughts far outnumber the men of few words, and we would add that the men of few thoughts usually have considerable to say.

Acknowledges the Corn.

Cambridge Independent-Press: More than a hundred Republicans met in St. Paul last Tuesday to formulate plans for reorganization of the party. There were men there who formerly supported the Bull Moose, Democratic and Republican tickets in the past campaign and all seemed in harmony. One thing is plainly evident in Minnesota, and that is, if the Republicans expect to redeem the state they have got to lay aside petty differences, and work for the interest of harmony, no matter who may be the successful candidates in the future. The Democrats are fully alive in this state and will make the Republicans sit up and take notice for some time to come.

Quit Bull Moosing?

Stillwater Gazette: Some one has stated that Senator Clapp may be a candidate for re-election to the United States senate—as a Republican. Get that?

A Common Sight.

Belgrade Tribune: While this isn't an old country, compared with European nations, one may see a number of ruins standing around the street corners chewing fine cut.

Likes the Appointments.

Little Falls Herald: Charles M. Andrist of Minneapolis, candidate for lieutenant governor on the Democratic ticket at the last election, and for many years a university professor, has been selected by Governor-elect Hammond as his private secretary. This selection is a good one, Mr. Andrist being a man of clean ideals and clean standards, and highly qualified for the position. Herman Samuelson of St. Paul will be executive clerk. He is a young newspaper man of ability and is well spoken of.

This From Ex-Speaker Dare!

Elk River Star News: About a hundred "has been" Republican stalwarts met in St. Paul this week to reorganize the party on partisan lines. Lord knows the party needs reorganizing all right, but whether the people will stand to be controlled by this standpat crowd is another question. The meeting resulted in the organization of the old Republican league, which did good service in keeping the rank and file in line in the '90s. It is rumored that the first move will be to wipe out the primaries and when this is attempted the old crowd will find that they have a man's job on their hands.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinius, the Sunshine Man.

He that loveth another hath fulfilled the law.—Romans 13:8.

The religion of Christ is not a law, but a spirit; not a creed, but a life. To the one motive of love God has entrusted the whole work of winning the souls of His redeemed. The heart of man was made for love—pants and pines for it; only in the love of Christ, and not in restrictions, can his soul expand. Love is the fulfilling of the law.—F. W. Robertson.

He that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen.—I John, 4:20.

Ah, that we could believe that God is love, and that he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him! Then we should have no need to be told to cultivate sweetness and light, for they would seem to us the only temper which could make life tolerable.—Charles Kingsley.

If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him.—I John, 2:15.

Let us make sure of consecrating to God the duties of the day. Let us strive, at all periods whether of work or refreshment, to realize His presence and the great end for which we are, or ought to be, living. We shall learn by degrees that the main business of the day, if done with love and pure intention, will lead the smaller duties in tow like long boats following in the wake of a man-of-war.—Goulburn.

Dayton, Ohio.

Mobilization.

Kansas City Star: The wonderful organization of the German army enables the German government to send its fighting men wherever they are needed. If there are unemployed men on the west front, in Flanders, they are withdrawn and sent where there is employment on the east front, in Poland. And the other way around. In the war game the manless job and the jobless man are brought together.

It happens, perhaps logically, that the nation which has been most efficient in organizing its men for the employment of war has paid most heed to organization for the employments of peace.

Is it not possible for other countries to "mobilize" their industrial armies with something at least of the skill and forethought with which military armies are mobilized? That question is being asked by those of this country who are tackling the question of unemployment of seasonal work or casual labor and of the superabundance of work at some times and in some places and the lack of work at other times and at other places.

Sex in Business.

Life: It may be instinct, it may be custom, but anyway it is a fact:

1. That when a woman marries she doesn't want her job any longer.

2. That when a man marries he wants his job all the more. Consequently—

3. That as long as there is marrying and giving in marriage, business, being desirous of reliable help, will discern a difference between the sexes,

The Politician.

The politician is a man
Who has an active mind,
And tells you that his mission is
To benefit mankind.
Unselfishness is his long suit,
So he would have you think,
And he is very lavish both
With language and with ink.

He tells you his opinions and
He tells you he is right,
While quietly he reaches out
For everything in sight.
He's always ready to get up
And make a fervid speech,
And while he talks he gathers in Whatever he can reach.

He calls himself a patriot,
And stirs you up with vim
To take some action that will bring
Some benefit to him.
He boasts he's always on the job,
And duty never shirks;
He has a lovely time in life,
And now and then he works.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 200 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

CONTRABAND.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will the following lines be fit for the Open Court? I wish they were!

In this European conflict, contraband is anything destined for any other party than the allies. Thus meat is contraband for Norway, whence it can be supposed to be transported to Germany. On the other hand gunpowder, etc., can be freely shipped from this country for England and her allies. It has been done, too, and we have aided England and checked Germany. We have not been neutral in effect!

Mr. Taft, duging his administration, forbade all transportation of weapons and ammunition from this country to Mexico. Why not do so now to the belligerents in Europe? Altogether forbid it! And at the same time freely send all the necessities of life to all the nations, who want to buy?

I doubt whether America would be benefited by the starving to death of the German people. It might be a sure way to end the war, but what a cruel way!

Let us stop alding any of the warring parties, as we have been doing in the past five months de facto, if not voluntarily. By forbidding all exports of weapons and ammunition as long as the war lasts we could easily control our own commerce and guarantee a reasonable neutrality to all parties, and at the same time more effectively guard our shipments from English raiding.

The warring would also be done on a more even basis, and the fittest survive, according to the phrase invented by and extensively used by the English.

IDA FRIDFLOM.

P. S.—I have written a letter of about the same contents to Mr. Bryan and the president! I concluded it in these terms: "I know I have no voice—being a woman—but I could not resist the temptation (Eve like), to convey these, my thoughts to the men in power of this country, even at the loss of time to my work as a farmer's wife.

CHARITY AT HOME AND FOR BELGIANS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I also believe that charity begins at home and I challenge Ralph Mantell of Staples, Minn., to show us where we have ever failed to practice it. He says there are over 1,000,000 strong, healthy, capable and willing men out of work. Then to make it more appalling he follows up the above outburst with, "A hundred thousand men, women and children are staring starvation in his dark, sad, discouraging face."

No such condition as this exists in this country, Mr. Editor, as you very well know. I think Mr. Mantell is altogether too careless with figures. Anybody who starves to death in the United States is either too lazy, or bashful. Of course, we admit that there has been a depression and work was not plentiful, but if these people who are supposed to be starving now had just saved a little money during the prosperous years they could certainly have pulled through these slack times. It is my candid opinion that 1,000,000 years of prosperity wouldn't help out some people. If we hadn't attempted to help Belgium we would never have learned of the dire circumstances of our own people. Just as soon as we attempt to help our neighbors the alarmists jump up and yell about our starving millions. They say millions because it rolls off the tongue with such convincing effect.

Returning again to our "needy;" the bashful are the kind that are starving and they are starving to save their pride. Every day one reads in the papers of the good work of our rich people in the cities and about the charitable work our young society people are doing in the slums. No family in any city, town or hamlet in this country ever starved to death if their case was made known.

I think the papers are doing their share along this line. Report a case like this to your paper and see if it will turn it down. Ten chances to one they send a reporter and a photographer with you; they get the story, take a group of pictures of the whole family, including the skinny dog and the stunted pup, and in the next edition of the paper they have a fund started to help this family.

We sent a Christmas ship to Belgium; but we didn't bottle up all our Christmas cheer in it. We didn't forget our needy here. In every city of any size throughout the country the "Good Fellow" came to the rescue and made glad more than one heart on Christmas day.

We are in duty bound to help Belgium in her hour of need. She asks our help and needs it. It matters not to us how calamity came to her. She is stretching her arms across the sea, begging us to give her the necessities of life. Shall we help them, or will we say "England and France have caused you all this trouble; now look to them for succor?"

England and France are in no position to aid Belgium. They have millions of their own people who are little better off than the Belgians. America is the one country to aid them, and we thank God that we are able to do so. This is a land of milk and honey, compared with the countries of Europe. We have a good president, the depression is vanishing and a new year of opportunity is before us.

Shame on the man who writes you on the first day of the new year and would have you believe that over 1,000,000 of us are starving and who begrudges poor, little, unfortunate, downtrodden Belgium the little help we can give her, because she is devastated by a cruel war which was not wrought by her own hand. Yours truly,

THURMAN A. DALY.

THE FOREMEN'S SIDE OF IT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It is very interesting, indeed, to read your articles and editorials regarding the way our friends, the lumberjacks, are handled up here in the northern woods of Minnesota. The first charge is that men cannot get a job at camps here unless they have an employment ticket. I will try my best now to show that this is wrong as well as the other charges in your paper, and as I am an old camp foreman I ought to know something about this as I have been running camps up here for the last twenty years, and I know that we have always put a good working man to work any time he has asked for a job at our camp, regardless of having an employment ticket or not, except in a few cases when an order for a number of men has already been placed with the headquarters camp, and in order to avoid getting the camp overcrowded. I know times when men have been very scarce and I had orders from headquarters to go down to Duluth to pick out my own men, and I have begged men down there on Michigan street to go to work for me, and they have told me to 'go to hell,' and that they would not think of going to a camp without an employment contract and something to show for what wages they were to get as they would not take my word for it. I will also state that a camp foreman has no authority to place any orders for any men with an employment agency or anybody else except with headquarters, and how can we then be charged with having any deals with them in hiring and firing men? I know many times I have been forced to discharge men because they were not able to do a fair day's work, and they have then told me right to my face that I was to get some rake-off from some employment man, and it is no surprise to see and hear that they are telling the same lies when they get down to Duluth. If you are looking for lots of that kind of stories to fill space in your paper, just send a reporter up here in the woods and you will surely not have much trouble in getting the most hair-raising stories your readers ever could dream of as these men will sign their names to anything just for the sake of getting their names in the paper. I have had men in my camp who told me that in the last camp where they had been working in there was a foreman who had killed four lumberjacks besides breaking the necks of four other jacks and that the same foreman was still running the camp right here in Minnesota. I told them that this could not be true, but they were ready to back up their statement with three or four witnesses. So I would ask you, Mr. Editor, to be fair, and before you put these stories in print to do some investigating. You would then prevent a whole lot of bad feeling being worked up between the foremen and the woodsmen in Northern Minnesota. It is not right for you to have the blame for these Democratic hard times put on a number of camp foremen and stirring up bad feeling between the foremen and the woodsmen.

THINKS CAPITALIST SYSTEM IS FAILURE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It is more and more evident that capitalism cannot supply the needs of humanity. The farmers of the South are suffering for want of food and clothing. The capitalist press informs us that the direct cause of this suffering is a bountiful crop of cotton, and the farmers are advised to raise less cotton. Is this good advice? Are all the people so comfortably dressed that the cotton crop should be reduced? Look at the shivering forms in your own city and see if we need less cotton. We need all the cotton that the South can produce and we need it now. Why can't we get it? Mr. Democrat and Mr. Republican, why can't we get it and relieve our suffering as well as the suffering of the people in the South?

BELIEVES THEY 'SLIPPED A COG.'

To the Editor of The Herald:

The advocates of municipal ownership who would have the city arbitrarily force a 4-cent rate on the Duluth-Edison Electric Light company evidently "slipped a cog" when they got out their little circular entitled "Comparative Cost Sheet for Business Men."

In showing what the company received from its customers under the present 8-cent rate and also in the following statement headed "Costs Under City Ownership," the following interesting totals are given:

Total paid by consumers to Duluth-Edison	$519,795.75
Total difference	$239,914.64

In asking for the reduction of the cost of lighting to a 4-cent rate it is fair to assume that the company's income would be reduced by half, or to $259,897.88. Then, according to the M. O. advocates' own figures, they acknowledge that the city could not operate its own plant for less than $30,000 more than they would have the company receive in remuneration.

This might be taken into consideration by the voters when it comes to a question of whether to vote for a 6-cent or a 4-cent rate.

TRACTION COMPANY'S SHARE OF THE COST.

To the Editor of the Herald:

Referring to letter of recent date to The Herald in regard to payment of the Park Point Traction company to the city for its cost on account of pavement on Park Point, would say that in addition to the $250 (instead of $200) paid to the city for its proportion of the cost, it cost the railway company $2,017 for replacing its track at this point (after the salvage from the old rails and ties was deducted).

We also lost considerable revenue while this pavement was being constructed and in addition our operating expenses were very much increased, owing to the fact that we had to run extra cars, so that the amount of money contributed by the traction company towards this pavement was considerably larger than that of property owners or group of property owners. Yours very truly,

J. B. CRANE,

SULLIVAN'S RECORD.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you kindly answer the following questions for the benefit of yours truly and the Brookston Athletic club?

It is commonly supposed that John L. Sullivan never fought a negro. The author of this letter is positive that John L. did fight one negro, and if my memory is not failing John L. was matched to fight another negro; but John L. sidestepped at the eleventh hour. The Herald will be conferring a favor that will be appreciated, if the editor will kindly look this question up for us.

Please give name of negro, date of fight, etc. Also in regards to the second match I have already mentioned.

Thanking you in advance I remain yours truly,

BROOKSTON ATHLETIC CLUB.

Duluth, Jan. 7.

The sporting editor tells us that John L. never fought a colored man, as far as the record books show. He may have had exhibition matches with colored men, but none that are contained in his official record.—The Editor.

ONE VIEW OF THE HIGH SCHOOL CADET CORPS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Splendid, gentlemen, splendid! This high school cadet corps is a splendid thing, but they are teaching them the wrong things. Why instruct them in tactics and drill? Modern methods of warfare have shown us that they should give each boy a pick and shovel. Turn them loose on the hill some place, let them dig a ditch in the frozen ground, lie in the ditch over night, and the next morning run a hundred yards and dig another ditch. Let them see how long they can continue this without proper clothing and with insufficient food, and then we will have a cadet corps that is worth while. True the drill is good exercise, and everybody knows that a boy needs something to give him exercise. None of them get enough playing their regular games. But this would be excellent exercise, and then when we get them all hardened up and fit soldiers, we will look around to the east or the west and get up a nice little war with some other nation so they can prove that we have an "efficient navy." By that time the gun makers will have convinced congress that we need 100 more battleships and then we can have a good war. What are the Mexican and Spanish affairs? They don't count. Let us have a real war where we can kill men by the millions instead of by the score, and where armor plate will be used up faster. Hurrah for the high school cadet corps, I say. That's the system. Get 'em while they're young and bring 'em up in the way they should go, and when they are old they will join the Navy league.

THE DIFFERENCE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I would like to put a few lines in the Open Court in regard to the gas service that the city gives. I had to have the service pipe thawed out twice this winter. Each time the Water and Light department sent me a bill for 50 cents and now if the electric light wire that brings the current into the building should break, the company would not charge for repairing it. Thanking you for the space, I am yours for right. JAMES A. McDONALD.

Duluth, Jan. 7.

WHO PAYS?

To the Editor of The Herald:

Under this heading the Labor World finds fault that the Duluth-Edison should insure its employes out of its enormous profits(?) And just to think this comes from a sheet controlled by the advocate of the state compensation act. It listens well does it not? The employes that the policy system most effects are card men who are engaged in a work so dangerous that it is impossible for them to carry insurance singly.

The editor suggests the change of personnel from Mr. Hartman to Leondias Merritt, the latter giving $1,000 policies to employes of the water and gas department as Christmas presents. Such a plan might be possible, were the department handled at the efficiency of a private concern and providing Mr. Merritt had some one to make the presentation speech. At least the policy system would cost the public less than the pension system that was so lately sprung and killed.

The Duluth-Edison gave a present to each of its employes in the form of a $1,000 insurance policy paid up for a year, which was greatly appreciated by both its employes and their families.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

"Resignation," from A Subscriber; "McCarty's Mare," from Mrs. W. D., Duluth; "Billy's Rose," from Jessie Forsyth of Cohasset.

Requests have been received for the following: "By the Old Mill Stream," from "Lillian" of Embarrass; "I Love the Cows and Chickens," from Albert Gustafson, Lake Mine, Ont.; "I Went Back to the Old Folks at Home," "For the Musket He Trusted Is Busted" and "Don't Banish My Brother From Me, But Give Him a Chance to Reform," from Richard Edwards of Manistique, Mich.

Likes the Poems and Sends One In.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I take great pleasure in reading the old poems and songs and am anxious every night to get them. I am putting them in my scrapbook. There have been some asked for that I wish some one would answer, such as "Jimmie Whalen." I would like also "Jimmie Whalen's Girl," "Bold Jack Donohue," Joe Downey, the Bounty Jumper" and "All on the Georgian Bay."

"McCarty's Mare" was asked for some time ago. It is a song and dance and is quite amusing when sung and performed right. Two people can do it well. Here it is:

We started for the fair with spirits light and hearty
Behind McCartys' mare; we had a little party.
The mare she ran away and killed old Patsy Fagin;
She threw me off behind, truth, and all my bones were achin'.

Chorus.

Off she went, off she went,
Begobs, I was not worth a cent.
The seat was just as hard as flint,
Behind McCarty's mare.

"Oh, hold her in," McCarty cried; "Stop her," said McCue;
But I thought we would shake to pieces as along the road we flew.
Oh, my head was spinning like a top, my heart was in despair,
And the divil himself was in the wheels, behind McCarty's mare.

Like the Poems.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have been reading your poems in the Open Court and find them very interesting.

I would like very much to get the poem "The Mother of a Soldier" printed. The first line is as follows: "The mother of a soldier, hats off to her, I say."

I remain as ever, yours truly,

MISS RUTH GIBSON.

Duluth, Jan. 6.

Billy's Rose.

Billy's dead and gone to glory—so is Billy's sister Nell;
There's a tale I know about them, were I a poet I would tell,
Soft it creeps with perfume laden, like a breath of country air
Wafted down that dismal valley, bringing fragrance everywhere.

In that vile and dismal valley, long ago one winter's day
Dying quick of want and fever, hapless, patient Billy lay,
While beside him sat his sister in the dismal garret gloom
Cheering with her gentle presence, Billy's pathway to the tomb.

Many a tale of elf and fairy did she tell the dying child,
'Till his eyes lost half their anguish, and her wan features smiled.
Tales herself had heard hap-hazard, caught amid the babel roar,
Lisped about by tiny gossips playing at their mother's door.

Then she felt his wasted fingers tighten feebly as she told
How beyond that dismal valley lay a land of shining gold—
Where when all the pain was over—where when all the tears were shed
He would be a white robed angel, with a gold thing on his head.

She was eight, this maiden, and her life had all been spent,
In the alley and the garret, where they starve to pay the rent.
Where a drunken father's curses, and a drunken mother's blows
Drove her forth into the gutter from the day's dawn to its close.

But she knew enough, this outcast, just to tell the dying boy,
"You must die before you're able all these blessings to enjoy.
You must die," she whispered, "Billy, and I am not even ill,
But I'll come to you dear brother, yes, I promise you I will.

"You are dying, little brother,—you are dying, oh, so fast,
I heard father say to mother that he knew you couldn't last;
They will put you in a coffin, then you'll wake and be there,
While I'm left alone to suffer in this garret bleak and bare."

"Yes, I know it," answered Billy, "ah, but, sister I don't mind;
Gentle Jesus will not beat me—he's not cruel or unkind;
But I can't help thinking, Nelly, I would like to take away,
Something sister, that you gave me, I might look at every day.

"In the summer, you remember how the mission took us out
To the great, green lovely meadow, where we played and ran about
And the van that took us halted by a sweet white patch of land
Where the fine red blossoms grew dear, half as big as mother's hand.

"Nell, I asked the kind, good teacher, what they called such flowers as those,
And he told me I remember, that the pretty name was "rose."
I have never seen them since dear,—how I wish that I had one
Just to keep and think of you dear, when I'm up beyond the sun."

Not a word said little Nelly; but at night, when Billy slept,
On she flung her scanty garments, down the creaking stairs she crept
Through the silent streets of London she ran nimbly as a fawn,
Running on, and running ever, till the night had changed to dawn.

When the foggy sun had risen, and the mist had cleared away,
All around her wrapped in snow drift, there the open country lay.
She was tired her limbs were frozen, and the road had cut her feet,
But she found no flowery garden, her keen hungry eyes to meet.

She had traced the road by asking, she had learned the way to go
She had found the famous meadow,—it was wrapped in cruel snow.
Not a buttercup or daisy, not a single verdant blade
Showed its head above its prison, then she knelt her down and prayed.

With her eyes upcast to heaven, down she sank upon the ground
And she prayed to God to tell her where the roses might be found.
Then a cold blast numbed her senses, and her sight grew strangely dim,
And a sudden, awful tremor seemed to rack her every limb.

"Oh, a rose," she moaned, "good Jesus, just a rose to take to Bill"
Even as she prayed, a chariot came thundering down the hill;
And a lady sat there toying with a red rose rare and sweet;
And as she passed she flung it from her, and it fell at Nelly's feet.

And the rose had been his present, so she flung it in a pet;
But the poor, half-blinded Nelly thought it fallen from the skies,
And she murmured, "Thank you, Savior," as she clasped the dainty prize.

Lo! that night from out the alley did a child's soul pass away
From dirt and sin and misery, to where God's children play.
Lo! that night a mild, fierce snow storm burst in fury o'er the land,
And at morn they found Nell, frozen, with the red rose in her hand.

Billy's dead and gone to glory—so is Billy's sister Nell;
Am I bold, to say this happened in the land where angels dwell;
That the children met in heaven, after all their earthly woes,

Keep Your Lungs Strong

This advice is doubly important with the knowledge that every three minutes some one in the United States succumbs to consumption and many refuse to realize they are afflicted until it is too late.

It is after colds or sickness, from overwork, confining duties or when general weakness exists that tubercular germs thrive because the resistive powers of the body are weakened.

Only with fresh air, sunshine and abundant rich blood can one hope to arrest their progress, and the concentrated fats in Scott's Emulsion furnish fuel for rich blood, and its rare nourishment helps strengthen the lungs while it builds up the forces.

If you work indoors, tire easily, feel languid or run-down Scott's Emulsion is the most strengthening food-medicine known and is free from alcohol or stupefying drugs. Avoid substitutes.

An Incantation to Remove Warts

AS A GENERAL rule we haven't much faith in faith cures, though undoubtedly miracles do happen every day. For the removal of warts, for instance, there are scores of magic words, ceremonies and formulae which do not seem to be very effective in practice. Yet there is one incantation which, if applied strictly according to directions, will cause small warts on the hands or elsewhere to shrivel and fall off after a week or ten days.

Children grow more warts than adults, because children do not keep their hands so clean as adults—and warts are due to irritation from dirt. Persons whose occupation necessitates exposure to filth are likely to have warts. Some savants who have studied the question minutely declare that warts are directly caused by a bacillus, and that they are inoculable from one place to another in the same person or different persons. We do know that Johnnie's hands support many colonies of bacilli all the year round, and to all intents and purposes the toads are innocent of any blame.

A wart on the face should have but one treatment—clean surgical removal. The ever present danger is that a wart about the face is liable to cancerous degeneration eventually.

On the hands the incantation which worked so well is as follows:

You prepare the part to be treated by a thorough soap and water scrubbing, followed by a painting of the warts and surrounding skin with tincture of iodine. This alone is often curative without uttering a word of the incantation. But to make sure, you paint each wart with flexible collodion in which is dissolved 1 part of salicylic and 1 part of lactic acid to 6 parts of collodion. Repeat once a day for nine days and as you touch each wart with the camel's hair brush and collodion, whisper these words backward:

Questions and Answers.

Side Ache: P. M., aged 14, asks what causes pain in his side when running, and whether he should stop running when the pain begins.

REPLY.

In healthy youths this side ache usually indicates dilatation of the ventricle under sudden exertion, a normal state of affairs, and if the exertion is continued the ventricle presently responds to the demand and catches up the side ache disappearing as you get your "second wind." Do not stop running if the pain is not severe, but train your heart by more regular daily exercise.

"Rheumatism": What is good for rheumatism of the legs and feet, and what is really the cause of it?

REPLY.

The best thing in the world for such a case is an application of horse sense. What's the matter? Pronated feet? Falling arches? Contracted Achilles? Varicose veins? Or is there some joint infection dependent on a septic focus elsewhere in the body? Don't fool with liniments or "uric acid solvents;" go and see what ails you.

Uneasy Lies the Head, etc.: A year ago I had some crowns put on front teeth, and my chin has been covered with pimples since then. Is it unhealthy to wear a crown?

REPLY.

A sound tooth is better than a gold crown. A crown put in by a good dentist is not unhealthy. If yours is a good dentist, his work is not responsible for the pimples.

In the Claws of the Vulture: D. G. S. inquires about the professional and moral standing of one of the self-styled "specialists" who visit the town periodically and invite suffering humanity to "come to me"—and be fleeced.

REPLY.

In his own home town the faker you mention has about all he can do keeping out of jail. When he visits your unfortunate town he becomes a sort of medical prodigy, an all-around specialist at $10 to $20 a look, and at home he can't command a dollar fee from any self-respecting citizen. Put this down as an unfailing rule: Any specialist who pretends to treat all diseases of all comers is a crook, no matter whether he holds a "diploma" or not.

BOTH EXPECT TO WIN FIGHT

Leaders in Electric Light Controversy Feel Certain of Victory.

Municipal Ownership Men Accept Challenge of Referendum Club.

Both sides in the electric lighting controversy are already claiming the victory.

Although the election will not be until Jan. 19—more than ten days away—heads of the Municipal Ownership league and the Citizens' Referendum committee are claiming the defeat of the other side and easy victory for themselves. "There is nothing to it," say the two chairmen.

This morning C. E. Evens for the Municipal Ownership league officially accepted Mr. Hughes' challenge for a debate to be held at the Auditorium on Saturday evening, Jan. 16. His letter follows:

"My Dear Sir:

"I acknowledge receipt of your communication of Jan. 6. The Municipal Ownership committee accepts your challenge to debate the question you state in your letter. However, we prefer not to limit the discussion to the single question you propose, but to discuss also the following question:

"'Is it for the best interests of the city of Duluth that the people pay a 6-cent rate or a 4-cent rate?'

"Will you kindly advise us if this question may also be included in the discussion?

"The matter of building a municipal plant is so intimately connected with the price the people will have to pay for electric light and power that we feel that a discussion of the entire rate question will assist in accomplishing the avowed purpose of your committee to place all available information before the voters of Duluth. However, the unit plant ordinance will, in our opinion, result in establishing a 3-cent rate within a few months after Jan. 19, and if you do not care to discuss the other ordinances, we nevertheless accept your challenge.

"I will be glad to confer with you at your convenience concerning the details of the meeting.

"Respectfully,
"CHRIS E. EVENS,
"Chairman, Municipal Ownership Committee."

A CALL FOR MONEY

Our Municipal Ownership Committee finds itself running short of money with which to complete the effort it is making to get to the people with its story. We need money to pay printing bills, postage and to watch the polls on election day.

Our friends are, for the most part, those who most need a reduction in light rates, for they pay the maximum. For the same reason, they have little money to contribute to campaign funds.

We are trying to save to the people of Duluth at least $200,000 annually. In five years this will amount to over $1,000,000. An overwhelming majority for the unit plant will discourage dilatory litigation and the corruption of our electorate in subsequent elections. Is not the saving in money and municipal peace worth a small contribution from you now?

Our Chairman, Secretary and Executive Committee are contributing their services free. We have no expense for speakers or "workers."

Contributions may be sent to N. J. Upham, Watson S. Moore or T. T. Hudson, the Finance Committee of the Municipal Ownership Committee.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP COMMITTEE

YOUNG GIANT FOR NAVY.

Peter Coyle, naval recruiting officer at Duluth, accepted the application of Joseph McCall of Virginia yesterday afternoon and the officer declares the youth, who is 20 years old, to be one of the finest specimens of physical manhood that he has ever seen. The boy is 72½ inches in height and has a chest measurement and general physique that put him in a class by himself.

Nine men have applied at the local office for enlistment in the navy during the current week, and seven have been accepted. The only rejections were due to imperfect teeth.

WOULD OBSERVE PATRIOTIC DAYS

Office Men Begin Campaign for Stricter Observance.

At the annual meeting held last night at the Commercial club, the Duluth Association of Office Men took measures toward having the patriotic days of the nation observed in some measure in Duluth. There are many days, such as Lincoln's birthday, Washington's birthday, and others which are observed by the banks and public offices but by nobody else. To make the observation more general is the office men's aim.

The new president, J. Harris Trux, secretary to the mayor, is instructed to appoint a committee to be known as "The National, State and Civic committee," which will endeavor to induce the business men to observe these holidays. This is not necessarily to secure a closing of the stores or offices on those days, but, in some way, to let it be known that they are remembered.

"We are growing too lax in these matters," said President Trux this morning, "and it is up to somebody to stir up patriotic fervor to some degree. We are not looking for a half holiday or anything of that sort, but believe it our function, as citizens, to do what we can to further public weal, and we think this a good first step."

COURT, EN BANC, HEARS ARGUMENTS

District court judges, sitting en banc, listened to arguments this morning on the appeal of Henry Miller from a conviction in municipal court on a charge of having conducted a disorderly house. B. M. Goldberg appeared in court as attorney for Miller and the city prosecutor's office was represented by W. H. Gurnee, assistant city attorney. The court took the case under advisement.

Miller was arrested March 19, 1913, and after a trial before Judge Cutting was convicted and sentenced to sixty days in the county jail. His attorney appealed on the ground that the verdict was not justified by the evidence and that the sentence was not in conformity with the gravity of the offense.

REDUCE SIZE OF LOAVES

Bakers Increase Bread Prices By Cutting Down Weight.

Were Operating at a Loss With High Cost of Flour.

Duluth is not going to be forced to pay a higher price for a loaf of bread—at least not for the time being—but the weight of the loaves will be reduced. You won't pay more, but you will get less.

H. W. Zinsmaster of the Zinsmaster-Smith company declared today that loaves of bread that formerly weighed 28 ounces are at the present time containing but 27 ounces. Originally these loaves weighed 30 ounces. Something like two months ago the bakers decided that they could not meet expenses with the price of flour mounting, and cut the weight of the loaves from 30 to 28 ounces. Therefore, the reduction made yesterday brings the weight of the 10-cent loaf to 27 ounces.

"I am against the increase in the price of bread," said Mr. Zinsmaster today. "I argued against it. While it is true that with the price of flour at $6.50 a barrel it is very difficult to make expenses, and while the reduction of the weight of the large loaves will not entirely offset the high price we are compelled to pay for flour, it will help some and will serve to tide the bakers over the present period.

"Should there be a further increase in the price of flour, it is possible or probable that the bakers of the city may be compelled to increase the price of bread. Some of us hope for a decrease in the price of flour. The decrease in the weight of the large loaf is made with the hope and expectation that flour will go down in price; should it continue upon its upward flight, there probably will be nothing to do but charge more for bread."

Reach Agreement.

According to the statement made today, some of the bakers of the city favored the increase in the cost of bread. Finally, however, a common ground of agreement was struck in the motion to reduce the weight, and for the time being at least the price will remain at 5 cents for the small loaf and 10 cents for the larger-sized loaves.

There are some 14-ounce loaves made here. Figuring it out that you could get two 14-ounce loaves for 10 cents where you can buy but one 27-ounce loaf for the same price—a dime, 10 cents—it might be suggested to the lay mind that it would be cheaper and better household economics to take the small loaves.

This fact was called to the attention of one of the prominent bakers of the city. He admitted the merciless logic of the increased ounce of bread, but replied that only a few small loaves were made here, and therefore it was not considered an important enough matter to reduce the 14-ounce loaf to 13½ ounces.

Yes, but for all that, the women folks like to have things exact.

APPROVES BONDS FOR SALOON KEEPERS

Judge Fesler yesterday afternoon approved bonds in the sum of $450 each furnished by H. K. Lower and Joseph King, the two Moose Lake saloon keepers, who continued to sell liquor in Moose Lake village after the township had voted dry in order to test in the courts the validity of the Carlton county attorney's claim that the village was "dry" by virtue of a statute which prohibited the sale of intoxicants within a half mile of "dry" territory.

Moose Lake village voted "wet." Later Moose Lake township, of which the village is a part voted "dry." The village is bounded on all sides by the "dry" township, and it was the contention of the Carlton county prosecutor that the village saloons should close. Two did not comply with his order and the proprietors were arrested. Lower and King, the two men, sued out writs of habeas corpus to test the law. Judge Fesler in the district court upheld the validity of their claim, but his opinion was reversed by the supreme court, which held that the village was dry.

Lower and King are now held to the February term of the Carlton county district court. They will be prosecuted for violating the law by County Attorney J. E. Diesen of Cloquet, who recently succeded H. S. Lord of Carlton.

PARK BOARD HAD A BUSY YEAR; PLAYGROUNDS WORTH $1,651,700

In 1914 the park board had the busiest year of its history, according to the annual report of Manager Henry Cleveland, submitted to Mayor Prince this morning.

During the last twelve months the park board acquired considerable land adjoining parks or boulevards, built a large number of small bridges, erected several comfort stations, prepared the nine municipal skating rinks for use during the winter, opened up a number of roadways, repaired and painted the Armory and the other market places for business last summer, constructed retaining walls in park districts, planted hundreds of trees and constructed drinking fountains in various parts of the city.

The total expenditures of the department amounted to $63,061.67, according to the report, while the park property is valued at $1,651,700. Among the more important duties performed are the following included in Mr. Cleveland's statement to the mayor:

List of Improvements.

Preliminary extension work on western end of the boulevard to include Fairmont park, partial survey and sub-grade for about one-fourth of distance from Earl street, present terminus of boulevard.

The construction of a stone bridge on the line of the first road, built in St. Louis county, crossing Keane creek.

The preparation of nine skating rinks to be cared for by volunteer service.

Retaining walls and drains, Eleventh avenue west, Stub End park, grading, planting and seeding same.

Planting trees in parks as needed and on Twenty-third avenue west from Superior street to boulevard and replacing defective trees.

Rustic bridge at Fairmont park and new pathways.

Snively boulevard surfaced for two miles.

Repairing walks and steps in Cascade park.

CO-OPERATION IS REQUESTED

Co-operation of the citizens of Duluth is earnestly requested by Joseph Pratts, bakery inspector, in his annual report for the year 1914, submitted yesterday to Dr. H. E. Webster, director of the health department.

The report shows that Inspector Pratt had a very busy year, but he lays special stress on the request for assistance from the public. He asks that persons visiting bakery shops, candy factories, restaurants, hotels, stores, or lodging houses should look for insanitary conditions, ventilation or filthy equipment and immediately report any violation to his department. It is only by the co-operation of earnest citizens that many violations are discovered, he states.

Would Patronize Clean Places.

Another good method to wipe out insanitary places, suggests Inspector Pratts, is that citizens patronize only the clean, wholesome shops. In this way the others will either make the proper improvements or go out of business.

During 1914 Inspector Pratts made nine arrests for violations of the health ordinances, eight resulting in convictions, according to the annual report. He also made 621 inspections of bakeries, 882 of basements, 490 of boarding houses, 173 of candy factories, 895 of hotels, 136 of ice cream parlors, 531 of lunch rooms, 217 of lodging houses, 1,011 of restaurants, 1,256 of stores and 414 of soda fountains. He served 487 notices throughout the year to proprietors of buildings, where violations were discovered.

As a result of the inspections, Mr. Pratts closed two bakeries, condemned 37 loaves of bread, closed two lunch rooms operated in connection with barber shops, condemned hundreds of drinking cups and roller towels and prevented the opening of two candy kitchens in basements during the year.

CLUB WILL HEAR DEBATE

McEwen and Hughes Will Discuss Electric Light Problem.

Several Big Meetings Are Scheduled Before the Election.

One of the most important debates of the present electric lighting controversy will be held this evening at the meeting of the Hillside Improvement club in the Polish hall, Fourth avenue east and Fourth street.

Ray M. Hughes, chairman of the Citizens' Referendum committee, and W. E. McEwen, member of the executive committee of the Municipal Ownership league, have been selected to represent the two sides in the controversy and a rousing meeting is expected. The general public has been invited and a large crowd is expected to fill the hall.

Several other debates will be held before the election on Tuesday, Jan. 19, these including those already scheduled for next Tuesday evening at the Cobb school, next Friday at the meeting of the Glent-Hunt-Wood commission and next Saturday at the Auditorium. This last debate will wind up the campaign for both sides.

Another important meeting scheduled for this evening will be that of the West Duluth branch of the Referendum committee to be held at the headquarters in the West Duluth postoffice building. Neil Beaton will be the principal speaker.

Other meetings scheduled for tonight follow:

Young Men's M. O. league, headquarters in Phoenix building.

Bricklayers' union, Bricklayers' hall, W. E. McEwen, speaker.

PERUVIANS ORDERED TO GET OUT OF CHILE.

Santiago, Chile, Jan. 8.—The government today ordered Guillermo Billinghurst, former president of Peru, and Dr. Augusto Durand to leave Chilean territory within eight days.

President Billinghurst was deposed in a brief revolution in February last. It was expected that Dr. Durand would succeed him, but he was arrested and deported. On Nov. 30, last, the Peruvian police confiscated a quantity of rifles and war stores which, it was alleged, had been collected by Dr. Durand in connection with an attempt to foment a revolution in Peru.

SUPERIOR

Viaduct Will Cost $89,000.

Estimates being made for the construction of the Twenty-first avenue viaduct over the railroads show that it will cost approximately $89,000. The charts were completed yesterday by City Engineer E. B. Banks. The viaduct will allow for the use of double tracks capable of carrying double-truck cars. The viaduct will carry the cars on the Billings park line. It is expected to begin work on the bridge early this summer.

Will Advertise City.

A country-wide system of advertising Superior was considered last night at the meeting of the Superior Real Estate exchange. The purpose is to induce manufacturers to locate in the city. A committee to outline the campaign will be announced within a few days.

Duel With Revolvers.

A battle with revolvers between special police officers of the Omaha railroad and four men, alleged to be boxcar thieves, took place last night in the Omaha yards. Several shots were fired. The officers arrested Mike Miller and Steve Burke, both of whom were bound over to the superior court this morning. There are said to have been two other men implicated in the robbery of boxcars, but the other two got away. The shooting attracted a number of regular police to the spot.

HEED PROTEST OF SETTLERS

Proposed Drainage Ditch Halted, as Not Being Warranted.

After listening to a storm of protest coming from 150 settlers from the Little Fork river district and attorneys retained to represent their interests, the county board at a special session this afternoon passed a resolution which determined that County Ditch No. 3, a mammoth drainage project in the Cook district which would reclaim about 150,000 acres of land now unfit for agricultural purposes, should not be established.

The board's resolution set forth that the ditch, as planned, was not of sufficient utility and public benefit to justify the cost of construction which has been estimated by the county road engineer as $197,000. Among those who appeared before the board on behalf of the settlers opposed to the ditch construction and the benefits reported by the viewers, were Victor L. Power, Hibbing, Luke Burns and Layfayette Bliss of Virginia and Andrew Nelson, John A. Keyes and John E. Samuelson of this city.

It is not unlikely that the petitioners for the ditch, of whom there were fifty-three, most of whom were settlers, will appeal to the district court for a review of the proceedings. The settlers opposing the ditch claimed that the country was so broken and filled with so many ravines and high land that the entire section covered by the ditch would have to be viewed again in order to have an equitable assessment levied against the benefited property owners.

CANADA EXPRESSES REGRET FOR DEATH

Dominion Offers to Compensate Family of Walter Smith.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 8.—Canadian government authorities have forwarded to the United States government at Washington formal expressions of regret on the part of the Dominion of Canada for the killing of Walter Smith and the wounding of Charles Dorsch by Canadian militiamen. The dominion government also has offered to compensate the wounded man and the family of the dead man.

Four Arrested.

Toronto, Ont., Jan. 8.—A provincial constable, a corporal, and two privates were arrested at Fort Erie today on warrants issued at the instance of the attorney general of the province of Ontario, charging them with manslaughter in connection with the death of Walter Smith and the wounding of Charles Dorsch, American citizens, at Fort Erie on Dec. 28 last. The men were held without bail.

"NEAR SIDE" STOPS IN MINNEAPOLIS.

Although the "near-side stop" system will be adopted by the Minneapolis street railway on Jan. 18, no such innovation is planned for the street cars in Duluth, at least, not at present, according to Manager Herbert Warren.

Word was received this morning that after Jan. 18 the street cars in Minneapolis will stop on the near-side only in the loop district, all far side stops to be discontinued except where the car turns a corner. Horace Lowry, vice president, sent a communication to the city council and unless objection is raised, the plan will go into effect.

Manager Warren said this morning that if the plan proves successful in Minneapolis, it may possibly be adopted here in Duluth, that is, if the innovation is satisfactory to the members of the city commission.

THE DAILY ROLL CALL; A COLUMN OF SPORTS

BY BRUCE.

JUST to put some of you fellows in on the Gibbons end of the argument, we dropped Sir Michael a note the other day, asking the phantom his opinion of the coming setto, the duel of five-ounce gloves, with James Clabby.

"If Clabby was no better than I was the first time I boxed him, I would have put him away," says Gibbons. "I think I will win. I have improved a lot since the first meeting. Maybe Clabby is better, but I do not think that he has improved to the extent that I have. At least I think that it will be your humble servant that will be returned the winner—and I am not underestimating the abilities of Clabby in the least."

Our Own Opinion.

THERE was a time when we leaned to the Clabby end of the argument. The performance of Mike Gibbons against Bob Moha has swung our pendulum of belief over to the side of Mike Gibbons.

Any boxer of middleweight vintage who could accomplish the demolition in two brief rounds that was totaled up to the Gibbons end in that controversy, is some boxer. Get down on that brief.

Clabby is rated as 99 per cent pure in the boxing sense. Like Freddy Welsh, the Hammond lad has a method all his own in the clinches. He can tie a man helpless and render him harmless.

But in Gibbons the Hoosier is running into rapid gun fire of heavy centimeter bore. The world has been made to acknowledge the fact that Mike can hit. This is not intimating that Gibbons is likely to lay Clabby low in the space of ten rounds; but it is stating that Gibbons can hit harder than Clabby, and he is surely as fast and as great a boxer. All of the angles of the game considered, our judgment is on Gibbons.

A Word From Salvatore.

A BOXER'S rise in this stormy and cold world is often indicated by his letterheads. Returning to the work pit this morning after the joyous home event we discovered a letter from John Salvatore, which bore in bold and flaring type the announcement that John was the challenger of the world for the world's welterweight title.

Since voluntarily quitting the managerial wing of Mike McNulty the Dutchman has had a number of fights—and he has won most of them. To the surprise of that portion of the world that reads with wide-eyed interest of the goings on in the realm of fistania, Salvatore cleaned the clock of Bud Logan. Now Bud industriously and with artistic endeavor licked the whey out of Wildcat Ferns, so you can see in licking Logan the plugging Salvatore was accomplishing quite a pugilistic task, as pugilistic tasks go.

If Salvatore ever learns to hit out and time his blows and forget some of that Mike Gibbons fancy stuff that all of the St. Paul boys try to imitate, he will be right up near the top. He is one of the toughest boys in the whole world, and in making that statement we are not in the least overlooking the fact that said world is deep in diameter and large of circumference and is peopled by some rare old birds of whalebone variety.

Let Miller Decide.

WAINO KETONEN has offered to meet Joe Carr, if the tough bird from Minneapolis can or will do 158 ringside, and bet 100 hard earned simoleons of his own on the result. There is no comeback from Carr; because Carr knows that at 158 pounds instead of 170 pounds he would be beaten by Ketonen.

Today Tilton E. Lewis, who, during the present season has labored long and faithfully to bring the boys together, received an ultimatum from Miller.

Walter agrees to wrestle Ketonen if he is guaranteed $500 for his end. Ketonen has agreed to wrestle Miller winner take all, make a side bet, or wrestle any way Walter might desire to split the percentage.

Lewis announced today that he would immediately get in communication with Ketonen, who is in the East, and endeavor to get the little Finn on some kind of proposition that would prevent the promoter losing heavily on the cost.

If Ketonen will take his percentage out of the gross after the guarantee of Miller's is deducted, Duluth will see a match that has been argued back and forth with acrimonious heat for more than a year and a half.

If this contest is finally consummated, the fans here will see two of the greatest natural 158 pounders in the world in action.

As alike as two peas physically, varying in weight not more than a pound, they hate each other with real and intent ardor, and not mere press-agent pretext.

Having no interest outside of a sporting writer in this contest, the writer hopes that this match is made. If our judgment on the thing is correct, it will prove the greatest of all contests ever wrestled in Duluth. If our judgment is again correct, the result of this contest will show Waino Ketonen the greatest boy in the world at 158 pounds ringside.

Again, if the match is wrestled here, Tilt Lewis has stated that the men will weigh in on the stage just before the call of time, which will be the first time this procedure has been gone through with.

For bitterness, for a struggle in which the future of the two men is at stake, this contest should outrank all others that have been made here and go down as one of the greatest matches ever wrestled in little old Duluth.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 8.—In a battle that was hard fought throughout, but with the Sault a shade the better, Calumet was defeated here last night in the opening game of the Western Hockey league, by a count of 4 to 0.

Stiff checking on the part of the Sault forwards spoiled many combinations which Calumet got under way. Only a stiff defense saved the Sault time and again as the Calumet players finally resorted to long shots. Lineup:

MANY RINKS ARE COMING

Port Arthur to Send Many Curlers to Big Spiel.

Port Arthur will send at least three rinks to the Northwestern Curling bonspiel. Secretary Ray Withrow is in receipt of the entry of some of the crack curlers of the club, and more names are expected before the end of the week.

Allan Paterson of the Canadian town is endeavoring to organize a Shriners' rink. Some of the crack curlers of Port Arthur are Shriners and this move will prove rather a distinct innovation.

Cambria, Wis., one of the most enthusiastic little curling centers in the Northwest, is going to send several rinks up to the big spiel. Among the curlers of the Wisconsin burg are several former members of Wisconsin football teams.

A. E. McCall of Centuria, Wis., is coming with a rink, and there may be another entry from the same town.

No St. Paul entries have been received as yet. The Saintly City bunch generally bring along their entry cards in their portmanteaus. It is stated that St. Paul will have a larger delegation on hand than last year. Winnipeg is also reported to be coming strong. War may prevent any big spiel on the Canadian side of the line this season, and in that event the Duluth spiel will get more than the usual attention from the Canadian stone-throwers.

CROWDED CHAMPION.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Forcing Perry McGillivray to break the Central association one mile swimming record, Clement Browne, 18 years old, lost to McGillivray by three feet in the first of the Central A. A. U. swimming championships last night.

McGillivray made the distance in 24:30. The former mark was made by H. J. Handy in 24.32 3-5.

Harry Hebner retained his title as world's champion back-stroke, winning the 150 yards in 1:55.

CENTRAL READY FOR NORTHLAND

Stirring Basket Ball Contest Slated for High School Team.

The Central high school basket ball team is tuned to the point and is ready for the big tilt with the husky Northland college five of Ashland, tonight. From all indications this will be one of the best games to be played by the Central team this year and a large crowd is expected to turn out and root for Central men in their first interscholastic contest of the season. Coach G. A. Glyer has been putting his men through a hard work-out preparatory to the big game and expects them to put up a great battle. The men have been working faithfully as the first game will naturally go a long way towards determining the personnel of the team for the season.

The scheduled game with Cloquet for this date fell through and the Northland contest was substituted. A game with Cloquet may be played later in the year, however, as a strong team represents the mill town this season.

Victories don t always determine the strength of a team. A team may play several weak aggregations and win over all of them and yet not have a strong combination. The schedule-makers of the Central high school realize this fact, and as a result have booked some of the strongest teams in the Northwest to oppose Central for the season. The Northland five is one of the strongest of all of these and should the local quintet be returned the winner in the game of this evening, a good start will have been made and the men will be able to face the other big games with considerable confidence. Playing a hard schedule is one of the best means of developing a strong and consequeutly a winning aggregation. This will be closely adhered to by the athletic directors of Central high this year, and the students and other boosters of the team ars assured of some exciting contests to witness.

The game tonight will begin promptly at 8 o'clock and will be played at the Central high school gymnasium in the manual training building, Lake avenue and Third street.

BRYANT IS THE WINNER

Duluth Boy Defeats Raymond Kelly on the Rollers.

Last evening at the Auditorium Frank Bryant defeated Raymond King Kelly, the St. Paul roller skating speed merchant, in the first contest of the series, a mile event. Bryant skated the mile in the fast time of 3:26.

The race was skated in the Australian pursuit style, the skaters starting from opposite sides of the rink. On the sixteenth lap the little local speed wizard caught his opponent and on the next lap passed him.

Kelly broke the 100-yard record formerly held by Walter Osman of Detroit. After his contest with Bryant this evening the St. Paul lad will go after the 220-yard record held by the same skater.

Bryant and Kelly will meet in the second series this evening. In the event that little Frank is able to again defeat what is claimed to be one of the fastest skaters ever sent out of St. Paul, he will get a chance at Harley Davidson.

The Duluth boy showed excellent form in the contest of last evening. Admirers of Bryant state that he has never skated as fast as at the present time.

ROWE WINS GAME.

C. S. Chapman Is Defeated in Amateur Billiard Contest.

In the amateur billiard tournament games that are being played at Hatley's parlors, Rowe defeated C. S. Chapman last evening by the score of 150 to 140. The contest was one of the best played to date and was witnessed by a large number of friends of the two players. Rowe ran 17 in

TRINITY MEN LOSE FOR FIRST TIME

Are Defeated By Palestine Baseball Team By 18-to-16 Score.

The Palestine indoor baseball team defeated the Trinity nine by the score of 18 to 16 in the regular scheduled game of the Temple league last evening. This is the first defeat the Trinity team has suffered since the opening of the league last November.

The game last evening was close throughout and was one of the best of the season to date. Joyce and Beschenbossel were the batteries for the victorious Palestine players, while Erickson and Anderson did the work for the West end blue lodge members.

The next game will be played Tuesday evening, when the Chapter and Scottish Rite teams will play.

Demarest Defeats Cline.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 8.—Calvin Demarest defeated Harry Cline 300 to 234 in a Billiard Players league match here last night.

HOUGHTON TEAM IS HERE FOR BIG HOCKEY GAME

Great Portage Lake Seven Will Oppose Duluth in Two Games.

The Copper Country Fans Sure of Victory—So Is Duluth.

Houghton is here!

There is a bing in that name. Houghton stands for hockey and brings a concrete mental suggestion to you, like the pies-mother-used-to-make expression.

There is Haugh, and he stands for impenetrability, and there are Sicotte and Exly, who stand for about the greatest speed that has been shown around these parts for some sections of time.

Chaput, the intrepid Frenchman, is playing better than ever this season. The war spirit has got into the veins of the fiery Chappie, and he is going some this season. Look at what he did against Calumet.

Great Game Expected.

All of the elements of a royal struggle are on the cards of this contest before the deal is made. Portage Lake has already demonstrated its class by the decisive defeat of Calumet, and the great Reynolds was in the ranks of the Calumet team, at that.

Duluth has won in clean-cut and more decisive fashion from both Minneapolis and St. Paul. Just a suggestion of the power of the curling club team has been given in these games. Tonight the ability of the Linderites in every department of the game will be taxed to the full and the fans hereabouts will have the opportunity of judging of the strength of two hockey sevens that are regarded by keen students of the game as about the class of the Northwest.

The National Title, Eh!

Gentlemen, we have with us this evening two teams that may fight it out for a long running jump at the national title.

As to Western division laurels, it looks as if Duluth and Houghton might battle it out. The winner of the Western division will be flung into the breach against the winner of the Eastern division. Right away the fans are imploring the Duluth boys to take the bit in their pearly teeth and canter home with the opening contest of the 1915 home hockey season.

Out there on the ice, with the big arcs blinking down and flooding a radiance of light, you will see some sensational doings, if the Houghtonites live up to the form precedent.

The looming form of big Paul Hogan, the gallant "Turk," will be missed, but there are Sicotte and Exly and Chaput and Haas and Cullman and Traten. Some combination of players—some forwards.

Against the invading host Joe Linder will place on the ice what is believed to be a stronger combination than the 1914 aggregation. This at least is the opinion of many of the followers of the game. The worth of this opinion will be ascertained in the result of the game.

Can Duluth, granted that its team is better than the one of last season, defeat Houghton? There is a hiatus of opinion upon this point quite too great to be spanned by the bridge of prophecy.

Portage Lake persons believe that their team is the greatest in the Northwest by far. This belief has been strengthened and otherwise cemented into a positive opinion by the decisive win from Calumet.

Here another opinion holds forth and kicks its heels in the air. Duluth will win, is bandied back and forth in our home hockey precincts.

Will it?

That is the big question.

Come out and cheer, gang, we may need all of the moral assistance that you can give.

She is going to be some game.

Houghton Team Is Here.

Members of the Portage Lake team arrived early today over the South Shore. Arrangements were made for the practice of the visitors in the curling club rink at an early hour.

All of the visitors declare they are in the best of shape and the appearance of the members of the team does not belie this statement in the least.

Joe Linder will take his gang out for a final spin and a few practice shots at the cage, sometime this afternoon. Trainer Bill Trepanier has vouched for the condition of the Duluth team.

"All of the boys are in grand shape, and you will see some game," said William.

The gong will send them off at 8 o'clock.

Kling on Tour.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 8.—John Kling of Kansas City defeated Martin Maley of Detroit 50 to 33 in an 80-inning interstate three cushion billiard league match last night.

SCHEDULE OUT FOR THE D. A. H. L.

Two Harbors and Bagleys Will Open Hockey Season.

The schedule of the Duluth Amateur Hockey league for the first half of the season was adopted at the meeting held at the Fenton-Duby store last evening.

As previously announced Two Harbors and the Bagleys will open the season at the French rink on Monday evening. Central high school and the Big Duluths will come next.

All of those present last evening were enthusiastic over the outlook for a great year. With nearly all of the players of the various teams known, the prediction is made that the make-up of the league is stronger than last year, and a year ago the brand of hockey stirred the lovers of the game hereabouts.

Following is the schedule:

Jan. 11—Two Harbors vs. Bagleys.
Jan. 13—Central vs. Big Duluths.
Jan. 15—Northerns vs. Universals.
Jan. 18—Bagleys vs. Central.
Jan. 20—Two Harbors vs. Universals.
Jan. 22—Big Duluths vs. Northerns.
Jan. 25—Universals vs. Big Duluths.

Feb. 3—Universals vs. Bagleys.
Feb. 5—Northerns vs. Central.
Feb. 8—Bagleys vs. Big Duluths.
Feb. 10—Two Harbors vs. Northerns.
Feb. 12—Universals vs. Central.

new league, the Indianapolis meeting was called in order to obtain added evidence in substantiation of the general bill of complaint prepared by the Federals against the older organizations. The conference is expected to continue for several days.

Joe Tinker, manager of the Chicago club, was the only man present who would talk of the meeting last night. He said that the Federals are planning to give baseball a "good housecleaning," and continued:

"We want to eradicate the "business men" in the game and put in no one who is not a sportsman. We are tired of having baseball run by two men—Ban Johnson and Garry Herrmann."

Those attending the conference include many Federal league magnates and players.

CURLING

While the games in all of the trophy events are advancing rapidly, no rink in any one event has reached further than the eights. The Whyte-Brewer rink won last night, and from the strength of this aggregation it can be looked for to make a hard fight in all of the events. Laird Goodman's rink is showing grand form and Fred Hoene's rink is also going along some. Billy Dinham's rink is another of those to be reckoned with.

VALUABLE ART OBJECTS TAKEN

Polish Library Museum at Lemberg Despoiled By the Russians.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Vienna, Dec. 29.—The Ossolinski library museum at Lemberg, from which the Russians recently carried off a large number of art objects and manuscripts, is considered the most important Polish national art and bibliographical institution in existence. According to authentic reports the Russians transferred to Petrograd 1,034 paintings, 24,000 etchings, 5,000 autographs, and a quantity of manuscripts of which as yet it has been impossible to even make an estimate. Austrian Poles bitterly resent this raiding of their art and literary holy-of-holies, since among the objects carried off there are many priceless specimens of an original literary and art-historical character which it would be impossible to replace.

The institution was founded about 1819 by Count Joseph Maxmilian Ossolinski von Tenczyn. The collection grew rapidly, and in 1837 it included one of the largest and best collections of plaster-of-paris casts in Europe, in addition to coins and medals, paintings, copper plates, and a comprehensive collection of objects related to natural history.

A few years later a large printing plant was added. Books printed there were largely of a literary and historical character, designed to foster the Polish spirit not only in that part of Austria-Hungary, but also in Russian Poland. A few years ago the library-museum contained 128,000 separate works.

The most valuable painting of the Ossolinski museum is a portrait by Titian. It had been taken to Vienna to undergo renovation when the war broke out.

WILLING TO GIVE EXTRA SIXPENCE

Incident That Shows Social Leveling Influence of War.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Dec. 25.—Illustrative of the social leveling influence of war, the following incident is told:

A new commanding officer was questioning a smart young corporal.

"Are you married?" asked the officer.

"Yes, sir."

"Don't you think you ought to make her some allowance out of your pay?" continued the officer.

"If you think it necessary, sir," replied the private, "I will, sir. I'm keeping up the house and car and allowing her six hundred pounds a year, but if you think an extra sixpence a day would be any good to her, I am perfectly willing."

MONTH OLD PAPERS ARE EAGERLY SOUGHT.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Berlin, Dec. 20.—The extent to which communication with the United States is now cut off may be understood from the fact that a New York paper less than a month old is eagerly sought by Americans and carefully passed around among a large circle of readers. The removal of some of the Rotterdam-New York boats to southern routes has much reduced the mail facilities.

WEST END

SPEAKERS DISCUSS LIGHTING PROBLEM

Both Sides of Question Argued at Simonson's Hall.

Speakers for and against municipal ownership spoke at length before an audience of 100 voters at Simonson's hall last night. The speakers were Alex G. McKnight, Commissioner W. A. Hicken and Ray M. Hughes.

Mr. McKnight spoke first. He said that he was interested in the present fight for municipal ownership and against the Duluth Edison Electric company because he wished to protect the "dear public" from being "skinned" by its high rates.

"I am here as a common citizen and not as an official of the city," said Commissioner Hicken. The commissioner said he proposed to speak from the standpoint of economy. He charged that the company had been in politics ever since its birth and that it had tried to dominate the city councils of the past and was now trying to dictate to the people.

Mr. Hughes gave figures to show that the experiments of other cities had not resulted in any cheaper rates than were now being offered by the Duluth-Edison company. He then went into an explanation of the proposed unit plant and showed from reports of engineers that made the estimates for the city, that only vague promises of lower lighting had been given and that the public would have no guarantee of cheaper or better lighting with the unit system. He also touched on the proposed plan of using funds of the water and light department for the purpose of building the new unit, and showed by the city's figures that this money was not being taken from any surplus made by the department, but from money raised some time ago by the sale of bonds which had been voted upon by the people and were to be used for the purpose of extending and improving the water and light system.

FACES REPAIRED BY SKIN GRAFTING

Three Eminent French Surgeons Set Apart for the Purpose.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Havre, France, Dec. 25.—The French army medical corps has set apart three eminent surgeons, Professors Tuffilier, Morestin and Sebilean, to make "esthetic repairs" and remove deformations from the faces of those wounded in the war.

If a man loses his nose or any part of his face, or a disfigurement is caused by a wound, the face will be repaired by skin grafting, and the latest discoveries in surgical science will be used to remedy the deformity.

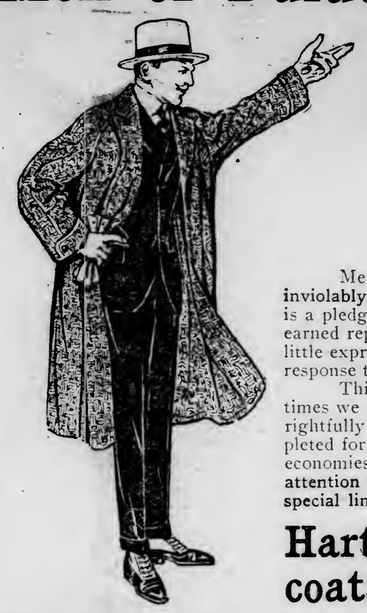

Several cases have already been successfully undertaken by the three surgeons. A young corporal who had part of his face taken away by a shell, was given a new nose, left jaw and cheek. In cases where teeth have been lost, it is said that successful efforts have been made to transplant others, according to a method discovered by a Russian dentist.

BOXING GLOVES SENT TO BRITISH FLEET.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Dec. 27.—Through a patriotic fund, 1,600 pairs of boxing gloves were distributed at Christmas time among the various ships composing the British fleet. Boxing still remains the king of sports in the navy, while in the army it has a strong rival in association football. Gifts of footballs to the soldiers were welcomed more than anything else. A game is always on, when the weather permits, among the troops sent to the reserve for their periodical rests.

SPEAKS FOR BETTER NAVY

Secretary of Navy League Solicits Support for Its Plans.

Office Men Favor "Far Side" Stop—Elect Officers.

Much interesting history regarding the Navy league and a discussion of armament were features of the address last evening by W. M. Lewis, field secretary of the Navy league of the United States, who spoke before the Duluth Association of Office Men at their monthly dinner at the Commercial club. Bishop J. D. Morrison, a member of the league, spoke briefly in favor of Mr. Lewis' plan for enlarging the navy, and the office men passed resolutions to the same effect.

Favor Far-Side Stops.

A vote was taken by the office men relative to the stopping of street cars in Duluth, and it was decided in favor of the "farside" practice now in operation. Harris Trux, secretary to Mayor Prince, was elected president of the association for the ensuing year, with George L. Gross as vice president, H. K. Pratt, treasurer, and Kenneth Durham, secretary. Roger M. Weaver and Ray Pattison, the retiring president, were elected directors for the two-year term. Resolutions were passed to designate and empower an employment committee for the purpose of aiding mercantile men in securing help as well as persons seeking employment to find it.

The dinner and business session were largely attended and in addition to the speech-making, music, songs and anecdotes helped to make the affair a brilliant success. Mr. Trux, after a graceful acknowledgement of his election to the presidency, told a number of humorous stories, most of them in dialect, that were enthusiastically applauded by the club. The office men's quartet sang "Tipperary," with great gusto and good expression. Mr. Lewis, the speaker of the evening, followed.

How League Was Formed.

He began his discourse by explaining how the Navy league originated in Washington, five years ago, with such charter members as Gen. Horace Porter, George V. L. Meyer, Theodore Roosevelt and Dr. Lyman Abbott on the board of directors, and with its object a patriotic education to further the efficiency of our national defense. He quoted George Washington as having said: "To be prepared for war is the surest way to peace." He then went on to tell how the navy had declined immediately after the Revolutionary war; owing to the importunities of those who thought that the laying down of arms would be an insurance of peace.

Mr. Lewis says the Civil war would not have lasted six months had the United States navy had sufficient ships to blockade the southern ports—for "the South breathed through them and the exportation of her cotton was her life."

In 1873, United States blue-jackets were insulted and humiliated in Cuba, he claimed, because the country had not sufficient ships to enforce respect and justice, he said. But it was a more efficient navy in 1892, he asserted, that enabled America to support the Monroe doctrine, compel England and Germany to keep their hands off Venezuela, and the latter country to pay her just debts.

Purpose of Navy League.

The Navy league does not advocate a large navy, Mr. Lewis claims, but an efficient one. No dead wood, no useless or superannuated ships manned by sailors that could be more advantageously used, Mr. Lewis says is the policy. The United States navy should have at least 7,000 blue-jackets to man its dreadnaughts and auxiliary fighting ships, where as at present it has only about half that number, Mr Lewis says.

Mr. Lewis has a strong voice and his delivery and diction are exceptional. He at least holds the attention of his audience in his project—which he says is not a large navy, but an efficient one.

The Women's Civic club of Independence, Kan., will conduct a series of spelling contests this winter, among the pupils of the public schools, to raise money to be used in offering prizes for civil improvements. The contests will begin in the lower grades and gradually rise to the higher ones.

INDIAN "LID" TO CONTINUE

Deputy Brandt Brings Such Word to Bemidji After Meeting Cato Sells.

Not Able to Say Definitely Whether Hibbing Will Also Get Lid.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Back in Bemidji from having attended a meeting in Washington at which all agents were summoned before Cato Sells, commission of Indian affairs, Deputy Agent J. P. Brandt announces that direct orders were re-before acto Sells, commissioner of Inidly enforce the provisions of the treaty of 1855 which forbids liquor in this territory.

"We are well aware," said Agent Brandt, "that some liquor is being sold in violation of the treaty and we also know some things that the public doesn't know. There will be some surprises at the next session of court."

Mr. Brandt explained that at the Washington meeting Commissioner Sells was positive in his declaration that the work of keeping the lid on in Northern Minnesota must continue and that with an increased appropriation of $125,000, increased from $75,000, the department was in a position to "make it hot for offenders."

With Mr. Brandt came Deputy L. W. Carson. Chief Special Officer Larson is expected within the next few days and will direct operations throughout this territory, with Bemidji as his headquarters.

As to Closing Hibbing.

"Are you going to close Hibbing?" Brandt was asked.

"I cannot say what will be done there. We work under orders."

Mr. Brandt, however, was emphatic in his assertion that Commissioner Sells had been positive in declaring for a complete enforcement of the treaty provisions. Hibbing is included in the territory affected by the treaty.

Despite this, the government agents tipped it off that there "probably" is a way to bring liquor into the "Indian territory" without having to go to the penitentiary for it.

"If alcohol is actually needed for medicinal purposes the war department might assume authority for permitting it to be brought in," significantly suggested Mr. Brandt.

St. Anthony's hospital here has found its supply of alcohol diminishing. The hospital does not use a large amount, but was troubled as to how to provide enough to use in giving rubs to patients as frequently ordered by physicians. The hospital authorities have now made a direct request to the Indian department to be permitted to replenish its supply. Mr. Brandt intimated that reputable druggists might also receive permission to ship in needed quantities.

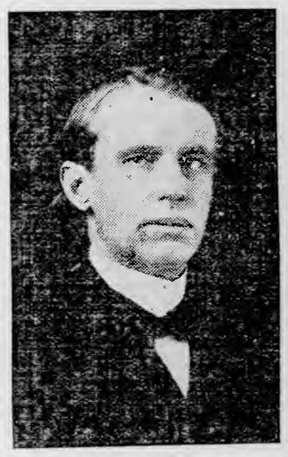

Up to date the Indian treaty has forced the closing of about seventy-five saloons. In the territory affected there were about 200. With the coming of the Indian agents it is believed that many more towns will now be closed.

The agents here intimated that prosecutions will be made.

Wed Outside North Dakota.

Moorhead, Minn., Jan. 8.—Clerk of Court McCubrey issued 506 marriage licenses in 1914. This is the record for Clay county and exceeds the total of 1913 by 147. The increase is partly due to the strict marriage law in force in North Dakota, many residents of that state crossing the river to have the ceremony performed in Minnesota, where licenses to wed are more easily obtained.

FORMER SPEAKER IS NOW DISTRICT JUDGE

JAMES M. HANLEY.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor L. B. Hanna has appointed James M. Hanley, former speaker of the house, judge of the Morton, Mercer and Oliver county district, succeeding Judge Nuchols, who resigned to practice law.

Mr. Hanley was a member of the house in 1909. He was speaker in the session following, and in the last session he was a member of the state senate. He was two years state's attorney for Morton county. He formerly resided at Wasecа, Minn., where he studied law.

Judge Nuchols, on retiring, becomes a member of the law firm of Sullivan & Nuchols.

HANCOCK BANKER IS BURIED IN MILWAUKEE

JACOB BAER.

Hancock, Mich., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Following funeral services held here yesterday afternoon from the home, the body of Jacob Baer, pioneer business man and banker, who died Tuesday night, was taken to Milwaukee, Wis., for interment. Mr. Baer was a native of Stoch, Grand Duchy of Baden, Germany, where he was born Dec. 8, 1846. He came to this country and to Hancock in 1862, joining his brothers, Kaufman and William, in the wholesale meat business, with stores all over the Copper country. He was village president and treasurer several years. He helped to organize the Superior Trust company, and later became president of the Superior National bank. He served as director of the Mineral Range and Marquette, Houghton & Ontonagon railroads until the latter was taken over by the South Shore. He was the oldest surviving member of Quincy lodge of Masons and also a member of the local lodge of Elks.

Mr. Baer was married in Milwaukee, Wis., to Miss Mary Mock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Mock, on Sept. 15, 1875. His widow, a daughter, Mrs. I. Stern of Cleveland, Ohio, and two sons, Walter S. and Mervin K., of Chicago, and a sister in Chicago survive.

FACTORY OWNER PUTS UP FIGHT

Hancock Man Resists Losing Macaroni Plant But Capitulates.

Hancock, Mich., Jan. 8.—Hancock's macaroni factory this week passed into the possession of Paul Ricci of Calumet, by means of a civil suit, the papers changing the possession of the institution being served by Undersheriff Heikkela, aided by Deputy Sheriff Chellew, under great and peculiar difficulties.

Ricci held a mortgage which had become due and which he desired to foreclose. This he did by due process of law.

The proprietor of the place seemed to be ignorant of the nature of the proceedings, but did understand that his means of livelihood were being taken from him. He and his family entrenched themselves and prepared to turn the place into a second Cameron Dam, if necessary. Heikkela made an assault on the front door and hammered it in when refused admittance.

Sheriff Takes Hand.

Finally Sheriff Cruse heard of the fracas and dispatched Deputy Sheriff Jack Chellew to re-enforce the undersheriff. Prosecuting Attorney Galbraith was appealed to for some legal advice. He told Heikkela and Chellew to arrest no one unless they were actually assaulted. The two officers entered the building and began taking possession of the machinery which constituted the chattels on which the mortgage was a lien. They smelled escaping gas and on investigation found that the gas jets had been turned on. They turned them off and found them on again a moment or so later. This was repeated a number of times. The defender of the place hovered in the background, armed with a huge club, but forebore making any real trouble. The serving of the papers that send the factory to Calumet was completed the next day.

ALMOST every housewife owns some very fine laces, linens, draperies, etc., which she uses only on "state" occasions.

But no matter how carefully they are handled and put away, they generally need freshening up when they are taken from the attic trunk and almost always before they are returned to it. Yet one hesitates to wash such exquisite articles.

Use Ivory Soap and you need have no fear of washing any of them as often as necessary. It is so pure and mild that it will injure nothing that water itself will not harm. Its quality is in keeping with the choicest fabrics. That is why it washes them so safely and so beautifully.

MUCH ROAD WORK IN LAKE COUNTY

Figures as to Mileage and Costs Presented to Board.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The county commissioners, at their regular monthly meeting yesterday, had some interesting figures presented by Hans C. Hanson, county supervisor of roads, showing the amount and cost of work done by Lake county on state and other roads last year as follows: Total miles of all roads built 30, cost $31,189.49, or $1,039.65 per mile. On 35 miles of road in the county there was considerable repairs and maintenance work performed at a total cost of $4,341.79.

Hans C. Hanson was re-appointed as county supervisor of assessments and supervisor of roads of Lake county for another year.

Appropriations Made.

The following appropriations were made: $300 for the county attorney's contingent fund, $200 for incidental expenses of county officers, such as postage, expressage, telephone and wire charges. Dr. J. D. Budd was appointed county physician at a salary of $25 per month. R. B. Johnston, undertaker, was awarded the bid for the burial of county paupers for the coming year.

A. Headley, representative of the local city library board, asked for an appropriation of $700 for the aid of the local library and the traveling library. No action was taken on this matter, it being laid over one month for consideration. Monthly bills amounting to several thousand dollars, were allowed.

John Elkhart, superintendent of the county poor farm, submitted a statement for 1914, showing total expenditure for groceries and meat was $1,193.49. During the year there was on an average of 8.6 inmates at the institution, not including attendants. The net cost of feeding an inmate per year showed to amount to $65.15. At those figures it cost the county just four and one-half cents per meal to feed the inmates of the poor farm.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—As Judge Martin Hughes is suffering from a bad cold there was no session of district court here today, the judge having adjourned court yesterday afternoon until Monday morning, when he hopes to be able to resume.

The case on trial has been in the courts here before and involves about $15,000 claimed by M. J. Helmer and others from insurance companies for loss alleged to have been sustained by the destruction of some logs at Sturgeon lake. The insurance companies refused to pay alleging over-insurance and the suit of the Miners State bank vs. the Firemen's Fund Insurance company et al resulted, but Helmer is the virtual plaintiff. The case promises to last several days.

MAY WHEAT AT $1.41 IN CHICAGO MARKET

Highest Figure With Few Exceptions in Past Fifty Years.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Smashing of war-record prices for wheat began promptly today at the first gong on 'Change. Opening quotations were ⅞@1⅛c above yesterday's close. May wheat, the leading option, jumped to $1.39¾ as against $1.28¾, the tiptop for yesterday.

Reports of an ultimatum to Turkey by Italy had an explosive effect with buyers.

On a second wave of buying, May wheat went to $1.40 a bushel, the highest figures with few exceptions in fifty years. Today's high prices were supported by dispatches telling of excitement in the grain trade at Liverpool, and admitting that demand there was keen.

In the final hour, another cent a bushel was added to previous values, so that May wheat here was quoted at $1.41 a bushel. Meanwhile, it was announced that bids from Great Britain at the American seaboard had risen 4 cents as compared with yesterday. It was also stated that a cargo of durum wheat had been sold at the rate of $2.07 a bushel, delivered in Italy. Only 24 hours ago, it was thought a marvel to get $1.99½ for durum that was also bought subject to the cost of all charges to the Mediterranean.

WOULD HAVE UNITED STATES BUY MEXICO.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 8.—Senator John Damon of Mount Pleasant introduced a concurrent resolution in the state senate yesterday afternoon, calling on congress to take immediate steps to purchase Mexico. It was Damon's contention that the United States must eventually own all of the country to the south as far as the Panama canal, and he said congress should be requested to take immediate steps to "acquire the country from Gen. Villa." The resolution was referred to the committee on Federal relations.

MOST OF MICHIGAN FREE OF QUARANTINE.

Washington, Jan. 8.—The whole state of Michigan was freed from the Federal foot and mouth disease quarantine yesterday by the department of agriculture, with the exception of twenty-four counties as follows:

Allegan, Berrien, Blanch, Calhoun, Cass, Eaton, Genesee, Hillsdale, Jackson, Lapeer, Lenawee, Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Montcalm, Oakland, Ottawa, Saginaw, Shiawassee, St. Clair, St. Joseph, Tuscola, Washtenaw and Wayne.

PREACHING AND CRITICISM.

Philadelphia Ledger: James Russell Lowell's designation of the "parson" as the chief person in the community may be contrasted with a remark made by a New York preacher before the Yale alumni the other day when he declared: "If a man has a decided leaning toward the ministry he must be unconventional enough to brave his estimation in the eyes of his fellow students as a fool." A bright young man may be regarded as a fool for entering a profession in which the average salary is hardly equal to the wages of a hod carrier, but he could not be set down as a fool as a servant of the people. The history of the ministry justifies the reverent estimate that puts it first among the professions. The preacher has been the defender of the best things at home and has carried civilization to the uttermost parts of the earth. Our country and our age respect the priesthood of the church as universal. The world does not expect an apology from the man who would help his fellow man. If the Yale students look upon young men who have leanings toward the ministry as fools then the boot is on the other leg.

DON'T USE SOAP ON YOUR HAIR

When you wash your hair, don't use soap. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Advertisement.

GET RID OF PIMPLES---QUICK

By Using Stuart's Calcium Wafers--Natural Little Blood Purifiers That Work Like a Charm.

Don't despair if your face is covered with pimples, blotches, liver spots, or your body is covered in spots with tetter, rash, boils, etc. Just use Stuart's Calcium Wafers for a short time and see how quickly you will clear up your skin.

He—"How swell you look." She—"It was only removing the pimples, and Stuart's Calcium Wafers did that."

Pimples and eruptions of all kinds come from the inside. The blood casts out the impurities it contains and thus pimples, boils, etc., appear. Cleanse the blood, stop the poison from developing in the blood tissues and pimples will vanish as if by magic.

Calcium Sulphide and the other ingredients of these remarkable little wafers are just what impure blood needs. You must know that the blood is rushing through our veins very fast. It takes less than a minute for our blood to cover the entire body.

You can thus readily see that Stuart's Calcium Wafers, when they enter the body, have an almost instant effect upon all impurities, no matter where located, whether it be the tip of the nose or the ends of the toes.

By the use of Stuart's Calcium Wafers your complexion will take on a fresher hue and a more natural series of tints than ever before.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers are sold by all druggists everywhere. Price 50 cents a box. A small sample package mailed free by addressing F. A. Stuart Co., 175 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

REAL HOME IN ONE ROOM.

Philadelphia Telegraph: Some from choice, others through force of circumstances, find themselves transplanted, so to speak, from the commodiousness of a house to the confines of a single room, and at first the possibilities for comfort and convenience seem very few and insufficient.

The first essential to a real home-happiness is to develop a sense of personal possessions—the housewife pride that says: "This room is mine; its appearance is a reflection of my most intimate nature to all who enter it."

If you are really in earnest you will be surprised to find how soon your room will grow cozy, how it will seem to wait for your return, and how welcome its cheerfulness will be to you.

If you select your room in winter, don't forget the sultry days in summer, when small or insufficient windows will be unbearable, and if you suffer greatly in warm weather and cannot get a room with a southern exposure, at least try to have an east room, so that the afternoon sun will not linger in every crack and crevice until midnight.

After the window question has been settled satisfactorily, take the heating apparatus into consideration, the closet space and the bed.

Many girls turn to box couches with drawer space, when what they really need is a good substantial couch bed, with a soft mattress, bedding that can be aired every day and a good space beneath the bed to conceal the laundry box, suitcase and traveling bags that in the absence of a storeroom usually encumber the clothes closet.

A motion pictures theater of Los Angeles restricts its patronage exclusively to women and children until 6 o'clock in the evening, unless the man is accompanied by a woman.

In Larderello, Tuscany, there is a power station that gets the heat to generate steam for turbines from the bowels of the earth, the steam rising naturally with considerable force.

Dandruff Soon Ruins The Hair

Girl—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—Advertisement.

Creamettes

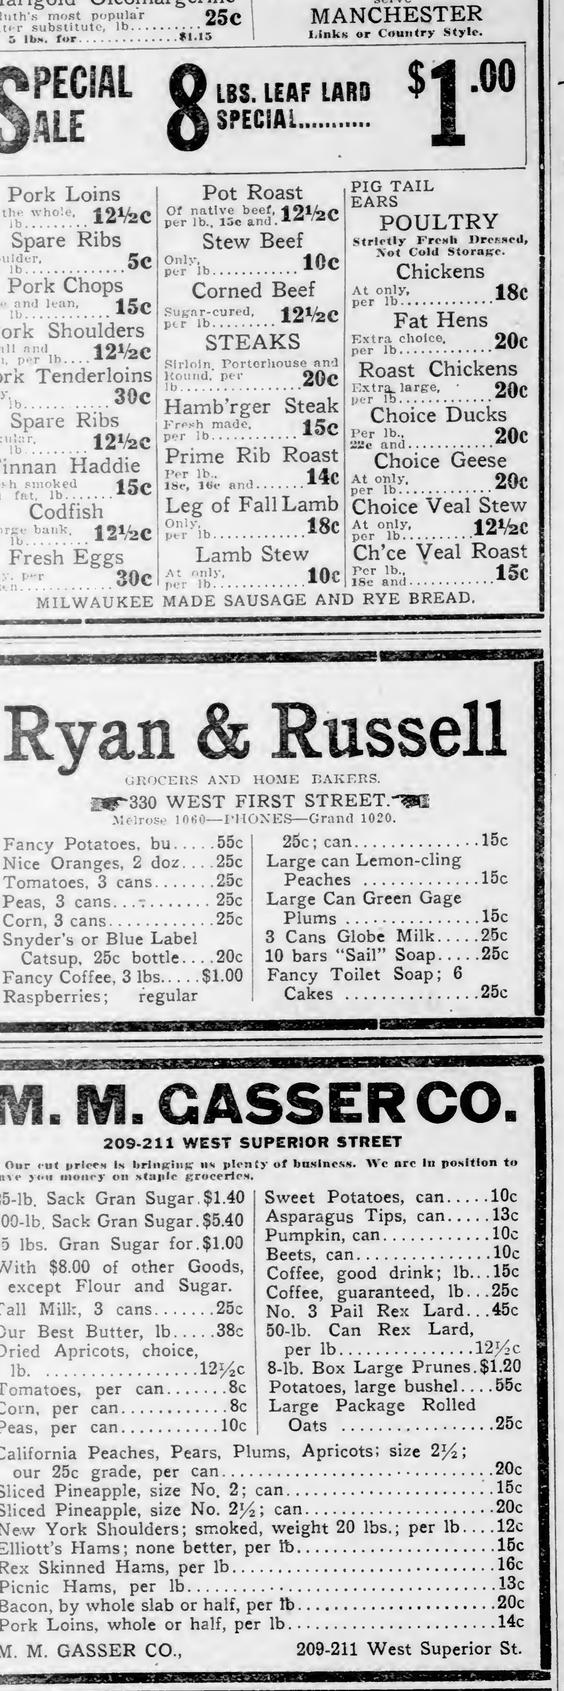

Cooks in one-third the time

IF you like macaroni, you will like Creamettes. The real difference is that Creamettes is more tender, has a rich new flavor of its own, and cooks in a much shorter time. Ordinary macaroni, as you know, takes from 30 to 35 minutes to cook. Creamettes cooks in from 5 to 8 minutes.

Try it with cheese, with ham, with bacon, with tomatoes, or with nuts.

PRINCE OF WALES.
The prince of Wales is taking an active part in the military operations at the front but his activities have been confined very largely to driving a motor car. He has made himself very popular at the front by his keen sympathy with the men in the trenches whose lot he sometimes shares.

PAYS $9,677 TO MOTHERS

During the year 1914, St. Louis county paid out $9,677.66 in mothers' pensions, according to figures which are available at the office of the county auditor. The figure shows a heavy increase over the previous year, 1913, when only $2,705.50 was given as county aid for dependent children.
The money is expended under a law which permits the juvenile court to grant aid to mothers who have no husbands and who have large families. At the present time there are thirty-six families in the county receiving aid under this law.

Expert Says Railroads Can Well Allow Increase in Wages.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—The statement credited to representatives of Western railroads that it would require $30,000,000 a year to allow the increased wages asked by the engineers and firemen was replied to today at the arbitration proceedings with the assertion that for this purpose the railroads have $50,000,000 a year.
The reply was delivered by W. J. Lauck, a statistician, who began his fourth day on the witness stand, and who said his conclusions were based on railroad reports to the interstate commerce commission.
Lauck stated that earnings of forty-three representative Western railroads have increased in the inclusive years 1909-13 to an extent that will allow the roads to pay 4 per cent on bonds, dividends on all stock issues, including the variety known as watered, care for depreciation and surplus, and still have $60,000,000 left out of which to meet the request of the engineers.

DIPHTHERIA ANTITOXIN

By DR. SAMUEL G. DIXON, Commissioner of Health for Pennsylvania.

There are few absolute specifics known to medical science. In the majority of ailments to which mankind is heir the wise physician is he who studies his case with the idea of eliminating those things which hamper the natural functions and giving Nature every chance to restore her balance.
One of the few specific remedies that science has produced upon which the physician may depend to effect a cure is diphtheria antitoxin. Despite its common use in neutralizing the poison of this disease, few people realize how great a boon to mankind this discovery is. Within the memory of many physicians practicing today, diphtheria was a disease before which the members of the profession were practically helpless. Thousands of young lives were sacrificed and whole communities were overcast by the shadow of death following epidemics of this disease.
Without the use of antitoxin the death rate from this disease often exceeds 40 per cent. When diphtheria antitoxin is used in sufficient quantities immediately after the onset of the disease prompt recovery follows with few exceptions. Unfortunately one of the first evidences of diphtheria is sore throat which to parents may appear to be only a slight cold. If this is really the onset of diphtheria the disease develops within a short time with terrifying repadity into the more advanced stages. For this reason every case of sore throat among children should be watched with the greatest of care and wherever possible early medical attention should be secured.
Records of the state department of health which have been compiled show the results of the treatment of thousands of cases. They prove that the deaths from this disease, after the treatment with antitoxin, occur when there is delay in administering it.
From a death rate of zero on the first day it increases to 5 per cent on the second day, 12½ per cent on the third day, 22 per cent on the fourth day and 39 per cent on the fifth day. Antitoxin may be administered in enormous doses without danger. Cases ara on record in the department where 185,000 units have been required to effect a cure in an individual case.
Diphtheria antitoxin is not alone a curative agent, but is also a preventive and should be used in immunizing doses to prevent the spread of the disease among those who have been exposed to it.
With this wonderful specific at the command of the medical profession there should be few deaths from diphtheria. Those which occurr in the great majority of cases are due to the fact that the early symptoms have been overlooked or neglected by parents and to the resulting delay in securing prompt antitoxin treatment.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Chicago Herald: To remove the rusty appearance from black suede shoes, rub with equal quantity of olive oil and black ink.
A toasted bread crust added to the water when cabbage is boiling will reduce the disagreeable smell greatly.
When mashing potatoes or other vegetables, never use cold milk, but hot, then they will be light and fluffy.
A lather made of white soap and milk is said to be excellent for cleansing children's white kid shoes.
A table spoonful of water may be allowed to each egg, when preparing croquettes or fish.
When the thread is burnt, scorch may be taken out by laying on a paste made of starch and exposing to the sun.
There is no simpler way to clarify lard used for frying purposes than by heating it thoroughly with several slices of raw potatoes and straining.
Rub paraffin on the thread of a fountain pen before screwing on the head, and it will prevent leaking.
Fern picking has become an important industry in the vicinity of Jamaica, Vt. From Sept. 7 to Oct. 10 one man bought 1,383,000 ferns, for which he paid $922.

DURUM MARKET SOARS TO NEW HIGH LEVELS

Quotation in Durum Advances to $1.56 on Urgent Export Demand.

Flaxseed Bulges Sharply With Good Buying By Crushers.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 8.—The market was strong up to the close. May wheat closed 3c up and July 2½c up. May durum closed 5¾c up in the day, and July 4¾c up.

Oats closed ½c up at 51¾c for on the track; rye 1c up at $1.08@1.09; barley, 2c up at 60@70c, and corn ⅝c up at 68⅝c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed at 59¼c.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.33⅞ and calls at $1.39⅛.

Durum was again the feature in the Duluth market this morning, with a bulge of 6c a bu materializing in it during the first few minutes' trading, placing its quotation up to a new high point. The buying came from dealers who were after the grain for immediate shipment, and it was noticeable that offerings were limited. After opening ½c up at $1.50½, the figure in the May future was advanced to $1.52, were it rested for a time. Then on a renewal of buying it was advanced 4c more in less than five minutes, with only two trades being put through, one at $1.55 and the other at $1.56. Later the price receded slightly, standing at $1.55½ at the noon hour. The quotation in the July future was then 5c up from yesterday, at $1.54¾.

Reports on the board here have it that growers of durum in the Northwest are benefitting through the phenomenal bulge to a greater extent than had been originally supposed, as a good tonnage has been sold at interior elevator points at the high figures. A South Dakota grower, who was on the local board of trade today, said that his yield of durum last season was 12,000 bu, and that he is still holding 8,000 bu for which he expects to get still higher figures than those now prevailing.

Spring wheat also took a further sharp upturn in the day, with an advance of 2¼c showing at the noon hour. It opened ½c up at $1.36¼ and advanced 2c more. The incentive came in further active export inquiry on all the American markets, with exporters showing a disposition to climb for grain in view of forecasted light supplies. Liverpool bids come 4c higher than yesterday. The engaging of a cargo of wheat for France was reported at New York, and millers were said to be competing with exporters at Kansas City.

Export clearances of wheat and flour for the week set a new high record, being reported at 10,363,000 bu.

Flaxseed Still Climbs.

Flaxseed again moved up sharply under the impetus of good inquiry from crushers and only limited offerings. May flax opened ⅝c up at $1.72, and closed 6c up at $1.76⅝ bid.

The situation at Winnipeg was equally bullish, May flax on that market closing 5½c up at $1.55½. With the light supplies of flaxseed remaining in the Northwest. Still higher prices are predicted by operators.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Duluth millers report just a moderate flour demand for prompt shipment, but in view of the uncertain market little business is being taken for future delivery. The market in flour was advanced 20 cents a barrel today, making a bulge of 80 cents during the last ten days.

Said A. D. Goodman, manager of the Duluth Universal Milling company this morning: "We are doing fairly well on current business, but we are not accepting any future delivery orders at the present. We cannot figure out anything regarding the future situation, so it is better to go slow. We are in fact only taking orders for immediate shipment."

Purchases of more than 1,000,000 bu were made at the winter wheat terminal markets yesterday. Kansas City alone sold over 400,000 bu, to Texas, Kansas and Missouri mills. Italy and France were heavy buyers of cash wheat at the seaboard.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Market is strong with offers, owing to firmness in America, strength in spot and dearness of American winters. Absorption by other countries at the advance and a belief here in the growing scarcity of American reserves, with American winters offered this morning at 3d up from yesterday, and smaller Argentine shipments, caused few offers, and very large holders of spot withdrew offers.

"Corn was strong in sympathy with wheat and fewer Plate offers. Spot flour is 6d higher."

Minneapolis cash market was strong, with No. 1 northern blue stem selling at 2@3c over May, and velvet chaff at 1½@3c under May. Flour sales were moderate.

Argentine weather is generally favorable, but there are complaints of disappointing harvest returns from the south and central portions, and excessive rains for the new corn crop. This week commenced the shipping season in Argentina for new crop wheat, oats and linseed. Argentine freights are quoted at 60s, unchanged from Tuesday, according to Broomhall. Wheat shipments are 40,000 bu, against 32,000 bu last week and 288,000 bu last year.

In France the weather continues favorable for new seedings, but native offers are light and millers' demand heavy.

The Modern Miller says: "The wheat crop is wintering under normal conditions. There is nothing in recent weather conditions to promote damage. Higher prices of wheat have induced a big increase in marketing from the farms, and reports indicate that the movement will quickly show in terminal supplies."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Half a Dollar Higher Than at Beginning of War.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Wheat prices today reached a height half a dollar a bushel above what they were at the beginning of the war. The May delivery of wheat this morning sold at $1.40, whereas the apex before was $1.38⅝ at one time yesterday.

Increasing danger that Italy would open hostilities gave reason for a general rush of buying that swept quotations upward from the start. The opening, which was ⅞ to 1⅝c higher, was followed by a reaction of as much as a cent, but then the market rose higher than at first.

Prices continued to mount despite the fact that the big changes in quotations led to the doubling of margins. The close, however, was unsettled at 2¾ to 2½c net advance.

Corn advanced with wheat. Offerings were light and the Liverpool quotations had a decidedly bullish aspect. After opening ⅛@¼c to ⅜@⅝c up, there was a slight setback, which quickly gave way to a material fresh gain.

Shorts in oats took heed of the rise of other grain. Commission house demand, though, was only scattering.

Packers unloaded provisions. The result appeared to be more than an offset for the influence of the bulge in cereals.

Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.37@1.39½; No. 2 hard, $1.37@1.39½.

COMPTROLLER SETS NEW CALL RECORD

First to Issue Six Calls for Bank Statements in Year.

In issuing a call for the condition of national banks as of Dec. 31, the comptroller of the currency will have called for six reports in one year, something that has not been done before in the history of the national banking system, comments the Wall Street Journal. The previous calls this year were for Jan. 2, March 4, June 30, Sept. 12 and Oct. 13.

Prior to the passage of the act of March 3, 1869, reports were made quarterly, on the first Monday of January, April, June and October. Subsequently there were five calls each year, issued on dates chosen by the comptroller. The law requires that there shall be "not less than five reports during each year," so that the comptroller is vested with authority to increase the number if he so desires. So far, however, Comptroller John Skelton Williams has been the first to break the precedent established by his predecessors.

In addition to these public calls, the comptroller last year required a number of extra private reports to his department from the national banks. During the month of June, for instance, the national banks had to furnish the comptroller's department with daily statements.

The call for the condition of national banks as of Dec. 31 will be the first national bank report after the opening of the Federal reserve banks, and will be based upon the new calculation of reserve.

TURKS READY TO LEAVE CAPITAL

Archives Packed, Ready to Move at Moment's Notice.

Sofia, Bulgaria Jan. 8, via London.—Dispatches reaching London from Constantinople describe the situation in the Turkish capital as increasingly alarming.

The local authorities appear to apprehend not only attacks from the outside but internal disorders as well. The archives of the state have been packed up ready for removal from the city and many of them already have been sent away. Preparations have been completed also for the removal of the treasury, and locomotives are kept constantly under steam in the railroad yards of Stamboul to meet the possible necessity of conveying the officials of the government to a place of safety at short notice.

Preparations have been made at Adrianople for the quartering of the state officials should eventualities cause the porte to decide to quit the present capital.

SOME GAINS IN STOCKS

Selling of Union Pacific and Pennsylvania Stops General Rise.

Greater Breadth and Activity Shown By Market—Close Irregular.

New York, Jan. 3.—The greatest activity of the week prevailed in the first half hour of today's stock market, yesterday's late buying movement being resumed with increased force. However, gains were comparatively small.

A feature of the initial dealings was the sale of 1,000 Southern railway preferred at 58, its minimum price. Missouri Pacific made a new low record at 6⅜. London was again backward, the international list showing general declines.

Sales of the morning were 75 per cent of the previous day's total business, but activity diminished toward noon and prices wavered at times as a result of profit-taking. Great Northern and Northern Pacific were the strongest of the high-class rails and Reading made a further advance regardless of the Federal indictment of some of its officials. United States Steel and Bethlehem Steel were selling at virtually the same prices, but the former was more active. Coppers showed a strong undertone on the rise in the metal. Specialties, including equipment and motor shares, added to yesterday's gains.

Bonds were firm, except Rock Island collateral 4s, which fell 3 points.

Prices continued to advance in certain parts of the list, but trading fell off perceptibly and improvement in United States Steel and the coppers was checked. New Haven evinced further heaviness, failing to nearly a point under yesterday's close.

Greater breadth and activity were shown by today's market. Some material gains were made, mainly in special stocks.

Reading, Southern Pacific and Amalgamated were taken at advances in the final hour, but selling of Union Pacific and Pennsylvania checked the general rise. The closing was irregular.

INTIMATES THEY WERE "BOUGHT UP"

Speaker Says 500 West Duluthians Are on Company Payroll.

Four speakers discoursed last night on the question of municipal ownership at a mass meeting held under the auspices of the West Duluth Municipal Ownership league at the West Duluth Commercial club. The speakers favoring the building of the unit plant and the 4-cent rate were: W. E. McEwen and A. E. McManus, while Roy L. Hood and Dr. J. M. Tufty spoke in opposition.

Mr. Hood charged the city administration with using bad judgment in considering such a scheme at this time in the face of reasonable rates being offered by the company.

Mr. McManus intimated that many of those opposed to the scheme of a municipal-owned plant, who were advising the acceptance of the 6-cent rate, were "bought up" by the company. He said that a sudden wave of prosperity had struck about 500 residents of West Duluth and that these were, according to information he claimed to have received, getting $3 a day from the company for fighting the municipal ownership scheme.

The meeting was attended by about 125 men. W. B. Getchell presided and also gave a short talk.

RETURNING IN SEARCH OF JOBS

More than 200 men out of employment applied for work this morning from Edward Erickson, foreman in charge of the sewer construction at New Duluth, when it became known that it was intended to place at work about fifteen or twenty more men. It is claimed that a large number of the men now idle in Gary or New Duluth have recently returned to the city, following the notoriety given the sewer work.

As a result of this, it is claimed that several married men who are in straightened circumstances have not yet been able to get a job. It is also claimed that several of the men who have been put to work are really not in absolute need of money. Foreman Erickson said this morning that he expected that within a short time the work would so arrange itself that these latter would be weeded out and the men who actually need the jobs put on in their stead.

Nearly 110 men are now working on the sewer job. Almost 150 more men are employed by the ice companies gathering the ice harvest.

A newly organized basket ball team at the R. E. Denfeld high school is rapidly getting into shape for outside games. Several are being arranged with other schools of the Head of the Lakes and range cities.

The first of the inter scholastic games will probably be played the latter part of next week with the Duluth Central high team. Horace Ross was elected captain of the team yesterday. The line-up of the team is as follows: Center, Gordon Huth; forwards, Roland Clark and Horace Ross, and guards, Roy Winness and Chester Rosboro. The substitutes are James Dormedy and Amund Erickson.

The program to follow the business session is in the hands of a committee headed by Andrew Myles. Refreshments will be served.

Acted "Queer;" Locked Up.

Elmer Erickson, age 35, was taken into custody late yesterday afternoon on complaint of citizens residing in the vicinity of Thirty-eighth avenue west and Third street. Wilcox took the man to the central station.

FORMER CARNIVAL QUEEN HAS HUSBAND ARRESTED

MRS. C. TRUDEAU.

The sea of matrimony appears to have been too smooth for Mrs. Clifford Trudeau, 5119 Wadena street, according to the story told in police court when she appeared against her husband in an assault charge today. She claimed to have been hit over the head with a "billy" by her husband one evening last week. Trudeau pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $5 and costs which he paid.

During the proceedings several charges and counter charges were made by husband and wife. Trudeau claimed that on the evening in question he had followed his wife because she had gone to the West end he said, with the sole intention of "keeping a date" with a man. Later that same evening he said he had been assaulted by Fred Dellbern, his wife's brother.

Trudeau produced letters, one of which he claimed had been received by his wife from a man, and another which he received from her while he was working in St. Paul. In the latter, which the court read, he had been called some unsavory names by his wife. Judge Cutting scored the woman for using such words in a letter to her husband.

According to testimony given by her husband, they were married in March, 1913. They have a baby boy, he said. Mrs. Trudeau was the "Queen of the Carnival" during a carnival held in West Duluth four years ago.

MAY COMPROMISE ON SHORTAGES

Shippers and Vesselmen Fail to Come to Terms.

Watson S. Moore of Duluth, one of those who represented the Duluth board of trade at the Detroit, Mich., conference between grain shippers and vessel men in trying to adjust the matter of shortages of grain cargoes, was appointed one of a committee of five by the shippers' section of the conference to try to get some plan of insurance whereby the matter may be obviated. Mr. Moore, M. L. Jenks and G. G. Barnum, who represented the Duluth board of trade, returned this morning.

The question was extensively discussed, they report, but it came to naught so far as an agreement was concerned. The vessel men had issued an ultimatum and stuck to it. They have been complaining for years that they have been charged up with shortages and had to settle on the basis of the shippers claim, while the latter have had control of the loading out and loading in, and the owners have had no check on this operation. Their ultimatum was—and it was the cause of the conference—that they would allow toll to the extent of fifteen pounds on each 1,000 pounds and would not ask allowances for overages.

The shippers and vessel men could not quite agree on that proposition, and so it was decided that the shippers would appoint a committee to try to arrange some form of insurance that would satisfy both sides, and thus it was left. Others on this committee, which will meet in about two weeks, are Charles Kennedy of Buffalo and C. B. Pierce.

NAMES THAT LIVE.

The Referee: It would be interesting to ascertain how many people have given their names to the English language in the sense that Macintosh and Macadam gave theirs, To Capt. Boycott we owe the word boycott; to Lord Sandwich, the most popular form of light refreshments; to Dr. Guillotin, the process by which our ministers gag the house of commons; to the brave soldier of the great Napoleon, Sergeant Chauvin, the word Chauvinism; to Jean Nicot, the French ambassador to Portugal, the word "nicotine"; to Thomas Bowdler, the word "bowdlerize"; to Mr. Gladstone, a popular form of handbag, and to Wellington and Blucher, two styles of footwear. Mr. Hanson supplied the name for the once popular cab.

STATE CONVENTION TO REVISE CONSTITUTION IS PROPOSED BY BJORNSON

Minneota Member Will Introduce Bill Within Few Days.

Must Pass House and Senate By Two-Thirds Vote.

Then Must Be Submitted to People at 1916 Election.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Gunnar B. Bjornson of Minneota will introduce, within a few days, a bill proposing a state convention to revise the Constitution, which has not been revised for half a century. Mr. Bjornson introduced a similar bill two years ago, but did not insist on pushing it because the friends of the initiative and referendum feared that, if it were placed on the ballot, it would be used to defeat direct legislation.

Direct legislation went up to the people, however, and though second on the ballot and not met by any organized opposition it failed of ratification along with the nine other amendments out of the eleven proposed.

Will Come Up Again.

Initiative and referendum probably will be brought up again at this session, but the constitutional revision proposed will not be set aside for it this time. Indeed the failure of the amendment last November has led some friends of the initiative and referendum to believe that the quickest way to get them is through a revision of the Constitution. Moreover, those who have been pushing various amendments session after session, only to see them fail of ratification at the polls through public aglect, are beginning to see that only through a general revision of the Constitution can they hope for any great change.

Process Is Lengthy.

The process of amending the Constitution is a leisurely one. First, both branches of the legislature must give the proposal a two-thirds vote. The effect of that would be to put up to the voters at the election of 1916 the question of whether or not the Constitution should be revised. If a majority of all the voters voting at that election declare for a constitutional convention, the legislature of 1917 must provide for such a convention. The convention would consist of as many members as the house of representatives, and shall be chosen in the same manner as representatives. This convention would be summoned to meet within three months of its election.

NEW YORK BROKER SHOOTS HIMSELF

Financial Embarrassment Causes G. F. Springer, Jr., to End Life.

New York, Jan. 9.—G. F. Stringer, Jr., junior member of the stock exchange firm of Stringer & Co., shot himself and died instantly in his office shortly before the suspension of the firm was announced today on the floor of the stock exchange.

The firm of Stringer & Co. was organized May 23, 1912. It consisted of G. F. Stringer, Sr., and his son of the same name. At the time of its organization the younger Stringer had not attained his majority. Recently, after he had reached the age of 21, he was admitted as a partner. He was married.

A few minutes before the opening of the stock exchange today, Stringer, Jr., left his own office and entered that of the Guanajuato Development company, in which the firm of Stringer & Co. had an interest. When the exchange opened, the failure was announced. Not long afterwards the body of Mr. Stringer was found lying on the floor under a desk in the development company's office, with a revolver a few feet away. He had shot himself in the mouth.

A physician and a policeman were summoned. For more than an hour, however, no announcement was made of Mr. Stringer's death.

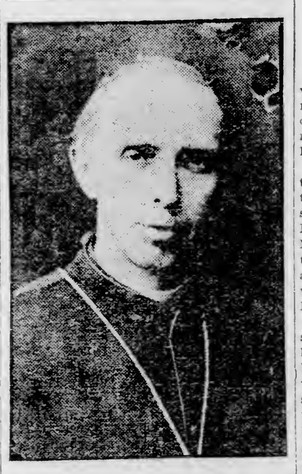

The firm did a commission business of small proportions. For some years past it had been interested in Mexican properties, especially mining companies. The unsettled political conditions in Mexico, it was said, embarrassed the firm financially.

ROUMANIANS ARE TO MOBILIZE 600,000 MEN.

Paris, Jan. 9.—The Roumanian mobilization will begin in the last week of January, according to the Petit Parisien, by the calling up of the three classes, totaling 135,000. The mobilization will be continued until 600,000 men are ready for the field.

It is expected that Switzerland will be asked to take charge of Roumanian interests in Germany and Austria, the Petit Parisien says, but it adds that the cabinet had made no definite arrangements as yet.

BELGIAN CARDINAL REPORTED ARRESTED

CARDINAL MERCIER.

Cardinal Mercier of Belgium is reported to have been arrested by the Germans because he exhorted his people not to recognize German authority. This has been positively denied by Germany.

NEW RULES STRINGENT

Planned to Expedite Business in North Dakota Legislature.

Bill Compelling Telephone Companies to Provide Joint Service.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The senate yesterday approved more stringent regulations regarding the introduction of bills, while the house probably will take like action today.

Under the new rules that have been promulgated by the joint committees on rules of the two branches, appropriation bills must be introduced before the twenty-fifth day, instead of the fortieth, as has previously been the case; general bills must be introduced by the thirty-fifth day, instead of the fifty-second, while the transmission of bills from one house to the other must be accomplished by the fiftieth day.

In the house a rule automatically reporting bills from committees after the seventh day is provided. Failure to make a report on a bill places that measure on general orders for consideration of the committee of the whole house. The senate abolished the old rule which required unanimous consent for the introduction of a bill after the time limits, making it a two-thirds vote. These rules are in line with the suggestions of Representative Divet, who made his unsuccessful speakership campaign on that issue.

Four-Year Elections.

Representative Nels T. Hedalen took the first step towards bringing about the indorsement of Governor Hanna's plan of holding four-year elections and sessions of the legislature to be held only once in four years. Eight-year terms for senators, four-year terms for representatives and sessions each four

SULLIVAN GOES TO REFORMATORY

Crosby Kidnapers Given Indeterminate Sentences By Judge McClenahan.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Peter L. Newman, W. J. Sullivan and George C. Payne of Crosby, who kidnaped Theodore Sjogren, a miner, during a strike at Crosby, April 17, 1913, were this morning sentenced by Judge W. S. McClenahan in the district court, receiving indeterminate sentences, Newman and Payne at hard labor at Stillwater, and Sullivan, on account of his youth, being under age at the time of the crime, to the St. Cloud reformatory.

The court said it could exercise its discretion in sentencing Sullivan and, upon questioning him, Sullivan said he preferred the reformatory to the penitentiary.

BELGIANS WILL BE WELCOMED

Invitation to Come to Minnesota to Be Extended.

Congressman Miller Sends Word to United States Ministers.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Jan. 9.—That Northwestern Minnesota is a haven of refuge to stricken Belgians will be communicated to them by our diplomatic representatives in Belgium and Holland.

Agreeing heartily with the suggestions made by leading civic organizations and individuals in Duluth, Representative Miller has sent letters to Minister Vandyke at The Hague and Minister Whitlock in Belgium, asking them to inform such of the Belgians as should be reached by them that they would be given a hearty welcome in Minnesota.

"I have told the American representatives in these two countries that land has been donated by J. L. Washburn, and that other land owners are willing to sell their holdings at reasonable prices and on reasonable terms," said Congressman Miller today. "The only obstacle to the entry of Belgians to this country will be the provision in the law prohibiting the entry of an alien who has been assisted in getting here. Perhaps that requirement can be waived in view of the circumstances of their case."

WHEAT TAKES A SUDDEN SLUMP

Fear of Embargo on Export of Foodstuffs One Cause.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Wheat prices dropped today as if struck with a hammer. Opening prices were in some cases nearly 2 cents a bushel lower than last night, May selling down to $1.39, as compared to $1.40⅞ at yesterday's close.

Fear of the effects of talk of an embargo on the export of breadstuffs as well as on arms and ammunition had much to do with the sudden decline.

Despite the fact that buying on the part of exporters and domestic millers afterward rallied prices completely, the market seemed to go to pieces in the final quarter hour of the sessions. Quotations fell a full cent a bushel below the bottommost point at the start. May selling as low as $1.38. Conditions at the close were much disordered at a decline of 2½c to 2¾c net.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION

Meaning of Words Used By President Variously Interpreted.

Crowd Thought He Referred to His Candidacy in 1916.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 9.—(On Board President Wilson's Train.)—President Wilson was on his way back to Washington today after making his first purely political speech since he assumed the presidency. He will arrive at the capital at 4:40 o'clock this afternoon.

Gossip was rife among the president's friends over the meaning back of his statement in his Indianapolis speech that "there may come a time when the American people will have to judge whether I know what I am talking about or not."

Some of his friends insisted that the president was merely referring to the fact that future generations will judge his actions and that he did not intend to convey the impression which was gained by the crowd that he might be a candidate again for the presidency.

Others of his friends pointed out that he evidently realized, because of the cheering, the construction that had been placed on his words, and yet he did not correct the impression beyond saying "I didn't intend to start anything then."

The president is returning to Washington fully prepared to push his government ship purchase bill. He served

BEMIDJI HOSPITAL BURNED TO GROUND

Dozen Patients in the Institution Are Safely Removed.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Flames that burst from an overheated furnace at 7 a. m. today swept through the Samaritan hospital here, endangering the lives of a dozen persons, most of whom were patients. Two of them were to have gone on the operating table this morning. The patients were rescued through dense smoke and taken by automobile to St. Anthony's hospital, two blocks away.

The building and contents were destroyed, at an estimated loss of $6,000. Mrs. Aline Smith, matron, permitted the insurance on the contents to expire a few days ago but there was $4,000 insurance on the building. All inmates escaped unhurt and, although the thermometer stood at 2 degrees above zero, physicians say there will be no serious results.

GREAT BRITAIN SHOWS FRIENDLY SPIRIT WHILE NOT YIELDING CLAIMS

Such Is Believed to Be Tenor of Preliminary Reply.

May Be Necessary to Await Receipt of Second Note.

Matter Will Be Laid Before President on His Return.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Secretary Bryan and other administration officials were at work today going over Great Britain's preliminary reply to the American note protesting against interference with commerce on the high seas. Awaiting President Wilson's return to the city late today, however, all officials refused absolutely to comment upon it.

When the president returns today the text of the British communication will be laid before him and he probably will discuss it with Secretary Bryan and Counsellor Lansing of the state department.

Such study as officials have given to the preliminary reply has convinced them that probably it will be necessary to await the supplementary note promised by the British government before undertaking to continue the negotiations, so far as they relate to the broad principles involved in the American note. That, of course, will not prevent immediate consideration of special cases that may arise.

Impression Favorable.

The general impression in official circles made by the British preliminary note is favorable, that is to say the officials regard the British position as conciliatory and while Great Britain has not yielded any of the substantial claims which it has asserted from the beginning of the war in regard to the

AUSTRIANS IN A TRAP

Find Themselves Confronted By Dangerous, Marshy Grounds.

Skillful Tactics By Russian Generals Cause of Trouble.

Geneva, via Paris, Jan. 9.—The Austrians have been caught in a trap skillfully set by Generals Runzsky and Ivanoff, according to advices from a Hungarian source received here without first passing through the hands of the Austrian censor.

In conformity with the Russian plan, the advices say, the Austrian columns, pushing toward the Nida river found themselves stopped by dangerous, marshy ground. At the same time the Russians attacking Cracow suddenly abandoned their original plan but resumed their attack in a totally unexpected manner.

With the Russian army occupying the most important positions in the Carpathians from the side of Bochnia the Austrian army can advance no farther towards Warsaw for the only roads across the marshes are mined and strongly held by the Russians. On the other hand, the Austrians are obliged to defend Cracow and because of the Russian maneuvers can only meet the Russians along the line from Wieliczka to Bochnia under the most favorable conditions.

The Austrian commander, being unable to discern whether the Russians intended to occupy Hungary or attack Cracow, or both, lost five or six days and it is now too late, the advices say, to carry out the movement of troops necessary to oppose the Russian maneuvers.

Loss of $150,000.

Savannah, Mo., Jan. 9.—Fire which started in a notion store here early today did damage estimated at $150,000 and left half the south side of the courthouse square in ruins. The origin of the blaze is not known, but it is believed to have been due to a defective flue.

DRIVEN BACK BY RUSS AT SOME POINTS

Russian Sweep Through Crown Line of Bukowina Continues.

Kaiser Preparing to Throw Troops to Assistance of Austria.

Little Change in Situation in Belgium and France.

London, Jan. 9.—Coincident with their new movement from the north, the Germans have resumed their violent offensive operations to the west of Warsaw. They are hacking away forward at some points, only to be in turn driven out from their positions by Russian bayonet attacks. This makes the situation in Poland as a whole about what it was a fortnight ago.

Meanwhile the Russian sweep through the Austrian crown line of Bukowina continues unchecked, according to new dispatches reaching London and this army is expected by British observers soon to be well over the mountains forming the boundary into Hungary.

Servia with her army more or less rehabilitated, is described in London as attacking the dual monarchy from the south with renewed vigor. Austria declares that the latest Servian attempts have been repulsed. Nevertheless, credence is given in England to the reports that Germany is planning to throw troops to the assistance of her ally in a third attempt to crush the country of the Serbs. One hundred thousand Prussians and 300,000 Austrians, it is said, are to be employed in this campaign, the Teutonic allies deeming such a move imperative in view of the grave situation in the Balkans.

Position Critical.

The present position of Austria-Hungary, according to observers who today are giving expression to their views, is most critical. Threatened from the east and from the south and with Roumania preparing to cast her lot with the allies, the war is being brought to her front door. This is in sharp contrast to the comparative isolation from strife which Germany continues to enjoy with only small strips of territory in East Prussia and Alsace

KING CAN COMMAND MILITARY SERVICE

Viscount Haldane Says Act of Parliament Not Necessary.

London, Jan. 9.—The morning newspapers which favor conscription find much satisfaction in the guarded reference of Viscount Haldane, lord high chancellor, made in yesterday's speech in the house of lords, to the powers inherent in the constitution under which, in times of great necessity, the king's signature of an order, on the advice of his ministers, can force compulsory military service without a special act of parliament.

Viscount Haldane expressed the opinion that a resort to such a measure had not become necessary, but Lord Curzon of Kedleston, who followed him, seized on this guarded reference, declaring that Viscount Haldane's remarks had carried the matter farther than it had ever been carried before. He also criticized somewhat sharply Viscount Haldane's reticence about the number of troops contemplated and asked whether the war office was taking any preliminary steps to carry out a policy of conscription if necessary.

In reply to this and similar questions, the marquis of Crewe declined to go further than to say that the matter would be the subject of careful deliberation by all the king's ministers.

A GLUTTON FOR TROUBLE.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

German armies are again striking at Warsaw, from two directions. Along the Vistula to the west of the Polish capital, heavy fighting has been resumed, and at the same time a new attack has been launched from the north. The Petrograd war office described the fighting as "more and more desperate," and admits that the Germans made advances at many points, but states that they were subsequently driven back again.

Coincident with the Russian sweep through the Austrian province of Bukowina, plans are under way in the adjacent country of Roumania for mobilization of the army. Unofficial advices state that the entrance of Roumania into the war is expected.

A Geneva report says that an Austrian army has been trapped in Galicia by the Russians, who by an unexpected movement caught the Austrians at a disadvantage on different ground and placed them in a precarious position. There was no confirmation, however, of this report.

In contrast with the heavy fighting in the east, the armies in the west, so far as revealed, remained comparatively inactive.

The French advance in Alsace apparently has been checked. Both the French and German official statements of today tell of the recapture by the Germans of Burnhaupt-le-Haut, the town south of Steinbach, capture of which by the French was announced yesterday.

In the Argonne violent fighting is again in progress. In one charge the French lost a number of men as the result of a trap set by the Germans, who permitted them to occupy a trench and then blew it up.

Fighting has been resumed in the Aisne region, where the allies claim to have captured three lines of German trenches, covering 600 meters of the front. The German statement, however, says that French attacks in this region were repulsed.

MUNICIPAL LIGHT PROJECT SCORED

Referendum Men Hold Enthusiastic Meeting in West Duluth.

An enthusiastic meeting was held last night by the members of the newly organized West Duluth young men's referendum committee at the clubrooms under the West Duluth postoffice on Bristol street. The meeting was attended by about seventy-five young voters of this end of the city.

E. N. Bouchard presided at the meeting. Among the speakers were Neal J. Beaton and C. A. McDonell. Mr. Beaton spoke in favor of the 6-cent ordinance. He said that one of the best reasons for favoring the ordinance was that a "bird in the hand is worth two in the bush," and that it was better to accept a certainty of a 25 per cent reduction in lighting rates than the uncertainty offered under proposed reductions to 4 cents or even the building of a lighting unit whose rates experts had so far been unable to state definitely.

The speaker also spoke in favor of the Duluth-Edison company, saying that it was not fair for the citizens to "sandbag" the company in the way proposed. Such methods, he said, would tend to scare prospective investors from the city and brand the city as an undesirable place for making investments.

Mr. McDonell touched lightly on present labor conditions, and stated that it would be far more profitable at this time to engage in the building of another feed pipe between the Lakewood pumping station and the city reservoir. Such a supply main would be needed within a short time, he maintained, and could be built now when labor is cheap. He scored the action of the city commissioners on their attempt to divert funds from the water and light department to that of the proposed building of an electric unit.

HANDSOME NEW CHURCH HAS RECENTLY BEEN DEDICATED

ST. PAUL'S GERMAN LUTHERAN CHURCH, Fifty-Fifth Avenue West and Elinor Street.

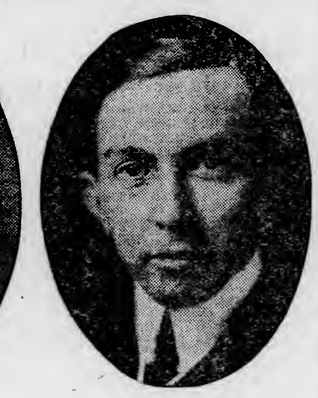

The St. Paul's German Evangelical Lutheran church, Fifty-fifth avenue west and Elinor street, is one of the new handsome churches that has been constructed in West Duluth during the year 1914. The edifice was dedicated with impressive ceremony last Sunday. Rev. William Schmidt is pastor of the church. He took charge of the work of the congregation early in the fall. The membership exceeds 100 communicants.

The building is of stone and brick. It has a full basement, which has been arranged for modern club and society rooms for the various church organizations. The main aditorium has a seating capacity for 250 people. The chuch cost the congregation about $17,000.

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED.

The spirit of good fellowship reigned supreme at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club last night. At the social session following the annual business meeting at which officers were elected the short talks given by the members bespoke of the co-operation of the residents of West Duluth with the sole aim of making this end of the city the most desirable place in Duluth to live in for people of all classes.

Optimism was prevalent among the members. That the coming year had many good things in store for this end of the city was the consensus of opinion. How to boost the good things along by each putting the shoulder to the wheel and how to get everybody in line with such a movement were discussed. A more thorough canvass of the business men of West Duluth for the purpose of getting them to take a more active part in the meetings was decided on.

Andrew Myles presided at the informal banquet following the business meeting. Among the speakers were M. M. Forbes, P. H. Martin, John J. Frey, A. G. Macaulay, David Sang, J. E. Foubister, Charles Kauppi, Emil J. Zauft, John Rockwell, L. A. Barnes, R. J. Fisher, W. A. Pond, Roy J. Baker, M. J. Murray and others.

DULUTHIAN RECEIVES NEW YEAR GREETINGS FROM CARNEGIE

William A. Dunn, 529 South Seventy-first avenue west, is recipient of New Year's greetings from Andrew Carnegie, for whom he worked twenty-six years ago at Homestead, eight miles from Pittsburg, Pa. The greetings are in the form of a remembrance, which Mr. Dunn receives from Mr. Carnegie each year.

For a number of years Mr. Carnegie has kept track of his former employes in this manner. Mr. Dunn has received books, pictures and other remembrances from the philanthopist, which he prizes highly.

The subject of the New Year's greetings is "War Abolished—Peace Enthroned." The following is the substance of the greetings:

Form of Greetings.

"Is this, the most terrible, most destructive and most uncalled-for wars, to be the last between civilized nations? It certainly should be and can easily be made so, and the world thus cleared of its greatest crime. Arbitration tribunals have already pronounced righteous judgment in no less than 627 cases, and non one has been challenged. Four of the nations now engaged in war have resorted to arbitration before The Hague tribunal for settlement of their disputes: France, six times; Britain, five; Germany, three; Russia, two, and the United States, three times. One of these disputes involved no less than twelve nations, another six nations, and the verdicts of the tribunal were accepted without demur.

"The five nations named, Britain, France, Germany, Russia and the United States, or substitutes for any of the five which may decline to act, have only to agree that disputes arising between any of the nations shall thus be arbitrated and, behold, blessed peace ascends the throne.

"We have a world supreme court in The Hague tribunal, which has been in successful operation for fifteen years. It was summoned by the present Russian czar, to whom the world owes an unpayable debt. He desired the powers to devise, if possible a means to put an end to the incessant armaments and to seek a means of warding off the calamities threatening the whole world. Twenty-six nations responded to this first call; to his second call no less than forty-four attended. May it be his privilege soon to call the third congress and thus, perform the greatest service ever permitted to man.

"Surely, after an armistice is established between the nations now unfortunately at war, the majority of enlightened people in all civilized lands will realize that permanent world peace would be earth's greatest blessing and is entirely practicable through a union of a few powerful nations pledged to maintain it, and inviting all other civilized lands to become members thereof, each nation contributing to the cost of such union in proportion to its population and wealth. As nations accepted peaceful arbitration, armies and navies would rapidly fade away and become no longer necessary.

"ANDREW CARNEGIE."

120-POUNDER GIVES BIG POLICEMAN A TUSSLE

Frank Bajack, 19 North Twenty-eighth avenue west was taken into custody yesterday afternoon by a special policeman on a charge of trespass. It is alleged that he was picking coal from the Duluth, Missabe & Northern tracks. The prisoner is the father of four children and has been out of work for three months. The officer who arrested him is a three hundred pounder, but claims to have had quite a tussle with the offender who weighs but 120. Judge Cutting referred the case to Municipal Probation Officer Frank Hicks, who has the matter under his consideration.

BURGLAR VISITS POLICEMAN'S HOME

Burglars paid a call at the residence of Police Officer Oscar Olson, 1128 East Ninth street last night while that officer was on duty protecting other people's residences.

A hurry call was sent in to headquarters and the emergency police responded. It was discovered that the robber had been in the basement but nothing of value was taken, and he had decamped before the arrival of the police.

Of course, ——— well they got results.

CITY JAILS ARE IN GOOD CONDITION

Duluth's city jails are all in very good condition, with the exception of the West Duluth station, according to the report just submitted to the state board of control by Health Director Webster. As the West Duluth fire hall building was recently sold and plans are now under way for the construction of a $15,000 building for the branch police station, no action is expected from the state body.

The report on the city jails by Health Director Webster was made at the request of the board of control, that body having been given authority in a law passed several years ago.

The central station, according to Dr. Webster, is in a good sanitary condition, having fair ventilation and being able to accommodate twenty-eight prisoners. The New Duluth station is in excellent condition, being in a new fireproof building. It can accommodate six prisoners.

The West Duluth station, the report states, is in a very poor condition, needs more light and better ventilation. A new building is absolutely necessary, Dr. Webster said in his report, but as plans for a structure are under way, the state board will not take any action. There is room for twelve prisoners in the West Duluth station.

SOLVE PROBLEM OF PACIFICATION

Gen. Gutierrez Says Negotiations Will Unite All Warring Factions.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Progress of negotiations between the warring factions in Mexico by which "the problem of pacification of Mexico has practically been solved," were announced last night to the convention in Mexico City by Gen. Gutierrez.

This was reported in a dispatch to the state department today from American Consul Silliman.

"It would not be opportune at this time," said Gen. Gutierrez, "to give details, but their publication will be made in due time."

He added he had been in touch with all armed groups in various parts of the republic, including forces in the state of Coahuila and two proposals had been made to him which seemed satisfactory.

Gen. Gutierrez made no reference to Gen. Carranza, but his statement covering "all armed groups" was taken to mean that a reconciliation between the warring factions of the once united Constitutionalist army was in the making. Gutierrez also spoke of the fact that more delegates were expected to the convention from some of the armed groups which hitherto had not been represented.

The convention elected new presiding officers and decided to hold daily sessions.

SEARS FAMILY IS AN OLD ONE

Boston Paper Contains Announcement of Merrill-Sears Engagement.

The Boston Transcript of Jan. 3 contained an announcement of the engagement of Miss Marie Merrill to Francis P. Sears of Boston, which was announced in this city during the holidays. The following article appeared:

"Announcement has just been made in Duluth, Minn., of the engagement of Miss Marie Merrill of that city to Francis P. Sears of Boston and Waltham, who is prominent in business and club life in this city. He is at present in Duluth on a visit over the holidays. Miss Merrill is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Merrill. Her father is a prominent member of the lumber trade in his part of the country. She has visited Boston several times, and has made many friends here. The wedding will take place probably about the middel of April.

"Mr. Sears is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Sears, the latter formerly Miss Sarah Lyman, a sister of the late Mrs. Robert Treat Paine. The family residence long has been a stately mansion at 85 Mount Vernon street, with surrounding, well-shaded grounds, and they have a country estate, 'Locust Hill,' in Waltham. Mr. Sears is vice president and a director of the Columbian National Life Insurance company and is connected with other corporations, as treasurer or director. He belongs to the Union club, the Exchange club, the Country club and the Harvard clubs of Boston and New York. He is a graduate of Harvard, with the class of 1891. He is a brother of Richard Sears, also Harvard, 1891, who less than a year ago married Miss Susan E. G. Drake of New York. Mr. Sears has three sisters, the Misses Annie L. Sears, Evelyn Sears and Mary P. Sears, who reside with him at the family home in Mount Vernon street. Mr. Sears is extremely fond of outdoor life especially hunting, and he has been among the enthusiastic followers of the Middlesex hounds. Miss Merrill also is devoted to athletic diversions. She is accomplished in music."

HEARS ARGUMENTS IN MANDAMUS CASE

Action to Eliminate "4-Cent" Ordinance Will Be Completed Monday.

Arguments on the mandamus action brought against city officials by Anton E. Gronseth, who seeks to require the city commissioners to eliminate the 4-cent lighting ordinance from the ballot to be submitted to the voters at the special election of Jan. 19, were continued before Judge Dancer in district court this morning. It is expected that the arguments will be concluded Monday morning.

Attorney Frank Crassweller, who appears as speical counsel in the case, assisting City Attorney Clapp, occupied the attention of the court for a while this morning on the point as to whether or not the city had the right to regulate the rate of the Duluth-Edison Electric company. The contention of Mr. Crassweller was that the constitution conferred this right to cities with home-rule charters, such as Duluth, and that it was not a right which had to be specifically conferred by statute.

LAST OF $50,000 BOND ISSUE PAID

Early this week Commissioner Voss retired the last of the $50,000 bond issue made five years ago to cover the paving of Garfield avenue. The sum of $10,000 was paid up the first of each year and the payment this week cleaned up the entire issue.

During the coming year the city has $163,000 in bonds, which mature and which Commissioner Voss said this morning, will be paid. This includes the $143,000 issue of several years ago for the improvement fund and which is held mostly by local banks. These bonds have been paying 5 per cent. The other issue maturing is that for $20,000 sold in 1913 for the water and light department and which are called public certificates.

In 1914 the city retired $221,000 of the total bonded debt of $6,192,000.

No big issues will mature for several years to come while the $1,106,000 issue of July 1, 1896 for the water and light plant does not come to maturity until 1926.

That the saloon business in parts of Duluth is not paying the profits that it used to, isshown by the fact that Willard P. His liabilities are placed at $2,483.58; assets, $773.93; exempted assets, $515. Most of the debts are due to wholesale liquor houses incurred from purchases of stock.

The saloon is situated near the old red light district, which has become inactive since the cleaning up of that section of the city.

Nov. 23, 1914.—"All my life my face was covered completely with a mass of pimples, blackheads and blotches. I spent a lot of money on numerous remedies and treatments without success and no relief at all. I tried so many things that I was afraid my case could not be cured. Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap seemed to do me good right from the first. FACTS THE PEOPLE SHOULD KNOW!

It costs the Water and Light Department one-half cent per hundred cubic feet to pump water into the reservoir. It sells this water at 15 cents per hundred cubic feet to consumers or thirty times the cost of pumping. THIS IS A FACT.

The cost to consumers per one hundred cubic feet of water, according to figures compiled by Manager Reed of the Water and Light Department, and published in The Herald Nov. 29th, 1913, is:

Duluth - - - .15 per 100 cubic feet
Detroit - - - .05 per 100 cubic feet
Buffalo - - .05 per 100 cubic feet
Milwaukee - .05 per 100 cubic feet
Minneapolis .06 per 100 cubic feet

In the Herald of September 16, 1913, Commissioner Merritt said that the Water and Light Department lost $12,000.00 the previous year.

Duluth has the highest rate on water of any of the above cities.

Duluth is offered the lowest rate (six cents per K. W. H.) on electrtric current of any of the above cities.

QUESTION: If City of Duluth can lose money with the highest rate on water what would its loss be with the lowest rate on electricity?

Municipal operation of the Water Department commenced in 1897.

Taxes paid by a carpenter on his home (Northerly thirty feet of southerly one hundred-twenty feet of Lots 333 and 335, Duluth Proper, Second Division)—

in 1913 15.90
(See Records in County Auditor's Office)

His home is 27 years old—no additional improvements have been made since 1896. This workingman's taxes have increased over 60% under municipal ownership.

Whenever a municipality furnishes electric current at less than six cents per K. W. H. the difference is made up by the taxpayer.

According to figures published by Manager Reed in The Herald on Nov. 29, 1913 the taxpayers contributed $71,395.00 to the Water and Light Department in 1912.

Pillsbury and Claussen (the city's $14,000 electrical engineers) in their 1911 report, on page 8, stated that a 25 cycle current would not give steady or satisfactory light, either for arc or incandescent illumination. They recommended a 60 cycle current, the same as is being distributed by the Duluth Edison Company. The city now proposes to install a plant to distribute 25 cycle current.

The Unit Plant means another forest of poles on the city streets.

IS INDICTED FOR MURDER

True Bill Returned By Grand Jury Against Carl Dittman.

Total of Eleven Indictments in the Partial Report.

Eleven indictments and three no true bills were returned by the January grand jury which made a partial report to Judge Fesler in district court at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The grand jury found a true bill in the case of the state against Carl Dittman, held for murder. Dittman, 66, is charged with the crime of murder in the second degree. He is accused of having shot and killed Anton Kleimek, 19, on Nov. 9 last. The shooting occurred at Dittman's cabin near Woodland.

Of the eleven true bills, eight were secret indictments as the defendants have not yet been apprehended. Bench warrants for their arrest have been turned over to the sheriff.

The two other indictments made public were returned against:

John Henrik Keranen and Frank Victor Wirta, jointly charged with grand larceny in the second degree. The two men are accused of the theft of a mutton carcass belonging to the Cudahy Packing company. The meat, which was valued at $1, was stolen from a box car Nov. 28.

John Moran, charged with grand larceny in the second degree. Moran is accused of having stolen $90.95 Dec. 11 from Frank Webb.

The grand jury will investigate and report on about twenty more cases. It is expected that it will finish its deliberations Monday or Tuesday.

GREAT BRITAIN SHOWS FRIENDLY SPIRIT WHILE NOT YIELDING CLAIMS

right of search of neutral ships anywhere on the high seas, the London foreign office has shown a disposition to discuss in a friendly spirit any means that may be suggested by the American government looking to an amelioration of the hardships which the assertion of the right of search imposes upon ship owners.

It is pointed out by officials that this, after all, is one of the main purposes of the American protest for the state department conceded the right of search to the British but objected to the manner in which search was conducted.

To Separate Questions.

There is a disposition on the part of officials in the continuation of the negotiations to separate the question, or to the manner in which searches shall be conducted, from the other questions relating to contraband and conditional contraband, which formed important features of Secretary Bryan's note.

The British preliminary reply has held out hope that speedy adjustment can be reached of the complaint regarding the manner in which searches are made. But the British note also makes it apparent there must be full opportunity to thoroughly discuss all phases of the other important questions.

This, of course, involves extended negotiations, but so long as American complaints and representations are conducted with no disposition to undue delay, it is expected there will be no objection on the part of the United States.

Speaks at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 9.—President Wilson yesterday voiced what was interpreted as a hint that he might be a candidate for the presidency in 1916. The people leaped to their feet and cheered until the president himself raised his hand and called for quiet. More than 4,000 persons heard Mr. Wilson's Jackson day address.

The president had been discussing the Mexican question and referred to his belief that he knew the temperament and principles of the American people, adding that he would not be fit to stay where he was if he did not understand them.

"There may come a time," he went on, "when the American people will have to judge whether I know what I am talking about or not."

There was a slight pause, and then the crowd, which included the members of the Indiana legislature, jumped up and began cheering. Realizing the construction which had been placed on his words, the president held up his hand for silence and said:

"I did not mean to stir up anything. That was merely preparatory to saying that for at least two more years I am free to think that I know the American people."

Attacks Republicans.

Previously the president had attacked the Republican party, defended the record of his administration on the Mexican policy, and the tariff and currency questions, and declared a careful examination of the returns from the elections last November showed that if it had been a presidential year, a Democrat would have had a majority of about eighty in the electoral college.

The president criticized Republican senators opposing the government ship purchase bill. He said the Republican party has had no new idea in thirty years, and that "the Republicans do not know how to do anything but sit on the lid."

He added that he believed the country wants the ship purchase bill enacted into law.

Mr. Wilson gravely asked Democrats not to break up the solidity of the party. He declared that any such men will gain an unenviable position for themselves. He continued that "if a man will not play on a team, he must get off the team," and later spoke of himself as "the captain of the Democratic team for the present."

Speaks of Mexico.

The president spoke briefly of Mexico. He said the people there are entitled to liberty "no matter how long they take in determining it." Speaking slowly and carefully, he declared that "So far as my influence goes, while I am president, nobody shall interfere with them."

He said that until the revolt against Diaz, 80 per cent of the Mexicans never had a look-in as to who should head the government.

"Have not European nations taken as long as they wanted, and spilled as much blood as they pleased to settle their own affairs?" he continued, "and shall we deny the same right to Mexico? No, I say."

Much of Mr. Wilson's address was devoted to the independent and progressive voters. He said that about one-third of the Republican party is progressive and about two-thirds of the Democratic party is progressive.

"Therefore," he added, "the Democratic party is more progressive than the Republican."

He declared most of the voters of the country are independent, but that it was his ambition to have them vote with the Democrats. He spoke of himself as an "animated conservative."

European War.

Referring to the European war, the president said the people of the United States should not pay too much attention to it, but should get their own affairs in such order that they can be of the greatest assistance to the countries fighting. He closed his address with prayer that the time might come when the United States could be instrumental in restoring peace.

Business conditions were taken up briefly. He characterized talk of business depression as a "state of mind." He said the Democratic party had already done much to free business, and that its program was not yet complete. Whenever the country really wants something, besides talk, he added, it turns to the Democratic party.

The president advocated the establishment of a great Federal employment bureau, said some means should be found for quickening and cheapening the processes of the courts, and spoke of the necessity of congress passing the administration conservation bills.

Immediately after his speech the president went to the home of Mayor Joseph E. Bell of Indianapolis who was confined to his bed by sickness and later attended a reception given by the Indiana Democratic club. Later he took an automobile ride about Indianapolis and at 6:45 departed for Washington.

occupied by her antagonists. Now, more than ever before, therefore, followers of the conflict in England look to the eastern arena for immediate developments of importance. In Belgium and France the allies are making some hard-carned gains and the Germans also here and there are making progress. The opposing forces are so nearly evenly matched and the position of their trenches are such that sapping and bomb-throwing must be relied on chiefly to bring any gains and, barring a lucky victory in the sporadic artillery duels, this form of warfare doubtless will persist along the line in Flanders and in France until the weather improves the ground and permits more extensive infantry operations.

Several days have passed since the first reports of Russian victories over the Turks in the Caucasus, but the Turks have not yet admitted any reverses in this territory.

German Offensive.

Petrograd, via London, Jan. 9.—Taking advantage of the continued and increasing cold weather which has frozen the marshy lands adjacent to the numerous rivers of North Poland, the Germans are initiating another attempt on Warsaw from the north. They have contented themselves with fortifying and taking the defensive west of Warsaw along the banks of the Bzura and southward between Skierniewice and Grodzisk and further southward along the left bank of the Vistula, and are now reported massing in the north preparatory to an advance.

This assault is considered a sequel of the German demonstration of four weeks ago when, advancing from Mlawa, they were repulsed by Russian troops across the border. The previous advance obviously was made with the aim of acquainting themselves with the nature of the ground and disposition of Russian forces as well as assisting Gen. Mackenzen's attack west of Warsaw by attracting Russian troops to the northward.

This time the German offensive is said to be en masse, including the army corps recently brought over from Belgium. It is reported that on the Russian Christmas day heavy fighting occurred between Mlawa and Przasnysz.

The German intention seems to be to try to force a route through Przasnyz, Rozan, Pultusk and Serock, making a considerably wider movement and swinging further to eastward than in their previous attempts. In taking this direction it will be necessary for the Germans to cross the Rivers Narem and Bug, the latter of which is not sufficiently frozen to provide safe transport for the heavy artillery.

The success of this invasion is deemed impossible here, since the heavy Russian fortress of Nowo Georgiewsk and several minor forts would obstruct the German advance if it succeeded in reaching that far.

German Statement.

Berlin, Jan. 9, by wireless to London, 4:05 p. m.—The following official communication was given out today at army headquarters:

"On the western front there have been heavy rains, which seemed more like cloudbursts than anything else. Thunder was heard all day yesterday. The Lys at some places has overflowed its banks.

"Several attacks of the enemy to the northeast of Soissons were beaten off with severe loss to the French. A French attack near Perthes, north of Chalons, also was repulsed with severe loss to the enemy.

"In the eastern section of the Argonne our troops successfully stormed French positions and took 1,200 prisoners, some mine throwers and a bronze mortar. A Lorraine battalion and the Hessian landwehr particularly distinguished themselves in this fight.

One of our advanced trenches, which we at the time were not occupying, near Flirey, was occupied by the French and at once blown up. All of the French occupants were killed.

"Both west and south of Sennheim (Cernay) there is nothing to report. The French have been driven out of Burnhaupt-le-Haut and the trenches there into their old positions.

"Some 150 prisoners fell into our hands here.

"On the eastern front bad weather continues. The number of prisoners taken on the 7th of January by us was 2,000. Also seven machine guns were captured."

French Statement.

Paris, Jan. 9, 2:40 p. m.—Successes of greater or less importance at various points along the line in France are claimed in the official report on the progress of the fighting given out by the French war office this afternoon. A German victory is admitted in Alsace, where the troops of Emperor William reoccupied Burnhaupt-le-Haut.

In one place the French gain consisted of three lines of German trenches; at another they advanced 500 yards; elsewhere lesser gains or the retention of positions are recorded. The French artillery also have been active with results declared to be advantageous.

"To the south of Ypres we have damaged the trenches of the enemy and reduced to silence the mine throwers of the Germans.

"In the region of Arras and in the vicinity of Amiens there have been artillery engagements, resulting advantageously for our batteries.

"In the region of Soupir we yesterday morning occupied very brilliantly Hill 122. Three times during the day the enemy delivered violent counter-attacks. Each time they were repulsed. Our gain is represented by three lines of German trenches along a front of 600 meters. The enemy, not having been able to recapture that which they had lost, bombarded Soissons and set fire to the palace of justice.

"To the south of Laon and of Craonne our artillery demolished a camp of huts covering some machine guns, reduced to silence the artillery of the enemy, and destroyed some trenches.

"In the region of Perthes the enemy delivered an attack to which we responded immediately by a counter-attack. This movement on our part permitted us not only to retain our positions at 'Hill 200,' west of Perthes, but also to take possession of 400 yards of the trenches of the enemy between 'Hill 200' and the village of Perthes. Furthermore, a direct attack delivered by us on Perthes at the same time that we were making our counter-attack 'Hill 200' made us masters of the village. We installed ourselves in Perthes and we have advanced beyond the village boundary. Our total gain in this locality is more than 500 yards.

"Along all the front between Reims and the Argonne our artillery has inflicted noticeable losses on the enemy. This has been attested by prisoners. In the Argonne we were subjected on our right to a lively attack from the enemy, to which we replied with a counter-attack which brought us back to our point of departure.

"In the Woevre district to the northwest of Flirey, in the forest of Ailly, and in the forest of Le Pretre we made some progress.

"In the region of Cernay we maintained our position. Further to the south the enemy, strongly reinforced, reoccupied Burnhaupt-le-Haut, at the expense of heavy losses."

Russian Statement.

Petrograd, Jan. 9.—An official communication given out by the general staff says:

"On the left bank of the Vistula front at the villages of Soukha, Metairie and Moghely, the fighting has assumed a character more and more desperate. The Germans, notwithstanding the great losses they have sustained, continue obstinate attacks at different points.

"In many places the enemy succeeded in occupying provisionally certain of our advanced trenches but our vigorous counter-attacks, followed ordinarily by bayonet charges, compelled the Germans to let go their hold. Thus in the region of Metairie and Moghely on Jan. 7 we drove away the enemy who rushed our advanced trenches, capturing seven officers and more than 100 men.

"In Bukowina we occupied on Jan. 6, Kimpolung (in Bukowina near the Hungarian border) after an advance and fighting lasting eight days. Our troops during this fighting covered more than 120 versts (about eighty miles) and finally crossed the mountain chain at the frontier between Bukowina and Hungary. During these operations we captured more than one thousand Austrians and also took rich spoils of war.

"On other parts of our front there is nothing worthy of note.

"On the Black Sea on January 3 our torpedo boats discovered a Turkish cruiser of the Medjidieh type, followed by a transport, sailing east and approaching Sinope, on the north coast of Asia Minor. Seeing themselves pursued the Turkish vessels turned west in flight but we followed and sank the transport. The cruiser escaped."

In the Caucasus.

There was given out in this city this afternoon an official communication from the headquarters staff of the Russian army in the Caucasus reading as follows:

"In the combat of Ardahan in Transcaucasia, forty miles northwest of Kars, we defeated and dispersed the component parts of the Ottoman army which formed parts of the First army corps. This corps had been stationed at Constantinople. A number of Bashibazoucks brought from European Turkey as well as bands of Adjar tribesmen, who have taken up the cause of Turkey, fought against us at Ardahan.

"We captured a large quantity of war booty.

"The cannon made a vast pile, what with their trucks and caissons, etc. We captured also the officer in command of the Turkish artillery. Other prisoners included several dozen officers and we captured also a large number of soldiers. We buried more than 1,500 bodies of the enemy's trops. A regiment of Siberian Cossacks delivered a brilliant charge. These men sabred several companies of the enemy and captured the flag of the Eighth infantry regiment.

"It has been established that the Ninth Ottoman army corps, 30,000 strong, has been completely destroyed; these detachments were entirely overwhelmed in the snow.

years are provided. The bill is in the form of a concurrent resolution, a constitutional amendment being required.

Another bill recommended by the governor was introduced by Representative Noyes. It prohibits the transportation of cattle in cars previously used for that purpose until they have been disinfected.

Semi-annual payment of taxes is provided for in a bill by Representative Carney of Williams county. He would fix March 1 as the date for the first payment and Nov. 1 as the date for the second payment.

Drastic Telephone Measure.

Senator Englund has an exhaustive bill dealing with telephone regulations, which was referred by Lieutenant-Governor Fraine to the ways and means committee. It prohibits the unnecessary disunction of exchanges, prohibiting the installation of a telephone exchange in a community, either city or village, where there already is a telephone company. No farm or toll lines shall be paralleled without a declaration first being secured from the state railroad board, after a public hearing, at which time a showing must be made that public convenience requires it.

All telephone companies are required, under the bill, to provide physical connections, and service must be provided between all telephone systems and toll lines. Joint rates and apportionment of the expense of making the physical connection, are provided.

The state railroad commission is given power to deal with cases where the companies interested fail to arrive at an agreement.

Later Election Date.

Representative Roble took the first step towards changing the date of the presidential primary election, proposing a bill, under which the election would be held on the first Wednesday in June. Another bill by Mr. Roble fixes the general state primary election for the same date, advancing it two weeks from the present date.

Senator Jacobson of Hettinger county, explaining his measure, proposing a change in the method of apportioning state school funds, says there has been considerable opposition to the present plan. School funds are now apportioned on the basis of the total enumeration of school children in a district, irrespective of the attendance. He would have the distribution made on the basis of the actual enrollment. He would also entrust the appointing of county superintendents to state superintendent or to the board of education.

GET RID OF HUMORS AND AVOID DISEASE

Humors in the blood cause internal derangements that affect the whole system, as well as pimples, boils and other eruptions. They affect all the organs and functions, membranes and tissues, and are directly responsible for the readiness with which some people contract disease.

For forty years Hood's Sarsaparilla has been more successful than any other medicine in expelling humors and removing their inward and outward effects. It is distinguished for its thoroughness in purifying the blood, which it enriches and invigorates. No other medicine acts like it, for no other medicine is like it.

Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today. Insist on having Hood's.

WEST END

DEMAND FOR A STATION URGENT

Business Men of West End Will Campaign for Improvements.

Business men of the West end do not propose to be put off in a demand for a branch police station equipped with modern appliances. They say also that they do not intend, if they can help it, to be put off with the installation of a new signal system that is now being proposed.

"The September grand jury condemned the present jail located under the No. 2 fire hall," said one of the business men. "We want this abolished but in its place we need a more centrally located station. While a new system of call bells might possibly help conditions somewhat, it will not be anything like having a station and a man on the job, who is ready to answer a call to duty."

More men for the district will be asked for. The men now on the beat are said to have to cover too much territory to be able to do the work efficiently. Some of the beats cover districts that are more than a mile in length. It is proposed to take the matter up with the West End Commercial club on Jan. 21.

ENTERTAINMENTS FOR SHOPPERS

West End Merchants Will Be Host to Women and Children.

Free entertainments will be given during February for the women and children of the West end, according to a decision of the business men at their monthly noon luncheon held yesterday at the Rex hotel. They will be entertained at the local motion picture theaters, where special programs will be arranged.

A committee consisting of George M. Jensen, E. A. Thompson and A. O. Anderson was appointed to have full charge of the entertainment. The committee will soon meet to outline the programs to be given and decide on the date. Tickets to the theaters will be distributed free of charge to the women and children by the merchants of the district.

A feature of the meeting following the luncheon was an address given by William N. Lewis, field secretary for the U. S. Navy league. Mr. Lewis advocated more efficiency in the army and navy. This he said, did not necessarily mean an increased navy or army but the getting of better results from the annual appropriations made by the government. He said the appropriation was $141,000,000 and that this sum could be used to far greater advantage than it now is.

L. A. Simonds acted as chairman of the meeting and George M. Jensen, secretary.

WOULD KNOW EXACT AMOUNT OF TOBACCO.

Washington, Jan. 9.—A committee of special expert agents, named by Director Harris of the census bureau, has recommended after a careful investigation that the reports of stocks of leaf tobacco on hand April 1 and Oct. 1 of each year, as required by law, should be compiled so as to show the quantity of tobacco produced each year, the quantity utilized in domestic manufactures, exported, imported and on hand at the beginning and end of the year.

The committee points out that while accurate statistics for all of these items are not available, such data as is available should be included, with proper explanation and that if the data were perfected, they would be of great assistance to all engaged in the tobacco industry.

The present reports required by law give only the aggregate stock of tobacco in the hands of certain dealers and manufacturers of tobacco, other than original growers.

DEBATE HAS PRELIMINARIES

Hillside Improvement Club Has Lively Curtain-Raisers By Auditors.

McEwen and Hughes on Opposite Sides of Electric Plant Question.

Because the members of the audience that came to hear the debate on the electric lighting question at the Polish hall last evening began several warm debates among themselves that threatened to end in serious trouble, the officers of the Hillside Improvement club called the scheduled meeting ten minutes earlier than planned. Thomas H. Sexton presided at the meeting.

Five or six groups of men, who had come to the meeting a little early, began to discuss the various phases of the electric lighting controversy among themselves. The arguments became rather torrid and for a time it looked as though a general melee would ensue. As soon as Ray M. Hughes, chairman of the Citizens' Referendum committee, and William E. McEwen, a member of the executive committee of the Municipal Ownership league, arrived the officers decided to call the meeting at once and avoid trouble.

Mr. McEwen was the first speaker and he outlined the argument of the M. O. league in its support for the 4-cent rate and the erection of a unit at West Duluth. He urged the voters to obtain municipal ownership and declared at the close of his address:

"I want the people of the city to get ownership of the plant if they have to beg, borrow or steal the money."

Thinks Him Rash.

In answering Mr. McEwen, Mr. Hughes attacked what he termed the rashness of the speaker and then went into detail regarding the possible cost of erecting a unit, the undoubted delay in securing a 4-cent rate because of lawsuits that will follow and finally a statement of the money already expended by the city in its endeavor to obtain municipal ownership of the plant. In closing, he severely attacked the plan to force a public corporation to accept the terms of a few men who would place the city of Duluth in a bad light with the investors of the nation.

RABBI LEFKOVITS REPLIES TO CRITICS OF HIS SERMON

Temple Far Too Small to Hold Those Eager to Hear Him.

Quarrel Not With Teachings of Jesus, But Creedal Christianity.

RABBI M. LEFKOVITS.

"Christianity itself is to be blamed for its signal failure, after 2,000 years of undisputed sway, to bring about peace and good will, as illustrated by the present war involving two-thirds of Christendom, and amongst its very fairest and finest. Of course, when I speak of the blame resting on Christianity, I do not mean the Christianity of Jesus, but the Christianity of the church; not ethical Christianity, but creedal Christianity; not the Christianity of the sermon on the Mount, but the Christianity of dogmatic pronouncement. Jesus never taught the doctrine of salvation by faith, with all its implications of baffling dogmas and bewildering mysteries that constitute creedal Christianity. On the contrary, he came as a noble protestant against formalism of any kind and his chief emphasis was laid upon deed as over and against creed, upon practice as over and against profession. Had Christendom been guided by the ethical Christianity of Jesus, instead of being dominated by the creedal Christianity of the church, we would today be appreciably nearer the era of peace and good will."

These statements were made last evening by Rabbi Maurice Lefkovits in his lecture answering the criticisms made during the last two weeks by local pastors and laymen on the sermon he delivered Friday evening, Dec. 26, on "War on Earth, Ill Will Toward Men." The lecture followed the regular Friday evening services of Temple Emanuel and the small church edifice was literally packed by men and women who came to hear the answer of the rabbi. Nearly 100 persons were turned away during the evening because of the crowded condition of the temple.

Judaism Not on Trial.

"All of my critics retort by saying that the Jews, too, have for many centuries been a warring nation and according to my own argument this should prove some inherent weakness in the Jewish faith. In general, let me say that just now it is not Judaism that is on trial before the conscience of humanity, but Christianity, with its claim of being the lone saving religion, and its boasted doctrine of non-resistence to evil. The adherence of Judaism among the nations now at war number a little more than 2 per cent, while 98 per cent of those engaged in this bloody slaughter are professing Christians. In the second place, it's altogether absurd, though rather flattering, to compare the deeds and the mode of living of a people of 3,000 years ago, a people, too, that had just emerged from centuries of slavery, with the deeds and modes of life of the torch-bearer of civilization today. In the third place, a close study of Jewish history will show that in all the fourteen centuries of the existence of the Jewish nation in Palestine they fought but four wars of conquest, all its other wars having been wars of defense against unprovoked attacks by hostile tribes and nations round about them.

Jew as a Martyr.

"The Jew's suffering throughout the ages, far from being a punishment for his alleged rejection of God, was and is, on the contrary, a badge and a token of his loyalty and devotion, even as suffering has ever been the badge and the token of every noble martyr that has laid his life for the good of humanity. The Jewish people are the martyred people of the world, the vicarious sufferers of humanity. Everything high and noble and precious is the result of suffering and mankind's highest, noblest and most precious treasurers are the products of suffering Israel. As the silk worm has to die in order to give forth its precious web to man, so has Providence made Israel the man of sorrows in history, in order that out of his wounds may flow the balm of healing to the nations of the earth.

"And steadily and richly has the balm of healing flowed out of his wounds. Judaism has given to the world two daughter-religions, one conquering the Eastern world, the other the Western world. We here are concerned primarily with the latter. Christianity reveres the old Testament; it was written from cover to cover by Jews. Christianity draws its inspirations from the new Testament; it was composed from cover to cover by Jews. Half of the Christian world adores the virgin Mary; she was a daughter of Israel. All of the Christian world worships Jesus of Nazareth; He was a son of Israel, nurtured and nourished on Jewish teachings and precepts. Take away from Christianity all that is purely and typically Jewish in it and you deprive it of its truest, noblest and most substantial contents; all that will remain are some Christianized pagan dogmas and doctrine, some of which militate against the dictates of an enlightened conscience and all of which are contrary to the canon of reason.

Salvation By Faith.

"Christianity stands and falls by the doctrine of the Salvation by Faith. This doctrine means that man is saved only by professing faith in the Christ and whosoever does not so profess is eternally damned. This doctrine implies the further beliefs that Jesus was the son of God, born of immaculate conception, that for some thirty years he lived on earth in human form, was then crucified, buried and securely sealed in a tomb, that after three days he resurrected, ascended unto heaven and has ever since been seated at the right hand of God, assuring salvation for all those who profess faith in Him. Without trying to analyze these startling doctrines, it is but fair to admit that to some types of minds these doctrines must prove unacceptable; and these minds for the present still number more than two-thirds of humanity. The Christian doctrine of the Salvation by Faith consigns these two-thirds of humanity, that is, more than 1,000,000,000 human beings, to eternal damnation. Now I ask, in all fairness, can a religion that stands and falls by a doctrine that consigns two-thirds of humanity to eternal damnation bring about 'Peace on earth, good will toward men?'

A Contrast.

"Again, the doctrine of Salvation by Faith results in this: Here is a man whose whole life has been one of debauch, whose every act was a denial of some commandment, whose last deed as a free man was the brutal murder of his innocent wife, the mother of his 3-month-old babe; this man on his way to the gallows to expiate his crime, mumbled with his lips a confession in the Christ; to this man creedal Christianity granted everlasting bliss and eternal salvation. Here is another man; he has been a dutiful son, a clean-cut youth, a devoted husband, a loving father, a public-spirited citizen, a loyal patriot—his whole life has been an earnest effort to live up to all that is good and true and noble—this man refuses to profess with his lips what his God-implanted conscience and reason militate against; and this man creedal Christianity consigns to eternal damnation and everlasting hell-fire. Is this just? Is it fair? Must not such a doctrine appear utterly unfair and unjust, possessing a spark of humanity and a modicum of common sense, and can there be 'Peace on earth, good will toward men' without justice? And is it then altogether wrong to assert that Christianity itself, at any rate, creedal Christianity, is to blame for its signal failure after nineteen centuries of undisputed sway and with every worldly advantage on its side to bring about peace and good will, as illustrated by the present war involving two-thirds of Christiandom and amongst it the very fairest and finest?

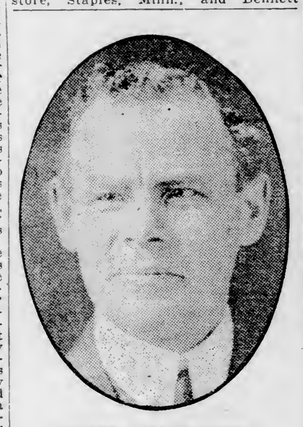

"As to the invitation extended to me to become a Christian, I must decline compliance therewith as long as being a Christian would mean for me to consign all those who do not believe as I believe, that is, two-thirds of the human race, to eternal damnation. I prefer to remain in my own faith, which holds and holds most emphatically that the righteous of all creeds shall have a share in the kingdom to come, and which teaches that man's deed counts more in the eyes of God than man's creed. That this doctrine will ultimately triumph, there cannot be a shadow of a doubt. Nay, I venture the prediction that this war, which has caused honest and conscientious Christians a good deal of mortification, will cause a radical readjustment of creedal Christianity and bring it nearer the Christianity of Jesus, which in its essence is nothing but Judaism, pure and simple."

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—There are 235 university freshmen about to complete successfully the first semester in the college of science, literature and the arts and above grade in their work, who are among those who, under the requirements for entrance in force the previous years demanding an 80 per cent passing grade of all high school graduates, could not have entered the university. This is 90 per cent of the substandard freshmen, or only 1 per cent less than have made good of those who had high school grades enabling them to enter the old requirements. Up to the holidays, 42 students were dropped from the rolls of the college of science, literature and the arts because of poor scholarship. Of these, 4 belonged to the upper classes and 38 to the freshman class. Of 707 freshmen, 264 had high school averages of less than 80 per cent. Of such students, 29 were dropped. This was 10 6-10 per cent. Of 433 freshmen with an average high school record above 80 per cent, 9 per cent were dropped. Of the total registration of the college the 42 constitute 2 3-10 per cent.

PENNY LUNCH FOR PUPILS

Housewives' League Providing for Poor Children in Grade School.

The Housewives' school-lunch committee was organized yesterday afternoon by members of the Housewives' league for the purpose of providing penny lunches for the children of the Longfellow school. It is claimed that many of the children, for want of a hot noon-day lunch are, physically and mentally, not up to requirements, and that for lack of nourishment cannot attain a proper efficiency in their studies. Harold G. House, principal of the Longfellow school was consulted and approved the plan.

This system was instituted last year at the Franklin school. Although it is primarily intended to aid those children of poor families, any child may take part in the benefit and the lack of a penny shall make no difference. The committee in charge of arrangements comprises Mrs. J. F. Watson, chairman; Miss Edna Meeker, Mrs. J. C. Swan, Mrs. W. C. Sherwood, Mrs. George F. Kennedy and Mrs. I. P. Swangie.

It is hoped that the plan will be in operation and hot lunches served to the children daily by Jan. 18. Food will be solicited by the Housewives' league committee during the coming week. Oatmeal, sugar, cocoa, apples, bread, butter and rice are wanted and other items will be added to the list later. All donations should be delivered to Harold G. House at the Longfellow school. The league expects to buy what provisions are necessary over and above those donated.

It is probable that the girls of the domestic science department will aid in the preparation of the meals and one member of the committee will be present each day. The penny will pay for the food; not the service. At the Woman's Council meeting, held yesterday, delegates of all clubs belonging to the council were urged to consider the matter at an early date.

DULUTH HUNTER SHOOTS BUCKS ENGAGED IN MORTAL COMBAT

THE FIGHTING BUCKS.

This remarkable picture was taken of two deer that were shot Nov. 20 by J. M. Stephens of 602 Garfield avenue. Mr. Stephens came upon the bucks in mortal combat at Lake Vermilion. One of the deer was dying from the effects of the terrific combat, while the victor was held prisoner because his horns were locked in the horns of the vanquished foe. Mr. Stephens had little difficulty in shooting the winner of the finish contest.

The deer were mounted by Frank Storey, and Mr. Storey is authority for the statement that these are the only deer that he has ever known to be mounted in such a posture. Mr. Storey also adds that it is a very rare occurrence for deer to have their horns locked, though they often fight.

Each of the animals weighed a trifle over 300 pounds and they are two of the largest that have ever been brought to Duluth.

MISSION WORKER WILL SPEAK TO MEN

Rev. F. A. Plumb Will Address Audience—Other Lectures.

Rev. F. E. Plumb, who has been working in this city the last two or three years in the interests of the unemployed and the shiftless and down and out class of men, will speak at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

He has had some interesting and strange experiences with the men of the Duluth Gospel Mission on Lake avenue and he will tell of his experiences at the meeting tomorrow afternoon.

In December more than 7,000 free meals were given and he preached to an audience of 300 or 400 every day. Recently at one of the churches Mr. Plumb was able to take fourteen men of the mission to partake of communion service. Mr. Plumb has made the mission pay and do a noble work in spite of tremendous odds and difficulties which have arrayed themselves against him.

After the address lunch will be served and a general fellowship and acquaintance social will be conducted.

On Tuesday evening at the association the second of the series of historical lectures which were outlined for January and February will be given. Robert Loebeck, architect and a native of Germany and an ardent student of German history, will speak, giving his address to men and women in the assembly room at 8 o'clock entitled, "Germany, Past and Present."

On Wednesday evening the last of the series of addresses by Dr. J. W. Hoffman on "Ethics and Religion" will be given at the Y. M. C. A. at 7 o'clock. Thirty men have attended regularly each week, these lectures by this student of men and it is hoped a goodly number will hear the last lecture on "Religion and Economic Rewards." There is no charge for these lectures.

"RUSH ORDERS A PLEASURE" 112 WEST FIRST STREET,

HELPS SECURE "SPOTLESS TOWN"

Mrs. Mary Rex, Former Duluth Woman, Is Leading In Women's Crusade For Cleanliness In Grand Forks.

A story as to how the Woman's league of Grand Forks, N. D., cleaned up the city so that it is now called "The Model Spotless Town" is told in a recent magazine article. The work in this campaign done by a former Duluth woman, Mrs. Mary Scott Rex, who is president of the league, is also described. Mrs. Rex and her husband, who is a prominent attorney, lived in this city about fifteen years ago, and are remembered by a number of Duluthians. The article in part follows:

"The streets are as clean as a freshly swept kitchen floor. The groceries and food shops are as immaculate as a pantry. Everywhere there prevails the neatness and order that is characteristic of a well-kept house. That is Grand Forks, the model, spotless town. And it is that way because the eye of the Woman's Civic league is ever upon it. It is a little over five years ago that the league, of which Mrs. Scott Rex is president, was organized. They are a group of 200 energetic women who determined to set their city to rights. They formed a streets and alleys committee and a pure food committee and went out to see what could be done.

Clean-Up Crusade.

"A vigorous clean-up week crusade started the improvements. The city was districted, with a clubwoman superintending each ward to see that every back yard and front yard, too, was attended to. And at the final inspection when Mrs. Rex and a committee went through every street and alley of the city to see that it was in shape, Grand Forks was in fairly good order. But the women wanted it that way continuously. So they purchased and placed throughout the city fifty galvanized iron rubbish cans. Then they got two ordinances passed, one with a penalty of fine and imprisonment for throwing refuse in the street, and the other providing for the municipal collection of garbage.

Pure Food Work.

"North Dakota had a model pure food law, but the state inspector got around so seldom that there was opportunity for plenty of violations between his visits. Dr. May Sanders and her committee, who looked through the stores, found that food was being sold which was neither pure enough nor clean enough to meet housewifely standards. And they talked the situation over with Prof. Ladd, state pure food commissioner, asking him if a woman food inspector wouldn't be a good idea. Prof. Ladd promptly said that any woman food inspector was worth four men.

"So the league went to the city council and secured the ordinance empowering Grand Forks to create this office.

"With Mrs. Rex and the civic league behind her, Mrs. Sprague's almost every suggestion has become in effect a city ordinance. No food of any kind is allowed to be displayed outside of a store. Most of it displayed inside must be covered from flies and dust."

ARE WORTHY OF THE TRUST

Nine Out of Ten Paroled Prisoners "Make Good."

System Is Effective According to Report of Col. Resche.

Nine out of every ten prisoners placed on parole in district court during the last year proved themselves worthy of the trust reposed in them, according to the annual report of Col. F. E. Resche, probation officer for St. Louis county, which was made public yesterday afternoon.

On the other hand, the report shows that 11 per cent of the prisoners paroled by the district court either defaulted or otherwise broke their paroles. The percentage of failures for 1914, however, is less than for the two previous years.

Out of fifty-five cases handled through the probation office during the year two defaulted or left the court's jurisdiction and four others were brought before the court to have their paroles revoked and sentences executed. In 1913, sixty prisoners were on parole and seven failed to make good. Fifty-one were paroled in 1912 and eight fell down.

System Effective.

The effectiveness of the parole system in Duluth is increasing as is shown by the following table showing the number of cases handled during the past three years and the percentages of successful paroles and of failures:

MAY SELL CITY BONDS "OVER THE COUNTER"

If more money is needed to carry on the operation at the Point of Rocks, part of the $10,000 in municipal bonds recently authorized by the city council will be sold over the counter.

Mayor Prince is in favor of the plan to sell about $3,000 of the bonds over the counter at the city hall, so that the department of public works could use it as a revolving fund for the work on the rock pile. This money would be used in paying the laborers and then when the rock is sold, the money would be returned to the fund.

Mayor Prince said yesterday he will take the matter up with the city commission at the regular meeting next Monday afternoon. Commissioner Murchison, the mayor said, is also in favor of the plan.

RED LAKE COUNTY'S NEW OFFICERS IN.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The county board Tuesday perfected an organization by electing S. E. Hunt chairman. The board consists of two old members, S. E. Hunt and Herman Schultz, and two new members, Olaf Tande and Joseph Bergeron. The fifth member is still in doubt, as the contest between Delorme and Prenevost has been appealed to the supreme court.

The following county officials took the oath of office Tuesday: County auditor, George Dupont; treasurer, G. G. Kinseth; register of deeds, Frank Jeffers; clerk of court, E. G. Buse; county attorney, Charles E. Boughton; sheriff, Charles Fellman; superintendent of schools, Miss Lou Green.

"CAUGHT UP" IN VACATION

Many Delinquent Pupils at Central High Studied During Holidays.

On last Monday, after their annual two weeks' vacation, the students of Central high school returned to resume their studies and to enter upon the home stretch of the first semester, which closes on Jan. 29. During vacation many delinquent students were given a chance to recover lost ground in their studies, and many others took the opportunity to work on their contributions for The Zenith.

During the holidays there was a great exodus of teachers to all parts of the country, although there were few pupils who left the city. With their return Monday morning two of the teachers were found missing. Miss Wisner of the English department, resigned her position and will take up work as an instructor in a recently formed business school in Minneapolis. Her place is being filled by Mr. Rasey. The department formerly conducted by Miss Hill, is now under the supervision of Miss Morton.

With the approach of the semester examinations the "big grind" has set in. The students have but two more weeks in which to make their final preparations and most of the class work will be in the form of review.

Last year a new departure was instituted in regard to the semester examinations. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of the last week of each semester were devoted entirely to the examinations. School was closed on Tuesday of the last week and a special time was allotted to examinations in each subject. The precedent will be followed out again this year, the first "quiz" coming on Wednesday, Jan. 27. Others will be held on Thursday and Friday and the pupil must be in school only when he has an examination. The report cards for the month of January as well as the whole first semester will be given out on Friday, Jan. 29, and on Monday, Feb. 1, the second term will be formally opened.

Wednesday, Jan. 27: 1:30 to 3:15 p. m., English.

Thursday, Jan. 28: 8:30 to 10:15 a. m., mathematics; 10:15 to 12 a. m., French, Swedish, Norwegian and biology; 12:30 to 2:15 p. m., history; 2:15 to 4 p. m., German, cooking and commercial arithmetic.

Friday, Jan. 29: 8:30 to 10:15 a. m., Latin; 10:15 to 12 a. m., chemistry, physics and art; 12:30 to 2:15 p. m., physiography and history of commerce; 2:15 to 4 p. m., agriculture and commercial geography.

There will, of course, be several conflicts, but these will be taken care of by Mr. Young.

The Lambs Dramatic club of the Duluth Central high school was perfected at a meeting of those interested in the new project, Thursday afternoon. The organization of the club yesterday marked the culmination of the work started by Harry Haines several weeks ago to obtain such a society for the studying of the drama and the production of plays. In all probability it will be one of the most popular, as well as successful, of the new clubs and societies formed at school this year. The meetings will be held bi-weekly, every other Friday, and it is planned to present several plays during the year.

Harry Haines, the principal booster of the idea, was unanimously chosen President; Jacob Garon was selected as vice president; Donald Alexander was elected to the position of secretary-treasurer, and Irving Grover, editor-in-chief of the Gazette, was given the position of publicity agent.

E. C. Rasey, the new member of the English department, has volunteered to give his assistance to the students in the promoting of the work. A. F. M. Custance suggested the name "Lambs Dramatic Club," although several others were submitted. Membership in the club is not open to every boy in the school; in fact, it will probably be limited to not more than twenty-five or thirty. Those who wish to join therefore, should do so very early or they will probably not be able to get in.

Within another month all of the classes will have their class pins. The freshmen have decided on a pin and they will send in their order very soon. Because of the fact that their pin proved so popular last year the sophomores will retain the one that they adopted in their freshman year and will soon submit their second order. The juniors were disatisfied with the pin that they selected two years ago and have decided on a new one. They sent in an order before Christmas and expect them to arrive any time now. After keeping the pin that they chose in their freshman year for three years the seniors finally decided to change it. At one of their class meetings before Christmas the seniors were shown a pin that the pin committee had chosen. The class chose the one that was shown them before Christmas and this is the one that will be used on the covers of the pictures that are being taken for the Zenith. The senior class pin order will be sent in very soon.

Work on the Zenith is occupying much of the time of many of the students. The material will soon be collected and the printing of the annual will be begun. At a meeting of the board on Tuesday the final selection of a cover was made. Each member of the board was given fourteen names of seniors to write about in connection with their pictures. Harold Coe, editor-in-chief, urged that all those who expect to contribute should have their work almost finished now because the time will soon be up. Everyone who can possibly do anything in either drawing or writing is especially requested to do so as the success of the book depends upon the students.

During the Christmas holidays the members of the senior class had their pictures taken and most of them have received their proofs by this time. Those who have not as yet had their pictures taken are asked to have them done in the very near future as they will soon have to be collected.

The members of the Zenith board intend to have their pleasure as well as their work. To this they have decided to have a sleigh ride or a cabin party in the near future.

The manual and training and mechanical boys of the school have watched with envious interest the success met with by the agricultural, mathematical, literary, dramatic and other clubs that have formed and as a result they have practically decided to form a mechanics club to be composed probably of boys in the manual training departments. This would undoubtedly prove exceptionally popular with the mechanically inclined boys and would be a means of acquiring more and better knowledge along these lines.

Now that the "open" dance is over, the attention of the dance committee of the several classes will be directed towards the closed parties. At these affairs only the members of the class are invited. They generally prove very popular and a large attendance is common.

The Agricultural club held its regular meeting Tuesday in the physics recitation room. Jacob Garon, business manager of the Gazette, gave a report of the condition of the paper. Prof. E. P. Gibson gave an interesting talk.

One of the most popular departments of the agricultural work is the creamery department. It is a scene of busy workers from morning until night and the boys seem to enjoy it very much. They not only make butter for their own use but they also make considerable to sell. Besides proving extremely popular the work is very useful. The creamery room is equipped with the best obtainable at the price. The churn is of the best make and will produce about twenty pounds of butter to the churning. It is run by hand power although an electric motor could be attached. It is the plan to have the boys do as much by their own hand power as possible, and very little expensive and complicated machinery will be used—at least for a while. Many Duluth people are being supplied with butter from the creamery and find that it is very good. When a churning of twenty pounds was completed yesterday the total amount of butter made at the creamery was 385 pounds.

One of the most interesting addresses that has been given before the student body this year was heard during the chapel period yesterday. The speaker was William Mather Lewis, field secretary of the United States Navy league. Mr. Lewis was at one time principal of Lake Forest academy following C. A. Smith, former principal of Central high school.

His subject, "Mobilizing Life's Forces" was extremely well handled and kept the interest of the students throughout. His especially good use of examples and illustrations to help make his points clearer were excellent.

ARTISTIC LITTLE HOME FOR $3500.00

The little plan that we present to our Herald readers this week is, without question, the best arrangement that can be secured for a home of large appearance on a small scale. The central entrance will be found in many of our most costly homes and separates the main rooms in a very attractive manner. The first floor is finished in Washington fir and the second floor in white pine, white enameled. The building would cost to erect in the city of Duluth about $3,500

MR. HARMON,
—TINSMITH—

Any work in the line of roofing cornice, chimney tops, ventilation, sheet metal work, furnaces, etc., can safely be entrusted to Joseph Harmon, whose place of business is situated at the Corner of Lake avenue and Second street. Mr. Harmon has been doing that kind of work for fifty-two years, having been in business in Duluth for over thirty years. During that time he has done some very large and extensive jobs, and he believes that his work is his best recommendation.

Mr. Harmon has some new and useful articles of his own invention that he intends to place before the public in a short time through the advertising columns of The Herald's Home Beautiful page. In next Saturday's issue he will advertise a chimney top that is entirely his own invention. Among other articles of his own invention that he will advertise later are heat regulators, automatic, adjustable and sanitary warm air registers, water fountains, and others. He claims that all these are entirely new and that every article will be first class, useful and up to date in every respect.

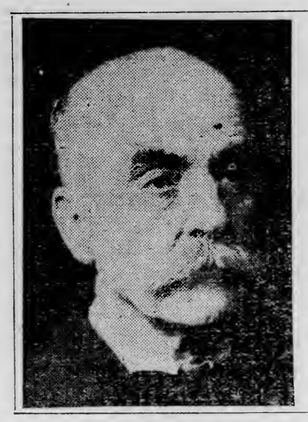

Mr. Harmon guarantees you a good clean job in everything he is entrusted to do. In addition to the different varieties of work herein mentioned, he can heat churches, schools and large public buildings by the fan system. You can also find him by calling at his shop or telephoning Grand 343-X.

SPENT $1,106,778 ON ROAD WORK

County Spent Half of Sum and Town Boards the Remainder.

In St. Louis county last year, $1,106,778.55 was spent on roads according to figures which E. K. Coe, county road engineer, has prepared for the state highway commision. About half of this amount $545,000 was raised and expended by the county government. The remainder was made up from individual levies made by the several townships and the county's share of the state road apportionment.

The largest piece of work for the year was the Duluth-St. Vincent road, otherwise designated as State Rural Highway No. 4. It is 32 miles long and extends from the Miller Trunk road to the Aitkin county line. It will when completed represent a cost of $150,000. The work accomplished in 1914 cost about $95,000.

The report shows that ninety miles of turnpike road was constructed at an average cost of $1,300 per mile and that about fifty miles of road was surfaced with gravel. Five steel bridges were built at costs ranging from $1,098 to $8,368. Three reinforced concrete bridges costing from $1,690 to $4,296, were also constructed. Timber bridges were also constructed.

About 2,500 people settle on lands in St. Louis county each year, the engineer says in his report, and owing to the badly scattered settlements it is necessary to increase the road mileage continually.

St. Louis county has levied $500,000 for roads this year.

PERFECT BEAUTY
The fashion of the present day requires that the complexion of the well-groomed woman shall be clear and of snowy whiteness. The regular use of GOURAUD'S ORIENTAL CREAM
will bestow the charms that are so admired. Gouraud's Oriental Cream is a liquid powder, far surpassing the dry powders that have to be applied so frequently to gain the desired effect. It whitens, softens and clears the skin. It is absolutely free from grease and consequently does not encourage the growth of hair.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Have, At Least, Two Pairs of Shoes.

I have experienced that special brand of uneasiness that accompanies having your feet too closely inspected, and I must say that I am usually courteous in this respect. But recently my attention was attracted to the very positive fact that men are much better shod than women. Their shoes are kept in better condition and they are polished. Observing the occupants of a street car, the women's shoes lacked polish, were down in the heels and in many cases old and shapeless.

To me, it seems that a great many women take delight in wearing their oldest shoes, for you certainly see them wearing the most dilapidated footwear on the streets. Even when a woman's garments and millinery are new and fashionable her shoes give evidence that she considers them of small importance, or to be just, that she had slipped her feet into an old pair for the day. Men, on the other hand, if their clothes were worn and shabby, have the foresight to polish their shoes, and the effect upon smartening and upholding the rest of their appearance is remarkable.

Women wear shoes that spoil their entire appearance, and it is strange that they cannot be induced to spend more thought upon their feet than they do. It is not unusual for a man in very ordinary circumstances to be the proud possessor of two or more pairs of shoes and to have trees on which to place them when they are not being worn. But shoe dealers tell me that women as a whole cling to one pair of shoes until they are worn out, wearing them day after day without intermission. This is hard on the shoe and harder still on the foot.

Two pairs of shoes worn on alternate days or a few days at a time will last twice as long as two pairs worn steadily from the moment they are purchased until they give up the ghost. A great foot specialist told me not long ago that people in moderate circumstances ought to have three pairs of shoes to relieve the feet and the footwear as well.

The girl who feels that she cannot afford to have two pairs of shoes wants to disabuse herself of that idea. If she will buy a second pair before the others wear out she may, by having the old ones repaired, achieve this very important ownership, and by wearing the old ones on occasions, give the new shoes a rest and make opportunity to give them needed attention.

DULUTH CONCERT ORCHESTRA WILL MAKE ITS FIRST APPEARANCE

The Duluth Concert orchestra will make its first appearance tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock in the auditorium of the Central high school. All the members of the orchestra are professional musicians and a finished performance is expected.

The soloist of the afternoon will be Miss Senta Erd, who studied in Munich three years, was a pupil of the famous opera singer, Blanca Blanchi, and who is especially suited for roles in Wagner operas. Miss Erd's selection tomorrow will be "Dich Theure Halle," from "Tannhauser" that called forth the warmest praise when she sang it in Minneapolis last season.

Perhaps one of the most appreciative audiences Miss Erd ever had was one at an impromptu concert she gave in Switzerland.

During a summer's travel in that country Miss Erd stopped at a village on her way to Neuchatel. While walking down what represented the main street of the town she saw an old church of quaint architecture. Seeing no one in the church she ascended the creaky little winding stair to the organ loft that was dark and deserted except for a young boy arranging hymn books. Miss Erd asked him to tread the bells for her. He consented, provided she would take the blame for using the organ.

After an enjoyable half-hour singing and playing on the old organ the enterprising tourist glanced down at what had been empty pews. They were empty no longer but were filled with the folk of the village who gathered around the singer when she came from the organ loft and, with many courtesies and thanks, begged to go to the town hall to meet the mayor.

MISS SENTA ERD.

When Miss Erd left the village those who had enjoyed her impromptu concert brought many flowers from their gardens to show their appreciation for the pleasure she had given them.

Mrs. Charles Horr Reads Paper on Dramatist Before Study Club.

At the meeting of the Duluth Drama Study club held Thursday, at which the reading of Percy MacKaye's "Tomorrow" was completed, Mrs. Charles Horr read a paper on the author, giving a brief account of his work and describing the means advocated and employed by him for the betterment of the people at large. Mrs. Horr said in part:

"Percy MacKaye has been called the Icarus of the American drama because he always soars toward the sun. He always inspires hope. The hope may not be justified in the end, but at least his purpose is fine, his idealism authentic. He is a student and he endeavors to assimilate in his drama all things human.

"How shall the humanities that are the humanizing influences of poetry be made to get into the modern drama? Poetry itself comes out of the heart of humanity through the imaginations of men. And although today in this country we seem in some respects to have the weakest playwriting of any age, a vast waste of words without much purpose or beauty or permanence, still here and there a man with truth in his heart appears among us and the vital word is spoken by the dramatist.

"'It is only through the drama,' Mr. MacKaye tells us, 'that reform can be made spectacular enough to interest the nervous, restless people of today.' People living in such a crowded civilization as ours will not listen to any man's message which does not either amuse or thrill them.

Dramatize Reform.

"He believes there is just one way to overcome 'the ethical stupor characteristic of moral civilization' and that is to dramatize reform movements, to reach the people through pictures instead of merely words, to infuse life into every effort, to better the country, to make good national issues as much alive as bad ones, and by reaching the people's emotions to stir their sympathies toward public welfare. By dramatizing reforms he believes you will benefit the people, the reform movement and the theater. He contends that the saving of the forests, the preservation of the birds, the improvement of our cities can all be made dramatic and spectacular, that we can infuse romance into progress and capture beauty for our national regeneration instead of permitting it to be linked, as is so often the case, with vice and indecency.

"Every city, he contends, should have a dramatic engineer, a man in the service of the government to whom the leader of a reform movement should turn for advice in order to present his convictions to the public in a fascinating and thrilling fashion.

"How soon shall we have the civic theater with the dramatic engineer? How soon shall we go to the theater to discuss what the world is accomplishing? When shall we grow to depend upon dramatic art for the closest intimacy between poetry and science, imagination and reform, beauty and progress? In what form shall we expect to find this combination of reform and theatrical entertainment?

"It seems to me that it means a return to pageantry, or rather a developed and reconstructed expression of that art. How does such an art concern the American people at large? How does it concern the people of Duluth? As you well know, Duluth has an immediate interest in this art, especially in connection with Percy MacKaye, for he is to be the dramatic engineer for the pageant which is to be presented here this summer. Pageantry is poetry for the masses. Parades, processions, brigades of firemen, the May queen rituals of children, the marching of regiments, these make the same elemental appeal to every man in the street, as to every woman who throws open her shutters to look and to listen, and as long as the music lasts and the uniforms still glitter, something of the meaning and mystery of life has been revealed.'

"Scherzo" .....Brodine

Organized in 1903.

The quartet was organized in 1903 by E. J. Coppet of New York, who named it after his Swiss villa, "Flonzaley," on Lake Geneva. The instruments used are a Stradivarius, two Guadagninis and a Testori.

"It would require an overcultured, hypercritical being, indeed, to pick flaws in the Flonzaleys' well-nigh perfect work. We are told that for nine years none of them bothered himself with giving a single lesson, played in an orchestra or a solo. They have devoted themselves as individuals to making a perfect quartet and as a quartet to the development of their individual technic, to the end that all four play like one, and that one a composite of all four."

The two Third street entrances of the Methodist church will be used the evening of the Flonzaley concert, as at the Gluck recital.

MEMBERS OF DRAMA CLASS HEAR SHAKESPEARIAN PROGRAM

Members of the Twentieth Century club attended the Shakespeare program of the drama class of the club given last evening in the library clubroom. Rev. J. W. Hoffman gave an excellent talk on "Shakespeare from the Modern Viewpoint," and Mrs. George W. Morgan gave delightful readings from Shakespeare, including several sonnets, the balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet" and the opening scenes of "King Lear."

Dr. Hoffman said in part:

"If we discern aright the modern situation; in science the evolutionary idea its dominant, in religion extraneous authority is discredited, in society the ideals of social democracy are organizing into concrete forms. Neither an infallible book nor an infallible church satisfies the mind of today. The scientific temper has invaded the whole realm of life and well it should. Ere we build our new world we must have a broad study of all the facts. Our danger lies in regarding the scientific spirit as final. It is not. The constructive power of man lies not in his intellect, but in his imagination. The final stage of our new order must therefore be artistic rather than analytic. In Shakespeare the artist is always fertile and active. He sees, he feels, every phase of human experience touches him and evokes a response clothed, not in the garb of the logician, but of the poet His dramatic creations cover such a vast area of human experience, they are so varied in motive, so complex in attitude, so rich in feeling, so universal in type, so inimitable in portrayal.

Antidote to Atheism.

"Our aim is to discover his message for current life and appreciate the relative value of what he brings to us. As a dramatic corrective for our modern aestheticism devoid of rich moral content, Shakespeare is excelled by none. He is a fine rebuke to our modern humanism so lacking in moral clarity. For the atheism of our day, cultivated and selfish, the Bard of Avon is a splendid antidote. His keen passion for moral worth, his unfaltering confidence in the final triumph of justice and of generosity sustain one in the tasks of life.

"Bernard Shaw informs us that the experiment of wickedness is precisely the same as trying how good you can be. If he is joking, his humor is grim and vicious. If not he has failed to real life. Goneril, Regan, Lady Macbeth and others tried the experiment of wickedness and it wrecked them. Isabelle, Portia in the "Merchant of Venice," Perdita, Helena and others experimented in goodness and they saved the situation. It is rather remarkable that every villain of the dramatist, possibly save Falstaff, is hounded by a fearful something which makes them cringe, shiver, draw back in horror. This inward protest hath a thousand several tongues." Its voice breaks in the midnight sleep of Richard III. It shrouds in horror the death bed of Cardinal Beaufort. It is conscience seeking to restrain from badness and to direct to goodness. It is refreshing to lay down the flabby, vague, hysterical morality of our modern humanist, and take a turn back among the eternally clear, sharp, keen discriminations of this poet of the seventeenth century."

Your Money Back

A famous retail store has the slogan, "Your money back if you want it." That could be used equally well by this bank. While most of our savings depositors do not withdraw funds unless it is absolutely necessary, it is a satisfaction to them to know that they can get their money back quickly when they want it, which cannot be done in the case of most investments.

In another sense you get your money back as a savings depositor here through the working of compound interest, which in a comparatively few years will double any sum left on deposit undisturbed.

EDISON MAZDA LAMPS

These new MAZDAS are the most powerful incandescent lamps in the world. They are about twice as efficient as the smaller MAZDAS in common use, and are especially adapted to lighting large areas because of the tremendous amount of light given by one lamp. The color of light is also a decided improvement over that given by any other form of incandescent lamp.

Besides the 1,000 watt size, these gas-filled lamps are also made in smaller sizes giving over 500, 700 and 1,200 candle-power each.

Let our lighting experts explain to you how easily and profitably you can install the big, new, high-efficiency EDISON MAZDA Lamps.

CADET CORPS FIGHT AT HIGH SCHOOL CONTINUES

Advocate of Movement Says It Would Engender Patriotism.

(By Irving Grover.)

About two months ago agitation was started by the Central High School Agricultural club for the establishment of military drill for high school boys. The principal was consulted, who expressed himself as favoring the proposition, which led to an editorial in The Gazette, the bi-weekly high school paper, advocating some action in this direction. The idea was favorably received among the boys, but because of lack of leadership nothing was done until C. C. Jones, second lieutenant of Aad patrol, A. A. O. N. M. S., volunteered to drill a boys' company, provided those students backing the idea secure an enlistment of 100.

Great Enthusiasm Apparent.

Great enthusiasm was apparent among a number of the boys, in fact almost every one consulted favored the new movement; but as is always the case, opposition was met—strenuous opposition. Many minor details were brought up by those opposing military drill, but the fundamental argument was the highly illogical theory that such a move would tend to develop a spirit of militarism, which we all agree would be an unfavorable result.

Militarism Not the Aim.

Before answering this objection, let me impress the fact that our aim is not military—we are not organizing an auxiliary to our national defense. Our sole aim and purpose is the peculiar development of mind and physique which is acquired through no other means. The ability to give commands as well as properly execute them, the habit of sitting, standing and walking correctly, the training of a body to act as a unit, and finally the development of character and self-reliance are the physical, individual benefits which we think come most naturally through military training.

"Now the objection: it will develop a spirit of militarism. How do you know this? Psychologists disagree on the point with a preponderance of weight in favor of the negative. Nearly everyone will admit that the pugnacious characteristics of a nation depend infinitely more on the moral character, education and racial, religious, social and political prejudices of its people than on its physical fitness for war.

"'History proves that militarism causes war,' you say; but does it? This statement has grown to be a platitude, spoken by lightly thinking people at every opportunity. In the earliest times of which we have undisputable records, we find peaceful Athens the only solid barrier against the armed Persian hordes, while militaristic Sparta was too deeply interested in her petty Olympian games to lend the much-needed assistance. From Augustus to Charlemagne we read of hundreds of uprisings, revolts and conquests by people unorganized and entirely unfit for war, and the pity of it all is the causes. Sometimes oppression, but more often greed, hate and vengeance. True it is that many unholy conquests were made by armies splendid for discipline, but as a rule, law, order and justice owned their existence to the sword.

Results of Militarism.

"Does military organization cause a military spirit? If it does, this must mean that without the organization, there will not be the spirit; but is this so? Let us look to ourselves. We call ourselves a peaceful nation; but we deserve the name only in one sense of the word. We are peaceful only in so far as we do not seek war with imperialism as our object; but do you realize that during the short 139 years of our national existence we have met world powers on the battlefields of six wars, a record any nation could be proud (or ashamed) of; and we are not a militaristic people.

Opponents of our plan submit military training as the primary cause of the present war; but this is only an opinion, nobody actually knows the cause of the present war. We who advocate the plan are of the opinion that militarism had little to do with it. The United States does not follow a militaristic policy, but allow an English or German warship to fire unon our flag and our unprepared condition will not affect our action. No country was so unprepared as we in 1898; that did not prevent the Spanish-American war; and what is more it was aggressive so far as the United States was concerned.

National Patriotism.

People may talk Socialism and universality—everyone has the right of free speech—but slurs on the idea of national defense come with poor grace from those are born into the world with liberty as an inheritance. Our aim is not military, but the objection that it savors of something bordering on national patriotism is rarely uttered by people who are themselves an asset to the country.

Besides attaining our poise, military drill, in this instance at least, would aid the development of a patriotic school spirit, so much needed in Central high. Every Memorial day a patriotic parade is held and the showing always made by the students is a disgrace to the city and to the school. A great number have not had the moral courage to march, and those who have, have straggled carelessly, with little thought of the demonstration's import. We think military drill in the high school would remedy this.

Non-Militarist Leader Declares Drill Would Be a Menace.

(By Jacob Garon.)

If you have any recollection of the time when you were only a kid, you cannot help remember the wild joy you felt when you received your cowboy or Indian suit, the intense pleasure you experienced when you got an air-rifle or even so lowly a thing as a pop-gun, and the supreme happiness at the prospect of ever being a real soldier, with a gun, a uniform, and bright, shiny buttons. If you remember those things, you can readily understand why it is that the greater part of the student body at the Central high school has gone crazy over military drill.

An Essential Difference.

But there is one essential difference between an Indian or cowboy suit worn at the age of 7 and the military suit and gun carried by the high school boy. The former was perfectly harmless—only a means of stimulating the growth of the faculty of imagination, which at that age begins its development in the child. The latter is highly dangerous—fully as dangerous as the excessive spirit of ultra-militarism which pervaded the combustible atmosphere of Europe immediately preceding the war.

The dangers of militarism are too well known to require reiteration. If a man goes around carrying a revolver in his hip pocket, a musket on his shoulder, a sword by his side and a few other instruments of unpleasantness concealed about his person, that man is much more likely to get into a fight than his neighbor who assumes a less aggressive, more reasonable mien. War in Europe would not have been so easily brought about had all the nations possessed a little less of the I-can-lick-you spirit.

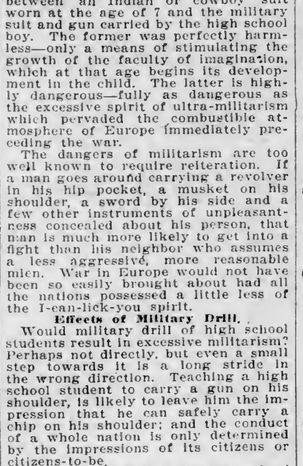

Effects of Military Drill.

Would military drill of high school students result in excessive militarism? Perhaps not directly, but even a small step towards it is a long stride in the wrong direction. Teaching a high school student to carry a gun on his shoulder, is likely to leave him the impression that he can safely carry a chip on his shoulder; and the conduct of a whole nation is only determined by the impressions of its citizens or citizens-to-be.

Will military drill in the high school develop the student's patriotic spirit? The answer is emphatically "No." Patriotism is not something dressed in a soldier's suit, carrying a gun. The man who takes every possible occasion to inform people of his patriotism is the man who is quickest to sneer at the uniform of a soldier. The most prominent student advocates of military drill were not in evidence among the ranks of those high school students who marched on Memorial day. Contrarywise, some of those opposed to military drill had sufficient respect for the old soldiers of the nation to put in their appearance on that occasion.

Source of Patriotism.

the authorities in charge of the high school extend the study of United States history and civics, and make them regular requirements of every course. Let the students be taught what the United States really means to them by being taught the splendid history of this country and its institutions. Is this not really the business of the high school and its teachers?

But when the idea of military drill was first brought out by the high school's bi-weekly paper, the Gazette, the editor of the paper said what was wanted was not military drill with a view of developing a spirit of militarism, nor with the object of strengthening our national defense? Evidently then, the editor recognized the danger attendant to military drill. What then are the objects of military drill in the high school if not those of militarism? Its advocates give the as follows: "Military drill would provide athletic training for every high school boy; it would cultivate both the ability to give and to execute commands; it would develop co-operation of action as well as of thought." If these are the only benefits which the backers of the scheme seek to derive from it, then military drill in the high school is superfluous, because there is at present the very means for securing these admittedly desirable conditions without resorting to the dangerous medium of military drill.

Results of Gym Work.

"Twice a week, during the last three study periods of the day, gymnasium classes are held in the school, open to any student who wishes to enter. The gymnasium work, though allied to athletics, varies from the usual school athletics such as football and basket ball in that its character is such that it may be participated in by every student of the school whether athletically constituteed or not. This gymnasium work is a slightly advanced form of the calisthenics which is taught in the grade schools. According to physical director of Duluth schools, M. E. Alletzhaeuser, callthenics and other gymnasium work is fully as much, if not more than military drill, capable of securing "athletic training for the high school student, ability to give and to execute commands, and co-operation of action as well as of thought." Mr. Alletzhaeuser states that the manual of arms which is used in gun drill is only an adaptation of the ordinary calisthenics exercises.

Like the Brass Buttons.

"It is true, indeed, that only a few of the high school students have taken this gymnasium work, but the reason is primarily because there is no dazzling brightness of brass buttons connected with the affair, and because the gymnasium drill is conducted only part of the time, the rest being devoted to basket ball and other games. But let the number of periods devoted to gymnasium work be increased, let the work be made compulsory to every boy in the school, and any results that are expected to come from military drill, will be obtained in a fuller measure from one of the courses already on the high school curriculum.

The number of students who are enthusiastic over military drill is said to be great. It would diminish in an astonishing manner if brooms or mop sticks were to be substituted for the promised guns.

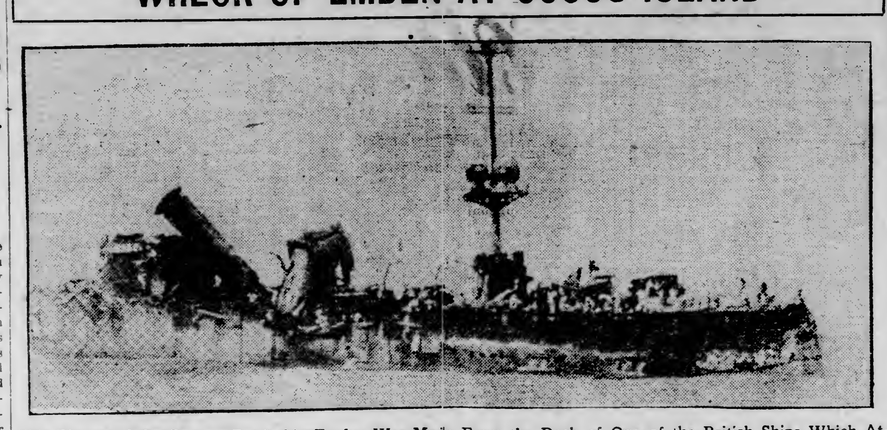

Drill Is Dangerous.

In a word, military drill in the Central high school is unnecessary and dangerous. The spirit of militarism and gun play is not one to fe fostered in our high school; and the authorities should take time for grave consideration before setting an example of such a character for the high schools of the United States.

WHY HAIR FALLS OUT

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub well into the scalp. After a few applications all dandruff disappears and the hair stops coming out.

TEST CASE IS BEING HEARD

Will Decide Powers of County Boards Under Elwell Law.

Case Will Be Appealed to the State Supreme Court.

Whether or not counties are invested by law which authority to issue, without a special election, bonds to finance the construction of state rural highways built under the Elwell law is a question which has been put up to the courts for a decision. The question has been a subject in dispute since the passage of the Elwell law in 1911. This afternoon, it was put up to Judge Fesler of the district court. For his opinion. No matter which way he decides an appeal will be taken to the court of last resort in order to clear up the legal controversy and establish the rights of county boards in the matter.

The question arises in an injunctional suit brought by E. H. Alexander as a taxpayer against the St. Louis county board and involves a question of the validity of bonds issued by the county under the Elwell law to finance the construction of State Rural Highway No. 4, otherwise known as the Duluth-St. Paul road, which is now under way and will be completed next summer at a cost of about $150,000.

At a meeting of the county board some time ago, the commissioners authorized the issuance of $150,000 worth of State Rural Highway No. 4 bonds, and made application to the state investment board for a loan on the bonds. The state investment board, for the lack of funds, had not been loaning money on state highway construction work and turned down the application.

Legal Points Raised.

In several counties of the state, state rural highways have been authorized but the sale of bonds has been delayed by reason of questions of law raised by attorneys for Eastern bond companies. At the present time about a dozen or more counties desire to sell their bonds but are unable to do so until the supreme court has passed on the legal points raised by the attorneys for the eastern bond houses.

The county board of St. Louis county was preparing to make a sale of its bonds, when this action was brought by Mr. Alexander to restrain the sale. In his complaint, his attorney, John H. Brigham, raises the various legal objections which have proved to be stumbling blocks and it is now sought to obtain from the district court a construction of the statute on these points of law. The suit is in the nature of a test case for that purpose.

The matter came on for argument this afternoon before Judge Dancer, Attorney Brigham appearing on behalf of Mr. Alexander and Charles E. Adams, special county counsel, representing the county board. The case was submitted to the court.

Should the courts sustain the contention of the plaintiff, it may be necessary to secure legislation clearing up the legal difficulties which stand in the way of financing the Elwell road work throughout the state.

In the northern half of the state, many state rural highway proceedings have been started and in some cases the work has nearly been completed. In the southern part of the state, many counties are opposed to the Elwell law and a bill has already been introduced in the lower house of the legislature seeking its repeal. The attempt to repeal the law will meet with strenuous opposition from the Northern Minnesota delegation, according to Mr. Adams, who is senator from the Fifty-seventh district.

WOULD PATCH UP TROUBLE

Webb Says He Will Suspend Haas of Houghton Team.

Orders the Portage Lake Players to Play Second Game.

C. E. Webb, president of the American Hockey association, is making a strenuous and determined effort to keep Duluth in the Western division of the league and patch up the trouble between the Duluth and Portage Lake teams.

Over the long distance telephone from Houghton, late today, Mr. Webb informed The Herald that he was going to suspend player Haas, but that he had ordered the members of the Portage Lake team to be at the rink this evening, prepared to play the second game of the series.

Mr. Webb was in communication with President Stephen H. Jones of the curling club today and earnestly requested him not to irrevocably declare Duluth out of the Western division before further arbitration of the controversy.

"The league deplores this trouble just as deeply as the officials of the Duluth Curling club," said President Webb. "If there is any jurisdiction lodged in my office I shall see that Manager Croze of the Portage Lake team is deprived of his office. I consider that he failed to act wisely or fairly.

"Understand that the league should hold together, despite the unfortunate occurrence of last evening. The league should be bigger than its players. Such unfortunate occurrences sometimes take place in baseball, and yet the league or organization of baseball does not crumble away. I am not condonling any offense in the least; pending an investigation naturally I must withhold judgment. But an investigation there shall be, and a most thorough one. We want the assistance of the officials of the Duluth Curling club in this matter, and also want them to believe the league is heart and soul with them in the effort to protect the game at all times."

BLEASE GIVES FULL PARDONS TO 1,500

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 9.—Full pardons to about 1,500 persons convicted in South Carolina of various crimes and paroled since Jan. 1, 1911, were granted today by Gov. Blease.

In addition to that number, who were included in a blanket pardon and none of whom is now in the penitentiary or in prison camps, the governor also granted clemency to thirty-four in state prison or engaged on public woks. Eighteen were pardoned, ten paroled and six were granted commutations of sentence; seven had been convicted of murder and ten of manslaughter.

The governor had prepared a special decree granting full pardons to those paroled since January, 1911, and with one sweep of his pen, he restored citizenship to approximately 1,500 men and women, who collectively had been found guilty of violating virtually every law of the state.

Governor Blease signed the blanket pardon in red ink. He accepted as correct the estimate of his office attaches that his action today would increase to 3,165 the total number of pardons, paroles and commutations of sentence which he has granted since he became governor four years ago.

According to information obtainable here, Governor Blease's record for granting pardons exceeds that of any state executive.

He will retire from office on Jan. 19.

PREVENTIVE DENTISTRY.

A. M. Nodine, D. D. S., in Woman's World: The world-old adage, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," finds to more forceful application than in the new dentistry of the twentieth century.

Isn't the question frequently in the minds of thoughtful people, "How can I keep my teeth sound until I need them no more?" "Keep them clean and prevent them from decaying," is the answer the new twentieth century dentistry gives. The teeth are in greatest danger, scientific dentists have discovered, before the age of twenty.

The teeth of the average young man or young woman of 20 to 25 years, if examined by a modern dentist, would be charted as follows: First, large cavities in the grinders or molar teeth in both the upper and lower jaws; second, cavities in one or two bicuspids (the teeth in front of the large grinders) in the upper jaw; third, the nerves or pulps destroyed by decay in two or three of the molars or bicuspids; fourth, cavities in one or two or three front teeth; fifth, tartar and seams on all teeth.

Lyceum

The second week of the winter and spring engagement of the Baldwin Players at the Lyceum will open Sunday afternoon.

"Our Wives" is the play chosen for next week. It is a comedy by Ludwig Fulda, and a musical version of it is now being played at the Lyric theater in New York. The Baldwin Players will give the straight dramatic version of the play. It is seldom that a current New York success can be seen at popular prices. Usually successful plays are not released to stock companies until after the New York engagement is completed, but Duluth will see "Our Wives" at the same time that New York is enjoying it.

Two new members of the company will make their debut Sunday. They are Miss Margaret Lotus and Miss Fay Baker, the new "second woman" and the new ingenue, respectively.

The story of the play in brief follows:

There were four young men who solemnly pledged each other while at college that they would all come together with their wives when they married, and be closer friends than they had been before. Three of the chums married. The fourth was opposed to matrimony. He couldn't see it from any standpoint, and he took the vow to remain a bachelor forever and ever. He hated women so much that when he found a young woman of genius with whom he decided to form a business partnership in the writing of a libretto, he stipulated with her that each was to regard the other as sexless. The two were to be only parts of a machine that was to grind out plays and best sellers, and the like. The girl was to be known simply as "Wilson," probably because that was to be about all for her as far as femininity was concerned.

The three chums who had married desired that their long anticipated reunion should take place, at the apartments of the one remaining bachelor. Accordingly all meet there with their wives, and each one finds an opportunity to talk with the bachelor about "the dearest little girl in all the world," telling him "My wife's the kind that's a pal," and "She's crazy about you fellows and you will all find that she'll help us to be better friends than ever."

The bachelor has arranged an elaborate dinner, but before the time arrives for the guests to sit down, Wife No. 1 says to Wife No. 2 that Wife No. 3 has pretty hair, but of course it ought to be pretty, for hair dye is so cheap. Wife No. 2 makes Wife No. 3 promise not to tell a living soul and then informs her what Wife No. 1 has said. Wife No. 3 is thrown into a furious rage and insists on her husband making Wife No. 1 apologize. Wife No. 1 insists that she has been insulted when her husband gently speaks to her about the matter, and goes into hysterics.

The husbands try their best to make things up, but each wife declines to admit herself at all in the wrong and stands pat for an abject apology. They depart one by one and the three husbands are left each declaring that his wife was right and that an apology or a duel must take place at once.

The bachelor comes in and manages to get his chums away before they shed each other's blood and the incident makes him enthusiastically renew his vows against matrimony and he goes back to the writings of libretos with Wilson. Of course, Wilson spoils things by revealing that she has a first name, Emily. The bachelor says "Emily" over to himself a few times and then looks his co-author over with new eyes, and then discovers that she is a woman and that he loves her. That's all there is to the play, but it is so full of bright dialogue and brisk action and clever situations that the story of it does not do "Our Wives" justice.

Ludwig Fulda, who is the author of the German original of "Our Wives," made a tour of America some five years ago and said then that he believed the difference between the German and American schools was the lack of emphasis laid on character in the latter. Herr Fulda believes that the essential of humor is character development and depends on it rather than on situations for his humor.

"A Pair of Sixes" will be presented at the Lyceum theater Jan. 18 and 19 by H. H. Frazee. Edward Peple, the author of this most successful farce comedy, which has endured Broadway for an entire year of full houses, must have himself been "a tired business man" of great many times, for he was an expert accountant before taking up playwriting and it was likely for that reason that he wrote "A Pair of Sixes," which vibrates with just the clever satire and witty lines that would serve to jolt the poor and much-abused "tired business man" out of his long-continued and bad for the soul introspection. The story of the two quarreling partners is very likely duplicated in the every-day life of some firm in every city of any size and how ludicrous these constant bickerings really are and of how little importance one's personal advantage is when compared to the success of a great and growing business is so thoroughly and convincingly worked out that the comedy not only furnishes laughs quite different but teaches a lesson as well.

An entirely capable cast well known to Duluth people presents the comedy and is headed by Harry O. Stubbs, an English comedian, last seen in this country with Wilton Lackaye in "The Stranger" and at the Thirty-ninth Street theater, New York city, in "Too Many Cooks." Rita Carlyle plays opposite him in the part of "Coddles," and effectively demonstrates her ability as a character comedy artist. Miss Carlyle was starred for two years in "The Chorus Lady" in England, and was the original "Miss Hazy" in "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" at the Adelphi theater, London.

Orpheum

Comedy, novelty, music and art, everything that goes to make a real high-class vaudeville, will be represented on the coming week's program at the Orpheum.

The Six American Dancers, who have for six years been vaudeville's foremost dancing act, and are this year surpassing even their own former high standard, and are everywhere proving one of the biggest hits of vaudeville headliners, are to head the list of features. The act includes the famous Lovenberg sisters, Estelle and Adelaide, a pair of dancers that are seldom equaled; Evelyn Ramsay, William Purcella, Charles Connor and Thomas Loverberg. "Six periods of American History," is the title of one of the novel dancing features of the act. The periods represented, each with a different style of dance and appropriate costume, are "Indian," "First White Man," "Dutch," "English," "1850" and "1915." Other dances in the act are "The Demure Demoiselless," "The Graceful Grisettes," "The Dancing Hussars," "The Little Wooden Soldiers" and others.

One of the comedy features will be the offering of Waldemar Young and William Jacobs, assisted by Ethyl McFarland, presenting their own original travesty, "When Caesar Ran a Paper," which is one of the choice comedy acts of this season's vaudeville offerings. The idea is original and carried out in a manner that causes one continual laugh. According to the story of the little skit, could Caesar be transposed from the ancient times to the present day and put in charge of one of the big daily papers, and let him run it in his own way, there would be such unusual happenings that we would forget about the present war. As presented the piece abounds with clever lines and situations and expressions of adroit humor that are positively illuminating.

In Lydell, Rogers and Lydell, another big comedy feature is added to the bill, that being a trio of accomplished entertainers in an unusual comedy manner. "A Native of Arkansas," is the title of the little comedy skit they offer, which furnishes them an excuse for an amusing blend of singing, talking and dancing.

Joe and Lew Cooper, the singing song writers, who sing their own songs, add another delightful number to the bill. Both boys have good voices and their songs are among the most popular of the day, which makes their act an unusually popular one in vaudeville.

Charles D. Weber, "Juggling Eccentricities," in a novel offering, completes the vaudeville end of the program.

Emma Carus, assisted by Carl Randall, will be one of the early New Year Orpheum circuit bookings. The last time Miss Carus was seen in the West, was at the head of her own company. For quite a period she has been a bright spot in musical comedy and is already under contract to head another such organization at the conclusion of her Orpheum circuit tour. She will be seen at the Orpheum soon.

It is doubtful if there is a more unique team of eccentric dancers on the stage than Doyle and Dixon. For several years they have been a feature of the New York Winter Garden productions, being transferred from one to another that they might remain in New York. They have finally deserted this institution for vaudeville and have been given a route for the Orpheum circuit.

Helen Scholder, the 'cellist who created such a pronounced impression over the Orpheum circuit a year ago, is one of the youngest and at the same time most eminent musicians to desert the concert stage for vaudeville.

One of the real novelties of the season is the travesty in which Jack Gardner is appearing over the Orpheum circuit, entitled "Curse You, Jack Dalton." With the assistance of a large company provided by means of a machine, Mr. Gardner enacts a most thrilling tabloid melerdramer. It is another early feature of the Orpheum circuit.

Another of the illusions which have made the St. Georges Hall, London, famous, is "The Edge of the World." By means of elaborate electrical effects, a handsome young woman executes a series of attractive dances, seemingly on the very edge of the earth.

When Blanche Ring begins her Orpheum circuit tour in the Channing Pollock-Rennold-Wolf playlet, "Oh, Papa," she will take with her all of the songs which she has made famous and with which she is so closely identified, including: "The Belle of Avenue A," "Rings on Her Fingers," "In the Good Old Summer Time," etc. Any of these hundred odd songs, she will be glad to sing upon request.

MISS MARGARET LOTUS,
The New "Second Woman" With the Baldwin Players at the Lyceum.

The New Grand

The present bill at the popular New Grand has plenty of singing, dancing and comedy, affording a popular variety of entertainment, which is of the best. The Dancing Tyrells offer a mixture of the late society dances and eccentric dancing. An exceptionally clever mixed team with plenty of grace and talent minus the temperament makes the act one to be enjoyed and remembered. Marshall and Cumby, two men of color, sing songs and tell stories, dance and make fun and keep their audiences in an uproar of laughter. A whole vaudeville show in itself is Joe Roberts and company in "The Cowboy, the Swell, and the Lady." A mixture of good comedy, some singing and some very clever dancing make up an act that is novel and original. The acme of athletic artistry is the act of the Standard Brothers. Seemingly impossible feats that are thrilling and of the daredevil type are accomplished with ease.

The Hearst Selig News this week contains many interesting views from all over the world including some thrilling war pictures from Europe. Among the photoplays on the bill are the two-reel feature, "An Affair for the Police"; "The Black Diamond Express," one of the Helen Holmes series of railroad stories; "The Fable of the Long Distance Lover and the Lallypalooze," a George Ade fable, and an interesting comedy.

Commencing with Monday's matinee the new bill will have for a headliner one of the greatest Oriental novelties on the stage. This act is "The Chinese Mysteries" featuring the great Chinese magician, Li Hang Thwang and his company. Interesting and mystifying at all times, it also carries with it comedy and magnificent Oriental splendor. Li Hang Thwang is the latest importation from the "flowery kingdom," and promises all new novelties in this line. Robert Hall, or better known as "Bob" Hall, puts the tickles in the program with his funny songs and sayings. He sings poetry about the audience and makes it up as he goes along, and puts so much spirit into his song that he convulses his auditors with laughter. Kelly and Drake offer a clever dialogue and song number with a comedy vein that is most acceptable. Eldorado and company are comedy and sensational heavy weight jugglers. They juggle everything from ping pong balls to cannons and cart wheels. Laughs will be plentiful and originality stands personified throughout the routine established by these clever performers. Among the photoplays is the two-reel feature, "The Crimson Moth," a story of love and intrigue; "Olive and the Burglar," an "Olive Opportunity" story; "Auntie's Portrait" and "The First Law." On Tuesday and Wednesday, special feature days, "The Song of the Soul" in three reels will be added to the program. This is one of George Klein's masterpieces and is an absorbing dramatic story of a woman's love and devotion. It will be shown at 2:45, 6, and 8:15 each day.

AT THE REX

Comedy by the wholesale is about the only way to describe the five-reel feature, "Tilly's Punctured Romance," coming to the Rex Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. There will be fun from start to finish. Marie Dressler, big, fat, funny and sunny, is well assisted in the frolic by Charles Chaplin, the man with the derby, and clever Mable Normand. All of them fairly bubble all through the play.

The story in brief begins as follows: Tilly, a fair but weighty country maiden, meets a city man and a romance begins that brings her to the populous haunts of men. Charlie, the city man, takes her to a cabaret. There Tilly has the time of her life and so will Rex patrons while watching the rest of the story unfold.

William Farnum was the favored mortal selected by Paramount-Famous Players, to star in Wilson Barrett's sublime drama, "The Sign of the Cross." Comment is being made throughout the country regarding the amount of detail and beauty brought out in the picture and impossible on the speaking stage. Nero, the pleasure-loving, wicked monarch, is a striking character, and the scenes in his audience chamber are works of art. The story is gripping and holds one in suspense by the masterly acting of the principals in their different characterizations. It is a wonderful story, beautifully told.

It is rather an odd coincident—both of the Farnums are at the Rex the same week. The management is very much interested to know which of the brothers will prove the more popular. Dustin will be the lead in "Cameo Kirby." Gamblers and good gamblers, too, often have been made the central figures of an "eighteen-sixty odd" romance of the South, but the gambler hasn't always been Dustin Farnum, the story hasn't always been written by Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson, and right here is the difference, the difference which separates "Cameo Kirby" from its less illustrious predecessors in the field. Dustin Farnum has appeared under a number of banners in the motion picture world. He is popular and his performance in "Cameo Kirby" in the title role will materially add to his already nation-wide popularity — if such a thing is possible. He will be at the Rex Friday and Saturday.

The SUNBEAM

Heralded as the greatest motion pictures produced thus far of the gigantic struggle in Europe, the Hearst newspapers in conjunction with the Selig Polyscope company will offer to Duluth tomorrow a wonderfully spectacular "History of the World's Greatest War," in five reels of motion pictures. These marvelous motion pictures were made on grewsome European battlefields amid the dismal ruins of old-world cities; in the blood-running, fighting trenches by the bold and intrepid Selig camera men in co-operation with the Hearst newspaper correspondents.

In the first reel of thrilling pictures is shown an animated war map of the western theater of war, showing the movements of troops and progress of the campaign up to the early part of December. Scenes in London, Berlin, and Brussels at the outbreak of the war in the early part of August, showing thoops mobilizing, etc. In the second reel is shown the evacuation by the Belgians of their own country upon the approach of the German army. The occupation of Brussels by the German army on the sixteenth of August is one of the interesting parts of this reel In the third part is shown the animated war map of the fighting in the East, showing the advance and retreat of the Austrian, German, and Russian armies from the outbreak of the war in August until the early part of December. Part No. 4 shows scenes in Canada and England, forced to fill the gaps in her ranks, appeals to the colonies for aid. This reel opens with a review of the Canadian troops at Valcartier, Quebec, before sailing for the front. The fifth reel opens with views of Reims after the bombardment of Sept. 18, showing damage done to the famouscathedral.

WILL RECOVER BIG SUM ON PATENT.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 8.—Judge C. W. Sessions in Federal court this afternoon, filed a decree in favor of Walter S. Austin, head of a local automobile company who had charged the Cadillac Motor Car company of Detroit with infringement of an axle patent. It was said half a million dollars was involved in the suit. Austin claimed the infringement on his patented device was used on 14,000 Cadillac automobiles of 1914 model. The court has ordered an accounting by the local master in chancery.

CARPENTERS FAVOR MUNICIPAL PLANT.

The Carpenters' union has approved of the plan to construct a municipal lighting plant. This action was taken at the last meeting of the organization.

W. E. McEwen spoke on the different proposed ordinances, also of the improved conditions and cheaper rates in the cities owning and operating their own electric lighting plants. Mr. McEwen was heartily applauded by the 500 members present.

The following resolution was read and unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, Municipally owned lighting plants have proved to be a success, resulting in cheaper rates and better service, and, whereas, this city has at the present already spent a considerable amount of money towards acquiring a municipally owned lighting plant, and,

"Whereas, In our opinion a municipally owned light plant, eliminating the exorbitant expenses incurred by a corporation and paid by the citizens, will in a short time reduce the cost of one of our necessities to a minimum,

"Therefore, be it resolved, That the members of the Carpenters' union heartily approves of the action of the city council in appropriating $85,000 for the construction of the unit plant, and pledge our support for the proposed ordinance in the coming election."

PRICES LOWERED DURING LAST YEAR

Smaller Cost of Material and Labor Saving Machines Are Causes.

The most vital development of the last year in the automobile industry, so far as the public is concerned, is the very material reduction in prices.

The reason for these reductions is in large part due to the decreased cost of material and the introduction of improved and labor saving machinery, together with more compact and less expensive organization. In brief, the automobile industry, still in its infancy, is showing the beneficial effects of experience to a very marked degree.

However, the transition to lower prices has, in the minds of some, raised a danger signal that the buyer should not fail to heed alertly. "There is danger," says J. T. Peacha, Jr., local agent for the KisselKar, "in the tendency on the part of some manufacturers to cheapen their product in order to list it at a figure below those competitors, who have gone so far as safe business methods and maintenance of quality will allow. Names mean less this year than ever before and it behooves the prudent purchaser to examine closely the mechanical merits of a car, regardless of its name and previous reputation.

"We are quite willing that this test be applied to the KisselKar models. Although selling for much less than in previous years, the new KisselKars are in many respects better cars than their predecessors. They are built of just as good material and according to just as high and rigid standards. Stock parts can be purchased cheaper than Kissel can build them, but the latest models are as completely manufactured in Kissel's own factories as formerly. The Kissels feel that no outsider can build them as well for KisselKars."

GOOD PROGRESS IN ROAD-MAKING

That remarkable progress has been made in the building of good roads throughout the United States during the last few years is proved by data recently obtained by the American Highway association. It has been found that more than 34,000 miles of surfaced roads have been constructed during 1913 and 1914 and that during the ten-year period from 1904 to 1914 more than 96,000 miles have been completed. In 1904 there were only 153,000 miles of surfaced roads of all types in the United States. The average mileage constructed per annum during the last ten years is 9,600; the total completed for 1914 exceeded 18,000 miles.

The data show that something like 30,000 miles of highway have been completed with the aid of state funds, more than $200,000,000 having been expended. The state aid movement began in 1892. Only recently has it got well under way, as the results accomplished for 1913 and 1914 comprise a total of 10,000 miles of state aid highways completed, or in two years one-third of the entire mileage constructed with the aid of state funds has been completed.

Only six states now, out of a total of forty-eight, are without state highway departments, and thirty states have granted actual money aid to the building of roads.

When one thinks of the magnitude of the motor car industry, in which more than 400 makers are regularly turning out complete automobiles, either by the hundred, the thousand or the tens of thousands, it should be borne in mind that the automobile accessory industry has been a bigger factor in the development of motor cars than perhaps the average person imagines. While engineers and designers employed by complete car makers have done much to improve and develop motor car construction, nevertheless it was those engaged in the accessory and automobile parts industry who produced, and continue to produce, many of the most important improvements and originate new designs which mean much to the ultimate consumer—the user of the automobile.

A decade ago the Motor and Accessory Manufacturers—membership in which is limited to manufacturers of automobile motors, parts and accessories—was organized with forty members. Today this association numbers 256 of the leading manufacturing firms and corporations of the United States. The combined capital of the interests represented in the membership is somewhat over $500,000,000. Thus, from a small beginning, the M. and A. M. has grown to be one of the strongest trade associations in the world.

UNIQUE MOTORCYCLE RECORD IN 1914

While no dirt track or road motorcycle records were broken during 1914, there was one record established during the year which will be of great interest to the average rider—an economy record. This was made by Edward Perrin of Stockton, Cal., who rode his motorcycle 162.7 miles on a single gallon of gasoline. Taking the average price of gasoline as eighteen cents, this means that Perrin rode a fraction over nine miles at a cost of one cent. While, of course, this test was made on a smooth road under favorable conditions, yet it proves the extreme economy of the two-wheeler, both for pleasure and commercial purposes. For if under ordinary conditions one secured only half that mileage on a gallon of gasoline, that would mean four and one-half miles at a cost of one cent.

Another interesting record of the year was that of E. G. Baker, who crossed the continent from the Pacific to the Atlantic in eleven days, eleven hours and ten minutes, lowering the former transcontinental time of twenty days, nine hours and one minute.

The Federation of American Motorcyclists dirt track national professional championship events of the year were won as follows: One mile, Ray Creviston, time, 46 3-5; two mile, John Constant, 1:40 4-5; five miles, Robert Perry, 4:18; ten miles, Charles Balke, 8:48 1-5; twenty-five miles, Carl Goudy, 20:06; 100 miles, Fred Meyer, 94:00 3-5; one mile, Leslie Parkhurst, sixty-four miles.

W. A. Leuders carried off the honors for the one, two, five and ten-mile national championships for amateurs. The twenty-five mile event was won by R. Raulet, time, 23:16, and the fifty-mile by W. A. Leuders in 46:37 2-5.

Important road events for the year were as follows: Three hundred-mile race at Dodge City, Kan., won by Glen R. Boyd in 4:24:48; 250-mile event at Sioux City, Iowa, won by Joe Wolters, time, 3:43:52 2-5; Savannah, Ga., 300-mile road race, won by Lee Taylor, time, 5:02:32. Lorenzo Boido won this year's San Diego-Phoenix motorcycle road race, crossing the desert in four-teen hours and nineteen minutes, and Erwin G. Baker was winner of the El Paso-Phoenix event, time, fifteen hours and fifty-two minutes.

Motorcyclists of Washington, D. C., who are not privileged to attend the big motorcycle events of this summer will soon be able to see these competitions in the moving picture theater. Films of the races at Savannah, Dodge City, Sioux City, and other important events have been secured, and arrangements are being made for an exhibition at one of the local picture theaters.

Plans are under way at Stockton, Cal., for a 300-mile motorcycle road race in the spring. The macadam roads of San Joaquin county are among the best in California, and it is expected that some new speed records will be hung up at this event.

AUTO PRIZES FROM $200,000 TO $400,000

Indianapolis Heads List With $75,000 in Cash and Trophies.

Indianapolis, Jan. 9.—At least $200,000, conservatively estimated, will be offered in prize money this year for automobile racing, with the possibility that this amount may be increased to $400,000 before the season is out. Indianapolis, as usual, heads the list with a guaranteed cash purse of $50,000, and accessory prizes and trophies agrregating $25,000 more. The sure purses, carefully computed, seem to be as follows, in the order of their importance:

Indianapolis	$50,000
Sioux City	25,000
Omaha	25,000
Tacoma	15,000
Venice	15,000
Vanderbilt	10,000
Grand prize	10,000
Elgin	10,000
El Paso-San Diego	10,000
Los Angeles-Phoenix	10,000
Oklahoma City	10,000
Galesburg	5,000
Galveston	5,000
Uniontown Hill climb	5,000
Total	$205,000

Other purses which may be added, provided the plans of their promoters are realized, are Chicago $50,000, New York $50,000, Minneapolis $50,000, Detroit $25,000, and Los Angeles $10,000; together with minor offerings by dirt tracks, such as Kalamazoo, Peoria and Grand Rapids, from $2,500 on down. Altogether the prospects are such that even the most doubting Thomas cannot refrain from entertaining the most sanguine opinion as to the future of the auto racing game.

KISSEL CHASSIS GET SEVERE TEST

Built in the little city of Hartford, Wis., KisselKar chassis are tested over a most picturesque, as well as a most grilling route.

Hartford nestles in the heart of a range of majestic bluffs that extend from Green Bay to Lake Michigan southwesterly towards the Mississippi river. Most of the drives thereabouts involve stiff upgrades—some of them as great as 25 per cent. Over these imposing hills every KisselKar is put through its paces before it receives the final factory O. K.

Among the hardest hills these KisselKars ascend is Holy hill, on the lofty heights of which is situated the famous Catholic shrine christened, "Mary, Help of Christians." This shrine is annually the mecca of thousands of pilgrims from all over the world who come to pray and to rest.

This spot, weighted with legend and mysticism, is located amid beautiful surroundings, about seven miles from Hartford. KisselKar owners throughout the country visit the Kissel factory during the summer touring, and none leave this region without visiting Holy hill.

KISSEL 42 SIX.

Mr. Peacha Tells of Some Remarkable New Values.

"While we are very enthusiastic about the new KisselKar 42-six and naturally inclined to the use of superlatives in describing it," says J. T. Peacha, Jr., manager of the Interstate Auto company, "we are willing to stand upon the summary of one of the highest authorities in the country, who, in reviewing the merits of this car for his journal, said: 'It is better than the average six at less than the price of the average six.'

"That, after all, is strong enough to interest the keenest prospective buyer and, judging by the size and alert attention of the crowds that visited the KisselKar exhibit at the New York show, no doubt remains in the public mind that this model is unusually distinctive and attractive.

"The KisselKar 42-six and the 36-four are really remarkable values, the best cars to my mind that Kissel ever produced and at prices away below those hitherto associated with KisselKars. With Kissel-built motor, body, clutch and axle, to say nothing of many other less important units, these models are exclusively Kissel.

"To the buyer who seeks in his car personality as well as beauty, individuality as well as convenience, exclusiveness as well as comfort, in fact, if he seeks at a price below the average a car of better than average quality, these KissKars fill in bill. We believe that an unbiased comparison will make that fact obvious."

HORSES GIVE WAY TO THE AUTO TRUCK

Motor Vehicle Is Now Considered Necessary Farm Implement.

"Just as the ox-cart gave way to the farm wagon with its fine team of horses, the wagon is giving way to the auto truck," said E. J. Filiatrault of the Mutual Auto company. "The automobile on the farm is just as necessary as any other piece of farm machinery. In fact, it fills a peculiar place. No matter how large or how small the farm, there is an automobile which will come in handy. Where larger farms today are using high-power auto trucks, the small farmer is saving time and multiplying his efficiency by using the light delivery car, with which he can run into the nearest town or railway station in a surprisingly short time as compared to the old-style means of transportation.

"Farm lands which years ago were of little use on account of their inaccessibility to railroads are now becoming increasingly valuable because by the use of a motorcar the distance feature is eliminated practically, and 10, 12, or even 25 miles from a railroad is no serious handicap.

"The progressive counties throughout the Northwest, realizing what automobiles mean in the development of farming communities, have done their share by constantly improving the roads, and splendid highways are reaching into many heretofore inaccessible regions while other roads are in course of construction which soon will open many more acres to the farmer.

"The auto truck has made it possible for the man of moderate means to buy splendid farming land at a price which he can afford to pay, and by bringing him into close contact with the market has enabled him to carry on a line of farming which heretofore was impossible.

"Throughout the country tributary to Duluth may be seen the cars of hundreds of enterprising and progressive farmers. They run in and out of the small towns and railway stations, bringing in their owners' supply of milk or butter or eggs or general farm produce, or hauling immense loads of grain or cordwood. The cost of many of the lighter cars is little more than that of a good team of horses, while the cost of upkeep is no more. On the other hand, the automobile naturally covers distance which was impossible under the old horse and wagon method.

"When the automobile was first put upon the market it was still in such a crude state of development that a man had necessarily to be of a mechanical turn to be able to operate his car. The great development which has taken place in the last few years, however, has so simplified automobile construction and resulting operation that it is nothing unusual to see the farmhand who formerly drove the two or four-horse team today bringing the three or five-ton truck up to a perfect stop in front of the railway station."

BIG AD. FEATURE.

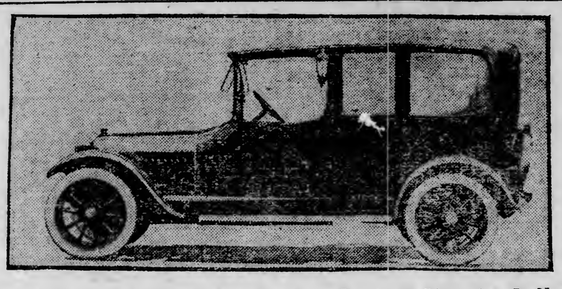

Haynes Company Claims Honors for Advertising Literature.

"The largest piece of advertising literature published by an automobile manufacturer has just been put into the mails by the Haynes Automobile company, Kokomo, Ind.," says M. W. Turner, distributor in this territory for the Haynes, America's first car.

"It is in the form of a broadside 2 feet 5 inches wide, by 3 feet 9 inches deep and when delivered by Uncle Sam, measures 11¼ by 14½ inches. It is lithographed in two colors on a light green stock and contains an interesting story of the Haynes success this season as well as a graphic description of the Haynes light six car.

"Decidedly impressive is the half-tone illustration of the Haynes Light six, 25½ inches in width, besides which there are twenty-four other illustrations showing the principal features of its construction."

HANDSOME 7-PASSENGER CHALMERS LIMOUSINE

The Above 1915 Chalmers Light Six, Seven-Passenger Limousine Is Now Being Shown by the Mutual Auto Company, Local Agents for the Car. The Manufacturers Claim That There Is No Handsomer Limousine on the Market.

A NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION

I'm going to buy a motor car,
The best that can be found.
It's famed for flexibility
In states where hills abound.

Makes sixty miles an hour on high,
Can slow down to a crawl,
And there's no need of shifting gears,
'Cause throttling does it all.

It travels twenty miles or more
On a gallon of gasoline,
And cuts the tire and oiling costs
To where they can't be seen.

Its comfort features are unique,
The springs are very long,
And all the steel used in the car
Is light and extra strong.

It's beautiful to look at, but—
I'd rather sit inside
Reclining on the cushions deep
While joyously I ride.

For years this car will take me
O'er mountains and o'er plains
I'm going to buy a car that's right—
I'm going to buy a Haynes.

THE VALUE OF THE AUTOMOBILE SHOW

The automobile show, if it does nothing else, provides the opportunity for those interested to see all cars in one general visit. Not that it can be done thoroughly, but comparisons can be made better. Certainly automobile shows are good for everybody. They help the progress of automobiles because of the competitive nature of the exhibits. Every manufacturer strives to show more progress than the other manufacturers. It helps build up the industry because it puts all cars on their own merits and shows them side by side. The automobile show is a good thing because it affords the buyer an opportunity to really find out about the cars, to see many cars in a reasonable length of time, to talk with different people, to perhaps talk with people direct from the factory, if technical information is required.

There has been quite a tendency on the part of the Franklin company to make their exhibit at the shows more educational, to show in detail what the car is, and to have a man prepared to explain why it is as it is. At New York and Chicago a stripped chassis in operation will be shown, and a glass cabinet filled with different units of the car, all sectioned so that the different constructions can be clearly shown, will be in the booth. The opportunity will be afforded to everyone to know how each part is constructed and to find out by inquiry why it is constructed that way. Not everybody cares about those things, but more and more automobilists are finding out the whys and wherefores.

In addition to these exhibits, a roadster, touring car and sedan will be shown at both New York and Chicago. They are the regular 1915 Franklin cars which have been on the market for several months, and illustrate the fact that the shows today are not exhibiting brand new things that have never been shown before; that they are exhibiting the latest productions of the different companies, although the models may have been on the market for several months.

The big, distinctive feature about the Franklin car always has been and still is direct air-cooling. The chassis in operation shows plainly how this system works. Although the Franklin company has been marketing a direct air-cooled car for thirteen years, there is an enormous number of people who do not know how the cooling system works. It is very hard to see the system in a regular car because there is nothing to it, but how it works is very clearly shown on the stripped chassis, because of the glass hood. It is very simple, and consists of a fan located in the fly-wheel, which draws the air down around each cylinder uniformly.

News and Gossip of the Automobile World

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 9.—An eight-cylinder racing car, the first of its kind, will be entered in the next Indianapolis 500-mile race, May 29, if the plans of Arthur Klein, America's youngest registered driver, go through as scheduled. The car is a King, of 270 cubic inches piston displacement and only 1,750 pounds weight. Its estimated speed is 110 miles an hour. A similar car, the twelve-cylinder Sunbeam of Jean Chassagne, holds the world's record of 107.95 miles an hour, so that with an experienced driver like Klein, who scored second and third in the Tacoma Potlatch and Montamarathon contests, respectively, the King may be expected to make an excellent showing.

The most striking feature of the Overland exhibit which occupied the first position at the New York show was the fact that each of the five cars on exhibition showed in a marked degree the policy of the Willys-Overland company of continually giving "more car for less money." Of the five cars shown, a touring car, four-passenger coupe and a roadster were of the four-cylinder, 35-horse power, model 80, the others being a model 81, four-cylinder touring car and model 82, a six-cylinder touring car.

Five finished cars will represent Packard at the annual automobile exposition in Grand Central palace, New York, beginning Saturday, Jan. 2. It is impossible in the limited show space available to give an adequate idea of the Packard line, with its twenty distinct body styles. The exhibit ranges from a smart and snappy runabout, seating two, to an imperial limousine, seating seven in two compartments, both of which are entirely enclosed.

Basing his statement upon audited sales statistics, J. V. Hall, sales manager of the Oldsmobile, points out that during the last period of 1914 the Olds company established remarkable sales records. Not only was the demand for cars a surprise to the manufacturers, but Hall asserts that on Dec. 1 there were hundreds of orders on file for future delivery and their plant found it necessary to maintain its increased production schedule in the dead of winter to meet the requirements of dealers.

Lee Anderson, advertising manager of the Chalmers Motor company, and for the past five years associated with that company, has resigned to become advertising manager of the Hupp Motor Car company. He began his new duties Jan. 1. Mr. Anderson brings to the Hupp Motor Car company a varied knowledge of advertising and selling. His business experience started with four years of selling and buying in retail lines, and selling on the road. For five years he worked through all branches of newspaper work, leaving this field to become assistant to H. W. Ford, then advertising manager of the Chalmers company. For five years he has been associated intimately with masters of automobile salesmanship.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 9.—The regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock of the Chandler Motor Car company was declared at the monthly meeting of the board of directors this week, and in addition to the preferred stock dividend, a dividend of 2½ per cent was declared on the common stock, both dividends payable at once.

That business conditions are improving in all parts of the country, is the claim made by the Franklin Automobile company of Syracuse, N. Y. In the first two weeks in December their buying orders increased 42 per cent over the rate maintained during November. While the better feeling seems to be general, it is particularly noticeable in the cotton states.

When Eddie Hearne drove his speedy car eight miles in six minutes and twenty-two seconds at San Antonio, Tex., the other day, defeating a large field, he won the last big circular track race of the season. How extensive is the interest in racing in this country can be seen from the fact that during the last season this same car was used in 203 races, totaling close to 5,000 miles of actual speed competition.

Berlin, Jan. 9.—The sale of rubber tires is now officially prohibited in the German empire, excepting motorcycle and bicycle tires. Private individuals desiring to purchase tires for their cars must apply to the military authorities, who will decide whether and to what extent private requirements can be met from repaired, retreaded and second-hand tires.

R. L. Holt, president and treasurer of the Glencoe Mills of Burlington, N. C., has a model "F" Chalmers that has been run 130,000 miles. Mr. Holt writes as follows: "After six years' hard service and after having gone over 120,000 miles my Chalmers is better today than most $1,800 cars are when new."

With one of the largest and handsomest exhibits at the Grand Central palace, the Hupmobile made its formal bow to the 1915 buying public at the New York show. Occupying an excellent position, the showing includes four separate models, a polished chassis beautifully finished in white, a sectional parts board of Hupmobile mechanism, displaying the unique features of Hup construction and separate exhibits of accessory parts as they actually appear under working conditions.

HANK PERKINS.

"Just an ord'nary sort o' feller," would describe Hank Perkins as well as any other phrase. He had no characteristic vices or virtues. He had no advanced education. His parents were not wealthy, and when he was hardly old enough to vote, Hank, like a number of his comrades, looked for a job.

And it wasn't much of a job that Hank landed—just that of handy man around a wholesale establishment in the home town. Joe Black, who had taken a course at a business college, was already working for the same firm, in the bookkeeping department, and Frank Hall, who had always been rather careful of his appearance and was known as a "good mixer," got work there at the same time that Hank did, but in the sales department.

All day Joe sat on a high stool and adjusted and readjusted columns of figures, or stood by an adding machine and punched buttons and pulled levers. At 5 o'clock he put on his hat and coat and went home, and occasionally spent the evening at some party or other where he met Frank and other old schoolmates. But he did not meet Hank in such places often, for Hank had "sort o' dropped out o' things like that."

Meanwhile Frank met visitors to the city, proved and improved his natural ability as a "good mixer," and made such sales as he could, at the same time feeling rather sorry for Hank, and even for Joe with his uninteresting columns of figures and his everlasting balancing of accounts.

Occasionally Joe wanted some old records from the store room. So he would push a button, and the chances were that Hank would be the one to come and get whatever Joe wanted. Sometimes Frank would want to show some goods not generally displayed, and Hank would be sent to get them. Whenever anybody wanted anything done outside his own regular work, he called on Hank to do it—and Hank was always ready.

Joe ordinarily wore a low collar and sleeve protectors, and sometimes a light coat. Frank always wore a high collar and a rather showy, but neat, suit, and always had gloves handy to put on or carry as the occasion seemed to dictate. Hank generally wore a soft shirt with a starchless collar, a pair of overalls and often had a cap on from morning to night, when his work took him in and out of doors.

So a social gap opened and grew between Frank and Joe on one side and Hank on the other. Joe got to be known as a reliable bookkeeper, and the permanence of his job became assured. Frank did well with the visitors, and finally was given a chance on the road, at which he made reasonably good. His pay envelope and Joe's both gradually became a little more generous. So did Hank's, for that matter, but much more slowly than those of his old friends.

So Hank worked here and there in the establishment, always willing, but always with his eyes and ears open, and always on the lookout to learn why this or that was done in some particular way, or why it was done at all. At some time or other in the day he was in nearly every department, and as he thought over each day's work while on the way home, he would try to fix the relationship of one department to another, and scheme out some way to simplify the work between them. Sometimes he found a way, and then he quietly put it into effect. Somebody noticed this, and gradually Hank found himself in charge of those connecting links, with a man or two to do the actual heavy work for him.

Joe and Frank could see little advantage in Hank's change of work, and as he came less frequently into direct contact with them, they rather forgot him. But Hank kept up the same tactics he had followed before; learned all he could of the business in general, and especially certain departments which interested him more than others, and in turn forgot Frank and Joe.

Until one day Joe, vastly pleased at such an honor, was made head bookkeeper in a newly established department, formed by combining some old ones. On his way to his new office he met Frank, who had been ordered to report there for new road instructions. Together the old friends entered the superintendent's office, and —received their new orders from Hank Perkins. And yet, so far as anybody knew, Hank was "just an ord'nary sort o' feller."

The Russians have the advantage of us as far as Christmas is concerned. When we get all through, they still have seventeen shopping days left.

SOUTH AMERICAN TRADE.

There has been much talk since the war began about the great opportunity there is for expansion of this country's trade with South America. It is doubtful, however, if many people realize the extent of this opportunity. Some figures in the daily Commerce Reports, published by the Federal government, help to bring the truth home.

These show, for example, that while the Argentine Republic has a total foreign trade of more than eight hundred and seventy-three million dollars, the United States gets only some eighty-one millions of this, the rest going to Europe. We fare better with Brazil, getting a hundred and fifty-four million out of a total of three hundred and forty-two million. With Venezuela we get fifteen million out of a total of forty-seven million, and with Chile we get fifty million out of a total of a hundred and sixty-four million.

In spite of the advantages of proximity, safety of traffic and natural trade tendencies, there is not one of all the thirteen South American countries which gives even half its total trade to the United States. And it is safe to predict that as long as we remain dependent on foreign bottoms we will continue to get the small end of this commerce which amounts to nearly two and a quarter billion dollars a year. At present we get less than four hundred million dollars of it.

With these facts to consider, it is no wonder that President Wilson is insistent upon the ship purchase bill. Private monopoly has had plenty of opportunity to supply ships for this trade, but private monopoly has preferred to leave the transportation to foreign interests and reap its own profits by working the tariff protection game. With the government stepping into the transportation field, private monopoly will lose an opportunity it has refused to accept, and it is making loud complaints against the government's plans.

There is only one answer necessary to such complaints, and that is this: The business is there; Europe cannot handle it; we can, if we can get the ships, and the only way to get the ships and get them now is by Federal action.

And now Mexico is going to issue some bonds. What is Mexican for "Municipal Ownership League"?

SWATTING THE CORONER.

The Omaha Bee and the Omaha World-Herald, curiously enough, have come to a complete agreement on the proposition that the office of coroner is a superfluity and its cost a waste, and that it ought to be done away with.

Now that's interesting, and rather novel. Like every suggestion of the sort, it is neither to be lightly rejected nor lightly embraced. If the office of coroner serves a useful purpose, then of course it is absurd to talk of abolishing it. If it doesn't serve any useful purpose, then, equally of course, it is absurd to think of keeping it. Just because it is a traditional adjunct of British and American institutions is no reason for keeping it. It must justify itself by actual services performed.

The duty of a coroner is to investigate, with the help of a jury if he thinks necessary, cases of death apparently not due to natural causes. The "coroner's inquest" is an interesting chapter of the story of a striking crime, helping the newspapers to provide a continuing relation. Ordinarily the verdict is largely noncommittal, and not a great deal of official attention is paid to it. It seldom is definite enough to justify the issuance of warrants for the arrest of suspected persons.

The Omaha newspapers declare that the coroner has no powers of investigation and research not included in regular police and court channels, and that the coroner, usually a medical man, is seldom selected because of his shrewdness and adroitness in ferreting out crime. They contend that whatever usefulness there is in the office of coroner could be provided fully as well, and with little or no expense, by the county attorney's office with the help of the police.

Is it true that the coroner's function has become a perfunctory matter of form, and that the public receives no real service for the cost of maintaining it? It is not impossible. Certainly, the suggestion having been made, it is worth looking into.

The office of coroner goes back to the twelfth century in England, from whence we borrowed it. It has changed there but little since the fourteenth century. It has changed little in this country since we borrowed it, though Massachusetts has abolished the office and substituted a medical examiner as an adjunct of the prosecuting attorney's office. If the place is useless, its antiquity should not save it.

It is proposed to base the amount of mileage allowed congressmen on the size of their families. The scheme may be on the level, but it sounds a lot like a conspiracy against bachelorhood.

DO MOTHER'S PENSIONS PAY?

Striking illustration of the operation of the mothers' pension in big cities is furnished in a report by Joel D. Hunter, the official distributer of mothers' pensions in Cook county, Illinois. Those who have regarded such a use of public funds as a sacrifice to sentimentality should memorize and think over the following paragraph:

> Before the pension law was enacted in Illinois, two hundred and eighty children (out of a group of two thousand children whose fathers were dead and the mothers poor) were brought into the juvenile court, charged with crime. Since the pension law has been in operation only eight children out of two thousand children whose mothers were receiving pensions (the same kind of a group) have been brought into court charged with crime.

To appreciate what this means to the future, one must recall the numberless instances in which criminals have been found to have begun their lawlessness in childhood. Social workers say that the stigma of an arrest never is entirely removed from the child's mind, and besides there is the factor in human nature—wrong, no doubt, but no less a fact—which insists on refusing "another chance" to the erring one.

What has the pension system to do with the change? Just this, according to Mr. Hunter: That the mothers are able to give more time to the children. Also, in many instances it has been found that, with the aid of the pension, the family has been able to move out of the slum district, and so the children have been taken to a healthier and more moral atmosphere.

Do mothers' pensions pay? If human life and human character are worth anything, "pay" is too weak a word to apply to this investment.

If it weren't for the danger of bringing on a severe change, one would like to comment on the class of weather we have been having.

COMMERCE REPORTS.

An excellent start has been made by the daily Commerce Reports, the publication which on January 2 succeeded the familiar Consular Reports. It is proposed to make the new publication more alive and practical than the old one was; to avoid some lengthy discussions heretofore given space, and to print in their place the very latest matter of commercial interest cabled to Washington by American consuls in different parts of the globe. In short, the new publication will differ from the old one principally in that it will "have some ginger" in it.

The first issue of the Commerce Reports is in the same form as the old pamphlet, but all the matter it contains is boiled down and to the point. It gives notice of trade opportunities abroad, business conditions in different countries and localities, and references by which anybody interested can locate more detailed information than is given here. It also includes notices of supplies wanted by the United States government.

The Commerce Reports looks good, and promises to do all that is claimed for it by Secretary Redfield of the department of commerce, who says in a brief introduction that "Commerce Reports opens the door of opportunity."

What if the government proposed to spend a few hundred thousands to pay subsidies instead of to buy ships—would these same objectors be objecting then?

PRAYING FOR PEACE.

Don't make yourself look foolish by sneering at the men who urge people to pray for the end of the war. It is a favorite pose with a certain element to poke fun at the idea of such a movement, and to proclaim themselves either frankly doubtful of the efficacy of prayer or plainly skeptical as to the existence of a deity, or at least of one sufficiently interested in the affairs of mankind to interfere in them.

Doubters in this latter class talk glibly of science and natural law, and would have us believe that the universe has been put in motion, like some huge machine, and then left to run its course with certain definite limitations and conditions that will result from specified other conditions, under the rule of cause and effect.

Those who speak or think thus are doubly absurd in their position, for even granting that the universe is being run on such a scheme as they outline, they must admit that we do not know or understand all the laws that govern that universe, or even our own world. Combinations of cause and effect, or at least apparent cause and effect, continually recur, in which some force we neither can see, feel nor consciously control seems to determine our actions or those of others with whom we have business or other relations.

Take for example the old experience of "crossing" letters—you write, and your friend writes to you at the same time; and we explain it by calling it telepathy. Cannot this same force operate on a larger scale? May it not be that the physical rule by which combination multiplies strength, applies also in mental and spiritual affairs?

Then why is it not reasonable to suppose that, even though the question of deity be left out altogether, a united and continued appeal for peace, either in the form of prayer or otherwise, may so impress the minds of those on whose action peace depends that they will move to end the war?

To those who believe in a deity who, by human intercession, can be moved to interfere in men's actions, any exhortation to pray for the ending of the present terrible struggle is of course needless. But to those others who would make science and natural force their god, we would say this: Join in these prayers because, by so doing, you will help set at work a force the power of which has astonished the world in small things, and which may well prove equally efficient in this greater matter.

Jerome has been appointed to prosecute Thaw. The world seems pretty small when you think of the number of times old acquaintances meet.

FORMING HABITS.

One of the easiest things a person can do is to form a habit. Ever think of it? You notice some day that a fingernail isn't trimmed just evenly; but you have no time to use a knife on it, so you trim it with your teeth. Maybe something similar happens a week later and, remembering your former success, you again use your teeth. Let the experience be repeated a few times, with the addition of an irritating hang nail, and before you know it you have formed the habit of biting your nails.

So with anything else—a few voluntary acts quickly develop into repetitions of the same thing as an involuntary act. Or you teach your child to like olives, and soon he demands that you buy olives for him.

But did you ever think of the discarding of unwholesome or obnoxious practices as being only the formation of a habit? Really that is all it is. You say you "swear off" smoking or drinking or chewing or overeating. What you really do is to "swear on" NOT smoking or drinking or chewing or over-eating. And really, it is no more of a strain on your power to adopt the new habit than it was to adopt the old. It is nothing in the world but a matter of training.

When you began to smoke, for instance, perhaps it made you sick. You didn't see how you could stand it. But you were determined to smoke, and you taught your mouth and tongue and lungs and stomach, first to endure it, then to like it and finally to demand it, just as at first they had demanded the absence of it.

And so with other habits. It may be harder to learn today than it was when you were younger, but on the other hand you have more experience and will power to draw on for strength. And just as you were once determined to form the habit of indulgence, so you can now become determined to form the habit of non-indulgence.

Think of that when your New Year resolution wobbles, as it's apt to do along about now. Then buck up and prove that you are stronger than the habit which you yourself created.

"Penny lunches for the school pupils." Sounds like the coming back of the hot cross buns.

The Zeppelins.

German hatred for England is illustrated by this poem, written in Germany by a German poet, who evidently knows English well and mixes his own language and that of the hated British skillfully.

England has a little war,
Aber fern von der Gefahr
Sitzen Tom und Fred und Bess,
Jolly snug and pitiless,
Essen toast und trinken tea,
Oh! the little war on sea!

Mutton chop and steak and peas,
Strawberry jam and Stilton cheese,
Schmecken Tom und Bess und Fred.
How many Germans are there dead?
Deutschland geht zugrunde? Wie?
Oh! the little war on sea!

Tom says: It is costing money.
Aber dann—oh, give me honey!
When there's no more in der Welt,
Nichts was uns die Stange haelt,
Nichts mehr made in Germany.
Oh! the little war on sea!

Pitsch und Patsch und Plomperomplon!
Wo sind Bess und Fred und Tom?
Busted kurt and busted klein
(Bomb bust from the Zeppelin)
Here a head and there a knee.
Autsch! the little war on sea!

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—This European war would be a great deal worse in its local aspects if it were not for Eddie Savoy.

Eddie is the little old colored man who has been doortender at the office of the secretary of state since as far back as anybody can remember.

As a rule his duties are comparatively simple, even though part of his work consists of mothering the foreign ambassadors and other diplomats who call to see the secretary of state.

Just now, however, the handling of foreign ambassadors is a delicate task, for one must be constantly on the alert to avert a meeting between any two representatives of the nations now at war. If two ambassadors from the warring countries were to meet face to face they would not speak, but would look into space with the abstracted air of a man trying to make himself think he is somewhere else.

This is that custom and precedent may be fulfilled. The ambassadors are all friendly enough with one another personally, but if they were to nod or speak, it would be only another step to passing the time of day. And if they did that they might exchange small talk. From small talk they might go to war talk, and that would not do at all. Thus it happens that although Ambassador Jusserand of France, dean of the corps, and Ambassador von Bernstorff of Germany are good friends and much seen together in time of peace, either one would be horrified to be ushered into the room with the other just now. To prevent such a scene is part of the task of Eddie Savoy, and he seems with pride over the fact that so far he has been successful. It is no small job, either. Ambassador Spring-Rice of Great Britain does not like to be shown into the diplomatic waiting room at all, even though none of the representatives of the nations at war are there. He prefers to avoid contact with the diplomats of all other nations whatsoever, lest somebody should accidentally start up an unpleasant conversation.

So that makes one less room in which to put the British ambassador, and adds to the responsibilities of Eddie Savoy. As a rule Ambassador Spring-Rice is ushered directly into the private office of Mr. Bryan. When his visit is over, Eddie Savoy must make certain that no other ambassador is lurking about the hallway or anterooms.

Occasionally Eddie has to shift an ambassador from one room to another to clear a path, and he does so in a quiet, motherly fashion that is distinctive. An ambassador always feels that he is amply protected from embarrassing situations so long as Eddie Savoy has him in charge.

Only once in his long career has Eddie allowed two ambassadors to meet while their nations were at war, and that was during the Jap-Russian war. The Japanese ambassador was walking thoughtfully along the corridor just outside the office of the secretary of state when he chanced to look up and found himself staring into the face of the Russian ambassador. Before he stopped to think of precedents the Japanese man nodded.

"I did not nod to the man, but to his position as dean of the corps," insisted the Japanese.

So strong is the aversion to a chance meeting among the diplomats of the warring nations that none of these will accept any invitation whatever, even to a private home, until they know just what guests will be present. And it is extremely rare for one to accept even then. The chances of the war being discussed at the dinner table are too great.

When the war began Senator Kern made up his mind to preserve his neutrality at any cost.

A day or two ago the senator sat eating his dinner at a table with one or two pro-Germans and as many anti-Germans. A pompous person came along and said:

"I'll make this prediction: Within thirty days the German army will reach Paris, and within sixty days the Irish will take London. What do you think about that, senator?"

Desiring to preserve his neutrality, Kern, without looking up from his rice pudding, made this thoroughly noncommittal reply:

"It beats the devil, doesn't it?"

Grand Duke Nicholas.

Basil Miles in World's Work: At the feast of the Preobrazhenski regiment in St. Petersburg, shortly after the Russian-Japanese war, Sir Ian Hamilton was watching the great world arrive, one after another. He himself was present as a distinguished British general. Both individually and collectively the Russian guards are a fine lot. But he suddenly ejaculated, "By Jove, who's that?" He pointed to a towering figure, at least six feet four in height, with close-cropped, black hair shot through with gray; short, pointed Vandyke beard; keen eyes; extraordinary length of limb, but lean and graceful, with exceptional ease and power of movement—a magnificent figure of a man. It was the Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch.

The grand duke, now commander-in-chief of the armies of Russia, was born the year after the Crimean war and was 58 last October. But he still radiates an impression of easy power and strength. His grandfather was the son of Czar Nicholas I, whose physique was famous in Europe. When a mob gathered in the Sadovaya, in those early days, a story is still current of how the great czar drove to the scene, got out of his carriage, and strode out alone, gigantic and threatening, and with a single mighty roar produced a stunned silence through which he lectured the huddled crowd like a stern but just father and sent them away, tamed. His great-grandson inherits much of his physical power. Although the military career of the Grand Duke Nicholas has attracted little attention outside of Russia, largely because he has concentrated whole-heartedly on each phase as he met it, his present supreme command is nevertheless the logical result of a consistent rise through all ranks, not because, but almost in spite of, his imperial blood.

Compensatory.

Harper's Magazine: A New Yorker tells of a young Irish couple in his employ, not long ago come from the "ould counthry." Shortly after their arrival the young wife, ambitious for learning, entered a night school, since her duties permitted of that.

One evening, when she returned to the servants' hall from school, the husband asked:

"An' phwat are ye learnin' now, Molly?"

"Tonight," said Molly, thinking to have a bit of fun with Malachi, "tonight the teacher read to us about the laws of compensation."

"Compensation? What's that?"

"It's hard to explain, but it's something like this: If your sense of smell is poor, the sense of taste is all the sharper; and if you are blind, you can hear all the better."

Malachi reflected. "Sure," said he, "I see. It's loike this: For example, if a man is born wid wan leg shorter than the other, the other is longer."

The Governor's Message

Comment of State Papers.

For Non-Partisanship and Progress.

St. Paul Dispatch: There is a fine note of non-partisanism which sounds through the inaugural address of Governor Hammond. It is not at all a surrender of his standing as a member of the political party through whose nomination he became the candidate for the high office he holds, but there seems a recognition of the ignoring of party lines by which alone he was elected. Taken all in all, we should say it was the dominant note of his message.

We should say that if there is nothing specially brilliant in the inaugural address there is at the same time nothing that is commonplace. It reads like the earnest, intelligent desire of a good citizen to assist—to take the lead if necessary—in those measures which are calculated for the progress and development of Minnesota and the happiness and prosperity of its people.

It may be said that as a whole the inaugural is thoughtful, independent and original. It will impress the people of Minnesota as proceeding from a governor thoroughly intent upon administering the state government according to his best lights, earnestly studying the problems involved, entirely devoted to the people and wholly determined to do the best that is in him.

"Harmless and Perfunctory."

Minneapolis Journal: With profound respect for Governor W. S. Hammond and the high office to which he has risen, it must be said that his inaugural address is as harmless and perfunctory a document as the most neutral citizens could desire. It is the golden mean. Its prose is irreproachable. Its stand, like that of the old family horse, is "safe and sound." It is the quintessence of the intermedium.

Clear and Calm.

Minneapolis Tribune: Governor Hammond's inaugural is no "harmless and perfunctory" statement. It is a clear, calm, unemotional expression of an executive's aim for a two years' administration. That it is far from noncommittal is manifest in that it declares for legislation which is unquestionably radical and proposes for early consideration by the legislature a disposition, favorable or unfavorable, of the county option bill.

Nothing Startling.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: There is nothing startling in Governor Hammond's message, and it might have been written by Governor Eberhart. The only part that will create any great discussion is his suggestion that all the voters be permitted to participate in the primary elections of each party. Governor Hammond indicates that he is not a follower of the Andrew Jackson policy of "to the victors belong the spoils," and this will be a sad shock to many hungry Democrats, but it will please many Republicans, and it is necessary to satisfy several thousand Republicans in order to secure a second term—of which he has naturally a laudable ambition.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinlan, the Sunshine Man.

God Save the People.

The democratic anthem of the masses is much in vogue in labor churches, pleasant Sunday afternoon meetings and congregational churches of the more advanced type. The tune to which it is set, aptly fitted to the words, has a great hold upon those who sing it. The hymn was the handiwork of Ebenezer Elliott, the Sheffield Corn Law Rhymer, a sturdy, uncompromising Democrat, with a heart embittered against the landed classes, whose chief aim in making laws in those days seemed to him to be keeping up the price of bread, regardless of the needs of the hungry poor. But the whirling of time brings about strange revenges, and Sheffield which in the rough, rude rhymes of Ebenezer Elliott doomed the Protectionist to perdition now returns Col. Howard Vincent to parliament to champion Protection masked as Fair Trade.

When wilt Thou save the people?
O God of mercy, when?
Not kings alone, but nations?
Not thrones and crowns, but men?
Flowers of Thy heart, O God, are they;
Let them not pass, like weeds, away—
Their heritage a sunless day.
God save the people!

Shall crime bring crime forever,
Strength aiding still the strong?
Is it Thy will, O Father,
That man shall toil for wrong?
"No," say Thy mountains; "No," Thy skies;
Man's clouded sun shall brightly rise,
And songs ascend instead of sighs.
God save the people!

When wilt Thou save the people?
O God of mercy, when?
The people, Lord, the people,
Not thrones and crowns, but men?
God save the people, Thine they are,
Thy children, as Thine angels fair;
From vice, oppression and despair,
God save the people!

Tune—"Commonwealth."
Dayton, Ohio.

The Millennium.

Ask for no mild millennium;
Our world shall never be nobler than its inhabitants;
Never be nobler than you and I, blind brother.

What is this world but our secret natures opened and stamped into cities?
The smoke of the mills is only the vapor of our soft-coal hearts;
The slums of the poor and the drab palaces of the rich are the filth of our spirits;
The curses of the world are but the unleashed beast in us roaming the streets.

Here and there is one shining among us;
He is not a conqueror of tools, but a conqueror of self;
He strides like a sun in the crowds and people are glad of him;
He did not wait for a millennium to perfect him;
He did not see the need of sanitation and pure food to help him to a soul;
He wrestled with the antagonist in his own breast and emerged victorious.

Give us a hundred million such, and a greater world is upon us;
But give us only a perfect world, and it shall be a coat that misfits us.
Stagnation and sin shall be there as surely as they are deep in our hearts.
—James Oppenheim's "Songs for the New Age."

She Didn't Understand.

Kansas City Star: Mrs. X. relates that while in London she inquired in a shop if they had any fresh eggs.

"Yes, mum, plenty," said the clerk; "them with a hen on 'em are fresh."

"I don't see any with a hen on them," said Mrs. X., looking for a nest.

"The letter 'hen,' mum, not the bird. 'Hen stands for nooiaid,' mum."

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

The Friendly Attitude.

The world gives back to us just about the treatment we accord it. Society is a sort of mirror reflecting our own faces. It laughs or it scowls when we do. The attitude of people toward us is ours toward them. It was interesting to note how in the crowded shopping season just past tired clerks would respond to courtesy and consideration, and how, on the other hand, there generally was a pepper pot behind the counter if one stood before it.

It is true the world over that they receive the most consideration who are the most ready to extend it. If jealousy, suspicion, moroseness, are very likely to be repaid in kind, so are generosity, kindness and cordiality. It depends on ourselves what sort of treatment is meted out.

A friendly attitude toward all sorts and conditions of men is one great secret of happiness. It wields a sort of pleasure that grouchy sprits never know. It is amazing and encouraging to discover streaks of gold in characters who never before displayed such treasure. The magnet that brings the precious metal to the surface is named kindliness.

Wise Shakespeare advises

The friends thou hast, and their adoption tried,
Grapple them to thy soul with hoops of steel,
But do not dull thy palm with entertainment
Of each new-hatch'd, unfledg'd comrade.

That is good advice so far as it goes, but following it too faithfully might leave us in a very restricted circle. There are potential friends all about if one will approach them in the right spirit. And of friends no man ever yet had too many.

A rich man or one of high estate may die and leave behind the merest handful of those who really care. Not half a dozen people may attend the funeral for other than the conventional reasons of family connection or business association. On the other hand, we know people neither rich nor famous, whose lives are of solicitous interest to multitudes simply because they have shown the friendly attitude. You remember the experience of Pollyanna when she got hurt and couldn't longer play the "glad game." Her aristocratic aunt was astonished at the motley crowd who called at the door to inquire for their little helper. It is simply an illustration in fiction duplicated every day in fact of the proverb: "He that hath friends must show himself friendly."

Why should not one start this new year in the practice of friendliness? Let him cultivate a sincere purpose of kindness, or helpful interest, of willingness to "do a good turn" as the Boy Scouts say, in large matters or in small to as many as possible of those who cross his path. Starting beneath one's own roof that purpose may extend to the whole circle of business, school, shop and social acquaintances with whom one has to do. It is an almost unfailing recipe for making 1915 a year rich in blessing.

Some there may be who will resist the kindliest overtures. Of course, one cannot make friends with those who stubbornly refuse to be friendly. The incorrigibly cross-grained people we must leave to the good Lord, who knows how to get along with them. But the greater part of the world waits for friendship, friendship which is the heavenly note in our human relations and the essence of religion itself.

One is not going to stagnate in the new year if he catches the spirit of these lines:

I would be friend of all; the foe, the friendless;
I would be giving and forget the gift;
I would be humble, for I know my weakness;
I would look up, and laugh, and love, and lift.

REPUBLICAN PROGNOSTICATIONS

By SAVOYARD

Washington, Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—A Mr. Hilles, from Ohio, possibly, is the chief-of-staff of the Republican party—that is, he is chairman of the Republican national committee and thus he should be "a man of anagosity and general understanding throughout the neighborhood," such as was the Democratic candidate for the legislature in Kentucky nearly half a century ago, when "damnYankee" was not two words in that bailiwick. Mr. Hilles is a wonderful prognosticator. For example, the week before election in 1912, but predicted that William Howard Taft would sweep the country as the Republican candidate for president and be triumphantly reelected. And since the election of 1914 Mr. Hilles is kept busy forecasting the result in 1916 and as a computer of unhatched chickens I doubt if this country ever saw his match, not even in "Johngee" Thompson, also of Ohio, when that gentleman was sergeant-at-arms of the national house of representatives—Sam Randall, speaker.

Not only is Mr. Hilles assured that his party will elect the president and gain a majority in the house of representatives, but he sees a Republican majority in the senate, also. He will allow the Democrats no show anywhere except in heaven and the Solid South. Nay, he even has designs in Maryland. What has Maryland "went and done?"

I can appreciate the roseate hopes of Mr. Hilles. I am old enough to recall Democratic predictions of 1880, when the defeat of the Democratic party looked like an impossibility. In 1877 the party of "Great Moral Ideas" had stolen the presidency. In the "off year" election of 1878 the Democrats secured a large majority in the house of representatives, and for the first time after the secession of the cotton states the senate of the United States was Democratic, made so by the great fraud of 1877. Samuel J. Randall was speaker and Allen G. Thurman president of the senate pro tempore. Everything was beatific and the anserine fowl that saved Rome was suspended altitudinously—so far as concerned the Democratic camp.

Nor was that all—a big factional fight was embarrassing the Republican party. Frequently the police had to be called out to keep the peace between the Grant men and the Blaine men. The betting was more than 2 to 1 on the Democracy. The Republicans nominated Garfield, whose hand was in the Credit Mobilier dish up to the elbow. Roscoe Conkling refused to have speech with him—"except in the presence of a third person in whose veracity I have some confidence."

In short, we thought we had the world in a sling, that the melon had only to be cut for the Democratic feast.

The Democrats had but one thing to do to sweep the country, and no Republican dreamed that they would fail to do it. That thing was the renomination of the old ticket, Tilden and Hendricks. But there came a multitude of candidates for the Democratic nomination. Some of them were Allen G. Thurman and Henry G. Payne of Ohio, William R. Morrison of Illinois, W. S. Hancock and Samuel J. Randall of Pennsylvania, Thomas A. Hendricks of Indiana, Thomas F. Bayard of Delaware and Stephen J. Field of California. Then a boom was started for Horatio Seymour of New York that would have prevailed had it been a little less premature.

Hancock was nominated. Levi P. Morton carried the hat around in the Union League club. Dudley mustered the floaters of Indiana. The Greenback party was made an adjunct to the G. O. P.. New York was bought outright and the Democrats lost the election. And here is what really beat 'em. John Sherman put the treasury on a specie basis in 1879.

Well, some of our Republican friends, especially Mr. Hilles, appear to be very nearly as confident of success in 1916 as we Democrats were in 1880. And there is the vastest army of candidates mentioned for the nomination ever before heard of. Here are some of them—Whitman, Cortelyou and Hughes of New York, Herrick, Harding, Willis and Burton of Ohio, McCall of Massachusetts, Alden Smith of Michigan, Mann of Illinois, Hadley of Missouri, Borah of Idaho, Cummins of Iowa, and others. I do not know what Penrose thinks about it; but tell me his choice and my money goes on his man for the nomination. Penrose is boss of the "personnel" and Aldrich is the sage of the "principles" of the G. O. P.

Hilles says the tariff is to be the paramount. That means that the taxing power is again to be handed over to the manufacturers to regulate for the graft they can make out of it, which is a-plenty; but there is likely to be a hitch. They cannot make another monopoly tariff, which is the ideal taxation from the Republican standpoint, without the assent of the wool grower. The shepherd has found out what a heap of people have long known—that if the American weaver has to pay a tariff on his imported wool, amounting in gross to tens of millions of dollars, he will have tens of millions of dollars less with which to buy domestic wool. Thus under the free wool in the tariff American wool commands a greater price than it ever did when that commodity was "protected." And wool is the one and only article of merchandise known to the mart that is so affected in our tariff laws.

The American people are a just and a sensible electorate. No intelligent man believes and no candid man will say that the Underwood tariff has had half a chance. The other reforms put into the law of the land by the Democratic party since Wilson became president postponed the trial of the tariff, and then came the deplorable war in Europe to upset all calculations. Mr. Hilles is depending on the ignorance of the voter.

And the Democratic party with Woodrow Wilson at its head welcomes the tariff as the paramount of 1916.

HEALTH TALKS

The New International Air

THE ALLIES in their damp, cold trenches have not as yet developed any devastating epidemics of pneumonia, if we may rely on the censored press bulletins. Nor will they. Pneumonia is not an outdoor disease. In order to get pneumonia you have to live in comparative comfort indoors.

One reason why pneumonia is not an open air disease is that the pneumonia and common "cold" germ the pneumococcus, is a hothouse parasite which cannot survive in cold air. Another reason why people living in the open air are not made ill by cold weather is that cold air increases physical resistance against infections of all kinds.

If the armies come through the great war without having suffered severe casualties from "taking cold," that record ought to encourage thinking people all over the civilized world to adopt a new international air—cold, fresh air.

No longer can the old school sanitarian sit back behind his red flannel chest protector and oracularly assert that you can have fresh air and warm air together, for science has proved that you can't. In fact, it has been clearly shown that fresh air depends for its freshness on its coolness and motion. The new international air must be cool and moving, not warm and standing still.

A cold draft is essential for real ventilation. There is no use in pretending that good ventilation can be secured without a draft, and there is positive proof in all recent investigations of "fresh air" that the draft must be cool or cold if it is to bring health to the indoors.

Let us all join in breathing the new international air at every opportunity, and giving thanks for the germicidal, tonic, upbuilding influence of the undoctored air just as Dame Nature prescribes it.

Mrs. M. D. M. writes: Oct. 8, 1914, your Health Talk dealt with the influence of septic conditions of the mouth upon joint disease. At that time I was practically a helpless invalid—knees, ankles, hips and feet nearly useless. Following the hints you gave, I had a good dentist remove some old crowns. He found pus under them. I had an X-ray photograph of the jaw taken, like the case you cited. It showed unsuspected abscesses in the jaw bone. These were at once surgically treated. Now, thanks to your invaluable lesson, my joints are so much improved that I get about with little trouble.

Nostrums and Quackery: I am a physical instructor in a large boys' organization. Can you suggest a book which will tell the truth about patent medicines and quack doctors? Something which will enable me to set the boys right when occasions arise.

REPLY.

The American Medical association, 535 North Dearborn street, Chicago, Ill., publishes an authoritative volume, "Nostrums and Quackery." It covers this large field in a manner most convincing. The book should be in every public library.

Blood Pressure: G. F. H. asks: 1. What is meant by blood pressure? 2. What instrument is used for measuring or testing blood pressure? 3. What is the result of high blood pressure?

REPLY.

1. It is the pressure of the column of blood in the arteries, which depends on the muscular force of the heart beat, the elasticity or rigidity of the arterial walls, the resistance of the small arteries in the kidney and brain, and somewhat also the general muscular tone. 2. Various instruments, with dial or mercury column indicators which are connected with a pneumatic cuff upon the upper arm. The cuff is pumped full of air until, by increasing pressure upon the arm, it shuts off the pulse at the wrist. The pressure required to shut off the pulse is indicated by the scale of the instrument. It is as simple and painless as counting the pulse. 3. High blood pressure is a symptom, not a cause, of Bright's disease, arterial disease and certain acute toxic states.

THE CASE OF BELGIUM---BY GEORGE BERNARD SHAW

Belgium, Innocent, Has Saved Her Own and the World's Honor, Declares Great English Writer, In Saying England and France Should Have Saved Belgium—Let Them Not Revile Germany—Shaw Demands That the World Pay the Just Debt Owing to Belgium.

George Bernard Shaw has contributed this article for the relief of Belgium direct to the Commission for Relief of Belgium, 71 Broadway, New York. In his letter to the commission forwarding the article, Mr. Shaw suggests, in true Shaw vein, that the commission give permission for a republication of the copyrighted article to any newspaper or magazine "throughout the world as long as there remains a single German soldier on duty in Belgium."

If I were to say to a Belgian that fine words butter no parsnips, he would wonder what on earth I meant. That is perhaps fortunate; for if ever a nation had reason to remind the world of that saying, it is the Belgian nation at the present crisis.

I am afraid many of us have a rather complacent impression that France and Britain came in a very handsome way to the rescue of brave little Belgium, and that it is a noble trait in their character that they have upheld the Treaty of London (1829) these seventy-five years for Belgium's benefit. Now the king of the Belgians is far too chivalrous to let fall one word in criticism of that attitude. Therefore, as gentlemen, we who are on the Franco-British side must criticize it ourselves. We must confess that though Belgium has saved us, we have not saved Belgium. At the battle of Waterloo the British lay down snugly behind the ridge, and placed the Belgian brigade on the exposed forward slope of it to be hammered to pieces by the terrible cannonade and then cut to ribbons by the charges that routed our own artillery. And some English writers were not ashamed to disparage Belgian valor because the British squares stood up to the charges at the top of the hill when the uncovered Belgian bridage fell before a hail of cannon balls. No Belgian then complained of being allotted the post of danger; it was his right on his own soil to claim it.

And Then at Liege.

History repeated itself at Liege. There, too, Belgium was at the post of danger. There she held the bridge for the whole west of Europe against Prussia, and never once looked back to ask, "Where are the French and British?" Where, indeed? Alas! it was a long way to Tipperary; and what were Napoleon's twelve-pounders and twenty-four-pounders to the kaiser's howitzers that from impossible distances could blow whole forts into the sky? Well, all the generals of Britain and France have since come into the field; but none of them can yet claim the laurel of the mathematician of Liege who called his admiring captors to witness that he had been taken alive only because he had been taken insensible. To his magnificent warrlorship even the Prussians took off their hats. Nothing that we can say about it can pay our debt to it.

For I repeat, France and Britain did not save Belgium. Liege fell. Brussels has fallen, and Antwerp, and Ghent, and Bruges, and Ostend. Louvain has been sacked more scientifically than Ismail by Suwarrow; towns like Termonde have had the fiery chariot of war driven to and fro over their corpses until they are thrice slain, like the dead in a liar's story; and the Belgian government has been driven out into a foreign land. What worse could have happened to Belgium had she stood alone against the world? Well may her enemy laugh to scorn "the scrap of paper" that guaranteed her integrity. It will be time enough for Belgium's friends to revile Germany for that when they have made the scrap of paper good.

For they must make it good. If they do not drive the Germans out of Belgium and offer their armies as the guard of honor to the most popular monarch in Europe on the day when he takes his seat again on his throne in Brussels, they will be either dishonored or beaten. If they sign a treaty leaving the kaiser one square inch of Belgian soil except under such compulsion as would force them to give him Portsmouth, Belfort and Verdun as well, they may as well tear up their flags and live by letting lodgings to foreigners and cheating them over their bills.

The Case of Belgium.

Most unfortunately for Belgium, it has been almost impossible hitherto to procure publicity for an adequate acknowledgment of this obligation or a fair statement of her case. The horror inspired by war is so great that all the belligerent nations began by insisting that they were engaged in a defensive war. They would have it that they were the innocent victims of an unscrupulous and unexpected aggression. Germany protests that she is defending her frontiers from a conspiracy of France with Russia and England to destroy her. England until very recently claimed that she had been rudely awakened from a dream of perpetual peace by Germany's violation of the treaty of 1839, guaranteeing the neutrality of Belgium. Austria was avenging an assassination. Russia was rescuing a gallant little Slavonic nation from Teutonic imperialism. France was wrestling with a wanton invasion. None of them would admit any responsibility for the war. Consequently none of them would admit any responsibility for the devastation of Belgium.

Sympathy? Yes, any quantity of sympathy. Compliments to her heroism? Yes, dithyrambs galore. Reinforcements? By all means; the British and French guns are raining shells on Belgian villages and towns as liberally as the Germans; in fact, they now boast of having established a superiority in artillery, which means that no German can live within range of their howitzers and of the famous soixante quinze. Splendid, but no Belgian can live within that range either; and the net result is that there are seven million Belgians deprived of their means of livelihood in their own country (not counting refugees who have left it) who must perish of simple starvation unless a £1,000,000 a month, or $5,000,000, or 25,000,000 francs are forthcoming to feed them.

And where is the Belgian government to find those millions when it is itself exiled and ruined? Mr. Partridge's fine cartoon shows us King Albert facing the kaiser with his country ravaged but his honor intact; but King Albert cannot pawn his honor for a million a month, nor can his people live on cartoons. The very Germans themselves are treating Belgium better than the allies; for they at least assume charge of the cities they have seized, and, by treating them as German cities by right of conquest, accept responsibility for the inhabitants.

The Cry of the Hungry Child.

The allies shake their fists and cry, "We shall come and bombard you and drive you out and run up the Belgian flag presently; just you wait and see," which is all very martial and proper in its way; but look at it from the point of view of a hungry child and the parents to whom it is crying in vain for bread, and deny, if you can or dare, that there is something more imperative in that child's call to the justice of Providence, more terrible and sacred in its appeal to your own conscience, and more agonizing in the grip it lays on your very entrails, than all the threats, all the defiances, all the carnage and the glory and the crosses, iron and Victoria and Legion (the only sort of crosses worshiped in war time), and all the thundering explosions drowned every groan and every cry except that curious, magical cry that penetrates everything—the cry of the hungry child.

We must face the truth and shoulder our responsibility. There is only one country on which this war has been forced, and that country is Belgium. And all the belligerent countries have forced this war on her. It matters not which side you take—that of Germany and Austria or that of France, Russia and Britain—the fact remains, for you as for those who oppose you, that Belgium was utterly powerless to prevent either of these warlike alliances, and that it has been openly known to all the world for years that when the two finally came to blows, the first attack would inevitably be made by Germany through Belgium. There was no concealment about it. The strategic railway system leading to the Belgian frontier was not a secret in a pigeon hole, nor were the articles in which Mr. Belloc and other military experts pointed to Liege as the predestined first battlefield any less public than the latter articles in which the Times congratulated Mr. Belloc on the exactness of his forecast.

On a previous occasion (1870), Britain had offered her own neutrality as the price of Belgium's; and Belgium was spared at that price. This time such a price was out of the question. All the powers proceeded with strict correctness. France and Britain readily undertook to respect Belgian neutrality if Germany respected it—a very proper pledge, but of little comfort to Belgium when all the parties knew that Germany would not respect it. Germany with equal readiness declared her determination to respect international conventions and not to lose sight of the fact that Belgian neutrality was guaranteed by international treaties.

Holes in Neutrality Treaties.

But there is a hole in all neutrality treaties through which any state can drive a coach-and-six. Germany drove a whole army through it. She asked for a right of way for her army, undertaking to pay all expenses and to make good all unavoidable damages; and she added that a refusal would place her at such a disadvantage that she would interpret it as an act of war on the part of Belgium. Britain then informed the Belgian government that she expected Belgium to resist the passage of Germany by every means in her power; and the terms of this communication were sufficiently peremptory to suggest that compliance with Germany's demand might

Thus Belgium was between the devil and the deep sea. She was forced to make her soil the field of battle for the most destructive warfare ever waged in the world's history. Can it be denied that there is here no question of the romantic rescue of a distressed nation by British and French knights errant, but a deliberate infliction upon her of a frightful calamity by those who professed to defend her no less than by those who made war on her? Grant, if you like, that the calamity was necessary and inevitable; that it will end in a happier, freer, better Europe, as all the belligerents declare it must if only they are victorious. All the more reason why its cost should be spread over all the nations, and not flung with crushing weight on Belgium, who had no European grievances, no European ambitions, no stake in the Balkans, no dread of Russia, no quarrel with France or Germany, and no complications with England.

Yet it is on her soil that the mighty armies of these other powers insist on fighting their battles; it is her cities that they have bombarded her villages that they sweep away in hurricanes of fire, and her people whom they ruin and murder; whilst, as if all this were not enough, the Germans force her to take up arms herself in defence of her national honor, and the French and British use her army as an auxiliary force, and thrust it into the forefront of the battle to take the first assault of the best prepared belligerents until they are themselves quite ready to take the field in earnest. If Belgium proudly accepted that peril with out a remonstrance, are we to make her acceptance an excuse for denying our full responsibility in the matter?

Belgium's Larger View.

So far, I have put the position with strict impartiality as between the two belligerent alliances; for I know quite well how tired the neutral nations are of the endless assurances they receive of the spotless innocence of the people who give the assurances and the abandoned villainy of their opponents. But I must now dwell on the services rendered to western democracy by Belgium when she at last had to take sides in the conflict. That point was reached when, after she had vindicated her honor and proved her military capacity by her thrilling defense of Liege, the Germans made a full acknowledgement of her prowess, and renewed their offer to pay their way and respect her national rights. Now there can be no question that Belgium, having done enough for honor, and indeed astonished Europe by doing much more than enough, would have been held justified in accepting Germany's proposal. Many people still think that she should have done so; and they are right as far as her own immediate interest was concerned.

But Belgium took a larger view. She refused the offer in the interests of democracy, which was the real issue at stake between Prussia and France, and thereby placed not only all democratic Europe but America as well under a sacred obligation to her. If she had done this at a moment when she was reinforced by the armies of France and Britain, and elated by a prospect of immediate triumph for them, we might have discounted her action as a mere exercise of prudence. But she did it when her position was desperate; when her enemy was pressing her with overwhelmingly superior numbers; and when her friends, who had quite failed her at Liege, were unable to hold their own ground or even resist being swept back almost to the gates of Paris. Brussels was defenseless; and Antwerp, the city most precious to Belgium and most coveted by Germany, could no longer, after the fate of the Liege forts, imagine itself impregnable. Yet Belgium did not hesitate. She sacrificed Antwerp and saved Calais, and all that Calais meant, not to her, but to France and England, and through England to America.

If, after this, one Belgian goes without a full meal whilst thousands of lapdogs are living in luxury from Canterbury to San Francisco and from Biarritz to Venice, there is really nothing more to be said for mankind.

Britain's duty in the matter is very clear. She should relieve Holland of her ruinous overload of Belgian refugees. Holland's hospitality has been wonderful; but her resources are hopelessly overtaxed by it; she cannot provide for the material wants of the refugees and of her own now dangerously overcrowded frontier villages and towns. The British government should quite simply offer to transport Belgian refugees to the British islands, preferably to Ireland, a Catholic country where there is plenty of room, and give them all the advantages enjoyed by our prisoners of war without the loss of their liberty. It would be fair to extend this succor to refugees in France also, because, as the war is now being waged on French soil, the French have their own refugees on their hands. Also—though no Frenchman or Belgian will confirm me in this—I am persuaded that in England, where every Belgian is a stranger and a hero, he will be more comfortable than in France, where he is not exactly a foreigner and not exactly a Frenchman, and is therefore sometimes a little at a disadvantage.

Nothing Between Belgium and Starvation.

But all this leaves untouched the plight of the Belgians in Belgium. The efforts that are being made to help the Belgians in France and Holland and England do not reach them. Their position is desperate, and must remain so until the Germans are driven out of their country. In the parts held by the Germans their plight is bad enough; for as the Germans are in the position of a tenant with a very short lease, they will not spend money on the premises, being indeed much more bent on removing everything that is not a fixture; and elsewhere all the industries are at a standstill because of the war.

There is absolutely nothing between them and starvation except the contributions of the citizens of the world who realize that if Belgium had done nothing more than raise the courage of the whole world by her astonishing feat of holding up an apparently irresistibly superior force for just long enough to save French democracy from annihilation and give the prestige of Prussian militarism its first and most surprising check, a contribution to the funds of the commission for relief in Belgium is the payment of a debt, and not a caprice of charity. I have tried to show, I hope successfully, that the circumstances under which that service was rendered greatly add to the obligation, and in particular that Belgium, though first and bravest in the field, is the one belligerent there who cannot by any possible sophistry be accused of having brought about the bloodshed and destruction from which she has been the greater sufferer.

Not Willed by Belgium.

Everywhere you will find men angrily asserting or denying that Russia willed this war, that Germany willed it, that Austria willed it, that Britain willed it, that France willed it. Nobody asserts that Belgium willed it except the Prussian militarists trying to make a desperate case for the lengths to which the worst usages of war have been pushed against Belgium; and them no disinterested person even pretends to believe.

I therefore make, not an appeal, but a claim on Belgium's behalf which she is too gracious to make for herself. She has taken for her people with the thanks due to a benefactor the payments offered by her debtors, and has never reminded us that we have paid but a small installment of what we owe her. It is true that the debt has been acknowledged by all England's most illustrious spokesmen, poets and composers, in King Albert's Gift Book.

But we must pay as well as acknowledge; and we must even pay the more generously as our acknowledgment has stopped short just so far short of complete justice as our bias about the war stops short of the utter honest truth about it. And that truth is, as I have said, that of all the belligerents, Belgium and Belgium alone is innocent of all warlike designs; whilst, as to the neutral nations there is not one of them that will not be a gainer by Belgium's sacrifice.

JAMES J. JEFFRIES WAS GREATEST PHYSICAL SPECIMEN RING HAS KNOWN

This Huge Man, Impervious to the Blows of the World's Greatest Hitters, This Throwback to an Ancient World of Physical Might, Was Wrecked in the End and Rendered a Weakling.

By BRUCE.

LET us now conversationally approach the milk and honey period of pugilism—a prosperous period of the heavyweight division of the game when real men fought real battles.

There was Fitzsimmons, and there was also James J. Corbett. Tom Sharkey labored and got rich in this effulgent period, and Gus Ruhlin, Joe Choynski and James J. Jeffries also fought. Jack Johnson was a pugilistic parvenue, unrecognized, though industriously clamoring for food and lodging at the public cost.

It is of James J. Jeffries that we are going to talk; not of the ultimate end of all his career, but of the vast and boundless physical resources that went crumbling to waste.

Once we were talking to a professional strong man. This was an unusual professional strong man; not because he was strong, but rather because he had a lot of brains. This strong man poured over old Bill Shakespeare's words, knew Balzac, Keats, Shelly, Voltaire and could talk on philosophy and hidden sources of history. Therefore he was unusual—for a professional strong man.

When the name of Jeffries was mentioned, he threw aloft his hands and exclaimed with real and unfeigned enthusiasm: "The last word in physical men; a superb work of nature."

And so Jeffries was. Every once in a while conditions or nature, in a bountiful mood, or a whimsical mood, for Dame Nature is a fickle jade, molds a man far beyond the average breakable children of clay, and spectacled men of books, recluses and students of strange facts and effects ponder upon the reversion of type theory or the throw back to prehistoric ages, as they call it.

In the days when men walked the face of old Mother Earth wrapped in the skins of wild animals and fought with club and stone, might was the only law, the immutable law of primitive man. Archeologists have given us strange pictures of huge and bearded men, sinewy and bulky, beings one might have expected to live in an age where killing a man was merely killing him, and murder and district attorneys were quite unknown.

What a wonder Jeffries would have been in this age. Limbs that resembled huge columns of chiseled marble, and a body that reminded one of the statue of Hercules, with a torso so spreading and a chest so thick, and a body so big that the mind of spectactor was wafted back to the days when gladiators fought for life in the arenas of ancient Rome.

Not Merely Bulk.

This huge man was not merely bulk; bulk and nerve force and agility and concentration are vastly different. Ed Dunkhorst, the "human freight car," was bulk and hard to move, and yet a first class middleweight could lick him. Herr Placke of Holland, weighed around 300 pounds, and Kid McCoy made him quit in a round or two.

Jeffries was huge, fast, untiring and possessed the greatest nerve force of any heavyweight of any time.

Go back along the stretch of the years, throw them all into the hopper of time—Sullivan, Sharkey, one of the toughest man of any age; Figg, Gentleman Jackson, Jem Mace, and all the rest, and it will be found that James J. Jeffries was physically the greatest of them all.

Ever since the blissful day that Adam and consort Eve strolled in the Garden of Eden, it has been the tendency of the children of men to follow the example of their distinguished forebears and clutter up the path of righteousness.

In 10,000,000 men of clay Jeffries stood forth, a flower of nature, a radiant being of physical perfectness.

What the Gods give, men cast asunder, or something like that runs the proverb. The vitality and nerve force and the energy the forces of life create, Jeffries flung away.

The mighty Fitzsimmons struck Jeff time and time again with sledge hammer blows on jaw and head, and shaking his shaggy head, as a great Dane might fling off the attack of a child armed with a club, the giant beat the world's hardest hitter because the world's hardest hitter tired himself out hitting an unbeatable man.

That sultry night at Coney Island, where those at the ringside panted and sweltered under the glare of the huge moving picture lights, Sharkey dealt Jeffries five successive blows on the jaw. The huge man, his swarthy body hair-covered like some strange man-beast, shook off the blows and came plodding on, finally breaking the ribs and crushing forever the fighting effectiveness of one of the toughest men that the game ever threw up on the sands of pugilism.

Men searched the world, as they are doing now, for a man to give Jeffries a fight. The miner, Munroe, was unearthed. This was the last stand of Jim Jeffries. Munroe weighed nearly as much as Jeffries; the difference was that Munroe was a man of ordinary clay, while Jeff was a throw back, a physical type in a mob of 10,000,000 mortals of this polyglot world of ours.

Jack Munroe was crushed down, a bleeding, broken mass, in two short rounds—and Jeffries retired.

But Jeffries failed to take care of himself. Nature, from her grandstand seat up above, must have groaned, if only for a moment at the insidious destruction of her work of infinite perfection, this nature's chef d'oeuvre; sighed softly once, and then smiled the enigmatical, cynical, world weary smile that one learns with disappointments.

Jeffries entered the ring with the black Johnson. The world read with interest. It read that Jeffries weighed the more and was bigger in every way. It forgot, or never knew, those vivid nights; it forgot that man is a limited institution, or that drops of water wear away the surface of rocks.

It was bulk, dead, weary, burned out that fought Jack Johnson. Cross that out of your memory; go back to the last fight before that and wonder about this cave man, as the tired and dyspeptic business man sometimes vaguely wonders, as he peruses the story of Samson and the temple.

Only those who study athletics and athletes can sense the physical greatness of Jeffries. His fighting instinct was not apace with his strength or amazing nerve force. God made him in the light of a perfect physical man; and the follies of the children of earth made him a human weakling, a shadow of his former self, a crumbling, creaking, whimsy old piece of machinery, that went creaking down to destruction like the one horse chaise.

Samson performed the climatic feat of his career when he slew himself; Jeffries slew himself pugilistically and accomplished nothing.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 9.—The Sault made it two straight last night when it defeated Calumet by a 3-to-1 score, the lone tally for the visitors being registered when Reynolds shot the disc into the net from a few yards distance, at an offside face-off. Calumet worked harder last night than Thursday night, playing more combinations and getting more shots at the net. Tallion, the Sault goal tender, made many brilliant stops and prevented many a Calumet shot from scoring.

Stroud played the star game for the visitors. Murray, Godin and Coutu starred for the locals. The defensive playing of the Sault forwards warded off many perfect combinations that would otherwise have been dangerous. Several times Reynolds and St. George broke away in clear ice, but the shots were either wild or stopped in spectacular form by Tallion. Hogan and Treglown were not as much in evidence last night. Their attempted rushes were invariably stopped by the Sault's forward line. Lineup:

HORACE JACKSON.

Horace Jackson of Chicago is one of the most ardent followers of outdoor sports in the West. Approaching the biblical age of three score and ten, this hardy man loves the woods, the paths of nature, and the fields of winter with the zest of a man half his age.

Mr. Jackson has been a member of the Chicago Board of Trade for the last forty years. He has hunted and tramped along the North shore. Now he is coming to Duluth to attend the twenty-second annual bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling association.

This venerable sportsman is not coming to play, but to watch this unique sporting event. It is a boost for the spiel, when a man will come all the way from Chicago to witness it; and it is the greatest kind of a boost when a man of the character of Mr. Jackson makes the trip.

ARRANGING DEFENSE.

Ban Johnson and Garry Herrmann Getting Matters Ready.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—The defense of organized baseball against the anti-trust suit instituted by the Federal league will be handled entirely by the national commission, it was announced by President Johnson of the American league. No definite plans for defense have yet been drawn up, according to Johnson, and the lawyers who will wage the commission's fight are yet to be chosen.

Chairman Herrmann at Cincinnati, with whom Johnson over the telephone discussed preliminary arrangements, probably will select the lawyers.

Coach Re-Engaged.

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 9.—The re-engagement of Alfred Shrubb, the English long distance runner, as coach of the Harvard cross-country team, is announced.

ALL-AMERICAN TEAM.

President of A. A. U. Picks Best Amateur Athletes of Nation.

New York, Jan. 9.—The names of twenty club and four college athletes appear in the All-American athletic team as selected by Alfred J. Hill, president of the Amateur Athletic union. The A. A. U. executive, in continuing the annual selection of these teams yesterday, named amateurs from all parts of the country for the twenty-five events listed.

Hannes Kolehmainen is the only one nominated for two events. The East has the greatest representation, with fifteen names; the Pacific coast is second, with six, and the Middle West is third, with three.

In the all-college team selections, Cornell leads with four members of the 1914 nomination. The University of California places three and Pennsylvania two. Michigan, Yale, Dartmouth, Columbia and Maine athletes complete the team.

WINTER SPORT HAS BEGUN

'Varsity and Freshmen Quints Play Hard Scrimmage Game.

Handball, Hockey, Rifle Practice and Other Sports Under Way.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The basket ball squad celebrated the opening of the winter term by staging one of the hardest scrimmages of the season Tuesday night.

The first team consisted of Pynn, Little and Lewis, guards; Croswell and Timberlake, center; Petraborg and McGeary, forwards. Opposed to the 'varsity was the pick of the freshmen; Drew and Conlin, forwards; Plato and Gillan, center; and Wyman, Bigelow and Delmore guards. The freshmen played like veterans and gave the 'varsity a hard battle for forty minutes. The 'varsity is rounding into shape, and has developed endurance and team work in preparation for the Nebraska games which opened yesterday. They will have a week of rest and on Jan. 16 will meet Wisconsin for the first conference game of the year. Saturday night the game will be followed by an informal dance. Dancing was barred by the faculty two years ago on account of the extreme type of dancing. Last year it was again permitted, but once more barred by the faculty. By vote of the athletic board of control it was given a new lease of life this year, and after every game following the Nebraska game the university band will play for the dancers. The following is the Minnesota schedule for basket ball:

Jan. 8—Nebraska at Minneapolis.
Jan. 9—Nebraska at Minneapolis.
Jan. 16—Wisconsin at Minneapolis.
Jan. 22—Iowa at Minneapolis.
Feb. 6—Chicago at Minneapolis.
Feb. 12—Northwestern at Evanston.
Feb. 13—Iowa at Iowa city.
Feb. 15—Illinois at Minneapolis.
Feb. 20—Purdue at Minneapolis.
Feb. 26—Chicago at Chicago.
Feb. 27—Wisconsin at Madison.
March 2—North Dakota at Minneapolis.
March 6—Purdue at Lafayette.
March 8—Illinois at Urbana.
March 13—Northwestern at Minneapolis.

Handball Tourney.

The handball enthusiasts are now staging their second tournament. The university championship in the doubles began yesterday. The games down to the semi-finals were played yesterday afternoon, and the finals are being played today. Aaronson is again paired with Peterson. These two men won the doubles last year and stand a good chance of repeating. Sixteen teams composed of faculty men and students started play.

The all-university championship was decided just before school closed for the holidays, being again won by Sam Aaronson, a junior miner and a member of the 1913 baseball team, after a stiff contest with M. R. Kahner. The score in the finals was 21-14, 20-21 and 21-19. There were thirty-seven entries in the tournament and the contests were all fast and exciting.

Hockey Practice Resumed.

Varsity hockey practice, postponed from Tuesday night, was started Thursday afternoon. The rink the early part of the week was very soft, but the cold on Wednesday gave the rink-keepers a chance to reflood, and practice started again. Electricians have been installing lights and the rinks will be open to students and the teams in the evening as well as in the afternoon. Capt. Stickney, a rover; Gillard, a cover point; Smith, center; Shelley and Nelson, wings, and Cohen and Eward, goals, form this year's team. Casner, another member of last year's team, is not in school this semester. The limited amount of practice before Christmas gave the new men but little chance to show their work. Thirty men are trying out, many of whom have made records for themselves on well-known "prep" school teams. Manager Sam Gale has not completed his schedule, but from present indications a number of out-of-town games will be played, besides a number of games with the high schools, St. Thomas and the Twin City club team. Intra-mural hockey will be begun this week, when teams from every college in the university will begin practice on the big rink.

Cook Heads Soccer Team.

The Minnesota soccer team met Tuesday evening and eelcted Richard Cook, a junior academic, and a member of the basket ball squad, captain of next year's team. The soccer team, though playing only schools inside the state, had a very successful season, winning every game by a safe margin. Next season Coach Foster will endeavor to secure games with other universities in the conference.

The encouragement of the intra-mural sports is at present occupying the attention of the all-university council. A committee is being appointed consisting of a representative from each class in each college. It will be the duty of this committee to arrange for the organization of intra-mural teams in practically all lines of sport and to arrange the schedules between classes and colleges. This work is directly in harmony with the work of the department of physical education, which in recent years has endeavored to keep up a lively interest in every line of sport, thus giving a larger number of students an opportunity for exercise. Prof. Zellner is chairman of the committee, having been appointed by the university senate. Other student members of the committee have been appointed by the class presidents.

Interfraternity Basket Ball.

First steps for the coming season in interfraternity basket ball will be taken this afternoon when arrangements will be made for a schedule and division of the fraternities. Interfraternity basket ball has become a feature of university athletics. Every academic Greek organization will have a team in the tournament. This year a separate tournament will be held for the professional school "frats" who have been barred in previous years. The winner in the professional league will play the winner in the academic department for the championship.

The gymnasium team is putting in three nights a week in preparation for meets under direction of Coach W. K. Foster. Capt. West, one of the best gymnasts Minnesota has ever turned out, is in fine shape this year, and if he is backed by a fair team will stand a good show of winning honors in the season's contests. Among the thirty men trying for the team, Shulman, Erickson and Good seem to have the best chance of landing places on the team.

Prepare for Rifle Match.

Maj. E. S. Rollman of the University of Minnesota Rifle club received the official schedule of the Intercollegiate Rifle association on Wednesday. The former lineups of the teams scheduled Minnesota to shoot before Jan. 5, while the new one changes the date of the season to Jan. 14, when scores must be in for the Illinois match.

The team in its final form consists of Col. Lambert, Maj. Rollman, M. L. Countryman, Capt. T. G. Methwyn, Lieut. E. K. Smith, T. S. Carlson, A. J. Carlson, J. G. Bettridge, F. Feyer and V. C. Lawrence. The schedule calls for eleven matches, as follows:

Jan. 14—University of Illinois.
Jan. 21—Purdue.
Jan. 28—Michigan Agricultural college.
Feb. 4—Washington state.
Feb. 11—Cornell.
Feb. 18—Massachusetts Aggies.
Feb. 25—West Virginia university.
March 4—University of California.
March 11—United States Naval academy.
March 18—Iowa state university.
March 25—Norwich university.

JOHNSON TO MEET WILLARD

Match Made for World's Heavyweight Championship Battle at Mexico.

Big Money Figures in Agreement—Johnson Sails for Jaurez.

New York, Jan. 9.—Jack Johnson and Willard will meet in a 45-round bout for the heavyweight championship of the world at Juarez, Mex., on Saturday, March 6, next. Final arrangements to this effect were made here yesterday after other bids were received from Havana, Cuba, and Tijuana, Mex.

Johnson has been guaranteed $30,000, win, lose or draw, while Willard has been assured a minimum of $15,000 and may receive a much larger sum by sharing with the promoters.

Other offers to stage the bout came from a New York syndicate that was desirous of taking the bout to Havana, Cuba, and a California promoter who wished to have it held near Tijuana, Mex. The men interested believed, however, that the assurances of financial backing and concessions made by the Mexican officials and several business men of El Paso, Tex., for the Juarez proposition promised better results.

The bout will take place in the Juarez race track, and the management of the track promised suspension of racing if necessary, to facilitate the building of stands there for the accommodation of spectators.

When Johnson signed the articles a few weeks ago in Europe he was handed $1,000 for expenses, and yesterday $1,000 more was cabled to him at Buenos Aires, from which port he was to sail this morning on his way to Juarez.

Jess Willard will leave here today for Excelsior Springs, Mo., and then proceed to El Paso, where he will finish his training. He expects to weigh about 230 pounds when he enters the ring.

Johnson and his handlers will establish training quarters at Juarez as soon as he arrives there. The $2,000 which has been given Johnson for traveling expenses, will not be deducted from his guarantee of $30,000.

GOOD REPORT ON BOXING

Wisconsin Commission Tells Legislature of Remarkable Success.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 9.—Boxing in Wisconsin has been put on a high plane and the success in this commonwealth of state regulation of this form of athletics, has attracted wide attention, and the state has profited to the extent of over $12,000, according to a report of the state athletic commission prepared and issued today for presentation to the state legislature. The report says in part:

"There was more or less opposition to the commission when it was created, by those opposed to boxing, but wise and careful administration of the law and a total elimination of the evil features of the old time prize ring has won thousands of friends for the game. In fact, legalized boxing has met with state-wide approval. The general public interest in the sport is reflected in the fact that during the period covered by this report, including only one full winter season, nearly 150,000 persons have attended boxing exhibitions in the state and have paid for admission nearly a quarter of a million dollars. The commission has been most stringent in enforcing the law and there have been very few violations. In only one instance was a boxer accused of shamming. He was immediately given a hearing and on being found guilty, was barred from boxing in the state for a period of one year.

"Since its creation the commission has licensed thirty-four clubs, revoked three licenses and refused one."

The receipts of clubs operating under the commission, covering the period of the report, aggregate $245,613.40. Five per cent of this amount to which is added annual license fees of clubs and referees make the total paid into the state treasury $15,690.67.

The total expenses of the commission were $3,618.21, leaving the actual profit of the state at $12,072.46.

DILATORY TACTICS BY PORTAGE LAKE BREAK UP HOCKEY GAME

Referee Crassweller Forfeits Contest to Duluth After Twelve Minutes of Play When Haas Refuses to Leave Ice.

President Stephen Jones Wires League President That Houghton Must Leave League If Duluth Is to Remain.

NO GAME TONIGHT; MONEY GIVEN BACK

As a result of the forfeiture of the Portage Lake hockey contest of last evening, the scheduled game of this evening is off. The directors of the curling club took this action for their own protection and, as they declared, in the best interests of the sport. Those retaining the checks of their tickets can have their money refunded at the Kelley Hardware company's store today. Also those who have purchased tickets for the game of this evening can secure the return of their money at the same place.

BY BRUCE.

After twelve minutes of wonderfully fast play last evening in the Duluth-Portage Lake hockey contest, Ole Haas, center of the Portage Lake seven, became dog weary. To gain a rest the visiting player resorted, apparently, to any device to be put out of the game. Referee Crassweller finally put Haas on the fence for two minutes for loafing. Haas refused to leave the ice. Crassweller gave Haas two minutes to get off the ice on penalty of forfeiting the game. Haas was encouraged by his own men not to leave the ice. When the time limit of two minutes had expired the game was promptly and without the least hesitation forfeited to Duluth.

Thus a contest that promised some grand sport for a crowd of clean sport lovers numbering nearly 2,000 persons, was turned into a rank travesty and the game menaced, because a team of apparently morally irresponsible sportsmen chose deliberately and wantonly to break up a contest and act like a child whose stick of candy had been taken away during school hours by the teacher.

Duluth May Withdraw.

Immediately after the calling of the game the directors of the Duluth Curling club met in the directors' room of the building. The status of the case was reviewed thoroughly and every detail considered. At the conclusion of the meeting a telegram was sent to C. L. Webb, president of the American Hockey association, and John McNamara of the Portage Lake team, setting forth the ultimatum of the Duluth Curling club. Portage Lake will either withdraw from the league or the curling club team will no longer continue as a member of that organization.

Last night's forfeiture is the culmination of a series of incidents that have menaced the sport here and threatened to disgust the public with one of the greatest of all winter sports. Last winter the members of the Houghton team walked off the ice. Last winter also this same Haas was carried to the seats, feigning injury, and when on the under side of the bleachers, scampered merrily to the dressing room.

Houghton has stalled for time frequently in previous contests. Last evening the bluff of the visiting team went too far and was promptly called. It is the general belief that the Portage Lake players were vastly surprised at the decision of Referee Crassweller, imbued with the belief, as they were, that anything went down here.

Trouble Starts.

Before the start of the contest Hockey Manager Ernest Jacobi of the curling club suggested to the Portage Lake players that Servais, a Port Arthur player and official with a vast amount of practical experience, act as judge of play. The services of Servais were rejected on the ground that two of the Duluth players are former Port Arthur men and therefore Servais would prove partial.

Portage Lake players evidently entered the game with a determination to make trouble and to question any decision of the referee. The penalty inflicted on Haas was the first one of the game. It is stated that Haas swore several times at Crassweller before the penalty was inflicted. That is hearsay evidence.

After Referee Crassweller called the game and awarded it to Duluth, the Portage Lake players hung around like sulky kids. Some of the spectators believed that play would be resumed. Manager Jacobi speedily settled the matter by announcing through a megaphone that the game was over.

Duluth's Stand Right.

From the side of good sportsmanship, Duluth was right, and the decision and determination of Manager Jacobi is to be commended. Some one had to take a stand some time—and that a chap is in charge of the local team who possessed the "guts" to go to it when the emergency stuck its head out of a window and hurled defiance, is well for the future of the game.

As the whole matter stands today—one event will transpire, and one event alone: Houghton will leave the league or there will be no Western division of the American Hockey association, in so far as Duluth is concerned.

That is the one big event. What will happen? You will have to wait and see.

Representatives of the press visited the Portage Lake dressing room after the game to get the version of the visiting players. Carly Haug, a mild, blue-eyed Teuton, is the leader of the Portage Lake team. Right down in his heart Carly is deeply regretful of the happening. About an hour after the game the long train of consequences began to sink through the dome surface.

Carly's contention was that Referee Crassweller refused to listen to him—and that Haas was put off the ice for loafing near his own goal, which is permissible.

But Haug cannot explain away the fact that Haas, dog tired, with his tongue hanging out, was stalling for more time, perhaps for more time for the rest of the Portage Lake players, and refused to leave the ice when ordered.

Had Haas gone to the fence, it is possible and probable that Crassweller would have heard any protest that Haug, as captain of the team, might make. But Haas refused to leave the ice when ordered, and that fact throws in the scrap heap all of the contentions of the Houghton boys and renders null and void all arguments on the subject.

"Haas was loafing near his own goal," said Haug. "Tell me, can a player be put off the ice for that? I don't know why Haas was put off; the arguments weren't ready to play and Duluth showed poor sportsmanship in leaving the ice. I blame Joe Linder for a lot of the trouble."

That is the only argument advanced last evening. The fact that Ole Haas, dog tired, as Robert W. Service has it, wanted to get on the fence to rest, and he did, and then he could not resist the opportunity to sulk and beef—and Duluth won't stand for that sort of thing, as tactics of that nature are inimical to the best interests of sport, is the whole sum and beefy substance of the whole matter.

What Jacobi Says.

"There will be more hockey games here this season—and lots of them," said Manager Jacobi last evening. "Don't think or don't for one minute let the impression get abroad that this is the end of hockey. Cleveland, Winnipeg, Port Arthur, St. Paul and a host of other teams are ready and willing to come here. We will go after the biggest and best in the country. We have taken a stand for clean sport; we have taken this stand for the best interests of the sport here. Let me emphasize, that rather than quitting, we are going after big games with all the more determination."

"It is a crime," said he, "that such action could occur. We have worked several years to build up the game, we have earnestly endeavored to give the people clean sport, and then a deplorable incident like this occurs. We are satisfied we have taken the right stand—satisfied, in fact, that we took the only stand consonant with clean sport and the good name of the game."

What May Happen.

Calumet may drop out of the league and play independent hockey.

In the event that President Webb sees fit to uphold the action of Portage Lake, it probably means that Duluth will play independent hockey for the remainder of the season.

Following is the wire sent by President Stephen H. Jones to President Webb, and which was concurred in by the board of directors of the curling club:

"To Harry Webb, President American Hockey Association, Houghton, Mich.:

"Against referee's decision, Haas refused to leave the ice, and the Houghton team refusing to play, the game was awarded to Duluth. The board of directors of the Duluth Curling club at a special meeting, after the game, decided to withdraw from the league so long as Portage Lake remains in. There will be no game here tomorrow night.

"STEPHEN H. JONES,
"President Duluth Curling Club."

A similar wire was sent to John McNamara of the Portage Lake team.

HOW THE GAME LOOKED.

While the contest lasted only twelve minutes, it looked to a lot of persons as if Duluth had it on the Portage Lake outfit. The puck was in the visiting territory the greater part of the game and Duluth was using combination play and utilizing team work in a more effective manner than the visitors.

Portage Lake's combination was speedily and effectively broken up. The pace was beginning to tell on the visitors. Duluth was always coming and shooting them at the cage. As far as the old game went, it looked like Duluth.

MURRAY EASY FOR EDDIE M'GOORTY

Had Pacific Coast Middleweight About Out in Fourth.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 9.—Eddie McGoorty of Oshkosh, middleweight, last night easily defeated Billy Murray of San Francisco in a ten-round bout.

McGoorty took the lead in the first round, driving home several telling lefts and rights to Murray's face and stomach. The second round was a draw.

In the third session, Murray tore loose and drove a number of hard blows to McGoorty's face. The round was Murray's by a big lead.

The fourth opened slow but McGoorty soon stepped inside Murray's guard and drove two hard lefts to the face and stomach, putting Murray to the canvas for the count of nine. McGoorty failed to follow up his advantage and missed a chance to knock Murray down for the count.

The rest of the fight was slow, Murray taking the eighth by a shade and McGoorty having a big lead in the ninth.

The fight was McGoorty's by a wide margin in all but two rounds. After the fourth round the action was slow, both fighters slowing up and landing no blows with much force behind them.

Montreal, Que., Jan. 9.—Frankie Fleming of La Prairie, Que., featherweight champion of Canada, outpointed Tommy Houck of New York in a ten-round bout before the Canadian Athletic association here last night.

Toledo, Ohio, Jan. 9.—Johnny Kilbane, champion featherweight, outfought, outboxed and outdodged Frankie Dailey of La Trobe, Pa., in a ten-round match here last night. Both weighed under 133 pounds.

A NEW LIGHTWEIGHT IS COMING TO FIGHTING FRONT

JOHNNY GRIFFITHS.

Bowling Notes.

The Major league bowlers got back into the game Tuesday evening after being idle since Dec. 15. The Park Hotel and Big Duluth teams are still tied for the lead while the Three Winners have passed the Sharkcrafts in the percentage column. Both the Columbia Clothing company and People's Brewing company teams bowled three good games, but they were pitted against the two leaders, who were going a merry clip, consequently both teams lost three straight games. The Columbia team bowled errorless in their last game, still they were unable to win.

Deller and Whitney are running neck and neck for the individual leadership, Deller is leading by the small margin of eight pins.

Stauss got back into the game after being out of the lineup for some time. He bowled high score for the evening and incidentally increased his average from 171 to 182.

Sam Olsen nearly rolled 600. He fell short one pin.

TOURNEY SET FOR MARCH

At a meeting of the bowlers held at the Grand alleys last evening arrangements were made for the tournament which will be held from March 12 to 27, inclusive. The name was changed from the Head of the Lakes to the Northern Bowling association.

The following officers were elected: Fred Stiegler, president; Paul J. Schultz, vice president; Carl R. Berini, treasurer; N. Jenson, secretary.

Inquiries have already been received from several outside cities.

BRYANT IS CHAMPION

Little Frank Bryant easily retained his title of Northwestern roller skating champion when he vanquished Raymond Kelly of St. Paul in the mile contest at the Auditorium last evening. The mile was skated in the time of 3:19, Bryant catching his opponent on the fourteenth lap and coming home an easy winner.

The final contest of the series will be skated this evening. It will be a five-mile event with both skaters starting on the same mark. Bryant, after the great showing of the two previous evenings, expects to decisively defeat the St. Paul man and establish a new record for the Auditorium track.

Form shown by the Duluth boy in the two races has convinced his many followers that he is skating faster than ever. Negotiations were begun early today in an endeavor to get Harley Davidson here for a series of contests with Bryant. Harley Davidson is the most famous skater in the world and a remarkable athlete. He has just completed a tour of Australia. He won the big world's champion derby event in London several years ago, defeating the greatest roller skaters of the world.

GAME RALLY WAS IN VAIN

Central Basket Ball Team Defeated After Gallant Overtime Struggle.

In one of the most sensational exhibitions of basket ball ever staged on a local floor, the speedy Central high school quintet finally succumbed last night to their older, heavier and more experienced opponents, the Northland college five of Ashland, by the score of 26 to 23. The defeat, as the score indicates, was a heartbreaking one, but the local boys find consolation in the fact that it required five minutes of overtime playing for the college men to win out.

At the call of time the score was announced as a tie, 22 to 22. It was agreed to play five more minutes, and during this time the Northland men secured two baskets and Moore shot a foul, making the final score 26 to 23.

When the Ashland men trotted onto the floor they were decidedly the favorites. The game started with a rush, neither side scoring for a few minutes. Finally the college men began to draw away from the Central guards and things looked rather bad for the local boys. The invaders "loped" them in from all angles and before Central had realized that the game had begun the score stood 12 to 2, with the Northland men on the long end. Then the Red and White warriors took a sudden brace, realizing that if they were to keep down the score of the opposition, the guards could not run all over the floor, the forwards would have to scatter out and there would have to be more team work. The difference was soon noticeable. The contest became faster and the playing verged on the brilliant. The Northland men had obtained a big lead, but the Central men were fighting hard. The half finally ended with the Ashland team on the long end of a 17 to 10 score.

Brilliant Rally.

Even when the second half opened the majority of spectators did not concede the Centrals a chance. It was this half, however, that furnished the real thrills. Fighting hard every minute and holding the opposing forwards, the Red and White men began to slowly creep up on their opponents. The spectators were on their toes. The game was full of sensational playing and every man was fighting his hardest to win. Soon the contest became rough and several fouls were called. The Central team had caught them and for a second were ahead. Northland caught up and from then until the whistle blew there was a little of everything to see. It was a kind of a cross between a football game, a basket ball game, a wrestling match and a pugilistic bout. The referee was kind, however, and allowed every one to stay in until the finish. When time was called the score stood 22 to 22 and it was agreed to play five more minutes.

In these five minutes there was also a lot to see but the Central rooters couldn't see it because the Northland men had made the most points. They made two baskets while Central only got one foul. When the whistle blew, therefore, the Northland men trotted off the floor feeling rather happy—all except the man guarded by "Locky" Taylor.

Some Real Stars.

In the lineup of the opposition were seen several real stars. In point of scoring Wharfield did the best work, getting ten of the points made by his team. At guard was seen one of the best players in Wisconsin. The man was Hanson, who won fame at an interscholastic basket ball tournament several years ago. This was a tournament to decide the western championship and in the seven games in which this man took part (playing guard) his opposing forwards only made one basket. He received honor as an all-western guard. Whenever he could not think of anything else to do last night, he would walk up to about the center and shoot a basket. Fortunately he had plenty to do most of the time last night for he was guarding Scrivens.

The Central team played remarkably well considering that it was their first game and considering who they were playing against. It would be hard to pick a star from the lineup. Scrivens played his usual classy game and made several wonderful shots. Captain Solheim was "there" every minute and Karon played a remarkable game. Moore did good work at the pivot position and "Locky" Taylor furnished the spectators with much amusement. His man did not make a single point.

One thing that was sadly lacking was rooting spirit. The spectators made enough noise but they did not do it systematically. The Northland players commented on this fact after the game.

A complete schedule has finally been made up, arranging for eleven games. The next game is with Cloquet, the Millers finally having agreed to come down. The schedule is as follows:

Jan. 15—Cloquet at Duluth.
Jan. 22—Cathedral high school at Central gymnasium.
Jan. 29—Denfeld high school at Central gymnasium.
Feb. 5—Hibbing at Duluth.
Feb. 12—Superior at Superior.
Feb. 19—Virginia at Virginia.
Feb. 20—Hibbing at Hibbing.
Feb. 22—Denfeld high school at Denfeld gymnasium.
Feb. 26—Cathedral high school at Cathedral gymnasium.
Mar. 5—Cloquet at Cloquet.
Mar. 12—Superior at Duluth.

The lineup and summary of last night's game:

Central—		Northland—
Scrivens	f	Ross
Karon	f	Moore, Gale
Moore	c	Wharfield
Solheim	g	Jemme
Taylor	g	Hanson

Summary: Goals—Scrivens, 4; Solheim, 2; Karon, 3; Moore, 2; Wharfield, 4; Hanson, 4; Jemme, 1; Ross, 3. Fouls—Moore, 1; Wharfield, 2. Referee—Harris.

RORBACH IS WINNER IN BILLIARD CONTEST.

Dr. T. L. Chapman was defeated in the city amateur billiard tournament last evening by the score of 150 to 119, Rorbach showing very good form and winning out in the forty-eighth inning. Each man made a big run of 12. Rorbach caught Chapman in the twenty-second inning and retained the lead until he ran his string out.

U. S. NOT SELLING DISCARDED RIFLES

Secretary Garrison Sets at Rest Persistent Rumors of Sale.

Washington, Jan. 9.—Widespread rumors that the war department has been selling its discarded Krag-Jorgensen army rifles to European belligerents were formally denied last night by Secretary Garrison.

In a statement that the government had no intention of changing its order prohibiting the sale of these guns, the secretary gave returns from an inventory of the weapons ordered two days ago as a result of persistent reports of their sale.

The statement said:

"When this government substituted the modern Springfield rifle in the army for the Krag-Jorgensen rifle theretofore used, it had on hand a large number of such Krag-Jorgensen rifles. These, it sold under certain regulations to any one applying therefor. During last summer many applications were made for the rifles and the president and I determined they should not be sold, believing it to be unwise to do so under existing situation in Europe. Orders to this effect were given and they have never been changed.

"Notwithstanding these facts, many persons, directly and indirectly, have brought to my attention reports and rumors that the rifles have been contracted for, are being contracted for, some of the rumors going so far as to say that they are actually being delivered.

"With a view of being able to state the exact truth, I ordered an inventory thereof taken in the arsenals where they now are stored. Such an inventory was taken on Jan. 6, and it was found that all of these rifles were in the arsenals where they had been deposited.

"There is no truth in any statement that any one has contracted to buy them or is in a position to deliver them. They will not at present be either sold or delivered, and all rumors and reports to the contrary are untrue."

FITGER NATURAL BEER FILTERED PURE BY THE KIESELGUHR FILTER.

The purest beer is that beer filtered by the Kieselguhr filter. It is not pasteurized.

The pasteurized bottled beer generally in use cannot be so pure.

Pasteurized beer is heated in the bottles to a temperature that kills the micro organisms, but it is not filtered free from them.

Kieselguhr filtered beer is filtered pure of every yeast cell and micro organism, before the beer enters the bottles. In the scientifically clean bottle, hermetically sealed, it is the purest beer in the world.

The pasteurizing or superheating of beer kills its flavor. The filtering of beer preserves its flavor. Fitger Natural Beer filtered by the Kieselguhr filter (first of its kind in America) is pure and has the full delicious flavor of the natural draught beer as drawn fresh from the wood.

MARKET HAS SHARP BREAK

Wheat Fluctuates Wildly on Rumors and Closes Materially Lower.

Flaxseed Continues Upward on Crushers' Buying and Higher Cables.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 9.—There was a wild market in wheat today and on the final result prices were substantially off. The market is in a nervous state after its recent phenomenal advances, and is susceptible to influence by rumors coming out from time to time.

The first trade today was 3c off from yesterday's close on the rumor that a bill is to be introduced in congress prohibiting further exportations of grain on account of a probable domestic shortage. On the denial of that story, quotations advanced sharply only to fall again on realizing sales, and on the intimation that the British government might take steps to prevent prices soaring unduly.

May wheat opened 3c off at $1.35½ and closed 2¼c off at $1.36¾ bid. The May option closed 2⅛c off at $1.35⅞ nominally.

The durum market acted independently of spring wheat on a continuance of insistent demand for export and light receipts and offerings. The May option opened ¾c off at $1.54½, and closed ⅝c up at $1.56½ bid. July closed ¾c up at $1.54¾ nominally.

Oats closed ⅜c off at 60⅝c for on the track; rye 1c up at $1.09@1.10; barley unchanged at from 60c to 70c, and corn, ⅜c off at 68⅛c.

Flaxseed Still Soaring.

Flaxseed continued its upward course as a result of urgent demand from crushers and higher cables. Buenos Aires was up 2¼c and London 2½c.

May flax opened ⅝c up at $1.77¼, and closed 2c up at $1.78⅝ bid.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 1¾c up at $1.57½ bid.

Puts and Calls.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.29¾. Calls on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.38⅛ asked.

MARKET GOSSIP.

The Itasca elevator loaded out 350,000 bu of oats yesterday on the steamer Davock for winter storage. This is the first cargo of grain afloat here this winter.

Durum is being moved forward steadily, all-rail, from here to the seaboard. Today 80,000 bu durum was loaded out on cars from the Great Northern elevator.

A New York wire said: "Washington reports circulated on the Chicago board that the government is about to stop exportation of wheat, was denied at the state department. 'It is all news to me,' said Mr. Bryan last night. 'The government is not considering anything of the kind.'"

Minneapolis cash market was steady with top grades in good demand. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at 2 to 3c over May and velvet chaff at 1½@2c under. Flour sales were limited.

Charles E. Lewis & Co., wired from Minneapolis: "Duluth durum sold yesterday at $1.55⅞. Minneapolis No. 1 northern sold at $1.39⅝, and the Minneapolis May option closed 20 cents under the durum and 3 cents under No. 1 hard. Yet statements are continually circulated that speculation is putting wheat up. There is no speculation in durum and probably the supply of durum to its limited demand is as great as the supply of standard grain spring wheat to its world-wide demand, and yet here we have the non-speculative durum leading the market by 20 cents and cash hard wheat leading the May option by 3 to 4 cents. In other words, natural world conditions have been and are more bullish than the bulls and speculation has held the price down instead of putting it up, for in view of the price of durum wheat, the May spring wheat option ought to be selling today at from $1.60 to $1.70."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Makes Sudden Decline on Flood of Selling Orders.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—Possibility of a government embargo on wheat exports brought about a flood of selling today in the wheat market here, and caused a quick setback in values. There were also advices that farmers, especially in Kansas, had shown a disposition to let go more freely of reserve stocks. An advance at Liverpool was ignored. So also was dispatches from the seaboard that cable bids for wheat were at the highest prices yet offered by Great Britain. After opening ⅞@1⅞c off, the market suffered a further sag before beginning to react.

Subsequently, export sales led to a sharp upturn from the low point. Domestic millers were said to have bought freely. In the last fifteen minutes, nevertheless, the market again had a bad break, the result of a fresh selling stampede. The close was demoralized, 2½ to 2¾c under last night.

Corn fell with wheat. Commission houses, though, soon gobbled up the pit supply. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅛@⅞c down, were followed by a moderate rally.

Assertions that the Dutch government had purchased 500,000 bushels of corn this morning in the United States helped the market to overcome almost entirely the early weakness. The close, notwithstanding, was depressed with wheat—⅝@⅞c net lower.

Oats took the same course as other cereals. Rural acceptances were said to be liberal.

Heavy receipts of hogs promised for next week tended to pull down provisions. No radical weakness, however, developed.

STRONGER TONE IN THE COPPERS

Butte & Superior Is in Good Demand and Has Further Advance.

Mining stocks were generally strong at Boston today with some issues showing good advances at the close. The volume of business put through was, however, only moderate.

A wire from Houghton, Mich., says: "The Calumet & Hecla company shipped $50,000 in silver bullion today, the first ever sent out from the Lake Superior district. A new process for the removal of arsenical impurities from the ore has enabled the company to recover the small quantity of native silver in the Calumet & Hecla product which hitherto has been lost.

As many men as can be worked to advantage are employed by the Butte & Ballaklava Copper company on repairs to the shaft, between the 700 and the 900 levels. Development work which was done during November and December has proven to the satisfaction of the management that a large body of ore will be developed on the 1,600 level, and which extends upward above the 1,200 level. Twenty cars of ore assaying 4 per cent copper and 4 to 6 ounces silver were shipped in December. This ore was taken out in drifting to prove extent of the ore body.

TRADE REVIEW

New York, Jan. 9.—Dun's Weekly Review of Trade says: Several developments highly significant of the improving tendencies in business have attended the opening of the New Year. The advance in cotton gives promise in spite of the speculative fluctuations, of ultimate relief to the South; and the sales of futures are distributed over a series of months, by the natural processes of the exchanges, the burden of carrying the great crop under war conditions. Over 1,000,000 bales of cotton have been exported in the last four weeks and it is announced that large lines of German credit have been placed in New York banks in order to finance cotton shipments to Germany, which also materially aids the situation.

Bank clearings for the week were $2,691,350,523, a decrease of 28.6 per cent from last year. Wheat exports were 8,746,943 bushels as against 5,475,490 a year ago.

Failures in the United States were 692 against 422 last year and in Canada 73 against 51 last year.

United States Rubber Has Rise of Over Two Points.

New York, Jan. 9.—Today's stock market showed no new tendency in the early dealings, which were of the recent small and narrow character. Gains far exceeded declines, but in few cases were they more than fractional. United States Rubber reflected the partial lifting of the ban on the commodity with a gain of almost two points. Amalgamated Copper, United States Steel, Reading and a few others were slightly higher, while Atchison and Southern Pacific lost minor fractions. In the London market, Canadian Pacific, Steel and Pennsylvania were a trifle better, but other Americans were lower.

While the opening was uneven with a mixture of small gains, interest soon waned and prices slowly declined. Canadian Pacific and Baltimore & Ohio fell a point, the latter to within a small fraction of its minimum. Other international shares were fractionally lower. Louisville & Nashville, however, jumped 1½. United States Rubber rose over 2 points on removal of the British embargo. The closing was irregular.

REFINERY AT GREAT FALLS SMELTER AGAIN OPERATING

All Mines of the Anaconda Being Put in Fine Condition.

Changes Made in Operating Department of the Company.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The refinery of the Anaconda company at the Great Falls smelter has resumed operations and within a week will be running at full capacity again, giving employment to about 100 men and turning out about 5,000,000 pounds of refined copper per month. None of the other departments of the Great Falls smelter will be reopened until general conditions in Europe and at home improve decidedly. Anodes will be shipped to the Great Falls refinery from the Washoe smelter at Anaconda. This will not represent an increase of the Washoe plant, but merely a diversion of shipments which have been going to other refineries. The copper will be refined into wire bars for shipment to wire mills. It is explained that a market will be provided for this output in the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul electrification between Harlowtown, Mont., and Avery, Idaho, which is now under way.

Putting Mines in Shape.

The Badger State mine of the Anaconda company, which was closed in August, has resumed operations, and the Leonard mine, one of the company's largest producers, has been shut down for repairs to the shaft, which was badly damaged in an accident a week ago. It had been the intention of the company to close the original Gagnon mines, which are now operated through one shaft, upon resumption at the Badger State, but the accident at the Leonard caused a temporary change in plans. As soon as the Leonard is repaired the Gagnon and Original will be closed indefinitely.

The latter mines are in fine condition for a large production, and the company is putting all its properties in similar condition in anticipation of a heavy demand upon their producing powers when the European war is ended. Butte copper producers believe firmly that when general conditions right themselves the industry will witness the greatest boom it has ever known and that production capacity will be taxed to its utmost in order to meet the demands. The Anaconda company aims to do a lot of development work in the Badger State, in opening lower levels and making connections with the shaft, and this work can be done more economically in connection with the mining operations. The changes will not affect production and the output of the company will be kept around 50 per cent of the normal until conditions warrant an increase. In the meantime the company is continuing its work of improvement in mines and smelters, and is gradually bringing about great changes in economy of production and greater recoveries of values.

Two Appointments.

Only a few of the anticipated changes in the operating department of the Anaconda company were officially announced on the first of the year. The most important was the promotion of Alexander Laist from the position of superintendent of the Washoe smelter to metallurgical manager at Anaconda and Great Falls, and W. N. Tanner, superintendent of the foundry department, to the chief engineer of the two smelters. The appointments were announced in an official statement issued by C. F. Kelley, managing director and vice president of the Anaconda company, in which he said:

"In view of the large amount of construction which it has been decided to do at the Anaconda and Great Falls plants during the next year, and the desirability of standardizing the metallurgical practices and operations of the two plants as far as possible, it has been decided to appoint Frederick Laist of Anaconda to the position of metallurgical manager of the company's plants at Anaconda and Great Falls. The duties of the office will have to do with the general supervision of construction and technical operations and will not change or effect the local management of operations and business at the plants exercised by Messrs. Goodale and O'Grady at Great Falls and by Mr. Matthewson at Anaconda. It has also been decided to consolidate the engineering departments of the two plants, and W. N. Tanner, chief engineer of the Washoe plant, has been appointed to the position of chief engineer of both reduction plants."

Both Mr. Laist and Mr. Tanner will maintain their headquarters at Anaconda. L. V. Bender assistant superintendent at the Washoe, becomes general superintendent of the smelter, and Harry S. Ware, blast furnace superintendent, becomes assistant general superintendent. The position of blast furnace superintendent is abolished. Mr. Laist has been a valued man for the Anaconda company and has been developed in the company's employ. He is a remarkable investigator and has developed many of the modern methods now employed at the Washoe smelter. One plant for the treatment of slimes was built on his recommendation at a cost of $650,000, and the savings paid for the plant in five months. This has been now replaced by still greater improvements evolved by Mr. Laist.

Graduate of Minnesota.

Wallace N. Tanner, the new chief engineer, is a graduate of the University of Minnesota, where he was given his degree as M. E. in 1896. He came to Montana to take a position in the engineering department of the Boston & Montana smelter at Great Falls, was later transferred to Butte, and in 1900 went to Anaconda as draughtsman. Two years later he was made chief draughtsman. In 1904 he left the company to open a consulting engineer's office in Salt Lake, and from there went to accept a position as engineer of the mining department of the Allis-Chalmers company, but in September, 1909, he returned to Anaconda as superintendent of the foundry department of the Anaconda company. For the past year he has been chief engineer at the Washoe.

The Leaching Plant.

The extensive construction work which has been outlined by President Thayer of the Anaconda company is well under way. The biggest of the undertakings is the construction of the first unit for the big leaching plant, which has replaced the 80-ton experimental equipment, in which the idea was worked out to successful demonstration. The first unit has a capacity of 2,000 tons daily. A plant for supplying the sulphuric acid for the leaching plant has been built on the flat below the smelter, while the other new buildings are located on the hill near the concentrator. The first one, the roaster building, is enclosed and the battery of roasters is about half completed. The building for the leaching process has the steel work done.

The tailings to be treated by leaching are first roasted in a special furnace of the familiar MacDougal type and are then distributed by a revolving arm into huge circular wooden tanks. When these are filled another revolving arm with a series of perforations like a sprinkling cart slowly saturates the contents with a weak solution of sulphuric acid, which percolates through the material and carries away the copper in solution. The solution is drained into great leaden tanks and is then subjected to a precipitating process. It is expected that the entire plant will be ready for operation by the first of the month. More than 800 tons of chemically pure lead will go into the floors and walls of the acid-making plant. Beside the six condensing chambers in the plant there will be 22 cooling chambers, each 11 feet in diameter and 36 feet high, through which the fumes will pass from one tank to the other.

Pulverized Coal Feed.

No installation of recent years has demonstrated greater efficiency than the new pulverized coal feed for the reverberatory furnaces. The coal—a mine run—is unloaded from the cars into the feed bins from which it goes through a crusher, reducing it to inch cubes or less. Then it passes through a tilted and revolving cylinder in which all the moisture is expelled. After this evaporating process the coal goes to the pulverizer, where it is reduced to a fineness said to be four times that of flour, so that it will pass through a 200 mesh sieve. Conveyors then carry it to the feed tubes from which it is blown under air pressure into the furnace chamber, igniting as a flaming gas as it bursts into clouds above the hearth. It adds to the capacity of the plant, not only through the completeness of combustion assured, but because of the greater intensity of heat, which makes the skimming almost automatic. The building which houses the pulverizing apparatus is being extended to provide room for the additional mills necessary to provide a fuel supply for the other furnaces to be equipped. When this has been installed throughout, it is possible that the daily melting capacity in the reverberatories will be almost doubled, with only a slight increase in the gross coal supply.

In the arsenic plant a new cylindrical roasting furnace, similar in general way to the coal dryer, is being installed during an overhauling of the equipment.

The operations of the round table plant have come up to expectations in the saving of values effected. A number of experiments in flotation are being tested, some of them using oil, while others employ different means for the formation of the bubble around each particle which is the basic idea of the undertaking, floating the metal to the top of the mass. All the devices in operations are yet in the experimental stage.

Little Stockpiling.

Not much stockpiling is being done on the range. The Kennedy mine of the Rogers-Brown Ore company at Cuyuna is engaged in getting out a stockpile of moderate size and had been working half time, which recently was extended to three-quarter time. The Armour No. 2 mine of the same company is also stockpiling. The Armour No. 1, long silent, is being pumped out, the water running along the 200-foot level to the Armour No. 2 and being hoisted by their pumps.

At the county commissioners' meeting in Brainerd the board heard the application of the Federal Mining company for a reduction in the valuation of the ore on the east half of the northeast quarter of section 31, township 47, range 28, which was returned by the tax commission at 12 cents per ton for taxation purposes. The board recommended to the tax commission that the rate be reduced to 7 cents per ton.

The application of the Holding company and E. J. Longyear for a reduction in the valuation of the ore on the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 31, township 47, range 28 was rejected. The application of the North Star Land company and others for a reduction in the valuation of the ore on lot 3, section 30, township 47, range 28, was rejected.

The Croft Mine.

The Croft mine at Crosby is getting along well with its sinking operations, John A. Savage of Duluth being superintendent. The Brainerd-Cuyuna mine, in the city limits of Brainerd, is practically down to ledge. The shaft will soon be anchored and the drifts will commence. The Wilcox mine at Woodrow is again engaged in drifting, all water having been quickly and successfully pumped out. Should the market warrant it, the Adams mine at Orelands, which hoisted some ore in 1914, will be in a position to ship a large tonnage. The Cuyuna-Duluth and Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mines of the American Manganese Manufacturing company are expected to resume work on Feb. 1.

Drilling is being extensively carried on at Barrows. The Barrows Mining company is developing a large ore body, which is expected to extend across three forties in the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter, northwest quarter of the southeast quarter and the southeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 16 near Barrows. The Barrows-Mississippi Iron company is drilling the northeast quarter of section 9, adjoining Woodland park addition to Barrows. The Brainerd Mining company is drilling on the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 15, adjoining Barrows to the east. It is reported ore 300 feet deep and some assaying 60 per cent has been located.

The Hale-Bradley Exploration company of Deerwood has two drills at work northeast of Aitkin in the Rice river country. H. H. Kruse has a drill at work in township 136, range 25, and says he will soon add another.

Changes in Interests.

John P. Hollihan has conveyed to Michael A. Keeley an undivided six-tenth interest in the north half of the northeast quarter, southeast quarter of the northeast quarter, north half of the northwest quarter, southeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section 1, township 137, range 25.

The Culver Land & Mining company has conveyed to H. E. Webber and F. J. Evans the east half of the northwest quarter of section 23, township 136, range 26, the northeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 15, township 136, range 26, the northeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 2, township 136, range 26, the east half of the southeast quarter of section 20, township 136, range 26, the south half of the southeast quarter of section 17, township 136, range 26, the east half of the southeast quarter of section 18, township 136, range 26, the east half of the southeast quarter of section 19, township 136, range 26, the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 21, township 136, range 26, the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 8, township 136, range 26, the southwest quarter of section 23, township, 136, range 26, for $3,500.

John L. Carlson has quit-claimed to the Felthouse Land company, the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter or lot 8 of section 7, township 137, range 27.

Ada Mead Brundage and husband have conveyed to John E. Braithwaite all of the east half, except the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter, of section 22, township 135, range 29, the consideration being $8,000.

The Cuyuna-Mille Lacs Iron company and others have conveyed to the Cuyuna Northern Railway company 100 feet in width across government lot 7 of section 3, township 46, range 29, being an easement deed.

Marshall H. Alworth has quit-claimed to George H. Crosby the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 30, township 47, range 29, the east half of the southwest quarter and the west half of the southeast quarter of section 28, township 47, range 29.

Bessie E. Anderson, now Norcross, and husband and others have conveyed to the Cuyuna-Duluth Iron company the east 18.05 acres of lot 2 in section 9, township 45, range 28.

George H. Crosby has quit-claimed to the Zeno Iron company the southwest quarter of the north east quarter of section 30, township 47, range 29 and the east half of the southwest quarter and the west half of the southeast quarter of section 28, township 47, range 29.

The Tri-State Land company has deeded the Soo line considerable right of way in Keating's addition to Crosby.

MIAMI SMELTER OF THE ANACONDA

Will Go Into Commission in Coming Spring or Summer.

Announcement is made that the new smelter at Miami, Arizona, built by the International Smelting & Refining company and now owned by the Anaconda Copper Mining company, will go into commission in the spring of 1915, or in early summer at the very latest. In fact, some look for the new plant to be blown in as early as April, 1915.

This plant will add a considerable item to the earnings of the Anaconda Copper Mining company, an item which has been overlooked in many quarters. It is estimated very conservatively that the new plant, when operating to capacity, will earn net between $1,250,000 and $1,500,000 per annum for Anaconda. These earnings will be derived from the smelting chiefly of the concentrates of Inspiration Consolidated and the Miami Copper company plants nearby.

The new smelter will handle at least 125,000,000 pounds of copper per annum—some 55,000,000 pounds from Miami and about 70,000,000 pounds from Inspiration plants when run to full capacity.

This will not be until the end of the present war in Europe and the rehabilitation of the copper metal market.

Under the prevailing modus operandi Miami concentrates have been shipped down to Cananea, Mexico, or to El Paso, Texas. This meant a heavy freight expense, which has been borne chiefly by Anaconda, owing to the terms of the smelting contract, which gave to the Miami company an allowance of $3.50 per ton in freight charges pending the completion of the local smelter. In the item of freight charges alone Anaconda will save, or earn, $225,000 per annum on its ten-year contract with Miami alone. The freight rate from Miami to Cananea is $4.50 per ton.

There are some who estimate the earnings of Anaconda through its new smelter at Miami, Arizona, as high as $1,750,000 to $2,000,000 net per annum. This, however, is perhaps excessive, since the cost of smelting at Miami will be considerably higher than is the rule at most copper smelting plants. The company has to import fuel and fluxes at considerable expense.

SHIPPING BY PIT MINES

Cuyuna Properties Expected to Move Much Ore This Year.

Not Much Stockpiling Being Done on the Range at Present.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Considerable shipping is anticipated by the pit mines of the Cuyuna range which have now reached a high state of development. The Inland Steel company Thompson pit mine's steam shovel will resume work March 1, said Capt. William Wearne of Hibbing, who was on the range this week. The Pennington, which has been a shipper, is expected to move a lot of ore this year. The property is in fine shape for handling a large tonnage. The Rowe pit mine, by steam shovel and hydraulic work, has its pit in good shape for shipping. The Cuyuna Iron and Manganese Ore company anticipates opening its pit mine near the Pennington. The ground is easy to strip and they anticipate shipping ore in 1915.

A Twin City stripping concern is expected to strip the Campell forty of the Cuyuna-Sultana Iron company near the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mine. Plans are being drawn up at the general offices of the company in Duluth for the proposed pit location with a view of getting a close estimate of the yardage that will have to be moved to uncover the required tonnage of ore. It is the present intention to remove an area equal to eight and three-fourths acres for the first year's stripping. The engineer's preliminary report plans a mile and a quarter haul with a 3-per-cent grade in the approach. It is expected to produce approximately 300,000 tons of ore for every 10-foot cut.

Little Stockpiling.

Not much stockpiling is being done on the range. The Kennedy mine of the Rogers-Brown Ore company at Cuyuna is engaged in getting out a stockpile of moderate size and had been working half time, which recently was extended to three-quarter time. PRODUCTION OF COPPER

Value of $152,400,000 Compared With $189,795,000 for 1913.

The copper production of the United States in 1914 will show a marked decrease from that of 1913, according to figures and estimates collected by E. S. Butler, of the United States Geological survey. Reports have been received from all plants known to produce blister copper from domestic ores and refined copper. At an average price of about 13.5 cents a pound, the 1914 output has a value of $152,400,000, compared with $189,795,000 for the 1913 output. The large decrease in production in 1914 was due to curtailment of production during the later part of the year on account of the reduction in tonnage exported to Europe.

Smelter Production.

The figures showing smelter production from domestic ores represent the actual production of most of the companies for eleven months and an estimate of the December output. The November figures for a few companies were not available, and these companies furnished estimates for the last two months of the year. According to the statistics and estimates received, the output of blister and Lake copper was 1,129,000,000 pounds in 1914, against 1,224,484,000 pounds in 1913.

Refined Copper.

The statistics and estimates indicate that the output of refined copper from primary sources, domestic and foreign, for 1914 was 1,493,000,000 pounds, compared with 1,615,067,000 pounds in 1913.

Imports.

According to the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, the imports of pigs, ingots, bars, etc., for the first eleven months of 1914 amounted to 187,433,676 pounds, and the copper contents of ore, matte and regulus amounted to 97,348,866 pounds, a total import of 284,782,542 pounds. This compares with an import for the twelve months of 1913 of 409,560,954 pounds.

Exports.

The exports of pigs, ingots, bars, sheets, etc., for the first eleven months of 1914, as determined by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, amounted to 789,048,777 pounds, compared with an export for the twelve months of 1913 of 926,441,142 pounds.

Domestic Consumption.

At the beginning of 1914 there was about 90,000,000 pounds of refined copper in stock in the United States. This added to the refinery production gives a total available supply of about 1,583,000,000 pounds of refined copper. On subtracting the export from this, with an estimate for December, it is apparent that the supply available for domestic consumption is materially below the 812,000,000 pounds of 1913, without taking account of stocks held at the close of the year.

Prices.

The average price of copper for 1914 showed a decrease from that of the preceding year, being about 13.5 cents a pound, compared with 15.5 cents in 1913. After the outbreak of the European war copper sold considerably below the yearly average, but toward the close of the year the price showed notable improvement.

Leading Copper-Producing States.

Arizona continued in first place among the copper-producing states, but had a notably decreased output. The blister-copper production for 1914 will probably not exceed 380,000,000 pounds, compared with 404,000,000 pounds for 1913.

The production from Montana was the smallest for many years and probably did not greatly exceed the production of 1898, which was 206,000,000 pounds, the smallest output made by the state since 1895. In 1913 Montana produced 285,700,000 pounds.

Michigan, with a production of about 160,000,000 pounds, made a slight gain over the 155,709,000 pounds produced in 1913, but was still much below the normal output for the state.

Utah will show but little change from the 148,000,000 pounds produced in 1913.

The production from Nevada decreased from the 85,200,000 pounds in 1913, and probably will not greatly exceed 60,000,000 pounds for 1914.

New Mexico made an increased production of probably about 10,000,000 pounds over the output of 50,196,000 pounds in 1913.

California will show a decrease of several million pounds from the production of 32,492,000 pounds in 1913.

The production from Alaska will show but slight decrease from the 23,423,000 pounds produced in 1913. The output for 1914 is estimated at 20,850,000 pounds.

NEW MACHINE AT BUTTE & SUPERIOR

Expected to Greatly Increase Efficiency of the Mill.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 9.—The Butte & Superior mine was in operation only about fourteen days in December. The total tonnage since it started up again and up to Jan. 1 was 14,500 tons. The recoveries for that period were rather low compared with the former rate of recovery because of the necessity of filling up the settling tanks and other things incident to reopening the mill.

Now the mine and mill are back to the normal again and an average of 1,100 tons of ore per days is being raised and the concentrates will run up to the grade that was reached before the mine closed down.

About 1,000 men are working steadily and the outlook is promising for a continuous run barring accidents. The price of spelter is up and the demand good.

During the shut down a number of changes of importance were made that will increase the capacity of the mine and mill. The skips which were used formerly carried only three and a half tons of ore each. New skips were installed which carry four and a three-quarters tons each and make it possible to raise 25 per cent more ore each time than before.

In addition to this change, a new flotation machine has been installed and it was started up last Saturday afternoon. The machine was built at the Utah plant, where experiments were carried on with it and it is expected to make a big improvement on the old one in increasing the efficiency and giving a higher grade of concentrates.

Manager J. L. Bruce said that until the machine had been proved by actual figures what could be accomplished by it, he did not care to make any predictions. The figures, he said, would speak for themselves. He anticipates that it will make a fine showing, however.

SHIPMENTS OF COPPER

Michigan Mines Show Improved Condition of the Metal Market.

Much More Copper Being Sent Out Than Was Expected.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The improved condition of the copper market is shown here by the fact that copper is being shipped out almost every day and the ratio of the metal shipped to that produced is, especially with the large companies on account of their superior conductivity or old time trade connections, about the same or almost as good as in normal times. With all the companies much more copper is being sent out than was expected. Yet the war situation has not sufficiently improved to warrant any increased production and in spite of the many rumors that are constantly arising no changes were made the first of the month that affected the production nor will there be any during the month. The only change of any kind that occurred was at the Quincy mills where the working hour schedule was so changed that hereafter six stamps will be run six days, instead of seven stamps five days, as has been the practice for three or four last months. The men will receive one day's more pay and the additional cost to the company will be but little. It has been stated that the Calumet & Hecla mills had begun this month to work every Friday instead of only two Fridays a month. This is erroneous and probably arises from the fact that as there are five Sundays, five Saturdays and a holiday in this month that the number of working days is thus reduced to twenty, the number fixed by the three-quarters' time schedule. Nothing has been given out by the company as to any change in the schedule of working time.

White Pine.

Nonesuch lode is becoming the center of great interest now that the construction work at the White Pine is in full blast, 500 men being employed there, and as it is known that success is attending the efforts of the explorations under the charge of F. B. Close on the boundary line between section 7-43, 12-50 and township 44-50 on the S. L. Smith lands. At the last-named location the force will be somewhat enlarged and one or two temporary buildings will be erected. Soon after the Calumet & Hecla demonstrated the extent and richness of the lode at the White Pine by extensive diamond drilling several parties began securing the lands or options on the adjacent properties, but now there is a renewed activity in this line and properties that seem remote are being sought. It is known that there will be some new flotations when the times are more propitious.

Centennial-Allouez Mill.

Centennial-Allouez mill is now treating the rock of the Superior, Isle Royale and a small overflow from the Allouez mines. Five of its six stamps have had their "wash" remodeled according to the latest standards of milling and four of these are compounds. The sixth stamp has not yet been modernized. For some little time almost one-half of the Allouez rock and all of the Centennial has been handled at "the little Tamarack mill" as No. 2 Tamarack mill is sometimes termed, but as the rock from the Isle Royale had to come to the Centennial-Allouez mill the Centennial rock is being shipped to the Osceola mill, and all of the Allouez except the slight lead work has had to be to the Centennial-Allouez is treated at the Tamarack No. 2. Allouez is making a gain on account of the shorter haulage.

South Lake.

South Lake's crosscut, it is learned from outside sources, has just passed through the fourth of the four lodes discovered about three years ago by the seven diamond drill holes. It was encountered at the distance of about 1,340 feet in from the shaft and its mineralized part had a width of eleven feet, of which the five and one-half feet of the hangwall side disclosed 200 pounds of mass copper and the remainder good commercial grades. The third South Lake lode, which was the best according to the diamond drill cores, should be entered about sixty feet further on.

Keweenaw.

Keweenaw Copper has now reached the seventh level at the depth of 890 feet. The arch will now be removed from the sixth level and the drifts there which are in about twenty-three feet in on the east and fifteen feet on the western will be soon extended. Then the opening at the side of the seventh level will be made so as to turn under the shaft and leave the protecting arch and the sinking will be resumed. The eastern drifts are continuing in the phenomenal grades encountered more than a month ago and the western are in good copper. Manager W. J. Uren has recently discovered in an old box in an outof-the-way place several old and valuable maps and plans of the underground workings at the Garden City mine, now a part of the Phoenix, adjoining the Phoenix property on the east. One of these bears the date of 1858 and none seems to have been drawn later than 1863. These drawings were the handiwork of well-known engineers of the day, Henry Pickel and H. Merryweather, and the craftsmanship is of a high order. Among the number is a plan and profile of the formations between Coppers Falls mine and the Central mine. The subsequent workings have shown all of these plans and maps to have been very accurate. They are also very useful, as all of the old mine openings are fully traced out and all the fissures and other peculiarities are fully shown.

Franklin.

Franklin is meeting with good copper in its crosscut on the Allouez conglomerate at the bottom level, the thirty-sixth, and has almost arrived at the foot-wall. The raise up from the thirty-second level ascended to a height over 300 feet in the lode and is still encountering the richer copper ground met with at a distance of about seventy-five feet up. This good showing occurs lower down in the lode and nearer the foot-wall than is usually the case and is thought to be an indication that the mineralization will be found to have a greater width than has been before shown. So far there has been in these new workings on the foot-wall a gradual shading into sandstone and just above a very close part of the conglomerate, but these streaks carrying little or no metal. Here in the raise, however, these two bands are much lesser in their structure and the metal has been permitted to penetrate much more deeply. In the long exploratory crosscut from the thirty-second level east, after the Houghton conglomerate had been passed through, a trap with a width of 100 feet was traversed and an amygdaloid is now being crossed. The last mentioned formation is proving to be quite wide and some little distance in there was disclosed an epidotic streak about a foot wide, but which was filled with copper. There are twelve amygdaloids between the Houghton conglomerate, No. 14, and the Calumet conglomerate No. 13, a distance of about 600 feet, and that through which the crosscut is now passing is the first. It is probable after a while that the epidote streak will be opened by a drift. Epidote rock is an altered or decomposed trap or vein matter of a yellowish green color, and epidote, a mineral itself, is a decomposition, a product or a part of the minerals of the rock that colors the remainder.

Winona.

Winona's rock is now being sent to the Trimountain mill, as owing to the necessity of treating the rock from the Isle Royale on account of the fire at the latter property, the Centennial—Allouez no longer had spare stamps for the Winona. Capt. J. M. Broan, who is working the third, fourth and fifth levels under an eight months' contract on tribute, has thirty-six men underground and nine on the surface. For the first two or three weeks the men were paid according to agreement, that is, one half on the regular pay day and the other to be paid when the copper was sold, but since that time their wages and salaries have been paid in full at the regular time, and the half remaining unpaid has also been received by the men. The yield is by no means so high as at first, but is still running somewhat better than the captain's estimates. He and, of course, the company are being favored by the price of the metal being higher now than when the undertaking was begun. If this part of the mine had been reserved as before to gradually enrich the rock from the other parts it would not have lasted so long, and timbering would have had to be done when the mine was closed down, as the old timbers had begun to give away, and furthermore the captain is obliged now to do considerable retimbering for safety. A great deal of dead work has had to be done, much more than expected, and one piece of this work is now being done at a cost of over $1,000. Almost 200,000 pounds of copper have been recovered so far. When mining shall be resumed at this mine, it is probable that some adequate rock house will be built at King Philip No. 1, as it has been known for sometime that the ground of the King Philip had been shown by the drifts to be on the average much richer than that of the old Winona, so that the rock on that, the southern side, can be mined. The diamond drill demonstrated that the ground at and near the line between the properties was discloing better grades of rock and subsequent drifting has developed long stretches of ground even up to the No. 2 shaft, a distance of 2,700 feet. The bottom levels are the best and the southern drift from Winona No. 4 on the lowest level, the fifteenth, which was extended quite a long distance under the fourteenth, the bottom level of King Philip No. 1, has a long reach of a very good grade.

STILL TALK OF CONSOLIDATION

North Butte and East Butte Properties May Be United.

Although a North Butte official in Boston said the other day that the two companies will hardly consolidate there is still talk going the rounds that the two concerns are negotiating to that end.

"If it does, it undoubtedly will be accomplished by an exchange of North Butte for East Butte shares," says an exchange. "There is a great deal that can be said in favor of a combination of these two companies. It would reduce operating and development expenses to some extent and make one strong and substantial company. If these two companies were combined they would have a total mineralized area of something like 2,000 acres, of which not more than one-third has so far been explored. The consolidated company would have a productive capacity of 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 pounds of copper annually, or 62 to 67 pounds per share for a capitalization of 650,000 shares. At present North Butte has 430,000 shares outstanding and East Butte 411,000 shares. No definite information is as yet available as to what the basis of exchange would be. At present, however, East Butte is quoted around $8.50 per share and North Butte is selling at $20 per share, which would suggest either two or two and a half shares of East Butte for one share of North Butte."

Philadelphia is soon to have an automobile bus service to supplement street cars. Busses will seat forty-eight persons.

In Rockland, Me., where there is no daily paper to supply the usual means for advertising for help, a man with a megaphone is sent about the town, calling the number of men wanted and the name of the employer desiring them.

NO FRAUD IN BALKAN CASES

Mining Company Within Rights When It Colonized Town Before Election.

Judge Cant Dismisses Quo Warranto Action Against Township Officials.

Balkan township officials whose rights to office were attacked in quo warranto proceedings instituted in district court are legally to hold the offices to which they were elected at the township election March 10, 1914, according to a decision handed down in district court yesterday afternoon by Judge Cant. The court discharged the quo warranto writs issued against B. E. Johnson, town treasurer; A. J. Sullivan, town clerk; and W. E. Bates and E. F. Kolwalke, town supervisors. The writs were sued out by B. Magnusson, a defeated candidate for supervisor.

The court held that the fact that the Oliver Iron Mining company, employers of the four officials, sent them from Chisholm to Balkan thirty-one days before the election for the purpose of qualifying them as voters, does not interfere with their right to hold the offices to which they were elected, according to the court's opinion. The evidence in the case was to the effect that Balkan township had been colonized by the company thirty-one days before election and the company men had elected their ticket. After the election, it was claimed, the colony moved away. The matter resolved itself down to a question of whether or not the four men in question were actual residents.

Biggest Taxpayer.

The court in its memorandum calls attention to the fact that the mining company owns more than 75 per cent of the property in the township and that there has been much complaint upon the Mesaba range regarding the expenditures of the public funds. Nothing wrong is found by the court in the fact that the company, the heaviest taxpayer in Balkan township, had its employes elected to office so long as the township election was conducted fairly. The court declares that only those who are citizens and residents of the township are entitled to vote or hold office and points out that the law provides a severe punishment for those who disregard it in this particular.

Among other things the court has the following to say in its memorandum:

"The town of Balkan was organized about three years ago. The assessed valuation of the property therein is about $14,000,000. Of this amount between $11,000,000 and $12,000,000 in value belongs to or is represented by the Oliver Iron Mining company. The district superintendent of that company conceived the idea that its interests required that friends or employes thereof should be in charge of the affairs of said town. He, therefore, directed certain of said employes then residing in the village of Chisholm, which is nearly surrounded by said town, to take up their residence in the said town for the purpose of qualifying themselves as voters therein.

"This was thirty-one days before the regular town election held in the spring of 1914. Among those who complied with such direction were the defendants in the four cases which have been on trial. These men were all unmarried. They were among the steady and reliable employes of said company. Three of them were by profession mining engineers. The plans of the superintendent would require continuous attention from year to year, and the intention of these four men, doubtless, was to continue their residence in the town of Balkan as long as the company so desired and they remained in its employ.

"Do such facts and such intention constitute them residents of said town and entitle them to vote and hold office therein? In my opinion they do."

CUTS FOOT WITH AXE.

Bleeds Freely From Artery Before Blood Flow Is Staunched.

Deer River, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Carl Hepfel, working on a surveying crew running ditch lines ten miles north of here, was brought here this week to be treated for an ax cut he sustained in the foot. An ax, with which he was chopping, slipped and struck his foot, cutting a bad gash lengthwise and quite deep. The cut did not touch any of the bones, but arteries were cut, and before the flow of blood could be stopped he had lost a great deal of blood, so much so that when brought here he was very weak from loss of blood.

"GOODBYE" TO WORLD THEN SHOOTS SELF

Balsam Township Man, Tired of Life, Commits Suicide.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Apparently weary of the world and determined to end his real or imagined troubles, Charles Laiho, a Finn, living with Charles Forsman in Balsam township, wrote a note, left it in his room and, going into the woods, shot himself. This was the finding of Sheriff Charles Gunderson and Deputy Coroner Al Peterson of Coleraine, who investigated the tragedy. It develops that Laiho, who lived with the Forsman family and often worked for them, often complained of the treatment he was receiving at the hands of the world, and on Sunday he asked for writing materials, went to his room and wrote a couple of letters and then took his gun and started out into the woods. He did not reutrn, and as time went on, search was made for him, with the result that his body, with a bullet, apparently from his own gun, through his head, was found lying across a windfall near a place where he had three deer hung up.

Leaves Two Letters.

A couple of letters were found, written in Finnish, one of which said, Goodby to the world; that he had not fared well in this world, and that he was ending it all, and he asked that his body be dumped in a hole in the swamp. The other letter left all his belongings to a friend, Oscar Tyhanen. The case was so plainly one of suicide that no further action was taken by the officials.

THOMAS MEYERS.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas Meyers, who was indicted by the recent grand jury on a burglary charge and will be tried at the next term of court at Hibbing, claims he is an innocent man and that he is unjustly accused of the crime. He was arrested by the police here recently when the police were trying to capture the yeggs who blew the safes in the Iron Range & Canadian Northern depots here. He was caught near the Canadian Northern depot acting suspicious soon after the police gave the yeggs chase. He says he was seeking a place to sleep and the police grabbed him. The police claim he was in the gang of yeggs and expect to convict him. It is reported that a serious Wisconsin charge has been discovered against Meyers and will also be used against him on his trial. Mr. Shea, his attorney, who is working on the case, gathered evidence, he says, and will secure an acquittal.

Mr. Johnson had lived here for about ten years and a few years ago conducted a livery stable. He went to Sweden last spring and returning this fall brought a wife with him. He has a brother living here.

REAL ESTATE NEWS

BUILDING WORK ACTIVE IN FIRST WEEK OF YEAR

Permits for New Construction Through City Reach Large Proportions.

Architects and Contractors Look Forward to Rush During Spring Months.

Building work authorized during the first week of the new year was in fair proportions, and is regarded as a good augury for the coming season. Permits issued at the building inspector's office were nineteen in number with the cost of improvements involved placed at $49,900.

A permit was taken out by the Duluth Stone Crusher company for an addition to its plant on Medina street, West Duluth to cost $15,000.

To bring the new addition to its building up to the operating stage, the Northern Cold Storage & Warehouse company is completing the installing of a freight elevator at a cost of $2,800.

Thirteen of the permits in the week's list were for new houses and improvements, showing that the building of new homes is being actively carried through during the winter season. In that connection architects aver that they have now considerable work on their tables that is likely to be passed out to contractors during the next few weeks. In their opinion the public is beginning to appreciate more fully that building can be satisfactorily carried through at this season, taking into consideration the fact that materials may be bought to better advantage and that architects are enabled to devote more personal attention to supervising jobs than during the rush season. It is now taken as assured that a number of propositions in expensive homes, business structures and factory buildings that were deferred last season on account of the stringency in the money market, will be carried through this year.

Work on at least four of these jobs is expected to be proceeded within the early spring.

The work of remodeling the Barrett & Zimmerman building, which covers a frontage of seventy-five feet adjoining the Commercial club on First street, is progressing rapidly and should be completed within sixty days. The present building has been entirely gutted, and when the improvements are completed no part of the old structure will be left but the brick walls. The new floors are reinforced concrete, which will make it practically fireproof. The First street floor is divided into four stores, fifty feet deep, with an open office room in the rear, size 75 by 90 feet. One of the stores, together with this entire office space, has been rented to the F. H. Lounsberry Printing company for a long term of years. The F. I. Salter company, managers of the property, say that the rental of the lower or alley floor is under negotiation, and a lease for this space will shortly be closed. There are two or three stores yet to be rented. These will be unusually attractive and up-to-the-minute in the way of fronts and interior equipment, including plumbing, lighting and decorations. The plans for the work were prepared by P. M. Olsen, architect.

W. A. Hunt, architect, is receiving bids upon the interior finish in the new W. H. Patterson home at Twenty-fifth avenue east and Greysolon road.

George H. Lounsberry has been awarded the general contract for the remodeling of the warehouse at Third avenue west and Michigan street, owned by the Norton estate and until recently occupied by the Gowan-Lenning-Brown company. After the completion of the extensive improvements to be carried through, the premises will be taken over by th Stone-Ordan-Wells company for its coffee roasting and manufacturing department. The plans were prepared by Wangenstein & Gilluson, architects.

John A. Stephenson & Co., rental agents for the Fidelity building, announce that it has been decided to finish up the eleventh floor, making it available for tenants. When the additional stories were added to the structure three years ago, that floor was left in an unfinished state, there being no further demand for offices at that time. All the space in the block has been occupied for some time back, and in order to meet the demand from prospective new tenants, tht owners have decided to render the vacant floor available.

Kelly & Williams, architects, are completing the plans for the proposed new Armory to be built on London road, and it is expected they will be passed upon and go out for figures within the next few weeks.

GOOD DEMAND FOR DULUTH RESIDENCE LOTS REPORTED

Earnest Money Taken on $35,000 Business Property Deal.

While no large deals were put through during the week, a fair showing was made in the number of real estate transactions recorded. The bulk of them were in residence properties, with building lots in the outlying districts figuring extensively.

Realty operators express satisfaction over the marked development in investment inquiry during the past few days. Tangible results in that connection are expected to materialize shortly.

Receipt of earnest money on a $35,000 central business property deal was reported by an office yesterday. The sale is due to be closed up within a week, according to the agreement. Two other sales in the central business district are on the string, and the closing up of a substantial deal in West Duluth property is also expected shortly.

Realty Men Optimistic.

"Everything in the real estate line appears to be working along very nicely," said T. W. Hoopes, of the Hoopes-Kohagen company today. "We have negotiations covering business properties, and the promise is good for a nice business in residence building lots in the spring."

E. D. Field expressed the opinion that the easier tendency in the money market would result in diverting more attention to real estate investments and securities. He noted a distinct improvement in outside inquiry of late.

REALTY MORTGAGE COMING INTO ITS OWN

The real estate mortgage, so long neglected by even the best informed investment circles, is now, owing to the necessity of the hour, coming into its own, says the Financial World.

With restless nights attending the investor in speculative securities, the holder of good real estate mortgages sleeps soundly in the firm conviction that his security is and always will remain sound, and his interest generally 5 to 6 per cent, paid promptly at maturity no matter what the fates of war may hold in store for the belligerents.

The real estate mortgage represents the strictly high grade, approved, seasoned security based on the earth and its fullness; the kind that wont turn pale and throw the investor into a fit every time a war extra comes out.

It is that security which does not require "living" on some exchange to give it standing and character.

It does not require filling with water or blowing up with air to make it respectable—it is the real thing always. If it has lacked popularity it is because it cannot be twisted, worked or manipulated for the exclusive benefit of the conscience-dead speculator who has been a reproach of the legitimate security market.

It is based on values of land which are steadily enhancing, adding additional security from year to year. The magnates of high finance cannot disturb the investor nor the real estate mortgage speculator, middlemen, brokers and the like are powerless to either raise or depress its value.

As the country grows and prices of staples advance, this security goes upward, silently, steadily. The real estate mortgage investor can always rest assured of the fact that the land yields that which humanity needs most. Awake or asleep the holder of good mortgages need not be afraid of robbers.

At present the leading life insurance companies alone own nearly $500,000,000 of mortgages earning from 5 to 6 per cent, and their losses have been practically nil, whereas the shrinkage of other investments have been very heavy during late years.

NEW RESIDENCE OF C. H. BAGLEY.

The new home being completed for C. H. Bagley at Twenty-fifth avenue east and First street is regarded as one of the handsomest in the city in its general exterior lines.

It is after the Italian style of architecture, with warm yellow stucco walls and red tile roof. It is two stories in front and three in the rear, and is equipped with a large sun room and a sleeping porch.

The interior is beautifully finished in birch, oak and various ornamental hardwoods, surmounted by ornamental plaster ceilings. The home is equipped with all modern conveniences, including a substantial two-car garage in the rear.

Frederick W. Perkins was the architect. The general contract was carried through by Otto Johnson; the interlocking tile walls, ornamental tile and marble work and screens by Thomson & Williams; the millwork by the Woodruff Lumber company; heating and plumbing by the D. R. Black company; sheet metal work and roofing by Deetz & Co.; plastering by Charles Erickson; weather strips by the Monarch Weather Strip company and the painting by Cowen & Zimmerman.

EVIDENCE IS COMPLETE

Lake and Rail Case Will Be Argued on Feb. 25.

G. Roy Hall "Thunders" on First Page of Chicago Papers.

G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Duluth Commercial club, has returned from Chicago, where he was attending a hearing before Special Examiner T. Eddy, acting for the interstate commerce commission, in the lake and rail rate case, in which Duluth is vitally involved.

This was held with the view of completing the testimony in the now famous case which will decide the spread of freight rates between Duluth and the Twin Cities in lake and rail traffic. The testimony of only two witnesses was taken, they being Fred E. Signor, who was formerly commissioner of the Associated Lake lines, but recently been appointed general Eastern freight agent of the Lehigh Valley road, with headquarters in New York city, and Mr. Hall. Mr. Signor testified in favor of an increase in rates, and Mr. Hall testified in rebuttal. This finishes the testimony and the oral arguments will be made in Washington before the interstate commerce commission on or about Feb. 25. The briefs of the carriers and the people—meaning Duluth—must be filed by Jan. 25, that of the Twin Cities by Feb. 12, and the reply brief of the carriers must be filed by Feb. 25.

The hearing in Chicago was to have been held last Wednesday, but was delayed because of the absence of Mr. Signor, who was being given a reception on that day by friends and former associates in honor of his appointment to his new position. Thereby hangs a tale, in which the Chicago News has G. Roy Hall and Ernest H. Ballard of New York, attorney for the railroads, depicted on the front page as getting to swords' points over the absence of Mr. Signor.

"'Taint true," said Mr. Hall today. "Ballard and I had a little tilt over the absence of his star witness but we had lunch together just the same. The only thing I approve of is being made to 'thunder' on the front page of a Chicago paper. It isn't every 'dub' who can do that."

The Chicago paper has Mr. Hall protesting volubly and emphatically at the delay. Quoting Mr. Hall, the paper says:

"'A whimsical, preposterous excuse,' thundered G. Roy Hall, commissioner of the traffic association of Duluth. 'The interests of my city far outweigh the personal satisfaction that Mr. Signor may get out of what is, to my mind, a purely social affair.'

"'It is an honor which usually comes to a man only once in a lifetime,' retorted the railroad lawyer.

"'Pooh', sniffed the man from the North. 'He's just having a grand pow wow so he can hustle better for railroad business in New York.'"

The matter was settled however, and Mr. Hall testified that the proposed spread was necessary to prevent discrimination against Duluth.

NO GROWTH IN WHITE PLAGUE

Increase in Deaths Reported Only Shows Better Analysis.

Although the 1914 report of the tuberculosis nurses shows that there were more deaths from the white plague during the last year than there were in 1913, Health Director Webster is of the opinion that there is no greater prevalence of the disease, but that the increase is caused by a closer diagnosis and a more thorough canvas. According to the report submitted this morning by Miss Louise E. Schneller to Health Director Webster, there were 162 deaths in 1914 from tuberculosis, while in 1913 but 115 persons were victims of the disease. In 1912 the reports show that 124 deaths occurred.

Dr. Webster said this morning that during the last year the nurses diagnosed cases more carefully, while a canvas of the city has been more thorough. As a result of this, he explained, many cases of tuberculosis, which would often be mistaken for another disease, were properly classified. In the past, victims of the plague were registered as having died of kidney trouble, stomach ailments, spinal meningitis and other diseases.

During the last year 233 patients were diagnosed at the clinic held in the courthouse under the direction of Doctors Laird and Murphy, the latter being assistant health director. In addition 293 children and 372 adults were examined. Of this number 63 were sent to Nopeming, 25 to state institutions, 70 to the pavilion and 8 to other institutions. Of the patients, 134 have either left the city, are now well or have checked the disease sufficiently to leave the hospitals.

GIVES CREDIT TO MILLER

Board of Trade Secretary Says He Cleared Grain Tax Situation.

Duluthians Solved Problem That Puzzled Many Other Exchanges.

The state of uncertainty that prevailed during the month of December among the grain exchanges of the country over the application of the war revenue tax to transactions on exchanges has been relieved through the dissemination of the statement made by Commissioner Osborne on Dec. 29 in Washington of the attitude of the internal revenue department, according to members of the Duluth board, and they are now proceeding with a clear view of the interpretation that will be given the law. The statement of the department's position was given at a conference attended by Secretary Charles P. Macdonald of the Duluth board of trade, two members of the Minneapolis chamber of commerce and Congressman C. B. Miller.

The procuring of this ruling has been a matter of much gratification to the entire grain trade of the country and expressions to this effect from representatives of the various exchanges and the trade papers have been general.

Says It's Miller.

"I believe the credit for obtaining this ruling made by Commissioner Osborne should be placed where it belongs and I wish to say that Congressman C. B. Miller of Duluth is the man to whom it is due," said Macdonald today. "When the war tax bill reached the senate a clause was inserted, relieving all trades where actual delivery at the time was made or where a bill of lading could be delivered showing the grain to be actually in course of transportation from taxation. The discussions and statements of committee chairmen in congress indicated clearly the intention of congress to relieve merchandizing transactions from the tax and to apply it only to futures. An able argument asking for a ruling to this effect was made by Secretary Merrill of the Chicago board of trade before the attorneys of the internal revenue department, but they ruled against him and gave the law a close construction instead of a liberal one.

"Before Congressman Miller returned to Washington the latter part of November, I went over the matter with him and immediately upon going to Washington he carried the matter to Commissioner Osborne, who, upon going into it, was convinced that the intent of congress was clear. The language of the law would not permit the making of the broad ruling that all merchandising transactions should be exempt, but the following was promulgated:

"'Actual delivery at the time means delivery within the period established by the exchange rules or commercial usage for cash transactions for immediate delivery.'

"Congressman Miller advised the Duluth board of trade that a liberal interpretation would be given this ruling; that any transaction which grain men class as a cash trade in which delivery is made as soon as the physical circumstances permit it would be held to be exempt from the tax.

Define "Immediate Delivery."

"A number of the exchanges have definitions in their rules of 'immediate delivery' and they assumed that the term in the ruling meant any trade for 'immediate delivery' as defined in rules. The Duluth board of trade contended that no such restricted construction was intended, basing this view, of course, upon the explanation received from Congressman Miller. The outcome of this disagreement of view was the visit of the grain men to Washington.

"The result of the conference was to find that the interpretation determined upon by the commission was exactly as stated by Congressman Miller and it went as far as the grain men had any reason to expect the commission to go. A few days later he advised the special agent at St. Paul that in making the ruling with reference to 'cash transactions for immediate delivery.

"'This office did not intend the word "immediate" to be construed in the technical sense used by some exchanges. It was intended to differentiate between cash or spot sales and futures, it being the opinion of this office that congress intended to tax the latter while relieving the former from the tax imposed by the second paragraph of Schedule A.'

"In working to relieve merchandising transactions from taxation the grain trade has been acting very largely in the interest of the country shippers, for the tax paid on their shipments would be charged back to them. Only a few of the sales to go from exchanges come within the classification of transactions on exchanges, the supreme court having held that unless the facilities of an exchange are used in accomplishing the trades they are not exchange transactions. If every bushel of grain received in the Duluth market last year had been required to pay the tax the total would not have been much above $7,000 but the tax on futures would have brought the government probably $50,000."

MacDonald Given Credit.

While Mr. MacDonald gives the credit to Congressman Miller, the Price Current Grain Reporter, a well known trade journal, gives a good share of it to Mr. MacDonald. It says:

"Secretary MacDonald of the Duluth board of trade has, at no time since the war revenue bill was enacted, been satisfied with the popular construction of the act in its application to strictly cash trades. There is a clear distinction between 'cash' transactions and 'futures.' Grain men do not need to have the differentiation particularized; they know it and feel it instinctively. There are, however, some cases in which the distinction is not absolute, the reason being that the element of time necessarily enters into all transactions, including those that are in themselves 'cash,' although not strictly 'spot.'

"The expression of the commissioner's views, as obtained by Mr. Macdonald, is the latter's holiday gift to the grain trade and it is a very generous one."

J. J. MOE TALKS TO EMBRYO SALESMEN

At last night's session of the Y. M. C. A. course in salesmanship, John J. Moe gave a very interesting and instructive talk on "Some Essentials to Success in Salesmanship." Mr. Moe drew examples from his own experience and showed how the principles which he advocated had operated in his own life to enable him to make the progress which he has. The first essential, he said, is courtesy. Without this, no young person can hope to succeed. Honesty was also emphasized as a basic element. His third fundamental to success was ability to read human nature.

In an informal talk after the presentation of his paper, he emphasized the necessity of one being willing to work.

"In fact," he said, "unless one loves his work so that to him it is a joy, there is little hope for permanent success."

For next week a sales demonstration is being planned.

TOO MUCH POWER FOR ONE MAN, SAYS DAWES.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—That the Federal reserve bank law invests too vast a power in the hands of one man, the secretary of the treasury, and thus presents an element of danger which should be dealt with by congress, was the assertion made here today by Charles G. Dawes, former comptroller of currency, at a special meeting of Chicago financiers and business men.

"The Federal reserve law as it stands at present contains such provisions as are certain to involve it in a political attack similar to that waged by Andrew Jackson against the Second Bank of the United States," said Dawes. "Now is the time, before the reserve banks have issued large credits upon whose existence the prosperity of the country will become dependent, to criticize and amend the law."

Only one resident of St. Louis county died leaving an unclaimed estate last year. He was John Gauthier, and his worldly possessions converted into cash netted the state of Minnesota $126.08.

This is shown by figures which are available at the office of the county auditor. During the entire twelve months of 1914 the only receipts from the probate court were in the Gauthier case. This money was paid over to the state treasurer.

The law also provides that estates of unfound heirs shall be paid into county treasury and held for twenty-one years. No money was paid in during 1914, although $3,970.34 was paid out. It was money which had been received from this source in former years.

LIST OF "DON'TS" FOR POULTRYMEN

Prof. Brown Gives Practical Suggestions for Month of January.

Prof. C. E. Brown, poultryman at the Northwest Minnesota state experimental farm at Crookston, has prepared a list of January "don'ts" for poultry fanciers. The article touches upon an important farm topic and is of particular interest at this time. Here is the list of don'ts:

Don't neglect the fowls during cold weather. It may ruin your chances for a successful season's hatching next spring.

Don't neglect to ventilate sufficiently to keep the air within the chicken house pure and sweet at all times.

Don't forget to renew the litter on the floor often enough to keep it in a clean, dry condition.

Don't permit the droppings to accumulate beneath the roosts. Remove them every day if possible.

Don't neglect to scald the drinking vessels occasionally. They should at least be rinsed each time a fresh supply of water is put in them.

Don't forget to compel the chickens to take exercise every day by scattering all whole grain in deep litter on the floor.

Don't forget to renew the straw in the nests before it has a chance to soil the eggs.

Don't neglect to supply the chickens with plenty of green food such as mangels, cabbage, alfalfa or clover hay.

Don't forget that laying hens require meat food in some form. Fresh meat, meat scraps, skim milk or buttermilk furnish excellent material for this requirement.

Don't forget that hens should be supplied with grit and oyster shell at all times.

PRIZE FOR BEST ESSAY ON GUERNSEY CATTLE

"Why is the Guernsey breed the best adapted to farmers and dairymen of Northern Minnesota, Northern Wisconsin and Northern Michigan?"

To the person who contributes the best article on this topic the Guernsey Breeders' association of Northern Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin will give a prize of $25. The contest is now open.

Articles not exceeding 200 words will be considered. The story must be sent to H. L. Hartley, secretary of the association before Feb. 10, marked plainly with the name and address of the sender.

Prof. T. L. Haecker of the University of Minnesota, George C. Cooper of Superior, Wis., and J. B. McLeran of this city will act as judges.

STATE GUERNSEY BREEDERS ORGANIZE

George P. Grout of Duluth Elected Secretary-Treasurer—State Records.

George P. Grout, manager of the Jean Du Luth farm, returned this morning from Minneapolis, where he had been attending, at the university farm, a meeting at which there was organized the Minnesota State Guernsey Breeders' association. Mr. Grout was elected secretary-treasurer and also a member of the board of directors. The other officers elected were as follows:

President, Dr. M. B. Wood, Mankato; vice president, Col. Wilkinson, Lake Elmo; directors, Dr. Wood, Vice Stiehl of Albert Lea, M. H. Williams of Little Falls, Col. Wilkinson, H. H. Woolson of Thief River Falls, Charles Nelson of Litchfield, T. A. Erickson of Alexandria and Charles Wirt of Lewiston.

More than a hundred Guernsey breeders were present and much interest was evinced. Talks were given by Mr. Grout on "The Guernsey in the Northwest," by Will Forbes of the university farm on "Cow Testing Associations in the United States," and by Prof. T. A. Haecker of the university farm on "Early History of the Guernseys in Minnesota."

At this meeting it was established that Starlight's Contrast, belonging to the Jean Du Luth farm, holds the state yearly record for all breeds for a 3½-year-old cow, the record being 682 pounds of fat, equal to 800 pounds of commercial butter. Other accepted records are as follows:

Jean Du Luth herd—State record for twenty cows on official tests, 514.5 pounds of fat.

Starlight's Coley—State Guernsey record, class F, 683 pounds of fat; owned by the Jean Du Luth farm.

Dawn of Wood End—State Guernsey record, class G, 509.5 pounds of fat; owned by A. C. Loring of Minneapolis.

WOULD-BE SUICIDE SAVED BY OFFICER

Lieut. Holmstrom Rescues Man in Front of Street Car.

Owing to the nerve and quick wit of Lieut. Holmberg, Eskill Christophersen was saved from a violent death or serious in jury last night when he deliberately threw himself in front of a Duluth and Superior car on West Superior street.

The motorman was quick to apply the emergency break, but not quick enough to avoid striking the would-be suicide, had not the officer been directly behind him and at the risk of his own life grabbed the man and pulled him off the track. When arraigned at the police station Christophersen was almost in a drunken stupor and today in Judge Cutting's court he was given the option of a $22 fine or twenty days on the work farm.

GETS DRUNK AND ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Young Man Cuts Five-Inch Gash in His Throat on Train.

Emil Baelor, 22 years old, attempted suicide last night on Canadian Northern Train No. 2 by cutting a five-inch gash in his throat with a pocket knife. He was evidently under the influence of liquor and claims to have had about five drinks in a "blind pig" at Cusson, Minn.

Special Agent John Rossington of the Canadian Northern sent in a hurry call for an ambulance on the arrival of the train at Duluth, and the wounded man was taken to St. Luke's hospital in the emergency ambulance by Officers Westler and Johnson. It is thought the man comes from some place in Wisconsin, though his statements up to the present time have been somewhat incoherent. It is reported at the hospital that he is expected to recover.

GREAT BRITAIN'S REPLY TO NOTE OF UNITED STATES NOT ALTOGETHER SATISFACTORY

GORDON HAS PROPOSED TO MAKE IT EASIER TO AMEND CONSTITUTION

Would Have Amendment Ratified By 60 Per Cent Vote.

Bill to Create Office of State Inspector of Masonry.

House Committees Not to Be Ready for Several Days.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Sam Y. Gordon of Brown's Valley is planning for early introduction a proposed constitutional amendment designed to make it easier to amend the Constitution without throwing it back to the old condition under which all proposed amendments were ratified. His plan is to provide that amendments may be ratified by 60 per cent of those voting on the proposition.

Under the old system which prevailed up to 1896, all that was required was a majority of those voting on the proposition. Then, virtually all proposed amendments went through. Then the Constitution was amended to provide that amendments thereafter must secure the approval of a majority of those voting at the elections, and since this requirement was imposed very few amendments have been ratified. At the last election seven amendments were submitted, and only one of these was ratified.

The proposal made by Mr. Gordon is between the two extremes and, while requiring more than a mere majority of those voting on the proposition, does not go so far as the present requirement. There may be added another provision requiring that at least 40 per cent of those voting at the election must vote upon the proposition, but that has not yet been decided.

Another Office Proposed.

Representative Steen of Winona will introduce in the house tonight a bill creating the office of state inspector of masonry, public buildings and works, to be appointed by the governor at a salary of $2,000, whose duty it shall be to see that state buildings are erected according to specifications.

"Blue Sky" Bills.

Representative George W. Rodenberg of St. Paul will introduce tonight two "blue sky" bills. One requires stock dealers to get licenses from the public examiner and file penal bonds of $1,000 to secure their customers against loss. It also requires that full details regarding every flotation of stock shall be given to every purchaser. The other bill regulate investment companies, putting them under the superintendent of banks.

Both branches will meet tonight, but probably will adjourn immediately to tomorrow morning without acting on anything of importance. The senate committees will be announced tomorrow morning, but the house committees can scarcely be in before the middle of the week.

CHINESE WOMEN JOINING THE ARMY

Cultured Females Leaving Colleges to Enter the Ranks.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 11.—Women in China are joining the army in regiments, according to Dr. J. B. Fearn, a woman physician and chief of staff of the Margaret Williamson hospital at Shanghai, China.

"Cultured Chinese women in masses are leaving the colleges and drilling to enter the army," she said in an address here last night. "The first company of women, which after mastering the manual, offered its services to the new republic, was rejected. The women then cut off their hair, donned men's clothing and enlisted. Many others followed their example."

The whole attitude of Chinese men towards their women is changing for the better, Dr. Fearn said. The men now want wives with Western education and normal feet. The small feet of the Chinese women of the past are disappearing.

CAPPER STRONG FOR NATIONAL PROHIBITION.

Topeka, Kan., Jan. 11.—Arthur Capper of Topeka, the first native Kansan to be chosen chief executive of the state and the first to be chosen by the suffrage of both the men and the women of the state, was inaugurated twentieth governor of Kansas today.

In his inaugural address Governor Capper urged a vigorous championship of national prohibition and woman suffrage.

"The record Kansas has made in proving that prohibition does prohibit," he said, "makes it incumbent upon us to take the lead in an active propaganda for national prohibition. National prohibition will be one of the big issues—possibly the chief issue—in every national political campaign and Kansas must lead the battle."

ASK WILSON TO VETO BILL

Women Call on President in Opposition to Literacy Test.

He Reiterates Opposition to Measure But Makes No Promises.

Washington, Jan. 11.—President Wilson today reiterated his opposition to the literacy test in the immigration bill to a delegation of women from Chicago, headed by Jane Addams of Chicago, who asked that he veto the measure. The president did not state definitely an intention to veto the bill, but the women said they were hopeful he would.

Speaking for the delegation, Miss Addams told the president that many foreigners who could not pass the literacy test later learned to read and write and made excellent citizens.

Mr. Wilson told the delegation he had long been of the opinion that a literacy test was not a proper method of determining qualifications of foreigners to enter the United States.

IOWA LEGISLATURE BEGINS ITS SESSIONS.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 11.—Organization work occupied the attention of the Iowa legislature in the thirty-sixth general assembly, which convened here today.

W. I. Atkinson of Clarksville is the speaker of the house, with Lieut.-Governor W. L. Harding presiding in the senate. The president pro tem of the senate is to be selected later this week.

The submission of women's suffrage to a vote of the people, enactment of a new law governing real estate concerns, and probable changes in state departmental government are expected to be the features of the session.

A fight between "wet" and "dry" forces for control of the legislature seems certain. Representative George Crozier announced today that he will introduce a bill, which if it becomes a law, will cause an automatic reversion to the law of 1884 providing for state wide prohibition. His bill would repeal the present mulct law passed in 1894.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Senator La Follette introduced a resolution to prohibit the Eastern railroads from putting in the increased freight rates recently authorized by the interstate commerce commission.

Secretary Garrison testified on the Philippines bill and hearings before the committee were closed.

HOUSE.

Leaders arranged for the vote on woman's suffrage constitutional vote tomorrow.

Representative Ansberry of Ohio resigned to become a justice of the state appellate court.

Naval committee considered the naval bill.

FRIENDLINESS OF ITS TONE IS APPRECIATED

England Has Neglected to Make Practice Conform to Rules.

Figures Cited in Answer Are Generally Misleading.

Washington, Jan. 11.—The United States government, it became known today, is not altogether satisfied with the note of Sir Edward Grey, giving Great Britain's preliminary reply to President Wilson's protest concerning the treatment of American commerce by the British fleet.

While gratified that Great Britain admits the justice of practically the principles of international law cited in the American note, officials reiterated today that the chief difficulty had been England's neglect to make her actual practice square with the previously accepted rules of international law.

It is realized by officials here that a long diplomatic correspondence conceding the principles of the American case, but not actually carrying them into practice, will not meet the complaints of American exporters and shippers and although England's supplementary answer is expected to give a more detailed statement of her position, officials plan to take up vigorously all individual cases which may meanwhile arise.

Appreciate Friendly Tone.

Officials are keenly appreciative of the friendly tone of the British note and of the promises it makes for redress in case of unwarranted injury to American commerce. They point aut, however, that the note in its citation

PAST YEAR BAD FOR THE DIAMOND TRADE.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Kimberley, Union of South Africa, Dec. 2.—The past year has been a bad one for the diamond trade and the De Beers company will probably pass its dividends at the close of the fiscal year ending June 30 next.

Such was the statement of Chairman Francis Oates, at the annual meeting of the De Beers shareholders. Diamonds are a luxury, said the chairman, and not only has the demand been less, but prices have been lower as the result of the war. The company soon may have to close down entirely owing to the fact that there is already a large stock of diamonds on hand.

SUPPLIES AND EQUIPMENT FOR 600,000 ROUMANIANS ARRIVE

MAY ANSWER BRITISH NOTE

Certain Phases of Preliminary Reply Require Explanation.

Great Britain Made It Clear No Reply Is Expected.

London, Jan. 11. 2:12 p. m.—The opinion prevails among American shipping agents in London that Washington will answer the British preliminary reply to the American shipping note because of what they term its exparte nature. While Great Britain made it clear that no reply was expected until she had given her own final answer, which probably will be within a fortnight, American shippers believed that there are certain phases of the preliminary note which require explanation.

The failure of the British reply to explain that copper and other American exports to neutral countries probably were forwarded in large quantities to Russia is looked upon as an important omission. Another point dwelt upon by shipping agents, is the fact that Great Britain has not taken into account the virtually complete cutting off of German exports to neutral countries, which of necessity must buy from the United States goods which cannot be had from Germany or England.

Considerable comment has been aroused by the fact that both the American note and the British response

"OPIUM QUEEN" IS ARRESTED ON SHIP

Mrs. Sophia Ghee Taken From Stateroom After Ship Docks.

New York, Jan. 11.—Mrs. Sophia Ghee, known to the police as "the opium queen," was taken from her stateroom on the steamer Philadelphia when the vessel docked here today, and placed under arrest as the guiding genius of a band of alleged opium smugglers of whom eleven men had previously been locked up in New York, Chicago and San Francisco. The warrant under which she was arrested charges conspiracy to smuggle opium into the United States.

Mrs. Ghee is of English birth and Austrian parentage and the wife of Chow Ghee, a Chinese living in Liverpool. She sailed from New York on Dec. 23 for Liverpool. A day later evidence was found upon which the warrant was issued. The federal authorities notified Scotland Yard and when Mrs. Ghee reached Liverpool she was sent back to this city as an undesirable alien.

Edwin M. Stanton, assistant United States district attorney, said the government was prepared to prove Mrs. Ghee was responsible for the distribution of $25,000 worth of opium throughout the United States.

RESPONSIBILITIES OF U. S. RESPECTING PHILIPPINES ARE TOLD TO COMMITTEE

Secretary of War Garrison Urges Passage of Pending Bill.

Would Enlarge Measure of Self Government of Natives.

Merely Step Toward Independence Properly Safeguarded.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Why the administration is insisting upon passage of the pending bill to enlarge the measure of self-government of the Philippine islands was explained to the senate Philippine committee today by Secretary Garrison.

In a long prepared statement, he declared the measure had been improperly termed the "Philippine Independence bill," and that it was merely a step, with proper safeguards, toward self-government and exactly in line with promises held out to the Filipinos for years by the United States.

The preamble, which would declare the intention of the United States to ultimately grant complete independence to the islands, Secretary Garrison said was but a repetition of pledges already made over and over again.

"What the next step should be," he said, "when it should be taken, what conditions would properly surround the grant of absolute independence, and other like speculations, it seems to me are idle and their consideration at this time would only be confusing."

Exaggerated Accounts.

In view of "the recent exaggerated accounts of petty disturbances in the islands," the secretary said it was particularly interesting to note that Former President Taft, when governor-general of the islands, had said that as a result of the attitude of the Ameri-

DEATH OF CASHIER DUE TO NATURAL CAUSES.

Davenport, Iowa, Jan. 11.—A careful post mortem examination of the body of Wesley D. Patty, the missing bank cashier of Oneida, Ill., whose body was found in a Davenport hotel Sunday, indicated that he died a natural death, probably from apoplexy. No trace of poison could be found in his stomach.

A note was found in his pocket addressed to the manager of the hotel, stating that he had registered under the name of W. L. Smith. The note contained his right name and asked in case he died that the manager notify his family.

NEW SULTAN OF EGYPT APPOINTED BY BRITAIN

HUSSEIN KEMIL PASHA.

The British government has deposed the khedive of Egypt and put in his place his cousin, Hussein Kemil Pasha. The old khedive was banished some time ago and when the war involved Turkey he went to Constantinople and announced himself on the side of Germany and Turkey. The khedive has a nice, fat salary and a palace, but there is not much more in the job. Egypt is governed by Great Britain through a commissioner.

ENJOYS TRIP IN TRENCHES

Saw Many Soldiers in Marvelous Underground Rooms.

Petrograd, via London, Jan. 11.—During a recent visit to Warsaw by George T. Marye, the American ambassador to Russia, and a party from the embassy, Mrs. Marye and Secretary Raymond Baker took occasion to make a trip near the battle line in Poland. They were escorted by a director of the Red Cross hospital to within three miles of the firing line.

Mr. Baker, in recounting details of the experience, said:

"The ambassadoress enjoyed the trip across the battlefield tremendously and although we were almost in the center of things, with every road and field black with massing troops, and the continuous booming of big guns was in our ears, Mrs. Marye showed no apprehension but only the keenest interest in what was going on.

"At one point we were close enough to hear the intermittent spitting of the machine guns. Here we came upon the line of the secondary trenches and were invited to enter. In the marvelously constructed underground rooms we saw the soldiers off duty gathered

ARMY WILL JOIN FORCES WITH ALLIES

But Little Fighting in Eastern or Western Zones.

Lord Kitchener Says War Will Really Begin in May.

Russia Sending Enormous Masses of Men to Front.

London, Jan. 11.—There are increasing indications of the early participation of Roumania in the war, thus bringing into play another party to the combination against the Tentonic powers contemplated by Great Britain, France and Russia.

Difficulties confronted the allies in the earlier stages of the war in furnishing munitions, equipment and other necessities of war beyond those required for their own immediate needs. These difficulties now have been surmounted and the obstacle which hitherto has blocked full Roumanian mobilization has been removed with the arrival in that country of the requisite supplies for the equipment and provisioning of the 600,000 men which she is about to put into the field. Arrangements have been completed also for the financing of these operations.

The lack of stirring battles at the present stage is attributed by British commentators largely to the determination of the allied commanders to content themselves with holding their present positions until the projected ring of armies is considered sufficiently strong to strike a blow which they hope will prove decisive.

War Will Begin in May.

The British idea that operations up to the present are only preparatory to big events fits in with a bit of gossip now heard here. It is to the effect that Lord Kitchener when asked concerning the probable duration of the war, said:

"I don't know when it will end, but I do know when it will begin, and that is in the month of May."

The opinion is expressed in some

STATUS OF ALIENS NOW MADE CLEAR

Naturalization Cannot Be Requested as Right in England.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

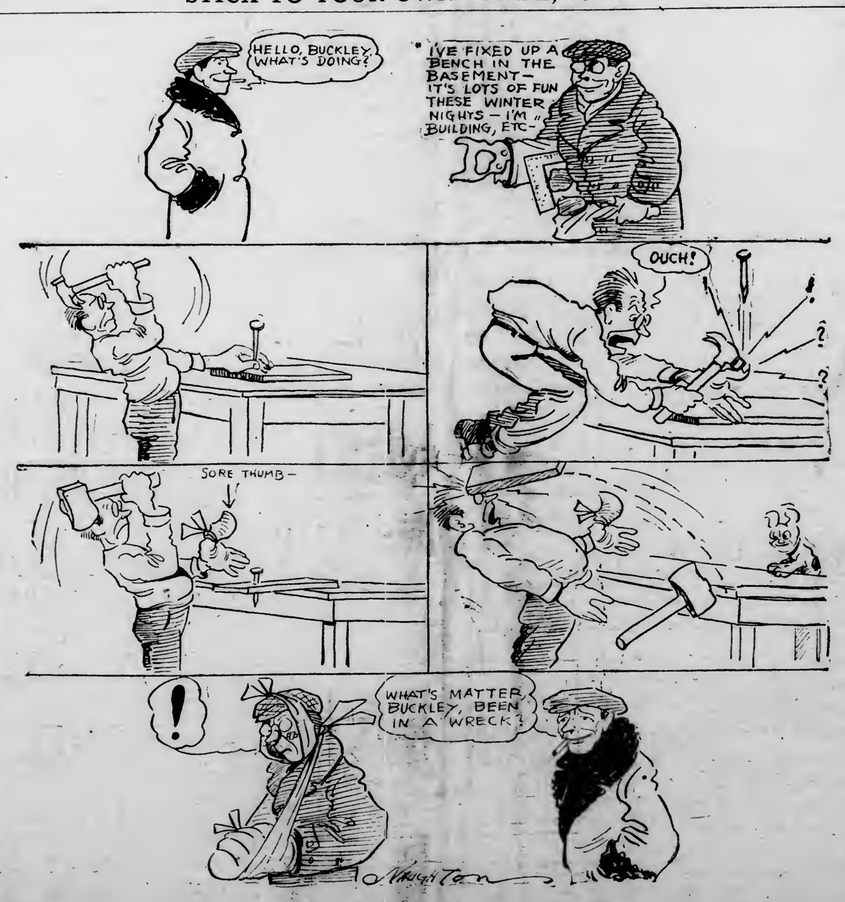

London, Jan. 1.—Certain new war statutes, defining the status of aliens and setting forth what constitutes their nationality, became effective today. The press already is discussing whether they are effective against spies.

Naturalization cannot be requested as a right under either the new or old statutes. It is regarded as an act of grace. The working of the new laws, therefore, depends largely on the home secretary.

The problem in the British mind is to determine whether the alien who seeks to become a British citizen may not be doing so at the instigation of his home government in order more effectively to play the spy. Just now naturalized Germans are held under suspicion by the government and denied the right to live in certain areas, particularly along the western coast (which is subject to German raids), near army training camps, or fortified bases.

Under the new law a naturalization certificate may be revoked only when obtained by fraud. Furthermore the naturalized citizen is not required to furnish sureties of loyal behavior.

STICK TO YOUR OWN TRADE, IGNATZ.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Official announcements of the fighting in the west from Berlin and Paris today show that comparative calm prevails except at a few points. Even in upper Alsace and in the Argonne, where there have been violent encounters recently, activity has slackened. Near Soissons and in the vicinity of Perthes, however, spirited engagements are in progress.

The German war office admits that the French have captured trenches north of Soissons, toward the western end of the battle line, but states further onslaughts were repulsed. The French announcement says two more lines of trenches, covering 500 yards of the front, have been occupied. There is a similar disparity of statement concerning the progress of the fighting near Perthes, which has assumed importance because the prize at stake is control of railroads of high strategic value. The French communication states that 20 yards of German trenches were seized, while the German authorities say that positions won by their opponents were retaken.

Although further progress is being made in the advance toward Warsaw, from the west, according to the German announcement, the movement is slow on account of bad weather. London suggests that the inactivity of the allies in both the east and west is due to the fact that they are awaiting the entrance of new members into the combination against the Teutonic nations. It is said that Roumania, with 600,000 soldiers, is virtually ready to enter the war on the side of the allies.

An important advance has been made by the British army, if, as is reported in London, it has virtual possession of Lille. This city lies just south of the Belgian border, to the east of the battle line held for several months and its occupation by the British would mean that a sharp bend had been made in the German front. Neither the French nor German war office statements, however, has given official confirmation of the London dispatch.

Renewed activity along the coast of German aircraft, which bombarded Dunkirk, has revived rumors of a Zeppelin raid over England. One Zeppelin is said to have moved toward the English coast from Dunkirk.

Another lull in the fighting along the Vistula, in Russian Poland, is recorded by the Petrograd war office. The fury of the German attack has not spent itself, however, and although the attempt to break through the Russian line west of Warsaw may have been given up for the time, the movement from the north continues in full force. Four successive German attacks were made in this region and according to the Russian version they accomplished little.

OVERLOOK LOOT.

A large showcase in front of the Fitwell Clothing company, 112 West Superior street, was burglarized early this morning and a number of articles stolen. The robbery was discovered by Officer Harling about 7:30 a. m. The thieves had evidently overlooked, or had become scared off before they could add, a fine mackinaw coat and two pairs of trousers to their loot.

The remaining articles were taken charge of by the policeman and left in the Treadway Drug company's store temporarily for safe-keeping. Investigation into the robbery is being conducted by Officers Thompson and Kreager.

COST LIFE OF LITTLE FRIEND

Groceryman's Gift of Candy to Child Led Her to Death.

Was Killed When Returning Home With Her Bag of Sweets.

A child's taste for sweets, a friend behind the candy counter in the corner grocery store, and automobiles passing formed the combination which cost the life of little Alida Hubert, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leander Hubert, 323 Vernon street, one day last summer. The story was unfolded today in district court where Fred E. Granzow, assistant fire chief, and his chauffeur, Gerald O. Black, are jointly defending an action brought by the girl's father to recover $5,000 damages on a wrongful death action.

Shortly before 2 o'clock on the afternoon of May 18, 1914, the little girl was struck and instantly killed by a fire department automobile which was returning from a run in the western part of the city. Gerald O. Black was driving the car and First Assistant Chief Granzow was a passenger in the car. Hubert, the girl's father, charges them with negligence and holds them liable in the sum of $5,000 for his daughter's death. He is suing in the capacity of administrator. A jury was seletced this morning to try the action.

The testimony in the case given this morning showed that the little girl had made friends with the corner grocery man earlier in the day and that he promised her a bag of candy if she would come over and see him. After dinner, the child, remembering the promise, went to the store to see that it was fulfilled. She got the candy all right, with a smile and a friendly greeting from the kind hearted grocer, and was starting for home about a block and a half away when she was struck by the fire automobile.

The evidence which has thus far been adduced shows that the child dodged an automobile west bound just before she saw the assistant fire chief's machine. She apparently became stricken with terror and started to run first one way and then another. Black, the driver, tried to dodge the little girl first to the right and then to the left, but missed calculations and struck her. The fire automobile ran into a pole on the curb.

It is claimed that the accident was due to negligence on the part of the defendants. This is denied in the joint answer filed by Granzow and Black. Andrew Nelson is attorney for Hubert, and William P. Harrison and Harvey Hoshour appear as attorneys for the defendarts. The case is on trial before Judge Ensign.

FARMER SUES AUTO OWNERS

Says Machine Damaged His Buggy and Injured Him.

John, Felix and Alex Tarnowski are made the defendants in a damage action for $4,535, brought by Abram Camncer in the district court this morning. The plaintiff, who is a farmer, says in his complaint that he was driving in a buggy along the Pike Lake road on July 22, 1914, and to his buggy were tied two cows.

The defendants came along the road in an automobile, he claims, and, although they were given plenty of room to pass, they struck his buggy, throwing him out and damaging the wagon, injuring the horse, as well as causing injuries to himself.

He demands $1,000 general damages, $400 for his loss of time, $60 damages to his wagon and $75 for the injuries to his horse. A jury was drawn in district court this morning to try the case.

LAST READING OF SIGN ORDINANCE

At the regular session of the city commission this afternoon the sign ordinance introduced recently by Commissioner Murchison will receive its final reading and will be passed.

The ordinance will go into effect after thirty days, when all large signs, in front of stores, on buildings, or across highways will be prohibited under penalty of the law. A violation will mean a fine of $25 or twenty-five days for each day a sign is allowed to hang.

Several weeks ago the commission received a communication from a local merchant, who asked if some means could not be taken by the commissioners to stop the placing of cheap colored signs in front of stores, especially near the railroad stations. After considering the matter Commissioner Murchison introduced an ordinance, which met with the favor of the other members of the commission.

Only routine business will be taken up at the meeting this afternoon, there being several petitions for improvements, including one from property owners in the block between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth avenues east and Seventh street, who want an alley opened.

Deputy Clerk Fred Ash will act as clerk at the meeting owing to the absence from the city of City Clerk Palmer, who is in the Twin Cities for several days.

DOES NOT AGREE WITH PRESIDENT

Stevens Says Republicans Had Knowledge of Tariff Law.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Representative Stevens of St. Paul today took issue with President Wilson on the question of the knowledge the Republicans had of what was in the tariff commission law.

Mr. Stevens was a member of the conference committee that licked the trades commission bill into shape and he asserted that he was responsible for certain provisions defining the power of the commission, that made it possible to gather data that could be used by the ways and means committee in framing a tariff law.

Mr. Stevens said also that he had called attention to the scope of his provisions in the debate in the house on the conference report on the trades commission bill.

EVA'S "HIT" TALK IS DEMANDED AGAIN.

Col. H. V. Eva, secretary of the Duluth Commercial club, will leave tomorrow for Detroit, Mich., to address the annual meeting of the National League of Commission Merchants of the United States, which is being held there this week. His subject will be "Commercial Organization and Agricultural Development," and the address will be made on next Thursday afternoon.

Col. Eva gave this address at a meeting of the National Association of Commercial Secretaries at Cincinnati last September. One of the officers of the organization which is to meet at Detroit was present and he was so much impressed with the colonel's talk that he insisted that the Duluth Commercial club's secretary would deliver the same talk, or one similar, at the Detroit meeting.

SAYS WIFE WAS CRUEL TO HIM

Married life was one long nightmare for William Rutledge, 45, while he was living with Kizzah Rutledge, 49, according to a divorce complaint filed today in district court. He is suing for a separation on the grounds of cruelty.

They were married in Canada Jan. 1, 1888, and are parents of four children. Six years ago while they were living at Billerica, Mass., where he was employed as a loom fixer in one of the woolen mills, she began a system of cruelty which he could not stand, he says.

She called him vile names, threw knives at him, dashed hot tea in his face and did other disagreeable tricks, he alleges. Then to cap the climax, he caught the catarrh and his doctor told him to seek another climate. He asked his wife to join him, he says, but she refused.

Rutledge says this was desertion on her part and asks for a divorce also on that score.

SUES RAILROAD FOR $15,000 DAMAGES

A jury was drawn in district court before Judge Cant this morning to try a wrongful death action brought by Attilio Castiglino, administrator for the estate of Alfonso Capozzi against the Great Northern Railway company in which $15,000 damages are asked. Capozzi was killed while employed by the defendant company in the Minnesota transfer yards May 21, 1914. He was working with a crew of men. When he stepped off from one track to dodge one train, he was struck and instantly killed by a train coming in the opposite direction on another track.

Saturday afternoon Judge Cant took under advisement his decision in a contested divorce action brought by Anna Marendich against Matt Marendich.

WILL DISCUSS MILITARY DRILL

A mass meeting of Central high school students will be held after school hours tomorrow afternoon, at which referendum action on the proposed organization of a military company at the school will be taken by the students.

The question of having a cadet drill in the school curriculum is a much mooted one and has been a subject of hot debate among the students, who are fairly well divided.

Tomorrow it is planned to hold a debate, allowing both leaders, Irving Grover and Jacob Garon against, and the entire student body to express their opinion. The matter will then be put to a vote.

FINAL CONFERENCE ON HIGHLAND SUBWAY.

Early this afternoon members of the city commission met with officials of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad for the purpose of discussing plans for the proposed Highland street subway under the tracks at Sixtieth avenue west.

The construction of the subway, which will cost about $15,000, has been agreed on by officials of the railroad and the meeting this afternoon was for the purpose of arranging a few final details.

In return for the construction of the subway by the railroad, which will also build the approaches, the city has agreed to close all streets passing underneath the tracks for a distance of several blocks in the vicinity of Sixtieth avenue west. The grade at this point is almost impassable and would probably never be used for highway purposes, anyway. The property owners all signed petitions agreeing to the closing of the streets and the railroad is now prepared to begin active work.

SUPERIOR

THREE DRAWBACKS TO CITY PROGRESS

Mayor W. I. Prince of Duluth, in an address on "The Social Functions of Civic Administration," last night at the Pilgrim Congregational church of Superior, said that lawlessness, licentiousness and intemperance were the three greatest drawbacks to a prosperous municipality.

"To obtain a thorough business administration it is not necessary that a community tolerate lawlessness and vice. The saloon should be wiped out," said Mayor Prince.

"The high licensed saloon is no longer a boon to a city. Persons who have become interested in the administration of civic affairs know that the income from saloon keepers' licenses is small indeed when compared to the added police expense and money needed for enforcing the laws under such circumstances.

"It was not so long ago that the license fund of a city's government was bolstered disproportionately by the saloon keepers' money, but the new era of thought and economy of municipal affairs has made people realize that they cannot afford to tolerate the saloons in spite of the income derived.

"In direct line with the new ideas about government management is the elimination of partisanship in politics. There is no place for party politics in civic administrations. Now that we are free from the bonds of such a system, the business city has sprung up, and through a capable management, many thousands of dollars have been saved taxpayers.

"People now take more interest in politics. The church members, through various organizations, are studying local conditions. I am glad to see that Superior churchmen organized a council at a meeting this afternoon. This move undoubtedly will be for the best interests of the city."

TWO BUILDINGS ARE CLASSED AS NUISANCES.

BORROWED FROM HER BOARDERS

Wife Would Have Freedom From Husband—Alleges Non-Support.

After thirty yearh of married life, Henrietta M. Ogilvie, 53, today in district court started divorce proceedings against David M. Ogilvie, 61, her husband from whom she has been separated for the past few years. Ogilvie was at one time county surveyor of Hubbard county and was also employed by the government as a surveyor in Lake county. He is now living at Pilot Grove, Faribault county, Minn. Mrs. Ogilvie is the proprietress of a local boarding house.

A long story of broken wedding vows is recited in her complaint. The Ogilvies were married at Arlington, Ill., Aug. 25, 1885. Everything went smoothly until 1856 when she claims he went to North Dakota and stayed for a long time without letting her know where he was. During the last ten years Mrs. Ogilvie says that he has contributed practically nothing towards her support. Up to five years ago, she said, he practically lived on her, she says.

Mrs. Ogilvie testified that while he was living with her he often borrowed money from the boarders and told them to take it off their bills. She also claimed that he borrowed her watch, a gift to her when a girl of 18, and pawned it and that he pawned so many other things that she was obliged to hide her silverware for fear that he would try to convert that into cash.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Russia's approval of the relief expedition for German and Austrian prisoners in Siberian camps, headed by American missionaries at Pekin, which was taken by officials here as granted, has been withheld, it was learned today, and the whole project awaits further negotiations. The American Red Cross learned today that the expedition had been held up at Harbin.

Coincidentally came an official dispatch to the American embassy containing a pointed intimation that unless Austria's prisoners in the Siberian wastes were better treated there would be a retaliation upon prisoners in Austria-Hungary. It included, however, prisoners in Servia and in France.

Two requests forwarded by the state department to Petrograd from the Austro-Hungarian government demanding better conditions have been unanswered. The Vienna foreign office after declaring the Spanish ambassador there had testified that Austria's prisoners were maintained in full accordance with the demand of international

ASSURED OF TWO MEALS EVERY DAY

Distressed Belgians Now Certain of Getting That Much Food.

New York, Jan. 11.—Distressed Belgians, with the exception perhaps of those living in a few outlying villages, are now assured two meals apiece daily.

This was the statement today of Ethelbert Watts, American consul general at Brussels, who returned from his post on a leave of absence. He declared American charity had saved Belgium from starvation.

Watts said that to the best of his knowledge there had been no interference by the German military authorities with the skillful and speedy distribution of relief. He added:

"Shortly before leaving Brussels I was informed by Henry A. Johnson, the American consul at Ghent, that the German authorities had made prompt restitution for American food and supplies that had been inadvertently consumed by German officials and men quartered in Belgian homes."

EDINBURGH'S ROOFS ARE BEING FORTIFIED

New York, Jan. 11.—The roofs of the principal buildings of Edinburgh have been fortified with sandbags and machine guns, according to Gottfried Delitsch, one of fifteen British subjects of German birth who arrived here from England today on the steamer Philadelphia.

"They have gone crazy in Edinburgh," said Delitsch. "Everyone not a native is under suspicion. Fortifications are being thrown up in and about every part of the city."

FRENCH AIRMAN BRINGS DOWN GERMAN MACHINE

Paris, Jan. 11.—A German aeroplane flying over Amiens has been brought to the ground by a French machine.

The French airman went aloft the moment the German was seen approaching. He opened fire on his antagonist with the result that the German machine fell within the French lines. One of the German pilots was killed.

This Is a Bad Month.

The indoor life of winter, with lack of outdoor exercise, puts a heavy load on the kidneys. Nearly everybody suffers from rheumatism, backache, pain in sides and back, kidney and bladder ailments. A backache may not mean anything serious, but it certainly does not mean anything good. It's better to be on the safe side and take Foley Kidney Pills to strengthen and invigorate the kidneys and help them do their work. They help rid the blood of acids and poisons. Sold everywhere.

STATE LAW UNDER FIRE

Inheritance Tax Attacked in Supreme Court in Graff Case.

St. Louis County Probate Court Upheld Law as Constitutional.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 11.—An attack on the Minnesota inheritance tax law was made in the state supreme court today by counsel for Mrs. Melvina W. Graff of Pennsylvania, widow of the late Edmund D. Graff, who owned property in Duluth valued at $322,282. W. J. Stevenson, assistant attorney general in charge of inheritance tax matters, argued for the state. The court took the case under advisement.

"If the contentions of Mrs. Graff are sustained," said Mr. Stevenson in his argument, "this state will have no inheritance tax law worthy of the name. What would be left of it would be grossly discriminatory against residents and favoring non-resident owners of Minnesota property."

Francis W. Sullivan of Duluth, of counsel for Mrs. Graff, argued that the property in Minnesota was exempt because property devolving to the widow under the Pennsylvania law is not taxed. Mr. Stevenson argued that the Pennsylvania statute is not reciprocal.

A second argument was that the personal property in the Graff estate is not taxable here because the transfer is not controlled by a Minnesota law. Mr. Stevenson replied that "no legal authority has ever said the transfer can be taxed only in the state where the legal or theoretical transfer takes place." The property was transferred to Mrs. Graff in Pennsylvania.

The constitutionality of the law is also attacked in its relation both to the state and Federal Constitutions.

The case was taken to the supreme court on a writ of certiorari from the St. Louis county probate court, where Judge Gilpin held that the provisions of the Minnesota inheritance tax law, which were attacked, were constitutional, thus sustaining the contentions of the assistant attorney general.

WANTS A "HOTEL DE GINK" ESTABLISHED IN NEW YORK

JEFF DAVIS.

Jeff Davis, the head of the International Itinerant Workers of America, is in New York trying to interest the authorities in his plan for solving the problem of the unemployed. Davis wants to establish in New York a "Hotel de Gink" for the unemployed and he has asked the city to give him the use of a large unoccupied building for the purpose. He claims that the establishment of such "hotels" in Seattle, Tacoma and Everett last winter proved their value. Davis had a meeting with the followers of Eads How, known as the "millionaire hobo" and the "neverworks" as How's followers are popularly known hooted him and his ideas. Davis's plan is to make the unemployed self-supporting.

MANUFACTURING CENSUS LISTS

Important Work About to Be Done—Surplus Schedules.

George D. McCarthy, assistant secretary of the Duluth Commercial club, today received a supply of schedules for the manufacturers' census which is about to be taken. This comes from the census bureau of the Federal department of commerce. The department announces that it has sent schedules to the various manufacturers of the city, but has sent this surplus supply to the club so that in case any are missed they may get their supply from Mr. McCarthy.

"Nothing is more important than this census for the city," said Mr. McCarthy today. "There is not as much fuss made about it as there is about the population census, but when one considers that the city's standing for the next ten years as a manufacturing center will be built and based on this, it is worth while considering. Manufacturers and business men in general should see to it that the city should be given full credit in this line and nothing should be overlooked. It is too important; more important, to my mind, than the population matter."

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE FIGHT ON TUESDAY.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Preparations for tomorrow's fight in the house over the proposed constitutional amendment for nation-wide women's suffrage were perfected today.

Majority Leader Underwood secured an agreement for the house to meet at 11 a. m., when the Mondell-Bristow resolution will be brought in under a special rule, providing six hours' debate, equally divided.

WILLIS INAUGURATED GOVERNOR OF OHIO.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 11.—Frank B. Willis of Hardin county was inaugurated governor of Ohio today. It was the first time in eleven years that the inaugurated governor came from the Republican party.

In his inaugural address he promised retrenchment in state affairs. Retiring Governor Cox will return to the management of his newspapers in Dayton and Springfield.

Steamer Floated.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 11.—The steamer John Hardie, carrying Maryland's contribution for the Belgians, was floated today apparently undamaged after having been aground in Black river since Saturday. Her hull will be examined before she proceeds for Rotterdam.

Revolution Spreads.

Cape Haitien, Haiti, Jan. 11.—The revolutionary movement headed by leaders of the government recently overturned by President Theodore is apparently finding support. Cape Haitien was attacked Jan. 7 and now Plaines, Ouamaminthe, Fort Liberte and Trou are reported up in arms.

Steamship Ashore.

Tokio, Jan. 11.—A wireless report received here says that the Peninsula & Oriental Steamship company's steamer Nile ran ashore on a reef in the Inland sea at 3 o'clock this morning. Help was summoned and Japanese torpedo boat destroyers are on their way to the scene of the reported accident. The Nile plies between England and Japanese ports.

TOO THIN.

Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph:

"Father," said the student, "I want to talk to you about changing my course of study."

"Talk to your mother, son," directed the father, who was reading the sporting page.

"Mother," said the son, "I made a mistake when I selected chemistry. But it is not too late to change even yet. I want to take astronomy instead."

The mother searched the eyes of her son sharply. Then she said:

"Nope. You'll have to think up some better excuse for staying out at night!"

MOOSE LAKE STORES VISITED BY BURGLARS

Moose Lake, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Burglars operated here last night breaking into one store but failed in two others. They broke into the E. H. Knutita store and rifled the cash register of $5 in cash but did not molest anything else.

About 2 o'clock Mrs. Kalm was awakened by some one in the rear hallway of the building occupied by the Kalms as a store and she got up and got a gun, but the intruders ran down the hall and disappeared.

Swanson Brothers' company store was also attempted through a rear window, but the burglars gave up the job when they found the window heavily barred.

No one saw them so no description can be obtained.

HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD—TRY THIS

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

HAVE RIGHT TO ISSUE BONDS

Court Holds With County Commissioners in Test Case.

Special Election Not Necessary to Raise Money for Roads.

An important decision was handed down in district court today when Judge Fesler signed an order sustaining a demurrer to the injunctional action brought by E. F. Alexander against the St. Louis county board in which he sought to restrain the county commissioners from proceeding with the sale of bonds issued for the purpose of financing the construction of the Duluth-St. Vincent road, otherwise designated State Rural Highway No. 4. John H. Brigham, attorney for the plaintiff, will take an appeal to the supreme court.

By sustaining the demurrer to the action, Judge Fesler holds that counties are invested by law with authority to issue, without a special election, bonds to finance the construction of state rural highways built under the Elwell law. The question has frequently been raised by attorneys for bonding companies which have refused to handle the bonds but has never been put up to the court before. In order to clear up legal difficulties which have been a stumbling block for bonding companies and have made it thus far practically impossible to sell the bonds, it was decided to make a test case of an instance in this county.

E. F. Alexander, a taxpayer and citizen, brought suit in which he sought to restrain the county board from proceeding with the sale of a $150,000 bond issue, alleging that the board had no legal right to float the bonds unless authorized by the people at a special election. To this suit, Charles E. Adams, special county counsel, demurred and arguments on the demurrer were heard before Judge Fesler in district court Saturday afternoon. It was agreed between counsel that the case should be appealed to the supreme court no matter which way the district court decided, in order to get a ruling from the supreme court on the power of the county board under the Elwell law.

At the present time about ten or twelve counties in Minnesota are experiencing difficulties of a similar nature in disposing of bonds issued by the county board under the same law. They desire to dispose of their bonds but will be unable to do so until the supreme court has given a ruling which will determine this important question regarding the operation of the Elwell law.

"OUR WIVES."

Baldwin Players in Charming Comedy—Two New Members.

Homer Barton, leading man for the Baldwin Players, is a polished, clever comedian. Those who witnessed Barton's excellent work in "Our Wives," running at the Lyceum throughout the week, left with the impression that Barton only needs a vehicle that permits him to show to advantage.

"Our Wives" is a three-act comedy. It is the best comedy so far shown by the local stock company. A full house attested its approval by frequently repeated applause.

As Frank Bowers, nicknamed "Paste," a librettist, Barton scored heaviest as the man who feared anything feminine, and shunned everything effeminate. He had his pals, "Corksey" Sylvan Martin, a stock broker, taken by De Stefani; "Spider" Harry Lyon, an artist, enacted by Leon Hall, and "Rattle" Melville Tatum, a dentist, done by Walter Baldwin, Jr. He also had his faithful valet, Otto, who, usually, but not finally, stood between Bowers and womankind. He also had a cook. With these, he asked, who cared for women?

Bowers is a fussy, fidgety genius, depending upon his man Otto to see to everything except the signing of checks.

Bowers is working upon an opera. Upstairs he hears the strains of original melody. Such melody, he declares, would fit to a nicety the theme of his opera, and he makes an appointment with the "man" upstairs. When he finds that a woman, and a very pretty woman, is responsible for the music, he tells her bluntly that he will have nothing to do with her—then he has an inspiration. He suggests that she lose her identity as a woman, he to lose his as a man—that they meet upon an equal footing, two artists with but a single thought, art; sex and the pitfalls of sex relations, to be pushed to the background. She agrees, and Bowers and Wilson collaborate.

Enter the stockbroker, "Corksey" Martin. He has found the most wonderful woman in the universe.

Enter "Spider" Lyon, the artist. He has discovered the most perfect gem of femininity in the world.

Enter "Rattle" Tatum, the dentist. He has won for himself the personification of female human loveliness.

Toward the end of the play, Bowers' man Otto also discovers the finest cook in the world, Bowers' cook, and confesses that they are to wed.

The three bachelor friends of Bowers promise to call on him after their honeymoons, and when they return with their wives, trouble starts. One of the wives, an Irish lass, has red hair. Another wife claims that it is not natural. A third wife tells of the gossip to the red-headed one. The husbands are asked to untangle the gossip-knot, and they, in turn, "fall out" with their erstwhile friends while trying. Bowers, meanwhile, looks upon the squalling wives, and blesses himself for being single. One of the wives also finds Miss Wilson's portfolio, and gossip concerning the young woman and Bowers is started.

Complications grow deeper. One couple after another leave the writer's apartment, wives cry or show fight towards their husbands, and Bowers again pats himself on the back because he is single.

Deserted by all his old pals, he leaves his home for a walk in a park. Returning, he again hears the strains of music above his head, and he suddenly realizes that sex does and must figure where man and woman are concerned. He sends for Miss Wilson. He tells her of his love; it is reciprocated.

Every member of the company showing this week has his or her work cut out. Miss Shoemaker, as Wilson, wore two stunning gowns, and her work as "Wilson" was above reproach. Miss Shoemaker appears to be the type of actress who "wears" well. She does not play all of her roles alike, and her popularity with the company's patrons appears to be growing as they come to know her work better.

A new member of the company, Miss Margaret Lotus, proved a distinct acquisition. She is both pretty and an excellent actress, and her insinuating allusion to the other lady's hair was consummatively feminine, and drew much appreciative giggling from the ladies in the audience, who apparently saw genius and realism in the way she did it.

Another new woman is Miss Fay Baker. Miss Baker can cry with realism, and she did a bit of extremely good acting, as fairly dragged from the presence of Bowers, whom she was "telling" about the scandal concerning "Wilson," she struggled long enough to complete her "startling" before she left in a storm of tears and vituperation.

That the Baldwin Players are favorites was easily attested. As each player appeared he or she received a most encouraging reception. De Stefani, Baldwin, Hall, each in turn, had to bow to the handclapping they received. Each of the actors responded with very good work.

The setting for the piece is the best yet shown by the Baldwins—which is saying a lot. Applause greeted each of the two settings.

The play will continue throughout the week, with the usual matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

Plenty of Comedy and Unique Sketch on New Bill.

More entertaining features are crowded into the new bill at the Orpheum, which opened a week's engagement yesterday, than have been seen at that playhouse in many a week. The large audience last night shouted with laughter at the wealth of comedy stunts and when they were tired of laughing they were treated to other entertaining turns that caught the popular fancy.

Charles D. Weber, billed as an eccentric juggler, juggled his way into favor with his audience and was the biggest hit on the program. He is best described as a "live wire" entertainer, and he keeps his batteries of comedy working continuously. His humor is not the old, time-worn stuff either, but is the offspring of an original brain. Whether he is juggling a dozen hats, catching potatoes on a fork, or some other stunt, he is pulling down laughs continually. He made a big hit when he put a small fork in his mouth and caught potatoes thrown by different persons in the audience. Some of the potatoes came so fast that he had to seek cover, but he was finally caught napping, and a soft apple thrown with the force of a bullet struck him on the forehead like a shrapnel shell. He was good natured, however, and kept on introducing new features, each bearing the stamp of originality and cleverness.

Joe and Lew Cooper, two clever musical entertainers, introducing their own compositions, did some remarkably good work. The former, who is a well known baritone, sang a lot of character songs, including impersonations of the Italian, the Hebrew and others. The latter played a medley of his own composition on the piano, and the two sang a duet. Their whole act is "classy" and received a fine reception.

Waldemar Young and William Jacobs, assisted by Ethel McFarland, have the unique act on the bill. In this act, which is something of a burlesque playlet, introduces Julius Caesar as the editor of a daily paper and Mark Anthony as press agent for Cleopatra. The mingling of stately Roman manner of address and the present-day slang would make the Sphinx smile. Mark Anthony appears to have been "working" the editor to get him to run "Cleo's" picture with press stories on the front page. The play opens at a point when the press agent seems to have lost his "pull." To "put over" one more story and picture, the wily Mark Anthony calls "Cleo" to the telephone and persuades her to come to the editor's office where she does some of her serpentine dances. As a result the editor orders the whole paper turned over to allow space for "press" matter.

The Six American Dancers, three girls and three young men, present a good act, consisting entirely of fancy dancing. These players are in a class by themselves in this art, and their handsome costumes, attractive personalities, combined with a beautiful stage setting, brought instant favor for the act.

Lydell, Rogers and Lydell have a clever act in which one of the Lydells appears as an "old boy." His makeup, character work and clever dancing won him the lion's share of applause.

A number of excellent motion picture films round out the program, making every feature of the bill a winner. The present bill will be the attraction at the Orpheum for the remainder of the week.

Amusement Notes.

One of the biggest headline acts in vaudeville tops the new bill opening at the popular New Grand this afternoon. This act is the "Hongkong Mysteries" featuring the Chinese necromancer, Li Hong Thwang. Li Hong Thwang is the latest importation from the Flowery Kingdom, and he brings with him his entire company of Celestials and all the latest mysteries of the Orient. In the company is a dainty Chinese maiden, Miss Teriesso, whose charm helps to make the act a success. Eldora and company offer a surprising novelty in comedy juggling. They juggle everything imaginable and toss around 50-pound steel balls and balance 200-pound truck wheels as lightly as though they were made of rubber. Plenty of comedy is introduced which lends the performance variety. "Bob" Hall puts over laugh after laugh with his witty sayings and his funny songs. "Bob" is an extemporaneous and improvising comedian. Tommy Kelly and Frances Drake, singers and dancers, are a dainty pair with a repertoire of good songs and original dances. Among the photoplays is "The Crimson Moth," a two-reel feature of exceptional worth. "Olive and the Burglar," one of the "Olive Opportunity" series; "Aunty's Portrait," a comedy; "Rattle Snakes," an educational film; and "The First Law" are other photoplays on the program. On Tuesday and Wednesday "The Song of the Soul," a stirring drama of love and devotion in three reels, will be added to the above program. This feature will be shown at 2:45, 6 and 8:15 each day.

Marie Dressler, whose screen shadow is just now touring the country in the Aleo release, "Tillie's Punctured Romance," and is at the Rex this week, came out of a New York photoplay theater the other day, laughing heartily. It is also to be noted in this connection that the audience Miss Dressler left behind was laughing too.

"Oh," she exclaimed to an interviewer, "I've just had the experience of my life. I never realized how funny I am—that's modest isn't it?—or rather how funny I must have been when I posed before the cameras in 'Tillie's Punctured Romance.' I laughed and laughed at myself without realizing that it was really me I was laughing at. For the thing is genuinely funny.

"Then as I watched the succession of pictures I saw other funny things. One of them was the realization that I was really on the screen. I never believed that I made just the pictures I saw until I saw them. But as I watched I began to see little familiar things about the unfamiliar figures on the screen. For flashes I recognized myself.

"I think I may add that I am the better player for having seen myself act. Formerly the only reflection the player had of himself or herself was critical opinion and the effect upon the audiences. But these do not seem to produce the proper effect, or else why have all actors the reputation of being conceited?"

"The Heart of the Night Wind" is the attraction at the Zelda this week. Night Wind, so named by the Indians, has been brought up by a Siwash and is considered as a half-breed. She is taken in by the mother of a foreman of a big lumber camp and assists the old lady in housework. The foreman, John Daly, is in love with her, but keeps this a secret. Walter Sandry, a new owner of the lumber camp, appears unexpectedly to run things himself. The rough men of the camp look upon him as an Eastern tenderfoot. But he had plenty of grit and makes up his mind to win their respect. He wins the love of Night Wind by giving her his beautiful horse to ride. One day, in a temptuous fit of emotion, he kisses her. This is constituted among the Indians equivalent to a bethrothal of marriage. From then on Night Wind looks upon him as "her man."

A New York society girl, Dolly Ordway, an artist, comes to the lumber camp in search of local color. Dolly is given quarters by Walter Sandry. Dolly also falls in love with Walter. Night Wind suspects this and her semi-savage jealousy is difficult to restrain. Dolly tries to win Walter to a declaration of marriage. Several times he is on the point of succumbing when the thought of the simple but beautiful child of nature obtrudes itself. The complications which follow are many.

DR. BOCKMAN IS ENTERTAINED AT BANQUET AT MINNEAPOLIS

MRS. M. O. BOCKMAN.

REV. PROF. M. O. BOCKMAN, D. D.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—A banquet was held last Friday at the Hotel Radisson in honor of Dr. Bockman, the president of the seminary of the United Norwegian Lutheran church, located at St. Anthony Park, Minn. The banquet was attended by 300 people from all the Northwestern states. Greetings were brought from the Norwegian synod by Dr. Stub, from the Hauge synod by President Hanson and from the Lutheran Free church by Rev. Mr. Matison. A number of greetings were read from the colleges and other institutions under the auspices of the United Norwegian Lutheran church, from ministers and friends of Dr. Bockman, scattered all over the United States, and from Bishops Stoylen and Bockman of the Church of Norway. S. H. Holstad of Minneapolis spoke on behalf of the laymen of the church, Prof. M. J. Stolee on behalf of his colleagues, and Hon. Oley Nelson of Slater, Iowa, for the board of trustees. Dr. J. N. Kildahl recited a poem written for the occasion. Rev. Peder Tanggerd of Eau Claire, Wis., expressed the sentiments of the members of the church; Johannes Holfjeld spoke on behalf of the students of the seminary, and Mrs. E. H. Dahl, in a speech about "The Woman in the Home," addressed Mrs. Bockman.

Dr. Bockman came to the United States in 1875 as a young graduate of the University of Christiania, Norway, to take up church work among his countrymen. In 1886 he became a theological professor at the seminary, then located at Northfield, and in 1890 he entered the service of the United church in the same capacity. The occasion for this banquet was thus Dr. Bockman's fortieth anniversary as a minister, and twenty-fifth anniversary as theological professor in the United church.

Eloquent tributes were paid to the professor by the various speakers of the evening. His noble Christian character was praised. His unswerving devotion to the cause of the church and of God, his faithfulness to his ideals and to truth and his untiring research in Biblical knowledge, were commented upon. Dr. Bockman has rendered inestimable service in laying a secure foundation for the Norwegian Lutheran church in our country, but he has also furthered Lutheran theology by his extended research in New Testament exegesis.

DR. YOST ENDS HIS PASTORATE OF FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Rev. Robert and Mrs. Yost left Duluth at 1:55 this afternoon, bidding farewell to a large number of former parishioners and friends, who gathered at the Union depot to tell them God-speed. Mr. Yost has been pastor of the First Presbyterian church for a number of years, and recently handed in his resignation to enter what he believes is the work for which his life was planned, that of ministering, religiously and educationally, to the mountaineers of the Southeast.

It has long been his ambition to take up this work, but lack of funds has been the handicap. Recently a man became a former parishoner of Dr. Yost in the East, whose name is withheld, knowing the clergyman's ambition offered to finance the undertaking. Dr. Yost instantly accepted and immediately offered his resignation to the local church. An effort was made to have him reconsider: in fact the officials of the First church did about everything they could to force Dr. Yost to withdraw his resignation, for we had become very popular here, not only with his own congregation, but with the public generally. However he refused to give up the work for which he had longed, even hardships considered.

Dr. Yost preached his farewell sermon last evening to a large audience. His text was "Who Gave Himself for our sins" from Galatians, i, 4. Words of farewell were brief, but following the sermon, there was an informal reception tendered him.

Dr. Yost will lecture this evening in Superior after which he will go to his old home in Central Ohio, where he will remain pending his decision as to where he will make headquarters. He will locate in one of the Virginias, Kentucky or Pennsylvania, but as yet has not decided fully.

REV. ROBERT YOST.

Dr. Yost's successor as pastor of the First church has not yet been chosen. Several prominent clergymen have been approached, but as yet there has been no decision arrived at. Announcement of a choice is expected before long. In the meantime various preachers will be engaged to fill the pulpit each Sunday. The first one will be Dr. Charles E. Barker of Washington, D. C., who will preach next Sunday morning and evening.

WALT WHITMAN'S RELIGION IS THEME OF PASTOR'S SERMON

"The other day I read two of Whitman's poems to a friend, and when I had finished, he remarked to me, 'Now that is something that goes beyond me. I cannot understand such a state of mind.' The two poems were 'You Felons on Trial in Courts,' and 'To Him That was Crucified.' You probably felt a similar moral and spiritual shock when you read the poems. Certainly these two poems are, to say the least, startling. His thoughts are not 'our' thoughts, that is those of the conventional thinker, who is living unconsciously on the predigested mental pabulum of the ages.

"Walt Whitman may have been crude and barbarous as to style, but he had depth and originality, qualities which cover a multitude of sins, especially in an age that is afraid of its own brain. But while the good old poet in the first place speaks for himself, he also speaks as the typical man, the representative of mankind. And the truth he brings to us in a rather startling form is that of the essential likeness and unity of humanity. We all profess to believe in this unity, but when we are actually faced by it we shrink from it. We think it degradation to put ourselves on the same level with thieves, and we hold it arrogance and assumption, if not blasphemy to speak of Christ as our 'comrade'. But while we may perhaps recognize a difference in degree between ourselves and the worst evil-doer, Walt Whitman certainly simply gives us the old, old truth, that we are all alike sinners. And on the other hand, if only we look deeply into our souls, we find there what is akin to 'Him who was crucified'. John Knox was perfectly right when he said, pointing to the poor wretch going to execution, 'there goes John Knox but for the grace of God', and Walt Whitman said but the truth, when in contemplation of the evil doers in the world, he exclaims 'Inside these breast bones I the smutched and choked'. He felt his kinship to the worst of sinners.

Brother to Christ.

"But on the other hand, he realized what Knox did not, that also in spirit he was brother to the Christ. He felt this oneness, because in him surged the same deep sympathy for the very sinner, whose kinship he recognized. And what is true for Walt Whitman is true for all men. Let there be in us the sinner, there is also the Christ, otherwise how could we understand Him, how could He say to us, 'follow Me?' Indeed we can only love what we understand; we can alone appreciate what we possess. We see the beauty of a great and divine life, because beauty and divineness is in our life too. If in our lowest moments we are but sinners, we are in our highest moments comrades of the Christ. We partake of His spirit and in it, we become 'enclosers of all continents, all castes, allowers of all theologies; we walk silent among disputes and assertions, but reject not the disputers nor anything that is asserted'. You see with that wider love in man comes also a wider understanding of truth, which is no longer disturbed by dogma or creed, but finds a place for them in the faith of a higher truth. There comes the conviction that every religious body has its own peculiar mission and that all sects are members of one body.

"But not only does the poet feel his oneness with Christ, but he also is aspired of his oneness with the divine spirit in the universe, so much so, that he exclaims 'There is no God more divine than Yourself.' And filled with this idea of divine oneness, he gives in his wonderful poem 'Chanting the Square Deific,' a new and all-embracing interpretation of the doctrine of Trinity, and of course in a world that is all divine, all distinctions and differences are dissolved. There is no reality in evil of any sort for it is included and explained by a transcendent good.

Creed of Optimist.

"We have here the creed of a thorough going optimist. And that optimism reaches its climax in Walt Whitman's view of life and death. What to most men is a thing of mystery and terror, is to him something of absolute trust and beauty. He becomes the great exalter of death, seeing the best in what seems the worst. The lover of life, loves death still more. That is why he says 'Did you think life so well provided for, and death, the purport of life, is not well provided for?—I do not think life provides for all and for time and space, but I believe that the Heavenly death provides for all.' What a glorious thought in these effeminate days, when we palaver about heaven to come, and tenaciously cling to the misery of mere living. Ah it takes a great soul to say to one that is dying 'I do not commiserate, I congratulate you.'

"Death indeed thus loses its sting and grave its victory and beautiful becomes the grave as the dark portal into a life more glorious. Indeed the greatest thing about death ever written by the hand of man, because it comes out of the depths of soul, is Whitman's great hymn to death 'In Memories of Abraham Lincoln'."

REWARD MEASURED BY MAN'S SERVICE

Real Accomplishment Best Way to Enrich Life, Says Dr. Ryan.

"Efficiency is not so much in noisy attacks on the problems of modern life as it is in bringing the individual up to his inherent capacity," declared Rev. A. W. Ryan, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church in a sermon Sunday morning on "Enriching Life."

"Do not try to get through life cheaply and expect rich returns," said Dr. Ryan. "The rewards are for those who have not counted their labors in money, effort or exacting toll, but for those who have given the world the best they have. For these the rewards are pressed down and running over.

"There is a growing realization that there is something more to life than an easy living—than just working at one's profession or occupation; than just doing the prescribed home duties. To realize the joy of living one must not only fill the normal place in life, but also enlarge it. One must give and give largely."

TEMPTATIONS MORE COMMON

Dr. Hovis Deplores Many of the "Modern Tendencies" in Life.

Human Nature the Same, But Life Is More Complex, He Says.

"Modern Tendencies" was the topic of the sermon preached yesterday morning by Dr. William Forney Hovis, pastor of the Endion M. E. church. His sermon in part follows:

"Modern life is not different from antique except in the complexity of its interests. The essential qualities of human nature have not changed materially since the days of the second Isaiah. If there seems to be a greater tendency now to go "astray" and to turn "every one his own way" it is not so much a matter of greater perversity as of greater temptation. Men are neither more weak nor more wicked than they ever were. There is more to test their weakness and to tempt them to do wrong.

"But, along with the increase of danger, comes an increase of potentiality. Evil effects are often only the result of misdirected energy. The devil has appropriated many factors in modern civilization that might be turned to better ends. Some of these have been wrested from his ugly claws and given their proper station in the world. Time was when 'Old Nick' thought he owned 'the fiddle,' but now this superb instrument, which, under the touch of a master hand, rivals the powers of the human voice, is one of the chief exponents of celestial harmony.

World Awakes.

"The world awoke in the dawn of a new, strange day when Franklin flew his steel-tipped kite into the wrath of a storm-fraught sky and proved that a man could lasso lightning. Since then the age has been electric. The commercial advantage of a harnessed thunderbolt has been exceedingly great, but Satan was not slow to seize this new-found force and use it to his profit. He took its glittering incandescence and spread its radiant splendor over his 'Luna Parks,' 'White Cities,' 'Coney Islands,' 'Palm Gardens,' and 'Wonderlands.' He adapted its versatile potency to every possible end for the purpose of luring the unsophisticated into his dens of infamy that he might rob them of their money and their morals.

Future of Inventions.

"The glory of this new day of bridled power has been perverted. The forces of God which men have found have been turned in the wrong direction. Motor cars and motion pictures have been made to militate against His Kingdom. These two by-products of the electric age, luxurious blessings in themselves, have been put to sensuous uses. The time will come when the automobile will be a dependable accessory of the church and the Sunday school lessons will be reviewed by means of the cinematograph. As it now is devotion to the house of God seems to diminish in proportion to the degree of intoxication with the smell of gasoline, and the jaded taste of children clamors for the exciting reel and manifests a half-hearted interest in the stories of the Bible.

"The past fifty years present an unprecedented period in the realm of mechanics and invention. It has been a time of multitudinous marvels and unsurpassed advancement. I would not inveigh against the riches of this most wonderous age, nor have its product different than it is, but I would impeach the people into whose hands the heritage has fallen with the high crime and misdemeanor of the misappropriation of its wealth. The very luxury of its opulence has seemed to make the world forget the Author of its good.

Modern Tendencies.

"There are certain modern tendencies which seem an outgrowth of the conditions of our life. Up to the time of the outbreak of the foolish and inexcusable war which is cursing a hemisphere with carnage, human progress had swept the earth like a mighty tidal wave. Men had well nigh lost their footing in the swirl of its rising waters. The war itself is a result of the fact that the nations 'turned every one to his own way,' out of a sense of self-sufficiency, and forgot the One who alone could preserve them in peace and plenty.

Pattling at More Speed.

"Rapidity of change in the world of things has tended to accelerate human activity. Men are feverish and restless. They have caught the spirit of events. They no longer walk, and they would not be content to run, if they had learned to fly with safety. The mania for speed produces an intensified and superficial mode of life. We do more in a day than our great grandfathers did in a month. There is a tendency to crowd what was formerly a day's work into three hours in the forenoon. Intensity of life is commendable, but there is danger that swiftness shall eventuate in shallowness.

"Pressure of business, along with the complexity of social life and the surrender of certain standards now characterized as Puritanic, is largely responsible for the destruction of the highly desirable, but old-fashioned home. The average father has become a mere bread-winner who claims that he hasn't time to say his prayers, and many a mother a veritable gad-about who needs an introduction to her child. The child reared in such surroundings will never have the right conception of a home. The home is a religious institution, and the minute you destroy the family altar you rob it of the very essence of its life.

"Children brought up in a home that is not founded on the rock of religious conviction are sure to have an indifferent relation to the church. The Founder of the church intended that there should be but a step between it and the home. The church is the 'home of the soul, and a child should early be taught to love the church and to know the word of God. All through my ministry, I have been utterly amazed at professedly religious parents who have requested that their children be excused from the study of their Sunday school lesson, giving as a reason, that their work in the public school was so heavy that they should not be asked to do more. God pity the blunder of such request! Better neglect biology than the Bible. You can afford to have your child fail in algebra, but you dare not have him ignorant of his relation to his God. O the chaff of culture that knows not Christ;

"There is a triple nature in every life —physical, intellectual, moral. Each of these involves relation to its Maker. Religion is an obligation binding on the whole of human nature. A man cannot defile his body and not insult his God, nor maim his mind and grieve not his Creator. Recreation and physical culture are incumbent as a duty, and intellectual delinquency is inexcusable stupidity. But the body dies and falls to dust, and the mind may have knowledge and still be pure. It is therefore evident that one may dare to die by ravages of emaciating disease brought on by overwork, or to remain in blissful ignorance of what the world calls facts, but he dare not be a religious derelict.

Humanity's Chief Fault.

"Humanity's chief fault is that it blunders as to the issue that is paramount. It does not properly distinguish between the essential and the non-essential. It often fails to put first things first. There can be no harm in innocent diversion that minister to the delight of the senses, but when such occupation becomes the all-consuming passion of one's being, then he is giving undue weight to the relatively unimportant. A thing perfectly innocent in itself may become sin in one's life if it usurp the place which by right belongs to God.

"The modern world has gone pleasure-mad and business-crazy. The strenuous life is carried to excess in both these lines of action. God does not ask of a man that he desist from pleasureable pursuits or that he forsake the field of commerce; He only requires that man shall 'do justly, love kindness, and walk humbly,' and that he remember to 'seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness.' The first commandment of the Decalogue is, "Thou shalt have no other gods before me.'"

Classes of Undesirables.

"There are two classes of people, by far too numerous in our day, in whom God takes little pleasure—those who are religious whenever they find it convenient, and those who seek His succor because of necessity. The first are semi-occasional attendants on the services of the sanctuary provided there is no other place they would rather be; they are not willing to be called unbelievers, and yet their interest in the kingdor of God is half-hearted, in the main lifeless. The second are stirred into unusual activity by sudden calamity, real or apparent. They are like the old lady who was afraid of thunder and lightning, who never read her Bible except during a thunderstorm, but never failed to read it then.

"It is said that the churches of Europe are fuller of people than they have been for many years. What a cataclysm it took to bring them to their senses! What an awful holocaust is laid upon the altar. There comes a time when man is driven unto God because he has no other place to go. The same devotion that follows in the wake of the disaster could have averted the calamity if men had practised it before. God expects us to worship him because we love him and not because we have to have his help."

WANTS CHURCH AND STATE SEPARATE

Pastor White Scores Attempt to Enforce Sunday Observance.

Pastor Stemple White spoke last night at the Seventh Day Adventist church, Sixth street and Tenth avenue east, on the subject, "God's Signal Condemnation of National Religious Enforcement Through the Ages," and took for his text Acts v, 29, "We ought to obey God rather than men." He said in part:

Politics and Religion.

"Politics and religion can never properly be mixed, and in the statement of Jesus, 'Render, therefore, unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's, He has announced the eternal separation of church and state. It is the proper work of the state to protect man in his inalienable rights and not to take any of these from him. It has nothing whatever to do with morality, but must enforce civility. It dare not punish sin, but its legitimate business is to deal with crime, the overt act. It should never favor any religion in any sense of the term, but should protect all men in worshipping God according to the dictates of individual conscience or in not worshipping at all, so long as he does not violate the inalienable rights of others.

Function of the Church.

"The church is made up of those who have been called out of worldliness, and in spirit are not of the world, even as Jesus declared He was not of the world. The work of the church is to preach the gospel of Him who freely forgives the repentant sinner, and only through the gospel of Jesus Christ can morality be created in those who are born again. As in the case of Daniel, no fault can be found in the personal life and conduct of the individual who is truly converted and sanctified by the truth of God's work.

"Every nation in this world has at some time or other legislated in direct opposition to the law of God, and at such critical times the only proper attitude that the man of God could assume was to do like the apostles taught and practiced: 'We ought to obey God rather than men.'

Persecution Foretold.

"Not only has the Bible foretold of religious persecution yet to take place under the Stars and Stripes, as brought to view in the symbolic language of Rev. xiii, 11-17, but the process of its coming fulfillment is before our very eyes in the National Reform association and Federal Council of the Churches of America with its kindred allies, in which Protestant principles are flung to the winds and American principles are being undermined in behalf of Sunday enforcement by law. Let it be remembered that Sabbath enforcement would be as certainly mischievous, for Christianity cannot be forced into a man like a bayonet or a bullet. Against all such injustice and national religious enactment God's own protest is found in Rev. xiv, 9-11: 'We ought to obey God rather than men.'"

WILL HEAR DEBATE.

Munger Improvement Club to Listen to Public Ownership Discussion.

Members of the newly organized Munger Improvement club will hear a debate on the electric lighting question at their regular meeting at the Munger school next Friday evening.

Speakers have been promised by both the officers of the Municipal Ownership league and the Citizens' Referendum committee. The meeting, it was announced, will be open to the public.

The Munger Improvement club was organized about a month ago with a membership of fifty. Charles G. Firoved is president and Edward Wagner is secretary of the organization.

SEES NEW DANGER FROM SUBMARINES.

London, Jan. 11.—The Times naval correspondent comments on a new danger from submarines. He says the battleship Formidable was manifestly torpedoed by a submarine acting on, and not below the surface. The time and general circumstances, he argues, make it impossible that the boat was submerged.

"The expected has happened," says the correspondent, "and the submarine has taken the place of the destroyer as a torpedo user. To submerged activities in daylight the submarine has now added those of a surface boat by night. By day it must still continue to work by stealth, awaiting its prey, but at night it can boldly sally forth and, protected by its comparative invisibility, can search for a target to attack.

"It appears to work singly, but later on it may do its hunting in packs."

HUNDRED SPEECHES.

While consulting his small memorandum book Saturday afternoon regarding his schedule of dresses this week for the Municipal Ownership league, Mayor Prince made the discovery that last year he made exactly 100 public speeches. These included talks to practically every large organization in the city, addresses of welcome to numerous conventions and after-dinner speeches.

Although this record means an average of one speech every three days, Mayor Prince expects the coming year to make an even larger demand on his forensic powers.

CO-OPERATION IS REQUESTED

Bakery Inspector Urges the Public to Demand Clean Shops.

Closes Several Bakeries and Lunch Rooms During the Year.

Co-operation of the citizens of Duluth is earnestly requested by Joseph Pratts, bakery inspector, in his annual report for the year 1914, submitted Saturday to Dr. H. E. Webster, director of the health department.

The report shows that Inspector Pratts had a very busy year, but he lays special stress on the request for assistance from the public. He asks that persons visiting bakery shops, candy factories, restaurants, hotels, stores, or lodging houses should look for insanitary conditions, ventilation or filthy equipment and immediately report any violation to his department. It is only by the co-operation of earnest citizens that many violations are discovered, he states.

Would Patronize Clean Places.

Another good method to wipe out insanitary places, suggests Inspector Pratts, is that citizens patronize only the clean, wholesome shops.

Woman's Realm

The young matron with the red "tam" and the pair of new hockey skates, clung despairingly to the boards at the side of the skating rink.

Her lips were rigidly set. She was in pain.

"They hurt," she wailed.

"They'll get better when you get used to it," said the girl in the gray mackinaw.

"Oh, I used to be able to skate all day without feeling tired," wailed the Y. M. "And now I have to stop after I have gone around the rink just once. They ache so, it is torture."

"They'll get over it," said the girl in the gray mackinaw as she nonchalantly cut circles backward.

"I'd give anything to be able to do that again," said the Y. M. enviously. "Here comes John. He's such a good skater, that I am going to get him to take me around a few times."

John slid ungracefully into the boards, and clung to them as a drowning man clings to a plank. He was approaching middle age, and his athletic figure was not quite as athletic as it had once been. He was chewing viciously at a cigar, and muttering things under his breath.

"Take me around once or twice, will you, dear?" asked the Y. M. fluttering toward him with outstretched hands. "I get so tired alone, and they ache so. Perhaps I could do better with some support."

"Just a minute, dear," said John, diverting his fluttering wife into the boards. "My shoe is loose, and I must lace it up again."

"John is such an excellent skater," said the Y. M. proudly. "He used to play hockey at college, didn't you John? And he skated all his life when he was a boy. I wish I could skate like he does."

John fumbled with his shoe laces.

"I'd like to race John a few times around the rink," said the girl, with a wicked gleam in her eye. "There are very few people on the ice, and I think I could beat him."

"It would be very ungallant to race a woman," retorted John, "and besides these shoes don't fit me very well. My skates have also become dull. I don't think the management permits fast skating."

"I don't believe we would have to go very fast," said the girl, bitingly.

John winced and said nothing.

"Hurry, John," said the Y. M. "I want to go around with you, and I am getting cold."

"It is most unaccountable, my dear," replied John, "but I have discovered a strange stiffness of the muscles of my legs. It never happened to me before. I think I have a cramp in the muscles."

"I know," shouted the Y. M. delightfully. "I have it to."

"In your shins?" asked John.

"Yes, right up and down my shins."

"Well, have to come down here oftener," said John. "It is ridiculous that I can't skate after only six years. I played hockey on my college four years, and I can come back."

"Surely you can," said the Y. M. "Anybody with your build can skate."

John drew up in military fashion and set his lips.

"Let's go around a few times at a good clip, and then quit for tonight," he said as he took his wife's hand.

"That's right John, die game," said the girl, and cut circles backward on the ice. "I like a good sport."

FLONZALEY QUARTET.

Beethoven Number Will Be Feature of Program.

The first number to be given on the Flonzaley quartet program Thursday evening at the first M. E. church, is Beethoven's quartet in B flat major, op. 18, No. 6.

The six quartets of Beethoven opus 18, belong to his first period, in which the influence of Haydn and Mozart was clearly recognizable in his work. The fifth, first and sixth of the set, composed before the others, date as far back as 1799, when he was 29 years old, the fifth probably even earlier. In a letter of Dec. 15 1800, to his publisher, Hofmeister of Leipzig, he suggested that he may later have "quartets and other things" for him, but he evidently changed his mind, for the set of quartets was published (not very satisfactorily) by Mollo of Vienna, in 1800 and 1801. "Herr Mollo has recently published my quartets," writes Beethoven, April, 1802, "let us say full of faults and errata, even and small, they swarm like fish in water, i. e., there's no end of them. That's what I call printing; my skin is all over prickings and claps from the beautiful edition of my quartets."

Of the sixth quartet in B flat major, the most remarkable feature is undoubtedly the wonderfully expressive adagio, entitled 'La Malinconia," which precedes the final "allegretto." In poignancy of feeling, in dramatic effect and in the use of so specific a title, it anticipates Beethoven's practice in some of his later quartets. Merx says of this quartet: "After the tone of agreeable serenity which the first movement established and which the next, the 'scherzo' also sounds strongly, the finale presents two entirely different movements. The first (La Malinconia) speaks like the sadness of a love-sick maiden, tearful sighing, a timid heart thrilled with fear. The other movement is a light and swinging dance, at first comparable to a Viennese slow waltz (Landerer) later reverting to La Malinconia. A 'prestissimo' concludes it. It is an April day in the life of the soul."

Boston and New York critics are more enthusiastic over the work of Flonzaley string quartet than ever before, and Duluth music lovers eagerly anticipate their appearance here before the Matinee Musicale next Thursday evening, Jan. 14.

DULUTH'S CONCERT ORCHESTRA MAKES FIRST APPEARANCE

High School Auditorium Crowded for First Concert---Miss Senta Erd's Work Impressive---Program Well Within Orchestra's Ability.

Duluth's long cherished dream of having a symphony orchestra seems in a fair way to be realized.

Duluth's concert orchestra, which made its first appearance yesterday afternoon at the Duluth Central high school, was given a reception that will not soon be forgotten by the members of the new musical organization. The auditorium of the school was crowded and Fred G. Bradbury, the leader, and Miss Senta Erd, the soloist, were given a rousing welcome. The new organization does not yet call itself a symphony orchestra, but it has the material, and its first appearance yesterday was the occasion for great enthusiasm on the part of music lovers of the city.

The program of the first concert was remarkably well made-up, the numbers being varied and well within the abilities of the new organization.

They showed good judgment in not attempting too ambitious numbers. With but two or three weeks for rehearsals, and with all of the members of the orchestra employed on other work, the orchestra was working against great handicaps. They realized their limitations and kept well within them. The result was that what they did do was well done.

Given an Ovation.

As Mr. Bradbury appeared before the audience leading the young soloist, Miss Erd, the applause became almost an ovation. Miss Erd's opening selection, the entrance aria from Elizabeth, "Dich Theure Halle," from "Tannhauser," was sung superbly. Miss Erd, because of her dramatic power, the quality of her voice, and fine interpretation, proved herself a capable singer of Wagnerian roles. Her sustained notes are firm and clear and her poise and mastery of technique show that she is developing into an experienced singer of operatic selections. Duluth's best music authorities yesterday predicted that Miss Erd would become one of the leading operatic singers of the present generation. She gave a delightful English number for an encore.

The program included numbers of wide range and variety, and was so arranged as to catch the fancy of the various tastes represented. Included were the Rachmaninoff prelude and Orth's "In the Clock Store," the latter being a little fantasy, which proved one of the most popular selections of the afternoon. The Friedman "Slavonic Rhapsody" and two Gillett compositions rounded out the program.

Hugo Gives Address.

During a short interlude in the program, T. W. Hugo, one of the pioneer musical enthusiasts in Duluth, spoke briefly, and expressed his pleasure at being present to witness the appearance of the Duluth Concert orchestra, which he said had been looked forward to for many years by music lovers of the city. He warmly praised the musicians who had co-operated with Mr. Bradbury in making possible such an organization. He also spoke in the highest terms of Miss Senta Erd as a soloist and predicted a great future for her.

FRED G. BRADBURY.

"For Miss Erd," said Mr. Hugo, "we can only wish her all the success in the world. We know she will reach the pinnacle without our wishes, but it may make her happier to know that the hearts of her home folks are with her."

The second concert will be given Sunday, Jan. 24, at the Central high school auditorium. The Svea club will be the feature attraction.

Women Would Have Children's Teeth Examined.

Members of the Woman's council are now co-operating with Dr. John Andres of the Duluth public school medical inspection board for the proposed introduction of a dental clinic for the school children of the city.

Dr. Andres is of the belief that a dental clinic is as necessary as medical inspection and the members of the Woman's council are assisting him in his efforts. A committee of the organization is now investigating and it is probable the subject will be taken up shortly with the school board..

"It is not too high an estimate to say that 75 per cent of the children attending school are in need of dental attention, and 50 per cent need it badly," said Dr. Andres yesterday.

"When children arrive at the ages where they enter the seventh and eighth grades the condition is not so pronounced, as their parents, by that time, take notice of the bad teeth and have them cared for. In the lower grades crooked, twisted, gnarled and deformed teeth are most frequently seen.

"It is impractical to ask the dentists to leave their offices to go to a school building to give their services," said Dr. Andres. "If a room could be fitted up down town that could be conveniently reached in five minutes' time, dentists would give their services willingly for dental clinics, and this is the most feasible plan which has yet been suggested. At present the board of education has no funds to establish dental inspection and treatment."

MRS. CHARLES G. GATES REPORTED ENGAGED

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 11.—Mrs. Florence Hopwood Gates, whose marriage in the fall of 1911 to Charles G. Gates, millionaire sportsman, followed by the sudden death of Mr. Gates on a hunting trip in Wyoming in the fall of 1913, and the completion by Mrs. Gates of a magnificent home begun by her husband on Lake of the Isles boulevard, brought her into the public eye, is said to be engaged to marry a wealthy young Connecticut man.

Dispatches from New Britain, Conn., and New York last night said that Mrs. Gates will marry Harry Lee Judd of New Britain, Jan. 30, in Minneapolis.

Efforts to verify the reported engagement from Mrs. Gates and members of the Hopwood family were unsuccessful last night.

Culmination of Romance.

The engagement is said to be the culmination of a romance that began a year ago on a trip to the West Indies when Mrs. Gates met Mr. Judd, who was an old schoolmate of her brother. Mrs. Gates made the trip in the company of her parents and her brother, Robert G. Hopwood. More recently Mrs. Gates and members of her family were at Palm Beach, Fla., when Mr. Judd was there. Mrs. Gates and her mother, Mrs. Hopwood, visited Mr. Judd's family in December in New Britain and Mr. Judd has been a frequent visitor to Minneapolis.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Take Advantage of Shopping Bargains.

The real bargain days are at hand and thrifty housewives in search of bargains will do well to attend the sales that are being advertised. If you do not decide at once in regard to some of these bargains you are not likely to have a second opportunity, for someone who knows the true values will step in and carry off these plums under your eyes, while you are trying to make up your mind.

The bargains are making their appearance in all of the department stores and the month of January will see them in full swing. Housewives have a splendid opportunity to replenish their linen chests, beautiful dress materials for spring and summer wear may be purchased for much less than their usual prices, and shoes, stockings and many smaller articles are to be found at such moderate prices that it is small wonder that some of us lose our heads and purchase right and left only to regret it afterwards.

A far-seeing, economical woman can pick up innumerable necessary things to the great advantage of the house purse if she has had the forethought to lay by a sum to be expended in this way, but there are others who have the same need for economical buying who fail utterly in their effort to make the most of the amount they have to spend.

If one will observe some simple rules while engaged in the fascinating pursuit of bargains she can make it a very profitable undertaking.

It is always a wise plan in purchasing anything that is marked at a specially low price to ask the clerk what the defects are. Never buy damaged goods of any description unless you are positive that you can use them for the purpose you have in mind at the time. You may be influenced to buy things but you cannot be forced to, so if you do buy the responsibility rests with you.

Do not buy a lot of things that you think you may possibly have use for in the future. Do not buy, either, because things are pretty and cheap, and, above all, do not buy things that do not fit you for the reason that they are cheap. It is far better to spend a little time looking around, for you will have no trouble in finding something that will fit you almost perfectly in these days of ready-made suits.

In all, a little forethought, a little time, a little patience and a little money are the necessary requirements now that bargain days are at hand.

IGNORANCE OR DECEIT?

Some literature has been issued by the Municipal Ownership league in its efforts to induce the people to vote for the construction of a "unit" electric plant and distributing station. The pamphlets are well arranged and well printed, and contain statements that cannot help but gain the attention of any man who has household expenses to pay.

BUT—

These same pamphlets contain and are based on what appear to be deliberate misstatements, and also seem designed to give voters absolutely false impressions of the proposition before the voters. It would be interesting to know whether these misstatements and false inferences are due to ignorance, or whether it is just a plain, oldfashioned, political game of untruthfulness.

For example:

The circulars urge the people to vote for ONE unit plant, and then they reveal the intention of the M. O. crowd to drag the city into the construction of SIX such plants. Will the people be so foolish as to vote "aye" when the very men who are urging them to vote that way admit that the vote will really mean six?

Again: The circulars say that while the present private company admits a loss of current of 32.3 per cent between the time it is bought by the company and the time it reaches the consumer, the municipal plant "would have a loss of not to exceed 11 per cent." THE ENGINEERS TO WHOM THE CITY PAID FOURTEEN THOUSAND DOLLARS TO LOOK INTO THIS PROPOSITION SAID IN THEIR REPORT THAT FOR THE CITY TO DELIVER NINE MILLION KILOWATTS OF CURRENT TO CONSUMERS, IT WOULD BE NECESSARY TO BUY OR MANUFACTURE THIRTEEN MILLION KILOWATTS. That is, the city would lose four million, which is something over 30 per cent of the total produced, instead of 11 per cent.

Again: These circulars say that this one "unit" plant could be built for "not to exceed $72,000." Then the whole six should cost only $432,000. But the ordinance places the cost of one "unit" at $85,800 (making six cost $514,800); a prominent leader in the local M. O. movement said on October 16th last that one "unit" would cost $117,000 (making six cost $706,200); and the experience of other cities teaches that one "unit" would cost $281,200 (making six cost $1,687,200). Evidently somebody is being fooled, or else is trying desperately to fool everybody else. Meanwhile there are the experts' reports of $1,093,000 and $1,218,000 respectively as the cost of building.

Again: These circulars say that the office and similar general expenses of a city plant "would not exceed $18,000." The estimate of the engineers hired to investigate the subject places these expenses at $42,000.

Again: These circulars say that the municipal plant would furnish what is technically known as a "25-cycle" current, while the present private company goes to the expense of transforming it into a "60-cycle" current. The city experts' report declares in plain terms that for a steady and satisfactory service a 60-cycle current is necessary.

This municipal ownership crowd deliberately deceived the voters when they said that to vote for the seven hundred thousand dollar bond issue would not be construed as a vote in favor of a municipal electric plant. Now they seem to be attempting deception in a still more blatant and bold faced way.

No city ought to go into a proposition like this without a full knowledge of what is ahead. To enter upon it, as these M. O. agitators would have us do, with expectations based on the unsupported guesses of professional politicians would be the quintessence of idiocy.

Whatever way you may vote on the four-cent and six-cent propositions—and each man must base his vote on that on his belief in the practicability of the respective rates—DO NOT BE LED INTO THE MISTAKE OF VOTING FOR THE "UNIT" PLANT ORDINANCE. It is a snare that at the best would mean heavy financial burdens and poor service, and at the worst would throw the city into a mire of debt and discredit that could not be cleared away for generations.

Duluth is just beginning to reap the natural benefits of its position as a commercial center. It would be shameful for its own people to plunge the city into such a mess as would result from trying to carry out this "unit" plant scheme.

What a pity it is that the Point of Rocks belongs to the city. Maybe, if it didn't, the Municipal Ownership league would start a movement to have the city build one like it. That would be just as sensible as the league's present scheme.

THE FIGHT IN THE SENATE.

Whether the opponents of the ship purchase bill who are making such a strenuous fight in the senate are Republicans or Democrats or of some other party, they should be promptly notified "from home" to drop the fight and behave. It is charged in dispatches from Washington that the opposition is being led by the Republican organization, and the readiness of the leaders of that party to suggest ways for defeating action seems to bear out the charge.

Boiled down and with all the frills removed, the ship purchase proposition amounts to this:

The United States, except for such ships as have taken advantage of the new registry law, has practically no merchant vessels under its flag, and we are dependent on foreign ships to carry our trade.

Most of these foreign ships are tied up on account of the war, and our foreign trade is suffering as a result.

The private interests in this country which would naturally supply merchant ships refused to do so, for one reason or another.

Ocean freights have gone up, in some cases to ten times their normal rate.

The only apparent means of relief from this condition is for the government itself to buy and operate merchant vessels at reasonable rates.

And yet there are members of the senate who oppose such action. And naturally they are the very men who not so long ago were fighting to get a ship subsidy.

It's interesting, but none the less disgusting, to see once more that there are men, even in our national legislatives bodies, who see in a national crisis nothing but an opportunity to jam their own petty theories down the throats of their neighbors.

The superstitious will be inclined to attribute the mild weather to the fact that the supreme court has at last passed on the Thaw case.

PRESIDENT WILSON—AMERICAN.

It is doubtful if the country has ever heard or read another address, previously announced as partisan, that contained as many declarations of non-partisan, patriotic Americanism as that delivered by President Wilson at Indianapolis on Jackson day.

Mr. Wilson was speaking to members of the party which nominated him, which bore the expense and labor of his campaign, and which today looks to him as its head, and there was much of partisan character in different paragraphs of his speech. But throughout there ran an intense spirit of loyalty to the nation and to national ideals, a spirit that found open expression when he said:

> I love America a great deal more than I love the Democratic party; and when the Democratic party thinks that it is an end in itself, then I rise in dissent. It is a means to the end, and its power depends, and ought to depend, upon its showing that it knows what America needs and is ready to give it what it needs.

Again and again he voices this same principle—to give America what it needs. He finds satisfaction, naturally, in the knowledge of the great steps in that direction already accomplished under his administration; he warns the Democratic party that however gratifying this may be, the work is not yet completed, and he speaks plainly of the aids yet to be given to commerce, to agriculture, to development of those natural resources "which the Republicans, desiring to save, locked up so that nobody could use them."

Of special interest to the men who are accustomed to being forgotten in the plans and programs of parties, is his proposal for a Federal employment bureau, a suggestion which he backs up by the substantial proof of its already having been tried and found successful. He puts great faith in the new Federal trade commission, and if the commission can live up to what President Wilson expects of it, the nation will never forget whom it has to thank for the beginning of that work.

Nothing is more characteristic, in the entire address, than his reference to the need of reform in judicial procedure. There is nothing here of ranting or of radicalism. Instead he acknowledges the antiquated methods employed in the courts of today, and then says:

> It is an immediate and imperative call upon us to rectify that, because the speediness of justice, the inexpensiveness of justice, the ready access of justice, is the greater part of justice itself. IF YOU HAVE TO BE RICH TO GET JUSTICE, BECAUSE OF THE COST OF THE VERY PROCESS ITSELF, THEN THERE IS NO JUSTICE AT ALL.

In his statement of the administration's foreign policies the president shows not only the determination to continue on that same line, but that there is in fact no other course that could justly be adopted; that he is not to be moved "to count a small amount of material benefit and advantage to people doing business in Mexico against the liberties and the permanent happiness of the Mexican people."

And rarely, if ever before, has there been an address delivered before any political party organization that would lead naturally to such a nation-thrilling peroration as did this one:

> Great and small, we should be confident in the future. And what a future it is, my friends! Look abroad upon the troubled world. Only America at peace! Among all the great powers of the world, only America saving her power for her own people! Only America using her great character and her great strength in the interests of peace and prosperity!

A great future, to be sure. An unparalleled future, if we but keep our heads and insist upon maintaining those policies that have thus far kept us safe when, as President Wilson says, "half the world is on fire."

No wonder the people cheered when the speaker gave even a bare intimation that he might not insist upon retirement at the close of this present administration. Thus far, through crises that have been unequalled within the memory of most of those now living, he has conducted our government in a manner that has won praise from all but two classes—the extreme partisans who opposed him for election, and those who, because of his watchfulness, have been unable to twist the power and resources of the national government to their own use. Surely never before has there been a president who, in the first half of his term, won a more complete and unquestioned right to be considered as his own successor than has Woodrow Wilson.

And the last time the city wanted to issue bonds, it had to appeal to the legislature for permission on account of its already outrageous debt.

Spots Before the Eyes.

Journal of the American Medical Association: The prevalence of this condition has given rise to a great many curious ideas. Almost everyone either sees fixed or floating spots at times, or hears some friend complain of these conditions, so that it is not strange that many popular misconceptions have arisen. The commonest form of floating spots are those which are known by the name of muscae volitants, an old name which indicates how long the condition has been observed. These are tiny transparent chains, or strings which are seen especially on a white or brightly illuminated field. They persistently float in the line of vision, and though a shake of the head may carry them out of the way, they at once float back again. These spots are probably caused by the remains in the fluid part of the eye of certain cells which should have been completely absorbed in the development of the eye. They never lead to impairment of vision and, as before stated, are perfectly transparent. Other floating spots are due to cobweb-like masses of inflammatory material which are thrown out into the fluid of the eye by some low grade inflammation. These spots usually obscure the vision, which is their great point of difference from the former ones. It is, of course, very important to find out in any case whether the spots are due to inflammation, or not, and this can only be done by a skilled observer. It is a prevalent idea that the wearing of a dotted veil may leave permanent spots in the field of vision. While the dotted veil may be a source of strain by causing the wearer to pull on the eye muscles in order to avoid the obstruction to vision, it certainly is not the case that the dots, or any other object seen, can be permanently photographed on the nerve tissues of the eye. There is only one exception to this statement. Many people who have carelessly looked too much at the sun, generally in observing the eclipse, have actually produced a slight inflammatory change in the retina, so that there is always a blurry spot wherever they look. But it is doubtful if any light less brilliant than the sun can produce a permanent spot, and certainly a dark object cannot do so.

Too Many Railroad Commissions.

World's Work: As a rule the state railroad commissions have failed to help and have generally hurt the national transportation systems. The infinite variety and conflicting nature of their regulations have done very little for the public which the interstate commerce commission cannot do as effectively. This is not a criticism of the motives or abilities of these commissions, but merely of the fact that it is not humanly possible for forty-seven commissions to participate in any one job and not make a mess of it.

Convinced.

Puck: "What do you know about the Constitution? I'll bet you can't repeat the opening clause."

"I can, too: 'We, the people of the United States, being of sound mind and disposing, will——'"

"That will do," interrupted the other man. "I didn't think you knew it, old top."

The President

Editorial in Indianapolis News, Rep.

Indianapolis is glad and proud today to welcome Woodrow Wilson, the president of the United States. The speech which he makes here is the first important unofficial utterance that the country has had from him since he has been president, with the possible exception of his Mobile speech. What he says at Tomlinson hall will be addressed to the whole country—nay, to the world. There are those who pretend to think that the president has lost his hold on the people. They are very much mistaken. And the most mistaken of all are those factionists in his own party who have for months been seeking to undermine him. We do not mean to say that all his policies have won universal acceptance, or that the people as a whole are favorable to the program—in all its details—that he is trying to carry into effect. But we do believe that the people see in him an honest, enlightened and courageous public servant whose only ambition is to further, in every legitimate way, their interests.

We believe, too, that he has actually won popularity by his utter refusal to "play to the galleries." No such motive has inspired him. Rather he has been content to let his work speak for itself, trusting to the intelligence of his fellow-citizens to rally to the support of a man who has honestly tried to serve them and given himself unreservedly to the duties of his high office. The American people have a great admiration for a public servant who "stays on the job." Mr. Wilson has certainly done that. Mistakes he has, of course, made. But when we think of the difficult and complicated problems that have been presented to him we can only wonder that he has made so few. The edge of Republican criticism ought to be tempered by the reflection that most of Mr. Wilson's troubles were inherited. We had had the tariff question with us for years. The efforts of the Republicans to deal with it resulted in splitting their party in two. The question of banking and currency reform has been with us at least since 1896, and yet it was hardly touched. During the first year of the Wilson administration we got a new tariff law and a new banking system.

As far as Mexico is concerned, the president has at least kept us out of war with the people of that country, and today no one desires war. In the great European struggle the nation has, under the wise leadership of the president, maintained a strict neutrality, and upheld the rights of our people as neutrals. We Indianians are, therefore, all glad to welcome the president as a high-minded patriot, and a devoted servant of the public. As with the famous Gridiron club, so with us there is but one toast today, "The President of the United States."

Friendly In the Trenches

Kansas City Star: If it were not for their officers, urging them on to shoot each other, how long might it be until the men of the British and German armies would be playing pinochle together? They face each other in trenches not more than thirty yards apart in places—so close together that they have a chance to talk across, to exchange newspapers and tobacco and to play jokes on each other.

A recent dispatch told of one of those jokes, played by an Irish company. They shouted across to the Germans that Poincare, president of France, was coming that afternoon to see the British trenches and shake hands with the soldiers there.

A little later in the forenoon the Irish shouted across:

"Old man Poincare will be here at 2 o'clock."

When that time came the Irish, who had got hold of a plug hat somewhere, put it on a stick and, allowing only the top of it to show above the ground, carried it down the length of the trench, bobbing it up and down as if a man wearing it were walking in the trench.

The Germans could not resist the temptation to try and pot the president of France, and they banged away at the hat, riddling it with bullets. Then the Irish stuck up the stick with the hat upon it, and a great laugh went down the length of the trench.

Another "human interest" story buried in the cold reports of operations at the front was about an Irish soldier who begged a pipe of tobacco from a Belgian, but could not find a match to light it. He shouted across to the German trench, asking for a match.

All right, the Germans had matches and would come half way with them. So Pat climbed out of his trench, the German got out of his and they met on the middle ground and the German handed him a match. Pat struck it and put it to his pipe and sucked hard, but the tobacco was wet and failed to burn.

The German gave him another match and it failed to set the tobacco on fire. A third match was produced and while Pat was holding the flame to his pipe bowl and pulling hard a bomb dropped and exploded near them, the explosion blowing out the match, and shrapnel flying all about them. For a moment Pat and the German were hidden in smoke. When it cleared Pat looked at the dead match and said:

"That damn Belgian tobacco will be the death of me yet."

Other dispatches in the last week have told how Germans and British milked the same cow, divided the straw from a stack between them and even slept together for a while in the same trenches.

This war has forever killed the "race hatred" bogie man which militarism has sought to make us believe existed. There is no "race hatred" between British and Germans, French and Germans, or between any of the European nationalities. Place them together and they may have a fist fight now and then, but they get on very well with each other. They do in America. There is no "race hatred" here between the peoples now at war. There would be none in Europe if it were not artificially developed.

Jolting the Bar.

Philadelphia Telegraph: Here is a story that was told at a recent Washington banquet by Congressman James Manahan of Minnesota, in throwing the harpoon into some legal friends.

In a certain court some time ago a German was drawn on the jury, but when it came time to officiate he arose in meeting and asked the judge to excuse him.

"I don't know about that," quickly answered his honor, casting a judicial eye on the juryman. "Is there any good and valid reason why you should be excused?"

"It vas dis way, shooge," hopefully explained Hans. "I vas a Sherman by country, und I don't know any goot English."

"I guess you will be all right," chuckled the judge, with a happy glance at the legal talent before him. "It is doubtful if you hear enough good English to perplex you."

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although ponderous and learned, and dignified, Chief Justice White of the supreme court cracks an occasional joke.

White buys cigars at a certain drug store in Washington, and the man behind the cigar counter has come to know him well enough to talk to him rather freely.

One day as he handed the chief justice his change, the cigar salesman inquired breezily, by way of small talk:

"Well, Mr. Chief Justice, how's the supreme court going to decide those anti-trust cases next week?"

"It isn't a matter that we're supposed to talk much about," replied White, pleasantly. "Still, I don't mind telling you, provided you'll give me your assurance that it will go no further."

"Oh, I shan't tell a soul," declared the cigar man, earnestly. "Not a word."

White leaned over the counter and whispered.

"We're going to decide them—right."

Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior, does most of his reading in bed. No matter what time he retires he props himself up comfortably among some pillows, like a convalescent and reads a book for an hour. Usually the book is a biography, and if not that it is likely to be essays. He likes biography of anybody at all who ever accomplished anything, from Garibaldi to Barnum.

The beauty of reading in bed, says Lane, is that the immediate surroundings give a constant suggestion of dropping off to sleep. All the better. If the book isn't interesting enough to keep one awake, it isn't worth reading.

Wrisley Brown, one of the smart young lawers in Attorney-General Gregory's department of justice, is entrusted with a great many special investigations that would provide much reading matter if Brown dared to make his findings public. It was Brown who prepared the government's case in the impeachment proceedings against Judge Archbold a year or two ago.

Owing to the nature of Brown's work, he is constantly harassed by newspaper correspondents and others who wish him to talk about things that he is not permitted to talk about.

To avoid such unpleasant conversations, Brown has his phone number kept secret.

A few days ago he returned from Providence, R. I., where he had been for two months at work on a big bank case for the government. He wanted to get some important papers and catch the next train out again.

The moment he reached the station in Washington he dashed into a phone booth to call up his apartment and have the papers rushed to him.

"I want to get Mr. Wrisley Brown's phone number," he told the girl. She explained, after a pause, that she had instructions to connect only those who knew the number.

"Ah, that's all right," said Brown, in an easy, offhand tone. "I've been away for two months and have forgotten the number. This is Mr. Brown himself talking."

Brown is a romantic looking chap, with soulful eyes and hair like the raven's wing, and if he could have met the operator face to face she doubtless would have told him the number. But under the circumstances, what she actually said to him was this:

"So you don't know your own phone number! Good night!"

And hung up.

William H. Canniff, general manager of the Nickel Plate railroad and once immortalized by being mentioned in Kipling's "Captains Courageous," was telling in Washington a while ago about the way he settled a complaint against his railroad.

A woman who lived near the Nickel Plate could not sleep for the noise of the choo-choos.

"They must run freight trains all night long," she told Canniff, "and the constant noise is simply awful. Unless they cease running so many freight trains I'll have to sell my home at a big sacrifice and move."

"The large number of freight trains indicates prosperity for the road," Canniff told here, "and I don't think the stockholders would like to take any of them off, but I believe I can tell you how to fix yourself so that you won't mind the noise."

Naturally she asked Canniff how.

"Well," said he, "you might buy some Nickel Plate stock."

A Woman's Question.

Do you know you have asked for the costliest thing
Ever made by the Hand above—
A woman's heart and a woman's life,
And a woman's wonderful love?

Do you know you have asked for this priceless thing
As a child might ask for a toy?
Demanding what others have died to win,
With the reckless dash of a boy.

You have written my lesson of duty out,
Man-like you have questioned me;
Now stand at the bar of my woman's soul
Until I shall question thee.

You require your mutton shall always be hot,
Your socks and your shirts shall be whole;
I require your heart to be true as God's stars,
And pure as heaven your soul.

You require a cook for your mutton and beef;
I require a far better thing.
A seamstress you're wanting for stockings and shirts;
I look for a man and a king—

A king for a beautiful realm called Home,
And a man that the Maker, God,
Shall look upon, as He did the first,
And say, "It is very good!"

I am fair and young, but the rose will fade
From my soft, young cheek, some day—
Will you love me then, 'mid the falling leaves
As you did 'mid the bloom of May?

Is your heart an ocean so strong and deep
I may launch my all on its tide?
A loving woman finds heaven or hell
On the day she is made a bride.

I require all things that are grand and true—
All things that a man should be!
If you give this all, I would stake my life
To be all you demand of me.

If you can not do this, a laundress and cook
You can hire with little to pay;
But a woman's heart and a woman's life
Are not to be won that way.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

An Efficient Officer.

Chisholm Tribune-Herald: Oscar Arneson, formerly publisher of this highly respectable family journal, has again been appointed chief clerk of the house of representatives. Mr. Arneson has held the position for many years and has acquitted himself so efficiently that he had no opposition for the office. The news will be highly satisfactory to his many friends here.

Address of a Statesman.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: Winfield Scott Hammond became the eighteenth governor of Minnesota at noon on Wednesday, and with his inauguration came the promise of better things for a great state that has not been managed any too well for a number of years, by reason of incompetence and other things that were best forgotten. Governor Hammond, in his inaugural address to the state legislative body, touched upon the things of greatest importance to the well being of Minnesota; doing it in a straightforward, clear and concise manner that stamps him the statesman, and wholly devoid of that flamboyant characteristic that has marked so many of the political leaders of late.

Beyond That—Nix.

Stillwater Gazette: There's agitation of the question of dividing the large county of St. Louis. Most of those who favor division are willing to cut it in two, but there are others who favor making three counties out of the one. We can see where this would prove advantageous—to the fellows who would be selected as county officials, but beyond that—nix.

Likes It.

Belgrade Tribune: In appointing Charles Andrist his private secretary, Mr. Hammond made a wise selection.

Pleasing Surprise.

Albert Lea Tribune: The appointment of Charles M. Andrist of Minneapolis by Governor-elect Hammond as his secretary came as somewhat of a surprise. It was thought by many that State Senator Samuel D. Works, treasurer of the Democratic state central committee, would be appointed to that position. The selection of Mr. Andrist will doubtless prove popular with all parties.

Temperate Assertion of Rights.

St. Cloud Times: President Wilson's protest to the British government is a clear, temperate, courteous assertion of the trade rights of neutral countries in time of war. It represents not only the established policy of the United States but the established policy of Great Britain. It voices the opinion of practically all of the American people, and there are few Englishmen, even in time of war, who will take issue with the principles upheld by the president.

A Republican View.

Anoka Herald: An effort was made last week to reunite the Republicans of Minnesota. Outside of making the party-gap wider, the effort amounted to very little.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinlan, the Sunshine Man.

Two shipwrights, one day, busy in the yard, came across a piece of timber with a flaw in it. A worm had begun to eat into it, and one of the men said, "Don't use it; it is not sound." "Oh, yes," replied the other, "that does not matter." And so the piece was duly placed in position. Years later the ship grounded on a small reef of rock, and soon sprang a leak. Despite every effort the craft became a wreck. Upon examination it was found that the faulty piece not rejected years ago was the cause of the rot spreading to other parts of the vessel.

A gentleman and his wife, traveling in the Holy Land, while resting by the roadside, became interested in a shepherd, as he sought to lead his flock over a stream. In vain he called to his sheep to follow him through the shallow waters, and again and again he coaxed them on. They would come so far, and no farther. At last, as a final resort, he caught a little lamb and bore it to the other side. Immediately the dam followed, and then the entire flock crossed safely to better pastures and cooler shade. There was a lesson in that little incident for the two travelers. It had been necessary in their case, too, that the Good Shepherd should bear their only child across the stream in order to draw them closer to Him. But their hearts had rebelled against the will of God, and they had sought to bury their sorrow in distraction.

Dayton, Ohio.

Its Drawbacks.

Harper's Magazine: An American who spends much of his time in London tells of an auctioneer there who, in addition to fine personal appearance and splendid elocutionary talents, possessed considerable culture and knowledge of human nature.

At a book sale this gentleman would read with exquisite taste passages from the books he was selling, with brief biographies and criticisms of their authors, reciting hexameters from Greek and Roman classics, and rendering passages from humorous writers with a tone and air so ludicrous as to set the room in a roar of laughter. Thus he often won higher prices for books than those got at the shops.

An amusing example of his cleverness in extolling an estate is the language with which he once closed a highly colored description of the property he was selling. For a few moments he paused, and then said:

"And now, gentlemen, having given a truthful description of this magnificent estate, candor compels me to admit that it has two drawbacks—the litter of the rose leaves and the noise of the nightingales."

Thinking Horses Die at Front.

Paris cable to the New York Sun: When the war broke out the Prussian military authorities requisitioned the "thinking" horses of Elberfield. Dr. Vogel, their owner, protested and the Royal Academy of Berlin supported the protest. A reprieve was granted, but later the horses were requisitioned for an artillery battery.

Their death on a Flanders battlefield has just been announced.

The "thinking" horses of Elberfield were brought to the attention of the public nearly three years ago by their trainer, Herr K. Krall, who exhibited them at various places in Germany. He asserted they were able to spell, add, multiply up to 12 times 12 and even to extract square roots. The genuineness of the exhibitions was questioned by some scientists.

The company now wants an amendment so that it can erect a bridge with one track for street cars and only one track for steam railway cars, which the members of the chamber who spoke claimed would be utterly useless so far as the immediate future is concerned. The attempt of the company to "smuggle amendments through congress" was strongly denounced. Secretary Johnson was instructed to wire Senator Davis and Representative Baldwin that the chamber is opposed to any amendments to the bill.

An American Miss Makes a Hit.

Kansas City Star: A smart New York girl at Newport last summer administered a clever rebuke to a blase and patronizing young Englishman whom she met.

The girl overheard her hostess say that she wished to introduce the Briton to her (the New York girl) and the girl also caught his reply:

"Very well, trot her out."

When the Englishman was presented the girl bowed, carefully surveyed him from head to foot, and then quietly said to her hostess:

"Thank you. Now trot him back, please."

HIGH PRICE ASKED FOR LAND NEAR BUHL.

To the Editor of The Herald:

After reading Governor Hammond's inaugural address, it seemed to me that there was something missing in connection with "land reclamation." What about the "great body" 'of land owned by the big lumber companies and held for "a raise?" To illustrate my meaning: One of my fellow workmen, Jimmy, bought one forty of land just outside of town. Next to his land is another forty, owned by a lumber company—cannot remember the name. Well, Jimmy's brother came for a visit, and seeing this other forty, thought he would buy it, and went to find out the price. How much? Twenty-five dollars an acre and spot cash. Of course they will get it, sometime—but in the meantime, what about Jimmy's brother, or me? Would not that forty be worth more to the state of Minnesota if it was turned into a nice little farm instead of dying there as "wild land?" Also, I am afraid any laboring man that has only "his two strong arms" would find it quite a problem to pay $25 an acre, even on terms, considering the time and money it would take before he could get anything back on his investment. If this ever reaches the Open Court I should very much like to have The Editor express his thoughts on this subject, respectfully yours.

FRED NELSON.

Buhl, Minn., Jan. 6.

Governor Hammond's inaugural address referred solely to lands now owned by the state—to be cleared and otherwise improved and sold to actual settlers on easy terms. It is impossible to compel companies and individuals who own vacant lands to sell them at any lower price than they demand. But it might be well to draw the attention of the authorities of Buhl township to the price asked for the land to which Mr. Nelson refers and see if it is assessed for taxation at the figures the owners value it.—The Editor.

CAMP CLERK GETS INTO CONTROVERSY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I notice in the last few issues of The Herald considerable discussion of the labor problem now confronting Duluth. I am clerking in a lumber camp close to here which employs about 125 men and am in a position to know the facts concerning this woods question which seems to be bothering some of the idle men who are looking for work and claim they cannot find it. Every man who has called at this camp, whether he had a labor ticket or not, has been given employment. There are three other camps in this vicinity doing exactly the same thing. We have had and are receiving daily shipments of men out of Duluth who are absolutely not looking for work of any kind. They arrive in camp—rest and feed up and then leave without as much as a "Thank you." These men all have their fares advanced by either Mr. Hicks or the employment agent who hires them and we are expected to charge this amount to their accounts. After arriving in camp the first move they make is usually a raid on the commissary for clothing and even tobacco, pipes and anything else that may strike their fancy. Before they do a day's work they are in debt anywhere from $3 to $10. I would like to ask what city job will treat their employes in that manner?

We admit the wages this year are not as large as those paid in better times, but good men, sawyers, hookers, teamsters, etc., are today paid satisfactory wages. Yesterday we received nine men from Mr. Hicks and three of those "blew" out bright and early this morning. I have followed city work all my life—this being my first season in the woods, but it has convinced me that 60 per cent of the men loafing around the city of Duluth could find plenty of work if they really wanted it. A foreman is only too anxious to secure men who will remain during the entire season, as only such men can secure results.

The surroundings here are the very best and no expense is spared to make the men comfortable and satisfied. The party who wrote you recently stating the condition of the lumber camps was "rotten" would change his opinion if he comes to this section. He probably expected street car service, electric lights and a bowery saloon at the camp he hired out to. We have at present no less than fifteen married men in camp from Duluth alone and when we are willing to verify my statements will be cheerfully furnished with names and addresses of men who are "workers" and "stayers," not floaters. Very respectfully.

CAMP CLERK.

TRAINING MURDERERS IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In Thursday's Herald I notice that one Maj. J. S. Welhaven suggests that the school board add military drill as a part of Duluth boys' school work, and this, with no idea of instilling into their minds the doctrines of militarism, but I would ask how this is posible when military drill is made part of their daily education?

This, I think, is not a subject for the school board or a few citizens to decide; the parents should be allowed to vote upon it, that they may decide whether or not their boys at the age of 12 (or any age) should be taught the rudiments preparing them for legalized murder, for in spite of assurance to the contrary, this is what this military drill amounts to, for there are surely other exercises for physical development just as effective as military drill, but if some wish to become lawful murderers let them join the Boy Scouts and drill, but it should not be compulsory as a part of school education.

I hope other parents will help defeat this new "subject" by vote or otherwise and believe the clergymen of the city could greatly assist by taking for their Sunday sermon that verse from Matthew xxvi, 52, which reads: "Put up again thy sword into its place; for all they that take the sword shall perish by the sword," and might add for the benefit of the boys, "Put up your wooden guns for they will eventually lead to weapons more deadly."

MRS. E. FREDERICKS.

West Duluth, Jan 9.

LIKE FATTENING HOGS FOR THE KILLING.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I am informed that the advocates of military drill in the high school have made considerable headway. What are the benefits to be derived from military drill? Healthy exercise and a knowledge of military tactics?

Let the board of education establish a large gymnasium and a swimming pool, and let gymnastic work be placed among the required subjects in the high school, so that the pupils will have to attend the gymnasium and the swimming pool during regular periods. Is this not healthy exercise? Not only is it as good exercise as military drill, but, as well as military drill, it will also reach every student in the school. Unless the board of education is too parsimonious to consider such gymnasic drill, there will be established in the high school an institution which will more than replace military drill as far as physical betterment is concerned.

A knowledge of military tactics! This amounts to feeding hogs so that they will be fatter for the killing. Bear in mind that this country is the most civilized nation on the earth. Are we fulfilling our duty to the less enlightened nations by setting them such an example? Have the preparations for war in Europe prevented, or even delayed, the war? No! Rather have they hastened the war; and if not caused it, the preparations have at least assured the existence of this conflict, and made it much more disastrous and lasting. Had not the European nations been so prepared, they certainly would have been very slow to offend each other, or to consider seriously insignificant offenses from their fellow-countries. So again I say, military drill amounts to feeding hogs so that they will be fatter for the killing. By drilling the youth we are defining patriotism as national prejudice. Feel low countrymen be broad-minded and answer this question without prejudice: Is it not morally right and for the benefit of the world, for the cause of peace, that we should consider the interests of our country subservient to the interests of the whole world, and that we ought to sacrifice some of our national privileges and interests to the betterment of the entire mankind?

A STUDENT OF THE HIGH SCHOOL.

Duluth, Jan. 9.

WHERE THE OLD-TIME WOODSMAN HAS GONE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

What has become of the old-time woodsman is a story by itself. We no longer have the material, for the woods have been cut and recut since his days have passed. The work in the woods consists mostly of tie-making, cordwood-cutting and cutting of posts, and very little logging. If this is not true, why has Duluth closed down the majority of her sawsmills? The work is mostly done on a piece-work basis, and material is scarce, and the man in most cases pays from $3.50 to $5 per week for board, furnishes his own tools and pays from $1 to $3 for the job. The old-time woodsman would say "Never again for the woods for me."

But this is not the point of the woodsman and the employment agents' controversy; it applies to all classes and grades of work, such as construction and building work here in the city, on railroads, clearing land and even farm work.

I have visited these employment agencies and have hired out several times, and am in a position to know that they are breeders to the city of the "floater" or "tramp," as some of these men are called. There is a class of men who merely come here to ship from these agencies and enable them to get a lift on their journeys, and perhaps will steal tools or whatever they can, in revenge for the fee they had to pay; but we do not him classed with the honest working man any more than does society want the bank clerk who forgets to empty his pockets on leaving the bank for home.

The question is, why does a man have to buy his jobs when we have a state free employment bureau, which could handle this work systematically by registering every man who is hired out or sent to work?

If the man be a thief, tramp or "floater," he would no longer bother Duluth, as he would know they had his record, and there being no other agencies, he would travel elsewhere.

But if a man must buy his jobs, it could be arranged to charge each man hired a small fee and make the employment bureau a self-paying industry; and if at the end of a year a surplus is found in the treasury, it could be used toward better and more sanitary conditions for the working man, instead of making a few of our employment agencies independently rich.

We refer to the woman's department. Orders are sent there from all parts of the city and from different parts of the state, and as a result every woman is found employment.

While Michigan street is always flooded with "floaters," which, as a result, reduces wages below their standard, the employer has all to say in regard to wages, while the employe has nothing left to do but to pay for his job, which in many cases pays below living expenses.

Why not do something now toward bettering working conditions and avoid the crises which now exist in Europe and Mexico?

This has been written by a working man who loves his home, his fellow-citizens and his country. Do away with the employment agencies and we will have better working conditions, better workmen and a better Duluth.

AN OLD-TIME WOODSMAN.

Duluth, Jan. 7.

FAVORS LITERACY TEST FOR IMMIGRANTS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Your editorial of Jan. 4 on the literacy test clause in the immigration bill, now pending in congress, awakens in me a spirit of protest. I have always valued the editorial columns of The Herald because of its spirit of fairness, and while in this instance we are entitled to any of several opinions, your above mentioned editorial is a bit biased and contradictory.

In reading over the text of the clause relating to the much-discussed literacy test, I have failed to find anything that would bar any reasonable number that may want to come to our glorious country.

All it practically requires is the ability to read thirty or forty words legibly printed in any language or written dialect of the applicant's own choosing, merely showing that a foundation has been laid upon which the opportunities of the adopted home may find a place in which to work and develop.

Is this an unreasonable test to require of its future citizens, by a country that boasts of the education, intelligence and moral development of its average citizen?

You infer, we have a responsibility toward the poor, oppressed classes of other countries, and that we should stand ready to do our best for them, because it is not their fault they are denied education in their own country. But you seem to forget the responsibility we owe to our own people in safeguarding our dearly-bought liberties and free institutions, not endangering them by allowing an unrestricted influx of ignorant classes that do not appreciate our opportunities and who in a short five years may wield as great power by the exercise of their vote, unintelligently cast, as our most enlightened citizens.

Your reference to the educational qualifications of "bookkeepers, clerks and writers" is illuminating as to your opinion of their required knowledge, when considered in the light of the extremely modest "test of letters" provided in the immigration bill.

It has been admitted that immigration should be in a measure restricted. What better method of raising the standard of our prospective citizens than a modest and not too severe educational test? Should we reverse it, and offer ourselves and our country as a living sacrifice to the Old World ignorance, telling the educated immigrant to stay at home because he has had his opportunity in his own country?

Let the United States be a haven for the poor and oppressed of any country, but let him prove himself worthy of being entrusted with so great a gift as "freedom, liberty and pursuit of happiness," but let us not assume the responsibility of any country that refuses to deal justly with its subjects, who are persuaded to emigrate to this "land of liberty" to be used for political corruption, cheapening the price of labor and for the purpose of endangering the growth of our free public schools and other "dearly bought" privileges.

Thank God for a congress twice on record for a right measure, and let us hope we may thank God for a president, who has shown himself so strong in the past in many trying situations, who will, in spite of many intimidations by interested organizations, place his name to a bill so apparently a step in the right direction.

Yours respectfully. CITIZEN.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 7.

THE "PURP" AGAIN.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Perhaps the readers of The Herald will think I might be putting my time to better use; but I, too, wish to enter a plea, through the Open Court, in behalf of our "weather 'purp.'"

Where, oh where, has our little dog gone,
Oh where, oh where, can he be?
His tail cut short and his ears grew long—
Oh where, oh where, can he be?

Our "malden" is fair,
Our "darkey" is black,
But we would like to see
That weather "purp" back.
Yours truly. MRS. J. J. SMITH,
Duluth, Jan. 8.

Mr. Naughton has promised to draw some new "dogs" at once, and the "purp" will be back in the weather column again. We didn't know he was so much missed.—The Editor.

THE EMPLOYMENT PROBLEM AGAIN.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Articles in The Herald of yesterday in regard to the controversy between labor and the employment agents, and in particular the statements by one of the latter, must, if there is anything to the old saying of "laugh and grow fat," have made some of the victims of the "slave market" jump into the heavyweight class.

The hiring and firing of men is always left to the foreman. The company's only interest in the matter is to get out the most work at the least expense.

The larger wages offered for long services are offered to induce men to ship, knowing that the conditions in a lot of camps (woods and railroad) will not allow a man to stay long enough to collect them.

A lot—I will not say all—of the so-called floaters are men who really desire jobs but are unable to endure the two-man bunks, rotten grub and filth which exists in a lot of camps. They draw their time and spend their few cents in going to another camp in the hope of doing better, with the odds against them. The employment agents want English-speaking people. Then why the signs seen on Michigan street every day calling for "Finns only," "Austrians only," "Ten Swedes?" Maybe they are unable to "kick" in English.

About steady men. Well, I might be able to see a vision of Hicken starting up a saloon on St. Croix avenue, but not one of an employment agent wishing every man to hold down a steady job, as I am afraid if they did, Mr. Employment Agent would have to start reducing weight by the pick and shovel method.

If it is required to put a slight premium on a job to insure honesty (said premium being paid in many cases by the city), why not do this through the state free employment office, whose managers are thoroughly familiar with labor conditions? This might be done by a small fee from each man shipped out to camps, the resulting fund to be used when required to pay fares of men unable to do so. Men following this kind of work could register when returning from camp and in funds. Yours,

Die Nachtigall singt in der ferne,
Es wird mir so wahl, so leicht am stab
Die Nachtigall singt in der ferne.

"I Cannot Call Her Mother."

The marriage rite is over;
And though I turn aside,
To keep the guests from seeing
The tears I could not hide,
I wreathed my face in smiling
And led my little brother
To greet my father's chosen—
But I could not call her mother.

She is a fair young creature,
With a meek and gentle air;
With blue eyes soft and loving,
And silken sunny hair.
I know my father gives her
This love he bore another;
But if she were an angel,
I could not call her mother.

Tonight I heard her singing
A song I used to love,
When its sweet notes were uttered
By her who sings above;
It pained my heart to hear it,
And my tears I could not smother,
For every word was hallowed
By the dear voice of my mother.

My father, in the sunshine
Of happy days to come,
May half forget the shadow
That darkened our old home.
His heart no more is lonely;
But me and little brother,
Must still be orphan children—
God can give us but one mother.

I'm Glad I Met You, Mary.

'Twas at the close of evening, upon a quiet street
A pretty maid to meet her lover came,
Confiding in his manner with pleasant smiles to greet,
For she had promised she would change her name.
Upon her lips he kissed her like Juda and sincere,
When suddenly an aged man drew near.
Says he: "I found you, Mary; oh, trust him not I pray;
It's a lucky thing I passed this way."

Chorus.

"I'm glad I met you, Mary,
I'm glad I saved you, dear,
From years of care and sorrow,
From many a bitter tear.
He's wedded to another,
He's heartless and untrue;
I'm glad I met you, Mary,
It's a happy day for you."

"I'll take you to his home, dear,
Where dwells his loyal wife
And little ones around their mother's knee;
There you may glean the story of his deceitful life."
"It cannot be," she murmured; "here is our engagement ring."
"It's a worthless thing, dear, go give it back to him."
The old man took it from her, then he said:
"Come home to your mother, child, instead."

Somebody Waiting for Me.

The moon's shining bright, and the stars give their light,
And the evening invites us to stray,
But in vain do I talk of a bright moonlight walk—
I am here and I can't get away.
I'm a bird in a cage, and they say "at my age"
That their wonder is what I can see
In a walk in the cold, though the truth must be told,
That there's somebody waiting for me.

Chorus.

There's somebody waiting, there's somebody waiting,
There's somebody waiting for me.

They ask me to sing, and my music they bring,
'Tis "Meet Me by Moonlight Alone" again,
And it's getting quite late, and I know he won't wait
And he'll go if it comes on to rain.
And now they propose all the shutters to close,
As a form in the moonlight I see.
But before they're aware, I'll steal down the back stair,
For there's somebody waiting for me.

Some Day I'll Wander Back Again.

Some day I'll wander back again
To where the old home stands,
Beneath the old tree down the lane,
Afar in other lands,
Its humble cot will shelter me
From every care and pain,
And life be sweet as sweet can be
When I am home again.

Chorus.

I'll wander back, yes back again,
Where childhood's home may be,
For memory in sweet refrain
Still sings its praise to me.

Some day I'll wander back again
To scenes so dear to me,
Where the sweet infancies refrain,
Beside my mother knee,
To live once more in the golden hour
Of joyous merry play.
No thorns but only sweetest flowers
There in life's merry way.

Chorus.

Some day I'll wander back again
To hearts so kind and true.
Those gentle faces still remain
In memories cherished view.
No more my wayward feet shall roam
Life's troubled pathway o'er,
But in life and love at home
I rest me ever more.

When the Harvest Days Are Over, Jessie, Dear.

Near the fireside so cheerful
Sits an old man sad and tearful.
He is dreaming of the days of long ago,
And in fancy he is roaming
With his sweetheart in the gloaming
When he spoke the words that set her cheeks aglow.
By the brook down in the meadow,
In the willow's gentle shadow,
There they planned their future happiness one day.
When the sun set in its splendor,
Then his voice grew soft and tender,
As he gently took her in his arms to say:

Chorus.

"When the harvest days are over, Jessie, dear,
And the sun-kissed flowers bloom 'neath the sky so clear,
You will keep the words you said.
That's the time we shall wed,
When the harvest days are over, Jessie, dear."

Now the fire, once bright, is dying,
As he sits there softly sighing,
For his fancy takes him down a country lane.
Past the old schoolhouse he's strolling,
And he hears the church bells tolling,
As he kneels beside his darling's grave again.
All in white she is gently sleeping,
All in black he's softly weeping,
For the one who was to be his wife some day.
But death took him there to greet her,
And in heaven above he'll meet her,
Like the fire in the grate he passed away.

Chorus.

IN FIVE MINUTES NO SICK STOMACH, INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" is the quickest and surest Stomach relief.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can surely get relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why it relieves, sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now; this minute, and rid yourself of stomach misery and indigestion in five minutes.

ORDINARY ALMANAC DIMENSIONS OUTGROWN

If there is anything new under the sun, the chances are that it's in The World Almanac. This is a sweeping statement. For its justification one may point with much confidence to the files of this most regular of annuals. For particular and current instances, reference is recommended to the issue for 1915, now just at hand.

As one reads this book, the time seems very far removed, indeed, when an almanac was merely a booklet of calendar pages, with wise remarks about the sun, the moon, a few planets, the tides, and the best time for planting various kinds of seeds. Here set forth, besides election and census returns, sporting records, industrial and financial reports, a New York City gazetteer, and the countless formal informatory departments to which the years have accustomed readers of The World Almanac, are a review of the war in Europe; notes on the wars of the world; the political state platforms of 1914; details of the special or emergency tax; analysis of the prison population; factory statistics; workmen's compensation laws; occupations in the United States; the Federal reserve act; the Federal trade commission; statistics of foreign born population in the United States; a description of the Mexican situation; facts about the Chinese republic; the progress and plans of the Palisades driveway; a paper on the aeroplane and aviation generally in war, and too many other things to receive even a reviewer's bare mention.

Of course this book has more than a thousand pages. It outgrew ordinary almanac dimensions long ago. It will carry its own "Happy New Year" welcome to librarians, students, professors, statesmen, editors and readers in general all over the land.

FIFTY-SEVEN WILL GO THROUGH CANAL

Naval Vessels of United States to Make Passage in March.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Fifty-seven naval vessels will make up the fleet which will go to San Francisco by way of the Panama canal next March, according to announcement made by Secretary Daniels. There will be twenty-seven battleships headed by the dreadnaught Wyoming, Admiral Fletcher's flagship; twenty-three torpedo boat destroyers and thirteen auxiliaries, including colliers and supply vessels.

At Cristobal, on the Atlantic side of the canal, the fleet will be joined by the famous old Oregon and Dewey's flagship at Manila, the Olympia. Both are being fitted out for the cruise, the former on the Pacific coast and the latter at Charleston, S. C.

President Wilson will sail from Hampton Roads on the battleship New York on the 5th, 6th or 7th of March, the exact date remaining to be fixed. If plans for the naval cruise are not amended by congress so as to have the rendezvous at Cristobal instead of Hampton Roads, as suggested by Secretary Daniels, the fleet will be dispatched from Hampton Roads several days in advance of the president's sailing in order to make sure that all shall have reached the isthmus and perhaps have been locked through the canal, in readiness to be reviewed by him there.

If Secretary Daniels goes with the fleet from Hampton Roads, he will take passage on the battleship Texas.

WISCONSIN LAND RAPIDLY SETTLED.

Rhinelander, Wis., Jan. 11.—That Vilas county is being settled rapidly with farmers is attested by the fact that one real estate firm alone sold 3,000 acres to men who have moved on the land. Most of the sales were in forty and eighty-acre tracts. A feature of the settling up of this land is the fact that practically all of the new people paid from one-third to one-half of the purchase price in cash.

Finger Prints on Beer Bottle Betray Young Man Charged With Robbery of Store Room.

The finger print system of identifying criminals was instrumental in causing the arrest of Charles Cherrier, aged 21, accused of complicity in the robbery of the store room of the Zenith Furnace company, 318 West First street. It was through finger prints left on the label of a beer bottle that he and his alleged accomplices, Samuel Hood, age 22, railroad checker, and Oscar Dahl, teamster of West Duluth, have been taken into custody. The arrest was brought about by the ingenuity of Gust F. Lahti, who is superintendent of the police bureau of identification.

Cherrier, who is a chauffeur, was known to have been around the premises but upon being taken into custody he stoutly maintained his innocence. At headquarters impressions were taken of his finger prints and compared with those on the beer bottle label and found to be identical. The marks on the bottle had been fixed permanently by a chemical process. Detective Frank Schulte, who was assigned to the case, says Cherrier admitted that he was in the store room the day of the alleged robbery and that he drank some beer but denies that he stole anything. Cherrier has been employed by the Zenith Furnace company for about eight months.

The arrest of Edward Peterson, aged 21, and Carl Pearson, aged 19, yesterday afternoon in connection with the case brings the list of alleged offenders to a quintet.

The robbery occurred on the afternoon or night of Dec. 21, but the arrests did not follow until last Saturday and Sunday. A list of articles taken are given as three flat-irons with accessories for gas heating, one blow torch, two tires, a mackinaw coat and a lamp shade.

This morning the men were arraigned in police court. Cherrier, Hood and Dahl were bound over to the grand jury. Peterson and Pearson pleaded guilty to the charge of trespass and their cases were continued.

HAVE COLOR IN YOUR CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

If you want a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, Ohio.

CASS LAKE HOTEL HAS CLOSE CALL.

Cass Lake, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire caused from an overheated stove in the Great Northern hotel Sunday morning for a time threatened to result in a considerable loss. The fact that it was discovered before it had gained much headway and the firemen were on the scene in such a short space of time was responsible for little damage being done.

CARLTON CLUB TO SELECT OFFICERS

Carlton, Minn., Jan. 11.—The annual meeting of the Commercial club will be held at the city hall this evening. Election of officers will be held and other business of importance transacted.

William Radabaugh received word from Mrs. Radabaugh, who is visiting at Ahmeek, Mich., that a son had been born to their daughter, Mrs. L. G. Trevathen.

Positive Relief For Constipation

The progress of modern medical science is, perhaps, no more forcefully evident than in the simplifying of many of the old time remedies of past generations. For instance, the harsh cathartics and violent purgatives used by our forefathers to relieve constipation are now known to be not only unnecessary but really harmful. Constipation can be more effectively relieved without the discomfort and pain these old-time remedies occasion.

A combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is most effective, yet mild and pleasant. It is absolutely free from opiates and narcotics and equally as desirable a remedy for the tiniest babe as for rugged manhood. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

PAROLE JUMPER AGAIN ARRESTED

Former Duluth Burglar Is Taken By San Diego Police.

Clifford J. Dwyer, alias Disberry, who was sentenced to serve two years at Stillwater for burglarizing Johnson & Peterson's hardware store, 1918 West Superior street, on Aug. 1, 1911, and who is wanted for the violation of his parole was arrested Saturday at San Diego, Cal., suspected of being a hold up man. Information to that effect was received yesterday by Chief of Police C. H. Troyer.

Dwyer, with another man who gave the name of "Jack Disberry" was arrested following investigation by detectives. A suitcase containing false whiskers, mustaches and a large revolver had been forwarded to Los Angeles to a room occupied by "Mrs. Clifford Disberry." The suitcase was identified as stolen property. The woman, following a grilling by the police said she had married Dwyer in St. Paul last September and stated that the two men had taken part in twenty-five hold-ups and robberies in the last two months.

Dwyer was arrested in Detroit, Mich., shortly after burglarizing the West end hardware store and was brought back to this city. He was sentenced to Stillwater on the indeterminate plan of from one to five years. After serving two years he was released on parole. According to the police, Dwyer has considerable of a record. As a boy he is said to have been arrested twice on charges of petty larceny. He has served time at Red Wing and also at the reformatory at Green Bay, Wis.

SOCIAL CENTER TAKES UP SINGING

Men Form Club and Young Women Will Organize.

A new organization of singers will be formed this evening at the social center of the Bryant school, Vernon and Third streets. The young women attending the social center have become much interested in singing and by a request have asked Miss Katherine King, principal of the school and director of the social center to assist them in organizing.

A similar club is now formed among the young men and has met with considerable success. They have taken great interest in singing and from the progress being made the club, it is expected, will soon rival some of the older organizations of the city. This club meets every Wednesday evening.

A new course of study will be taken up this evening by the domestic science class under the direction of Miss Margaret Turner. The study of meats, their food value and how they should be properly prepared will form the new study. The drama club and the boys' gymnasium class will also meet tonight and the Bryant social center orchestra will hold a rehearsal. On Wednesday evening the dancing class under the direction of Miss Irene Walker and John Hurdon will meet at 8:15 p. m.

Among the other activities at the Bryant school this week will be a special meeting of the Mothers' club to be held Wednesday afternoon. The meeting is called for, the purpose of sewing for needy families. On Friday afternoon at 4:14 o'clock the Girls' Sewing club of the eighth grade has planned to hold a penny sale in the club rooms.

DECLARES A NEW BIRTH NECESSARY

Rev. Milton Fish Tells of Changes Required to Be Christian.

"We Become Christians By a Birth" was the subject of a sermon delivered last night by Rev. Milton Fish, pastor of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street. In part he said:

"Three great interpretations of Christianity will obtain until the angels of God separate the wheat from the tares. First, the sacerdotal Christian believes that rites and priestly ministrations convey saving life to believers, unbelievers, and even to unconscious babes. Second, the rationalistic Christian disavows miracles, rejects mysteries that he can't explain, and follows the ethical teachings of Christ. He contends that all men are sons of God, and that human nature can be cultivated into God-likeness. Third, the evangelistic Christian knows that a new divine life has entered into himself, instantly and miraculously changing his spiritual death into spiritual life. This new life is wrought by God's grace without the man's merit. This second birth is a necessary condition for entering into fellowship with God.

"The evidences of the new life are these:

"Love for Christians, full surrender to God's will, love for enemies, relish for the Bible, and pleasure in prayer. To believe in Christ means to believe that Jesus died to set us free from the guilt of sin, to renounce all known sins and to fully love Christ. Ye must be born again."

The Easiest Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—Advertisement.

SIGNATURE OF GOV. MAYTORENA

All That Is Needed to Stop the Fighting on the Border.

El Paso, Texas, Jan. 11.—Gov. Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the United States army, left for Naco, Ariz., yesterday, where he expects to secure the signature of Governor Maytorena of Sonora to the agreement already signed by Gen. Hill, the Carranza defender of Naco, Sonora. The signing of the agreement by the leaders of both Mexican factions is expected to end fighting along the border and remove the menace to residents along the American side of the international boundary. From Naco Gen. Scott will return to Washington.

Gen. Villa left Juarez yesterday for the South. His destination was said to be Tampico, where he plans a concentrated attack on the Carranza forces holding that port. Gen. Villa remained in Juarez until the departure of the last train bearing his troops to Casas Grandes and thence into Sonora.

ITALIAN SECTIONS IN CITY LIBRARIES

Consular Agent Obtains Departments for Countrymen in Several Cities.

Italian books have been placed in the Duluth and range town libraries as the result of a campaign conducted by Attilio Castigliano, royal Italian consular agent for Minnesota, with headquarters in Duluth.

Recently Mr. Castigliano requested the various library boards in Duluth, Chisholm, Virginia and Hibbing to consider the plan to install Italian books, thus creating an Italian department. His plan met with the approval of the boards and shortly after the books were ordered, while in addition Mr. Castigliano secured a donation of many volumes from the Dante society of Rome.

Mr. Castigliano said this morning that he is planning to obtain an Italian department for the library at Eveleth. A series of entertainments at the various range libraries is now being planned by prominent Italians of the respective cities.

Blood Remedy Sustains World

Myriads Have Learned of Its Remarkable Curative Value.

From the very fact that S. S. S., the famous blood purifier is a natural medicine, it is opposed by those who can not give up mercury and other dangerous drugs. Habit is a strange master. Afflicted people use mercury with a blind force of habit. Not warned by the rheumatism they see all around them, unmindful of the locomotor ataxia, paralysis and other dreaded results of mineral poisoning, they cling to the fast disappearing treatment so surely and positively being replaced by S. S. S., wherever the light strikes in. S. S. S. is fast becoming the world's panacea for all blood troubles because it is welcome to a weak stomach, is taken naturally into the blood, is a wave of purifying influence known by its remarkable curative results, and is the standby of a host of people.

It goes into the blood and remains a strong medicinal influence to the end and this without any other effect than that of a purely cleansing property.

It is the most universally recommended blood remedy known, and has sustained its reputation for half a century. Its ingredients are Nature's definite antidotes for germs that create our worst afflictions. Get a bottle today of any druggist. Refuse all substitutes. Write the medical department, The Swift Specific Co., 62 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for free advice on blood troubles, and how to overcome them. This department is one of the finest helps to men to be found anywhere, and it is entirely free.

WORKHOUSE FOR WOMEN

Senator Charles E. Adams Plans Action in State Legislature.

Penitentiary and Jail Now Only Place for Female Offenders.

Steps may be taken by State Senator Charles E. Adams to secure legislative action this winter on the matter of establishing a work house or work farm for women offenders.

Under the present laws the courts have no place other than the state penitentiary and the county jail to send women law-breakers. There is no state reformatory, although steps may be taken in that direction by the 1915 legislature.

Same as Men's Farm.

Senator Adams advocates the idea of an institution on much the same plan as the work farm for men, jointly operated by the city of Duluth and county of St. Louis. In discussing the matter, Senator Adams said:

"This could be managed at a surprisingly small outlay of funds. A tract of from five to twenty acres of land could be acquired, on the road to the work farm, but much nearer the city, and the first unit of a group of buildings erected at a cost, approximately of from $7,000 to $10,000. This could be done under the supervision of the work farm commission, and the direction of Supt. Fred Ward, who is making such a conspicuous success of the work farm for men. Under a plan of this sort there need be only the outlay in salary for a matron.

"The head of the poor farm commission, J. H. Hearding, has suggested that sufficient land might be given from the tract on which the county farm is located for a farm home for women. This would materially lower the original expense of the plan.

But Small Place Needed.

"The establishment would never need to be a large one, at least not for some years, as the number of women prisoners runs from two to thirty-five. Under a matron who could instruct the women in domestic science and sewing, there could be useful occupation provided which would equip the women to earn their own livelihood after leaving the farm. Work in flower gardens, vegetable gardens and poultry raising would provide healthful outdoor employment.

"At present Minnesota has no place where women offenders over 17 years of age may be sent except to the jail or the penitentiary.

"Under the provisions of a measure adopted in 1913 there is a home for girls and women here, which is doing excellent work, but this home would be more effective if there were a weeding-out process and the older offenders could be sent to a farm home."

GREAT BRITAIN'S REPLY TO NOTE OF UNITED STATES

of statistics had not taken up one of the chief points of the American argument. The British statistics were brought forward to ague that American commerce with neutral countries had not suffered as seriously as had been represented, but administration officials here contend that one of the chief purposes of the American protest was to prevent depletion of American commerce by continuation of British practices. The American note, they said, was framed with the very idea of forestalling destruction of American trade.

Figures Misleading.

Figures cited in the British note, in the view of officials here, are misleading because much of the non-contraband goods which ordinarily go direct to Germany and Austria has really been shipped to neutral countries because of the scarcity of ships that would dare risk passages through mine fields to German ports. Similarly, the desire of Germany and Austria to use all surplus production, has deprived contiguous countries of many raw materials which they now are compelled to import from the United States. Such increases in total exports from the United States, officials here say, would conceal the real injury to some American industries because of their apparent growth in trade with individual countries.

England's statement that out of 773 ships which proceeded from the United States to neutral countries in Europe since the outbreak of the war only forty-five had had cargoes placed in the prize courts, while only eight of the ships themselves had gotten into the courts, was regarded by officials and diplomats here as proving that the bulk of American commerce was of a legitimate character and had yielded only forty-five cases.

There is no mention made in the British note on the other hand, of the large number of American ships which were detained, some of them for two weeks, for extended examination.

Will Dispute British View.

In the next communication which the United States will send to England as a rejoinder the British view that ships must be taken into ports for examination, instead of being searched on the high seas, is expected to be vigorously disputed. There is some doubt, not infrequently expressed here among officials, of whether the practice of the British fleet practically blockading the high seas instead of German ports themselves, is not contrary to the fundamental principles of a blockade.

It is not unlikely that before the American reply is finally sent the state department will give our statistics showing when and where American ships have been detained.

Have Strong Argument.

It is admitted at the state department that the action of some American exporters and shipmasters has placed the British in possession of a strong argument in favor of its present position. But with the recent arrangements for having outgoing cargoes loaded under the inspection of treasury officials and with the system of licenses which the British note states has been arranged to insure rubber and perhaps wool exported from America from reaching Germany and Austria, officials are inclined to believe that the way soon will be open for a satisfactory understanding between the two governments in regard to the treatment of neutral shipping. They are encouraged in that belief by the frank and responsive tone of the British note.

scarcely touched upon the chief grievance of shippers—the great delay in determining whether cargoes detained are contraband. Agents of American firms which have suffered from this condition feel that actual statements of the annoyances and delays which shippers have endured would hasten an adjustment of differences more effectively than general statements without details of specific cases.

Views of London Papers.

The London afternoon papers, commenting on the reply of Foreign Secretary Grey to the American note concerning unwarranted interference with American shipping are unanimous in calling attention to Great Britain's debt of gratitude to the United States and her desire to repay it by interfering with American trade as little as is necessary to secure the safety of this country and her allies.

The papers take the ground that the foreign secretary's facts and figures, unless they can be explained or rebutted, prove that enormous supplies necessary to the prosecution of the war have reached the enemy under cover of neutral trade. The Westminster Gazette says:

Guarding Own Interests.

"A belligerent is guarding his own interests. No obligation rests upon a neutral to help a belligerent or to prevent the embarkation of contraband. We do not wish to throw the slightest responsibility on the United States, but in dealing with a friendly neutral we can in a variety of ways consult his convenience, and the people of the United States may be assured that we will do whatever possible to mitigate the state of war to them. Closer cooperation between the two governments will have good results."

Every Briton Will Approve.

The Pall Mall Gazette says:

"Foreign Secretary Grey's reply was just what every Briton will approve who warmly desires the friendship of the United States, but who also is determined that no legitimate weapon shall be sheathed which can be used to bring the war to a speedy and successful conclusion."

The Globe expresses the opinion that Sir Edward Grey's "frank and friendly reply goes in some directions even further toward meeting the wishes of the United States than some of us think prudent." The Globe suggests that the principal trouble over the question of contraband has arisen through the change in the American practice and the present prohibition of the publication of ships manifests until thirty days after the vessels have left American ports. In this connection the paper says:

"If the consequent detention is inconvenient and injurious to American trade, the American government has the remedy in its own hands."

RESPONSIBILITIES OF UNITED STATES.

can merchant in his hostility to the Filipino, "every small Ladrone fight every discomfort the constabulary suffered, was exaggerated and made the basis for inference that conditions in the islands were retrograding rather than improving."

"What the United States should do concerning the Philippines," said Mr. Garrison in opening his statement, "can only be determined properly by keeping two things constantly in mind. One the duty of the United States to itself, and the other, its duty in view of the pledges and assurances it has made to the Filipino people.

Profitless Discussion.

"The United States has assumed responsibilities with respect to the Philippines, which, in the highest spirit of self-respect, it must discharge rightfully at whatever cost. It is a useless waste of time to discuss whether we should have acquired the Philippine islands, or whether having acquired them, we should have set out upon the course of improving the material prosperity of their people, educating them, introducing means of communication and transportation and building up commerce, internal and external, as we have done. It is equally profitless to discuss whether those who spoke on behalf of the United States should have made the repeated statements concerning our attitude with respect to the Filipino people, which statements are in their nature assurances or pledges concerning our intentions. We have done these things and must abide by them. We have no right now to measure our duty or our obligations by what would have been our rights had we not pursued the course we did pursue.

"We deliberately chose to assume an enormous responsibility, with a self-abnegation unparalleled, so far as I know, save in the somewhat similar case of Cuba. It was finely conceived, and it behooves the nation to see that it is finely carried out. Ignorance and prejudice increase the difficulty, and attempts to reap partisan advantages add to it.

Problem Little Understood.

"Our citizens know so pitiably little about this great problem. They do not realize, save in a very vague way, how the honor of the nation—which is collectively their honor, a thing they individually hold so dear—is vitally involved in a proper consideration and treatment of this matter. If they did so it would require great effrontery to attempt to divert them from its proper settlement by paltry lies and shameful misrepresentations. That such do now affect the public mind is due entirely to lack of knowledge on the part of the public.

"The terms and provisions of the bill you have before you are not known or understood by our people, if they had its provisions in mind, they would laugh in derision at those who suggest that it is inadvisable to consider this bill now because of the existing war. The very slightest consideration of the actual provisions of this bill would convince any inquirer that there was nothing whatever in it which made it inadvisable or inappropriate to consider the matter at this time. It is not too strong a statement to say that were every nation on earth, including our own, at war, there is nothing in this bill which would make its consideration inappropriate on that account.

"The bill is so framed as to provide another step along the line of self-government. The wisdom and propriety of it can only be determined by keeping in mind the two viewpoints first adverted to and by considering the history of our relations to the Philippines and the present situation therein."

History of the Philippines.

Here Secretary Garrison traced the history of the Philippines—some thirty-four islands with a total poulation of between eight and nine million, mostly of Malay origin—pointing out that the revolt against Spain and, later, the rising against the United States, were the only occasions which had tended to produce homogeneity among the islanders. He quoted at length from messages and speeches by Former Presidents McKinley, Taft and Roosevelt to show that in each succeeding administration after the Philippines came into the hands of the United States the Filipinos had been taught that "the Philippines are for the Filipinos," that satisfaction over the progress of the islanders had been expressed and the hope of self-government held out.

Mr. Taft he quoted as saying in a message of 1912: "We should endeavor to secure for the Filipinos economic independence and to fit them for complete self-government, with the power to decide, eventually, according to their own largest good, whether such self-government should be accompanied by independence."

Affirmation of Policy.

In 1913, Mr. Garrison added, President Taft described the promise in the Democratic platform to recognize the independence of the Philippine islands "as soon as a stable government can be established" as "an affirmation of a policy slightly differing from that repeatedly announced by this and preceding Republican administrations."

In pursuance of the policies thus enunciated, Mr. Garrison said the various administrations in this country had from time to time enlarged the extent of the participation of the Filipinos in their government, replacing the military regime by a civilian commission giving the islanders control of ther local municipal governments and gradually of their provincial government, placing Filipinos on the commission, in the supreme court, and at the head of executive departments and finally, in 1907, establishing the assembly compcsed entirely of natives elected from the various districts. The present administration reconstructed the commission, practically the senate of the islands, so as to give a majority to the Filipinos, and, the secretary continued, "everything that has come to hand is in entire justification of its wisdom and propriety."

The Next Logical Step.

Mr. Garrison declared that the present bill was the result of the plans of the administration to take the next logical step along the line of testing the capacity of the Filipinos for self-government.

"We have entire hope," he said, "that the Filipinos will accept this added responsibility and make such good use of the opportunity as to demonstrate its wisdom and prepare the way for the next onward move."

He directed attention to the fact that to the president of the United States was reserved the power to forbid the enactment of any bill, even though it be passed by the legislature over the veto of the governor-general, and that trade relations between the United States and the islands still would be subject to the final decision of congress.

"It is difficult to see what proper objection can be made to the provisions of the bill itself," said the secretary in conclusion. "If we considered it, as I have insisted before that we should, in view of our duty to ourselves and to the nation and in view of our obligation to the Filipino people, as made on our behalf by those speaking for us, we find that it fully measures up to our obligation in each respect. Good faith to those to whom we have pledged ourselves requires us to stay as long as we must; and good will to the islanders, in accordance with our pledges and assurances, requires us to stay no longer than is necessary to test and reach conclusions as to their capacity in managing their own affairs."

SPECIAL MEETING

GREAT WESTERN MINING CO.,

Wednesday Evening, 8 o'Clock. Bowley's Hall, 112 West First Street.

SUPPLIES AND EQUIPMENT FOR ROUMANIANS

quarters, however, that the inauguration of more general movements will be on an earlier date than is generally expected, although persons in close touch with the army believe that the real crisis will not be reached until summer.

Russia is still sending enormous masses of men to within easy reach of various points on her long fighting line. The levies of 1914, amounting to 1,200,000 men are just leaving the training camps, which will be occupied immediately by the 1915 levies now called out. Germany's newest levy, just announced, amounts to 600,000 men of the age of 19 and her masses of reserves already under arms enable her to rush heavy reinforcements wherever required without withdrawing troops already engaged at the front, in either the eastern or the western fighting zones. This was shown a few days ago in Alsace, when the Germans assembled a force sufficient to recapture Burnhaupt, from which point the French were threatening Muelhausen.

Perthes Center of Interest.

For the moment, the center of interest in the western field is Perthes, on account of the railroads in that region, which are of equally great importance to both the Germans and the French. Should either side gain possession of the railroad now held by the other, lines of communication would be cut and it would be necessary to evacuate trenches for a considerable distance. The Germans realized that danger, when the French captured Perthes, and brought up large forces in an attempt to regain the lost terrain.

The fighting in Poland recently has been purely of a local character. The Germans are said to be contemplating an attack at a new point. Apparently the Russians are content for the present to maintain their straight line north and south, without atempting to push westward.

Further south, simultaneously with the Russian progress in Bukowina an advance on Cracow once more appears to be imminent.

Doubt is expressed in some quarters whether the Germans who are reported to have gone south supposedly to assist Austria in the campaign against Servia are actually destined for that service. It is suggested that their objective is Hungary, which is represented as much upset by the Russian advance against Transylvania and the activities of Roumania.

Hope is expressed on all sides here that Sir Edward Grey's reply to the American shipping note will prove acceptable to the United States. There is some disposition to regard the statistics in the reply as an indication that the British government has been derelict in its duty, in permitting large quantities of commodities required by the belligerents to reach hostile nations.

French Statement.

Paris, Jan. 11, 2:40 p. m.—The statement given out by the French war office this afternoon shows a continuation at certain points of intermittent cannonading, but these artillery duels do not appear yet to have brought any important results. In addition there was some trench fighting, with French gains, according to the announcement. Otherwise yesterday does not appear to have been a day of particular activity or developments. The statement follows:

"From the sea to the Lys there was yesterday an intermittent and not very intense cannonading. In the region of Ypres our artillery responded efficaciously to the artillery of the enemy and sent well-placed shots against the German trenches.

"From the Lys to the Oise in the region of Boisselle our troops took possession of a trench of the enemy after a violent fight. To the northeast of Soissons, on 'Spur 132,' they yesterday repulsed a German attack. Following this they attacked and occupied two lines of the enemy's trenches along a front of about 500 yards, thus extending toward the east the trenches captured Jan. 3, and assuring complete possession of 'Spur 132.'

"On the Aisne and in Champagne as far as Reims there have been artillery exchanges. From Reims to the Argonne our artillery bombarded the first line trenches of the enemy and the shelters of the reserves. To the north of Perthes, after having driven back the counter-attacks referred to in last night's communication, we made progress and gained 200 yards of trenches.

"To the north of Beausejour the enemy made a desperate effort to recapture the little fort which he had previously lost. His counter attacks were delivered with energy. In each of them two battalions were engaged, the second advancing in close formation. Each attack was carried on with determination, but each was repulsed.

"In the Argoune, there were some few small engagements, and our front was maintained. Between the Meuse and the Moselle the day passed calmly. In the Vosges there was a heavy fall of snow. Some shells fell in old Thann and on 'Hill 425.'"

German Statement.

Berlin, Jan. 11, by wireless to London, 3:15 p. m.—Recounting the progress of the war, the daily official statement issued by the German army headquarters announces today that in an engagement near Perthes on the center of the battle line in France the Germans have recaptured the parts of some trenches which had been stormed by the French and that the Germans inflicted heavy losses on their opponents.

Fresh German successes are claimed in the Argonne region and the statement also reports that French attacks at La Boisselle and Aalt, a point north of Soissons, were repulsed.

Unfavorable weather continues to hinder the military operations in Russian Poland though the Germans claim to be making progress slowly in the direction of Warsaw.

The text of the communication follows:

"In the western theater: At Nieuport and at Ypres and south thereof, only artillery combats have taken place. A French attack at La Boisselle, to the northeast of Albert, failed completely.

"North of Soissons the French, who had established themselves in a small section of our outer trenches, attacked afresh, but so far they have gained no successes. The battles continue.

"In the neighborhood of Soupir (east of Vailly) no fighting has taken place during the last few days.

"To the east of Perthes our troops have recaptured that portion of our trenches which the enemy had taken. In this engagement heavy losses were inflicted on the French.

"In the Argonne forest our attacks have made further progress."

"In Upper Alsace the situation is tranquil.

"In the eastern war arena: In East Prussia and in Northern Poland the situation remains the same.

"On account of unfavorable weather our attacks in Poland, to the west of the Vistula river, are making slow progress."

Russian Statement.

Petrograd, Jan. 11.—The following official statement from the general staff of the Russian commander in chief, was made public last night:

"On the left bank of the Vistula, nothing but desultory engagements with the Germans have taken place. During the night of Jan. 8-9 and throughout the following day, the Germans directed four successive attacks against us in the northern region. Our troops have by sapping, halted the Germans with hand grenades and forced them out of their trenches and leveled their works.

"In the region of the Magheley farm we advanced and succeeded in taking part of the German trenches in which we entrenched ourselves.

"On the Austrian front, no important change has occurred. Our attacks there, however, have succeeded, and the Austrians everywhere retreated. We too some prisoners."

around small fires and singing. By peering through chinks between the sand bags lying on top of the trenches we could see the curious vista of the country between us and the fighting.

"It was slightly undulating here and there with patches of woodland not unlike the Middle West, but so covered with moving troops that one got the impression that the country itself was in motion.

Travel Difficult.

"Our route lay through a road close to within three miles of Sochaczew. The roads were soft and unfrozen in this region, making automobile travel difficult, and we had trouble in making our way through the double line of incoming and outgoing transports. The features which most impressed Mrs. Marye were the utter devastation of the country, everywhere scarred by battle, and the stream of homeless and hopeless refugees, scantily clad and shivering, without the slightest idea whither they were bound.

"Our objective was the field hospital to which the wounded were being brought in automobiles and wagons. Mrs. Marye spent some time here and visited every one of the wounded to whom she distributed cigarettes.

"The eagerness and appreciation of the soldiers were very touching. In this hospital, were wounded of all degrees. Those who, trivially hurt, stood up and bowed to the ambassadoress, others lay between life and death. The hardiness and endurance of these Russian soldiers struck us as marvelous. Some had survived wounds that would have killed other races. While in the hospital we heard the continuous roar of battle going on not far in the distance.

"Returning to Warsaw, Mrs. Marye visited other hospitals, one of which contained 2,000 and where are wounded are looked after by 50 surgeons and 400 nurses, the latter being volunteers from the best families of Russia and Poland."

Only One Died.

A letter from Edward H. Egbert, chief American Red Cross surgeon in charge of the Kiev hospital, states that 3,400 patients have been admitted since Dec. 15 of whom 192 have recovered and only one has died. There have been 50 surgical operations and 2,500 redressings performed since that time.

"Brave, appreciative and always doing everything in their power to cooperate with us, the Russian soldiers make ideal patients," Dr. Egbert writes. "Today, Russian Christmas, all who were able to walk or well enough to be carried, gathered in a large empty ward, where they were entertained by professional English comedians out of a job. We had a Christmas tree, and presents, including war sweaters and cigarettes, were given to each patient. The American surgeons and nurses gave a watch as a present to each of 70 members of the sanitary squad. A regular American Christmas dinner was served to all patients who were able to eat.

"I am now attempting to arrange to have our party sent to some point where we can be of more use and see more active service."

WOULD PROHIBIT RATE INCREASE

Senator La Follette Introduces Bill Aimed at Railroads.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Senator La Follette introduced a resolution today to prohibit the eastern railroads from putting into effect the increased freight rates recently granted by the interstate commerce commission.

In a long preamble to the resolution, Senator La Follette sets forth that no showing was made, or attempted to be made by the carriers, to prove that the old rates were unreasonable and that the commission in granting increases, did not, in accordance with the law, consider their unreasonableness, but granted them on the ground that the railroads needed money to meet extraordinary conditions and confusion of commerce due to the European war.

Senator La Follette asked that the resolution lie on the table and await further action.

Provision was made in the resolution, however, that roads affected, desiring to advance rates, may file new tariffs with the commission, for hearings at which the burden of proof to show that increases are just and reasonable shall be upon the railroads.

It is also set out that the railroads did not show the existing rates were unjust or unreasonable by being too low and that the advances were not warranted by law.

DIRECTED FIGHTING FROM LONDON HOME

Sir John French Used Telegraph to Convey Orders to Front.

London, Jan. 11.—For three days the operations of the British army in Flanders were directed by telegraph from the home of Sir John French near Hyde Park, London, during the general's recent visit here. While it took Wellington three days to get a message to Whitehall and as long to receive a reply during the Waterloo campaign, General French was able to communicate directly with Sir Archibald Murray at the base headquarters at St. Omer, France.

From a man who was in close touch with Sir John during his recent visit to England the following details are learned:

General French arrived at Folkestone wearing the overcoat and rather soiled cap of an enlisted man. He made no attempt to disguise himself otherwise and on the channel boat attracted no notice whatever. At Folkestone, he was met by Lord Kitchener, and both proceeded by motor to Walmer castle near Deal, where Premier Asquith resides. There a council of war was held, attended also by the leaders of the two political parties.

Sir John then came to London, where he attended councils the next two days, the king being present on one occasion. His nights were spent in his own home, where hourly messages were received direct from his headquarters at the front.

On his trip by train from Folkestone to London and on his return from Victoria station, none of the passengers gave a second look at the old soldier in the private's coat and cap, shorn of insignia. Nor did they on the boat during the trip to Calais.

On landing at Calais, however Gen. French appeared in his full uniform of field marshal and was enthusiastically acclaimed by the crowd as he drove through the streets to the station.

Gen. French is said to have remarked that this would be his last visit to London till the end of the war.

JAPANESE CRUISER SEEN NEAR AZORES.

New York, Jan. 11.—A cruiser which Capt. Williamson of the steamship Curaca believes to be Japanese, was sighted off the Azores during the Curaca's voyage here from Havre, which ended today. The man of war did not give her name.

This is the first report of the possible presence of a Japanese cruiser in the North Atlantic since the beginning of the war.

SYRUP OF FIGS FOR CROSS, SICK FEVERISH CHILD

If Little Stomach Is Sour, Liver Torpid or Bowels Clogged.

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it can not cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomachache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

THE DAILY ROLL CALL; A COLUMN OF SPORTS

BY BRUCE.

A HAPPY suggestion of the Abrams Brothers is that of getting Milburn Saylor here as an opponent for Pal Brown—that is if the range battler will rearrange his financial sights and fight for a reasonable figure.

Brown started his career before local lodges of this city. He started fighting July 1, 1909. On the first of July of this year the range boy will have been in the fight harness six years. It might be remarked that that is a mighty long time, as the song has it.

This column has cited the instances of other lightweight champions to show a public that admires Brown that there have been few cases where any boy with championship material has not exhibited it in convincing form before the lapse of six years.

Mr. Collie Munroe, than whom no fairer and finer man roams the sporting plains, has unbounded confidence in Pal. He told us one sunshiny morning how Lawrence fought Herb McCoy when the range lad weighed 120 pounds and the Australian weighed 147, and how Brown had the large man on the ropes and almost out at one stage of the Australian engagement.

Collie also told again of how Snowy Baker declared to him that in a finish fight Brown would lick any lightweight in the world.

We hope it is all true. Personally we like the little range battler—even if there is no opportunity in the world to admire his judgment and characteristics that have proven a grave handicap in his ring career. But the fact is that Brown has never given the fans in these parts reason to think that he is a champion.

All things considered, it does not look as if Brown should ask as much for his services as Mandot—and we frankly admit at the same time that it is none of our business. Twenty-five per cent of the gross should be quite enough for Brown. He is no champion and he has never fought a champion in his life. This is not intended for a criticism of the little Chisholm lad; he is one of the toughest kids in the country, as his record will prove—but again let us add, he is not a champion, and the fans in these parts have no assurance that he will ever be a champion.

The greatest record that Brown has made, is that of never having been knocked off his feet. Those who have fought the boy vouch for his toughness and endurance. In a straight rule fight he is some pumphars. In the ten round game with clean breaks, his effectiveness is impaired and he is rendered less formidable.

But—it all reverts back to the original statement—namely, that Pal Brown is not a champion and may never be a champion and should not cling to the idea that he is able to command the price of an even near champion, such as Mandot is.

Saylor and Brown would make an attractive card for this portion of the tall and uncut—but there is little use, apparently of the promoters attempting to do business with Brown so long as he lugs around those championship notions.

Ketonen May Wrestle.

FOR precisely a year and a half different attempts have been made to match Walter Miller and Waino Ketonen. Tom Scanlon blew out here with Mike Yokel in charge. It was the genial Irishman of Cleveland who first told of the sensational Finn.

"Ketonen is the name of a new wrestler who looks like a wonder," said Scanlon. "The other night in Cleveland he had Chris Jordon pinned in the first seven minutes, but the referee refused to give the Finn the fall."

It was shortly after this that Walter Miller heard of Waino Ketonen.

Down East Waino had a pal by the name of Tuominen. This wrestler came West and finally was matched with Miller in the Copper Country. What Walter did to this Tuominen was a crime. Tuominen went back East, like many other disappointed persons, and poured into the indignant ears of Ketonen his grievances.

One can suppose that Waino comforted his countryman and salved his wounds of body and spirit by telling him that he would buckle on his armor and revenge the insult.

For one year and a half—it will be two years this coming May—Ketonen has been relentlessly on the trail of Walter Miller. First came Peterson, an impressario from Worcester, Mass., who tried to get Walter to wrestle the little Finn. Eventually Peterson returned East with no result. Last winter every effort in the world was made to match the two. Now, after the weary months of negotiations and repeated failures, there is some promise, but only a promise at best, that the pair may come together.

As a writer of sports, we predict that this contest, if it ever takes place, will be one of the greatest contests ever wrestled in this town.

Ketonen hates Miller and Miller hates Ketonen. It will be a blood match; a contest in which the elements of hate, envy and desperation will enter. Miller knows that it will be his last opportunity here—if he loses; Ketonen knows well that he must redeem himself and that if he loses he might as well catch the first train out of Duluth.

If Miller wins he has the opportunity to wrestle Yokel or Gehring; the same is true for Ketonen, who wants to meet Joe Carr at 158 pounds.

It will be a bitter, savage battle from the time the boys first go into the referee's hold, for having talked with both boys on the subject a score of times, we know whereof we speak.

Ketonen would give an eye to beat Miller—and Miller would rather go to jail than be beaten by Ketonen.

The elements, all of them, for a great and stirring contest are there.

DULUTH AMATEUR HOCKEY LEAGUE TO OPEN SEASON

Two Harbors and Bagleys Will Play at the French Rink.

Both Teams Are in Condition for Hard and Fast Game.

BY BRUCE.

Well, tonight is the big night!

Get in the game and help. The Duluth Amateur Hockey league opens its season at the French rink in the West end. The rink is on Twenty-fifth avenue west and Second street. Get off at Twenty-fifth avenue, people. Help the league along. If ever a bunch of chaps deserve assistance in a laudable sporting proposition, these boys do.

The Bagleys and Two Harbors teams will open the season. The game will be called at 8 o'clock. This is a real league in which real hockey will be played. All of the kids are in the game primarily and absolutely for the love of the sport. It is the brand of sport that is deserving of the support of every Duluth lover of the best in winter sports.

All Teams Look Strong.

All of the teams are strong, according to the lineups on paper. Two Harbors has been selected by the schedule committee as one of the teams on the opening card because of the fact that the railroad town is believed to have one of the crack teams of the league.

Last season, or at the beginning of last season, the little old league trailed along in the same old way. No one thought much of it. But some of the games of the league were played in the curling club and at once some of the followers of the game began to ask others: "Say, did you see the amateur league game last night, Bill? Some game, now take it from me. Those kids sure can play."

This season the little league promises to be even stronger. These kids are observing the play of the members of the curling club team and they have learned a lot. Last season the curling club team had all it could do to defeat two or three of the best teams of the amateur league. That is a subject that is not discussed a great deal, so we are merely alluding to it.

In boys like "Beany" Brown, Johnny Richards, Curly Harris, Jimmy Owens and lots of others, the league has players who are just coming into starhood. Watch the games of the league this season, sport lovers, and you will see some real stars developing.

Two Harbors in Shape.

Reports from the railroad town are to the effect that Two Harbors is right for the league opening and that the railroad bunch is confident of taking the measure of the Bagleys.

Le Fleur, a former Duluth player, is the leader of the Two Harbors seven. For nearly three weeks the railroad boys have been out on the ice. Several practice games have already been played. The villagers are out for the flag and expect to get away to a flying start.

George Anderson of the Bagleys has lined up what looks like a strong team. Bergeson, Wood, Gunderson, Irving and Roberts are some of the best-known players. The jewelry boys have also been out on the ice for nearly two weeks and are in shape for a fast and hard contest.

With a good start it is expected that the league will have by far the best season in the history of the city—and will give the fans the best line of hockey that is played in any city league in the country.

WORLD'S CHAMPION TEAM MAY COME

Oswego, N. Y., Basket Ball Quint and Duluth Rotary Team Likely to Meet Here Feb. 3.

Lawrence Duby, manager of the Duluth Rotary basket ball team, expects to arrange a game between the Oswego, N. Y., five, champions of the world, and the local team for the evening of Feb. 3.

Negotiations are on now between the manager of the Eastern quint and Duby. A large guarantee is demanded by the Oswego manager and it is over this point that the matter is hanging fire.

The Oswego team has beaten about everything in the country during the last few years. The members of the Oswego five have played together for so long that they play as a machine.

In Dick Bradley, "Morrey" Harris, Roy Johnson, Oscar Solheim and "Dutch" Jeronimus, Duby believes that he has one of the crack teams of the country. Every member of the team has been a star in high school while Harris was a sensation at the University of Minnesota.

On Jan. 19 the Duluthians leave for a long trip that will carry them as far west as Billings, Mont.

DULUTH MAY REMAIN IN WESTERN HOCKEY LEAGUE

If Personnel of Portage Lake Team Is Changed, Curling Club Seven May Play Schedule Out—President Webb and John T. McNamara of Houghton Expected Here for Conference This Week.

Duluth may remain in the Western division of the American Hockey association. Also Duluth may not remain.

Late Saturday Stephen H. Jones, president of the curling club, talked with President C. E. Webb of the American Hockey association over the long distance telephone. It was this conversation that led Mr. Jones to state today that it was possible that if the personnel of the Houghton team was changed Duluth might remain in the league.

Nothing definite will be done in the matter until President Webb and John T. McNamara, owner of the Houghton rink and the father of hockey up there, come to Duluth and go over the entire matter with the directors of the Duluth Curling club.

The Matter of Receipts.

"There may have to be a re-adjustment in the matter of receipts before any solution of the trouble can be arrived at," said Mr. Jones today. "The curling club is out the money that was taken in for the contest of Friday evening and also lost what would have been taken in for the contest scheduled for the following evening. We may ask for some adjustment of this."

In his interview with The Herald, President Webb stated that he had ordered the members of the Portage Lake team to be at the curling rink Saturday evening, prepared to play the second game of the series. After this information was communicated to Mr. Jones; he immediately got into wire touch with Mr. Webb and informed that gentleman that the game was called off, that only members of the club with club tickets would be admitted to the rink. It was then that Mr. Webb stated that he would permit the game to go as a postponed contest. As the matter now stands Duluth has won one game from Houghton.

Webb and McNamara are expected here some time the present week. Whether the Western division of the American Hockey association is disrupted, or whether Duluth drops out, it is a matter that will be up to these gentlemen in a large measure to determine.

BRYANT AFTER HARLEY DAVIDSON

Frank Bryant has started negotiations with Harley Davidson in an effort to bring the former champion roller skater of the world here for a series of contests at the Auditorium.

Davidson is the most famous roller skater in the history of the sport. Before taking to the little wheels he was the holder of the world's championship on the ice blades at a quarter of a mile and one of the real stars when John S. Johnson, Johnny Neilson, McCullough, and the Donohues were in the game.

After winning laurels in different parts of the country on the blades Davidson entered the bicycle racing game and won the championship of Canada, making his home at Brantford, Canada, for a number of seasons. Harley defeated all of the Canadian contenders and won in addition contests on various tracks of the United States.

After the bicycle racing game died, as a result of the entry of the automobile into sport, Davidson took to the roller skating game when it was at its very height. He went to London and won the big Olympic derby, defeating the fastest roller skaters that the various countries of Europe could send to the big London contest.

Harley is just back from a tour of Australia. It is expected that the St. Paul man will consent to a race with Bryant. Such a contest would be the biggest roller skating event ever held here.

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

PRINCIPLES HELD JUST

Reply By Great Britain Practically Concedes U. S. Contentions.

Believed Further Discussion Will Solve Problem of Contraband.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Great Britain's preliminary reply to the note from the United States government requesting an improvement in the treatment of American commerce by the British fleet was made public here and in London yesterday by mutual agreement from the state department and British foreign officials.

The British communication concurs in the view of the United States that commerce between neutral nations should be interfered with only when imperatively necessary, and officials of the Washington government construed it as conceding that the principles expressed by the American note were just and upheld by the previously accepted usages of international law.

The only formal comment made last night was contained in a brief statement issued by Secretary Bryan. He said:

"This answer being preliminary and not intended as a complete reply, we will postpone comment until the full answer is received."

Briefly, the British note, while conceding the principles of the American government's contentions, points out differences in actual practice, refers to alleged fraudulent practices by shippers, and cites statistics showing an increase rather than a decrease in certain neutral commerce in support of Great Britain's suspicion that Germany and Austria have been indirectly obtaining contraband through neutral countries. The note promises that Great Britain will make redresses whenever the action of the British fleet may be unintentionally exceeding the limtis of international law.

Entirely Friendly.

While they are generally reserved in their comments, it may be stated authoritatively that high officials of the United States government regard the tone of the note as entirely friendly and believe the discussion, which will follow it, will be carried on in the same vein with a desire on the part of both countries to reach a satisfactory understanding.

The admission by Great Britain of one of the chief points in the American note—that the relations between neutrals were those of peace and not of war—was gratifying to officials. They believe the controversy will now resolve itself into a frank discussion of what are the actual necessities of the case which impel interference by a belligerent when suspecting that the ultimate destination of a neutral cargo is belligerent territory.

Statistics were brought forth in the British answer to show commerce between the United States and neutral countries contiguous to Germany and Austria had increased materially since the outbreak of the war. These were regarded here as misleading. It was pointed out that in view of the breaking down of the normal routes of commerce with Germany and Austria, many non-contraband products had been shipped through neutral countries. Similarly, the neutral countries which previously had obtained much of their supplies from belligerents were now importing from the United States.

Shipments of Copper.

As to the increase of shipments of copper to Italy, it was pointed out that the Italian ambassador here already had explained that Italy, which had previously obtained copper from Germany and Austria, for her manufactures, now was forced to import from the United States because of the embargo on importation on which the belligerents themselves had imposed. The American government contends that if some copper has reached the belligerents through neutral countries, it is the duty of the British to make more effective arrangements with those neutral countries.

The admission of Great Britain that as to foodstuffs and conditional contraband, Lord Salisbury's doctrine quoted in the American note would be followed in practice by the British, also was pleasing to American officials. Under this code, only foodstuffs destined for an enemy force will be held up.

There is every reason to believe the United States will not accept the view expressed by Great Britain that cargoes must be taken into port for extended examination. While statistics advanced show that only 45 cargoes out of 773 have actually gotten into the prize courts, officials here call attention to the fact that no mention is made in the British note of the great number of American cargoes detained and subsequently released. It was not the loss already suffered by American commerce which brought forth the American note, but the deside to prevent commerce in the future being mistreated. The United States also laid stress on the effect which the detentions already made had had on shippers, who hesitated to export cargoes on account of the hazards involved, and what was termed the indecision of the British authorities in applying their own rules.

Novel Argument.

Officials regarded as novel the argument of Great Britain that it could not give unlimited adherence to the rules with respect to conditional contraband destined for belligerent countries, because Britain's enemies had departed "from hitherto accepted rules of civilization and humanity." It was suggested that American commerce should not be forced to suffer because of circumstances over which this government or the American people could have no possible control.

As a whole, the note was regarded as satisfactory, though the state department will marshal statistics and facts to dispute some of its contentions. These will be set forth in the American note of reply, which will follow the receipt of the note that is to follow the preliminary communication.

In the meantime improvements being put into effect daily of the treatment of neutral commerce, are counted on to ameliorate the situation.

London Approves.

London, Jan. 11.—The London morning newspapers in commenting on the reply of Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, to the protest of the United States government over delays to American cargoes through their being held up for examination by British warships, confine themselves in the main to expressions of complete approval for the foreign secretary's handling of the delicate subject.

Recognizing that the reply is only a preliminary one, the newspapers refrain from any detailed argument or criticisms, but express satisfaction over the spirit of cordial frankness with which they assert Sir Edward has met the American arguments.

In its editorial comment on Great Britain's reply to the United States government's note concerning delays to American commerce through the searching of vessels by the British fleet, the Daily Mail expresses confidence that the American people will ungrudgingly recognize many merits in Sir Edward Grey's communication.

"It is prompt, candid, pertinent and conciliatory," says the Daily Mail, "and while it does not profess to be exhaustive, it brings most of the American assertions and complaints to the touchstone of fact. In tone and spirit, it conforms to that ideal friendly frankness which the United States government suggested as the right note."

Copper for Germany.

There is little doubt, says the Daily Mail, that the bulk of copper shipments to neutral countries since the war began, were destined for Germany, and there is still less doubt that copper shipments not genuinely destined for neutral countries, should be stopped.

The Daily Telegraph, in an editorial, says it is confident that the British reply will be recognized in the United States as a reasonable and straightforward handling of an unavoidable difficulty, and adds:

"Undoubtedly at the end of the war there will be a number of claims for compensation founded on alleged unwarranted interference with neutral cargoes, but there need be nothing more than that so long as the American and British governments deal with the matter in the temper which is now common to them. It is not impossible that the traders in the United States, who feel most bitterly the pressure of our contraband policy, are those who feed that business and do so at enormous profit. In their case, the only thing to be said is that one has no right to blockade runners' price if there is to be no effective blockade."

HEALTH TALKS

by William Brady, M.D.

Breaking Up the Fever

THERE are still many people, and here and there perhaps a doctor, who like to believe it is possible to break up typhoid fever or pneumonia. The notion came about in this way:

Thirty or forty years ago, before the bacteriologic test for typhoid fever was known, several kinds of disease accompanied by continued elevation of body temperature were mistaken for typhoid. For instance, malaria, tuberculosis, septicemia (unrecognized blood poisoning) and intestinal infections of various kinds were commonly called "typhoid." And as these ailments were apt to show a decline of fever and temporary improvement within a week or two, it was not strange that even the doctors imagined they had "broken up" the fever with their treatment, whatever it may have been.

At present the diagnosis of typhoid fever is made, or at least controlled, by laboratory tests of the patient's blood in the great majority of cases, even in the country. And once the typhoid infection is positively established by bacteriologic test there is no known method whereby the attack may be cut short or aborted.

The Patient Breaks It Up.

It is true that certain cases of unquestionable typhoid infection are mild, and run a course of scarcely two weeks. But these cases run their course whether or not the doctor tries to "break them up." It is perfectly reasonable to think that proper medical treatment of the patient will conserve his energy and support his resisting power, and thus tend to shorten the duration of the attack somewhat. But we may be sure the outcome depends on the patient's fighting ability—and not on the drugs prescribed by the physician.

The treatment of typhoid fever is not a question of drugs but of intelligent conservation of strength for the long fight of the patient against the germs. And that is not to say that a good nurse is more essential than a good doctor. Nurses know nothing whatever of the art of diagnosis, and are therefore incompetent to recognize possible serious complications which the doctor's skilled eye will promptly detect.

Questions and Answers.

Youngsters Should Not: I am 16. When I lie down my jaw feels big and stiff. When I shake my head something seems loose inside. I have used tobacco for about nine years.

REPLY.

You should not smoke. Or chew. Try chewing gum instead. Have the doctor fix you up a 1 per cent silver nitrate solution, and use this to swab the throat once a day. It will help to break the tobacco habit.

* * *

The Enema Habit: Why are injections more objectionable than physic? asks Grateful Reader.

REPLY.

Enemas or injections are not objectionable for occasional use. If used regularly they produce a habit which is harder to break than any pill habit. Emptying the rectum does not necessarily relieve stasis of the upper alimentary canal. Laxatives are more natural in effect than injections.

* * *

Growing Hair: 1. Has anything been discovered or invented which will make hair grow where there is no hair? 2. What is the cause of goiter, and is it more prevalent among women?

REPLY.

1. No. 2. Some goiters are simple cysts or thickening of non-glandular tissue. Some are increase of the secreting tissue—these are called "exophthalmic" goiter, meaning prominent eyeballs, and are accompanied with nervous and circulatory excitement caused by overfunction of the thyroid. Infection is now known to be a frequent cause of goiter. Goiter is rather more frequently observed in women.

* * *

Blackheads Not From Dirt: I am a young man of 16 and have blackheads on the face. Friends tell me they are caused by dirt and grease, but I try to keep clean.

REPLY.

External factors like dirt and grease have nothing whatever to do with blackheads. Letter of advice has been mailed you.

Interpreting Our Russian: Please explain what you meant by "antiluetic" treatment in your article upon locomotor ataxia.

REPLY.

Lues is a specific infectious disease which causes most cases of locomotor ataxia. Anti-luetic treatment is antidotal treatment for that infection, which your physician can give you if you need it.

Dr. Brady will answer questions pertaining to Health. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. FORMER GOVERNOR VISITS DULUTH

Eberhart and State Auditor Preus in City—Former Discusses Legislation.

Former Governor A. O. Eberhart and wife and State Auditor J. A. O. Preus and wife were in the city Saturday afternoon and evening to attend a dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Odin Halden, 705 Irving place, and the former governor and present state auditor had some interesting things to say concerning state legislation.

Mr. Eberhart declared, for one thing, that there are too many representatives in the upper house of the state legislature, making the form of government top heavy and causing too much red tape in the way of getting business done. Naturally he is strong for the efficiency and economy bill as presented by the commission which he appointed some months ago. He expects the bill to be changed to some degree if it gets through the two houses of the legislature, but hopes that it will get through in practically the form in which it is introduced.

"I consider the bill in its present form," said the former governor, "to be one of the most important ever introduced into the legislature of this state."

Mr. Eberhart would not talk about the possibility of his becoming a candidate for the United States senate. He said that he is about to take up business cares and that that will hold his attention for a long time without mixing business and politics.

Mr. Eberhart ventured the opinion that on county option and woman's suffrage there will be a pretty even division of the legislature with the chances against both. He does not believe the enemies of the primary law will accomplish much at this session.

State Auditor Preus said that there appeared to be complete co-operation between Governor Hammond and other state officers, despite the difference in politics. As to his own office he said that changes there, if any, would come slowly.

ANTI-MILITARIST WILL SPEAK HERE

George R. Kirkpatrick Will Lecture in Duluth Tuesday Night.

The people of Duluth will have another opportunity of hearing George R. Kirkpatrick, the well-known anti-militarist, who is scheduled for a lecture at the Finnish hall, 18 Lake avenue north, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Kirkpatrick was instructor in history and sociology in colleges in Kansas and Wisconsin and for the last five years has been a regular lecturer for the New York city board of education. He is the author of "War—What For?" a book that has rivaled many of the "best sellers" in point of editions printed and copies sold.

The lecture of Mr. Kirkpatrick's, "The Iron Fist," has a timely interest at this period when the revolting aspects and results of militarism are engaging the attention of the entire world.

The lecture will be held under the auspices of the city central committee of the Socialist party of Duluth.

STANDING OF DAIRYMEN

Milk Inspector Announces Records Made During the Year 1914.

Citizens May Learn If They Are Getting Pure Milk.

Urging the continuance of the quarterly scoring of milk dairies, the plan having been put into effect on Jan. 1 of last year, Gust Hedman, milk inspector, submitted the first annual report of average scores made by each dairyman during 1914, to Health Director H. E. Webster Saturday afternoon.

The report includes the average score given each dairy for its general appearance, cleanliness and upkeep, the average butter fat and the average number of bacteria in one cubic centimeter of milk. These average figures were obtained by Inspector Hedman from the four quarterly scores made during the past year.

The state laws permit a total of 500,000 bacteria in one cubic centimeter of milk and a minimum of 3.25 butter fat in 16 drops of milk. The city ordinances, however, according to Dr. Webster, set 100,000 bacteria as the maximum and 3.5 butter fat as the minimum.

"The benefit of quarterly scoring," states Inspector Hedman in his report, "is already apparent and should be continued during this year. Not only so that the public may know what the milkmen's standings are, but for the benefit of the dairymen themselves. It has a tendency to stimulate them to better results."

DULUTH TWIN PORTS ELECTRIC LINES SUPERIOR

DON'T COAST ACROSS A STREET CAR LINE EITHER ON SLEDS OR SKIS!

A STREET CAR CAN'T DODGE

We want to impress this fact upon the children of Duluth, and upon their mothers and fathers as well, at this season of the year.

With the first snowfall, coasting weather is here again, with all its pleasures, and also with its many dangers. Every year brings its toll of accidents, and sometimes fatalities, due to coasting. We want to eliminate that list this year, if it can be done, and it can be if children and their parents will give us their co-operation.

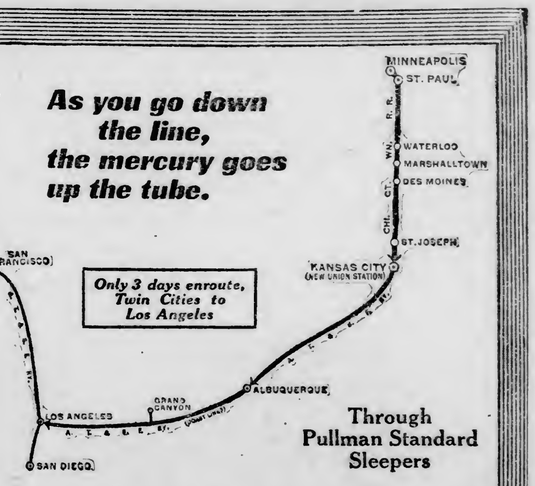

Coasting across street car tracks is inviting a fatal accident. A street car CAN'T DODGE, and when a loaded bobsled comes skimming down an avenue a motorman has little or no warning no matter how careful he may be. The sled is under the fender almost before he can think what to do. Often after a snowfall the rails are slippery, adding to the difficulties of the motorman and making it impossible to stop the car within several times its length.

There is only one rule to follow:

There are countless hills in Duluth suitable for coasting, where the street cars do not run, and where the sport may be enjoyed in safety. We ask the parents of Duluth to see that their children use these hills and only these. It may save you the horror of having a mangled little body brought home to you some afternoon or evening. It may save you from having a child who will be a helpless cripple all his life. You owe it to your child to protect him from this danger. We owe it to the people of Duluth to issue this reminder, and to instruct our motormen to exercise every possible precaution. We have done this, but there is only one sure way to prevent accident, and that is to observe this rule, which is also a police regulation:

Don't Coast Across a Street Car Line Either on Sleds or Skis.

SCOTT WILL SUPPORT JUDGE BRADY'S BILL

Hibbing Representative Favors Repealing Marriage License Recording Act.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative S. C. Scott announces he will support the bill drafted by Judge Thomas F. Brady repealing section 7098, 1913 general statutes of Minnesota, which provides a fee of 25 cents for a clerk of district court for recording a marriage.

Before Representative Scott left this morning for St. Paul to attend the session, he said:

"There is no question but that the bill should be passed. The law, in my mind, has absolutely no merit and should be repealed from the statutes."

Direct Tax on Clergymen.

Judge Brady objects against the section on the ground that it is a direct tax on clergymen. "More than 50 per cent of the marriages are performed by members of the cloth," he said. "Many of them are performed gratis. In addition to granting services, clergymen are often forced to pay 15 cents of their own money to have a marriage recorded."

The fee goes into the county treasury. Deputy clerks in branch courts are given a percentage of money taken in for licenses and recording marriages. All money first, however, is deposited by the county treasurer.

MINE EMPLOYES TO START STORE

Establishment to Be Co-operative in Leetonia Location.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Employes of the Morten and Leetonia mines in the Leetonia location will have a co-operative store. Lumber for a building has already been purchased and it is expected that the store will be open for business May 1.

Capt. J. C. Madson of the Leetonia is behind the movement and has received numerous subscriptions for stock which will be sold to persons living in the vicinity of this location and the mines. The store, however, will sell groceries and meats to anyone.

According to Capt. Madson, the store will confine itself strictly to groceries and meats. It may later, however extend its trade to dry goods and other merchandise.

INDIANS IN MOVIES.

Minnesota U Professors Get Pictures at Nett Lake Reservation.

Nett Lake, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Professors A. E. Jenks and A. N. Gilbertson spent five days here with the Indians of the Nett Lake reservation gathering material for the illustrated lectures they intend to deliver before the students of the Minnesota university. They made motion pictures of the Indian ceremonies, of their dances. The Indian habits and customs, their superstitions are quite rapidly vanishing.

Prof. Jenks was surprised by this question, put to him by an Indian: "Can thou tell us whence we came. Canst thou tell us where we are going."

MACE MINE RESUMES.

Property at Arthur Mining Company Near Stevenson Now Working.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The prediction printed recently in The Herald that the Mace mine would soon resume was borne out today, when work was started again.

The Mace was formerly operated by the Oliver Mining company and has been closed for some time. It was opened by the Arthur Mining company, which took over the property with several other Great Northern leases this winter. The mine is working at full capacity and a large force was given work this morning.

The Mace is an undergrcund property and is located near the Stevenson mine.

HARMONY TO BE SOUGHT

At National Meeting of Slovenian-Croatian Union at Red Jacket.

Calumet, Mich., Jan. 11.—An effort will be made to restore harmony among members of the National Slovenian-Croatian union and place it affairs on a sound basis at the meeting of the union, to be held at Red Jacket beginning tonight.

The sessions will continue several days. There will be fifty delegates present representing 2,000 members.

The union was organized in Calumet in 1905 and during the succeeding four or five years prospered. District orders have been formed in twenty-six cities. Discord then appeared in the ranks to such an extent that it threatened the order.

During the strike last year the organization was divided in its sympathy. The climax came a year ago when an attempt was made to take the control of the organization out of Michigan at the last convention at Ely, Minn. This effort failed.

HIBBING'S MAYOR DENIES EXPENSES

Range Communities Not More Expensive Than Rural Ones.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Expenditures made by villages on the range, despite their white way systems, modern school and civic buildings and up-to-date improvements, are less than those of cities of proportionate sizes in farm communities, according to Mayor Victor L. Power.

"If the actual expense of permanent improvements be figured for Hibbing it will fall less than that of villages of Hibbing's population in farm communities although there is a persistent and wide spread rumor that villages on the range spend money in a reckless, thoughtless and carefree manner," the mayor contended today.

Chief Expense For Roads.

"Nearly 60 per cent of the entire expenditures of Hibbing have been made for roads which subsequently have been taken up by mining companies. Nearly 100 miles of roads, costing—conservatively estimated—$2,000 a mile, since the inception of the village, have been destroyed here. This alone makes an expenditure of $200,000 which is not such a small item. Then again several years ago, after the original town was platted with improvements costing altogether $162,000, this entire addition was turned into mining property. Take the road leading into the Mahoning mine, another running into the Agnew mine, and two into the Leetonia, all of which recently were torn up.

"Realizing that the community is dependent upon the mines here, the people have always showed a willingness to comply with the desire of mining companies when they wished to extend old or strip new mines.

"I think any one will agree with me in saying the situation is unique and is not paralleled, excepting on the range, with any other in the world."

MOSQUITO BREEDING PLACES ARE REMOVED.

Nett Lake, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Supt. R. E. L. Daniel of the local Indian reservation has had a lot of Indians cutting brush about places where mosquitoes and flies breed in the village during warm weather. The sanitary conditions of the village are also being improved.

TO RUSH SEWER WORK.

Married Men Will Be Given Preference on Hibbing Job.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—As soon as the material arrives the Butler & Coons contract work will begin work on the Alice sewers.

The work, it is expected, will cost in the neighborhood of $50,000, and will be rushed at a rapid rate in order to give as many men as possible work.

Married men will be given preference in employment.

HIBBING CURLERS DINE, THEN PLAY.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The curlers enjoyed a banquet at the Presbyterian church parlors Saturday night. The supper was tendered by the vice president's rinks to the president's, who were victorious in the first event of the season, which was played for the supper. The Ladies' Aid society had charge of the banquet.

Following the dinner the curlers went to the rink, where games were played with the following scores: Blacklock, 9, E. Kleffman, 7, Thouin event; Gibson, 11, Kirby, 8, Burnham event; Flannagan, 17, Rooney, 4, Bonspiel event, and Lewis, 10, West, 4, Bonspiel event.

HIBBING SKATERS SKATE TO MUSIC.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Skating to band music furnished by the village band was a sport indulged in yesterday by hundreds of Hibbing persons who crowded the municipal skating rink from early in the afternoon until late at night.

This was the first appearance of the village band at the municipal skating rink this year.

It was planned to build the sewers later in the year but the mayor believes the work can be done cheaper now by day labor and will furnish much winter employment for men. Biwabik, Minn., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Although the hearing of W. J. Close, a well known farmer living near the Dumont Power plant at Wilpin, was scheduled before Judge Salmon here today on charges preferred by Game Warden Wood of having moose meat in his possession without the retaining tags, Close failed to show up. He claims he is already under arrest for having this meat in his possession and cannot be accused twice on the same charge. He claims that Wood exceeded his authority in visiting his place and taking the meat which had once been confiscated and replevined.

A lively fight in the courts is expected over the matter as Wood claims Close by his action is in contempt of court.

SETTLERS TAKE APPEAL

Petition Court to Order Big Ditch Board Turned Down.

An appeal has been taken to the district court from the action of the St. Louis county board Friday in refusing to take favorable action on a petition for the establishment of County Ditch No. 3, a big drainage project in the Little Fork river district. The county board turned down the petition after listening to a storm of protest from 150 settlers. The petition was signed by fifty-three settlers.

This morning E. H. Ballict filed a notice of appeal from the county board's order in the matter on the ground that the ditch, if established, would be of greater utility and benefit than it would cost to construct it. The ditch, according to the engineer's report, would cost about $197,000 and would reclaim about 150,000 acres of land now too low for successful tillage.

Settlers who appeared at a protest meeting before the board Friday last declared that the country was broken and filled with ravines and high land was of such character that it would be difficult to make an equitable assessment.

GIRL HELD UP AND PURSE TAKEN

Footpads Rob Domestic on London Road at Point of Guns.

Miss Laura Leahti, aged 21, was held up last night by two armed footpads who, at the point of revolvers, relieved her of a purse containing $4.25. The hold-up occurred on London road between Fifteenth and Seventeenth avenues east. Miss Leahti was returning to the home of her employer, M. J. O'Rourke, at 1625 South street. The girl had been visiting friends on Sixth avenue west and had walked home from that section. She was within a few blocks of her destination when the robbery took place. Neither of the footpads spoke to her, but disappeared just as soon as they had grabbed her purse.

Detectives Frank Schulte and Donald Irvine and Patrolman P. Barber were assigned to the case. Miss Leahti in her excitement was unable to furnish a very accurate description of the highwaymen. Both were tall, above average height, and both were clad in long overcoats, she said.

The robbery occurred after 11 o'clock. At that hour Mounted Policeman Harry Hood went off duty and the regular policeman, John Connor, assigned to that beat, was sick and confined to his home.

GERMAN AIRSHIPS OVER THE ENGLISH CHANNEL

London, Jan. 11.—The Times asserts that sixteen German aeroplances were seen over the English channel on Sunday morning. Evidently they contemplated a raid on England, according to The Times, but apparently the pilots turned their machines and steered in the direction of Dunkirk.

A WINTER TONIC

Why is it that some people keep well all winter while others, less exposed to cold and damp, suffer with colds, grip, pleurisy, pneumonia and all the ills of the season?

Thin blood and debility are the causes of much sickness in winter. When the blood is thin and there is oxygen starvation in the tissues of the body, poisons are retained that should be eliminated and there is a lowered resistance to disease.

Rheumatism disappears when the blood is built up and does not return if the blood is kept rich.

The after-effects of grip are never cured until the blood is built up.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enrich the blood and enable it to carry more oxygen to nourish the starved tissues in debility, to soothe the inflamed membranes in rheumatism, to quiet the nerves in neuralgia and sciatica and to expel the lingering germs after the fever and influenza of grip have passed. All winter Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be in every house, ready for use. You can get them now at the nearest drug store.

The third edition of the popular little book, "Building Up the Blood" has just been published. Write today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a free copy.

"BUNCOMBE."

It Don't Always Pay to be Skeptical.

When a newspaper writer and proofreader that works nights can feed himself out of dyspepsia, which most all that class suffer with, it is worth while to know the kind of food used.

This man says:

"Being a newspaper writer and proofreader, also a graduate in medicine as well, though not practicing, makes a combination that would produce a skeptic on the subject if anything would.

"Day after day I read the proof on the Grape-Nuts advertisements with the feeling that they were all 'buncombe.' All this time I was suffering from dyspepsia from the improper food I was eating at the restaurant.

"One day I saw a package of Grape-Nuts at the restaurant and tried some with cream. The food took my fancy at once. After a few lunches on it at midnight I noted an improvement in my feelings, and was able to work with less fatigue.

"I have used Grape-Nuts as a regular diet since then, and have improved greatly. The old dyspepsia and bad feelings that I thought were necessary adjuncts to night work disappeared, and I am able to do much more and better work with less effort than ever before.

"I was nearly ready to give up and seek health in some other walk in life but thanks to my change in diet I am now all right." "There's a Reason."

Tomorrow afternoon the principal speaker will be W. R. Mellor, secretary of the Nebraska fair and newly elected president of the American Association of Fairs and Expositions, who will speak on "The Aims and Purposes of a State Fair."

Secretary J. C. Simpson will deliver the principal address on Wednesday, his subject being "Amusements at a State Fair." The machinery, horticulture, swine, poultry and agriculture departments will be the subjects of discussion. Fred Gerber, winner of the essay contest for members of the 1914 Farm Boys' camp, will read his essay.

Thursday's meeting will be devoted to a program given under the auspices of the State Federation of County Fairs, with President W. F. Sanger of Windom in the chair. A banquet will be given to members of the society in the evening at the Minneapolis Athletic club rooms.

The annual business meeting featured by the election of a president, vice president and two members of the board, will be held Friday forenoon. Following is the detailed program of the meetings:

Tuesday, Jan. 12, 2 p. m.

Wins Prize Essay.

The state-wide essay contest conducted among 1914 members of the farm boys' camp by the Minnesota state fair was won by Fred Gerber of Donnelly, Stevens county. The subject assigned to the boys was: "What I Learned at the 1914 Minnesota State Fair."

"The Minnesota state fair," says the winner, "is the biggest advertised medium possessed by the state. Everything grown and manufactured in the state is shown at the fair, and it gives a good opportunity to persons to see what Minnesota can produce. The livestock show alone is worth the price of a trip to the fair."

Fred Gerber will not only be given another trip to the farm boys' camp at the fair, but has been invited to read his essay at the meeting of the State Agricultural society.

The next seven places in the essay contest were won by the following boys, in order: J. R. Thompson, Mahnomen; Walter Erickson, Barnum; Dean Ramaden, Stillwater; Robert Fritz, Alexandria; Colbert P. Holte, Grand Marais; Walter L. Cairns, Rice; and Charles W. Ripple, Windom.

BELIEVE SKELETON EXPLAINS MYSTERY

Bones Found in North Dakota Thought to Be Missing Man's.

Balfour, N. D., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Whether Gust Larson was murdered, committed suicide or became ill and crawled into a strawstack and died will probably never be known. Two years ago Larson left his farm house near here to come to Balfour and take an east-bound Soo train. He never reached this point and all efforts to trace him failed. His widowed mother and brothers offered rewards without result.

Skeleton in Stack.

Recently a 2-year-old strawstack on the farm of Larson's brother was burned, and in the edge of the stack was discovered a skeleton of the man, which with pieces of unburned clothing was identified as that of Larson.

Some people believe that Larson's body was concealed in the stack after he had been murdered and robbed. Others think he might have suddenly become ill and gone to the strawstack for a resting place and died there. Few hold the theory that he suicided as there was no known cause for such an act.

TAKES LIVE GOPHER IN NORTH DAKOTA.

Edgeley, N. D., Jan. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—As a striking illustration of the mildness of the winter climate in this section, Farmer Matthewson captured a live gopher, which he brought to town. He saw the rodent run along the road while he was driving in and was able to overtake it. The little animal was placed in a cage in a store window and attracts a lot of attention because of its fearlessness of the alleged terrors of the North Dakota winters. Some people regard it as a harbinger of spring.

Finds Relative Dead.

St. Cloud, Minn., Jan. 11.—Though death probably came during the night, the body of Mrs. Rena Gleberg was not discovered until late Saturday afternoon when her daughter-in-law stopped for a visit. The woman lived alone in a house in East St. Cloud. Death was due to natural cause.

Mr. Holbein will have charge of the North Dakota building at the exposition.

The state has built an attractive structure at the exposition and installed an exhibit. Mr. Holbein expects to leave for California today and take charge. Mrs. Holbein will accompany him.

Mr. Holbein for years was secretary of the North Dakota Editorial association, resigning when he announced his candidacy last spring.

DELORME WILL APPEAL.

Red Lake County Man, Defeated in Contest, Carries Case Up.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., Jan. 11.—The contest as to who was elected commissioner from the Second district will go to the supreme court as Omer Delorme against whom Judge Watts ruled in favor of Arthur Prenevost, has decided to carry the case up.

Both contestants qualified for the office, and offered their services to the board of county commissioners last week and each offered to retire if the other claimant would do the same and make no claim to the office until the case is decided by the supreme court, probably next April.

This settles the matter until the supreme court makes the final decision, and in the meantime the business of the county will be transacted by four members of the board of county commissioners instead of five.

PERMANENT MEETING PLACE IS CALUMET

Calumet, Mich., Jan. 11.—The future meetings of the Houghton County Medical society will be held in Calumet. This decision was reached at a meeting of the society held here this week.

SAYS POLLOCK ERRED.

North Dakota Attorney General Differs With Judge in Tax Case.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 11.—The attorney general's office has passed on questions which are involved in the decision by Judge Pollock in the mandamus proceedings brought to compel County Auditor Leech of Cass county to place the Union Light, Heat and Power company at Fargo on the tax roll at the assessed valuation fixed by the state tax commission.

The attorney general's office holds that Pollock was in error in declaring that portion of the statute which confers plenary powers of review over local taxing officials and boards, unconstitutional.

The opinion was contained in a letter from the attorney general's office in reply to an inquiry concerning the legality of the proposed law creating county assessors and doing away with the district assessors.

Assistant Attorney General Murphy holds that the legislature has full power to amend existing laws and that there is no provision in the constitution relating to the appointment or authority for the appointment of assessors.

AITKIN COUNTY TO BUILD NEW JAIL

WHEAT DROPS ON WAR NEWS

Market Slumps on Rumors of Allies Forcing Dardanelles.

Flaxseed Turns Easy After Showing Advances Early in Session.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 11.—Prices slumped 6@7c within a few minutes near the close on further Dardanelles news and the catchlog of stop loss orders. Final prices showed good recoveries from the low points.

May wheat closed 4¼c off and July 4⅜c off. May durum closed 3½c off and July 3½c off.

Oats closed 1¼c off at 49⅜c for on the track; rye 1c off at $1.08@1.09; barley unchanged at from 60c to 70c, and corn 1¾c off at 66⅞c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ⅜@⅝c off at 59¼c.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.26½, and calls at $1.34.

After ruling firm around the opening with quotations holding at about Saturday's level, the wheat market weakened today on the report that the allies were making progress in forcing the entrance to the Dardanelles. The American markets were generally weaker as a result of realizing sales and some disposition on the part of exporters to await developments. It was also intimated that the railroads had placed an embargo against further shipments of grain to Baltimore on account of the congestion there through the scarcity of ocean tonnage.

Apart from the Dardanelles report, the general news of the day was bullish. The American visible supply statement showed a decrease of 2,677,000 bu in the week, and primary receipts for the two days were just 1,371,000 bu, or 300,000 bu more than last year. Clearances were heavy, amounting to 1,394,-000 bu of wheat and flour. Millers were reported to be bidding freely for wheat at all the markets in competition with exporters. Receipts at Duluth were light, inspections for the day amounting to 28 cars against 46 last year. At Minneapolis they were 530 cars, compared with 475 a year ago.

Further export trade, but in lighter volume, was reported at Chicago and at the seaboard and advices from Winnipeg were to the effect that some foreign business had been worked.

Durum started in strong on good export demand. The May future opened unchanged at $1.56½, advanced 1¾c and then sold off 1¼c to the closing hour on the war news.

May wheat opened ⅛c off at $1.36¼, and eased off 1¼c on comparatively light trading.

Flaxseed About Steady.

Flaxseed was strong at the start with good inquiry from crushers while offerings were limited. Weakness developed near the close in sympathy with wheat and final prices were fractionally off.

May flax opened ⅝c up at $1.79, and closed ⅛c off at $1.78½ asked.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 1¼c off at $1.56.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Uncertainties of War Make Flightiness Characteristic of Wheat.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—Uncertainty as to the outcome of the difficulties between Turkey and Italy tended to make flightiness the characteristic today of the trade in wheat. At the outset, the general tone was bearish, but offerings were quickly absorbed by strong interests. As a result, prices took a swift upturn, but the effect failed to last, and a decided reaction ensued. After opening ⅛ to ¼c lower the market rallied to as much as 1c above Saturday night's level, and later lost nearly all the gain.

Severe censorship of cables kept dealers here much at sea until midday. Then the market dropped 5½ or more from earlier figures owing to rumors that the forts at the Dardanelles are giving way to the allies and that immense stores of Russian wheat would soon be available for Western Europe. The close was unsettled at 3c to 3½c net decline.

Corn proved weaker relatively than wheat. Consignment notices from growers were said to be fairly liberal. The opening, which was unchanged to ¼c off, was followed by a moderate upturn, with increased weakness later.

Corn tumbled with wheat and in consequence of announcement that the visible supply of corn was the largest in fifteen years. The close was nervous, 1¼c to 1⅞@1½c under Saturday night.

Oats merely reflected the course of other grain. Changes, though, were narrow.

All hands appeared to be on the selling side of the provision market. Big receipts of hogs were said to have rendered a material breakdown of prices inevitable.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Market Moves Steadily Forward and Closing Is Strong.

Increasing Breadth Shown By Speculation in the Final Hour.

New York, Jan. 11.—Early dealings in today's stock market showed the usual narrow movement in leading issues, changes from last week being merely fractional. The anthracite shares opened with advances, likewise Seaboard Air Line preferred and Colorado Fuel. Later Baltimore & Ohio and several specialties moved forward, National Lead rising 1⅝ points. United States Steel and Union Pacific were inclined to react but soon recovered. A new low price was made by Rumely common. In London, Americans were lower, with the exception of Canadian Pacific and New York Central.

Trading again drifted to the special group soon after the opening, with substantial gains in equipment and motor issues. Bethlehem Steel was the feature of the industrials, advancing two points to a new higher level, while Smelting rose in sympathy with lead. Gains of 1 to 4 points were recorded before midday in Reading, Northern Pacific, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Canadian Pacific and Delaware & Hudson, while Louisville and Nashville made further recovery. People's Gas and Consolidated Gas were higher, the success of the latter's recent bond issue being reflected in the strength of convertibles.

The bond list as a whole was firm.

The pace slackened in the early afternoon, but the trend continued upward, with eastern railroad shares in better demand. More than a score of stocks showed substantial advances over last week's close.

With little interruption today's stock market moved steadily forward. Quotations ranged from 1 to 2 points in the leaders, to considerably more in the specialties.

Speculation showed increasing breadth in the final hour and the inquiry for standard stocks became more general. Maxwell Motors first preferred and International Harvester gained five points each. The closing was strong.

NEW GOSPEL HALL IN WEST DULUTH IS DEDICATED

NEW GOSPEL HALL FOR "CHRISTIANS GATHERED IN THE NAME OF THE LORD JESUS CHRIST."

Dedication services for the Gospel hall, Fifty-sixth avenue west and Cody street, recently built by P. Edwards of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., for "Christians Gathered in the Name of the Lord Jesus Christ," were held beginning Friday night and ending last night. A number of out-of-town speakers were present to take part in the ceremony.

A. E. Bennett of this city had charge of the meetings. Among the speakers were Leonard Sheldrake of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Donald McGeachy of Sarnia, Ont., Can., and Thomas Black of Springfield, Mass. Three services were held yesterday and Saturday.

The building was recently completed. It has a full basement and a stone foundation. The building is brick and is handsomely decorated on the interior and has a seating capacity for about 250 people. There is said to be no official organization to the membership and while there are some leaders there is no pastor, each communicant taking part in the meeting.

APPEAL FROM ASSESSMENTS

West Duluth Property Owners Object to Paying for Pavements.

Four appeals from the Grand Forks avenue paving assessment and one from the Central avenue pavement have been filed with the city clerk and these will be taken up by the city commission this afternoon.

The appellants all declare that the city commission acted illegally in ordering the pavement, that there was not a sufficient number of names on the petitions, that the assessments are incorrect and that their property was not benefited in any respect by the improvements. The appeals will be referred to the city legal department.

Peter McIlree, owner of the west half of lot 6, block 6, Bryant's addition, First division; Adolf Tytz, owner of lot 1, block 6, same addition; John Bjerkness, owner of lot 2, block 6, and Knute Brevig, owner of the east half of lot 6, block 6, appeal from the assessments made on the Grand Forks avenue pavement. They have appealed to the district court through their attorney, John Jeswold, Jr.

Clarence W. Bowen is the other appellant, who objects to the assessment rolls on the Central avenue pavement. He claims that his property is at the intersection of Cody street and Central avenue and that it cannot be taxed for the improvement. O. S. Andersen is his attorney.

INJURED WHEN BUS OVERTURNED

Passenger Now Demands $1,000 Damages From the Driver.

Ostoja Tomasevich has brought action against Emil Otolich in district court for $1,000 damages which he alleges he received in an accident by the overturning of a bus which the latter was driving on Dec. 7. A jury was drawn this morning in Judge Fesler's branch of the district court to try the case.

Tomasevich claims to have been a passenger on the bus and to have paid the dependant 25 cents for a ride from West Duluth to Gary. He claims that owing to reckless driving on the part of the defendant the bus ran into a ditch and was overturned and that he was thrown out of the machine and injured.

LETTER RAPS CITY FOR WASTING MONEY

The handsome brick building erected by the water and light department on Fifty-seventh avenue near the corner of Grand avenue, a little more than a year ago, is being made the target to show how needlessly the department spends public money, in a letter being sent to the voters of West Duluth. The communication is signed by J. M. Knapp, chairman of the West Duluth Citizens' Referendum committee.

This building was erected at a cost of more than $5,000, and residents of West Duluth were informed that the building was to be used as a branch office for the department. Here, they said, bills would be collected and all business of the department pertaining to this end of the city would be taken care of. Since erected, the building has been used partly as a store room and occupied only a part of the time by two laborers of the department. The letter in part follows:

"As you know, the taxes for your district are as high as we can reasonably stand. Then why should we help to make them higher by boosting the game of professional political agitators? They want to start a 'unit' (small electric plant that will be finished, nobody knows when, and will cost nobody knows what, but that will be entirely out of our control after we once approve the thing. It's a proposition where the 'experts' make the estimates, the politicians handle the money, and we foot the bills.

"You can see any day one sample of the way these politicians are running the present city light business. They put up a small but expensive-looking building near Fifty-seventh and Grand avenues, at the same time giving the impression that it was to be a convenient place for us to pay our water and gas bills. That building has been finished for months, and what good is it doing? It's there, built and maintained at the expense of the city—at our expense—and that seems to be all it was intended for.

"The citizens' committee secured a proposition that would give a 6-cent rate to consumers and a bunch of politicians have tricked us out of getting that lower rate. Now, those same politicians are trying to play some other trick.

"Think this over: You can help get lower electric light rates now and at the same time keep your taxes down by voting, on Jan. 19, for the 6-cent rate ordinance (the one the people started when the politicians opposed it) and against the 'unit-plant' ordinance.

"Meanwhile take a look around our streets, especially Fifty-ninth avenue, and see how many places there are where $85,800 could be spent to better advantage than in experimenting on a small lighting plant."

DISPOSITION OF WAR LEADERS SEEMS TO BE TO WAIT UNTIL SPRING FOR HEAVY FIGHTING

PROBLEM OF ASSISTING SETTLERS ON CUT-OVER LANDS BEING SOLVED

Reclamation Districts Are Proposed, With Power to Issue Bonds.

Hard Fight Likely to Be Waged on Elwell Road Law.

(By a Staff Correspondent).

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Besides the campaign to induce the state to hasten the settlement of the farm lands it owns through partal clearing of cut-over tracts, there is a widespread feeling that something should be done to help those already settled on cut-over land, and those who have bought such land but have not yet settled upon it.

Representative Paul Marschalk of Warroad is working on a measure which he believes will go far to take care of the clearing problem on privately-owned land.

This is to provide by law for the creation of "reclamation districts," and to authorize these districts to issue bonds for reclamation purposes. As there is already machinery for road-building and drainage, the plan will cover land-clearing only; and this is the principal obstacle to be overcome in settling the cut-over regions.

Idea Has Spread Widely.

The idea that the state should clear a part of each tract of cut-over land before offering for sale has spread widely over the state, and it is not by any means confined to Northern Minnesota. Governor Hammond strongly urged such action in his inaugural message, and many from other parts of the state have come to see that this is simply a good business investment that will hasten the development and settlement of Northern Minnesota, increase the state's yield of agricultural

PASSENGERS HELD FOR OBSERVATION

Thirty-Six Exposed to Smallpox Are Taken to Hoffman Island.

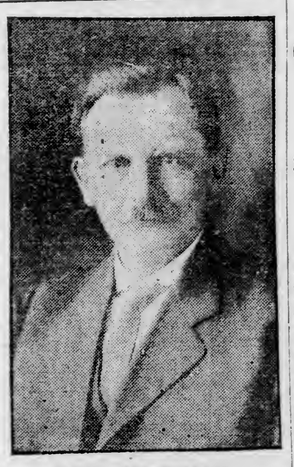

New York, Jan. 12.—Thirty-six passengers in the steerage of the steamship Buenos Aires who had been exposed to smallpox were removed from that vessel today and taken to Hoffman Island for observation.

While the vessel was bound to this port from Barcelona and Cadiz, one of the steerage passengers developed the disease in a malignant form. He died three days ago and was buried at sea.

The health authorities have been expecting the arrival here of smallpox suspects for some time. Since the beginning of the war the disease has been reported from many of the ports in maritime communication with New York.

These ports include Seville, Valencia, Havana, Liverpool, Vera Cruz, Tampico, Alexandria, Egypt, and Hongkong, China. Violent epidemics have been reported from Patras, Greece, Barcelona and Rio de Janeiro.

WOMAN SUFFRAGISTS AND ANTI-SUFFRAGISTS THRONG THE CAPITOL

House Begins Consideration of Constitutional Amendment.

Country-Wide Agitation Has Reached Climax at Washington.

Special Rule to Allow Longer Debate First Presented.

RULE IS ADOPTED.

Washington, Jan. 12.—After an hour and a half of debate the house adopted today, 209 to 31, a special rule for considering the proposed constitutional amendment for woman suffrage and then settled down to six hours' actual debate before voting on whether to submit the resolution to the states for ratification.

Washington, Jan. 12.—The country-wide agitation for woman suffrage today reached a climax in the consideration in the house of representatives of an amendment to the Federal Constitution providing for "votes for women." Under a special rule brought in by Representative Henry, chairman of the rules committee, opportunity to discuss and vote on the Mondell resolution, providing an amendment for woman suffrage, was assured.

A driving rainstorm failed to discourage a record-breaking crowd. An hour before the session opened, practically all the unreserved gallery seats for women were filled with suffragists and anti-suffragists. In the men's gallery, however, there were vacant seats aplenty.

When the women doffed their waterproof coats the purple and yellow banners and sashes of the suffragists filled the galleries with a wave of color. A whole block of reserved seats was occupied by women wearing the broad satin ribbons. Many brought their knitting and needlework and passed the time by working on garments for the war sufferers in Europe.

The gallery to the left of Speaker Clark's desk was occupied by the suffragists. On the right the anti-suffragists, each wearing a red rose, knitted and sewed as they waited. Separating the hostile camps was the men's gallery.

FIERCE FIGHT NEAR CERNAY

French Attempt to Take Heights Away From Germans.

Repulsed at Night, Return to Battle With the Dawn.

Berlin, Jan. 12, 3 p. m.—Severe fighting is in progress today for the possession of positions now in the hands of the Germans on the heights to the south of Cernay (Sennheim) Upper Alsace, according to the German official communication issued today at army headquarters. French attacks which were begun last night are reported to have been repulsed with heavy losses, but the French returned to the attack at dawn today.

In the fighting on the eastern part of the Argonne forest during the past five days, the Germans claim to have taken prisoners seven officers and 1,600 men. The repulse of French attacks in the region of Perthes and at Ailly and the capture of a French position along the ancient Roman highway, which runs through the Argonne, are the only other activities in the western arena mentioned in the report.

In Northern Poland the Germans claim that a forwerd movement of the Russians was checked. The text of the statement reads:

"In the Western theater insignificant engagements are taking place south of

ALL DANISH CAPTAINS MUST PLAY SQUARE.

Copenhagen, Jan. 12, via London.—As an additional precaution to prevent illicit trading between neutrals and belligerents through Denmark, the government has given orders that all Danish steamship captains shall hereafter carry only one set of papers. Steamship owners are called upon to see that this regulation is carried out.

This new order is due to the suspicion that captains of neutral ships sometimes carry double sets of papers in order to evade examination at the hands of British cruisers.

NOTED MEN PRISONERS OF GERMANS

VISCOUNT CRICHTON.

EARL OF STAIR.

Viscount Crichton is a prisoner in Germany. He will remain there till the close of the war. Viscount Crichton is a major in the Royal Horse Guards and an equerry of the king.

The earl of Stair is also a captive in Germany. At the beginning of the war he was Viscount Dalrymple. He inherited the title on the death of his father in December. He entered the Scots Guards in 1898 and served in South Africa from 1900 to 1902. At the beginning of the war he was sent to the front and in November he was captured by the Germans and taken to the prison camp at Crefield.

BELIEVED CRUISER KARLSRUHE SUNK

GERMAN CRUISER STRIKES A MINE

Bremen, Well-Known in American Waters, Badly Damaged.

London, Jan. 12.—The German cruiser Bremen has arrived at Wilhelmshaven badly damaged by a mine, according to a dispatch received by the Evening Star, from Petrograd.

The Bremen is a small cruiser and was built ten years ago. She is 341 feet long, 43½ feet beam and has a normal displacement of 3,250 tons. Her complement consists of 286 men.

The Bremen is armed with ten 4.1-inch guns and ten 1-pounders, and has two submerged 17.7-inch torpedo tubes.

At the time of the occupation of Vera Cruz by American marines, the Bremen was stationed in Mexican waters. She represented Germany at the Jamestown exposition in 1907, and also visited New York in 1909 at the time of the Hudson-Fulton celebration.

Naval Battle Occurred Off Grenada, British West Indies.

Bodies and Wreckage Marked "Karlsruhe" Found on Shore.

Montreal, Jan. 12.—A detailed description of a naval battle off Grenada, British West Indies, is given in a letter received today from an eye witness who asserts that in his opinion the German cruiser Karlsruhe took part and was sunk.

The letter was dated Grenada, Dec. 3, and the writer asserts that after the battle a life buoy came ashore marked "S. M. S. Karlsruhe," together with wreckage and barrels and foodstuffs. He further writes that fishermen had brought the news that they had met human bodies floating in the vicinity of the battle, numbers of candles marked "Kaiser Light," boots with feet in them, helmets and

NORWAY NEEDS ALL ITS WARSHIPS AT HOME

FRESH MEN TO BE SENT INTO FIELD

Great Britain Is Moving Thousands of Troops Into France Weekly.

Germany Making Counter-Movement and Calling All Reserves.

Events Will Transpire More Quickly With Warm Weather.

London, Jan. 12.—The great armies battling in the eastern and western arenas of the war, by artillery exchanges, sapping operations and trench attacks, continue to be aligned today much as they were on the first of January. Everywhere the disposition seems to be to await the coming of spring when, with fresh armies thrown into the field, events promise to move more quickly.

Great Britain is now sending thousands of men to France every week, and, according to today's reports from Berlin, Germany, aware of this, is making great military preparations for a counter-movement. All the reserves are being called to the colors, it is declared here, and the further statement is made that the German generals are gathering up the reins to assume active direction of all the campaigns, that it is to say, the Austro-Hungarian fight against Servia and Russia, and the Turkish campaign against Russia and Great Britain.

This briefly is the plan military observers in London say will be followed, subject, however, to any change which the entrance into the war of Roumania or Italy might necessitate.

Germany still claims that she is making slow progress toward Warsaw. There have been published in London, however, reports that these operations are merely masking movements to shield a German retreat to the Silesian frontier. British military observers do not credit this idea, believing that Gen. von Hindenburg has further offensive strength, but at the same time they

GERMANS REPUDIATE CHARGES BY FRENCH

Say Statement Recently Made Is Unbroken Series of Slanders.

Amsterdam, Jan. 12, via London.—There has been received here from Berlin an officially inspired telegram which repudiates all the accusations against the troops of Germany, made in the report of a French committee, which investigated certain alleged atrocities. This report, given out to the public Jan. 7 by the French cabinet, charged the Germans with many outrages.

The dispatch from Berlin says:

"This French statement is an unbroken series of slanders with no other intention than to create hatred against the German people."

Continuing, it complains that the French report is lacking in detail, and it declares that German military commanders always have maintained discipline among their troops and observed all the rules of warfare. In conclusion, this dispatch promises that specific charges will be investigated and the results made public.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE BILL IS INTRODUCED BY SAGENG

Reported to Have Good Chance to Pass This Session.

Bendixen Opposes Placing Embargo on the Export of Breadstuffs.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator Ole O. Sageng of Dalton introduced his woman suffrage bill in the senate this morning. It is in the form of a proposed constitutional amendment abolishing the present restriction of sex on the ballot, and allows all "persons" to vote who are otherwise qualified, thus recognizing women as persons. Representative Adolph S. Larson of Sandstone will introduce the bill in the house later this week. Both were the authors of the same bill in their respective houses

WOMEN FIGHT TO REMAIN IN U. S.

Widow and Daughter Object to Being Sent Out of Country.

San Francisco, Jan. 12.—Mrs. Rebecca Greaves, widow of the former auditor of the United States Steel Products company, and her daughter, Phyllis, instituted habeas corpus proceedings in Federal court here yesterday to prevent their deportation.

Mother and daughter have been on parole since last June when they were arrested and ordered deported, it being alleged they had misrepresented themselves to the immigration authorities.

In 1913 Greaves took his family to Valparaiso on a business trip. He died there.

When Mrs. Greaves and her daughter returned to the United States after a trip to England, they are said to have declared themselves to be American citizens. Investigation disclosed the fact that Greaves had never been naturalized.

COME ON IN, THE WATER'S FINE.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Four distinct battles which have developed in France and Alsace are being carried on vigorously, but without marked advantge for either side. Of greatest immediate consequence is the fighting near Perthes, which involves possession of important railroads and probably a considerable section of the fortified battle line. In this district the French attempted further attacks, but were beaten back with heavy losses, the German official statement today asserts.

Near Soissons in the Aisne country, the French statement says, German attempts to capture lost positions were repulsed and more trenches were seized by the allies.

In the Argonne, where fighting has been more continuous and stubborn since the early weeks of the war than almost anywhere else, the Germans are on the offensive and claim to have captured a French vantage point.

The fourth battle, in Alsace, is less active than was the case before the reinforced Germans checked the French advance. The Berlin war office asserts that a French attack south of Sennheim was defeated and that the attackers suffered severe losses.

Desultory fighting continues in Poland and the German statement tells of slow progress on the part of the army, which is attempting to advance on Warsaw from the west.

According to a Petragrad dispatch, the small German cruiser Bremen has been damaged badly by striking a mine.

Official denial is made in Petrograd of the report that Grand Duke Alexander Michaelovitch, brother-in-law of Emperor Nicholas, was killed in fighting in Persia.

In view of the predicted entrance into the war of Roumania and perhaps Italy, unusual interest attaches to dispatches indicating that disquiet in the Balkans is spreading. Italy may be called upon soon to resort to force of arms in Albania. The insurgents are said to be bringing up guns to direct against Durazzo, the port recently occupied by Italian forces. Servia's aspirations have expanded since her victory over the Austrian army, and according to a Rome dispatch she now insists that, in the event of victory for the allies, she must receive Bosnia, Herzegovina and Dalmatia. Italy has sent troops to the Italian islands in the Aegean archipelago which she is fortifying. Roumania is to begin the mobilization of her army late this month.

Although the Austro-German forces in Poland apparently have given up for the time a general offensive movement, fighting of a local character continues. Vienna reports that an attempt of the Russians to cross the lower Nida in Southern Poland was repulsed. The attack apparently means that the Russians have determined on another move on Cracow, the Galician stronghold.

Army headquarters at Petrograd states that German attacks on the Russian positions along the Vistula were beaten back. A minor victory over the Turkish forces in the Caucasus also is announced.

BOUQUET FOR COMMISSION

Mayor of St. Paul Says Duluth Council Is Being Watched.

Hicken Has Made National Reputation for Law Enforcement.

"Duluth's city commission has done the most effective work of any similar body of men in the country," declared Mayor Winn Powers of St. Paul to a Herald reporter this morning. Mayor Powers came here to study local municipal questions. He left this afternoon for Chicago and Kansas City.

"Commissioner Hicken has made a national name for himself," said Mayor Powers, "and I am very glad to find that the people are with him. It is a strenuous work to change a city's police policy and the success of this work alone stamps the Duluth commission as one of the most able in America.

"Of course, commission government is a comparatively new institution and is being watched carefully by students of municipal affairs. Your methods in laying pavements by day labor, the opening of the rock pile so that the unemployed can obtain work, and the digging of sewers in the winter time, not only because you want to aid those out of employment, but because it is better and easier to work the ground at this time than in warmer months, are all novelties in civil governments and are sure to be followed by other municipalities.

Liquor Problems.

"Another item of interest is the regulation of the liquor traffic, so that breweries and wholesale liquor houses are liable to punishment if they sell to blind-pigs. We are now considering such an ordinance in St. Paul and I shall take a copy of Duluth's ordinance along with me before returning. And I must commend your commission for its constant stand for law enforcement. I was elected on that platform and, although we have been in office but a half year, I shall do all in my power to enforce the laws of St. Paul."

Mayor Powers missed the commissioners when he called at the office of Mayor Prince this morning, but visited with several other city employes. Mayor Prince is out of the city today and as a result Mayor Powers was compelled to content himself with talking to Secretary Trux, who gave him considerable information about the city's affairs and also gave the St. Paul executive several copies of city ordinances in which the latter was interested.

Interested In Station.

The St. Paul mayor said that the people of his city are interested in the proposed Union station, which is causing considerable discussion.

"We are planning to move the river channel about 700 feet," explained Mayor Powers, "so that the station can come out into the river bed to comply with the plans. As a result there is some opposition and quite a controversy is now on. It is a real treat to get away from the office and run up to Duluth, if only to get away from the grind."

Mayor Powers also commented on the freight rates now in existence, which enable shippers in Duluth to send shipments through Duluth and into North Dakota at lower rates than by way of St. Paul. This is severely felt in that city, he said.

Mayor Powers left this afternoon for Chicago and Kansas City.

LIVE TERRAPINS ON EXHIBITION

There are two live terrapins on the desk of the Spalding today. Someone said at a recent banquet that the soup he ate or absorbed did not taste like real cream of terrapin soup. "We will show them," quoth Owner Reynolds. Today the terrapins, or two of them, are on public display. One is tied with a string around its right hind foot; the other placidly sleeps, blissfully unaware of the fact that later in the week it will become soup. Those from Missouri can be shown.

MacDonald; treasurer, Victor Svenson; executive committee, Dr. T. O. Braafladt, chairman, Alaus Johnson, John T. Shean Hanford Cox, J. E. Diesen.

For the next meeting a discussion of the new city charter was planned. This charter is in the hands of a committee who will be asked to give particulars and a good discussion is expected. After the meeting was adjourned last evening a lunch was served in honor of both old and new officers.

NOTHING TO SAY ON BRITISH REPLY

Washington, Jan. 12.—President Wilson said today he had no comment to make on the British reply to the American note inasmuch as it was only a preliminary one, but in other official quarters the view still prevails that while many concessions have been made the reply leaves much to be explained before American merchants can be apprised of what they can or cannot do with their cargoes.

Officials hope the second British note, expected in a few days, will lay down specific rules by which American exporters can be guided in the future.

President Wilson expects soon to discuss the communication at length with Secretary Bryan.

COURT OPENS WINTER TERM

Federal Judge Morris Hears Motions and Instructs Jury.

The January term of the United States district court opened this morning with Judge Page Morris of Duluth on the bench. The charging of the Federal grand jury, hearing of motions, and setting of cases occupied most of today's session. United States District Attorney Alfred Jaques is in charge of all cases for the government.

Ask $10,000 in Penalties.

One of the first matters to come before the court was a motion for continuance in the case of the United States against the Duluth & Northern Minnesota Railway company, an action to recover $10,000 in penalties for alleged violations of the nine-hour day law. Twenty violations are charged. The attorneys for the defense, Harris and Pearson, made a motion to have the case continued until after a decision had been made in an equity case of the road in Chicago, which will determine whether or not the railway comes under the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission. The defendants maintain that it is not and that the road is used almost exclusively for logging purposes, and has only about fifty miles of tracks. Some parts of the year the road is almost wholly idle, and for this reason, the attorneys declared, the railway should not be held up to the same standard regarding service that is maintained on the large railway systems. The attorneys declared that if the Illinois decision should declare the road under the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission that the company would enter a plea of guilty in the Duluth case. Under those circumstances they said it would be a waste of time to bring the case to trial at present. Counsel for the government will present arguments this afternoon, and a decision from the court is expected at once.

Court Instructs Jury.

Judge Morris gave instructions to the grand jury shortly before noon.

WHAT TO DO FOR ITCHING SKINS

Eczema, ring worm and other itching, burning skin eruptions are so easily made worse by improper treatment that one has to be very careful. There is one method, however, that you need not hesitate to use, even on a baby's tender skin—that is, the resinol treatment. Resinol is the prescription of a Baltimore doctor, put up in the form of resinol ointment and resinol soap. This proved so remarkably successful that thousands of other physicians have been prescribing it constantly for 20 years.

Resinol stops itching instantly, and almost always heals the eruption quickly and at little cost. Resinol ointment and resinol soap can be bought at any druggist's.

IN INTEREST OF JUSTICE

Traffic Commissioner Says Interstate Commission Is Absolutely Fair.

"Few realize," said G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Duluth Commercial club, today, "just what has been done for the business interests of the country by the interstate commerce commission. When one delves into it there comes a dawning of realization of what an absolutely honest body of men who know what they are doing can do for the people."

The occasion of Mr. Hall's utterance in eulogy of the interstate commerce commission was in connection with a conversation concerning the way Duluth has made advances in transportation matters. Mr. Hall, so to say, took that as his text. Continuing he said:

"You take the case of Duluth. The interstate commerce commission had absolutely no interest in this city other than that of seeing justice done. In fact were there interests other than that and influence exerted that might be effectual, it would have been adverse to this city. But we must remember the denouement. Duluth's side of the case won. Why? Simply because those men who form the commission are out for what is right and when it was presented to them that Duluth was being unjustly dealt with, they sought to set aside that wrong.

"Duluth business interests have much to be grateful to the interstate commerce commission for and should not forget the personnel of that body. Duluth is coming into its own to the envy of many another rival city, and all because of the fair treatment that the commission has given us."

William Lynch of Faribault was chosen foreman of this body, which will sift a large number of cases. The personnel of the jury follows:

6-CENT ORDINANCE CHOICE OF BETTERS

Adherents of the 6-cent ordinance in the present electric light controversy declare that there are no takers of their bets on the outcome of the election next Tuesday.

Several said this morning that they have offered to bet on the success of the 6-cent ordinance, but that there have not been any takers up to the present time. They claim they are willing to bet any amount on the defeat of the 4-cent proposition, but that the bets are not forthcoming from the other side.

"I guess the boys are waiting for the court's decision on that injunction regarding the 4-cent ordinance," said one man this morning, "before they make any bets against the 6-cent rate. But whenever they are ready, we will cover anything they put up."

Interest in the election is growing each day, and it is the topic of conversation everywhere.

This morning City Clerk Palmer began mailing out 12,000 pamphlets on the three ordinances to be voted on next Tuesday. The booklet is a 64-page affair. The mailing of this booklet to the voters is required by the charter.

HARRIMAN'S WIDOW TO DEFEND BIG SUIT.

New York, Jan. 12.—Mrs. Edward H. Harriman, widow of the railroad financier, will appear before Federal Judge Hand today as a defendant in a suit for $500,000, brought against Mr. Harriman and others several years ago, after Mr. Harriman's acquisition of the Portland, Nehala & Tillamook railroad, in the state of Oregon. This road is now known as the Pacific Railway & Navigation company.

The plaintiff, Henry Neville Walker, a lawyer, says he negotiated a deal for the sale of $2,400,000 par value of the company's bonds in London in 1905. He charges he lost not only a fortune in commissions, but a large block of stock, and his expenses through sharp practice on the part of Harriman and his assistants. After Mr. Harriman's death the courts substituted Mrs. Harriman as defendant.

LICENSES FOR ALL BUTCHERS

In his annual report submitted this morning to Health Director Webster, Leo Bernhardt, meat inspector, urges the licensing of butchers in the city of Duluth, so that those who disobey the law may be weeded out and refused permission to operate in the meat business.

During the last year the meat dealers, according to Inspector Bernhardt, have respected the law much better than they did in 1913, but he claims that many still disregard the law and are continuously caught with bad meat in their possession. These men, he claims, think nothing of paying a fine, and as a result, the violations continue. If the butchers were all licensed, a dealer who would disobey the regulations would lose his license and the right to engage in the meat business in Duluth, Inspector Bernhardt states in his report.

Health Director Webster sees considerable merit in the suggestion made by Inspector Bernhardt, although he thinks that the plan might work a hardship on the poorer butchers, who do not have the facilities with which to keep their meats, and are thus often caught with impure meats.

During 1914 Inspector Bernhardt condemned two and one-half tons less meat than in 1913. Of a total of 12,383 pounds of meat condemned, there were 1,580 pounds of fish, 2,613 pounds of poultry, 3,989 pounds of veal and 2,403 pounds of pork.

Out of 8,027 carcasses inspected during the year, 67 were condemned, according to the report. Of this number, 42 were veal and 25 poultry.

An Easy Way to End Catarrh Forever

Simple Home Treatment Destroys Germs of This Dangerous Disease.

The reason why so many people who suffer from Catarrh never seem able to get cured is that they are continually seeking the momentary relief of sprays, douching, greasy creams, ointments, etc. Such things do open up the swollen nostrils and clear the head temporarily beside stopping for a while the disgusting blowing, hawking, spitting and choking but they never cure. To drive out Catarrh for good you have got to get down to its real cause. Catarrh is a germ disease. The air is always full of catarrh germs thrown off by one person and absorbed by another and when the system does fail to throw off such germs they find permanent lodgement in the nose, throat and head and multiply rapidly.

The germs of catarrh can best be destroyed by inhaling the pure medicated air of Hyomei (pronounced Hy-o-me). This splendid and powerful combination of oil of Eucalyptus with other healing agents has a wonderful germicidal action. You breathe its air into your nose, throat and lungs by means of a small hard rubber inhaler which Boyce's drug store and other leading druggists in this vicinity supply with every complete treatment. This medicated air is certain death to the germs of Catarrh and drives them completely out of your system and when the germs are destroyed the catarrh with all its disagreeable symptoms will stop. Even two or three minutes use will give refreshing relief while if you will use it two or three times a day for a few weeks it will completely banish catarrh and every symptom of catarrh. As Hyomei is pleasant to breathe and is always sold by druggists everywhere with a positive guarantee of successful results or money back, surely no Catarrhal sufferer should go long before trying this simple home remedy.

WILL LODGE GIRL AT PRIVATE HOME

Mary Gabriel, 21 years old, a former resident of Virginia, has broken her parole for the fourth time and has been turned over to the keeping of Police Sergeant David Butchart. She was taken to the latter's residence in the emergency ambulance last night. The girl was originally allowed to come here from the range on parole and placed under the supervision of a Duluth woman, who is a well-known social worker and has taken an interest in such cases for a long time. She was assigned to the industrial home by Judge Martin H. Hughes, who ordered the woman supervisor to keep a strict watch on the girl, who had already violated her parole for the third time. Accordingly, when the girl asked permission to go to church on Sunday, she was followed. She did not go to church, but met a man on Superior street and was later discovered in a lodging house. Suffering from a slight illness, she had been a patient at St. Mary's hospital for the last few days and it was from that institution that she was removed to the jail on the advice of Judge Cant. It was deemed more fitting under the circumstances to take her to a private home.

RUNAWAY BOY IS WILLING TO RETURN.

Joseph Homericki, 14 years old, 606 East Fifteenth street, who has been missing from his home since last Friday was taken into custody by the police at noon today. It is alleged that he ran away from home as a result of a difficulty with his parents that arose over his non-promotion at the Franklin school. The boy, since he ran away from home, has been selling papers and has managed to make a living.

Today he applied to his brother, Mike, who works for a dental supply house in the Torrey building and was given a dollar from which he was to take a quarter and return the change. When arrested the boy was in a tearful state and seemed willing to go back to his home if permitted.

Cairo, via London, Jan. 12.—The United States cruiser Tennessee and the collier Jason arrived at Alexandria Sunday evening. The Tennessee, after fruitlessly waiting outside of Jaffa to embark refugees, the weather continuing exceedingly rough, was obliged to return to Alexandria for coal, causing great disappointment to the refugees, of whom 1,500 of all nationalities are waiting at Jaffa. The Tennessee leaves again today on her mission. Three trips will be necessary to bring away all the refugees.

LOCAL COLOR IN BILL.

Impromptu Entertainer at Grand Sings About Light Rates.

The lighting problem in Duluth has become so prominent that it is destined apparently to become famous. The "4-cent rate," the "6-cent rate" and the "unit plant" are now immortalized in song. "Bob" Hall, the man who makes up his songs as he sings them, just as did the old minstrel who wandered from castle to castle singing of the deeds of chivalry, last night entertained patrons of the New Grand theater by singing of the deeds of the Referendum and Municipal Ownership committees. He was loudly applauded for his cleverness and in many cases for the opinions he expressed.

This was not the only subject Mr. Hall sang about. Persons coming down the aisles during the act, were "kidded" until their ears turned red, and the latest fashions in clothes were given due attention as well as many other things. His act is unusually clever, and fits into a fine bill.

The Hong Kong mysteries is an act of Oriental beauty and mystery that would be hard to excel. The act is gorgeously staged and the performers appear with queue and native costume.

Kelly and Drake, a young man and a girl, have a good singing and dancing act, including an excellent imitation of Vernon Castle in a tango number. The young man is a first class dancer and his partner is celver and pretty and wears a number of charming gowns.

The Eldora company amuses the audience by balancing wagon wheels, tossing huge cannon balls, and other heavy articles, and introduce a clever line of comedy on the side.

The pictures must be acknowledged as being of a high standard, and were enjoyed almost as much as the vaudeville. "The Crimson Moth," a two-reel film, has a plot of great interest, and is well acted throughout. "Olive and the Burglar," "Auntie's Portrait," "The Rattlesnake," and other pictures were all interesting. "The First Law" is a feature film of pathos and heart interest.

Handed a Bouquet.

Manager Walter G. Baldwin, Jr., of the Baldwin Players at the Lyceum, received a letter yesterday which he treasures highly, and which he says he is going to frame as a souvenir. "It is so seldom we get letters of praise in this business, that I am going to keep it where I can see it," said Mr. Baldwin. The letter follows:

"Dear Mr. Baldwin.—If you will pardon a letter from a stranger, I would like to express my appreciation of the work of your company. I am an old-time dramatic critic, having worked at that profession for more than fifteen years, but of late years have taken up a business opening that looked more promising. I am in Duluth on one of my periodical trips, and Sunday night I dropped in at the Lyceum to see your performance of 'Our Wives.' I want to tell you how much I appreciated it. My work permitted me to see the best that two of the biggest cities in the country offered in the dramatic line for fifteen years, and I have never been more surprised and pleased than I was Sunday night. 'Our Wives' is an amusing little farce, light but clean and entertaining. It is not a pretentious drama, but the way your company puts it on is wonderful to me. I forgot that I had ito judge it from stock standards and the popular price viewpoint, and found myself viewing it as if it were a $2 metropolitan attraction. Your Mr. Barton is a wonderfully clever lead and light comedian, and Miss Shoemaker is one of the most intelligent and charming actresses it has been my pleasure to see, either in stock or any other branch of the profession. Duluth certainly is to be congratulated on getting the class of work you are giving them at such prices. I have seen many a manager whose conscience wouldn't trouble him to take your production of 'Our Wives' and send it out on the road at the $2 scale."

A Babyhood Start.

The Misses Lovenberg of the Six American Dancers at the Orpheum, have been before the public since they were 3 years old. At that time their parents, with their uncle, Charles Lovenberg, and grandfather, made up an entire company and the children traveled with them. One evening unknown to their mother, Stella walked upon the stage and started to sing, "Wait Till the Clouds Roll By," which sight of the little tot, barely 3 years old singing this song and carrying the oud singing this song and carrying the air capitally, delighted the audience so they broke into vociferous applause, and a short time later the author of the song sent the child a silver medal. From that time she has been constantly before the public. Addie Lovenberg, two years later, made her debut in a very amusing manner. She, too, was 3 years old at the time of her first appearance. She had begged to be allowed to "go on." "What can you do?" asked her sister, from the height of her two years seniority. "I can sing same as you," lisped the baby sister. "Humph," was the only reply the youthful aspirant got. But that night, when the stage was all set ready for the Lovenberg Family of Swiss Bell Ringers, the child hid herself under the table and when the family played Bye Bye Baby," a clear childish voice sang the melody from beneath the table. Her success then made Addie a professional too, and for the time spent at school the sisters have never separated. A few years later, when at Rocky Point, where big dancing numbers were put on with George and Josephine Cohan, Vinie Daly and the Lovenberg Sisters, these girls saw Lizzy Daly do her famous wooden shoe dance, which at that time was a novelty. The children were greatly impressed by it, and for their own amusement, began to practice wooden shoe dancing—very soon they were considered the foremost wooden shoe dancers of the country. They have been doing wooden shoe dancing ever since, except for a few years when they did an equestrienne act with several prominent circuses, for both of the girls are expert horsewomen.

Marie Dressler in Films.

Marie Dressler, who has contributed to the gaiety of the nation for many years quite as much as any other factor in the amusement world, is now creating laughter without being present. Miss Dressler is a screen star of magnitude. It is only necessary for the reader to look at a picture of Miss Dressler at the Rex to realize precisely of what magnitude.

Miss Dressler's screen debut was attended with unusual circumstances. To begin with she had played "Tillie's Punctured Romance" in the legitimate long and successfully. This comedy was available for her screen appearance. So Miss Dressler is now playing on the screen in a part she in a large measure fashioned herself.

Once it was settled that Miss Dressler was to play Tillie, the question arose of getting a suitable director, one who had a strong sense of humor and yet was an adept at producing film comedy. A number of directors were tried unsuccessfully. They were permitted to make several sample scenes. But none succeeded until Mack Sennett, who has produced many laughing hits of the screen, was asked to give a specimen of his work. He did so well that he was soon selected.

Miss Dressler was born in Canada in 1871. She has played on both the dramatic and musical stages. Her first appearance was made in 1886 as Cigarette in "Under Two Flags." She showed her versatility early, for her second engagement was as Katisha in "The Mikado."

Western Photoplay.

"The Brand of His Tribe" is being shown at the Zelda. Lieut. George Wilcox is one of the officers at a Western army post. Wolftail is chief of a tribe of nearby Indians.

In a battle, Lieut. Wilcox falls, badly wounded, before the tepee of Wauteka, Wolftail's daughter. She drags the officer inside the tepee and proceeds to ease his sufferings. In the early dawn, while the Indians are breaking camp, several squaws discover Wilcox. They notify Wolftail, and the wounded Wilcox is carried away by the Indians. He is forced to wed the chief's daughter.

Five years elapse. A rescuing party, led by Capt. Duncan, a pal of Wilcox, is formed; the Indian camp is visited and Wilcox is freed and taken back to the post with his son.

The chief, for his daughter, tries to recover the child. A battle follows in which Wilcox is killed. Before he dies he gives his son into the care of his friend, Duncan.

Twenty years later finds Wilcox, Jr., joining his foster-father at the post, after having graduated from West Point. With Wilcox comes Maj. Green and his daughter, Marie, Wilcox's fiancee. Col. Duncan, learning of the boy's love affair, considers it his duty to inform Maj. Green that Wilcox is a half-breed. Whereupon the major refuses to sanction the match. It is at this point that Lieut. Wilcox informs the two officers that if he is not good enough to marry a white woman, he is not good enough to fight for her. Tearing off his shoulder straps, the lieutenant escapes to the camp of Wolftail. Here he is recognized by his old Indian mother, after he has been wounded. Marie is taken prisoner, but she is more than satisfied when she finds Wilcox at the camp. She nurses him.

And a rescue party from the post finds the pair together. Marie refuses to give up her half-breed lover, defies her father and wins her point.

IT RUINS HAIR TO WASH IT WITH SOAP

Soap should be used very sparingly, if at all, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), is cheaper and better than soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Advertisement.

PETTY ROBBERS BUSY.

Officer J. Callahan discovered the showcase of the Columbia clothing store, 310 West Superior street, smashed in this morning and a number of children's garments taken. This makes the second showcase robbery this week, and also the second time that this same showcase has been burglarized in the last month, the last robbery having taken place on Jan. 9.

Duluth seems to be having an epidemic of these petty robberies in spite of the vigilance of the police.

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES

They Are Closely Observing Public Health Conditions.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because the kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease.

According to this it would seem that a medicine for the kidneys, possessing real healing and curative properties, would be a blessing to thousands.

Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N.Y., who prepare Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the well known kidney, liver and bladder remedy, claim that judging from evidence received from druggists everywhere, who are constantly in touch with their customers, and also indisputable proof in the form of grateful testimonial letters from thousands of reliable citizens, this preparation is remarkably successful in sickness caused by kidney and bladder troubles. Every interesting statement they receive regarding Swamp-Root is investigated and no testimonial is published unless the party who sends it is reported of good character. They have on file many sworn statements of recoveries in the most distressing cases. They state that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is mild and gentle in its action and its healing influence is soon noticed in most cases.

Swamp-Root is purely an herbal compound and Dr. Kilmer & Co., advise all readers who feel in need of such a remedy to give it a trial. It is sold at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes—50c and $1.00. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention the Duluth Daily Herald.

MEXICAN FUGITIVE REACHES WASHINGTON.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Gen. Eduardo Iturbide, former commander of the Mexican Federal district, who recently succeeded in escaping from his native land after representations by the United States government had rescued him from imprisonment at the capital, arrived in Washington yesterday. He called at the British embassy for news of his wife and children, who took refuge in the British legation at Mexico City.

Iturbide was commander of the Federal district under Provisional President Carbajal and remained in Mexico City when Carranza took charge. Later when Carranza retired at the approach of the Villa-Zapata forces, Iturbide maintained order until Zapata arrived.

Gen. Gutierrez ordered Iturbide's release, but while the officer was on his way to the border, Gen. Villa commanded his rearrest. He managed, however, to make his way across the international line.

COURT RESTRAINS THE SLAUGHTER OF CATTLE

Elgin, Ill., Jan. 12.—The slaughter of Illinois cattle because of exposure to foot and mouth disease was halted yesterday by an injunction granted by Judge C. F. Irwin in the circuit court restraining Dr. C. E. Dyson, state veterinarian, from killing cattle of a herd at the state school for girls at Geneva or any other animals of the state, merely because they have been exposed to or are afflicted with the hoof and mouth disease.

Wallace Norton, a farmer near Geneva, acting for several farmers of the Fox river valley, who maintain it is unnecessary to slaughter cattle with the disease when the herds are quarantined, got the injunction.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

GRAND JURY ENDS WORK

Makes Its Final Report and Returns Thirteen Indictments.

Also Makes Recommendation Regarding Liquor Licenses in County.

Thirteen indictments and one no true bill were returned by the January grand jury which submitted a final report of its work for the term to District Judge Bert Fesler last night. Three of the true bills were secret.

Charles R. Cherrier, Samuel Hood and Oscar Dahl were indicted for burglary in the third degree. The trio are accused of having broken into the storeroom of the Zenith Furnace company on Dec. 1. They were held to the grand jury in police court yesterday morning and indicted by that body at its afternoon session. Finger-print evidence on a beer bottle was introduced to incriminate one of the men.

Mike Misselberg was indicted for assault in the first degree. He is charged with having attempted to take the life of his former sweetheart, Sarah Berzon, by shooting her. On Nov. 10 he went to her room in a private residence, and after waking her, shot her twice with a revolver. She recovered.

First Degree Assault.

Mary Traverse is indicted for assault in the first degree. She is alleged to have attempted to take the life of Pearl Ball by shooting her with a revolver on Dec. 16.

Gust Heikkila is charged with assault in the second degree. Heikkila picked out Charles Teeri as a target for a revolver shot, it it claimed. The alleged shooting took place in the town of Culver, Nov. 21.

Gust Evangelus is to be arraigned for grand larceny in the second degree. He is accused of stealing a leather pouch containing $25 from one Axel Zorbas at 213 West First street on Nov. 21.

Jacob Maki, alias J. Murray, is indicted for grand larceny in the second degree. It is charged that on Nov. 7 he stole $40, a stick pin worth 25 cents and a necktie worth 10 cents from Fred Johnson at the Nicollet hotel.

Alfred Nelson is charged with grand larceny in the second degree. Nelson is said to have stolen $60 from S. D. Swanson on Nov. 6 last.

Emery Salyards, alias Le Roy Thomas, alias A. N. McRae, is up for forgery in the second degree. Three indictments were returned by the grand jury charging that on Nov. 7 he cashed three $85 cashier checks drawn on the Second National bank of New York at the Glass Block store, the Kelley Hardware company and the Oak Hall Clothing company. The checks were signed "Charles W. Case," later found to be a bogus signature.

Four No True Bills.

The grand jury at the January term investigated a total of twenty-eight cases, returning a total of twenty-four indictments and four no true bills.

The January grand jury also nearly broke a record when it adjourned without conducting an investigation of some kind. The inquisitorial body did, however, make some recommendations with reference to the county board's policy in handling the liquor license question.

A special report touching upon this point was submitted to the court. It was signed by Henry W. Nichols, foreman, and read as follows:

"Through the various cases which have been presented to this grand jury for consideration, it has come to the knowledge of this jury that there have been violations of the liquor laws by saloons and drinking places throughout the county where licenses have been granted by the board of county commissioners where no police protection is provided; from the investigation of these cases, we beg to recommend to the court that it is the opinion of this grand jury that there should be no promiscuous granting of licenses by the county board for the sale of intoxicating liquors, and that the present practice be discontinued."

MINISTER ENLISTS IN THE U. S. NAVY

Rev. Walter R. Burton of Fairmont, Minn., Suffers From Amnesia.

New York, Jan. 12.—Stricken with amnesia nearly a month ago at his home in Fairmont, Minn., the Rev. Walter R. Burton traveled to Kentucky in order to enlist in the navy under the name of Richard Hudd, came to New York on the Monitor Ozark, and was picked up unconscious on Fifth avenue Sunday and taken to the hospital. Yesterday he regained his personality as a minister, but could recall nothing of events since she was seized with severe pains in the head on Dec. 14 in Fairmont.

When the clergyman was taken to the hospital, he was attired in citizen's clothing, but papers in his pocket indicated that he was Richard Hudd of the receiving ship Maine. The navy yard was communicated with an a yeoman of the Maine identified him as Hudd, stating he enlisted Dec. 26 as a musician and that after his arrival here on the monitor Jan. 2, he was assigned to the Maine.

When the minister recovered his senses after two hours of unconsciousness, he was astounded to learn that he was in New York, saying that he had been pastor of the First Christian church of Fairmont for many years and had never before been east of Chicago. Until he regains his strength, the physicians will not inform him that he has been in the navy.

WHO IS OWNER OF THE PROJECTILE?

Grave Discussion of Ownership of Bullet in Wounded Soldier.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Berlin, Dec. 20.—The question, to whom does the projectile in the body of a wounded soldier belong? is discussed gravely by Court Assessor Lange in the German Juristic magazine with an article declaring the ownership of such missiles to reside in the state.

A bullet, he says, is not an ownerless object. The soldier who sends it on its way does not thus surrender his state's ownership in it. His object is merely to do as much damage as he can, and it must be assumed that he intends to reobtain possession of the missile thereafter for recasting or other possible use. If, however, it be assumed that the state originally owning the projectile gives up its ownership by firing it away, it does not even then belong to the man unlucky enough to get in its way, but to his state, under international law and the law prizes of war. "The wounded man possesses the missile only as the representative of the state of which he is a subject," writes Herr Lange.

The question of bullet ownership appears to have arisen first in a Bulgarian hospital during the Balkan wars in 1912. A quarrel arose between a wounded soldier and a surgeon, both of whom laid claim to an extracted bullet. Herr Hachenberger, a well known German jurist, considered the subject exhaustively at that time, but without coming to a definite conclusion, except in so far as to decide that the missile did not, in any case, belong to the surgeon. Professors Francke and Zittelmann, also noted German jurists, considered the subject in the following year. Both reached the conclusion that the projectile belonged to the soldier.

SAYS BUSINESS NEEDS A "DOCTOR"

Turning waste into profits, converting expenditure into income, and telling a business man things about his business that he never dreamed of, are some of the functions of a comparatively new profession, known as efficiency engineering, according to G. W. Angell of Detroit, Mich., who was formerly one of the residents of the Zenith City. Efficiency engineering should be taught in the public schools and Y. M. C. A's, just as salesmanship and other of the new branches of learning, according to Mr. Angell.

Mr. Angell, who is now staying at the Spalding hotel until he can find a permanent abode here, has decided to cast his lot once more with the citizens of the Head of the Lakes.

"Efficiency engineering," he said, "is a comparatively new profession, but one that is destined to grow. A great many lines of business can be so conducted that they will produce from 30 to 40 per cent greater profits. Many business men get into a rut or have been in one office or store so long that they can't see where improvements can be made. In many cases the profits of an establishment can be doubled by the efficiency engineer.

"I notice the Duluth schools are teaching salesmanship and other lines of commercial study. This is an excellent thing, and efficiency engineering should be added to the list. The 'business doctor' will soon be considered as essential to commercial health as the 'medical doctor' is to the health of the community."

BUSINESS CONDITIONS IMPROVING IN WEST.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Prosperity has returned to the West, according to Secretary McAdoo, who got back to Washington yesterday from a trip to the Pacific coast. Mr. McAdoo said what he had seen and what he had heard from business men from the coast all the way to Chicago convinced him that business conditions are improving and that prosperity is on its way.

SUPPORTS PRESIDENT

Congressman-Elect Schall Presents Views on Note to England.

Thinks Question Not Difficult or Even Admitting of Controversy.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—In an interview with Thomas D. Schall, congressman-elect from the new Tenth congressional district of Minnesota, relative to President Wilson's note to England, Mr. Schall said:

"Every American should support the administration in its patriotic and truly American position with reference to the unauthorized interference of Great Britain with the commerce of the United States, and every congressman irrespective of party, Republican, Progressive or Democrat, should support any repressive measure which President Wilson may suggest or propose, for we know that he will demand of congress only what is right and thoroughly in consonance with international law.

Not Difficult Question.

"The question is not a difficult one, not even admitting of constroversy, especially as concerns foodstuffs. The position taken by Lord Salisbury at the time of the Boer war was in line with that of his predecessor in the ministry and has been taken since. As the United States has never assented to the Declaration of London, the matter must be nettled by the principles of international law. I shall quote only two authorities on that point, one on an old one, the other the most recent, which very nearly if not quite brings the whole matter down to date.

"Vattels great work was published in 1758. It immediately superseded all previous authors on the subject and became a standard authority on the subject. We read in one of Macauley's essays that King George II of England spoke with the utmost contempt of one of his ministers, because 'he had never read Vattel'. Says Vattel, 'commodities, particularly useful in war, and the importation of which to an enemy is prohibited, are called contraband goods. Such are arms, ammunition, timber for shipbuilding, every kind of naval stores, horses, and even provisions in certain junctures, when we have hopes of reducing the enemy by famine' The generality of the last statement is modified by the foot-note, which shows that the author refers to exceptional cases, and that the great authority of the Pensionary, De Witt, the greatest statesman of his time, was clearly against the doctrine of provisions being made contraband.

Latest Authority.

"The latest authority published in 1906 brings the matter quite down to date. Oppenheim says, volume 2, section 394: 'There are many articles which are not by their character destined to be made use of in war, but are, nevertheless, of great value to belligerents for the continuance of the war. Such articles are conditionally contraband.' Which means that they are contraband when it is clearly apparent that they are intended to be made use of for military or naval purposes. This intention becomes apparent on considering either the destination of the vessel carrying the articles concerned or the consignee of the articles. If such destination is an enemy fleet or any enemy port exclusively or mainly used for military or naval equipment, or if the consignee is a contractor for the enemy army and navy, it may justly be presumed that the goods are intended to be made use of for military or naval purposes. What articles belong to this class cannot be decisively laid down. Neither the practice of states nor the opinion of writers agrees upon the matter, and it is in especial controverted, whether or not foodstuffs, horses and other beasts of burden, coal and other fuel, money and the like, and cotton can conditionally be declared contraband.

"That foodstuffs cannot under ordinary circumstances be declared contraband there ought to be no doubt. There are even several writers who emphatically deny that foodstuffs can ever be conditional contraband. But the majority of writers admit that foodstuffs destined for the use of the enemy army or navy may be declared contraband. This is also the practice of Great Britain, the United States of America and Japan. But France declared in 1885, during her hostilities against China, rice in general as contraband, on the ground of the importance of this article for the Chinese population. And Russia, in 1904, during the Russo-Japanese war, declared rice and provisions in general as contraband. On the protest of Great Britain and the United States of America, however, she altered her decision and declared these articles conditional contraband only.'

Thomas Jefferson's Views.

"An interesting communication is that of Thomas Jefferson, then secretary of state, to the American minister at London, dated Sept. 7, 1795, more interesting, as afterwards, during the administration of President Thomas Jefferson, the United States declared an embargo on all English importations to this country and against exportations from this country to England. And therein it is stated that reason and usage had established that when two nations go to war, those who choose to live in peace retain their natural right to pursue their agriculture, manufacture and usual vocations, to carry the produce of their industry for exchange to all nations, belligerent or neutral as usual, to go and come freely without injury or molestation; and, in short, that the war among others should be for them as if it did not exist. Two restrictions on this natural right had been submitted to by nations at peace, namely that of not furnishing to either party implements merely of war for the annoyance of the other, nor anything whatever to a place blockaded by the enemy. What those implements of war are had been so often agreed, and was so well understood as to leave little question about them at that day. Almost every nation had made a particular enumeration of them in its treaties under the name of contraband. Corn, flour and meal had never been included in their enumeration, and consequently remained articles of free commerce. Accretion like that of the soil gave employment to such a proportion of mankind could never be suspended for them whenever any two nations should think proper to go to war. That state of war then existing furnished no legitimate right to either of those belligerent powers to interrupt the agriculture of the United States or to the peaceable exchange of their products with all other nations. If any nation whatever had the right to shut against their products all the ports of the earth except her own, and those of her friends, she might shut these also, and thus prevent altogether the exportation of that produce. Am. State Papers, Vol. 1, F. 392.

The Remedy.

"As to the remedy for this, the United States should demand a speedy settlement of the question. Above all, no unreasonable delay by way of negotiations should be allowed. We can never retract the position we have taken, and our farmers, merchants, manufacturers and shippers should be afforded a speedy and effectual relief. In case we fail in this, what is our remedy? Not war, except as a last resort, and only after a succession of repealed and defiant infringements of international law, on the part of Great Britain.

"If Great Britain does not accede to our demands, we should do what Thomas Jefferson did about 1808, as I remember, resort to a strict embargo; prohibit all exports from this country to Great Britain ,and prevent all importations of British merchandise or products to this country. This would be costly to ourselves, but much less costly than war and quite as effectual, as Great Britain relies on us for her foodstuffs, not being herself a self-sustaining nation."

WHAT IS BRITISH NAVY DOING NOW?

Officer Says They Are Content to Watch and Wait.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Jan. 1.—The query so often asked in the papers: "What is the navy doing?" is beginning to make the navy people angry. One officer has answered in the following manner:

"It is aggravating to hear the unthinking person imply that we are doing nothing. Herr Ballin, manager of the Hamburg-Amerika line, says we are lurking in our harbors. Let me say that from the first of August to the middle of November my ship has sailed 17,000 miles, and we have never been very far from the grand fleet. We are playing our own game, not the Germans'. The unthinking ask why we do not go in and attack Kiel, Wilhelmshaven, Cuxhaven and Heligoland. Not much. We have our own plans, and the Germans are certainly not going to lure our splendid fleet into their mine-infested areas and under their fortresses, with the added danger of submarines.

"We are not out to fight fortresses. We are after their ships. Guns are put into ships so that they can be moved about, and the Germans are not increasing their efficiency by remaining under the protection of their forts. We are adding to our efficiency every day, taking every opportunity for the practice of gunnery, the use of torpedoes, and also battle tactics practicing under every condition of weather. As things stand, the seas are clear for British trade. Let those who say we are doing nothing imagine what would happen if we were really doing nothing. What would become of our islands in that event?

"Our time will come to get into the limelight. Meantime, we are content to watch and wait."

COURT REFUSES TO CANCEL NILES LEASE

By a decision rendered late today by Federal Judge Wilbur F. Booth in Minneapolis in the equity case brought by the Niles Land company against the Chemung Mining company and the Oliver Mining company, the court refused to cancel the lease granted by the plaintiff company. The case was argued some time ago, and the decision has been looked forward to by the parties involved, with considerable interest.

The action was brought by the plaintiff to enforce the surrender by the Chemung company of a certain lease or license made by the plaintiff and defendant May 1, 1902, and covering certain lands owned by the plaintiff; second, to enforce the surrender by each of the defendants for cancellation, any sublease, assignment or instrument of transfer by the defendant Oliver company, covering the contract; third to have decreed null and void any and all rights created by the said instruments or any of them in favor of the defendants, and to remove any alleged cloud upon the plaintiff's title arising from said instruments and to quiet title in the premises in plaintiff; fourth, to enjoin the defendants from interfering with explorations for iron ore or mining and removing ore by plaintiff from the premises; fifth, in event that such relief should be denied, then to have it decreed that any rights created by the contract are not exclusive in defendants, but are coordinate, and so co-extensive with equal rights in plaintiff.

Judge Booth decides that there should be a decree dismissing the bill of complaint with costs and disbursements to the defendants.

The reason in brief for bringing the action was that the defendant companies were alleged to have refused to mine the property under lease. The plaintiff company, which is the fee owner, asked that the lease be cancelled and the property turned back to it for mining purposes or to be released.

The land in question is very valuable for ore property.

The court holds that the contract is a valid one and not merely a license; that the defendant companies have exclusive possession; that there is no compulsion as to when the property shall be operated as long as the minimum royalty is paid; and that since the minimum royalties have been accepted for ten years that constitutes an acceptance of this construction by the plaintiff.

WINTER SEWER WORK PROVES SUCCESS

Members of the city commission are exceedingly well pleased with the work being done on the sewer jobs at Gary.

Following their return from an inspection trip to Gary this morning, the commissioners all expressed themselves as pleased with the plan of constructing that sewer in the winter time. Because of the hardness of the ground, the men are much better able to work. Some of the trenches are from fifteen to thirty feet deep.

The trip to Gary was made by all of commissioners, with the exception of Mayor Prince, who is out of the city today.

GARIBALDI'S BODY ARRIVES AT ROME

Rome, Jan. 12.—A great crowd assembled in a severe storm here today to meet the body of Constantino Garibaldi, grandson of the famous Italian soldier, who was killed while serving in the French army. In the crowd were veterans of the Garibaldian campaigns, wearing their red shirts, and representatives of various political parties.

The arrival of the body was made the occasion of a patriotic demonstration of remarkable fervor, in which the whole city participated. Flags everywhere were at half mast. The emotions of the crowd were most tense when Gen. Ricciotti Garibaldi, the father, his wife and children, including the sons who a few days ago brought back from France the body of Bruno Garibaldi, threw themselves weeping on the coffin. Italian and French flags were then wrapped around the bier.

The French ambassador, Camille Barrere, was present in his official capacity and the French army was represented by two colonels sent by the minister of war.

MONEY FROM RELIEF FUND JUST A LOAN

Firemen's Association Will Be Reimbursed By City Out of Taxes.

There has been some curiosity expressed as to why the city is getting the $5,375 to be realized through a levy on the taxpayers for the firemen's relief fund, for the purpose of purchasing more fire equipment, the money being applied in part payment of the recently purchased aerial truck. There has been some misconception of the matter. The city has no legal right to divert the levy for any other purpose. It turns out to be merely a loan from the firemen's relief fund, or, in other words, an advance, the fund to be reimbursed in the usual three payments from the county as the tax is collected.

This is the first year that the tax permitted by the statutes for the fund has been levied. It has been permissible for some time, but the city has never included it in the annual levy on property of the city. As the fund is considered a deserving one, through which firemen may be pensioned when they become incapacitated or retire because of age, it was decided to levy the tax so that the fund might be adequately increased, but a bargain was made between the city commissioners and the trustees of the fund that the money should be turned over to the city for more equipment the first year. On top of that bargain it was agreed that the trustees of the fund would advance the money as already described.

The funds realized from the tax, however, will not be used for further equipment hereafter, but will be applied to the fund itself.

"The first of last December I decided to try Peruna. My appetite improved, and very soon solid foods could be taken. In two months time I gained 18 pounds. Now I am heavier than I ever was before. When I began to use Peruna my bowels commenced to move at once."

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna in Tablet form.

The club will lead a fight against the plan, insisting that the forestry school is just attaining a position where it is of value to the state at large. An active Bottineau lobby will be sent to Bismarck.

DRASTIC SIGN LAW PASSED

Temporary Cloth, Wooden or Tin Signs Forbidden By Ordinance.

Circuses, Lodges and Many Merchants Will Be Affected.

Circuses, carnivals, shows, expositions, societies, corporations or business houses can no longer place temporary signs on store fronts, on sides of buildings or across the streets in the city of Duluth.

Yesterday afternoon the commissioners passed the sign ordinance introduced recently by Commissioner Murchison and after thirty days it will become law. A violation of the ordinance will mean a fine of $25 or twenty-five days in the county jail for each day such a sign is permitted to hang.

The ordinance, as prepared by Max Oreckovsky, specifically forbids the hanging of temporary signs of cloth, tin or wood anywhere in the city.

Although the ordinance was introduced at the request of business men, who claimed that the cloth signs in front of stores suggest unstable business conditions, it affects any organization that might use signs. The large streamers hung across the streets by societies or fraternal bodies are also barred.

The appeals from the paving assessments made by Clarence Bowen, Peter Myhre, Adolf Tytz, Jun Bjerkness and Knute Brevor were referred to City Attorney Clapp and City Commissioner Voss.

The ordinance introduced by Commissioner Merritt appropriating $267 for the purchase of creosote and tamarack timbers was given its first reading.

Commissioner Murchison's ordinance appropriating $450 for the construction of a cutoff sewer between Gladstone street and Forty-eighth avenue east was given its second reading.

The resolution introduced by Commissioner Merritt awarding the contract for gas and water main extensions to the Nordquist & Berg company was put over until next week.

All the bills of the various departments and the monthly payrolls were ordered paid in a resolution introduced by Commissioner Voss.

Owners of the property in block 59, Sixth division, West Duluth, were authorized to grade the alley.

John Kernes, 531 West Michigan street; Jerry Cavarini, 248 Lake avenue south, and Charles Campbell, 201 West Michigan street, have asked for the renewal of their saloon licenses. Their requests were referred to Commissioner Hicken and action deferred for two weeks.

But four days of the $24.50 choice of the house sale, at the Friedman Shop.

COUNCIL DECIDES TO DEFER ACTION

Contracts Will Be Let Later for Sewer Material.

Contracts for the furnishing of sewer material for the Gary and New Duluth jobs and for workmen's compensation insurance were laid over until the meeting of the city commission next Monday.

The bids submitted by local insurance companies to the city commission, which plans to insure the workmen in the Gary sewer job because of the risks involved in the deep trenching, are considered too high by the commissioners. The total liability insurance will amount to $1,500 and as this must be placed on the total cost of the improvement, the property owners will have to pay for it in the end.

At the meeting yesterday afternoon the commissioners decided to look into the matter further before contracting for the insurance and in addition to first inspect the sewer job before contracting for sewer pipes. The Duluth Builders' Supply company has made the lowest bid of $4,609.03 for pipes f. o. b. Gary.

"BUT THE LITTLE OLD HEN JUST RAMBLES RIGHT ALONG"

Biddy's Press Agent Says She Is Worth Two Steel Plants to Minnesota Every Year.

That genial press agent of the hen, Prof. N. E. Chapman, University farm, St. Paul, dropped into The Herald office today with the encouraging report that the hens of Minnesota had so conducted themselves during the last year that they, and the eggs produced in 1914 were worth enough to build two steel plants such as Duluth boasts of and also that the hens of the United States produced enough to build three Panama canals. "And they aren't crowing about it either," says the gallinaceous propagandist.

In the language of Prof. Chapman, "the hens have the steel industry lashed to the mast." The hen is the star of hope for the Minnesota farmer.

Some interesting figures are brought out by Prof. Chapman in his report for 1914.

Egg Product of the Farm.

In computing the number of eggs produced on farms, it was estimated that the ordinary flock averaged seventy-two eggs per hen annually. This is somewhat below the common estimate, and is believed to be conservative. At these figures it would require five hens to product one case of eggs, or a total of 3,365,000 cases produced on Minnesota farms.

Returns to Farmers.

The average price paid to farmers for the year 1914 will be about 19 cents per dozen, or $5.70 per case; which will bring the value of eggs on the farm to $19,180,500.

The value of eggs produced in the towns and villages of Minnesota computed on returns of a poultry census taken by the instructors of agriculture in the high schools of the state. It was found that 40 per cent of the families of the towns kept a flock of twenty and reared thirty-six fowls each year. This gives 90,000 families keeping chickens. From reliable accounts kept, it was found that, in town, four hens produced a case of eggs, which would give five cases per flock, or an aggregate of 450,000 cases, valued at $7.50 at retail, or having a total valuation of $3,375,000. This amount, added to that produced on farms, gives a total of $22,555,000 as the value of Minnesota eggs in 1914.

Chickens Reared.

It was found by the census that the number of chickens reared each year exceeded the number wintered by about 10 per cent; which would give a total production, on the farms, of 18,518,500 head. At an average price of 55 cents per head their value would be $10,185,175.

The census of towns gives 3,340,000 reared annually; and at 65 cents each, retail, the value would be $2,171,000. This, added to the value produced on farms, gives $12,356,175 as the total valuation for chickens in the state.

Turkey Production.

The poultry census gave the number of farmers keeping turkeys, the number of turkeys wintered as breeding stock, and the average number reared. A careful computation based on these figures gives a total of 1,118,734 head of turkeys produced in 1914. At an average price of $1.90 per bird the total value is $2,125,624. It was interesting to note that the southern part of the state keeps fewer turkeys than in 1900, due to the prevalence of blackhead, which depletes the flocks. The west central and northern sections have become noted for the large numbers of turkeys produced.

WEST END

PLAN TO SECURE NEW LIBRARY SITE

West End Branch Has Remarkable Growth During the Year.

Plans are being made for securing a site for the West End public library by the public welfare department, according to Mayor W. I. Prince. The rapid growth of the branch in this end of the city has made it necessary for the department to look around for a possible site on which a building that will be adequate for the needs of the institution may be built.

The circulation of the West end branch of the library has increased nearly 100 per cent since it was moved from the Mohaupt building on Superior street to its present location at 20 North Twentieth avenue. The shift from the second floor to a ground floor is believed to be largely responsible for the growth.

During the last year a large number of books in the Scandinavian language have been added. This has made the library far more popular with many of the Swedish and Norwegian people, who found it difficult to read the English books, but who enjoyed books written in their own language.

"We propose to look for a site that can be purchased at a resonable cost, located somewhere near the center of the district," said Mayor W. I. Prince yesterday. "We do not want a location on the street car line, but will try to get one on First or Second street somewhere between Nineteenth and Twenty-third avenues. After getting the site we will make overtures to our friend, Andrew Carnegie, for the funds to erect the building.

"Recent reports from the West end branch of the library show that it has gained a larger circulation than the institution at West Duluth. In making our plans for a building for this district we will arrange for a larger building than the one in West Duluth."

Woman's Realm

"There is no reason why it can't be done," said the young woman in the corduroy skating skirt.

"There is not," assented the young man who looked like a clothing store advertisement—thin-legged and supercilious.

"They say it is popular in the East," said the young woman.

"Let's try it down here in the corner," suggested the man.

"The hesitation should be the easiest," said the young woman.

"By all means," said the man. "We can't try the maxixe or the one step because I haven't my list."

"Your list?"

"Yes; I have a list of steps on a little card, and I pin them on the shoulder of my partner where I can see them. It's so hard to remember them all."

The young woman gazed at him pityingly.

"Nobody home but your hair, and it's parted already," she said. "Haven't you got beyond the counting stage yet? It's the spirit of the dance you should get, and then you'll forget the figures and just dance."

"My skates are flat-bottomed. I'll have to get the rounded kind if I am going to pull this Vernon Castle stuff for the benefit of the natives."

"Hesitate and waltz. Hesitate and waltz. Hesitate and waltz," droned the young woman as they tried the familiar steps on the unfamiliar blades.

"You're no Vernon Castle, are you?" said the young woman, as they stopped, hopelessly out of step.

"Well, how can a man pivot on a blade like that?" complained the youth. "It's no longer than your foot. Of course, if you dance on your heels, it's different."

"I don't see any medals pinned to you," said the youth rather warmly.

"My dancing is not under discussion. It's yours we are talking about. Let's try the double hesitation this time. It's easier."

The youth picked himself out of the corner, brushed the snow off his trousers, adjusted his hat, and glared at the youngster, who with stockings rolled down over his shoe tops had skated by shouting "Going down" as the youth fell.

"You let go just in time," said the young woman. "Of course, if you can't skate, I don't mind, but you should tell me before we start, and then I can protect myself."

"The next time you want to rehearse an act to make your friends envious, hire a librettist to write it for you first. I'm no sparring partner or trainer for a wrestling match. You threw—tripped me and threw me deliberately."

"Charlie, you smoke too many cigarets. They're making you fretful. They're no good for children. You'll see me here some night with a regular man. I'll be doing the horizontal whirl, where I grab him around the neck and he swings me around. I've always wanted to do it at an assembly party."

"Pull it some band night when there are about three thousand skaters here, and see what you can start. You ought to be able to get somebody's eye, or perhaps his nose and a bit of his ear, if your skates are sharp."

"You're jealous, Charlie. Come on and skate with me, and I'll help you around the rink two or three times if you try hard to stand up. That's right, lean on me."

Dancing on skates has not yet become popular in Duluth. "They say" it is "popular in the East."

SOCIAL MEETING.

Members of Twentieth Century Club Hear Addresses.

It has been the custom for several years for Scandinavian members of the Twentieth Century club to be in charge of one of the social meetings of the club. This meeting was held yesterday afternoon in the library clubroom with Mrs. H. P. Bjorge as chairman, the other members of the committee being Mrs. Odin Haiden, Mrs. J. J. Moe, Mrs. I. N. Sodahl and Mrs. William Carlson.

Mrs. Moe gave a talk on the founding of the Red Cross society, touching upon the war between Italy and Austria during which in 1859 the large number of dead and wounded on the battlefield of Solferino, in Northern Italy, for whom there were far from adequate provisions, so impressed Henry Dunant, a Swiss, that he set about organizing the Red Cross society. Mrs. Moe told of the founding of the society in 1864 at a convention held in Geneva, Switzerland, and explained how the badge, a red cross on a white ground, was taken from the white cross of Switzerland on a red ground. She gave an account of the work done for universal peace by prominent members of the Red Cross society during the fifty years of its existence.

Mrs. Moe also spoke of the work of Baroness Bertha von Suttner in behalf of world peace.

Coffee, tea and Scandinavian confections were served from a table decorated with narcissus and red carnations. Carrying out the Scandinavian idea were the coffee and tea services of copper.

FLONZALEY QUARTET
MATINEE MUSICALE

Membership tickets, $3.00 to $5.00, include six fortnightly concerts—Schubert Club, Thomas Whitney Surette and Ossip Gabrilowitsch. Single admission to gentlemen and non-residents, $1.00.

HELEN KELLER "HEARD" THE FLONZALEY QUARTET

The Flonzaley string quartet, that will give a concert at the First Methodist church Thursday evening, had the interesting experience of playing privately for Miss Helen Keller, while in Detroit recently.

The Flonzaleys were scheduled to give a public performance and they played for Miss Keller during their rehearsal period. It was most interesting, say the members, to note the effect of their playing on their unique audience. The first number selected was a Beethoven adagio. No sound had the playing begun, than Miss Keller's face became fairly illuminated. She "listened" attentively, though whether the sensations she experienced were physical or mental was difficult to determine. One thing that was especially noticeable was that the low notes afforded greater pleasure than the high ones. Moreover, she was quite able to distinguish the different instruments and the changes in the character of the compositions.

"The music was like the trembling of wings," was the way Miss Keller expressed it. At times her emotions fairly overcame her. The experiment was tried of having her place a hand on the body of each instrument while a violin and 'cello duo was played, and the vibrations so received seemed to add to her enjoyment. There were certain tones she was unable to catch, and this fact was revealed to the players by a change in her facial expression.

Only two other persons besides Miss Keller were present at the rehearsal, one of the objects of which was to test a new device by the use of which her power of sensing sound might be improved.

VISITING HOUSEWIFE OR LUNCHES IN THE SCHOOLS?

Problem Which Has Been Puzzling Duluth Woman's Council Is Being Worked Out In Chicago.

The Woman's council is considering several problems for the benefit of the children of Duluth. Many children have inadequate breakfasts, or breakfasts in which food values play no part, due either to poverty or to the ignorance of the mothers. The council is considering which would be of greater good, a visiting housewife who would teach mothers what to cook and how to cook it, or to serve lunches at the schools for under-nourished children. By some the school lunches are regarded as "first aid to the injured," to be carried on until the mothers learn to give their children nourishing food.

Both problems have been solved jointly at the Mary Crane nursery in Chicago, where small children are cared for while their mothers are at work and where older children, most of them sisters and brothers of the younger children, come for their midday meal and to play after school is over.

A lunch is served at 10:30 o'clock and at noon there is a meal of soup, meat, bread and a dessert. Care is given to table manners and instructions are given in setting a table and serving. The children are very proud when they are graduated from passing bread to passing soup.

Have Dispensary.

When children are found backward or in poor health they are sent to the dispensary that the cause may be found and the remedy prescribed.

Realizing home environment and trained home-makers are necessary for the rearing of healthy and happy children, the mothers are encouraged to open their hearts to the superintendents of the nursery when they call for their children in the evening. They are told of the physical defects and peculiarities of their children they would not have the time, and perhaps not the ability, to discover unaided; are told the proper food for them, the way to economize by reducing the quantity instead of the quality of food supplies, and the hygienic conditions necessary for good health.

But the practical instruction goes even beyond this, for marketing and cooking are also taught and each woman is given a chance to show the others how to prepare some practical dish economically. There are also instructions in sewing and many of the women use their few spare moments making new clothes and repairing old ones for themselves and their children.

Tubs and wringers are provided at the nursery so that mothers can do the family washing on certain days. While they are learning household science they are paid $1 a day and car fare.

The recreative side is not neglected, for the mothers often gather around the piano and sing, as many as six languages sometimes blending.

From 200 to 400 children go to the nursery each day for the entire day, or for the noon mean and play hours. Almost an equal number of mothers visit the nursery each day, for 600,000 persons live within a two-mile radius of it.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Guard Your Temper Carefully.

It is undisputed that every child is better off for a little moral suasion of some kind or other on occasions, and in no case does this hold more true than in that of some tiny motherless creature who has been humored out of all reason since the sad fatality of a mother's death. An overwrought father and numerous relatives have unwittingly conspired to spoil more than one little tot. Especially is this true of grandparents.

A child may have a stepmother, who is a mother in name only, and for that reason has none of that understanding of childhood which we believe comes with real motherhood and it may be that she begrudged the boy the affection his father lavished upon him.

We would be greatly impressed by such a stepmother's unwomanliness if she thrashed the child with a stick or strap, but not more so than we would be by the unmanliness of the father who not only does not hesitate to beat his wife, but does so in the presence of the child he objects so strenuously to having whipped.

For a child to witness a fistic encounter between the parents is quite enough to destroy any disciplinary power they may wield and also the respect that a child commonly feels for its parents. The parents should take pains to cultivate the latter if they would enjoy any comfort with their children after they reach years of perception, which comes earlier than most parents think.

Blows delivered in the heat of passion are among the things that a child soonest learns to resent and comment upon in his own mind. A woman who brought up a family of six children told me she made it an iron-clad rule never to lay hands upon any of her children while angry, and after her anger had cooled a bit she had no desire to do so.

It is said that there are children who absolutely need a whipping now and then. If that is true then those children should be deliberately spanked and have it duly impressed upon them that they are being punished in that fashion because there seems to be no other way of reaching their cases and not because the parents enjoy chastising them. Before chastising a child in any way make sure that he is the guilty one, for some of the things we longest remember in anything but a pleasant spirit are the things we were punished for and did not do.

DR. BARKER TO SPEAK HERE

Taft's Former Physical Adviser Will Conduct "Health Week."

Will Tell Duluthians How to Live 100 Years.

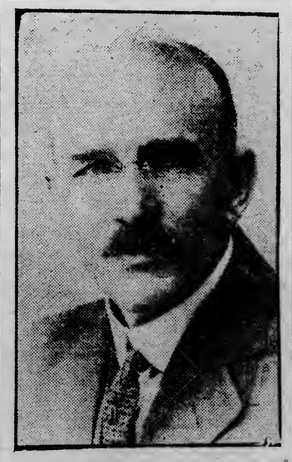

Dr. Charles E. Barker, Washington, D. C., who was physical adviser for William E. Taft while he occupied the White House, will conduct a health week here from Jan. 17 to Jan. 22 under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian association. His topics will be along the line of the science and art of living, and his addresses will be arranged for men, women and children. Dr. Barker was in Duluth for about a week last April and is well known here.

Dr. Barker has become widely known for his famous formula, "How to live to be a hundred years old," and his rules for securing health and happiness.

Given Flattering Offers.

During the whole time that Mr. Taft was president, Dr. Barker was his physical advisor, directed his diet and daily put him through a systematic course of physical training. Later, Mr. Vanderlip, president of the leading bank of New York city, Mr. Davison of the J. P. Morgan company and other wealthy men offered great inducements to Dr. Barker to locate in New York and take care of them, but he had developed such power as a speaker and lecturer on "Health," "Physical Efficiency," "Sex Hygiene" and kindred subjects that the international committee of the Y. M. C. A. persuaded him to give two years to lecture work in the larger cities of the country before locating in New York.

He was in Duluth last April and made such a hit with his audiences and was so pleased with the city that he has consented to a return engagement. Many Duluthians are enjoying vastly improved health as a result of his former visit.

SLAYER OF THREE GETS LIFE SENTENCE.

Buffalo, Minn., Jan. 12.—John Zorb plended guilty here to the murder of his wife and two little step-daughters, and was sentenced to a life term at Stillwater.

Zorb's crime was an atrocious one. He was ugly, especially when he had been drinking. After a quarrel with his wife at the barn, he followed her to the house, where she braced herself against the dining room door to keep him out. He held the muzzle of a shotgun close to the door and shot her in the back, then shot her two daughters by a former marriage.

ROUMANIA AND ITALY.

Associated Press reports from Europe say flatly that the entrance of Roumania and Italy into the war seems now to be only a question of time. If these nations become involved, it is inconceivable that Bulgaria and the other Balkan states should stay out, and it would be easy to imagine Greece taking part as well.

What, then, is to be the limit of this fearful struggle? Are the Scandinavian countries, Spain and little Holland to be the only ones in Europe not drawn into the maelstrom? It begins to look as if that is a possibility.

That Italy should enter at this late date would be especially to be regretted. Having passed safely through the first stress and excitement, it would seem the more deplorable that she should ignore the horrors already enacted on the European field, and plunge in to share in the suffering and losses. Would such action have been possible if the late Marquis San Giuliano had lived? In his capacity as foreign minister he was recognized through all Europe as an agent for peace, but it was generally believed that his influence had carried his country safely over the real crisis.

If Italy enters the war now, what will be the real cause? Probably no person not in her inner councils knows, or ever will know. The diplomacy of European nations is shrouded in mystery and secrecy, and the world is never in position to know accurately what forces are at work beneath the surface. There is only one ray of hope in the fact that Italy may enter the war, and that is that she believes she sees the end approaching, and expects that by joining in the struggle even at such a late date, she may be able to get substantial gains for herself when peace finally is made.

How can those Balkan states stay quiet so long when they've so good a chance to kick the Turk?

HOW ABOUT THE WOMEN?

Much has been said since the cold weather set in about employment for men. Less—much less, indeed—has been said about employment for women, and yet it would seem that the problem for that sex is even greater than for the other.

The matter has been brought to an issue for the Duluth Humane society by some applications that have come before that organization for relief. In one of these a woman, who apparently had no reason to expect discharge, was told during the holiday season that her services would no longer be needed. With one child and no income but what she could earn, this woman was left in a serious position. But what could she do?

Then there are instances in which the society has been told that girls are being overworked by employers, cases in which complaint would mean discharge, but where the burden, either in hours of labor or long continued strain, threatens to break down the employe's health. What can be done in such a case?

Of course there is the always-ready solution, "Let them take up housework—there is always a place for that, and the pay is good." But not every woman is fitted for such work, any more than every man is fitted for any particular employment, and in the case of a woman left with a child, it is hard for her to get such a place.

It is a knotty problem, and one that concerns the general welfare of society even more than does that of the unemployed man. The person or the organization that finds a solution of it will be entitled to the thanks of every community in the country.

The Bull Moosers have always obeyed unquestioningly the advice of THE Colonel. Are they doing the same thing in drifting back into the special privilege ring?

"NOT ALTOGETHER SATISFACTORY."

Reports from Washington say that England's preliminary reply to the American note of protest against the actions of British ships is "not altogether satisfactory." One wonders whether anybody expected that it would be altogether satisfactory.

England is in a desperate war. She is fighting, not as she has fought hitherto, for material gain or even to keep some colony or other interest. This time she is fighting for her very existence as a world power.

In view of this, it is not to be expected that England will overlook any advantage, however small, and she has proved that she does not regard as trivial the possibility that the enemy may be supplied with needed stores when by a little vigilance the supplying of such stores could be prevented.

From the British point of view, it is necessary that every possible means be taken to prevent such shipments to the enemy, and among these means is the search of suspected ships, of whatever nation and bound for whatever destination. In view of this, it is not to be expected that England will surrender that point easily, even though in the end she be willing to modify it to meet the demands of neutrals.

This preliminary note is merely a bit of sparring. It is not to be inferred that America's protest is to be passed over lightly. In fact, in view of the attitude frequently assumed by powerful nations, there is much to give satisfaction in the fact that England sees fit even to recognize that there is any basis for any protest at all.

Certain captious critics of the president are complaining because, in a speech to Democrats at a Democratic celebration, he praised the Democrats.

EVERY MAN TO HIS TRADE.

Maurice Maeterlinck is a great writer. He is a Belgian, and though a consistent champion of peace, he is also a vigorous champion of the gallant Belgian resistance to German invasion. And there is nothing inconsistent in that, but much that is patriotic and admirable.

The other day Maeterlinck was asked to go to Manchester, England, to address a meeting in behalf of his afflicted countrymen. He wrote asking to be excused, and the reason he gave was that he is no orator. In fact, he said, he could not speak in public for two minutes without becoming "completely inarticulate." He can write, though, and he will write; and he is devoting to the relief of his suffering fellow-Belgians all he can earn by his pen.

Now that may seem a rather commonplace incident, but it isn't commonplace at all. It is, indeed, a very remarkable incident.

If every person who can't speak in public knew it, and would admit it, and would refuse to speak in public on that ground, then this would indeed be a commonplace incident.

But the condition necessary to make Maeterlinck's refusal commonplace would be a miracle.

It must be splendid to be an orator—to think readily on your feet, to have a ready flow of eloquence lighted with wit and humor and apt and ready illustrations, to sway audiences as a great organist plays upon the stops.

It is convenient, too, and pleasant, to have something to say in public, and to be able to get up and say it simply, clearly, forcibly, and to stop when you have said it.

But heavens, how rare are either of these types of public speaker!

And how distressingly common is the type that only THINKS it is an orator, or only THINKS it has something to say and THINKS it gets up and says it simply, clearly, forcibly, and quits when it is said!

Sufferers who have sat under floods of so-called oratory at banquets and public meetings of various kinds will have a kindlier feeling for Maeterlinck hereafter; and it needs only to be added that he can write as well as he can't talk to increase his following enormously.

The Duluth-Edison company helps reduce your taxes by paying $15,000 a year into the city treasury. The Unit plant would increase your taxes by making it necessary for you to pay interest on some new loans. Which would you prefer?

Don't Knock

Milwaukee Journal: Few persons do not value the good opinion of others. Pulling down the character of someone else is not the way to build up your own; the ruin of another does not mean your building up. There are some who appear to think another's possessions something taken from themselves. This is a mistake. To point out an error in another's character is not to prove a corresponding virtue in one's own.

If we decry another for being miserly, of disagreeable disposition, extravagant or stupid and expect the hearer to see the corresponding virtue in themselves, we need to learn that this is not what the hearer usually sees. Rather he thinks how unkind such talk is and attention is called to failings in the speaker which would probably otherwise not have been noticed.

Let your chief aim be to make yourself worthy of the good opinion of others. Belittling them is a plain acknowledgment of a conscious fault of your own. The way to win the good opinion of others is to be worthy of it. If you are, you will not need to call attention to it.

A Texas Steer

(By Sayoyard.)

Washington, Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—A long time ago, in old Kentucky, when the nineteenth century was not yet in its prime, so far as the calendar computes, some mischievous young lawyers, who later became leaders of their cloth in their bailiwick, introduced the incomparable, the matchless, the unique, the only Spencer Dabney to Fountain Fox, then judge of a circuit located in that part of the state where the "Blue Grass" and the "Mountains" kiss, and as a joke these young fellows concocted the fiction that Spence was a candidate for the bar and sought a license to practice the noble and learned profession of the law in the courts of the old commonwealth, superior and inferior.

A finer man than the old judge not even Kentucky ever produced. Learned in the lore of his profession, capable and skillful in the practice of it at nisi prius, he was a judge eminent for erudition, the justice of his decisions, and the soundness of his conclusions. Dignified on the bench, when he doffed the ermine he was the most delightful of companions, especially if his cronies happened to be young fellows. He died at a great age, universally honored, and in spirit he was yet youthful at four score.

The judge had been out with Spence the night before, and made answer to the proposal like this: "Dabney, you look like a lawyer, you talk like a lawyer, you act like a lawyer, you drink like a lawyer, you play poker like a lawyer, and damned if I don't make you a lawyer," which he did then and there instanter. Some of these days I'll tell you about Spence at the bar and on the stump.

Governor O. B. Colquitt of Texas talks like a Republican, acts like a Republican, is a Republican in faith and why the devil don't he make himself a Republican in brand? He has only to be candid about it. And that ought not to be an onerous job for a governor—of Texas. Here he is going up and down the earth cussing the Wilson administration to the disgust of every Democrat and to the delight of every Republican. Why does he not get on the side of the hedge where he belongs? A man in politics must be a Republican, or a Democrat, or a Bull Mooser, in most of our country. Not a word has Colquitt said against Wilson that little Republican congressmen have not better said. Nothing he suggests is original. Possibly the man has been reading the voiceful William Alden Smith, successor of Zack Chandler in the United States senate, for all Colquitt says is only ditto to the unspeakable Smith.

Apparently the Hon. Colquitt is very much enraged because Wilson did not send a battleship out and sink the British navy. If that is not what he is driving at he is talking gibberish. Very well. Suppose Wilson had done what he seems to demand. Let us imagine the British fleet sent to "Davy Jones." What then?

Why, another battleship must be sent to lay the law down to Germany. Suppose we try to discipline the puissant empire? What would the kaiser say? This, and only this: "My dear Colquitt, I am too busy cutting the throats of Englishmen, French and Russians to spin cotton. Beside, if I had all the cotton in Texas in my mills I would not have operatives to spin it, for they are at the battle front. Nor is that all—my money is in the war chest, and I am not in the cotton spinning line at this time. Call on me again,

"'When peace is tinkling in the shepherd's bells,
And singing with the reapers,' and then I will talk business with you. Meanwhile, accept my thanks for the destruction of the British navy."

That is what the kaiser would say to the Hon. Colquitt.

Speaking of the tariff, the Hon. Colquitt talks precisely as Aldrich, Penrose, Gallinger, Smoot, Cannon, Dalzell, Barnes, Lodge and the whole layout of standpatters would have him say. He is of them, why don't he get to be with them? There is where he belongs, and there he would be if it were as fashionable to be a Republican in Texas as it is in Iowa.

Mr. Colquitt holds against the Democratic administration "the crime of free hides." I wish the charges were deserved, but to the chagrin of real Democrats the credit for that sound policy must be accorded the Republicans. They put hides on the free list, and since then every little statesman, mental slave of that petty tyrant, "Post hoc, ergo propter hoc," has been railing against free hides. Hides went on the free list; the price of shoes advanced. The ordinary understanding accounts for it because of the fact that when hides went on the free list, the manufacture of automobiles, at home and abroad, was in its infancy. That industry is now become a leader in our industrial economy, and it makes a demand for immense quantities of leather. Thus it curtails the supply of leather for the shoe shop and advances its price.

Why don't the Hon. Colquitt give us a chapter on free wool?

This gentleman, Mr. Colquitt, seems to complain because he raised a large sum of money that was employed by the Democratic national committee to discharge a part of the necessary expenses of the election of 1912.

What did he do that for? Does he want his part of the fund back? If so, he should be reimbursed. I am in for my fair part and I hope the national committee will set about the gathering of the necessary funds to reimburse this man. How much is my fair share of the fund? I'll pay at once, cash down on the nail.

The Great Lakes.

(By agreement between the United States and Great Britain, these waters are free from warships and other hostile activities by both nations.)

No cannon-bristling squadrons rode at rest
Within gun-sheltered harbors on these lakes;
Here but the urgency of commerce wakes
The cloven waves to song, with keels deep prest
Into their bosoms; hurrying east and west,
Trade's myriad-flagged Armada ne'er forsakes
These seas at Desolation's hest, but makes
A fruitful highway of their neutral breast.

O shores and oceans of fort-stained earth,
What will the triumph of the future be
When birds build safely in your ev'ry gun!
When all the ships innumerable that girth
Your shining vasts shall share the ministry
Of peace and only her blest errands run!

—Charles H. Winke in The Public.

Counsels of Cowardice

Editorial in the St. Louis Republic.

The Republic has no sympathy whatever with the counsels of cowardice so freely offered President Wilson in connection with his break with the senate on the question of the president's right to choose his appointees from the sole point of view of the good of the government service. In the career of an executive there are many things which he must concede because the victory would not be worth the ammunition; he must save his strength for more important things. But there are other issues which touch the very nerve center of his effectiveness; he must win or permit it to come to an end. The present issue is such a one. At any time it would be of crucial importance to the president to win; it is so now for two particular reasons.

The first is that the administration of President Taft, a man of high character, good ability—see his record in the Philippines—and the utmost rectitude of intention, went down to a defeat that split his party square in two just because he lacked the courage to stand and face the congressional leaders on a straight question of principle. The memory of his weak surrender on the Payne-Aldrich bill is fresh in the minds of the American people. We like wisdom in a president when we can get it, but we demand first of all that an executive should stand like a rock for his constitutional rights and his personal convictions—and the Roosevelt cult shows how much may be forgiven a man who does this, even if he is so clear about the personal convictions that he gets somewhat mixed on the constitutional rights.

The second reason is that the American public has seen a great light about government. We have come to realize that the business of the government is not magic—just business, and that what would be flapdoodle and nonsense in the business of the business world is just nonsense and flapdoodle at Washington. Now what could be weaker than the contention that an executive official, responsible to the people for the efficient execution of the laws should be hampered and hindered by having incapable political proteges of senators thrust into his organization to the exclusion of the trained men he needs and wants?

Let the president stand by his guns. This thing might as well be fought out now as at any other time. We might just as well find out now whether the executive is indeed a co-ordinate branch of the government or a mere patronage annex of the senate, with the president as patronage clerk.

A Soldier Writes

A trooper of the Twelfth Lancers, writing home, says, according to the London Telegraph:

My Darling Little Wife: I am sitting in the kitchen of a farmhouse here writing this, as it is cold outside. We have had snow here for the last four days, and it is freezing day and night. The fields are white and there is a keen northeast wind which cuts you to the skin. The fellows here are all sticking it bravely, though, and we are all cheerful under very trying conditions. The people here are very kind and will give us hot coffee day and night, and are quite offended if we offer them payment. They say we are all very good fellows, but they wish a few of us could speak a little more French. I am well up in it now, and am usually spokesman for our troop.

We had a terrible time last Thursday night. We had to take our turn in the trenches, and we saddled our horses and had to ride in a snow storm about eight miles to within three miles of the trenches. We left our horses there and walked the rest. I've had some cold rides in my time, but I think this one took the biscuit.

After we arrived at the trenches we were delayed, with the result that we got almost frozen stiff, standing in the snow for about two and a half hours. We were not allowed to strike a match or speak above a whisper, as the Germans were within fifty yards of us. When we did move into them we found there wasn't room for the whole of the squadron, so my section (five men) had to return to a disused milk factory about a mile and a half. At 4 a. m. we were told to take the rations up to the men in the trenches, and while doing it were sniped at by the Germans, but none of us got hit.

It was just getting daylight, and we showed up awfully against the snowy background. Back we went, and hadn't gone ten yards before we found a French soldier huddled up in the road with about three inches of snow on him, as dead as a doornail. We turned the poor fellow over to make sure, and all of a sudden, "Ping, ping, ping!" the bullets came flying after us. I said to my pal, "Come on, mate! it's not good for our health here," and we made tracks for the milk factory. Oh! it was awful that night. We had five men killed and four wounded. I was speaking to one of them five minutes before he got hit. Poor fellow, he was the major's servant, and a great pal of mine. He died without firing a shot. They are all buried in or about the trenches.

I should like a good pair of gloves if you could manage to send them. I have lost mine, and my hands are awfully sore with the cold. Some cheap lozenges for colds would come in handy. Don't think I am asking too much, but it is difficult here to get anything, and things like that are out of the question. I received one parcel all right, and I will give you an extra special hug and kiss when, please God, I arrive home.

Credit.

Life: Credit is an estimate of your capacity to worry about paying your bills which is held about you by a lot of total strangers. Credit is also a belief held of your ability to pay for something long after you have ceased to derive any benefit from it. Credit is likewise a gauge of your willingness to deceive yourself into the belief that you can afford to buy something because you cannot pay cash for it. If everybody paid cash, there would be no bond issues, no huge clerical forces, no national debts, no armies or military systems, no schools such as exist today, no war, no degenerate fashions—nothing but plain, everyday living. Credit enables everybody to live a fictitious existence. Nothing exceeds like credit.

The Ultimate Dog Story.

Tit-Bits: Some men at the club were telling dog stories after a day's shooting. After some time, when the tales had got very "tall," one little man, who had been quite silent, said:

"I have a dog that makes all yours seem fools, I generally feed him myself after dinner, but the other day a friend dropped in and the poor animal slipped my mind. After the meal we went into the garden. The dog scratched up a flower and laid it at my feet, with the most yearning look in his eyes—it was a forget-me-not."

Nobody told any more dog stories that evening.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—After fifty years of close association with calfskins and making a fortune at it, while becoming the biggest dealer in raw calfskins in the world, Senator Carroll S. Page of Vermont sees no reason why he should not handle his senatorial mail in much the same manner that he would calfskins.

If a carefully worked out system of sorting and classifying skins has proved its worth in the calfskin trade, Page asks himself, why should one look any further than that for a system of sifting and grading the morning mail?

Letters are of various kinds. So are calfskins. That is enough for Page. When he reaches his office in the morning he gets into his mental overalls, as you might say, and starts opening the mail, sorting it as he goes. With his little pencil he marks each letter just as if it were a calf hide. Each mark indicates the way the letter is to be handled. Those marked with a 2-plus are to have the answers dictated and signed by Page himself. Another mark means that the letter must be answered immediately. Still another sign indicates that the answers are to be prepared by a secretary, but signed by the senator. So runs the system. Page has a trifle more grades and sub-divisions for his hides than he does for his letters, but the plan is the same.

The scheme works out well, too. Other senators are crude correspondents compared with Page—simply because they lack his fifty years' experience at devising the best way to handle such everyday articles as letters and skins.

Page comes from Hyde Park, Vt. Altogether Hyde Park numbers about 450 souls, including babes in arms, transients and dogs. It is a nice little village; yet, if it were not for Carroll S. Page, Hyde Park would be just like a thousand of other nice little villages, nothing more than a slight irritation on the map.

When Page's calfskin business at Hyde Park came to be known as the biggest enterprise of its kind in the explored world, his fellow townsmen were proud of him and of themselves. The thing gave them standing. They were in the superlative class. Page had put them there.

A less ambitious spirit than Page, having definitely affixed his native town to the atlases, might have sat back on his haunches and let matters rest.

But Page gathered himself together one fine day and started a bank. It was a little bank at first, but it grew. Today it has deposits of more than two and one-half millions of dollars. Bankers declare that it is the biggest bank in the world for the size of the town in which it is located.

Thus twice superlative is Hyde Park, Vt. And Page did it.

One cannot easily reconcile Page's appearance with the fact that for many years he stood in a warehouse all day long in his old clothes tossing soiled hides about him. He is about the most spick and span senator we have. In a crowd he would be taken for a professor of botany.

Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior, never eats cooked food at noon. One day as the lunch hour approached he paused, patted the arms of his chair with his palms, and remarked:

"I have just been noticing the squirrels up in the park by the White House. They eat little but nuts and they are as lively all the day long and apparently in as full possession of their faculties as any creatures I have seen. I wonder why nuts wouldn't be a good thing for me."

He sent out for a big sack of assorted nuts and ate them. For a week after that and every little while since then a shower of nuts has comprised Lane's luncheon.

The Searchlights.

Alfred Noyes has written this finest poem on the war.

Political morality differs from individual morality, because there is no power above the state.—Gen. von Bernhardi.

Shadow by shadow, stripped for fight,
The lean black cruisers search the sea.
Night-long their level shafts of light
Revolve and find no enemy.
Only they know each leaping wave
May hide the lightning and their grave.

And, in the land they guard so well,
Is there no silent watch to keep?
An age is dying; and the bell
Rings midnight on a vaster deep;
But over all its waves once more
The searchlights move from shore to shore.

And captains that we thought were dead,
And dreamers that we thought were dumb,
And voices that we thought were fled
Arise and call us, and we come;
And "Search in thine own soul," they cry,
"For there, too, lurks thine enemy."

Search for the foe in thine own soul,
The sloth, the intellectual pride,
The trivial jest that veils the goal
For which our fathers lived and died;
The lawless dreams, the cynic art,
That rend thy nobler self apart.

Not far, not far into the night
These level swords of light can pierce;
Yet for her faith does England fight,
Her faith in this our universe,
Believing Truth and Justice draw
From founts of everlasting law.

Therefore a Power, above the State,
The unconquerable Power, returns.
The fire, the fire that made her great,
Once more upon her altar burns,
Once more, redeemed and healed and whole,
She moves to the Eternal Goal.

The Insidious Influence of "Pork."

The World's Work: There are some members of congress who refuse to have anything to do with river and harbor "pork," but who are a little weak on pensions. There are others who are strict with their constituents about pensions, but who will fight long and hard to keep a useless army post alive in their district. There are very few members of congress who do not deal in "pork" in one way or another, in other words who do not get money out of the national treasury for expenditure in their own districts contrary to the public good. With every member of congress after some piece of pork or other, it is only natural that they should combine and help one another so that every one shall be certain to get something. It is in this way that a large proportion of the public money is divided and frittered away.

Suggestions to The Lawmakers

Advice of State Press to Incoming Legislature.

Have Heard From the People.

Albert Lea Tribune: It ought to be safe to predict that the present legislative bodies will practice economy more rigidly than ever before for they have heard the howl of the public along that line sufficiently to cause them to understand and heed its demands.

Get Down to Business.

Hill City News: Now that the speakership fight is settled, let us hope the legislature gets down to business and cuts out the wire pulling and political monkeying that has marked other sessions.

One Great Need.

Fairmont Sentinel: One of Minnesota's great needs is a new Constitution and the legislature should not hesitate to put the machinery in motion to provide such an instrument.

Good Advice.

St. Cloud Times: Governor Hammond urged the legislature to take up and dispose of county option and temperance questions at the earliest possible time so that they could give attention to other matters of importance. In his speech of acceptance, Speaker Flowers urged the same course. It is to be hoped that this very good advice will be followed by the legislature.

Desirability of Economy.

Pine City Poker: The time-worn "plan" to save a very few hundred dollars of state money through occupying time in the careful scrutiny of the purchase of supplies, etc., was sprung at the opening of the state senate. Our experience with legislators has shown us that very often the ones who do these things are the men who later ignorantly vote millions of dollars for something they neither know nor attempt to know anything about, or else who come along later in the session with some scheme to help themselves or their friends politically through the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of state money on some unnecessary project. We appreciate the desirability of economy all down the line, but we're in favor of plugging the bunghole first. Senator George H. Sullivan of Stillwater introduced the most sensible resolution we have seen, looking toward real economy, wherein he provided that requests for appropriations of money must be accompanied by full explanations of what was done with those made for the same purpose by the last legislature and also what those asked for now will be used for.

What Chance?

Stillwater Gazette: That economy and efficiency will be foremost in the minds of our members is the hope of our people who are paying a higher tax rate than for many years at least. The elimination, extermination, abolition and condemnation of the unnecessary expenses saddled onto the taxpayers will be greeted cordially, and possibly joyously.

Some Chance for It.

St. Cloud Journal Press: The Minnesota legislature has started grinding. If it will let the Dunn law alone, or permit only some slight amendments by its friends, much will be forgiven it.

Short Session Wanted.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinnis, the Sunshine Man.

Kindness and cheerfulness bring rich results. People are more willing to pay for the service of persons who possess these traits of character.

* * *

The cheerful face betokens a happy heart, and a happy heart gladdens one's own life and the lives of many others.

* * *

Knowing that a good disposition is of such great value, we should study how we may cultivate that kind of a heart, just as we study the facts of history and science and literature.—From "The Friend."

If every one were kind and sweet,
And every one were jolly;
If every heart with gladness beat,
And none were melancholy;
If none should murmur or complain,
And every one should labor
In useful work, and each were fain
To help and cheer his neighbor—
Then what a blessed world 't would be
For you and me, just you and me!

And if, perchance, we both should try
That glorious time to hurry;
If you and I, just you and I,
Should smile and never worry;
If we should grow, just you and I,
Kinder and sweeter-hearted—
Perhaps in some near by-and-by
That good time might get started;
Then what a blessed world 't would be
For you and me, just you and me!

Lawyers as Lawmakers.

Law Notes: In 1803, Thomas Jefferson, then president of the United States, wrote this: "I served with Gen. Washington in the legislature of Virginia, before the Revolution and during it with Dr. B. Franklin in congress, and I never heard either of these men speak ten minutes at a time, nor to any but the main point, which was to decide the question. They laid their shoulders to the great points, knowing that the little ones would follow of themselves. If the present congress errs in too much talking, how can it be otherwise in a body to which the people send 150 lawyers, whose trade it is to question everything, yield nothing and talk by the hour?"

Forgot They Were Hungry.

Kansas City Star: Gen. Joffre once told a good humored story of a party of four British tourists who entered a Paris restaurant one evening and announced that they wanted dinner.

"And we don't want any of your frogs, or snails or horses," one of them told the waiter, severely. "We'll start with soup—some sort of plain soup."

"Certainly, sir," replied the waiter, and next minute the four Britons heard him shout down the speaking tube to the kitchen: "Cat soup!"

Without a word the tourists seized their hats and bolted. It was not until some time after that they discovered that in French "four soups"—quatres soupes—is pronounced almost exactly like "cat soup."

Keep the Ballot Short.

Kansas City Star: In the New York state constitutional convention after the Civil war it was proposed to elect only the governor and allow him to appoint the attorney general and other officers, as the president appoints his cabinet. Horace Greeley made a speech in favor of the "short ballot." He ended, Andrew D. White says, in a rapid falsetto that made all his words run together like one word:

"When-the-people-take-up-their-ballots-they-want-to-see-who-is-to-be-governor; that's-all-they-care-about; they-don't-want-to-read-a-whole-chapter-of-the-Bible-on-their-ballots."

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer (though these need not be published). A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

WHAT ONE READER THINKS OF THE HERALD.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Am a Herald reader of long standing and appreciate your Open Court very much. I would like to compliment you on your unbiased opinions and ways of reporting the war news. I noticed the article written by Carl Schaffer of Dickinson, N. D., also the one by the Englishman from International Falls, both of whom I think complained of your ways of telling the war news.

Carl seems quite peeved about something and I am sure he really can not cite an instance where his side has been mistreated in your columns. As for the Englisher, well they usually are quite important and I presume would like to have the front page dedicated to "God Save the King," and such like.

Just keep the route you are going, Mr. Editor, you are doing fine. Of course my opinions do not count very much, because my ancestry comes from a nation that is neutral and I am now reading so, as they have not had a war since somebody tried to make them count their prayers on a Chinese adding machine or some such device when they objected.

George Staley of West Duluth comes pretty close to it when he says it is pretty raw for Uncle Sam to stand for a decision like the one rendered by the coroner's jury in the case of the two American poachers at Fort Erie.

The "One who knows" at Cloquet Camp No. 24 seems to be quite a crab, or a grouch being that he envies some poor man an eye opener in the morning just because the unfortunate did not spend his last 15 cents before looking for help. Far be it from me to boost for the liquor traffic, but at that let a man in those conditions have a little bit of what he considers pleasure.

Mr. Naughton can sure make something out of nothing if he can make the public believe there are prosperous times with his cartoons when on the other hand we read such articles as written by the "Bookkeeper," the other night, and know they are positively true.

Bit again let me thank you for the privileges of the Open Court which I am using for the first time and think it is a grand privilege. I was a Herald carrier from 1898 to 1902, in the days when Roosevelt was a hero at San Juan Hill and Dewey at Manila Bay, and the Glass Block and Freimuth advertised on the front page along with the war news, and have read it ever since so therefore naturally take a great interest in your valuable paper and good editing. Yours sincerely,

E. A ERICKSON,

A UNION MAN'S VIEWS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The last issue of The Labor World, supposed to be the laboring man's sheet, had in it an article reading something like this, "500 carpenters unanimously pledge themselves to vote for the municipal plant," etc. Of course I have my doubts about the 500 strong part of it, but listen to this. Five hundred of one kind of union men pledge to put sixty odd other union men out of a job. That's unionism, I don't think.

Maybe they think that the city would employ union men to run the plant. Well, I don't. I think they would probably do as they are doing now, take advantage of the fact that men are cold and hungry and offer them work at fifteen cents an hour. If a corporation did that they would be howled down by just such men as are trying to lead the unions into a hole at present. AN ELECTRICIAN.

Duluth, Jan. 9. H. L. L.

SHOULD PROVE HIS STATEMENTS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Under the Heading of "West Duluth," in The Herald issued Jan. 8, 1915, appeared a report of a meeting of those for and against the question of municipal ownership of the local lighting system, bearing the following caption: "Intimates They Were Bought Up." The item credits A. E. McManus with having stated that many of those opposed to the scheme of a municipally-owned plant, who were advising the acceptance of the 6-cent rate, were "bought up by the company." He said that a sudden wave of prosperity had struck about 500 residents of West Duluth, and that these were, according to information he claimed to have received, getting $3 a day from the company for fighting the municipal ownership scheme.

This beautiful oratorical gem, if the speaker was correctly quoted, is a mere figment of the imagination, without any premises to base such a conclusion on.

We are all "from Missouri" out in this end of the city, and request Mr. McManus to "show us," not by broad general statements, made in the heat and stress of debate, but by tangible and substantial facts that would convince the people in West Duluth that such a condition of affairs exists, that 500 residents could be subsidized, as stated by Mr. McManus.

There are citizens in West Duluth, on both sides of the question, that are giving up their time to the advocation of their belief on municipal ownership, without anticipating any reward and desiring none.

The statement accredited to Mr. McManus does not tend to make adherents for the cause he proclaims, and if he cannot prove his statement, it would be well to either modify or state through the columns of the Herald that the same is withdrawn and taken back.

Thanking you for the use of your valuable space, I am,

Respectfully yours,
R. J. FISHER.

CHINESE CALENDAR.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In your paper of Jan. 5 I read an article concerning the Chinese celebration of New Year's day, which I supposed to come on Feb. 15, according to the Christian calendar. I wish to inform your subscribers and readers by giving them the exact truth concerning this day. I am very doubtful in regard to the statement made in the paper.

I have been informed by a close friend, the Chinese consul of a Western seaport, in a communication as a New Year congratulation that the Chinese have their New Year's day according to the Western calendar. A discrepancy in these matters can be easily clarified. According to the Chinese consul, the government has changed its calendar and has promulgated the Western method as her permanent national calendar. If I am right in the instructions of the consul, then Mr. Chin D. Ong, who was considered the Oriental leader and a responsible person in behalf of his countrymen in this county in political affairs, has interpreted wrong the situation in saying that two calendars are now used in China. I understand that after China became converted into a republic the tyrannical calendar was changed in consideration of the commercial development and diplomatic affairs.

I have been instructed by the consul that the Chinese people of patriotism and enthusiasm use the Christian calendar, and the Chinese who are individually unique in continuing reckoning the time by the old Chinese calendar, are subordinates. The old method is a menace, as calamitous events might arise.

ONE WHO KNOWS.

Duluth, Jan. 11.

The writer of the foregoing letter evidently did not read The Herald item carefully. It stated plainly that China has officially adopted the Western calendar, but that many of them still observed the old day.—The Editor.

THE "S. O. S." SIGNAL.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would you accept the following for your Open Court column?

In a recent issue of The Herald some one asked the editor to explain the distress signal, "S. O. S." It is an accepted fact that "S. O. S." signifies distress and demands immediate attention.

Would an "S. O. S." call sent out by a young man of 27, out of work, be answered? This particular young man can do a very neat job of wall tinting having had quite a bit of experience in that line. It's a bit early for housewives to think of cleaning house, but there are three things in favor of having this work done now. Namely: (1) a young man out of work; (2) he can do a good job; (3) his price is reasonable.

Will this S. O. S." call be answered?

ANSWERS MR. DALY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In answer to Thurman A. Daly's letter in the Open Court of Jan. 8, it seems to me that he must be more than a common workingman, for he says there are no people staring starvation in the face in this country. It must be that he hangs around the stove a good deal of the time and does not get out to see any of these people or he does not care to see them, otherwise he would not say so much about the Good Fellow and of charity. The people Mr. Mantell of Staples, Minn., is telling about are not looking for charity and Good Fellows. Mr. Daly says that the people are starving to save their pride. Well, if Mr. Daly had any pride about himself he would not have put the letter he did in print.

Mr. Daly says this country is in duty bound to help Belgium, after she let France and England get her into trouble. Well, if that is the case, after this when I should happen to get into trouble I'm going to depend on my neighbors to take care of my family while I'm in trouble on my own account. I will admit there are many men who do not care to work and never will work and many families looking for charity the year around.

Mr. Daly also says that if the workingman had saved a little of his money while the times were good he would have something to keep him over the hard times. Well, what does Mr. Daly think about a woman shoplifting presents for her friends because she could not buy them on her husband's salary of $3,000 a year? Now I would like to have Mr. Daly show me how a workingman, on $600 or $700 a year, can lay something away for hard times.

Hoping this will put a little pride into Mr. Daly. Yours truly,

OTTO ELCHLEPP.

Duluth, Jan. 10.

THE WAY HE SEES IT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would the parties who sent out circulars on Thursday, Jan. 7, in regard to voting "no" on the construction of a unit plant, please send other such circulars, naming the parties interested in "The Citizens' Referendum committee."

Are they all stockholders in the Duluth-Edison company, or is it just a majority of them?

This letter sent by the committee reminds me of the small boy who was giving away five-dollar gold pieces for silver dollars, thinking he was getting the best of the deal, as the silver dollar was larger.

This is just what this committee is working for now. They want to get the people interested in what they have lost and what they are losing today, just to get away with the big lump, "the future lighting of our city."

Are we going to be scared into a proposition of this kind by the "committee" telling us we lost a few dollars in the past few months by not accepting the six-cent rate offered us by the Duluth-Edison company.

They should worry as the Duluth-Edison company is just that much to the good.

The time is coming when Duluth will have a municipal light plant, and we all know it.

For this is not an untried idea, as the foremost cities in the most advanced countries of the globe have adopted the municipal ownership plan of public utilities.

If the cities that make their own light at a heavy expense of buying fuel, can give cheaper light than we have here, why can't we get just as cheap light at least with a water power plant to furnish our power? I'm not saying this to boost any particular party, but just to let some of our citizens know what I think a "square deal."

AN EDISON LIGHT CONSUMER.

IS GRATEFUL.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I wish to express my gratitude to T. R. Horn of Cannon Falls, Minn., for his thorough explanation of the use of the international language, Esperanto, concerning which the editor of The Herald, as Mr. Horn says, has a misapprehension.

In my judgment, both the Editor and Mr. Horn were correct in their description, but Mr. Horn's interpretation was more inclusive and nearer the actual fact.

Thanking you in advance, I am, yours very truly, W. W. T. HOY.

MILITARY DRILL FOR CHILDREN.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In your issue of Jan. 7, I notice an article about teaching National Guard tactics to schoolboys. Dr. O. A. Oredson says it is not for the purpose of teaching militarism, but military drill. Now, I ask you or your readers what is military drill if it is not militarism? Will not this drill have a tendency to make the boys long for the time when they can go to war to kill and maim others? Will it not give them the murder lust that we are having so much of at present in Europe?

If it is only to make boys physically fit, why do they not try to get the school board to create a drill of calisthenics in which both boys and girls may participate? Another point, do they think they can put it over the parents of the thousands of school children who do not like it nor want it?

Instead of trying to get the "business men" interested, why do they not send a ballot to the parents of every child in school, asking them to vote yes or no on the subject. I should like to hear the views of parents with children going to school. Thanking you for the space in your paper, I am, Sir, yours respectfully,

O. W. MITTIE.

NOT A QUESTION FOR EDITOR TO DECIDE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Please tell me if it would be advisable for me to move to Duluth. Is there much chance to get three or four steady boarders, working men or clerks, or could I get day work of any kind? I would like to make a living for myself and three children, and have them where they would be near school. I am a widow.

Please publish this in the Open Court with your answer, and leave out the name of my town. MRS. A. H.

——, Minn., Jan. 10.

The Editor hesitates to answer such a question as this, as he does not like to take the responsibility of giving long-distance advice on a subject which may be of such vital importance to the questioner. We do not know your conditions where you are; whether or not you have any money to tide you over and get you started in Duluth; whether you are capable of doing a hard day's work or not. There are unemployed men and women in Duluth who cannot get work. Conditions are improving, and by spring there should not be a man or a woman in Duluth idle except from choice. If you have a little money to establish yourself here, Duluth would be a good place to come to, in the spring. If you have enough to eat, and a warm place for yourself and children to reside, and not enough money to keep you until you can establish yourself here and find work, do not move now.—The Editor.

MOTION PICTURES OF WAR.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would you inform me through the Open Court whether the photographs of the European war are authentic, or drawn and photographed to fit the occasion? Do the warring nations allow moving pictures to be taken?

Does the Belgian government permit the Chicago Tribune to take moving pictures there, if one-half of the proceeds are given to the Belgian Red Cross? Very truly yours,

J. A. KEEHN.

Duluth, Jan. 9.

Most of the photographs published are authentic. Some are drawings made from descriptions. The Herald's pictures are actual photographs, unless labeled otherwise.

Some of the governments allow motion pictures to be made under certain restrictions.

As far as we know, the Chicago Tribune pictures are authentic, and no reputable paper could afford or would dare do anything but most rigidly adhere to its advertised program of giving one-half the proceeds to the Red Cross in such an instance. A paper's biggest asset is its reputation, and it could not afford to risk it.—The Editor.

THE NEW BEMIDJI AND THE OLD ONE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

A short time ago a prize-winning story appeared in one of the leading magazines that had for its settings scenes in and around the town of Bemidji, Minn. The story caused a lot of old-time citizens to chuckle and say: "Can you beat it? Why, I recognized a number of the characters. Some of them live right here now."

The number containing the story sold like hot-cakes. News stands in the town never had such a run on any one magazine. Bemidjiites read the story for entertainment, but after reading it, they began to digest it thoughtfully. Public-spirited citizens wondered if their town had been done an injustice by giving a wrong conception of its present state to the outside world.

It was figured out that the author of the story must have known the Bemidji of ten years ago, with its forty or more saloons wide open night and day, with no ban on gambling—a Bemidji with no other claims than those that belong to a typical frontier town.

Today Bemidji is a dry town and as thriving and progressive a little city as can be found in the Northwest. Everyone is vastly proud of its miles of paving and cement walks, its fine churches, its good schools, its up-to-date public buildings, its beautiful homes and its wonderful scenery.

There is still plenty of material for authors, but the people of Bemidji would like to see stories written of its colorful past in the past tense.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the following poem:

"When the Harvest Days Are Over, Jessie, Dear," from W. E. J., Duluth.

Requests have been received for the following:

"Tipperary," from W. E. J.; Duluth;

"The Drowning Singer," from L. H., Shevlin, Minn.; the poem which begins "Cold and brilliant streams the sunlight on the wintry banks of Seine," etc., from A Reader of Proctor.

THIN FOR YEARS—

"Gained 22 Pounds in 23 Days"

"I was all run down to the very bottom," writes F. Gagnon. "I had to quit work, I was so weak. Now, thanks to Sargol, I look like a new man. I gained 22 pounds in 23 days."

"Sargol has put just 10 pounds on me in 14 days," states W. D. Roberts. "It has made me sleep well, enjoy what I ate and enable me to work with interest and pleasure."

"I weighed 132 pounds when I commenced taking Sargol. After taking 20 days I weighed 144 pounds. Sargol is the most wonderful preparation for flesh building I have ever seen," declares D. Martin, and J. Meier adds: "For the past twenty years I have taken medicine every day for indigestion and got thinner every year. I took Sargol for forty days and feel better than I have felt in twenty years. My weight has increased from 150 to 170 pounds."

When hundreds of men and women—and there are hundreds, with more coming every day—living in every nook and corner of this broad land voluntarily testify to weight increases ranging all the way from 10 to 35 pounds given them by Sargol, you must admit, Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Thin Reader, that there must be something in this Sargol method of flesh building after all.

Hadn't you better look into it, just as thousands of others have done? Many thin folks say: "I'd give most anything to put on a little extra weight," but when someone suggests a way they exclaim, "Not a chance. Nothing will make me plump. I'm built to stay thin." Until you have tried Sargol, you do not and cannot know that this is true.

Sargol has put pounds of healthy "stay there" flesh on hundreds who doubted, and in spite of their doubts. You don't have to believe in Sargol to grow plump from its use. You just take it and watch weight pile up, hollows vanish and your figure round out to pleasing normal proportions. You weigh yourself when you begin and gain when you finish and you let the scales tell the story.

Sargol is absolutely harmless. It is a tiny concentrated tablet. You take one with every meal. It mixes with the food you eat for the purpose of separating all of its flesh producing ingredients. It prepares these fat making elements in an easily assimilated form, which the blood can readily absorb and carry all over your body. Plump, well-developed persons don't need Sargol to produce this result. Their assimilative machinery performs its functions without aid. But thin folks' assimilative organs do not. This fatty portion of their food now goes to waste through their bodies like unburned coal through an open grate. A few days' test of Sargol in your case will surely prove whether or not this is true of you. Isn't it worth trying?

If you want a beautiful and well-rounded figure of symmetrical proportions, if you want to gain some solid pounds of healthy stay-there flesh, if you want to increase your weight to normal, weigh what you should weigh, go straight to your druggist today and get a package of Sargol and use it as directed. Sargol will either increase your weight or it wont and the only way to know is to try it. A single package of Sargol easily enables you to make this test. Sixty days' use of Sargol, according to directions, is absolutely guaranteed to increase your weight to a satisfactory degree or your druggist will refund all the money you have paid him for it. Sargol is sold by leading druggists everywhere and in Duluth and vicinity by

BOYCE DRUG STORE

An Easy Way to Get Fat and Be Strong

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on drugging their stomach or stuffing it with greasy foods; rubbing on useless "flesh creams," or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.

Thanks to a remarkable new scientific discovery, it is now possible to combine into simple form the very elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood. This master-stroke of modern chemistry is called Sargol and has been termed the greatest of flesh-builders. Sargol arms through its re-generative, reconstructive powers to coax the stomach and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to every starved, broken-down cell and tissue of your body. You can readily picture the result when this amazing transformation has taken place and you notice how your cheeks fill out, hollows about your neck, shoulders and bust disappear and you take on from 10 to 20 pounds of solid, healthy flesh. Sargol is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. All leading druggists have it and will refund your money if you are not satisfied, as per the guarantee found in every package.

Caution:—While Sargol has given excellent results in overcoming nervous dyspepsia and general stomach troubles it should not be taken by those who do not wish to gain ten pounds or more.

How Thin People Can Put on Flesh

A New Discovery.

Thin men and women—that big, hearty, filling dinner you ate last night. What became of all the fat-producing nourishment it contained? You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there, but your food doesn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of thin folks the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation, are sadly out of gear and need reconstruction.

Cut out the foolish foods and funny sawdust diets. Omit the flesh cream rub-ons. Cut out everything but the meals you are eating now and eat with every one of those a single Sargol tablet. In two weeks note the difference. Five to eight good solid pounds of healthy, "stay there" fat should be the net result. Sargol, too, mixes with your food and prepares it for the blood in easily assimilated form. Thin people gain all the way from 10 to 25 pounds a month while taking Sargol, and the new flesh stays put. Sargol tablets are a scientific combination of six of the best flesh-producing elements known to chemistry. They come 40 tablets to a package, are pleasant, harmless and inexpensive, and all dealers sell them subject to an absolute guarantee of weight increase or money back.

Thin People Can Increase Weight

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "stay there" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and most any thin man or woman can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction. And best of all, the new flesh stays put.

Sargol does not of itself make fat, but mixing with your food, it turns the fats, sugars and starches of what you have eaten, into rich, ripe fat-producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepares it in an easily assimilated form which the blood can readily accept. All this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol stops the waste and does it quickly and makes the fat-producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive. All leading druggists sell it in large boxes—forty tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

A Single Application Banishes Every Hair

(The Modern Beauty)

Here is how any woman can easily and quickly remove objectionable, hairy growths without possible injury to the skin: Make a paste with some powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This is a painless, inexpensive method and, excepting where the growth is unusually thick, a single application is enough. You should, however, be careful to get genuine delatone.—Advertisement.

TRENCH MINED AND BLOWN UP

German Officer Tells of Capture of Strong French Position.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Hamburg, Dec. 20.—Harrowing and exciting details of mining and blowing up trenches are told by a German officer in a letter to a local newspaper, describing in particular the capture of a strong position held by the French in the Argonne forest. Many of the French soldiers were killed and the others were captured. The crown prince sent blankets and wine to the men who accomplished this feat. The letter follows:

"By the first of December our company had been under fire for the fifth time, and the distance between our trench and that of the French had decreased from 520 feet to from nine to fifteen feet. But the company on our left was separated from the French by a vale, on the far side of which the enemy had laid out three lines of trenches.

"We had come to consider the position as impregnable. But progress had to be made somehow. Our pioneer detachment, therefore, decided to mine the French trenches near the position of our company, which, as already stated, were only from nine to fifteen feet away.

"Some of us feared that the French would be doing the same thing and would try to blow us up first. Our men worked hard for this reason, and on Dec. 1 the mine was ready. At 10:30 in the morning our first trench was cleared of men, and at 10:45 all of our trenches were empty. It was exactly 11:19 when the pioneer lieutenant placed his thumb on the electric button. Then followed a detonation loud enough to herald the end of the world.

"In front of us shot up a large, black column of earth and gases. It was fully 600 feet high and when it collapsed a rain of earth fell down on us. Our men had taken cover in the woods, and it was well that they had done so. For about two minutes it rained great chunks of earth and rock.

"When it was safe again in the open our companies advanced through the hole which had been blown in the French position. The first trench was full of dead soldiers and some who had been buried alive. In the second and third trenches the French were so rattled that they surrendered easily. Inside of half an hour we had taken the entire force of the three trenches—eight officers and 378 men. Two officers were among the dead.

"We also took three mine-catapults from the French. Our losses were three dead and seven wounded. But we were lucky, indeed. Among the French prisoners we took were some pioneers, who told us that they had mined our trenches at eight points, but had not been able so far to place the mines. They had attempted too much and had lost.

"This is one of the biggest events in the Argonne forest fighting. When the crown prince heard of it, he sent 200 blankets and to each a liter of wine."

DARING FEAT OF FIVE GERMANS

Little Party Made Reconnaissance to the French Trenches.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Berlin, Dec. 20.—A young volunteer from Charlottenburg describes in a letter from the front a daring reconnaissance undertaken by himself, with a sergeant major and four other men, in an effort to learn which French regiment was posted in the trenches 600 yards away. A reward of 150 marks and the iron cross had been promised should the expedition succeed, but the six men declared that they would accept no money.

They started on a dark night, walking in stockined feet as quietly as possible through snow, and gradually approached the enemy's trenches until they were but fifty yards away. Then they were hailed with a "who goes there"?

"Patrols who have lost their way," answered the young Charlottenburger; "don't shoot, we are comrades."

"Of what regiment?" called the French.

"Of the Twentieth," was the answer.

The Germans advanced another ten yards, and the young volunteer asked: "Where is the road to Maricourt?"

The answer was another query: "What regiment do you belong to?"

The sergeant major answered with a shot. The French cried out, jumped back into their trench and opened fire. It was taken up all along the trench and the bullets hailed about the Germans, who jumped backward a few paces and threw themselves face down. Three quarters of an hour they lay thus without moving. Then the French, who had meantime been strengthened, left their trenches, climbed over the barbed-wire entanglements in front and came forward, searching for the intruders.

"Let them come on," whispered the sergeant major. Suddenly he commanded squad fire. Volley after volley greeted the advancing Frenchmen, many of whom fell. The Germans retreated rapidly a few paces and again threw themselves down and remained motionless. Rifle fire tore up the ground around them and whistled over their heads. Rockets began to light up their position, and machine guns added to the danger. The little party withdrew, leaving one of its number dead, and regained the German trenches.

Four Prisoners Escape.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 12.—Four prisoners, serving long terms for murder, forgery and robbery, overpowered three guards at the state penitentiary here last night and escaped. The men used a rope to reach the ground from a fourth story window and then scaled a wall thirty feet high.

CONTROL OF SWAMP LANDS

Proposal to Take Control From the State Auditor's Office.

Sam Gordon Would Close the Saloons at Nine o'Clock.

(By a Staff Correspondent).

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Save that the house received several interesting bills, the sessions of the senate and house last night were brief and uneventful. The senate adjourned after receiving and adopting a motion by Senator Sageng increasing the size of one of the committees by two.

Among the new house bills received were the following:

By Representative Kneeland—Proposed constitutional amendment taking the control of state swamp lands away from the state auditor's office and giving it to the legislature to dispose of.

Representative Kneeland, Burrows, Sathorn, Southwick and Miner—A bill putting into effect the recommendations of the Ehrhart efficiency and economy commission.

Would Change Primary Date.

By Representative Borgen of Duluth—Doing away with the June primary and restoring the old September primary.

By Representative Steen of Winona—Authorizing the inspection of hospitals, reformatory homes, houses of detention, convents, asylums, sectarian seminaries, schools or institutions by county boards, grand juries or persons appointed by district judges on petition of twenty persons. County boards are required to inspect such places, unannounced, every four months.

By Representative Corning of St. Paul—Requiring people who publish communications in newspapers about candidates to sign their names, and requiring newspapers to publish the answers of the candidates within forty-eight hours if they are not too long or have no improper or libelous matter in them.

By Representative Corning—Requiring interurban street cars to provide toilets and drinking water.

By Representatives Minette and Burrows—The telephone regulation bill referred to in these reports.

By Representative Sam Y. Gordon—The proposed constitutional amendment referred to in these reports yesterday, providing that constitutional amendments may be adopted by sixty per cent of those voting on the propositions.

To Close Saloon At 9.

By Representative Sam Y. Gordon—Requiring saloons to close at 9 p. m. and not to open before 7 a. m.

By Representative McGrath—Prohibiting trains more than half a mile in length.

By Representative McGrath—Making railroads responsible for personal injuries without the benefit of the old common law defenses.

Representatives Devold and Hynes introduced a joint resolution asking congress to forbid the exportation of munitions of war to the belligerent nations. Representative Hynes sought to suspend the rules and put the resolution through at once, but his motion failed.

The house received and passed under suspension of the rules the usual bill appropriating $152,000 to pay the expenses of the session—while it lasts. The economical temper of the house was shown by the fact that Representative Harrison and others wanted to know, and Representatives Spooner and Bjornson had to explain, the necessity of immediate action without waiting to go through the usual routine.

Representative Nimocks offered a resolution barring out lobbyists, solicitors and agents, which on motion of Representative Bouck was referred to the rules committee.

at the last session, when it was defeated. It is said that there is a good chance this time that it will pass.

Representative C. M. Bendixen of Morgan introduced in the house this morning a joint resolution asking congress not to place an embargo on the export of foodstuffs to the belligerent countries of Europe, on the ground that it would be a gross injustice to the producers of the state. Mr. Bendixen sought to have the resolution passed at once under suspension of the rules, but Representative John Hompe of Deer Creek objected, and Mr. Bendixen moved that it lie until tomorrow to give everybody a chance to consider it.

Taxation of Mortgages.

Representative Boyd of Crookston introduced a bill repealing the entire mortgage registry tax system, and putting the taxation of mortgages back on the old ad valorem system of taxation.

* * *

Representative G. W. Burrows of Breckenridge offered a bill providing for state insurance of county and municipal property against fire. The state now insures its own property, and this measure would extend that privilege to counties and municipalities. Representatives Wilson and Swanson introduced a similar bill.

* * *

Representative Syverson of Ironton introduced a bill providing that primary elections and presidential preference primaries shall be held on Monday instead of Tuesday, to give traveling men a better chance to vote. Senator Campbell of Minneapolis has introduced a similar bill in the senate.

Another Census Bill.

Representative Dunleavy of Minneapolis introduced a bill, similar to the one introduced in the senate by Senator Callahan, providing for the taking of the 1915 state census in February, with the state labor commissioner to handle it, county auditors to be county supervisors, town clerks to do the work in the country, and preference in the cities to be given to old soldiers and the unemployed.

* * *

Senator Palmer of Minneapolis introduced a bill proposing amendments to the state automobile law that will limit the speed of automobiles to twenty miles an hour in cities and villages and to twenty-five miles on county roads.

Senator W. A. Campbell of Minneapolis offered a bill requiring employers to give one day's rest in seven to all workers in factories, workshops and mercantile establishments.

Senator D. F. O'Neill of Thief River Falls reintroduced the constitutional amendment, which failed of passage last fall, authorizing the state to make loans on improved farm lands.

Herbert S. Bigelow of Cincinnati, who was chairman of the Ohio constitutional convention, will speak in the house chamber this afternoon under the auspices of members of the legislature who favor a constitutional convention in Minnesota.

PROBLEM OF ASSISTING SETTLERS ON CUT-OVE LANDS BEING SOLVED

wealth, put more land on the tax rolls, and profit the entire state.

Senators P. H. McGarry of Walker, and Daniel P. O'Neill of Walker, who were joint authors, with Representative Charles H. Warner of Aitkin, of Amendment No. 3, which was submitted at the last election and just failed to secure enough votes to ratify it, will introduce in the senate a bill proposing this amendment again, and broadening it to include land-clearing. Representative C. H. Warner plans to get other Northern Minnesota house members to join him in introducing a similar bill in the house.

So this fundamental demand of Northern Minnesota will be well taken care of. Besides, Senator Fred D. Vibert of Cloquet will push his plan to induce the state to help settlers by lending its large purchasing power to provide cheap dynamite for stump-blasting.

For Settlers on Cut-Over Land.

But the feeling that something ought to be done more directly to help the settlers on cut-over land get a start is widespread, too, and at the December meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development association this resolution was adopted:

"The legislature of this state is hereby requested to provide for a fund to finance the clearing of lands owned by the state or by actual settlers, this cost to be added to the selling price of the lands owned by the state and to be assessed in the case of lands owned by settlers against the property in annual instalments, the purpose of this fund being to aid settlers by clearing portions of their land so they may have a fair start."

It is very doubtful if the legislature could be induced to go so far as this resolution proposes, and the general sentiment has been that the efforts of the legislators from Northern Minnesota should be confined to the campaign to induce the state to clear its own lands, or at least a part of each tract, before offering them for sale.

However, if Representative Marchalk's plan can be worked out, it will offer a chance to help settlers clear their lands and give them time in which to pay the costs.

If reclamation districts could be created by law, or the voters of proposed reclamation districts be empowered to create them, and the district could be authorized to issue bonds, the problem could be pretty completely solved. Bonds could be issued up to ten or fifteen per cent of the value of the property involved, and provision could be made for their payment in ten, fifteen or twenty annual installments, including interest. Provision could be made for clearing on a large scale, by contract or otherwise, at a cost much smaller than is possible for small jobs.

Works Well in Manitoba.

A plan of this character, though broader because it includes drainage, breaking prairie lands, etc., is in use in Manitoba, and Representative Marchalk has been informed that it is working well there.

Mr. Marchalk will lay the matter before Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith, in order to get his co-operation in drafting a practical and constitutional law.

The Northern Minnesota Development association also adopted resolutions urging the manufacture of dynamite by the state "if found practicable." Before the state could embark in such an enterprise as the manufacture of dynamite, an amendment to the Constitution would undoubtedly be necessary; and therefore, Senator Vibert's plan of inducing the state to lend its large purchasing power to get the advantage of the lowest wholesale rates is undoubtedly much more practical.

Fish Hatchery at Lake Vermilion.

Lake Vermilion probably furnishes the finest wall-eyed pike fishing in the country. For many years the state has been getting its pike eggs from Lake Vermilion, always taking away and never giving anything back. So the people of Tower think that the state should either establish a state fish hatchery on Lake Vermilion to square things, and conserve the supply there while continuing to provide the state at large with pike fry from that source, or should cease taking spawn.

Senator O. H. Griggs and Representatives John H. Gill of Virginia and Charles T. Murphy of Aurora have received copies of resolutions urging this action, pointing out that of late years a very marked diminution of the pike supply has been noted, and dwelling on the advantages to the state at large of providing this hatchery and conserving this admirable supply of pike fishing.

The Tower people ask that the state either establish a hatchery or discontinue the practice of taking spawn away from the lake.

A hatchery has already been established, a small one made possible by contributions from citizens of Tower, and all the state is asked to do is to enlarge this hatchery at a cost of $2,500. The resolutions adopted by the Commercial club of Tower thus set forth the case:

A Beauty Spot.

"Lake Vermilion is one of the beauty spots of the state, being noted for its beautiful scenery, splendid tourist accommodations and fishing grounds. It is a valuable future asset to the state and county, and can truly be said to be a priceless asset to the whole world; and its value to the city of Tower, located upon its banks, cannot be estimated. Lake Vermilion draws thousands of tourists every year from every part of the United States and the continent of North America. They come to Lake Vermilion principally for fishing and on account of the splendid accommodations established and provided by the citizens of Tower. At the present time there is more than $200,000 of local capital invested, largely by the citizens of Tower, to handle and accommodate the tourist trade. The commercial business of Tower is largely dependent upon this tourist trade, and has been built up and established by unceasing toil and effort on the part of the citizens of Tower to advertise Lake Vermilion and the beauties and exceptional opportunities offered in the Northern Minnesota for the invalid, the convalescent, the tired and weary business man and woman and the pleasure-seeking nimrod.

"After years of indefatigable work that business and means of livelihood will be swept away if the state continues to take spawn and fry from Lake Vermilion."

Destroying Fishing.

It is pointed out that the state has been taking spawn from Lake Vermilion for twenty-five years, and returning little if any; that where a few years ago it was easy to catch a "mess" of fish in a very short time, now the fishing is good only for about a month after the spawning season; and that the constant taking away of spawn is destroying the fishing and if carried on any longer will make it a negligible quantity.

The range members will do what they can to make this protest effective, and will introduce and push legislation if necessary.

Duluth also wants a fish hatchery, and has made a start toward it. Two years ago an appropriation of $1,000 was secured for a site, and the mouth of French river has been selected. However, the owners of this property have developed extravagant ideas of its value, and it has thus far been impossible to complete its purchase. It is hoped that it will be possible to get the site, by condemnation if necessary, and to secure an appropriation for the hatchery at this session. Brook trout would be handled at this hatchery, and the fish and game authorities are strongly impressed with the state's need of it.

Elwell Road Law.

The Elwell road law is to be a bone of contention at this session, and upon it there is a difference of opinion between Northern Minnesota and the rest of the state.

The Elwell law was intended to help new sections. It adopts the drainage plan of spreading the cost of a project over a period of ten years, and dividing the expense between the state, county and property owners. Under it it is possible to get results immediately. Where only a moderate annual expense is possible, a long time is required before serviceable roads can be built. Under the Elwell law, it is possible to build them at once, and to spread the cost over a term of years.

This law is of the highest value to the new sections of Northern Minnesota; but there will be a hard fight against it from Southern and Western Minnesota. The trouble seems to be that in the older sections it has been "worked" here and there to build paved boulevards that make automobilists glad and farmers angry. It was not intended for such purposes, and the problem is to keep it available for Northern Minnesota's needs while protecting the farmers of the older sections from the abuses that it has made possible.

Representative Paul Marschalk of Warroad suggested to The Herald yesterday the possibility that some arrangement of "zones" could be made, so as to restrict the applicability of the law to the sections that need it. Something along this line may be worked out as a compromise.

An Ambitious Icelander.

Representative Gunnar B. Ingvason of Minnesota, who is an Icelander, was introducing yesterday afternoon a young man from Iceland whose case presents at once an example of ambition, persistence and courage and a testimonial to the Minnesota College of Agriculture, which is operated in connection with the state university.

The young man is Pall A. Ingvason, aged 23, and he comes from Hunathing, Iceland. He has traveled more than 5,000 miles to attend the college of agriculture, he is wholly on "his own," —that is he is working his own way— and he plans when his course is completed to go back to Iceland and not only to use his knowledge acquired in Minnesota on a farm of his own, but to make it of public benefit by teaching.

To come to the university farm, Mr. Ingvason had to travel about 600 miles from Iceland to Leith. He had to cross England to Liverpool, the Atlantic to Halifax, and the continent to Minneapolis. He has traveled, thus, more than 5,000 miles, and it has taken him nearly a year. He has studied the catalogues of all the institutions offering instruction in agriculture both in Canada and the United States, and among them all has chosen the University of Minnesota.

Mr. Ingvason learned his English out of books, but he has a lot of it and uses it well. He believes that he can learn much that will be of benefit to his people in Iceland, but he is not so sure but that Iceland has something to teach America.

"For instance," he said yesterday afternoon, "I hear nowhere here of the uses of sedges as forage crops. Sedges will grow in wet soil where nothing else can be cultivated, and I understand you have a lot of wet soil in Minnesota. We value it almost as highly as we do grasses, and our cattle thrive upon it."

The Educational System.

One measure that seems to have remarkably few friends about the legislature is the plan to reorganize the educational system of the state proposed by the educational commission authorized by the last session of the legislature. This commission has prepared and presented a report proposing an elaborate reorganization of the public schools, one of the chief features of which is the abolition of all local authority save in independent school districts. It also proposes more rigid requirements upon schools receiving state aid. So far the comment heard upon it is unanimously hostile, and unless it develops more friends than have been apparent up to date, it stands a very small chance of passage.

COMMITTEES OF SENATE

the committee on towns and counties, to which all county division bills would be submitted. Senator P. H. McGarry of Walker is the chairman of this committee.

In announcing his committees Lieutenant Governor Burnquist made this statement:

Statement By Burnquist.

"The courtesy of the committee on rules and of the members of the senate in adopting the suggestion made by the presiding officer to the committee on rules as to the names of committees and the reduction in their number has greatly expedited his work. Heretofore each senator has had to serve on an average of eight or nine committees, resulting in such large number of conflicts as to make it impossible for him to attend all the meetings of the committees on which he served.

"The reduction in the number of committees and in the number of members on each committee has this year made it possible for the presiding officer to give to each senator four general committees. The only committees excepted are those of cities of first class, relating solely to local bills and the rules committee, which has very little, if any, work after the senate is organized.

"Although fewer committees mean fewer chairmanships, I feel sure that the senators and the public will agree with a statement in a report by a joint committee of the Nebraska legislature on legislative procedure. Said committee before reporting made a thorough study of legislative procedure in the states of this country and in foreign countries. The report reads as follows: 'Under the new plan there will be fewer empty honors in the shape of committee chairmanships, but more opportunity for the actual work of considering important questions at close range and shaping them for public service.'

Three New Committees.

"Three new committees have been created. One is on civil administration, to which will be referred the so-called 'efficiency and economy bill,' and which committee, it is proposed, is to meet with a similar committee of the house. The chairman of this committee will be Senator Duxbury, whose appointment meets with the approval of the members of the commission who have prepared the bill.

"Another new committee is that of 'employers' liability laws.' Senator Campbell will be its chairman. His appointment is satisfactory to the representatives of labor, and at the same time will be fair to employers.

"The third new committee will be that of 'public service corporations,' to which it is intended that bills pertaining to public utilities shall be referred. Senator Charles N. Orr will be its chairman.

"Some senators have stated that they do not desire, on account of poor health, much floor work. This is true of Senator Cad Wallace of Hennepin county, who was seriously ill two years ago, and Senator Harson of Mahnomen county, who has requested that he be given no chairmanship, and lighter work than heretofore."

DISPOSITION OF WAR LEADERS

draw attention to the fact that the Russians must feel confident of Warsaw's safety, else they would not continue to hurl so many troops against Hungary through Bukowina.

In the western arena the points of greatest interest are in the center near Soissons and on the French right in Alsace. Here the fighting continues, while the rest of the line is virtually inactive.

French Statement.

Paris, Jan. 12, 2:40 p. m.—The fighting in the western theater of the war did not yesterday show any development of importance, according to the official report given out by the French war office this afternoon. There were artillery exchanges at some of these encounters the French claim to have been successful. It is still snowing in the Vosges mountains. The report follows:

"From the sea to the Oise there was yesterday an intermittent cannonading, fairly violent at certain places.

"On the Aisne to the north of Soissons, determined attacks have been delivered against the trenches occupied by us the 8th and the 10th of January. The enemy during yesterday attacked our positions several times. We repulsed him and we took possession of more trenches.

"From Soissons to Reims there were artillery exchanges. Our heavy pieces of artillery responded efficaciously to the battles and the mine throwers of the Germans.

"In Champagne, in the region of Suain, there was yesterday very active shooting by our artillery directed against the positions of our adversaries near Perthes.

"Le Fortin, situated to the north of the Beausejour farm, was the scene of a desperate encounter. The enemy succeeded in setting up a trench at a point within a series of field works, the commanding position of which was held by us. This fighting is still going on.

"In the Argonne and as far as the Meuse, there is nothing to report.

"In the heights of the Meuse there have been two German attacks, one at the forest of Consenvoye, and the other at the forest of Bouchot. Each was repulsed.

"To the southeast of Cirey-Sur-Vezouse, one of our detachments surprised and put to flight a German company, which was pillaging the village of St. Sauveur.

"In the Vosges and in Alsace the day passed quietly. Bad weather and the snowstorm continues."

Russian Statement.

Petrograd, Jan. 12.—The following official communication was issued last night from general headquarters:

"On the left bank of the Vistula both day and night, Jan. 10, the Germans attempted, without success, to attack our line at several points, but were repulsed everywhere by our fire.

"In an attack in the region of the village of Samice east of Skiernicwice the Germans reached our barbed wire entanglements and began to shout: 'Do not fire; we are yours.'

"However, as similar strategy has been employed before, the vigilance of our troops was not deceived by this maneuver of the Germans and we directed against them a destructive fire and delivered a counter attack, repulsing the enemy and inflicting heavy losses upon them.

"In Galicia, the cannon and rifle fire has been kept going and we remain in contact with the enemy."

FIERCE FIGHT NEAR CERNAY

the canal of La Bassee, but so far without result.

Attack on Cernay.

"French troops last night made an attack on our positions to the south of Cernay (Somalsheim), but they were repulsed with heavy losses. Early this morning the battle was resumed in this district.

"A French attack which started yesterday afternoon in the region of Perthes (between Perthes and the Argonne) withered away before our fire, the enemy suffering very heavy losses.

"In the Argonne forest a French vantage point was taken on the Roman high road. In this engagement two officers and 140 men fell into our hands.

"In the battles on the eastern side of the Argonne we have taken since Jan. 8, including those already mentioned, one major, three captains, thirteen lieutenants and 1,600 men. The French total losses, including killed and injured, in this battle area, consequently are estimated at 3,500 men.

Attack at Ailly Fails.

"An attempt of the French to make an attack at Ailly, to the south of St. Mihiel (on the River Meuse) failed.

"There is nothing new to report from East Prussia.

"The Russian attempt to advance in Northern Poland was unsuccessful.

"Our attacks in the district to the west of the Vistula river have made progress in certain places, nothwithstanding the bad weather.

"On the eastern bank of the Pilica river (Southern Poland) the situation continues the same."

WOMAN SUFFRAGISTS

Howard Shaw, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, Mrs. Pethick Lawrence of London, and the congressional committee of the national association were in charge. Across the way were Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, president of the national association opposed to woman suffrage; Mrs. A. J. George, Mrs. Daniel A. Markham and the legislative committee of that association. The galleries applauded generally when Dr. Shaw and several other prominent suffragists, on invitation of the speaker, left the public gallery and took places in his private gallery.

Senator Martine, who chanced to pass through the house chamber, attracted attention of the anti-suffrage delegation. The women greeted him with applause, some waving their roses as he answered their welcome.

Miss Alice Paul of the suffrage executive committee, was cheered as she took her place in the gallery.

Special Rule Presented.

Promptly at 11 o'clock the speaker's gavel fell, and Chairman Henry of the rules committee presented the special rule upon which it was agreed to allow one and one-half hours' debate, exclusive of the six hours provided for the resolution itself.

"I shall support the rule, because I believe a vote should be given on any proposal which has become a national issue," said Mr. Henry. "But I believe this is purely a matter of state jurisdiction, and I shall never vote for any amendment that proposes to take from the states powers now reserved to them, and to vest those powers in the Federal government."

Representative Campbell, Republican, spoke for the rule and the Mondell resolution.

"The president and many of his followers," said he, "insist that granting the right of suffrage to women is one that must be dealt with by states. He invokes the doctrine of states sovereignty with the same enthusiasm and confidence that others of his party invoked that doctrine in favor of human slavery in other days.

"The president, as the leader of his party, when he charges the opposition with not having a new idea in thirty years, should at least find some buffer for everything new that is proposed, besides the doctrine of states sovereignty surrendered at Appomattox half a century ago."

Rebuked by Speaker.

As Representative Campbell was speaking, disorder on the floor and in the galleries called forth a rebuke from Speaker Clark.

"The gentlemen on the floor must preserve order," he said. "The spectators in the gallery are here by the courtesy of the house and it is indecorous for them to talk so loudly that their conversation can be heard on the floor. The speaker intends to enforce order here today. If this disturbance does not stop I will order the galleries cleared."

Progressive party support was voiced by Representative Kelly of Pennsylvania.

"There is no reason," he said, "why the woman suffrage problem should be met piecemeal and fractionally. There is no reason why it should be decided in forty-eight different places. It should be decided once and for all here in Washington. The blackguard, the thief, the unconvicted scoundrel of every kind, walks up and casts his ballot, but the American woman must stand aside."

Representative Hobson argued that the resolution did not take any power from the states.

Representative Murdock, Progressive, of Kansas, supported the resolution.

"I am against the American woman dragging her skirts through the mire of partisan politics," he said, "and for that reason I favor woman suffrage as a means of cleaning the mire of party politics."

Representatives Hulings of Pennsylvania and Lindberg of Minnesota made brief speeches favoring the resolution, and Representatives Sumner of Texas and Clark of Florida opposed it.

Support for the rule, but opposition to the submission of the amendment was expressed by Representative Lenroot, Republican, of Wisconsin. He declared he was not satisfied there was a sufficient public demand for woman suffrage to indicate that the proposed amendment would be speedily ratified.

"I believe in woman suffrage, but I believe the matter can easily be settled by the power of the individual states," said he.

other wreckage. The letter reads as follows:

Saw Naval Fight.

"It may interest you to know that on Wednesday evening, the 25th ultimo, while at my house, situated on a ridge overlooking the sea to the north of Grenada, I witnessed a naval engagement, which was undoubtedly carried on between more than two warships. The action lasted, as far as I observed, from 7 o'clock p. m. to 11 p. m., and appeared to be on the very horizon to the north and northwest of the island. As the darkness increased it was quite apparent when broadsides of projectiles exploded within seconds of each other on either side, within a range of four to six miles.

"I did not hear the explosion of the shells, as the fight was too far away, but as the fight went on the position of the combatants veered round to the north and east and increased in severity. Nobody in St. Patrick's appeared to have noticed what happened, and though I made diligent inquiries I could not get my theory of a fight supported. Whether the government knew of the engagement or not, it certainly censored all news regarding it.

Opinion Confirmed.

"Six days afterwards I was confirmed in my opinion by the fact that Sauteurs fishermen fishing in the Carlacon channel brought in the news that they had met human bodies floating in the water together with numberless candles, marked 'Kaiser Light' (a sample of which I send you as a Christmas card), also boots with feet in them, helmets, pieces of wreckage, etc.

"On my portion of an island called Isle of Rhondre a life buoy came ashore marked 'S. M. S. Karlsruhe' and besides wreckage and barrels of food stuffs, I am the lucky possessor of an officer's sword, which came ashore wrapped up carefully in oil cloth.

"All this confirms my conviction that not only did an engagement occur, but that the dreaded Karlsruhe has been sunk. I also got a quantity of wreckage.

"I hope to send the life buoy to frame as a memento, but for the present the government has commandeered it."

HOW I CURED MY SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

A Friendly Scientist Showed Me How to Cure It Forever

I WILL TELL YOU FREE HOW TO GET RID OF YOURS TOO

For a long time I was sorely troubled by a hideous growth of Superfluous Hair on my face and arms. My face was indeed a sight from the exasperating growth and I grew almost to hate myself for my unsightly appearance. There are many things advertised for Superfluous Hair, and I think I tried them all but never with any result, except to waste my money and burn my skin.

But, notwithstanding all my years of disappointment, today there is not a sign of Superfluous Hair on my face, arms or anywhere else. I got rid of it through following the advice of a friendly scientist, a Professor of Chemistry at an English University. The treatment he advised is so thorough, simple and easy to use that I want every other sufferer in America to know about it. It worked such a change in my appearance and my happiness, that I gladly waive my natural feelings of sensitiveness and will tell broadcast to all who are afflicted how I destroyed every trace of hair, never to return.

If you are a sufferer and would like to have full details, just send along your name (stating whether Mrs. or Miss) and address, and a two-cent stamp for return postage and I will send you in full detail the advice and instructions which resulted in my own cure after all else failed. Address your letter, Mrs. Kathryn Jenkins, Suite 661 B. C. Wentworth building, Boston, Mass.

NOTE: Mrs. Jenkins as her photograph shows, is a lady of refinement, and for years was well known as a Society Leader in Scranton, Pa.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

FIND COAL AT WARROAD

Well Diggers Encounter Vein 200 Feet Below Surface.

Report Has It Substance Is Very Close to Nature of Anthracite.

Warroad, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.) — Yesterday Engle & Son, who are drilling a six-inch well for the city, struck a strata of coal at the depth of 200 feet. They had drilled through eight feet of it up to 6 o'clock last evening, and are still in the same formation.

The grade of the coal is claimed by those who profess to know to be almost anthracite. The discovery has caused considerable excitement among the citizens.

Some twenty years ago coal was found at Buffalo Point, ten miles out in the lake, and on the Canadian side of the line, at that time, Mr. Watson of Winnipeg, had the coal assayed and the returns showed it to be a good grade of anthracite. Owing to the fact that at that time there was no railroad communication to this section, and the fact that Mr. Watson died, the project was left undeveloped. The stratus discovered in the city well is undoubtedly the same bed, although at a greater depth. Samples of the coal have been sent away to be assayed and there are a number who are anxiously awaiting the returns.

MONTANA NIMROD SHOOTS WHITE WOLF.

Livingston, Mont., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The finest specimen of a white wolf ever seen in Livingston was shipped here from Grant, Mont., by Charles Brenner. It was consigned to a local taxidermist to be made into a rug. The wolf is solid white. It is somewhat similar to the Alaskan wolf, excepting the latter is more gray. The wolf measures seven feet in length and sixteen inches across the head from the tip of the nose. Once it was caught in a trap, for the right foot had but one claw, the rest of the foot being cut straight across by the trap when the wolf released itself. Four black wolves have also reached here from Yellowstone park. This species is not rare as the white, but nevertheless scarce.

MORTON COUNTY IN PIGGING CAMPAIGN

Officers Busy Rounding Up Alleged North Dakota Lawbreakers.

Mandan, N. D., Jan. 12.—State's attorney Langer, since taking office a week ago yesterday, appears to be making good his campaign promises to enforce the law in Morton county.

Every theater in the county and every poolroom was closed Sunday for the first Sunday in years. Mr. Langer further announces that next Sunday will see the closing of the confectionery stores and business houses.

The district court term, already a record-breaker in number, has been increased by sixty-three cases, all of liquor law violations.

County Jail Crowded.

With thirty-five warrants for the arrest of alleged blindpiggers already in the hands of the sheriff, and with the county jail crowded to capacity, eight more warrants were issued yesterday by Judge J. M. Hanley on information filed in district court by State's Attorney Langer.

Judge J. M. Hanley yesterday issued an injunctional order restraining Sheriff McDonald from destroying 4,850 gallons of claret wine seized in a raid at Hebron two months ago. The wine was to have been destroyed yesterday by order of the justice before whom the hearing was held, Dec. 28. Hearing on the injunctional matter will be held Jan. 22.

OPEN INDIAN LANDS.

Filings on 13,000 Acres Begin in Cass Lake Land Office.

Cass Lake, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Homes for hundreds are now available in this section as the result of 13,000 acres of former Indian lands being thrown open for settlement yesterday in the local Federal land office. The lands available for settlement comprise cut-over ceded Chippewar pine lands located near Cass Lake, Deer River and between Cass Lake and Walker.

Tracts on which there has been some dispute over Indian allotments have been removed from the list, and settlers can now go onto the land and make improvements, assured that no further complications will arise over allotments.

These are all good lands and more than 8,000 acres lie a few miles north of Cass Lake village, on the Chippewa reservation. There are 3,000 acres in the Winnibigoshish reservation in the Deer River country, and a little less than 1,000 acres on the Leech Lake reservation in the Boy River country.

While the lands have been opened for immediate settlement, the filing will take place about the middle of May, it is expected. Another opening comprising about 50,000 acres will be made next summer.

SAYS STATE FAIR SHOULD BE ENDOWED

Idea Advanced By Secretary Simpson Before State Agricultural Society.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—"The Minnesota state fair should be endowed and not conducted for pecuniary profits. In other words it should be placed on the same basis as other state institutions: the child should be either disowned or cared for properly."

This was one of the recommendations contained in the annual report of Secretary J. C. Simpson of the state agricultural society made at the annual meeting of the society that began here today.

"Because the livestock barns are in such poor condition," Mr. Simpson declared, "and because livestock is the very foundation stone of successful agriculture, a great livestock building should be constructed first. The dignity of this great industry demands suitable livestock barns or how can respect for it ever be gained? It is criminal negligence not to provide for the care of state property."

Styles Buildings Inadequate State Property.

"Buildings and equipment that have stood for years are now wholly inadequate and unsuitable for use by a great state fair. Regardless of the thousands of dollars spent annually for their upkeep they are becoming less fit each year. The patience of the exhibitor will soon be exhausted.

"The Minnesota state fair has not only given to Minnesota one of the greatest educational institutions of its kind but at a cost of only $1 for every $1.75 of its inventory value. I contend there is no institution of its kind in the world that can present such a record.

"In the future the Minnesota state fair will be just what the people of the state desire it to be. If they are satisfied to let it continue its 'hand to mouth' existence, deprived of the buildings and equipment it needs, then I presume the fair board will be compelled to bear the brunt of the criticism certain to arise as the fair degenerates and becomes a former shadow of itself."

CAMPAIGN OFFER IS CONSIDERED BRIBE

Promise to Take Limited Salary Raised Against Office Holder.

Bowman, N. D., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the fight over the office of county judge to which, on the face of the returns, E. P. Totten was elected, Judge Deihl declined to turn over the office and Totten has instituted mandamus proceedings. Deihl contests Totten's election on the alleged ground of bribery, claiming that in his statement to voters Totten endeavored to bribe the freeholders with the announcement that if elected he would not take more than $1,500 salary, although under the law he is entitled to more. Deihl says he will not give up the office under any circumstances and he has had new locks placed on the doors and a new combination on the safe and vaults.

For the sheriff's office Barrett yielded quietly to Norem, although contesting the latter's right to the office. It was stipulated that if Norem lost Barrett would receive the salary for the work that Norem is doing. Barrett claims that in one precinct, where Norem's majority was larger than in the rest of the entire county, illegal methods were used and asks to have that precinct thrown out. If this is done Barrett will be sheriff.

JACK RABBITS ARE EATING UP ALFALFA

North Dakota Farmers Desire Bounty on Long-Eared Pests.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jack rabbits, like many domestic animals, are fond of alfalfa. Farmers in some sections of the state insist they suffer a great deal of damage as a result of the ravages on their alfalfa by the long-eared pests, and in a few localities a bounty on them is demanded similar to the provision for the extermination of gophers.

Go in Herds in Winter.

It is claimed that in the winter the rabbits herd around the alfalfa fields and feed on the succulent plants, in many instances eating away the crown and destroying the alfalfa. It is claimed they are around the fields in regular herds and organized parties for chasing and killing them are the rule. The game laws do not protect rabbits of any kind and these animals can be killed at any season of the year.

NEW TREASURER OF COOK COUNTY

Louis Engelson Is Appointed By Board to Fill Vacancy.

Grand Marais, Minn., Jan. 12.—The Cook county board has appointed Louis Engelson county treasurer to succeed Fred Jackson, who was removed by Governor Eberhart last month for alleged shortage in his accounts. There were several candidates for Jackson's position, others besides Engelson being Chris Murphy, John A. Blackwell, John Eliasen and C. E. Backlund. The board went into secret session and made the selection. Dr. Hicks was reappointed county physician at a salary of $200 compared with $400 last year. For janitor of the courthouse applications were filed by Samuel Zimmerman, Sr., and Ole Anderson, the latter receiving the appointment.

Shortage Is $13,333.

The board of audit made a report to the board showing a deficit in ex-Treasurer Jackson's accounts amounting to $13,333.68. The county auditor and Commissioner Bally were appointed as a committee to engage an expert accountant to examine the accounts of the treasurer and auditor.

District Engineer Hughes made an interesting report of road work done and expenditures during the past year. The board fixed the salary of County Superintendent Clinch at $500 with the understanding that Mr. Clinch should inquire further as to state regulations covering the university feature of the plan and advise the board at its next meeting, when further action may be taken in the matter.

W. J. SULLIVAN IS GIVEN REPRIEVE

Young Man Mixed Up in Crosby Kidnaping May Not Serve Time.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 12.—Governor Hammond participated late yesterday in the first meeting of the state board of pardons since becoming governor, when among other cases considered was that of W. J. Sullivan, 20 years old, convicted of participating in the kidnaping of Theodore Sjogren at Crosby during labor troubles on the Cuyuna range and sentenced last Saturday to an indeterminate term at the St. Cloud reformatory. The board granted the reprieve of Sullivan after hearing those pleading for Sullivan and those opposed. The reprieve extends ten days beyond the next sitting of the board, which will be about the middle of April, when the application will come up again on its merits. Sullivan in the meantime will be at liberty, but must report to the sheriff of Crow Wing county.

Senator Jones Opposes.

Appearing on behalf of Sullivan at yesterday's hearing were Christopher D. O'Brien of St. Paul, M. J. Ryan and N. L. Clark of Brainerd. Opposed to clemency at this time were T. E. Latimer of Minneapolis, ex-secretary of the Socialist party of Minnesota, who, as a lawyer helped to prosecute the case; L. Vandenburg, representing the trades and labor assembly of Minneapolis; D. R. Cramer, representing the same body; Jules Anderson, representing the trades assembly of St. Paul; E. G. Hall, president of the state federation of labor; J. R. Lawson of St. Paul, secretary of the executive board of the state federation of labor; Senator Richard Jones of Duluth and Representative J. W. Woodill of Two Harbors.

Councillor O'Brien left with the clerk of the board of pardons the record of the case, and the documents relative to young Sullivan's petition for clemency.

The state took a hand in Sullivan's prosecution, Deputy Attorney General Edgerton appearing for his chief, Attorney General Smith.

Sjogren, for whose kidnaping two have been sentenced to serve time and a third man will soon come up for trial, was taken from in front of a moving picture theater in Crosby, removed some distance in an automobile and then put upon a train bound for Duluth. Charges of kidnaping were ultimately laid against a number and the labor organizations of the state bent every effort to obtain convictions in order, as they stated, to make similar actions against strikers less likely.

Lake Nebagamon, Wis., Jan. 12.—The ice palace, the only one in Wisconsin's history, is now nearing completion and will be formally opened next Saturday. There will be a queen for the carnival and program to be given at the opening.

Nearly 6,000,000 pounds of ice will have been used in the walls of the palace when it is completed. It is modeled after an ancient Spanish castle, the walls rising thirty-five feet in the air, with towers much higher. All varieties of winter sports are provided for, either inside or just adjoining the palace enclosure, which is 125 feet square.

Don't Merely "Stop" a Cough

Stop the Thing that Causes It and the Cough will Stop Itself

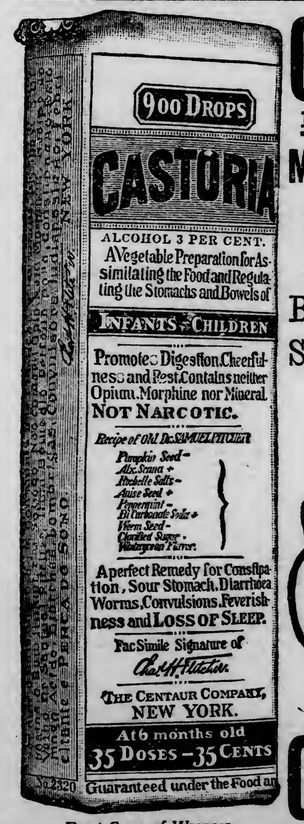

A cough is really one of our best friends. It warns us that there is inflammation or obstruction in a dangerous place. Therefore, when you get a bad cough don't proceed to dose yourself with a lot of drugs that merely "stop" the cough temporarily by deadening the throat nerves. Treat the cause—heal the inflamed membranes. Here is a home-made remedy that gets right at the cause and will make an obstinate cough vanish more quickly than you ever thought possible.

Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you a full pint of the most pleasant and effective cough remedy you ever used, at a cost of only 5¢ cents. No bother to prepare. Full directions with Pinex.

It heals the inflamed membranes so gently and promptly that you wonder how it does it. Also loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough and stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, rich in guaiacol, and is famous the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex," and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

WILD BILL DONOVAN. What an appropriate name for a man who is going to manage the Yaukees.

Ole Haas. A Haas been.

Why won't Jess Willard fight Jack Johnson? Because Johnson would refuse to fight Sam Langford.

Yes, thanks, the boy is doing nicely.

Having lost a game it may be said that Cobe Naughton's rink is in mid-season form.

The Portage Lake press censor wrote home that the team was checked.

Jack Curley has let one of the Villas in on the receipts of the Johnson-Willard fight. If it were not for the standing army the Villas would owe Jack money after the fight was over.

If Ban Johnson retires from baseball he may consent to inform the world how he earns $25,000 a year.

Ban Johnson and Charley Murphy were formerly in the newspaper business. That is one of the reasons why they like to talk of money.

Jimmy Clabby wears lead in his shoes while training. It is an excellent idea to wear lead in your gloves while fighting.

Sam Langford and Sam McVey are to fight again. It is difficult to keep good friends apart.

Members of the Portage Lake Hockey team also loafed Saturday evening.

Yale and Penn are to row next season. The students of both schools are particularly anxious to see which has the slowest crew.

Ole Haas should become a plumber, as plumbers are never penalized for leafing.

Walter Camp's wrist watch was made in New Haven, which is all the more shame.

Does anyone know a sure cure for colic?

Bald-headed barbers invariably recommend hair tonics. Jim Jeffries is going to tell Jess Willard how to whip Jack Johnson.

If Ohio had gone dry Garry Herrmann would not have been re-elected chairman of the National association.

All of these baseball players returning Federal league money suggests the fact that the outlaw league should charge interest.

Ban Johnson says he is not worried. He receives $25,000 a year.

They ought to elect Elihu Root president of the Federal league.

It is believed that McVey and Langford are the legitimate successors to Williams and Walker.

The best way for any fighter to make a record is to go to Australia.

Joe Linder used to live in the Copper Country. You never would guess it from the way he goes after some of his old friends.

All politicians are for state prison reform. It was George Bernard Shaw who said you never can tell.

Last year it was the fashion to jump to the Federal league. This year's style seems to be to jump back again.

CURLING

Most of the play of last evening was confined to the Bagley event. In this event six rinks went into the thirty-twos. Ralph Bradley put the Ron Smith rink out of the running and Charley West's rink also progressed. Play in the Bagley has not progressed as far as that in The Herald. In the latter event Goodman, German, Oldham and Fred Hoene are in the sixteens. The winner of tonight's game between Haroldson and Elder will go into the sixteens, and curiously enough these same two rinks will play it off in the Bagley to determine which will enter the sixteens. The winner of the Dr. Gillespie-D. E. McDonald game of this evening in the Bagley event will move into the sixteens of that event.

THE RANCHMEN LOOKED DANGEROUS TO THE GOOD JUDGE!

IT'S all off with the big wad, big spit kind, when a man learns to use the small chew of "Right-Cut," the Real Tobacco Chew. That's why he is so eager to tell his friends the good news.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—cut fine, short shred—seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

PLAYS DAY AND HALF.

Iowan Sets New Endurance Record in Bowling.

Sioux City, Iowa, Jan. 12.—Darrell Hamlet, Marathon bowler, created a record here last night by finishing a thirty-six-hour continuous performance on the alleys. Hamlet began his endurance feat at 9 o'clock Sunday morning and rolled until 9 o'clock without stopping for food or sleep although he ate an occasional sandwich during the long grind. During the time he was on the alleys he was contending with numerous local bowlers.

He shot a total of 194 games or an average of 5 7-18 games per hour. He smashed a total of 33,924 pins or about 174 pins per game. Most of his games were high, between 170 and 190 pins. His top score was made in his 153rd game, when 256 was scored. At the end of his twenty-fourth hour, he had completed 135 games. This record had been held for about a week by a Cincinnati bowler.

Hamlet seemed fresh when he finished his remarkable performance and desired to continue until midnight, but friends dissuaded him.

CHANGES IN RULES.

Stewards of Grand Circuit Begin Sessions and Discussions.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 12.—Several proposed changes in the rules governing the grand circuit were before the stewards of the organization when they met in annual session here today.

The much-discussed plan of authorizing one judge to officiate at all of the meetings on the circuit was to be disposed of. Several horsemen predicted that stewards would pass favorably upon the change. If adopted, the rule would have to be sanctioned by the National Trotting association before it could become effective.

The members of the committee on rules and dates, which met here yesterday in executive session, were ready to submit to the stewards a tentative schedule of race meetings for 1915. It was understood the opening week would be awarded to Cleveland.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 12.—J. D. Callery of the Pittsburg Driving club, which fathered light harness racing here, announced today that Pittsburg would not be included in the grand circuit this year because of inability to obtain a good location for a track.

San Francisco Checker Player Springs Surprise at Tournament.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—J. B. Hudson, San Francisco, who came unheralded to the biennial battle for the American checker championship, yesterday won his preliminary skirmish with Hugh Henderson of Pittsburg, the present champion, and deefated Morton Spilman, a local champion. Alfred Jordan of London, the world's titleholder, won both sides of the switcher in his tilt with Walter Cooper of Detroit. John Howe, Jr., a 16-year-old Chicago boy, earned a draw in the opener with Jordan, but lost the second match.

AFFIDAVITS IN BIG SUIT

Prominent Ball Players Testifying in Fight on Organized Baseball.

Dooin Breaks Away and Will Tell Court His Grievances.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—A score of affidavits, relating in great detail the alleged indignities offered ball players by officials of organized baseball, together with copies of the national agreement, stenographic reports of speeches by baseball magnates and copies of contracts and telegrams by which the Federal league hopes to win the suit filed a week ago against organized baseball were filed today.

The affidavits are headed by a lengthy document by Joseph Tinker, manager of the Chicago Federals at a salary of $12,500 a year. Tinker became a Federal, he said, when C. H. Ebbetts, president of the Brooklyn National league club, offered him only $5,000 a year, according to the affidavits. Tinker wanted $7,500.

Ebbetts termed this sum exorbitant and wrote Tinker "while we expect to become a first-division team, yes, a possible championship contender with all our bright prospects, it is, nevertheless, unreasonable for us to pay you more than you have ever received as a player for a championship club."

Tinker also made strong objection to the ten-day clause of the players' contracts. It allows the indiscriminate sale of all ball players, he said.

Mordecai Brown's affidavit relates the cases of two ball players who were traded for dogs.

"Joe Cantillon, manager of the Minneapolis club of the American association, at one time traded a professional ball player for a bulldog," he says. "Your affiant also believes that Roger Bresnahan, while manager of the St. Louis Nationals, traded a professional player, a pitcher named Hopper, to Dick Kinsella, then manager of the Springfield, Ill., club in the Three-Eye league, for a bird dog."

Opportunity for advancement is denied players, according to William Watkins, business manager of the Indianapolis Federals.

Otto Knabe, manager of the Baltimore Federals, affirmed that players were not allowed to make any suggestions relative to the printed form of their contracts. He also attacked the ten-day clause, which, he said, allowed the indiscriminate sale of players. Other affidavits also were filed.

Philadelphia, Jan. 12.—Charles S. Dooin, former manager of the Philadelphia Nationals, announced here last night that he will leave for Chicago today to act as a voluntary witness against organized baseball in the suit of the Federal league before Judge Landis in that city and "tell of my personal experiences in the last few months."

Dooin definitely refused an offer from Manager Herzog of the Cincinnati Nationals.

WILL MEET AGAIN.

Ritchie and Welsh Will Box Ten Rounds in New York.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 12.—Willie Ritchie, former lightweight champion, has accepted an offer to meet the titleholder, Freddie Welsh, in a ten-round, no-decision bout at Madison Square Garden on or about Feb. 9.

Ritchie said he would enter the ring at catch weights. He refused to make weight for a bout of less than twenty rounds in which the title was not at stake, except by the chance of a knockout.

HISTORIC RACE OFF BECAUSE OF WAR.

London, Jan. 12.—On account of war conditions it was decided officially yesterday that the historic Oxford-Cambridge boat race should not be held this year.

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 12.—The Illinois university basketball team defeated the Indiana team 24 to 22, in a conference game here last night.

APPROVAL OF DUNNE ASKED

Boxing Bill Sent to Governor for His Inspection.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—A bill to legalize boxing in Illinois, and patterned after the Frawley law which governs the sport in New York state, has been sent to Governor Dunne for his personal inspection before any attempt is made to put it to a test in the state legislature.

Provision is made for a state athletic commission, appointed by the governor, which shall have absolute control of boxing. The bill would limit bouts to ten rounds. It differs from the New York law in that it stipulates that the referee be empowered to render a decision after each bout. This would eliminate the wrangling that invariably follows any no-decision contest in which the result is in the least doubtful.

A commission of three members is asked, each to serve four years, and each to receive an annual salary of $5,000. One clause, intended to keep out the fly-by-night clubs, which did so much to bring the game into disrepute in Chicago, provides that no club shall be allowed a license until it can show a six months' lease on the building where it intends to hold its shows.

BAGLEYS DEFEATED IN OPENING LEAGUE GAME

Two Harbors Hockey Team Wins Fast Game, 5 to 0.

Contest Is Marked By Brilliant Plays and Clean Work.

In the opening game of the Duluth Amateur Hockey league the Two Harbors team defeated the Bagleys by the score of 5 to 0. At the end of the first half the score stood 3 to 0, play in the final period being especially fast. The Bagleys made a special effort to turn the tide in the final period, but the railroad gang played an excellent game and was going strong right up to the call of time.

The playing of the visiting team proved a distinct surprise to the spectators. Using combination play in clever fashion and passing the rubber with good effect, as well as showing some extremely sterling individual play, the suburbans performed in stellar fashion and won strictly on the merits of the case.

Sullivan a Star.

Sullivan played one of the star games of the evening. The diminutive rover of the Two Harbors outfit gave a remarkable exhibition of skating, made the first score of the contest at the conclusion of four minutes of play, and throughout the game was largely instrumental in keeping the puck in the territory of the jewelry seven.

The game was nicely started when Sullivan took the puck up the ice with a rush and shot a neat goal.

Efforts of the Bagleys to advance the rubber were generally broken up by the visitors. Wood made several strong efforts to score, but brilliant rushes were checked by the secondary defense, and at the end of seven minutes of as fast play as has been seen on any Duluth rink for several seasons, Belland of the railroaders took the puck up the ice, passed it across to Sullivan, received it again and shot a pretty goal.

La Fleur made the final score of the first half. The puck was rushed up the ice to the Bagley goal and was shot behind the net. Sullivan made a pass from behind the net to La Fleur in front of the cage and the Two Harbors leader earned the final score of the opening period.

Play Is Very Fast.

Griffin scored five minutes after the opening of the second half and repeated at the conclusion of thirteen minutes' of play that fairly zipped and caused the spectators to do some real rooting in the very excess of their enthusiastic appreciation of the work of the players.

The work of Zireth as guardian of the visiting cage was of stellar order. One of the stops of the youngster was of the hair-raising order. Gunderson carried the puck clear up to the visiting net and made a pretty shot, but the visiting goal blocked it in spectacular fashion.

Wood played a dashing and brilliant game for the Bagleys, Gunderson also played a fine game. Sullivan, La Fleur and Griffin showed real championship form for the visiting team and their efforts did much to overwhelm the locals.

Fast, clean and with few penalties imposed, the opening contest of the league season was a dandy and gives rosy promise of what may be expected in the line of hockey from the league.

DULUTH TO SEND RIDERS

Henrickson and Bergerson to Represent Local Ski Club.

Axel Henrickson, professional, and S. Bergerson, amateur ski rider, will represent the Duluth Ski club at Mount Horeb, Wis., next Saturday and Sunday. The same two riders will also represent the Duluth club at Beloit, Wis., on Jan. 17; Chippewa Falls, Wis., on Jan. 24; Chicago on Jan. 31, and Blair, Wis., on Feb. 3. This decision was reached at a meeting of the board of directors of the club held last evening.

Work on the big scaffolding of the hill is expected to be completed by Saturday. According to the announcement of the architect, in response to the requests of the club directors, the hill when completed will be steeper than the old hill and the riders will come to the takeoff with a great deal more speed. The straightening up of the hill is expected to result in the shattering of a number of records at the national meet in February.

BIG SUM FOR CITY WORK

Council Orders Improvements Estimated to Cost $230,000.

Include Two Big Paving Jobs and Several Sewers.

Pavements, street improvements and the construction of storm and sanitary sewers throughout the city at an estimated cost of $230,000 were ordered by the city commission at the regular meeting yesterday afternoon.

The repaving of East Superior street from Sixteenth to Twenty-third avenues, and the paving of Third street and Grand avenue, from Vernon street to Fifty-fourth avenue west, are the two biggest jobs ordered at the meeting yesterday. The resolutions were introduced by Commissioner Murchison and were passed without a dissenting vote of the commissioners.

Contract and Day Labor.

The work ordered yesterday will be done by both contract and day labor and will give jobs to many unemployed men. It is the aim of the commissioners to begin the improvements as soon as possible.

The East Superior street pavement and the Grand avenue improvement were ordered without petitions, but property owners affected have sixty days in which to file objections. The former pavement will cost, according to the city engineer's estimate, about $50,613.10 on the basis of asphalt. On this an advance assessment of $34,-75.25 will be levied. Commissioner Murchison announced at the meeting that the crushed rock in the present East Superior street pavement will be utilized by the public works department for other street improvements throughout the city.

Grand Avenue Job.

The Grand avenue pavement, which will finally connect the central section of the city and West Duluth with a good highway, will cost about $175,000. Estimates for the improvement follow: Crushed rock macadam, $174,844; sandstone, $190,594; and brick, $164,394. This improvement was also ordered without a petition, although there has been a demand for the pavement for many years, as there is no paved street at present connecting West Duluth with the city proper.

Other Improvements Ordered.

Other improvements ordered yesterday follow: Sanitary sewers in Eleventh street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth avenues east at a cost of $2,500; Ninth street, between Fourth and Fifth avenues east, at a cost of $700; Sixty-eighth alley west, between Main and Polk streets, at a cost of $1,000; storm sewers in Sixth street, between Fifteenth and Seventeenth avenues east; Fifty-eighth avenue east, between London road and Superior street, and Nineteenth avenue east, between Fifth and Sixth streets.

The Duluth-Edison company was directed to install three incandescent lights at the skating rink on Minnesota Point.

The sum of $80 was allowed as compensation for the appraisers named to estimate damages and benefits in condemnation of slope, fill and retaining wall easements on both sides of Highland street, which is to be paved this spring.

HAS LEG BROKEN WHILE COASTING

"Buddy" MacDonald Is Run Into By a Huge Bob Sled.

Alexander MacDonald, 7 years old, son of John A. MacDonald, 1014½ East Third street, had his leg broken last night by being struck by a bobsled at Tenth avenue east and Fourth street.

Alexander, who is more popularly known as "Buddy" by his companions, was standing on the sidewalk holding his sled close up against him and contemplating a "flopper" or some other such stunt when he was suddenly struck from behind. It is alleged the driver of the bob, a big affair, eighteen feet long and carry about twenty boys and girls, lost control of the stearing gear at Fourth street, and to avoid running into a trolley car, guided the big sled into the sidewalk, resulting in the injury to the small boy. The child was thrown into the air and landed in the arms of a passerby who had halted to see the coasters. Alexander is a pupil of the Jefferson school on East Second street. He is at St. Mary's hospital.

VICTIM OF INJUSTICE

Louis C. Andrews Arrested on Most Trivial of Charges.

Taken to St. Paul and Released—Sister Almost Destitute.

Louis C. Andrews, who was taken last Saturday from Duluth to St. Paul charged with embezzlement, was released yesterday afternoon, after what his friends consider one of the most flagrant cases of injustice that a man has been subjected to in Minnesota in many years.

Mr. Andrews was in this territory soliciting subscriptions for a paper published in St. Paul, devoted to anti-county option. He had been out of a position for some time owing to business depression, and had taken up this work in the way of "any port in a storm."

Recently dissension arose between him and his employer as to what basis he was working on. He had been started out on a small salary, and later his employer, who formerly lived in Duluth, declared that he would not pay the salary but that Mr. Andrews would have to work on a commission basis. A short time ago Mr. Andrews claimed that $60 was due him, which his employer denied; later the employer claimed, in rebuttal, that Mr. Andrews owed him money. Then within a few days, and without warning the latter was arrested on orders from St. Paul, charged with embezzlement. The amount was not stated. A deputy sheriff arrived Saturday morning and took Mr. Andrews to St. Paul.

"Withheld" Books.

It was found when the deputy arrived that the charge was the "withholding of two receipt books of the value of 75 cents each." The deputy said here that he had not read the warrant or he would not have made the trip, and was highly incensed at being sent on what he termed "a fool's errand." Chief Troyer of Duluth, who had been instructed from St. Paul to make the arrest, was also very much provoked.

Mr. Andrews bore an excellent reputation while here and made many friends. Aside from the humiliation of arrest, his friends later learned that he had with him here his sister, a widow, whom he had brought from Brooklyn, N. Y., their home, in the expectation of obtaining for her more remunerative work as a demonstrator, the business she followed, and it was found that after the dispute arose as to his salary, the two were destitute. The sister was in despair over her brother's arrest and had it not been for the assistance of newly-found friends, would likely have been in very straitened circumstances.

Duluth friends of Mr. Andrews are very indignant at the treatment given him and at the triviality on which he was made a victim and given the stigma of having been arrested. He will probably return to Duluth in a few days, and in the meantime friends here are endeavoring to find better employment for him.

HURT IN EXPLOSION.

Mrs. I. Johnson Seriously Injured When Gasoline Explodes.

Mrs. Inard Johnson, aged 30, of International Falls, is a patient at St. Luke's hospital as a result of an explosion which occurred at her home last Monday morning. In her desire to make the fire burn more rapidly Mrs. Johnson siezed a can of gasoline and poured the contents into the kitchen range. An immediate explosion followed, burning her terribly about the head and shoulders and setting fire to the building. Her injuries are not likely to be fatal according to Dr. Eklund, who is attending her.

SAVED BY RED CROSS DOGS

Not Single Wounded Man Has Been Overlooked on Battlefield.

Shown By Records of the German Red Cross Department.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Aix-la-Chapelle, Dec. 20.—The records of the German Red Cross department show that so far, after nearly four months of warfare, not a single wounded man has been overlooked on a battlefield searched by "Red Cross dogs." As a result of this the term "man's best friend," which is often applied to dogs, has real significance to the German soldier today. Many a wounded soldier, French, German and English alike, has to thank one of these dogs for the preservation of his life. Had it not been that the dog had found him and summoned assistance he might have perished.

It has been shown that all breeds of dogs may be trained for this service. The majority employed by the German Red Cross are Dobermanns, German shepherds, Rottweilers and Airedale terriers. There are representatives of other canine families, however, and not a few would be classed as "curs." In fact, some of the mixed breeds have distinguished themselves for the rapidity with which they have learned their business. A breed known in Belgium as the "police dog" has also done well.

Trained Before the War.

Many Red Cross dogs had been trained by the German army before the war broke out. In this case training had started when the animal was about six months old. For about six months after the dog has been taken in hand he is taught no more than to obey his master implicitly. After that his "professional" education begins. Since the outbreak of the war it has been necessary to train dogs in a shorter period, and in many cases this has been done with the aid of another dog, who in addition to being an expert Red Cross worker had also the quality of not being misled by his apprentice. When a dog is trained in this manner he is paired with a veteran and soon begins to understand what is expected of him. Nevertheless, the schooling of the animal requires much attention on the part of the master.

Trained Under System.

The dogs are trained under a system in which patience and kind treatment are the principal elements. Again and again the master of the dog will take the animal to a man who simulates being wounded, or who, nowadays, is slightly wounded.

Whether or not the scent helps the animal to find the wounded is an unanswered question. It is believed that such is the case, but in training the dog this is not taken into consideration. The dog is taught to search the field by inspecting every bush and ditch.

The dogs are brought on the ground by a man from the Red Cross company, who, as a rule, has from two to four of them on a leash. When the man considers the field safe for the dogs he turns them loose with an appropriate command, and then attends to such wounded as he can find himself.

How They Report.

After awhile the dogs return to report. The manner in which the animals do this depends upon their own traits. So far it has been found very difficult to keep the dog from barking when he has found a wounded man and instead teach a signal that would indicate that he had found one. This is hardly needed, however. As a rule the dog which has not found a wounded man returns to his master with a saunttering gait and shows neither excitement nor eagerness to leave again. His action is different when his search has been successful. In that case the dog generally comes tearing across the field, circles about his master and runs back and forth in the direction of where the wounded man has been found. The Red Cross man then follows the dog, gives the wounded man first aid and makes arrangements for his removal to the field dressing station or ambulance.

Where the ground is difficult and the area to be searched small, or when the lines of the enemy are still too near, the Red Cross man keeps one of his dogs on a long line and searches the field in this manner.

Diet of Sandow Includes Beer

WORLD'S STRONGEST MAN GREAT EXAMPLE OF TEMPERANCE

Eugene Sandow is positive proof that the temperate use of pure beer builds the body. During the years he was touring the world performing feats of strength that astounded and stunned the senses of his audiences, beer formed part of his daily diet.

Respect must be paid to the efficacy of the diet that fed and built strength so colossal.

Note:—By analysis, one quart of beer contains from 46 to 124 grains of albumen, nutritious salts, including phosphate, and a large proportion of extract of malt. English physicians generally, accepting the formula of Anstie, make a moderate quantity of beer per diem about 4 glasses, or one quart.

Fitger Natural Beer, filtered by the Kieselguhr filter, has the wonderful natural taste and aroma of the finest beer as drawn from the wood.

The Fitger Kieselguhr Filter (first of its kind in America) takes the place of pasteurization, the process used by other brewers for "keeping" bottled beer.

Pasteurization does not preserve the natural taste of beer. Kieselguhr filtration is the only known way to "keep" beer in bottles and preserve its natural taste. For this reason all brewers will in time use Kieselguhr filtration.

Kieselguhr filtration makes Fitger Natural Beer the clearest, most brilliant beer in America.

WOMEN ATTRACTED BY WAR PRISONERS

Novel Scheme of Old German Soldier to Punish Them.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Berlin, Dec. 20.—Prisoners of war exercise upon many women the same attraction noted so often in the case of renowned criminals, according to some German observers.

With the advent of the first trainload of captives in Germany last fall came stories, describing indignantly how flowers and dainties had been showered upon the prisoners, and how many girls and women exhibited great pleasure at securing a button from a military coat or some other keepsake.

A rugged old soldier commanding the prisoners' camp at Friedrichsfelde, near Wesel, has, according to a report in a Wesel paper, hit upon a novel scheme for punishing the curious women who flock in great numbers to see the prisoners under his charge. Visitors are denied admittance to the camp, but many get as near as possible and try to talk to the captives. A number of these women were taken in charge by the sentries and led before the commandant. His decree was this:

"The women arrested are to be conducted to the camp kitchen, where they will peel potatoes for three hours."

The following manifesto, signed by Col. von Wieters, commandant of the prisoners' detention camp at Goerlitz, is published:

"The three young women who felt themselves moved to send their photographs to the Russian prisoner, George Hirschberg, are requested to come to the office of the commandant and take them away. If they do not, their names will be made public."

Three others, who fell in love with wounded French prisoners of war and became engaged to them, have been dismissed in disgrace from their posts as volunteer hospital nurses. The commanding general at Strassburg, in communicating their delict to the public through the newspapers, identified them by Christian names, initials and addresses to the entire community from which they came.

WISCONSIN PASTOR HAS TWO WIVES

Rev. James M. Darnell Resigns From Pastorate at Kenosha.

Kenosha, Wis., Jan. 12.—The Rev. James Morrison Darnell, pastor of the Henry M. Simmons Memorial church, gave up his pulpit here yesterday, immediately after Doris Vaughn Darnell, the 18-year-old girl he had married in Chicago last November had overruled his objections and come here to join him in his church work. The night before when Darnell learned that his wife was determined to come here, Mrs. Ruth Soper Darnell, to whom the minister had referred as his wife, left hurriedly with her baby for her home in Owatonna, Minn.

Darnell, whose marriage to Doris Vaughn was performed by the Rev. Myron E. Adams, Nov. 4, 1914, returned to Chicago with her and is now at her home. To the trustees of the church he showed clippings from an Owatonna paper announcing the birth of a son to the Rev. James Morrison Darnell and wife and giving the date of their marriage as October, 1913.

Darnell came to the Simmons church Nov. 1. He had served for a short time as pastor of the Church of Unity in Hinsdale, Ill., and as pastor of the Church of Good Tidings in Brooklyn, N. Y. Ruth Soper Darnell and her child came a day or so later. She took up the life of a pastor's wife, took her Sunday school class and her days were soon occupied.

In the meantime Darnell received a dally letter from his Chicago bride, urging that she be allowed to take up her home with him in Wisconsin. Darnell's replies told of the discomforts of his life as a roomer with his widowed cousin and her child.

As a means of deferring further the arrival of the Chicago bride, it is said Darnell wrote her of a smallpox epidemic of which he said he had become a victim, wrote that he was locked in an isolation hospital and finally, that his cousin had lost her life through the disease.

Then Mrs. Darnell telegraphed she would start at once for Kenosha. Mr. Darnell took Ruth Soper Darnell and her baby to the train bound for Minnesota. He met his wife the next morning and explained the situation, which he said was complicated but innocent. She was satisfied but the trustees of the church were not. The pastor therefore tendered his resignation.

FIFTY BOMBS DROPPED ON DUNKIRK SUNDAY.

London, Jan. 12.—According to French dispatches to the London morning papers, fifty bombs were dropped on Dunkirk Sunday by aeroplanes which were cruising over the town from 11 o'clock in the morning until nearly 4 o'clock in the afternoon. They came from all directions and were met by a heavy shrapnel fire. Two of the raiders were brought down, one outside the town and the other twenty miles away.

In spite of the long ordeal, the populace displayed no panic. The bombs included some of the incendiary type, but little material damage was done. Six persons were killed at Dunkirk and in the suburb of Malo, and it is reported several persons were killed at St. Pol and Adinkerke, but this has not been confirmed.

It appears that the absence of a large number of French aeroplanes from Dunkirk must have been known to the Germans.

Spinal Curvature

IN a young person, when there is a "high hip" or a drooping of one shoulder, it is probable that careful examination will disclose a curvature of the spine. In many cases the mother will notice a greater prominence of the ribs over one side of the trunk, and this, too, usually indicates spinal curvature.

The causes of curvature are (1) rickets and faulty position of carrying a baby, (2) inequality in the length of the legs, which is more common than one would imagine, (3) habitual assumption of faulty posture. The latter is the most frequent factor of curvature. It may be a habit of sleeping always on one side, with one shoulder on a thick pillow; or playing the violin; or carrying heavy school books under one arm—a thing no child under 18 should be permitted to do, anyway; or writing at a desk which is too high.

Some cases of curvature result from pleurisy or empyema (chest abscess). Some are due to infantile paralysis which leaves the muscles on one side weakened.

About one in every ten school children has curvature in greater or lesser degree. More girls than boys are affected, because girls do not develop their muscles like boys.

Never Outgrown.

True curvature of the spine is never "outgrown." It is a terrible mistake to neglect a case with that hope in view. If the child has only a careless attitude, in which one side droops at one time and the other side at another time, good exercise will undoubtedly cure him of his habit. But if there is a curvature of the spine the symmetry is never changed, the deformity is always the same. And parents should not rest without doing everything possible to correct the trouble while it is still amenable to correction.

The patient must be examined carefully, and that means with all clothing removed down to the level of the hips. Nothing short of this will permit of a diagnosis.

Exercises prescribed for the individual case according to the nature and degree of curvature present, are always of value in the treatment. Massage, too, helps in the development of the defective muscle groups.

Apparatus or plaster casts are essential parts of the treatment in all well established cases of curvature. Recent improvements in the plaster cast treatment by Dr. Abbott of Portland, Maine, have placed in the hands of the profession a method which offers better results than were heretofore possible.

Questions and Answers.

Pleasure Before Business: Should rather say I have somewhat enjoyed your Health Talks, as I think they are very instructive. Please state what should be done for a constant clearing of throat and hacking cough. Have been advised to consult a physician.

REPLY.

Follow the advice. It may be tuberculosis, or only a hypertrophy of the posterior extremity of the inferior turbinate body.

Baby Coughs at Night: What would you advise us to give our 21-months-old baby to stop his coughing at night? We have tried white vaseline, but it only temporarily eases the cough. He has no cold in his head. He is healthy, but has been coughing for a week.

REPLY.

Cool, fresh air and enough clothing to keep his tootsies warm in bed. Vaseline, of whatever color, is crude medicine to inflict on a baby. Bronchial lymph glands may be enlarged. Adenoids may be present. Even whooping cough may be developing. If he were our baby we should give him medical attention, just as a sort of health insurance. Certainly, we shouldn't feed him anything to kill the cough, but rather we should endeavor to treat the condition of which the cough is a symptom.

Rosie Grows Fat on Knowledge: About two months ago "Rosie" sent in her measurements and asked what would bring her weight up—she was twelve pounds too light. We advised her not to spend her hard-earned money on certain alleged "flesh builders," and we suggested a few things in the way of diet, sleep, exercise and water drinking. A letter from "Rosie" received today reads: "At first my weight remained stationary, but after about two weeks I began to gain, and now I weigh 126, which I think is just fine."

REPLY.

And without a drop of medicine! Old Doctor Nature is surely a great healer.

Her father in a recent letter said: "My little daughter is certainly a picture of health. She had a serious attack of lung trouble, with a terrible cough. After trying a doctor's medicine, which did very little good, we gave her Father John's Medicine, with the pleasing result that she was soon well, and we know that Father John's Medicine will keep her well." Again the delightful brand of winter weather holds sway. Not much better weather could well be asked for when one considers the time of year. The sun rose this morning at 7:52 and will set this afternoon at 4:43:42, giving eight hours and fifty minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Disturbances of considerable intensity overlying the Carolinas and Alberta have respectively caused rain or snow to the eastward of the Mississippi and in Pacific states. Heavy rains fell during Monday over the lower Middle and South Atlantic states. Colder weather prevails in the lake region and upper Mississippi valley, but throughout the greater portion of the Northwest and Rocky mountain region the temperature has risen decidedly. In the rear of this warm wave, however, there is developing another turn to colder."

DEPOPULATE JAILS, GOVERNOR'S BELIEF

Clarke of Iowa Urges Many Reforms for Convicts of State.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 12.—Reforms in court procedure, more humane means of handling prisoners in the penal institutions of the state, simplified accounting methods in the educational and other departments of the state government, a four-year term for governor, instead of the two-year term, and a reduction in membership of the legislature, were among the principal features of the biennial message of Governor George W. Clarke to the Thirty-sixth general assembly of Iowa today.

The governor laid special stress upon what he called the urgent necessity of more humane treatment of state convicts.

"The jails," he said, "should be largely depopulated for service on the custodial farm."

He advocated legislation which would give the judges larger power on the question of probation for offenders who were not hardened.

"I would restore these men to their families and to society to support themselves and their families rather than inflict suffering upon innocent helpless women and children and the burden of supporting them all upon the state," he said.

Governor Clarke urged the adoption by the present assembly of the resolution submitting the question of woman's suffrage to a vote of the people. The message was in the main confined to purely state questions.

DISMISSES ENTIRE MILITIA OF STATE

Governor Blease of South Carolina Takes Unusual Action.

Columbia, S. C., Jan. 12.—The organized militia of South Carolina was disbanded by an order signed yesterday by Governor Blease. Approximately 3,000 men are involved.

Governor Blease said the differences between the secretary of war and the secretary of the navy and State Adjt.-Gen. Moore on one side, and himself on the other, prompted him to take the step. The differences, he said, resulted in serious breaches of discipline in the military corps.

"The present governor of the state of South Carolina is of the opinion that it would be unfair and unjust on his part to turn over to his successor in office the militia of South Carolina in its present condition," the order said.

Friction to which Governor Blease referred in his order disbanding the militia, arose about two years ago, and, according to reports of the adjutant general, resulted in a marked deterioration in the troops' efficiency.

The cause of the controversy between Governor Blease and Adjt.-Gen. Moore was said to have been the result of the governor's refusal to sign some official papers presented by the adjutant general.

The secretaries of war and the navy became parties to the controversy, according to official statements, when the accounting for about $100,000 worth of Federal property, which the departments claimed had been lost and destroyed by the militia organizations, was held up.

The situation became further complicated last summer when the governor refused to permit the militia to participate in the annual encampment ordered by the war department. That action, according to a statement from the adjutant general's office, resulted in appropriations by congress aggregating about $55,000 for maintenance and equipment of the South Carolina militia being held up by the war department pending settlement of the differences.

Adjt.-Gen. Moore will go to Washington to confer with the war department officials over reorganization of the troops when Governor Blease's term expires Jan. 19.

Washington, Jan. 12. — Governor Blease and the war department have long been in a controversy over the national guard of South Carolina. The department contended the state troops were not up to required efficiency.

WINDMILL SAILS USED FOR SIGNALS

Movement of French Artillery Betrayed to German Gunners.

Nancy, via Paris, Jan. 12.—The French troops were ordered to take the offensive between the Meuse and Moselle on Jan. 8, and the fighting that followed resulted in a distinct French gain.

While on the wings the infantry attacked Lepretrie wood and the forest of Apremont, the artillery massed behind Flirey awaited the right moment to open fire. The batteries had been definitely concealed during the night, but nevertheless as soon as the morning mists floated away, German shells began to fall among the gunners. Twice the positions were changed, but still the shells fell thickly.

It was then noticed that the sails of a dilapidated windmill moved in an unaccountable way since there was not a breath of wind and five men were sent to investigate. As soon as they reached the building a man jumped from the window and fled towards the German lines, but he was soon brought down by a French bullet.

At noon the French guns opened fire and at the same time an aviator announced that the German center had been weakened because the Germans were obliged to send help to the left wing which was hard pressed in the Lepretrie wood.

After hours of shelling the German guns were put out of action and the French infantrymen dashed forward.

The enemy unmasked quick-firers, but their assailants were well into their stride and unheeded the fire.

A fierce hand to hand struggle followed along the edge of the woods and the Germans were forced back onto the muzzles of their own quick-firers which pumped lead into them for ten minutes, an error which enabled the French engineers to reach the principal works and blow it up as well as the treacherous windmill.

By the end of the day the Germans had been driven well into the wood of Saint Baussant and the French had gained an advance of half a mile.

AGREEMENT SIGNED FOR BORDER PEACE

Gen. Scott Accomplishes Object of His Trip to Mexico.

Naco, Ariz., Jan. 12.—Brig.-Gen. Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff of the United States army, last night successfully concluded negotiations for peace along the Mexican border. Both Governor Maytorena, the Villaista commander, and Gen. Felias Calles, commanding the Carranza troops in Naco, Sonora, have signed the agreement to end factional warfare along the Sonora border.

The port of Naco will be closed and other measures taken to lessen the chance for a repetition of the siege of Naco with its accompanying fire across the international border line.

The revision of the agreement previously signed by Gen. Calles and his immediate superior, Gen. Hill, was again signed by Gen. Calles and then was sent to Governor Maytorena at his camp, seven miles southeast of here.

Gen. Scott will leave today for Washington after twenty-three days spent here negotiating with the factional leaders, and at Juarez negotiating with Gen. Villa.

KING ALBERT HELPS MEN DIG TRENCHES

Belgian Monarch Spends Several Hours With Pick and Shovel.

London, Jan. 12.—"King Albert spent several hours Sunday with a pick and shovel, digging trenches like a common soldier," writes a Belgian from the front to his family in the refugee camp here.

"It happened in this way: While inspecting with some staff officers the king saw a group of us digging, looking very tired. He inquired how long we had been working. Being told, he sent us away for a rest, while he proposed to his staff that he and they take our places."

HAS CLOSE CALL FROM DESTRUCTION AT SEA.

New York, Jan. 12.—The Anchor line steamer Perugia, in today from Mediterranean ports, had a narrow escape from serious injury by fire when west of the Azores. Smoke was discovered among bales of hemp in No. 3 hold, and when the hatches were opened a black cloud rolled up from the smoldering cargo. A gale was blowing at the time.

The crew fought the fire by hauling out as much of the hemp as possible and flooding the hold. For a time the fire seemed to be spreading and the captain turned the ship back on its course, seeking to reach the Azores.

A wireless message was sent reporting the fire. After a fight of four hours, however, the blaze was brought under control. The captain again changed the direction of the ship and proceeded on his way west.

DID NOT INTEND TO ANNOUNCE CANDIDACY.

Washington, Jan. 12.—President Wilson declared today that he was not thinking of announcing his candidacy for 1916 when he made the statement in his Indianapolis speech recently that the people of the United States might have a chance to judge of his acts.

His utterance was interpreted by the audience and by others at the time, as a hint that he might be a candidate for renomination. The president explained to callers today that what he had in mind was that future generations would pass upon his acts as president.

The president refused today absolutely to discuss the question of being a candidate. Efforts were made to get an expression of opinion from him on the one-term plank of the Baltimore platform, but Mr. Wilson shook his head and refused to answer questions. He said that he would not talk about himself.

WHAT NEURASTHENIA IS

Neurasthenia is a condition of exhaustion of the nervous system. The causes are varied. Continuous work, mental or physical, without proper vacation periods, without proper attention to diet and exercise, also worry over the struggle for success, are the most common causes. Excesses of almost any kind may produce it. Some diseases, like the grip, will cause neurasthenia. So also will a severe shock, intense anxiety or grief.

The symptoms are over-sensitiveness, irritability, a disposition to worry over trifles, headache, possibly nausea.

The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a non-alcoholic tonic. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood the treatment must be directed toward building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and with proper regulation of the diet have proved of the greatest benefit in many cases of neurasthenia. A tendency to anemia, or bloodlessness, shown by most neurasthenic patients, is also corrected by these tonic pills. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Two useful books "Diseases of the Nervous System" and "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., if you mention this paper.

NORTH DAKOTA LEGISLATURE

Committee to Look Into Needs of Educational Institutions.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—If a concurrent resolution introduced in the house by Representative Lanstop passes, a committee of five, two from the senate and three from the house, will be appointed to look into the needs of the educational institutions of the state and report on the amount of money necessary to run and maintain them for the coming biennial period.

It is rumored that a bill will shortly be introduced in the house which will legalize the holding of ten-round boxing contests in the state, modeled along the lines of the law now in effect in Wisconsin.

Senator McLean's five concurrent resolutions relating to four-year terms for state officials, etc., include several novel features. The senate membership would be limited to between twenty-five and forty, and the house to between forty and seventy-five. Senators would hold their seats eight years, and representatives four years. The first legislative session following the adoption of this proposed change would be permitted to continue 120 days, and sessions thereafter would be limited to ninety days. The salary would be $20 a day. All county officers with the exception of sheriff and county treasurer would have four years, the two exceptions being placed at two years. All state officers would have four-year terms.

A proposal to establish a new asylum for the insane was discussed by the senate today, Senator Gronveld's bill creating such an institution being up for final passage. It does not fix the location of the asylum.

McBride's bill creating a normal school at Dickinson will not be acted on till tomorrow. It has a favorable report from the senate state affairs committee.

Senator Bronson's employers' liability act was discussed by the state affairs committee today for an hour, but no recommendation was made.

SERVIA WILL NOT ACCEPT PLANS NOW.

Rome, Jan. 12.—Contrary to statements that have appeared in the newspapers of London, Paris and Berlin that an understanding has practically been reached about a Servian outlet to the Adriatic sea, it is stated, in Servian official circles here, that this will not now satisfy Servia.

It is declared that such a concession would have been satisfactory two years ago when the subject was discussed at the London conference, but that now, after a war in which her life and independence were risked, Servia could not accept a port or a strip of coast. What she now claims, it is stated, are the Servian regions possessed by Austria, including Bosnia, Herzegovina and Dalmatia, which must be assigned to her through the principle of nationality.

During the year 1814, diburserments from the St. Louis county tretsury for all purposes exceeded those during 1913, by $2,185,283.46 according to figures now obtainable at the office of County Audotor Odin Halden. The various public funds in the hands of County Treasurer George H. Vivian, according to the auditor's books, were drawn upon to the amount of $9,455,812.96 last year as against $7,270,529.50 for the year 1913.

The increase is considerably larger than that which appeared a year ago in a comparison of the 1913 and 1912 figures. The gain at that time was $426,-521.19. The increase shown in 1912 over 1911 was $826,860.02.

County Spent 13 Per Cent.

A little less than 13 per cent of the total disbursements for the year 1914 went for the running expenses for St. Louis county or for public improvements in which the county government itself was interested. Of the total amount expended, the bulk was turned over by the county treasurer to the state and various school and tax districts of the county.

Out of the $9,445,812.96 paid out, the county government had nothing to do with about 87 per cent of it except to collect it in taxes and apportion it. During the last year the amount expended for county purposes only totaled $1,220,148.94 as compared with $1,018,255.26 in 1913, and $1,062,768.80 for 1912.

The most notable increase in expenditures for the last year as compared with 1913 was the amount paid out to cities, towns and villages of the county for local government purposes. Watchdogs of the various local treasuries were not as mindful of expenses last year as they have been in former years and as a result $3,317,231.68 was spent last year as compared with $2,346,581.37 for the previous year. The increase in the amount expended in 1913 over 1912 was but $154,658.31.

Increases on Range.

Unprecedented expenditures of public funds in many of the range towns and villages is largely responsible for this showing, it is believed. For instance, the village of Hibbing in 1913 spent $278,489 for local purposes. Last year the same community felt called upon to expend $750,838, or nearly three times as much. The increase was $472,349.

The state made a larger haul this year out of the St. Louis county treasury than it did in 1913. During 1914 the amount paid over to the state government for all purposes was $1,736,-988.35, as compared with $1,291,018.36, an increase of $445,969.99. In 1913, a decrease of $64,934.10 was shown in a comparison with the 1912 figures.

The State's Share.

During 1914, the county treasury made contributions in the following amounts to the various state funds:

State taxes	$1,193,718.33
State school taxes	384,628.74
State lands and interests	63,883.42
State loans	61,669.98
Inebriate hospital	180.00
Fish licenses	52.80
Inheritance taxes	32,855.08
Total	$1,736,988.35

St. Louis county during the last year wiped out the Missabe railroad bond issue of 1883. The entire issue of $250,-000 was retired. In 1913, the county retired about $90,000 worth of the $1,000,000 courthouse bond issue.

The increase in the expense of county government proper is largely due to the increase in the amount expended for county roads during the last year. This amounted to $536,601.51 as compared with $298,145.16 for 1915, or an increase of $238,456.35. The increase for 1913 in comparison with 1912 was but $471.96.

While exact figures are not yet obtainable, it is believed that about 55 per cent of the amount expended from the county revenue fund during the year was for the upkeep of the courts. An increase of $61,685.94 in the disbursements from the county revenue fund is shown. A year ago the gain shown in a comparison of the 1913 and 1912 figures was $7,619.15.

More Money For Poor.

The county poor commission also made heavier demands on the county treasurer in 1914 than in 1913. The amount expended for the poor last year was $92,905.54 as compared with $69,208.71 for 1913 or an increase of $23,696.83. The Nopeming sanatorium last year spent $79,327.55 as compared with $30,784.11 in 1913 showing an increase of $48,543.44. The chief factor in the increase was new improvements.

Ditch construction also cost the taxpayers a large sum of money last year. During 1914, $114,386.21 was spent as compared with $12,096.25 for 1913. The money was expended on thefollowing projects: County ditches, Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4; Judicial ditches, Nos. 1 and 3 and State ditches Nos. 53, 54 and 55.

Election expenses during the year amounted to $3,811.27 so far as the county was concerned. The county also paid over to the state $7,778.01 as hunting license fees collected.

lis this morning and will make the report of the convention at the meeting of the lodges tonight. Installation ceremonies will feature the meeting this evening.

MILLER AGAINST THE AMENDMENT

If Member of State Legislature Would Favor Woman Suffrage.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Representative Clarence B. Miller will vote against the suffrage amendment to the Federal Constitution when the roll is called tonight. "If I were a member of the Minnesota legislature I should vote to give women the franchise," said Mr. Miller, "the states have the right to fix the qualifications of electors, and women have the right to vote and should be given that right by state enactment. I have been studying the proceedings of the constitutional convention, and I have found that the one provision on which there was no compromise was that giving the states the right to provide the qualifications of voters.

"The states know their rights not only in this mater, but in others and have exercised them legally through the enactment of local laws."

Representative Stevens of the Fourth district and Davis of the Third will also vote against suffrage. Representatives Anderson, Smith, Lindbergh, Volstead and Manahan will vote for the amendment.

Representative Steenerson said this afternoon that he had not made up his mind. The suffragists have listed him on their side.

"NEAR WINNERS" ARE "FINAL LOSERS"

Zauft and Evered Take Two Exciting Games at Curling Club.

That "you never know who will win 'till it's over" was fully demonstrated in two games at the Western Curling club last night. Two contestants, who near the latter part of the game felt sure that "it was all over but the shouting," found this out.

Both games were hard fought. In the contest between Zauft and Donald, the latter apparently had a walkaway. In the seventh head the latter had scored 11 points to his opponent's 1. Then Zauft began, in the eighth he laid 5, in the ninth, 1, and in the tenth came back with four more, tying the score. He won out by scoring one more in each of the two remaining heads.

The game between Quinn and Evered was every bit as exciting after the seventh head. Up to that point the score was 10 to 4 in favor of the former. Quinn laid but two more stones while Evered laid nine. Evered was one down in the eleventh head and had one stone laying when it was Quinn's turn to play the final stone. A raise of a stone gave Evered the other winning lay. In the Union Match contest Olson won from Wieland, 13 to 5. This gives Olson and Wade a tie in their squad, and they will play for the privilege of playing for the trophy with either Donald or Quinn, the other squad leaders.

Games will be played this evening between Iltis and Mallory, Wieland and Judson, and Quinn and Evered. Band music will also be had for skating.

FORESTERS INSTALL.

West Duluth Lodge Holds Social and Business Session.

West Duluth court, No. 797, Independent Order of Foresters, held its annual installation of officers at the West Duluth Commercial club rooms last night. John G. Ross, past high chief ranger of the order, was installing officer.

The new officers inducted into office are: Charles H. Mathews, chief ranger; Mrs. Mary Kruger, vice chief ranger; M. J. Filiatrault, past chief ranger; A. R. Armstrong, recording secretary; Louis Christianson, financial secretary; Mrs. Lena Christianson, treasurer; A. A. Campbell, organist; Mrs. Regina Powell, orator; A. F. Lund, senior warden; Mrs. J. Harris, junior warden; John Burke, senior beadle; Carl Johnson, junior beadle; L. A. Barnes and George O'Brien, trustees, and D. Harris and Mrs. W. Seglum, finance committee.

Following the ceremony a social session was held. Short talks were given by Mr. Ross, W. W. Hoopes, L. Christianson, M. J. Filiatrault and others. The program included a vocal solo by Robert O'Brien, violin solo by George O'Brien, accompanied by Miss Bessie O'Brien, vocal solo by Charles Zell and piano solo by Miss Mildred Seglum. Dancing and refreshments followed.

DULUTH WELL REPRESENTED.

WHEAT SHOWS GOOD UPTURN

Market Has Sharp Advance on Active Export and Millers' Buying.

Flaxseed Turns Easy With a Falling Off in Crushers' Inquiry.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 12.—The market was strong up to the close which was at the top. May wheat closed 2¼c up at $1.35½, and July 3¼c up at $1.35. May durum closed 2½c up at $1.55½ and July 2¾c up at $1.54.

Oats closed ⅝c up at 50¼c for on the track; rye, 1½c up at $1.09½@1.10½; barley unchanged at from 60 to 70c, and corn ⅝c up at 67½c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ½c up at 58⅜c.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.34½, and calls at $1.38.

A marked reaction appeared in the wheat market today and on heavy buying after yesterday's sharp break, precipitated by rumors that turned out to be without foundation, prices were materially advanced.

Exporters were reported to be bidding up closely to the market all the time, and more good foreign business was said to have been put through. A significant feature noted by operators is an inclination on the part of export houses to get into the spring wheat market. This is intimated to have been shown in good buying of the May wheat future at Duluth, with some quiet selling going on at Chicago. It is predicted that export call for spring wheat will assume some proportions within a comparatively short time. Export sales of Canadian Northwest wheat have been in fair volume during the last few days, and expectations are that the available surplus up there will all have been cleaned up within a short time. Over 800,000 bu of hard wheat was sold for export at Chicago this morning and some trade was worked at the seaboard. At Liverpool, wheat futures were not quoted, but spot wheat was said to be up ⅝@1c from yesterday.

Good milling demand for wheat was advised from Kansas City and active bidding appeared for everything offered.

Even on the high basis of prices, primary receipts are showing a marked falling off compared with what they had been running, while export clearances are heavy, indicating that supplies in this country are being rapidly exhausted.

May wheat opened 1c up at $1.33¾ and advanced 1¾c more up to the final hour. Durum was strong with export bids in for everything to be picked up. May durum opened unchanged at $1.53, and advanced 1c. July opened ½c up at $1.51¾ and gained ⅝c more.

Flaxseed turned weak today, with a falling off in the urgent buying by crushers that had been in evidence of late. There were steady recessions early in the session, but final prices were well up from the low.

May flax opened ½c off at $1.78 and closed ½c off at $1.78 asked.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed ⅜c up at $1.56⅞ bid.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "There was an irregular market this morning. The weakness in America yesterday and the fact of winters being offered at 6d decline was offset by the firmness in Plate offers, which are 6d dearer, and the market was sustained. There is generally quieter demand in all positions, but the undertone remains firm. Corn was firm, with strength in Plate offers and a further advance in Argentine freights. Cash holdings are firm."

Charles E. Lewis & Co. had the following closing letter from Chicago: "Today's market was largely a merchandising affair. Cash interests and export brokers led the buying, while offerings were scattered and at no time large. Yesterday's report of the demolition of the Dardanelles forts was unconfirmed, and it looks as if the Turkish-Italian differences had been fixed up for the present. Argentine freights were up, the rate being equal to 42c per bu. It is our opinion that with the ever present demand for cash wheat, prices of futures will ultimately reach a much higher level of values."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Unexpected Strength in Liverpool Gives Wheat Prices Sharp Upturn.

Chicago, Jan. 12. — Unexpected strength in prices at Liverpool led to a sharp upturn today in the wheat market here. The bulls were encouraged, too, by reports that Turkey had conceded all of Italy's demands, and that exporters and millers were active buyers. Besides, advices indicated that farmers had shown no tendency toward any general increase of offerings. The opening, which ranged from 1⅜c to 2⅛c higher, was followed by a moderate further advance.

An advance in vessel rates from Argentina favored the bulls and so did absence of reports that would confirm fears of Russian wheat soon finding an outlet through the Dardanelles. The close was strong at 3 to 3½@3⅝c above last night.

Corn rose with wheat. The market was also bullishly affected by yesterday's liberal export sales. After opening unchanged to ⅜c up, prices scored decided gains all around.

Immense stocks on hand and relative slackness of demand for feeding prevented any radical upturn. The close, though, was firm at ⅝@¾c to ¾@⅞c net advance.

Oats went higher with other grain. Selling was only of a scattered sort.

Less plentiful receipts of hogs than had been looked for helped to lift provisions. Good cash demand for lard counted further against the bears.

Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.25@1.37⅝; No. 2 hard, $1.34½@1.36⅝.

ACTIVE TRADING IN MINING STOCKS

After ruling quiet around the opening the market in mining stocks turned active at Boston today. Good advances were scored in some issues. The close was easy on realizing sales. Butte & Superior was heavily traded in, and it closed unchanged at $39.88. Alaska Gold closed 50 cents up at $27.50; Copper Range, 50 cents off at $31; Granby, 75 cents up at $62.75; Shattuck, 50 cents up at $20.50; North Butte, 50 cents off at $23, and East Butte a fraction up at $9.

At New York, Amalgamated Copper closed 25 cents off at $54.63, and Anaconda unchanged at $26.63.

In the Boston curb list, as reported to Paine, Webber & Co; Calumet & Corbin sold at 14 cents; Jumbo Extension at $1.75, United Verde Extension at $2, Calaveras at 98 cents, Davis-Daly at $1.06@1.12, Coppermines at $1.12, Goldfields Merger at 31 cents and Nevada Douglas at 12@13 cents.

A wire from Boston to Paine, Webber & Co. said: The statement of the North Butte, that the recent strike on the 2,800-foot level of the Edith May indicates ore of similar richness not disclosed on the 1,800-foot level would indicate that North Butte has come back. The recent action of the stock shows signs of accumulation. We know of one large interest who has been a consistent buyer."

* * *

A Boston wire said: "Although producers and large selling companies report a somewhat smaller volume of business in copper metal at the new level of 13¾ cents, they call the market strong and are inclined to believe that a resumption of buying will take place soon."

STOCKS ARE IRREGULAR

Lack of Demand and Short Selling in Final Trading.

Coppers and Some Prominent Issues Fall Below Monday's Prices.

New York, Jan. 12.—Variable price movements marked early dealings on the stock exchange today, with indications of a halt in the recent rise. The leaders were mostly a trifle under yesterday's close, Amalgamated Copper and Reading being the most notable exceptions. A one point decline in Bethlehem Steel sent that stock down to the level of United States Steel, which opened at a slight gain. St. Paul was strongest of the prominent railways. Reactionary tendencies developed soon after the opening. Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific and New York Central falling back ½ point. London offered no encouragement to local speculation, Americans being generally lower.

Trading was on an increasing scale of activity during the first hour, but relapsed into dullness later. The movement as a whole was narrower than yesterday's but all material advices of which there were a number, were confined to specialities, such relatively inactive issues as National lead, general motors and American Sugar gaining 2 to 3 points. Steel was the only favorite to rise above its best price of the preceding session, others selling at or under that level. Steels were prominent in the bond division with N. Y. 4s, but Rock Island Collaterals were weak.

Profit-taking in the early afternoon had no appreciable effect on the permanent issues but Rumley fell to a new low price as a result of the company's pressing financial obligations. Rock Island debentures, sympathizing with the collaterals, declined over 2 points to 53¾.

With less activity and breadth, today's stock market manifested a tendency to reach leading stocks yielding on realizing sales.

Lack of demand and short selling produced lower prices in the final trading, some prominent issues and coppers falling under yesterday's last quotations. United Dry Goods, on a single sale, regained over 13 points, while United States Realty lost over 3 points on its unfavorable statement. The closing was irregular.

IMPROVEMENT IN STEEL TRADE

Mills Now Operating at 40 Per Cent of Capacity.

Further improvement is reported in steel orders this week, though the first part of January is usually regarded as a breathing spell in trade circles.

Taking the country over, steel mills are estimated to be now operating on a basis of 40 per cent of capacity as compared with an average of 35 per cent in November and December, and from the indications it is hoped that a rate of 60 per cent will soon be reached by the end of the month.

Steel Men Optimistic.

Optimism is said to prevail among manufacturers in the Mahoning and Shenango valleys, and predictions are made that by Feb. 1 practically every mill in the Sharon district owned by the United States Steel corporation, Republic Iron & Steel and the Youngstown Sheet & Tube companies will be operating at nearly normal capacity. The tin plate mills are showing special improvement. The Shenango tin mill of the American Sheet & Tin Plate company has resumed operations in full. For some time back just twenty out of the company's thirty mills have been running.

The trade is interested in the venture of the Western Reserve Steel company at Warren, Ohio, in operating its plant of six hot mills entirely by electricity. That plant is the first in the Mahoning valley to be operated in that way.

Railroad Buying Better.

Buying of steel by the railroads is reported to have become more prominent, and it is expected that a substantial tonnage in rail orders will be placed by the leading systems within the next three weeks. Some of the Eastern roads are reported to be putting out inquiries for freight cars and locomotives, but the actual placing of orders is expected to be quiet for some time yet.

In view of the general holding back last year, spring repair work on the railroads is foreshadowed to be heavy, especially if fall wheat winters well over the Middle West and Southwest. Large advance orders for spikes are said to have been already placed.

OCEAN TO OCEAN SERVICE SOON

Transcontinental service is expected to be inaugurated by the Canadian Northern railroad within the next two months, though the company has been faced with a heavy financial problem in being unable to float the whole of its $45,000,000 bond issue guaranteed by the Dominion government last year.

At the time the war broke out only $15,000,000 of the bonds had been sold on the London market, and since then it has been found necessary to make temporary arrangements for advances in New York in order that work on the main line might be pushed. In the meantime the completion of all branch line projects has been held up.

It is now announced that William A. Read & Co. of New York have purchased a Canadian Northern issue of $2,000,000 5 per cent equipment trust certificates. With the proceeds it has been arranged to buy passenger equipment for the transcontinental service. It will include twenty sleeping cars, fifty-seven colonists' sleeping cars, seven tourist sleeping cars, twelve first-class day coaches, six second-class tourist cars, six electric interurban cars, three snow plows, and twenty-eight baggage and mail cars. Cash contract price is $2,699,040, of which the initial payment is 25 per cent.

DEATH ENDS LONG ILLNESS

John W. Doell, 63 years old, at one time chief clerk for the Duluth & Iron Range railroad, died at 8 o'clock last evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. H. Crassweller, 4230 East Superior street. He had been ill for some time.

It was because of ill health that Mr. Doell retired from the employ of the railroad about ten years ago. Prior to coming to Duluth twelve years ago, Mr. Doell was with the Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad in Minneapolis. He was born in Germany. Besides Mrs. Crassweller, he leaves two sons, William R. Doell of Eveleth and George Doell of Virginia.

The funeral will be held tomorrow from the residence and the body will later be taken to Minneapolis, where his wife and two daughters are buried.

MONTEREY EVACUATED BY CARRANZA TROOPS.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Monterey has been evacuated by practically all the Carranza troops who have gone to Matamoras, according to consular dispatches received today by the state department.

Consul General Hanna reported under date of last night that no resistance to the Villa troops was expected. They were twenty miles south of the city when his telegram was filed.

One Man Saved From Wreck.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—"Cosey" Dolan, the St. Louis National infielder, probably will remain with the Cardinals, it was said here today. Lee Magee, manager of the Brooklyn Federals, admitted he had failed to induce Dolan to join his club.

MUNICIPAL REGULATION OF THE PUBLIC UTILITY RATES IS AGAIN SOUGHT

"Nolan" Bill Introduced in Senate By Campbell of Minneapolis.

Has Bearing on Electric Light Fight Now Pending in Duluth.

Initiative and Referendum Certain to Be Again Before People.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The so-called "Nolan" bill, which along with the Minette bill for state regulation of telephones created considerable furore at the last session of the legislature, made its appearance in the legislature again today when it was introduced in the senate by Senator W. A. Campbell of Minneapolis.

The effect of the bill is to give municipalities in this state the power to regulate the rates charged by public utility corporations, and it is not without its bearing in the local public utility fight now pending there because the right of the city to regulate is involved in the 4-cent alternative ordinance. Not that the passage of the bill can affect the fight directly, or validate the alternative ordinance if the city has not now the power to regulate. Its only relation to the Duluth contest is through its bearing on the question whether the legislature ever has delegated its power of regulating public utility rates.

Assuming that the legislature never has done this, the purpose of the Nolan bill—now the Campbell bill—is to have it do so now.

Vetoed By Governor.

Two years ago the bill was introduced in the house by Representative W. I. Nolan of Minneapolis, who was defeated for election to the senate last November. It passed the house without difficulty, and went through the senate virtually unchallenged. About the same time the Minette bill to put telephone companies under state regulation went through also, and both reached Governor Eberhart together. Governor Eberhart has declared for the state regulation of all public utilities, and was making a fight for that plan.

SAY ISSUE IS DEAD FOR THE PRESENT

Suffrage Will Not Appear Again This Session, Is Opinion.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Democratic leaders in congress today considered the woman suffrage issue dead so far as the present session is concerned as the result of the defeat of the Mondell resolution for a constitutional amendment to enfranchise women in the house yesterday by a vote of 204 to 174.

Failure of the resolution to get even a majority vote, it was believed, would discourage further efforts at this session to have the question again brought up for consideration.

Undismayed, however, suffrage leaders declared today that the fight would be continued until victory was theirs. It was thought likely that suffrage leaders in congress and out would begin immediately to realign their forces for another fight in the Sixty-fourth congress next December.

On the other hand anti-suffragists were out today with statements asserting that their expectations had been fulfilled. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, president of the National Association Opposed to Suffrage, declared that the result meant that the suffrage movement, "fostered by hysterical women," was on the wane.

Suffrage leaders declared the fact that the resolution was voted upon was a victory for the cause, as the question never before had been considered in the house itself.

MAGNIFICENT HOME DESTROYED BY FIRE

Loss to Johnson Residence at University City May Reach $200,000.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 13.—Among the valuables destroyed when the home of Jackson Johnson at University City was burned today was the painting "Viscountess Melville," by Sir Thomas Lawrence, the celebrated English portrait artist. Mr. Johnson tried to enter the burning building to save the painting, but had to give up the attempt.

A $10,000 electric organ, the Christmas gift of Mr. Johnson to his family, was destroyed, as were also rare Oriental rugs and expensive pieces of imported furniture.

Mr. Johnson estimated the loss at $140,000 to $200,000. The house contained thirty-five rooms.

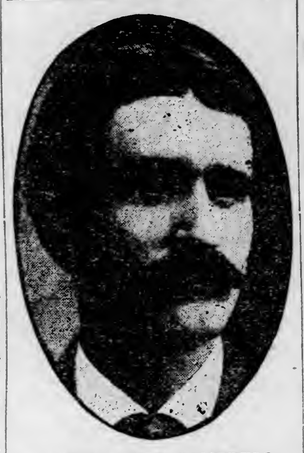

TOP BUGGY HOLDS ITS OWN WITH THE AUTO.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 13.—The top buggy, in which the farm boy used to go courting, is just as popular as it ever was, despite the rapid growth of the automobile business, according to a report made by a committee investigating the subject to the Western Retail Implement, Vehicle and Hardware Dealers' association, in convention here today.

While it was admitted that no farm is considered complete nowadays without a motor car, the report pointed out that 2,200,000 buggies—the largest number on record—were made and sold in the United States last year.

It was asserted that the automobile is a luxury while the horse-drawn vehicle is a necessity.

STATE-WIDE PROHIBITION

Senator Lobeck Would Establish It By Statutory Enactment.

House Orators Talk on Embargo on Export of Breadstuffs.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.) — State-wide prohibition by statutory enactment without constitutional amendment, and therefore without a vote of the people, is proposed in a bill offered in the senate this morning by Senator E. E. Lobeck of Alexandria, Prohibitionist candidate for governor in 1912. Because recent prohibition measures in this state have proposed constitutional amendments, it has been assumed that prohibition was impossible without it. Senator Lobeck avers not, however, and declares that prohibition by statute is entirely legal. He says six states now have prohibition by statute and without constitutional amendments, though in some states the people had a chance to vote on the matter.

The bill absolutely prohibits the manufacture, sale, gift or transportation of alcoholic drinks for beverage purposes, and rigidly regulates their sale for medicinal purposes. It also prohibits the leasing or use of buildings for saloon purposes.

FRENCH PRESIDENT FACES GERMAN FIRE

Poincare Drives in Auto Undeterred By Bursting Shells.

Paris, Jan. 13.—President Poincare, on his latest trip to the front, from which he returned yesterday, in addition to presenting the colors to the bluejackets there and visiting Hazebrouck, went to the British headquarters, where he had a long conversation with Field Marshal Sir John French and the prince of Wales and Sir Dorrien.

At British headquarters, President Poincare, undeterred by the serious risks from German shells, drove in an automobile to Arras. Accompanied by the prefect of Arras, the mayor and the bishop, President Poincare visited every part of the ruined city, whose aspect of utter desolation deeply moved him. The president gazed for a long time at the chaos which everywhere met his eye. All about were nothing but shapeless masses of stone and walls through which great holes had been torn by shells. A small railroad had been built to take away the fallen blocks of stone from the streets.

President Poincare inquired particularly if the 3,500 inhabitants, who remain in the city, were getting sufficient food, and, before leaving, spoke a few words of encouragement to a number of citizens, mostly elderly people, who crept out of their cellars on hearing that the president was there.

TERRIFIC EARTHQUAKE IN ROME SENDS PEOPLE FROM HOUSES IN PANIC

Many Public Buildings Damaged, But No Lives Lost.

Famous Column of Marcus Aurelius Badly Injured By Shock.

Historic Buildings on Piazza Colonna Are Also Damaged.

Rome, Jan. 13.—A terrifice earthquake, the strongest ever felt in Rome, occurred early today. It lasted several seconds and caused a serious panic, people everywhere rushing from their houses in terror. Many buildings were damaged by the shock.

So far as could be learned, one hour after the 'quake, no lives were lost. Nor was it possible to reach any definite idea of the degree of the damage suffered by the city.

There was confusion throughout the whole of Rome. In some cases it bordered on panic. The telephone was resorted to by great numbers of people at virtually the same time in endeavors to ascertain the safety of relatives and friends and then to learn the extent of the damage to the city.

The telephone girls did their best to meet the emergency. A system of gathering and giving information was hurriedly inaugurated.

It was learned early in the day that among the old buildings damaged was the Palazzo Chigi, as well as the famous column of Marcus Aurelius.

Historic buildings on the Piazza Colonna, in the center of Rome, also were damaged, as was also the famous Farnese palace, occupied by the French embassy. Here a piece of the stone cornice had fallen.

The belfry of the church of St. Andrea is in danger of falling and the building has been surrounded by a cordon of police to prevent the people from approaching it.

A large crowd gathered this morning in the square in front of the column of Marcus Aurelius. At a point about half way up it was seen that the column had been broken and twisted. It was at least six inches from its true axis. The immense bronze statue of St. Paul on top of the column also inclines to one side.

MILITARY BASE AT DUNKIRK DAMAGED

German Airship Raid Said to Have Been Successful.

London, Jan. 12.—A wireless dispatch from Berlin says that the military establishments in and near Dunkirk were completely destroyed by the German airship flotilla which attacked that city on Sunday. The Dunkirk lighting plant also was destroyed. The dispatch says this information is contained in a message from Rotterdam.

Dunkirk, on the coast of France, is the British continental military base. Troops and supplies arriving from England are landed at this port, where extensive military supply stations have been established.

SEEKS AID OF REPUBLICANS

President Advises With Them on Ship Purchase Bill.

Executive Intends to Concentrate Influence on Measure.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Evidences that President Wilson intends to concentrate his influence for the ship purchase bill, probably with the aid of some Republican votes, to the exclusion of the Philippines and conservation bills, if necessary, were apparent today.

Senator Kenyon, Republican, was invited to the White House today by the president and suggested several amendments to the shipping bill, which he thought would make it acceptable to some Republicans.

One would place control of the government ships under a non-partisan board and another would eliminate the temporary character of the project. The president promised to consider those changes.

The president expects to see other Republican senators in the near future. Some Democrats oppose the bill and the president plans to win enough Republican votes to pass it.

CARRANZA'S ARMY NEAR MEXICO CITY

Asserted Troops Will Be in the Capital in a Few Days.

Vera Cruz, Jan. 13.—That Gen. Carranza's army will be in Mexico City within a few days, is the optimistic assertion made here by followers of Carranza. Unofficial as well as official reports coming into Vera Cruz indicate that Gen. Villa has been sending north trainload after trainload of soldiers and that once more Mexico City is to be evacuated, except perhaps, by the garrison of Emiliano Zapata's men.

It is asserted that the states of Puebla and Tlaxcala were taken yesterday in brisk but not difficult fighting. Reports received from Tampico indicate continued Carranza successes at Victoria and other points west of that port.

Zapata Moving Out.

Washington, Jan. 13.—The Carranza agency here today issued the following statement:

"A report from Vera Cruz dated today says a dispatch received there late last night from Puebla announced that Mexico City was being evacuated by Zapata troops in consequence of a victory won by Gen. Obregon yesterday at San Martin and also as a result of Constitutionalist forces under Gen. Sanchez, now advancing into the state of Morelos."

TURKISH ARMY OCCUPIES TABRIZ, AN IMPORTANT CITY IN PERSIAN EMPIRE

Has Been Under Domination of the Russian Government.

Will Furnish Base for Projected German-Turkish Attack.

Great Britain and Russia May Offer Assistance to Persia.

London, Jan. 13.—Reuter's Telegram company has received a dispatch from its correspondent from Petrograd saying that an advance detachment of the Turkish army has occupied the Persian city of Tabriz.

The taking of Tabriz means that the Turks, who undoubtedly had the backing of some of the wild Turkish tribesmen of this locality, have secured a more or less important base for the projected German-Turkish attack upon the Russian positions in the province if Erivan, north of the Perian border, and south of Tiflis.

Occupation Easy.

The occupation of Tabriz which is the capital of the province of Azerbaijan, was rendered comparatively easy for the Turks by the recent withdrawal of Russian forces to meet the Ottoman advance further west. Whether Tabriz was taken without bloodshed is not yet known, but in the absence of Russian troops it is not likely that Persia was able to offer any serious resistance.

TWO BATTLESHIPS ARE RECOMMENDED

Six Destroyers and Seventeen Submarines Also in Naval Bill.

Washington, Jan. 13.—A naval building program of two battleships, six torpedo boat destroyers and seventeen submarines was adopted and incorporated into the naval bill today by the house naval committee. The bill was reported at once to the house.

The vote for the two battleships was 16 to 4; for the six torpedo destroyers, 15 to 5, and for the seventeen submarines, 11 to 9.

Orono, Me., Jan. 13.—Former Governor William T. Haines, whose term of office expired a week ago, yesterday registered as a student at the University of Maine. He plans to take a course in agriculture. Failing eyesight and impaired health are said to have decided the former governor to take up farming.

DECLINES TO DISCUSS IT

Cardinal Mercier Has Nothing to Say on Action of Germans.

Governor General Gives His Version of the Affair.

The Hague, Netherlands, Jan. 13, via London.—Cardinal Desideratus Mercier, the primate of Belgium, declines for the present to discuss what he defined the "vexatious measures" of the German authorities in Belgium with reference to him and to the pastoral letter written by him on Christmas.

Gen. von Bissing, governor-general of the Belgian territory occupied by the Germans, in reply to a request made by The Associated Press that he forward to Cardinal Mercier a telegram asking him for the exact facts in connection with the incident, today said:

"Cardinal Mercier requests me to forward to you the following dispatch in response to your inquiry:

"I feel very much the sympathy you have shown me and for which I thank you; but I prefer not to dwell for the moment on the vexatious measures to which you allude and I prefer to continue to shut myself in my episcopal ministry. I wish to de-

FLEET OF SUBMARINES IS BUILDING IN CANADA

Montreal, Jan. 13.—A fleet of submarines for the British navy is under construction at Montreal. An order for twenty under-water craft of the English design has been placed with the Canadian Vickers company of Montreal, and work has been started upon ten of the boats.

The company is a branch of the English ship-building firm, Vickers Sons & Maxim of England, which built the first dreadnaught and many other powerful boats for the admiralty.

It is stated that the submarine work has no relation to the order which Charles M. Schwab obtained from the British government for submarines to which the Washington government objected as involving a breach of neutrality.

MORE TROOPS TO THE FRONT

Kaiser's Soldiers Gain Two Positions of the Allies.

Infantry Fire the Heaviest for Some Time Past.

No Change Reported in the Situation in Poland.

The assaults of the allies against selected positions in the last week have led to German counter-attacks in force and the heaviest infantry fighting of some time. Today's official communications from Berlin and Paris indicate that the Germans, having brought large bodies of troops into play, have checked the advance of the allies and have themselves made important gains.

The heaviest fighting occurred yesterday to the east of Soissons. The Germans state that they definitely repulsed the allies and gained possession of two of their positions, capturing 1,700 prisoners and several guns.

Attacks near the canal of La Bassee, it is said, were defeated, while the allies were compelled by German artillery fire to evacuate trenches near the Belgian coast, in the neighborhood of Nieuport.

ADMITTED BY FRENCH.

The French statement admits that the allies were driven back near Soissons, being compelled to yield ground to the Germans.

In the Argonne, where desperate fighting has been in progress for some time, the opposing armies temporarily have relaxed their efforts. There, as elsewhere in the west, bad weather hinders military activities.

No change is recorded from either Petrograd or Berlin in the campaign in Poland.

Further important successes in the campaign against Turkey were announced today by Russia. It is asserted that one Turkish regiment was captured, another partially destroyed and a Turkish position seized, with guns and ammunition.

TURKS ON RUSSIAN SOIL.

Notwithstanding these claims, it is evident that large bodies of Turkish troops are still on Russian soil, and the recent statement from Petrograd that an overwhelming defeat has been inflicted on the Turks, involving the capture of one army corps and the cutting up of another, is denied officially at Constantinople. The statement today of the Russian staff attached to the Caucasian arms shows that Turkish resistance has not been broken, stating that obstinate and bitter fighting is still in progress.

Turkish forces which invaded Northwestern Persia are reported unofficially to have occupied Tabriz, an important Persian city within the sphere of Russian influence, where a Russian military station was maintained. A Constantinople dispatch last night said that the Russians had retreated from Tabriz.

In Southern Poland the Russians have made another attempt to push across the Nida river, apparently in an effort to advance once more on Cracow. An official Austrian statement says the Russians were compelled to withdraw under the fire of the Austrian artillery.

DISCUSSES LOSS OF FORMIDABLE

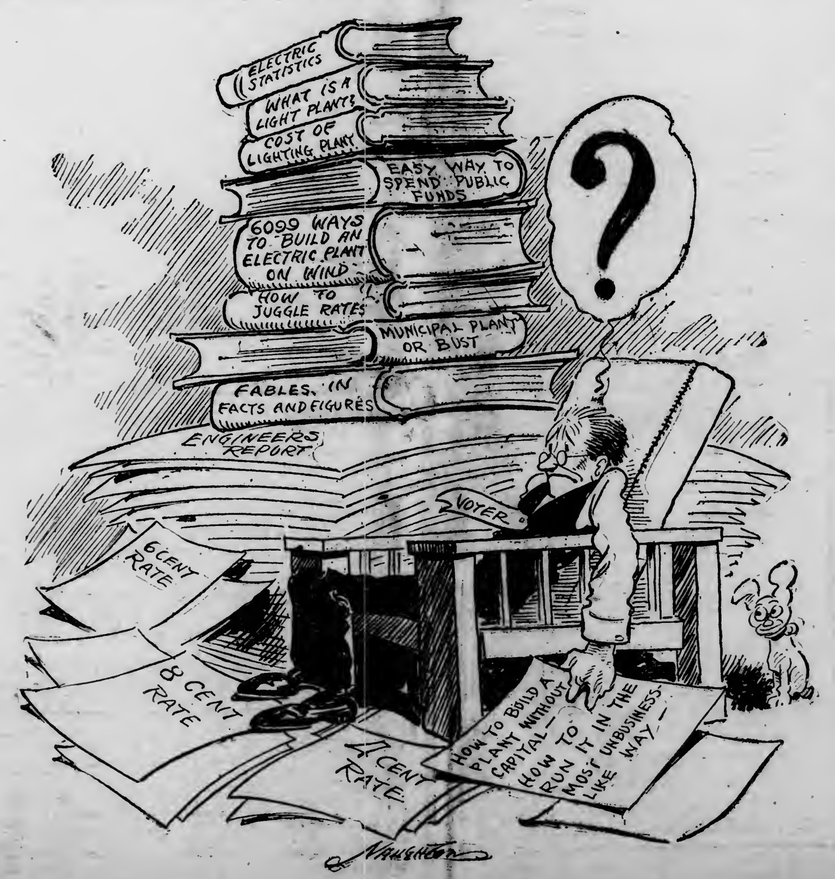

Admiral Beresford Says She Should Have Been Protected.

London, Jan. 13.—Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, retired, in a letter to the press today discusses the loss of the battleship Formidable, which was destroyed recently in the English channel by a German submarine.

"The ship was lost," says Lord Charles, "under conditions whose repetition after the losses of the Aboukir, Cressy and Hogue, we thought impossible. In both cases heavy ships were sent into waters infested with submarines without the protection of torpedo boat destroyers, which are the natural defense against the submarines. The efficacy of the destroyers is shown by the fact that the submarines are unable to injure the British squadron off the Belgian coast. It is unpardonable that officers and men should be thus gratuitously exposed to conditions under which they are sent to the bottom without a shot being fired."

MILITARISM IS MENACE

Socialist Lecturer Urges Party to Concerted Move for Peace.

Resolutions Passed Condemning Military Drill in High School.

Declaring that militarism had been one of the contributing causes of the great European war and that militarism was a menace to peace, George R. Kirkpatrick, in his lecture on "War and Militarism," at 18 Lake avenue north, urged the Socialists of Duluth to organize a movement against the instituting of military drill at the Central high school. A good sized audience heard the lecture, and as a result, the city central committee of the Socialist party will meet at 310 West First street tonight and discuss such action.

Mr. Kirkpatrick spoke in strong terms against the agitators for militarism and war. He declared the Socialist party, the church and peace societies had failed in their mission for peace.

Mr. Kirkpatrick spoke of the present war as the greatest and most bloody conflict in the history of mankind, and urged a more powerful and concerted effort on the part of the Socialist party to work for peace.

After the address many of those present held a meeting and discussed the plan for military drill in the Central high school. A protest was drawn up and signed by several leading Socialists of the city.

The protest says "military drills beget unsocial feeling, national conceit and willingness to commit murder when murder is done wholesale," and that "victory in war has no necessary connection with justice."

The document is signed by James Brown, E. N. Edes and W. E. Towne.

Former Health Department Clerk Held for Trespass.

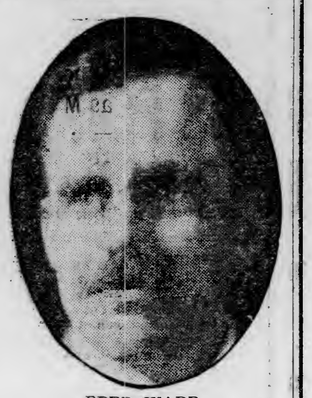

Charles A. Kitchen, who was arrested by Officer Albert Johnson on a charge of trespass, is now a patient in St. Luke's hospital, and an examination will be made regarding his mental condition. He is accused of forcing himself into a private residence on East Third street. The man is thought to be mentally deranged. Judge Gilpin of the probate court has ordered Probation Officer Hicks to make an investigation into his condition. Kitchen is thought to have relatives in Grand Rapids, Mich., and was at one time employed in Duluth as a clerk in the city health department. When brought before some of his former acquaintances yesterday, he was unable to recognize them, and has acted queerly since his admittance to the hospital. It is said that he has not had regular work for several years.

WORK FARM COMMISSION RE-ELECTS OLD OFFICERS

ARTHUR H. CRASSWELLER.

FRED WARD.

In annual session at the courthouse yesterday afternoon the joint county and city work farm commission discussed plans for the coming year's work and elected officers for the 1915 term. Arthur H. Crassweller of this city was re-elected president and A. P. Silliman of Hibbing was selected to succeed himself for another year as vice president. Fred Ward, superintendent, was appointed for another term, and by virtue of his appointment becomes secretary of the commission.

Supt. Ward submitted a report showing that during the year 1914, 720 prisoners were handled at the new institution. The first prisoners were received on Jan. 23. During that time the percentage of escapes has been less than 7 per cent, he said.

The superintendent's report for the month of December at the work farm showed that seventy-eight men had been received at the institution from the city, district and range courts and that the average daily population at the farm was eighty-seven and one-quarter. During the month, 3,173 meals were served at a cost of $.0665 per meal for food and service.

The plan of the commission to give relief to families of married men committed to the institution was working out satisfactorily, according to Supt. Ward. During the month of December, his report showed, $174.50 had been distributed among fifteen families who were found to be worthy of this aid. The average amount paid to each family was $11.63.

When married men are committed to the institution the superintendent notifies either Col. F. E. Resche, probation officer of the district court, Frank Hicks, probation officer of the municipal court, or if the prisoner comes from the range, the judge who sentenced him. The probation officers or court, as the case may be, are requested to make an investigation as to whether or not the prisoner's family is worthy of assistance. If so, orders for groceries, fuel, clothing, etc., are drawn in their favor.

REDUCTION WOULD APPLY AT ONCE

If the 6-cent ordinance carries at the election next Tuesday, the next electric light bills sent out by the Duluth-Edison company will be on the basis of 6 cents per kilowatt hour or 25 per cent lower than the present rate.

According to the city charter, the ordinance which carries will go into effect immediately after the election unless held up by the courts and should the 6-cent rate carry, users of electricity will pay only 6 cents for January lighting instead of 8 cents. On the other hand, a fight in the courts, should the 4-cent rate pass, will mean the continuance of the 8-cent rate indefinitely, it is believed.

MACCABEE LODGES INSTALL OFFICERS

Program of Music, Dance and Tabloids Is Given.

Duluth tent, No. 1, and Duluth hive, No. 1, of the Maccabees will hold a joint installation of their newly elected officers next Monday evening at the Maccabee hall, 21 Lake avenue north. In addition to the installation there will be music by Flaaten's orchestra, a dance, and a series of tabloids by the degree team of Tent No. 1.

C. G. Futter, assisted by William A. Brown, will install the officers for Tent No. 1, while Jessie K. Fager, state commander, assisted by Mary L. Barton and Laura Trux, will officiate at the ceremony of Hive Lodge No. 1.

Officers of the two lodges to be installed follow:

Duluth Tent, No. 1.

Past commander, Charles G. Futter; commander, J. L. Berini; lieutenant commander, Joseph Wilde; record keeper, J. B. Gelineau; finance keeper, J. W. Selner; chaplain, A. E. Martini; sergeant, A. E. Braun; master-at-arms, G. S. Trelford; first master of guards, A. E. Braun, Jr.; second master of guards, John Wadley; sentinel, H. L. Wold; picket, C. E. "PROFESSIONAL NIGHT" AT HOLLAND CAFE

Duluth's city commission, Commissioner Hicken, the liquor laws and the present electric lighting controversy were the subjects of parodies, songs and impromptu sketches presented by the actors of the Orpheum and Grand theaters at the first professional evening held at the Holland hotel cafe last evening.

The entertainment was a novel one and should prove exceedingly popular to patrons of the cafes. The actors from the two theaters were seated around a long table and at 11 o'clock they began their program of songs, parodies, musical numbers and sketches. Manager Goldberg of the hotel announced today that similar professional evenings will be held every Tuesday and Friday during the winter.

Cooper and Cooper of the Orpheum began the entertainment with several songs, parodies and musical numbers. They were well received and were encored several times by the large crowd that filled the cafe.

Then came Bob Hall of the Grand, who "kidded" everything in Duluth in his original impromptu songs, which he makes up as he goes along. He sings these original numbers to the music of the popular songs and he scored an immediate hit. He had to sing about thirty of them before the crowd was satisfied.

Other actors present recited or sang, the program continuing until after midnight.

TWENTY-FIVE MORE MEN GIVEN WORK

Unemployed Married Men Given Winter's Job By City.

Commissioner Murchison started work this morning on the new sewer job at Sixth street, between Fifteenth and Seventeenth avenues east. There were twenty-five men placed on the job today.

The men, all of whom have been without work for several weeks, will be paid 15 cents an hour. They are mostly unable to earn the regulation rate of 25 cents and are being paid the small amount, because Commissioner Murchison is of the opinion that they can earn at least that much and at the same will be able to make enough to buy necessities for their families.

The work on the Sixth street sewer was ordered by the commission last Monday and it will continue until finished.

DAMAGE CASE RETRIED.

Federal Jury Drawn in Case of McGilligan Against D. W. & P.

Retrial of the action of Joseph B. McGilligan against the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific Railway company was brought before Federal Judge Page Morris and a jury today. The action is for $15,000 damages, alleged to be due for personal injuries sustained by the plaintiff in a railway wreck.

The case has been in the courts for about two years and following a former trial a decree was given favoring the defendant. W. M. Steel and A. E. McManus are acting as counsel for McGilligan, and Hector Baxter for the defendant.

Most of the forenoon today was taken up in selecting a jury, and the case was opened this afternoon.

DITCHED HIS HORSE.

Farmer and Police Have Hard Time Getting Animal Out of Trench.

Carl Magnus Johnson, a farmer living about sixteen miles east of Duluth, last evening drove his horse into a very deep trench being excavated by the water and light department at Thirteenth street and Eighth avenue east. The driver, who had been drinking, called on Officer Peter A. Barber to help him out of the difficulty, and the services of Officer Wanvick were also available, but the efforts of the three men were not sufficient to extricate the imprisoned animal. Later in the night, Humane Agent McKercher was appealed to, and men from the water and light department office were also on the scene.

A derrick that they rigged for the purpose was found to be too short, and it was necessary to dig an incline into the ditch and allow the animal to walk out "on his own power." The horse was stabled for the rest of the night in the fire hall at Seventh avenue east and Ninth street.

ASSAULT CASE IS DISMISSED

Dentist Found Not Guilty of Beating His Patient.

The assault charge against Dr. Plymouth O. Peterson, dentist, was dismissed in police court this morning. The charge was instigated by Maurice G. Altman, who alleged that he had been assaulted by the dentist following a dispute over the payment for some dental work.

Dr. Peterson proved to the satisfaction of the court that he had not assaulted the man. He said he had refused to complete some bridge work on a set of teeth until he was paid for work already done.

RETRIAL OF DAMAGE CASE.

Mrs. Gustafson Begins New Fight Against Traction Company.

Trial of an action in which Mrs. Mary Gustafson is suing the Duluth Street Railway company for $2,500 damages for injuries sustained in an accident which occurred April 18, 1914, when a street car collided with a rig in which she and her husband were riding, was started before Judge Fesler and a district court jury this morning. The case was tried at the November term of court and a verdict for $475 returned in favor of the plaintiff. Judge Cant, however, set aside the verdict and granted the street railway company a new trial.

Mrs. Gustafson and her husband, Samuel Gustafson, who has a separate action pending against the company to recover damages on his own account, were traversing Twenty-third avenue west. A street car collided with the buggy in which they were riding when they crossed the Third street car line. The plaintiff charges the defendant company with negligence. The company denies responsibility for the accident.

Thomas S. Wood appeared in court today as attorney for the traction company, and Elmer F. Blu of Crassweller, Crassweller & Blu, represented the plaintiff.

Against Real Estate Tax.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 13.—The exemption of personal property from taxation, and quadrennial assessment of real estate are recommended by the state tax commission in its biennial report to the governor. The plan as outlined provides for the taxation of real estate; the taxation of public utilities and bank stock as at present and a larger license fee from automobiles. The commission recommends the assessment of realty but once in four years in order to cut down expenses.

WOMEN ARE INTERESTED

Turning Out to Lighting Debates Almost as Freely as Men.

Spirited Debate at Woodland—Big Meeting at First Church.

There were almost as many women as there were men at the public debate on the electric lighting question held last evening at the Cobb school.

Although the women will have no vote on the issues in question, they have evinced much interest in the campaign now on and, as a rule, are as well informed as the voters.

The Woodland Neighborhood club had charge of the public debate at the Cobb school last night. The auditorium was packed long before the meeting began and the arguments advanced by Neil Benton for the Citizens' Referendum committee and W. E. McEwen for the Municipal Ownership league were very spirited and interesting. Following the debate a public discussion was held.

Other Debates.

Another interesting debate last evening was held at the First Methodist church, where John Jenswold, Jr., and Commissioner Hicken supported the two sides in the campaign. A large crowd was present, there being also a number of women at this meeting.

At the meeting of the New Duluth Commercial club, John H. Norton spoke for the 6-cent rate, while City Attorney Harvey Clapp, S. F. Snively and Capt. C. C. Teare supported the arguments advanced by the Municipal Ownership league. The large hall was crowded, the meeting having been opened to the public.

Another interesting debate last evening was held between Judge Bert Fesler and H. A. Carmichael, former city attorney, following the dinner of the Men's club at the Endion church. They each spoke an hour, after which a public discussion was held.

I. K. Lewis was elected president of the club to succeed E. A. Separk.

Other meetings held last night were at the Emerson school, where A. E. McManus spoke and at the Salter school, where an address was delivered by Alex McKnight. The carpenters' union met at the Rowley hall and the painters' union at the Kalamazoo hall, where the members of the two organizations discussed at length the issues of the campaign.

SOCIALISTS DIVIDED ON LIGHTING QUESTION

The Socialist party of Duluth is preparing to line up in the municipal ownership fight over the electric light plant. At the meeting of the English local of the party last Friday night the matter came up and a lively discussion followed.

Instructions were given to the delegates representing this local on the city central committee to arrange a meeting next Thursday evening at the Finnish hall, 18 Lake avenue north.

Speakers from the Municipal Ownership league and the Citizens' Referendum committee will be invited to address the gathering. As some difference of opirion has developed among the Socialists on the question now before the people, a live meeting is looked for.

The public is invited to attend. An open discussion will follow the addresses of the speakers.

A. G. McKnight will speak on behalf of the unit plan and Ray Hughes will represent the phase of the question from the standpoint of the Citizens' Referendum committee.

WAR WRITERS ARE POPULAR

Articles and Pictures of European Conflict in Demand at Library.

New Books on War to Be Ordered; Italian Books Coming.

If the present-day reader is getting a little tired of reading about Aeneas, Achilles and other heroes of the Trojan war, he shows no lagging of interest in war literature. The present writers who "sing" of "arms and the heroes" are becoming more popular every day. Patrons of the public library throng the reading rooms and devour war maps, newspapers and magazine articles, short verse, and all manners of books on modern Europe.

To feed this voracious appetite for such literature, Miss Frances Earhart, the librarian, has put all available reading material on war within easy grasp of the reader. Books on modern Europe are placed on the display rack in the rotunda, and the war pictures put out by daily newspapers are displayed. All of these books and pictures are scanned daily and with great interest.

While it is a little early for the production of many books on the present war, except as they may appear in magazine form, Miss Earhart is arranging to order a big supply of the best war literature in the near future. This order will be issued in the spring, and the books will be available to library patrons some time later.

Italian Books.

A unique feature of the books recently ordered is a collection of Italian books, the first of its kind issued by the Duluth library. Vice Consul Castigliano, who represents the "Boot" kingdom here, has made out a list of the best and most popular Italian literature, and has arranged so that the library will get shipping expenses canceled. Italy's important position and expected action in the European war has created a decided interest in Italian books. Although the belief in the "Inferno" of Dante has been shaken a little by Biblical critics, the interest in his great poem is beginning to flourish again. Library patrons are now being refreshed by a mental diet of "The Inferno."

"RAISES" AMERICAN BILLS AND RECEIVES SENTENCE.

Fort William, Ont., Jan. 13.—Gus Alaise, a Greek, was yesterday sentenced to Stony Mountain prison for being in possession of counterfeit 50-cent pieces and for being in possession and attempting to pass American $1 bills raised to tens by pasting tobacco seals over the correct figure. His partner, who turned state's evidence, said that three of the bogus bills had been passed on Winnipeg merchants and some in the Twin Cities.

ASK HUGHES TO GIVE PROOF

M. O. League Denies "7-Cent" Statement Was Torn From Report.

Prominent members of the Municipal Ownership league this morning denied the statement made last evening by Ray M. Hughes to the effect that three pages from the October, 1911, report of Pillsbury and Claussen were torn out.

John Hogan, former alderman, who was chairman of the municipal ownership committee at the time, said this morning that he inspected it after it was filed with the city clerk and that no pages were ever taken out or others inserted. He claims that the 3.66-cent rate, which is there now, was included by the engineers.

A. G. McKnight, Dr. D. H. Day and several other members of the executive committee, insist that Mr. Hughes bring proof of his allegations. It was also said at the headquarters of the M. O. league that telegrams will probably be sent to both Mr. Pillsbury and Mr. Claussen and statements obtained from them regarding this new charge.

City Clerk Palmer, who has the report of the engineers on file, said this morning that it has twenty-three pages, that the estimated rate of 3.66 for lighting is given and there are no pages missing now.

GERMANY'S CONTRIBUTION

Her History Is the History of Civilization, Says Loebeck.

Second Lecture in Historical Series at the Y. M. C. A.

"A history of the German people is a history of civilization and progress. All of the essential elements of civilization, unknown to the ancients, were introduced into the history of humanity by the Germans. These were personal liberty, spiritual liberty and intellectual liberty."

This was the keynote of a lecture on "Germany," delivered by Robert Loebeck of this city last evening at the Y. M. C. A. The lecture was a second of a series of historical lectures.

Mr. Loebeck opened his talk with a quotation of a poem written by a Washington boy at the beginning of the war. It was printed in The Herald shortly afterwards and the last lines of it run:

"And with all the blooming virtues
For which you know we shine,
We are carrying civilization
To the people on the Rhine."

Elements of Civilization.

The three elements of civilization, the origin of which he attributed to the Germans, were commented upon. "Personal liberty," he said,' was introduced according to Montesquieu and Gizot, the greatest French historians, into the decaying Roman empire during the migration of people in the fourth and fifth century; spiritual liberty by the Reformation, in the beginning of the sixteenth century, the roots of which can easily be traced as far back as the thirteenth century, which broke the intellectual yoke imposed by the church, which checked all free progress, and lastly, intellectual liberty, the unrestricted and unprejudiced inquiry of the classical period of German philosophy at the end of the eighteenth and the beginning of the nineteenth century, which put a stop to the caprice of philosophic speculation by defining for the human mind the limitations of its capacity for knowledge. The latter not only has opened the new path, of which the achievements of the last century are the direct results, but, according to Oscar Wilde, will become the starting point for the cosmopolitanism of the future."

History of Germans.

Mr. Loebeck then gave an abbreviated history and chronology of the German people from the time of Caesar and Tacitus to modern times. Mr. Loebeck said:

"After the formation of the new empire in 1871, the Germans added to their spiritual domains the progress of industry and trade. The foreign trade of Germany has during this time increased from one to five billion dollars, while the English showed a growth of from two and a half to five and a half billion dollars, this by the way is the chief cause of the war. As for France, she wages a war of revenge; she wants Alsace-Lorraine back, which, as Julius Caesar tells us, was German at his time and was stolen from Germany by Louis XIV after the Thirty Years' war, when Germany was exhausted from the big fight for spiritual liberty, and its population had sunk from twenty millions to six millions.

"Germany is the highest developed country in the world. Its public institutions and its control of public utilities form an example for other countries. There is more democracy in Germany than in any other country. Its form of government is very similar to the one of the United States, with the sole difference that the presidency is hereditary. There is no such thing as militarism in the sense Germany's enemies want to make us believe. It has no influence on the government, its members, from the common soldier to the highest general, cannot even influence the government, as they have no vote, as it is the case in other countries, a circumstance which excludes jingoism, which is so predominant in France. The absolutely necessary standing army is almost the slave of the people.

"Germany before Napoleon's time consisted of a loose federation of about 1,500 units, kingdoms, duchies, principalities, free cities, etc. When Napoleon got through with them thirty-eight were left, when Bismarck gave his last touches twenty-five were left. These were united by Bismarck in the present German empire under the hegonomy of Prussia, which procedure was pointed out as very beneficial for the German people, though it created great envy as is shown by the present war."

TO ASK ATTORNEY TO RETURN $2,531.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 13.—Formal demand will be made on John D. Fredericks, former district attorney, for $2,531 expended in detective work from a fund of $4,000, alleged to have been gathered by Bert Franklin, a detective, for the purpose of bribing jurors during the trial of the McNamara brothers.

Before retiring from office, on Dec. 31, Fredericks issued a statement saying $1,000 of the sum had been given to Ortie McManigal, confessed dynamiter, for the purpose of leaving the country. McManigal was secretly released from the county jail on Nov. 5, 1913.

Fredericks asked the board of supervisors to reimburse the fund in the sum of $2,531.58, which, he stated, had been expended in detective work, and then determine by court proceedings to what use the entire $4,000 had been put.

The board rejected Fredericks' application yesterday and instructed the county counsel to make a formal demand on him for the amount expended.

SAYS THREE PAGES WERE REMOVED FROM REPORT

Hughes Openly Charges Doctoring of Pillsbury-Claussen Statement.

Says Engineers Recommended 7-Cent Maximum Lighting Rate.

Ray M. Hughes, chairman of the Citizens' Referendum committee, sprung a sensation at the public meeting at Moose hall in West Duluth last evening, when he declared that before the general public could see the report of Engineers Pillsbury and Claussen on the proposed plant filed with the city clerk in October, 1911, three pages were torn out, in which was included the schedule of rates.

This schedule, Mr. Hughes declared last evening, provided for a maximum of 7 cents per kilowatt hour for lighting and 4 cents per kilowatt hour for power. Three new pages were then inserted, said the speaker, and the schedule then read that light could be furnished by the new plant for 3.66 cents per kilowatt hour.

Mr. Hughes made this startling statement during his arguments following the address delivered by A. E. McManus for the Municipal Ownership league. The large hall was packed and the meeting was one of the most enthusiastic held during the campaign.

Hughes' Statement.

Mr. Hughes said in part:

"On May 8, 1911, the city council passed a resolution authorizing the proper officers to enter into a contract with Oscar Claussen and Charles L. Pillsbury to make a report relative to the construction of an electric light plant for the city of Duluth and that such investigation and report should include 'The determination of what is a reasonable rate to charge for the service rendered in furnishing electric light, heat and power to the city and its inhabitants'. The resolution also states that the engineers should make 'a determination of reasonable rates to be charged for the service of such plant'. This resolution contemplated a plant that would duplicate the Duluth-Edison plant and furnish all the current furnished at that time by the Duluth-Edison company to the same number of customers. There was nothing indefinite. All the data from which to make a determination of rates for the service to be charged was definite.

"In October, 1911, part two of the report of Messrs. Pillsbury and Claussen was filed with the city clerk. The report included a schedule of rates. The schedule provided a '7-cent maximum per kilowatt hour for lighting and a 4-cent maximum per kilowatt hour for power'.

"Before the general public had a chance to examine the report which had been filed in the city clerk's office, some one removed pages 16, 17 and 18 from this report. These were the pages containing the schedule of rates.

"A few days later three pages numbered 16, 17 and 18 were inserted in the written report in the city clerk's office. These pages differed from the original pages which were in the report in that they stated that a city could furnish the current for the average net rate of 3.66 cents per kilowatt hour, provided the city received from taxation $69.68 per arc light. There is a decided difference between the report as originally prepared in that it stated the city would have to charge a maximum rate of 7 cents for residence lighting and 4 cents for power, whereas in the doctored report an average of 3.66 cents was prescribed.

"This is most peculiar in view of the circumstances that about that time the Duluth-Edison company offered to enter into a contract selling the electricity for 6 cents per kilowatt hour."

RECEIVED BY PRESIDENT

Great White Father Heard Story of Wisconsin Point Indians.

Efforts Made to Prevent Removal of Old Burying Ground.

Next Friday the last member of a delegation which went to Washington to represent Indians of Wisconsin Point to protest to the president and the commissioner of Indian affairs, Cato Sells, against the removal of the Indian graveyard will have returned.

The Indians have already reached home, but one of their advocates, a white woman, Miss Elizabeth Haupt of Hunter's Park, is still on the way. She has written quite extensively about the trip to The Herald, and says that the delegation was delightfully received in Washington by President Wilson and by Miss Margaret Wilson, to the latter of whom the visiting Indians carried many gifts of real lace, made by the Ojibways of the Leech Lake agency, and other Indian trinkets.

Miss Haupt relates the grievances of the Indians, who consider it a serious desecration of their ancient graveyard—alleged to be fully 200 years old—to remove the bodies to some other place. Most of the holdings on the strip of sand that extends from the Wisconsin shore northward to the natural entry to the harbor, have been purchased by those who plan to hold the property for future commercial development, as the shore line around the harbor is considered by various interests none too extensive. But the Indians have now started a move to retain their ancient holdings.

Miss Haupt, in her story to The Herald, says that the president was deeply stirred by the petition and passed it on to Secretary Lane of the interior department, who, in turn, gave it over to Commissioner Sells, head of Indian affairs, who, Miss Haupt says, is "the most sympathetic, incorruptible and noble-hearted father of Indians that has ever held the office at Washington."

The petition to the president and Indian commissioner recites the Indian's side of the case in detail, telling how the land has been the property of the O-sa-gie family for seven generations, and that a certain man borrowed the script given Chief O-sa-gie in the treaty of 1854 and has wrongfully sold the land, thereby robbing the Indians of their home. The Indians also claim the land under settlers' rights. They ask the Federal authorities to investigate the matter and have any injustice that may have been done, righted.

FOR UNIVERSITY OF NORTH DAKOTA

Budget Shows $234,459 Needed for the Coming Two Years.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The University of North Dakota budget for the next two years, showing an estimated need of $234,459.95 for the university and school of mines proper, irrespective of the departments operated under the direction of the institutional board of regents, has been filed with State Auditor Carl Jorgenson.

In his letter transmitting the estimated needs of the institution, Secretary Wilkerson says:

"In compliance with your request, I am separating the mining station and biological station from the university budget, and have treated in the same way the state geological survey and the state public health laboratory, both of which are imposed on us, in a way, and are not institutional expenses."

Under the general budget for the university and school of mines, covering the estimate of money needed during the coming biennial period, provision is made for additions to two of the present buildings, the science hall and engineering building. The sum of $25,000 for the engineering work and $35,000 for the science hall is asked.

The geological survey requires $2,000 annually. The biological station at Devils Lake needs $6,000 and the public health laboratory $10,000. The mining sub-station at Hebron requires $35,000, of which amount $14,000 is for the construction of new buildings, $12,000 for operation and $3,000 to cover the deficit created by fire.

According to the estimates returned to the state auditor yesterday from Fargo, the sum of $1,073,500 is needed for the proper maintenance and operation of the agricultural college, the experiment station and the agricultural sub-stations of the state for the next two years.

But three days of the $24.50 choice of the house sale, at the Friedman Shop.

PRACTICAL HELP FOR STUDENTS

Schoolmasters' Club Committee Takes Step for Vocational Training.

A committee of the Schoolmasters' club yesterday asked the boys of the Central high school if they expected to finish their high school work, if they had decided on what line of work they intended taking up, and what line interested them the most. This was done at a mass meeting of the boys, slips being passed out on which they were requested to write the answers.

The object is to take steps toward better vocational training for the pupils and the committee plans to inaugurate help methods for the boys. The chairman of the committee is T. F. Phillips of the Central high faculty. For boys that expect to leave school immediately or in the near future, the vocational training committee will work in conjunction with the employment committee, headed by F. B. Carey. In cases where boys expect to go to college they will be advised as to what colleges will best fit them for the business they expect to ultimately pursue. Other methods of help will be developed as they are found advisable or necessary.

Because this is the end of our business year. Because, before we take count of our enormous stocks, we must clear out all possible merchandise. Because, to do this, prices must be cut and Duluth Women know it. The public understands that this enormous clearance is the greatest of all bargain times in the Northwest.

Thousands upon thousands of high grade articles show price reductions. A great mass of stocks—myriads of attractive items—this is the story of tomorrow's sale. And our policy of "house-cleaning" has been a most important element in the wonderful progress of this great store. It is as if, in this page, we ushered Duluth women through our entire building, pointing out frankly and sincerely every important bargain, saying: "This is an article we cut 'way down—here is an item actually below cost." That is exactly what we do now. And this is your chance. Tomorrow is the great day. Then selections will be at their best.

BRITISH FARMER IS ENJOYING PROSPERITY.

London, Jan. 13.—After many years of depression the British farmer is enjoying prosperity. Everything he raises is quickly saleable at prices which are gradually climbing higher and higher. Wheat and oats, which are the staple crops of most English farmers, are fetching excellent prices, while the livestock which they fattened for the holiday market was taken at figures which have not been touched in many years.

WOMAN REFUSES OPERATION

Tells How She Was Saved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Louisville, Ky.—"I think if more suffering women would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound they would enjoy better health. I suffered from a female trouble, and the doctors decided I had a tumorous growth and would have to be operated upon, but I refused as I do not believe in operations. I had fainting spells, bloated, and could hardly stand the pain in my left side. My husband insisted that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so thankful I did, for I am now a well woman. I sleep better, do all my housework and take long walks. I never fail to praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my good health."—Mrs. J. M. RESCH, 1900 West Broadway, Louisville, Ky.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, is it not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner?

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter wil be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

SAN DIEGO HOLDUP SUSPECT IS FORMER WEST END MAN

Clifford J. Dwyer, who is being held as a hold-up suspect by the police at San Diego, Cal., lived in the West end for a number of years as a boy. He has a police record extending back to June, 1903, when but 15 years old. That year he was arrested for petty larceny and again in May, 1906, for the same offense for which he was given a reformatory sentence.

He served time in the Green Bay, Wis., reformatory for thefts which he took part in while at Eau Claire. In 1911 he was back in Duluth and was arrested for driving an automobile without a license.

In September, 1911, he was arrested at Detroit, Mich., on a charge of having been implicated in the burglarizing of Johnson & Peterson's hardware store, West Superior street, which took place on Aug. 1 that year. He was brought back to Duluth and sentenced to five years at Stillwater on the indeterminate plan. After serving two years he was paroled and left the state shortly afterwards. Since then the penitentiary authorities have been looking for him for violating his parole.

According to the statement of a woman, who claims to have been married to him in St. Paul last September, Dwyer, who has been operating under the name of "Clifford Disberry," has participated in twenty-five hold-ups and robberies during the last two months. A suitcase, said to have been stolen, was sent to the woman's rooms in a Los Angeles hotel and this contained several sets of false whiskers, mustaches, and a revolver.

MANY POOR PERSONS ARE GIVEN HELP

Salvation Army Home Issues Report for the Year 1914.

From the collection of waste material such as the gathering of waste paper, cast-off clothing, old furniture, etc., the Salvation Army Industrial home, 1202-4 West Michigan street, has maintained a philanthropic institution which has provided meals and sleeping quarters for hundreds of homeless men, according to a report completed yesterday for 1914 by Adjt. Robert Trembly.

The clothing and old furniture have been collected from various parts of the city and sold for sufficient to cover the cost of this work while at the same time giving employment to a number of men. Old papers and waste papers have been baled and sold in carload lots and this has resulted in securing funds which have gone a large way towards the maintenance of the home.

During the last year the report shows that the home has supplied men with 4,680 days' work for which has been paid $2,909. Destitute men have worked for 15,000 meals and 7,280 lodgings. Coffee and rolls were given free to 12,049 and 1,650 beds were given free and 1,092 meals were served free. During the year 4 men were given away 78 overcoats and 1,500 other garments.

Employment was found for 278 men and 24 women during the year by the free labor bureau. The reports shows that 121 gospel meetings had been held at which the attendance was 3,150 and that 29 men had professed conversion. The home has received $260 cash donations in addition to cast off clothing and furniture.

MAKE APPEAL FROM CITY ASSESSMENT

Property Owners Object to Plan for Vernon Street Paving.

Adolph Tytz, Knute Breva, John Bjerkness and Peter Myrhe, four Vernon street property owners, yesterday filed notices of appeal from the city's assessment for improving the street from Grank Forks avenue to the west line of Bryant's addition to Duluth. The property owners assert that the assessments levied against their property are in excess of the benefits which will be derived. They also allege that the city has acted arbitrarily in directing that the street is paved and laid with a concrete base. This, they say, was not requested by the original petitioners for the improvement.

The latter has been in charge of the Sunday school for the last three years and refused to accept the position this year because he expects to be out of the city a good share of the time. Miss Edith Dahl was elected secretary, Miss Marie Larson treasurer and Miss Alphild Benson, prganist.

PREPARING CELEBRATION.

Chinese Will Have Elaborate Time on Their New Year.

The Chinese New Year begins Feb. 13 and from present indications there is to be a lively celebration by the Orientals in Duluth on that day and night. The festivities and entertainment are in charge of Chin D. Ong of this city and an elaborate banquet is being arranged to take place at the Mandarin Cafe.

There will be brother countrymen from the range and some from neighboring states. Mr. Ong will be toastmaster and the new republic of China will be the keynote of his introductory speech. Many delicacies known more particularly to the Chinese chef will be provided for the banquet, and it is said that chop-suey and bird's nest pudding will have a conspicuous place on the menu. The Chinese republic has adopted the Western calendar, but the old New Years is still observed as a feast day.

DECREE SETS A PRECEDENT

Judge Booth's Ruling on Mining Lease of Great Importance.

Gives Interpretation of the Compulsory Mining Clause in Leases.

The decree of Federal Judge Wilbur F. Booth in Minneapolis in the case of the Niles Land company against the Oliver Mining company and the Chemung Mining company, reported in The Herald last evening, may have a far-reaching effect and set a precedent in the matter of compulsory mining under terms of many leases or contracts. The court decided in favor of the defendant companies and stated specifically that the defendants were not obliged to begin mining at any particular time and that operations need not necessarily be continuous. The decision will have a direct bearing on the interpretation of many similar leases.

Covers Ground Thoroughly.

Judge Booth takes up the matter exhaustively, stating the practice common on the Iron range, and also the tentative understanding between the parties involved in the action.

"For nearly ten years," Judge Booth declares, "both parties have concurred in the operations and administration of the lease as not calling for compulsory mining. Twenty periodical settlements have been made between the parties on such a basis, hundreds of thousands of dollars have been expended by the defendant in full belief in and reliance upon such construction. No complaint had been made by the plaintiff until the notice of Jan. 12 that the defendants were not fulfilling their obligations imposed by the contract, although the plaintiff was fully aware that no active mining operations were going on. That such practical construction of the contract by the plaintiff is of great weight, and even of itself controlling, is the doctrine in many cases."

Workmanlike Clause Only.

The clause construed that mining was necessary was, in the opinion of the court, simply a workmanlike clause. This construction the court declares is consistent and in harmony with the royalty and ground rent clauses of the contract, and a legitimate one, to compel the payment annually of a certain sum of money, which, if ore was mined, or if there was no ore in paying quantities in the land, should be ground rent pure and simple.

"The evidence as to custom and with respect to the general form of mining contracts, and especially with reference to the employment of certain clauses in such contracts, is also of weight," the court decrees.

"Evidence of such custom, for the purposes stated," Judge Booth continues, "was, in my opinion, clearly admissable, and the evidence which was introduced in this case as to such custom, was uncontradicted and was clear and convincing.

Were Aware of Custom.

"That both parties knew of such custom, I have little doubt; but, in any event, it is certain that the defendant Chemung company knew of it; and it is also clear, under evidence, that the custom was notorious, and well known in mining business in Minnesota, so that when the plaintiff itself selected these well known clauses to express its intention in the contract it must be held that to have adopted the custom as to the effect of the employment of the clause. Finally, the practical construction of the contract by the parties leads to the same conclusion."

The action was begun in December, 1913, and was tried last July. A big array of legal talent was engaged on each side and a number of prominent mining experts testified.

For the complainants appeared Judge Nelson Sharpe of Michigan, Leo N. Sharpe of Philadelphia and Attorneys Stearns and Hunter of Duluth. For the Chemung company appeared W. W. Billson and A. L. Agatih of Duluth. For the Oliver company appeared Frank B. Kellogg, C. A. Severance and R. E. Olds of St. Paul and F. D. Adams and George W. Morgan of Duluth.

FIREBUG CAUGHT IN PENITENTIARY

Mystery of Incendiary Blazes at Joliet Solved at Last.

Joliet, Ill., Jan. 13.—The mystery of a series of incendiary fires in the state penitentiary, which have threatened the lives of the 1,500 prisoners, was believed to have been solved last night when George Howard, sentenced from Chicago, was caught lighting a blaze in the broom room after three fires in the furniture factory had been extinguished.

Howard, who also has been confined in the insane asylum at Chester, was caught after he had threatened Deputy Warden Walsh with a meat cleaver.

The first blaze discovered last night was in the furniture shop where three piles of shavings were blazing. The convict fire brigade had hose trained on the flames when an alarm rang in from the rattan factory.

Walsh led a second detachment of fire fighters to the rattan factory and found fires burning at both ends. These were placed under control and Walsh was returning to the furniture shop when he met Charles Murray, a convict from Peoria.

"There he is," Murray shouted. "There is the firebug."

Walsh saw Howard at the entrance to the broom room leaning over a pile of straw, with a lighted match in his hand. As Walsh and Murray rushed him, Howard straightened up with the meat cleaver in his hand. Although the inner guards do not carry revolvers or clubs, Walsh dropped his hand to his hip pocket and threatened to shoot Howard. The ruse was successful and the prisoner dropped the cleaver.

The first incendiary fire was set in June when rattan factory No. 1 was found on fire. Dec. 21 rattan shops 2 and 3 were destroyed with a loss of $10,000. Howard has confessed, it is said, to setting these fires.

MISSES AN AUTO RIDE.

Police Called to Oust Woman Boarder Find Her Gone.

The police department received a call last night from 5 Mesaba place, requesting them to call for a young woman boarder whose presence was not wanted in the establishment. There had been a dispute earlier in the afternoon, and the boarder was asked to "beat it." This she declined to do, and the police were appealed to. Officer P. Barber with the emergency ambulance responded, but on his arrival at 5 Mesaba place the woman had decamped. The officer remarked that she had missed an auto ride.

FOURTH OF ARMY LEFT

Sixty Thousand All That Are Left of Belgian Army of 230,000.

More Efficient Machine Than That Which First Met Germans.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Furnes, West Flanders, Dec. 27.—Sixty thousand worn soldiers strung along the Yser, where they checked the rush of the German invaders toward Pas de Calais, are all that are left of the Belgian army of 230,000 men under arms when Germany invaded Belgium, but one of King Albert's staff officers who has been with the army since the siege of Liege, asserts that the small Belgian force today is a far more efficient machine than that which met the first German attack.

He said to the Associated Press correspondent:

"When we reached the Yser we were a beaten and demoralized army, almost to the point of absolute disorganization. Fighting for weeks without adequate support from our allies, and with most of our men believing that we had been left to our fate, the chances of ever again making a fighting force of our army seemed remote. That we did so was due to the highest and lowest factors in our civilization, the inspiration and activity of our king and the fighting spirit of our peasantry.

King's Guards Disbanded.

"The king's aristocratic regiment of guards is a thing of the past. They have been disbanded and their places taken by two regiments made up of Flemish peasants and commanded by active young officers in Belgium.

"When the critical situation along the Yser was realized the local peasantry seemed to remember the glory of their past when their people were the terror of the invading Spaniard and it needed only the actual leadership of the king to weld them into the fighting force you see here today. The king is commander of this army and during those nine terrible days in the trenches while the Germans hurled their hosts at us, and we waited in vain for the expected support, the king was not only an inspiration to his officers and men as he fought beside them, but he proved himself a capable military leader. Today the army is an efficient fighting force, too small of course, for we are unable to give our men leave from the trenches such as the French and English now enjoy, and this has caused some natural complaint, but in spite of this, as you can see for yourself, the spirits of the soldiers could not be better. These men are all veterans now and most of them are young in years. The officers are picked for their work without regard to their former rank and many of the highest officers of the army have been relegated to posts where they are doing useful work, but where they cannot repeat any of the blunders which marked the first part of the war.

The Artillery's Efficiency.

"We have no apologies to make for our artillery. This service was the really professional branch of the army into which officers went for pure love of their profession, and from Liege to the Yser they have proven themselves worthy of the cause for which they are fighting. Some idea of the value placed on our artillery is indicated by the fact that a Belgian captain of artillery was placed in command of 200 French guns and directed their fire continuously for thirty-six hours in one of the fiercest artillery duels of the campaign.

"Only second to our artillery are the regular cyclist corps and the voluntary motor corps. The cyclists were well trained and the Uhlans will long have cause to remember their marksmanship. The automobile drivers volunteered from what might have been called the butterfly class of society youths, but they have proven as tough as the battered cars which they drive. They have endured incredible hardships and many of them occupy unmarked graves, the sole reward for some desperate scouting venture.

"The less said about our infantry existing at the beginning of the war the better, but the work of the men out there in the trenches has paid in full for any past shortcomings in this branch of the service. We only have a few square miles of our country left, and practically all of this is subject to artillery fire, but the same spirit which made the low countries famous as battle grounds in the Middle Ages seems to have revived a tenacity in our army which will continue to hold West Flanders until the advance on Brussels begins."

ADMIT CONSPIRACY IN ELECTION OF NOV. 3

Eighty Men of Terre Haute Plead Guilty to Indictments.

Indianapolis, Jan. 13.—That a conspiracy to corrupt the election of Nov. 3, 1914, had existed, was admitted by eighty men who, before Judge A. B. Anderson in United States district court, pleaded guilty to an indictment returned by a Federal grand jury the day before Christmas. Eight others of the 114 defendants pleaded not guilty, while demurrers were filed for the remaining twenty-six prisoners, including Mayor Donn M. Roberts, Circuit Judge Eli H. Redman, City Judge Thomas Smith, Sheriff Dennis Shea and other city and county officials. Argument on the demurrers was set for Jan. 20.

While it was generally known that some of the defendants would plead guilty, the large number that answered "guilty" when called before the court caused much surprise in the crowded courtroom.

Those who admitted their guilt did so without being promised immunity. The reason they were not sentenced is that they are expected to testify for the government in the cases to be tried. With few exceptions, the prominent men in the alleged conspiracy have decided to fight the charge and have employed Representative A. O. Stanley of Henderson, Ky., as chief counsel.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

Woman's Realm

The week of Sept. 20 has been decided upon as the time of the meeting of the Minnesota State Federation of Women's Clubs in Duluth, subject to the approval of the executive board of the state. This action was taken at the meeting of the local board held this morning. The appointment of committees was postponed until the March meeting. Mrs. P. L. De Voist presided.

SUFFRAGISTS HOPEFUL.

Defeat at Washington Makes Them Turn to State Issue.

Although the suffrage bill was defeated in the house of representatives, suffragists of Minnesota are hopeful that the state will be more favorable to the cause.

Speaking of the legislature Mrs. W. W. Lawrence, president of the Duluth Woman's Suffrage association, said this morning: "I believe in taking the optimistic view. The members of the legislature are supposed to be intelligent men when they are elected to office. This morning I asked the mother of a judge if her son favored woman suffrage. 'Of course he does,' she said, 'all intelligent persons do in this age.'"

Dr. Mary McCoy said: "After so many years of labor I feel it would be a great injustice if the legislature does not act favorably on the bill. We have been led to expect it in 1915. We have been led to expect that all the representatives of this part of the state are in favor of woman suffrage. The sentiment for woman suffrage is growing stronger each year and we are keeping close tab on all those who vote against the bill for a day of reckoning is coming."

The following is taken from the last number of the Woman's Journal:

"The soldiers drilling at Salisbury, England, have been trying passing a message from man to man through a long line of sentinels. A message that left the right flank worded: 'Enemy advancing on right flank; send reinforcements', reached the left flank worded: 'Enemy advancing with hammershank; send three-and-four-pence'. This bears about as much likeness to the original as the reports about equal suffrage in the West bear to the truth after passing through a long line of anti-suffragists."

ATTENTION TO DETAILS IS THE SECRET OF FLONZALEY'S SUCCESS

FLONZALEY QUARTET.

Attention to details is one of the characteristics of the Flonzaley quartet. It is not unusual for the members to devote one-half their rehearsal time to what is generally considered the simple problem of "tuning up." Great inconvenience is caused by the changeable weather and two sets of strings are required, one for dry days and another for damp days. The Flonzaleys have found they can obtain the best metal strings in Berlin and the best gut strings in England, but in damp weather they can not use the E string of English manufacture but must substitute a peculiar kind found only in Paris.

Allied to the question of strings is the problem of "mutes." While on a new cheap instrument any mute will ordinarily do, on the old Italian instruments in the Flonzaleys' equipment, notes that are unsatisfactory in tone and quality will result unless the mute is carefully chosen. The members have spent much time experimenting with wood, corncob, ivory and other material. Finally, they have found that aluminum mutes produced the best results, but it is necessary to find a special position for them in order to acquire absolute equality of tone.

Even those familiar with the exquisite playing of the Flonzaley quartet little realize the pains to which the members go to prepare for their concerts. Aside from the weeks of daily practice, there are innumerable details calling for careful thought. Each of the members devotes many hours each season to careful research in the great music libraries in quest of unknown works, the determination of whose merits requires painstaking study. In the National library in Washington, and in private libraries in Boston and New York, the musicians have been successful in unearthing several gems of musical literature.

The Flonzaley String quartet will give the second artist recital of the Matinee Musicale series tomorrow evening at 8:15 o'clock at the First Methodist church.

AUSTRIAN GIRLS GIVE CONTENTS OF WEDDING CHESTS TO SOLDIERS

Hubert Basetich, postmaster of Krapang, Croatia, a city of about 3,000, has written to his brother, Anton of this city, editor of Radnicko Obrano, a weekly Croatian paper, that the young women of Austria are giving the contents of their wedding chests for the Austrian soldiers.

Contrary to the custom of American girls who crochet, embroider, hem, whip and do all kinds of fine needle work in order that they may have a good collection of household linen for their new homes, the Austrian girls begin when they are about 15 years old to knit socks and other articles to give to their wedding guests. The young women of that country are now giving as freely as if the useful articles were for merry-makers at their weddings instead of for total strangers. Perhaps they are getting even more joy out of the giving for it gives them a chance to show their patriotism and to protect the feet of the soldiers from January snows.

SEEN IN THE SHOPS

If you want to be right in style wear sand color, if not a gown or a hat of that new shade of tan, at least collars and cuffs with some harmonizing color. Tailor suits, blouses, general utility frocks and lace trimmings all come in this new shade that is sometimes called "sand paper" to bring to mind the light clean-looking tone.

Although it will be many weeks before spring clothes will be needed in Duluth sand color has made its appearance here. One of the stores is showing a wool gown of this material that is attractive enough to make one pine to stylish proportions for it.

The tunic is held in with a belt embroidered in a Greek key design in light blue and a similarly embroidered strap hangs from the patch pocket. The skirt is trimmed with large conical buttons of the dress material.

Another store is showing a sand colored dress of light weight serge trimmed with many flat, round buttons of the serge.

Skirts are fuller and waist lines are higher. In many cases the new gowns are given the high waist effect by short jacket effects that come within several inches of the normal waistline in the back and end in reveres, straps or other devices in the front.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Save Your Old Periodicals.

Many families in this era of publications of all descriptions either subscribe to one or more magazines, or buy them, and then after they have read them store them away in closets or attics or destroy them altogether. This seems extremely selfish when you think of the men, women and children scattered over the land who might obtain an education from these discarded pages with their profuse descriptive matter and illustrations, or at least pleasure and relaxation from worry for the time being, if they were only placed at their disposal.

The churches of all denominations will dispose of anything that is sent to them that can be made useful. They have the names of sick and bed-ridden folk upon their lists who have no money to buy books to while away weary hours; also the names of poor students who would like books to help them to advance themselves.

The Salvation Army is another source to which donations of all kinds may be sent, and there is never the slightest doubt but that every article is placed where it will do the most good. Public hospitals, homes for old men and women, soldiers and sailors, as well as orphan asylums, prisons and various charitable institutions will gladly receive your old books and magazines and put them to good use.

It is only necessary in sending these periodicals to whom ever you decide, that you will take the most in assisting, to state for what branch of the service or charity you intend them, and those in authority will see that they are devoted to that end.

Those who travel to and fro on the trains each day will find boxes in the stations wherein they may drop papers and magazines for hospitals and other institutions. These are collected daily.

A word about old clothing may not be amiss here, for it is undoubtedly more generally useful and of more importance than any other thing that is given for distribution among those that need charity. Therefore it becomes almost a crime for one to allow it to hang about and become moth-eaten and finally sold or given to the ragman for next to nothing, when it would provide warmth, comfort and courage to the unfortunate and disheartened.

LEGITIMATE DRAMA GAINING IN FAVOR

Demand for Plays at the Public Library Shows Dramatic Revival.

The oft-expressed opinion that the legitimate drama will soon come into its own again is given weight by the ever-increasing demand for dramatic literature at the Duluth public library. The modern dramatists of the best grade are now more popular than ever before among the readers of the city.

The motion pictures, vaudeville, the short story and other get-entertained-quick matter are having their "little strut upon the stage," but it is believed that the three-act play, and even longer ones, are becoming popular throughout the country.

"The Duluth public library," said Miss Frances Earhart, librarian, today, "has a fine, large collection of dramatic literature, but the demand is so great that it is often difficult for readers to secure books. The popularity of the drama appears to be growing all the time."

Miss Earhart believes that the Drama league has done a great deal to create new interest in the drama, and she also asserts that the Little theater in Duluth is developing a wider interest and better taste for good dramatic literature. The study of plays here has made a wide demand for the best plays, and she calls on the library have been heavy. It is such work as the Drama league and the Little theater are doing that will bring the drama back to its proper position in the theatrical world, she believes. Miss Earhart has been doing all she could with the means available to keep the drama shelves equipped with the best of the dramatic works representing all periods from Aeschyles to Bernard Shaw.

WILL RECEIVE A SOCIAL SCIENCE MEDAL

Miss Anne Morgan will receive one of the five gold medals that will be given Friday by the National Institute of Social Science. The others who will receive the decoration, called by some the equivalent of the cross of the French Legion of Honor, are Andrew Carnegie, Eugene Brieux, Luther Burbank and Myron T. Herrick.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Baldwin Players in "Our Wives."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville and motion pictures.
NEW GRAND—Vaudeville and motion pictures.
REX—Feature films.
ZELDA—Motion pictures.

Amusement Notes.

The Lyceum has underlined for appearance next week H. H. Frazee's funniest comedy on earth, "A Pair of Sixes," which comes direct from its successful run of nearly a year at the Longacre theater, New York city. Mr. Frazee has provided a most excellent cast to play this latest winning hand in comedy. This tremendously funny farce is from the pen of Edward Peple, author of "The Prince Chap," "The Littlest Rebel," and others of equal note.

The plot is thoroughly American in character and treatment, its plot has the element of spontaneity to the nth degree and is expressed with unhesitating swiftness. There are no pauses. It is just one wild, unrestrained continuity of fun.

Friends of the Baldwin Players who have watched the work of Miss Dorothy Shoemaker, the leading woman, are rather eagerly awaiting the opportunity to see her in a "heavier" role. Since her first appearance in Duluth Miss Shoemaker has played several parts, but they have been all of a lighter character, generally that of a charming young and unsophisticated girl. Miss Shoemaker is well fitted, both in appearance and her talents, for such parts, but she has played them so capably that it left the impression that she still held considerable artistic talent "in reserve" and could do "bigger things." This week Miss Shoemaker is seen to better advantage than in any previous role, in the part of "Wilson," the young woman who tries to make a mere machine of herself, and finds that she has a heart. She plays the part with a light but sure touch, and has made many new admirers by her finished interpretation of it. Within the next few weeks the Lyceum patrons will probably see Miss Shoemaker in a heavier part, and her friends are confident she will acquit herself as well in it as she has in the lighter comedy roles.

"Our Wives" is proving a very popular bill this week. A matinee was given today and another will be given Saturday.

Joe and Lew Cooper at the Orpheum this week are the exceedingly clever boys who not only know how to sing songs in a way that is absolutely different and decidedly effective, but know how to write them too. They are singing song writers, and have remarkable success both as vaudeville entertainers and as song writers, and any advice they give to ambitions amateur song writers should be of value. "Of course," said Lew Cooper, who sings the songs while his brother plays the piano, "some songs, very popular ones, too, just happen, but my brother and I believe there should be a method to song writing just as much as there are methods in learning to sing, play the piano, write a play, or any other art, and we believe to write a song one must be in the mood for it. For instance, when one is writing a love song or ballad, he should be in the mood. Of course, a song writer can't fall in love every time he feels a love song coming on, but his best work will be done when he feels the little love microbe spurring him on. Probably the biggest hit my brother and I ever wrote was 'Oh, What a Beautiful Dream,' and the idea came to us at the time my brother met the girl who later became his wife. 'Isn't she a dream?' my brother asked me, after we first saw her. 'Yes, a beautiful dream,' I replied, and that night he began whistling an impromptu melody, I put the words to it, 'Oh, What a Beautiful Dream' resulting. In the same way we have just finished a new one called 'You Have the Key to My Heart. Why Don't You Walk Right In.' Were we in the mood for it? Right, again. At least one of us was. I'll not mention any names, but I told you my brother was married and no longer flirts, so I guess I'll have to confess."

In "ragtimesongs," it is entirely different. The idea is less important. A certain rythm and some catch lines are the chief ingredients.

The excellent bill now at the New Grand will close with tonight's performance. Excelling in splendor, beauty, mystery and cleverness any act seen at the Grand in many moons, "The Hongkong Mysteries," with the versatile Chinese, Li Hong Thwang, is creating a world of comment. Most of the effects used by Li Hong Thwang are original and all are new to this country, being presented in a clever and interesting manner. Also on the bill with this wonderful act is "Bob" Hall, extemporaneous and improvising comedian. He sings songs about the audience, about the political questions and in fact anything that he can get a laugh out of. Kelly and Drake are clever song and dance artists with a repertoire of good songs and some clever dances. Eldora and company are comedy jugglers and comedians. Among the photoplays is the three-reel feature, "The Song of the Soul," a pretty story of a woman's love and devotion; a two-reel subject, "The Crimson Moth;" "Aunty's Portrait," a comedy; "Rattlesnakes," an educational film; and "The First Law," a drama.

Tomorrow the bill will change entirely and it is full of good things. A novelty sketch is presented by Nick Santaro and company. A boxing bout with numerous knockdowns and plenty of comedy make the act a pleasing one. Bensee and Baird, singers and dancers, are a clever pair. William De Hollis and "The Admiral's Reception," and the imperial Japs, equilibrists and foot jugglers, featuring a slide for life from the topmost point in the gallery to the stage, are other acts on the bill. The Hearst Selig News of events in the world's history, a Helen Holmes photoplay, "The Escape on the Limited," a two-reel feature, "The Plot," and a comedy, "She Landed a Big One," are among the screen attractions.

An unusually high class attraction has been billed for the Rex theater for today and tomorrow when Daniel Frohman will present the well-known actor, William Farnum, in the film-drama, "The Sign of the Cross." Mr. Farnum will be supported by a capable company of players, and the play will be shown in five reels.

For many years the original play has fascinated the imagination and swayed the emotions of audiences throughout the civilized world as has no other drama of its type. For the most part, it glows with Titianesque luxuriance of coloring, as befits a fearless picture of life in the Rome of Nero. But this exciting world of intrigue and unbridled luxury covers but a portion of the canvas, and the play also reveals, through its Christian characters, the exquisite reverence and saintliness and the serenity of unquestioning faith; and it is through a gallery of startling scenes, now splendid with throned sensualities and stately luxury, now beautiful with piteous suffering and illumined with hope and love, that Mercia and Marcus, the unfaltering Christian and doubting Pagan, march to their decreed doom.

While the majority of Duluth people are not aware of the fact, it is nevertheless true that in the Zelda Duluth can boast of as complete a moving picture house as can be found anywhere in the United States. There are a number of features to be found in this new theater that make it stand out so prominently so as to enjoy the distinction that has been given it, enumerated among the newer features to be found in moving picture theaters, and the most important from the standpoint of public health, is the ventilation arrangement.

In the Zelda theater the ventilation has been proclaimed to be the best of any of the theaters in the city. In addition to this the house is perfumed, so that the odor at all times is a very pleasing one. The musical entertainment is perhaps one of the most important factors in the success of any show house, and in the Zelda Manager Abrahamson has well taken care of that end in the pipe organ de luxe that is installed there.

For the women's comfort the seats are so arranged in the dress circle that they do not have to remove their hats. From the standpoint of showing the pictures on the screen, the Zelda again excels, as they use the direct system of current which makes the film remain just as stationary on the screen as a photograph that is standing on the table at home. In addition to all these high class features, numerous other comforts have been installed for the benefit of the patrons. A maid is present at all times in charge of the retiring room, a writing desk is at the disposal of the women, and one feature that is bound to meet with universal approval is the arrangement whereby women can meet their friends while waiting for the street cars at Third avenue west, in the Zelda waiting room without purchasing a ticket.

"THE CITY WILL BUY THE METERS."

One of the promises of the Municipal Ownership league is that if the voters will only let the league, through the city officials it can control, spend for an electric light plant the money the city borrowed to fix up its water service, then the city will buy the meters for the users of electricity, and it will all come out of the same fund.

Let's see how that works out. It is claimed by the M. O. agitators that there would be at least 2,812 customers for the "unit" plant. That would mean that many meters. Now the average cost, wholesale, of electric meters, is nine dollars apiece, though meters capable of carrying current for not more than five lights can be bought for six dollars.

Then 2,812 meters would cost the city $25,308. The total fund the M. O. league says is available is $85,800, but they claim the "unit" plant can be built for as low as $76,000. But if they spend $25,308 for meters, it will leave only $60,492 to build the "unit" plant, and not even the most rabid municipal ownership agitators have claimed the "unit" plant could be built for that.

Apparently the agitators actually KNOW no more about whether the city could buy the meters than they do about anything else connected with their political dream.

Incidentally it is interesting to note this:

The city at present buys water meters for $8.40 apiece, f. o. b. Duluth, and gets a discount of 2 per cent on this price. This makes the meters cost the city $8.23. Then the city sells these meters to consumers for $10 cash.

The Duluth-Edison company pays $9 apiece for its meters, gives the people the use of them, and charges nothing for connecting its service to any house.

MORAL: "KEEP THE PROFITS IN THE POCKETS OF THE PEOPLE."

Now comes the charge that the farmers are to blame for the high cost of flour. And here we have been expecting that it would be claimed the low tariff was responsible.

THE PHILIPPINE BILL.

Men of prominence, and unquestionably well informed, have opposed the Jones bill intended to give the Philippines another modicum of power in their own affairs. No less persons than Former President Taft, under whose governorship the islanders got their first taste of American administration, and Dean C. Worcester, who has had much experience in the islands, have appeared before the senate committee and declared that the people of the Philippines are in no way ready for self government; and both registered their opposition to the plan to extend the principle of local government there.

But it was noticeable that both men predicated their position, not on the terms of the Jones bill, but on the theory of immediate abandonment of the islands by this country. Both men urged that the people of the Philippines must "grow to" the point where they can take charge of their affairs, and that they cannot be forced to that point. Mr. Taft even set the time when the Filipinos could safely be left to "go it alone" as far ahead as sixty years from now.

Secretary of War Garrison, appearing as the last witness before the committee, expressed what seems to be a nearer comprehension of the object and terms of the Jones bill than was shown by either Taft or Worcester. He pointed out that the measure provides in fact for what has been the declared purpose of this country in the islands—that of preparing them to stand by themselves as a government—and he opposed delaying the removal of American government from the islands longer than is necessary.

In his own platform of 1908, Mr. Taft referred to his policy of "leading the inhabitants (of the Philippines) step by step to an ever-increasing measure of home rule."

When you are trying to teach a child to walk, you take hold of the youngster and support him until he gets used to his feet. Then you relax your hold, and finally he is able to navigate while only holding to your hand, and at last can go alone. But how soon would the same child learn to walk if you refused to let him get on his feet at all, but insisted on his staying in the crib or seated on the floor?

Modern methods of education indorse the principle that the way to teach a child or an adult to do a thing is to let him do it, at first under the guidance of one more skilled than himself, and gradually leaving him more to his own devices. This is the policy we must employ in the Philippines, unless we are willing to let our work and expenditures there go for nothing. And this is the policy behind the Jones Bill.

Meanwhile, back of it all, is the promise of the United States to the Filipinos and to the world at large that the islands shall have independence as soon as that is reasonably possible. And that promise was "made in U. S. A.," and must comply to all the specifications that accompanied it.

That case where some importers cheated the government to get Bibles cheaper is likely to establish a record all its own.

A TEST FOR IMMIGRANTS.

There is no denying that we must watch the immigrants a little more closely. They will become too numerous, and besides there may be a lot among them whom we don't want here. So here goes to keep some of them out. How? Easy enough! All we have to do is to provide some test that some of them can't comply with—and there you are.

Then comes the question, what test? We already have the health test and the trade test. That is, the would-be American must have no contagious disease, and must be capable of earning a living. But we think this isn't enough, so we must find some other test that will cut down the list still more.

What shall it be? Clothing? That can be changed too easily. Politics? We'd have to change the law with each administration.

We might bar all those who like olives—or those who don't. Or we might substitute grapefruit for olives. But in that case we'd have to buy olives or the grapefruit to test their taste on, and that would be expensive, so that wouldn't do.

Ah! Now we have it! We'll make each one have his nose measured, and any nose above such and such a length will exclude its owner. Fine!

But you say a man can't help the length of his nose. Nobody said he could. Can we help the fact that he can't help it? No! So why blame us? We don't like long noses anyway. They look awkward, and as if they'd get cold easily. And besides, lots of us haven't long noses and never will have, so evidently these long-nosed people don't belong in the same class we do.

To be sure there are lots of things a man can't help. For instance, he can't help it if he's had no chance to learn to read and write. So we might exclude him for that. But then he could go back home, and maybe get a chance and learn to read and write, and then come here and we'd have to let him in. But if a man has a long nose when he comes the first time, he'll always have a long nose, and no second trial would do him any good.

That's the stuff, all right! Let's make the nose test the one immigrants must meet. Then we can go ahead with our own business and be happy, and know that we are doing no damage to anybody.

The suffragists, having been voted down in congress, will now have more time to turn their attention to the state campaigns, where they have made notable progress.

THE COST OF WAR.

There are many elements that enter into the cost of war. It is fairly easy to reckon up the daily expenses of the armies—so many million for this nation, so many for that, so much apiece for the others and then add it all together. Also there is to be considered the expense to those neutral nations that have to keep unusually large forces under arms owing to their nearness to and relations with the belligerents.

The loss of human life also can be arrived at numerically, but here an intangible element enters, no method of accurately determining the value of a life or the cost of suffering ever having been discovered.

But there is another cost which must be considered—that due to loss of trade on account of the war, and this affects both belligerents and neutrals. Commerce Reports gives some startling figures on this point, using Italy as an example. According to these figures, Italy's imports from Germany for the six months ending July 31 last, were considerably over eleven million dollars a month. The war began in August, and these same imports for September were only three millions.

Italy's imports from England during the first half of the year were worth a little more than ten millions a month; in September they were down to five and three quarters millions. And a seventy-five per cent shrinkage is shown for the same periods in the imports to Italy from France and Austria.

As an investment, it must be conceded that war is a dismal failure.

There's one advantage about the present campaign—many Duluthians who didn't know they had it in them are learning how to make gestures.

When We Planned to Terrify England

From the London Globe.

From time to time there appear in our newspapers weird stories designed to convince this country—or Germany, perhaps—that the reason the enemy's main fleet prefers its harbors to the high seas is that some subtle schemes are in hand which, while they will take some little time to elaborate, will result in the British navy sharing the fate that befell the Spanish armada. Most of these stories reach us via America, and, if they originate in Germany, probably lose nothing in making their double journey across the Atlantic.

When we were last engaged in a great naval war our opponents attempted and on a not unimpressive scale, to play the game in which Germany is indulging today. During the War of 1812 Robert Fulton, the famous American inventor, designed what was really the first steam-propelled warship, which was named the Demologos and was launched almost exactly a century ago—on Oct. 29, 1814. The commission appointed to inquire into her possibilities reported that she was a structure resting upon two boats, whose keels were separated from end to end by a canal fifteen feet wide and sixty-six feet long. One boat contained the "cauldrons of copper" to prepare her steam, while the other was partly occupied by the "vast cylinder of iron, with its piston, levers and wheels." The paddle wheel revolved in the space between the boats. The main armament of this vessel consisted of thirty 32-pounders, specially designed for the discharge of redhot shot; while the deck above that on which the guns were mounted was said to be so extensive that several thousand men might parade there in comfort.

The auxiliary equipment of the Demologos was her most interesting feature. Her machinery was calculated for the addition of an engine which would discharge an immense column of water, "which it is intended to throw upon the decks and all through the ports of an enemy. If, in addition to all this, we suppose her to be furnished, according to Mr. Fulton's intention, with 100-pounder columbiads, two suspended from each bow, so as to discharge a ball of that size into an enemy's ship ten or twelve feet below the water line, it must be allowed," they modestly concluded, "that she has the appearance at least of being the most formidable engine of warfare that human ingenuity has contrived." The "columbiad" was the forerunner of the modern submerged torpedo tube. The Demologos was not completed in time to take part in the war against England, and she was accidentally blown up in 1829 at Brooklyn, were she was serving as a receiving ship.

Another vessel, even more curiously armed, was reported in English papers at the time to have been launched at New York in 1816. She was described as being 300 feet long and 200 feet in beam, the thickness of her sides being thirteen feet of alternate oak planks and cordwood. She had for her main armament forty-four guns; "and farther to annoy an enemy attempting to board can discharge 100 gallons of boiling water in a minute, and, by mechanism, brandishes 300 cutlasses with the utmost regularity over her gunwales; and works also an equal number of heavy iron pikes of great length, darting them from her sides with prodigious force and withdrawing the same every quarter of a minute."

Work-a-Day Men as Heroes

Scientific American: Among the unexpected developments of the war, none has been more amazing than the unflinching steadiness with which the citizen soldiers of the warring nations, and especially those engaged on the western battlefields, have faced the murderous attack of modern weapons, whether by the magazine rifle, the machine gun, the searching shrapnel, or the shattering, high explosive, 16-inch shell!

So accustomed have we become, through the daily testimony of eye witnesses, to the more than human courage with which frail flesh and blood is facing, day in, day out and for weeks together, the tornado of lead and steel which sweeps over the modern battlefield, that we are forgetting that only yesterday we were all saying that this miracle could not be. Had not the military experts themselves assured us that the accuracy and volume of modern rifle, machine gun and shrapnel fire was such that not the finest troops in the world could be brought to face the tempest in a frontal attack in the open?

And yet this very thing has happened—not merely once, to be written into the chronicles of a nation's sublime heroics, but everywhere and every day throughout that far-flung battle line on which Teuton is locked in the death grip with Frank and Briton.

Marvelous, also, is the fact that this matchless courage is being displayed, not by the toughened veterans of a long campaign, not by professional soldiers, steeled and tempered by the discipline of barracks and camp, but by work-a-day laymen, called at a minute's notice from the peaceful routine of their daily lives and told to rush "into the jaws of hell!"

Sunday Talk.

Springfield Republican: Billy Sunday's revival has surely begun in Philadelphia. Among his other remarks is this: "The Clay and Webster and Calhoun and Douglas and Lincoln type of American citizen has been supplanted by the good-for-nothing, God-forsaken, lick-spittle, peanut-headed, weasel-eyed, whisky-soaked, rum-guzzling, gin-guzzling politicians of our day." Does Philadelphia take that literally, is it looked on as the exaggeration of an exhorter, or is it conveniently regarded as being true of politicians somewhere else? What, moreover, would have been the effect, if any, if Billy Sunday had arrived two months before instead of two months after the recent Pennsylvania election?

The French Race More Teutonic Than Latin

From "Understanding the French," by Rollin Lynde Hartt, published by McBride, Nast & Co.

A race—are they? Dozens of races, I should say. Look back over French history and see what it discloses regarding the national stock. France was Gallic—yes; true; but the vast majority of the Gauls who escaped slaughter by the Roman legions fled into Germany. Those who stood their ground became scarcely more than a drop in the bucket, eventually, as compared with the hordes of German invaders who rushed the frontiers, overwhelmed the country and served as the basis of the population we now call French.

Besides, think of the Celts in Brittany, Welshmen, almost—so Welsh that when Breton bards and bards from Wales meet at a modern Druid celebration, each party can understand the other's language. Think of the French Scandinavians—descendants of Rollo and his fair-haired Norman marauders. Think of the French Greeks, whose forefathers settled Massilia (now Marseilles). Think of the French Moors—a mixed race to be sure, yet with swarthy skins and Arab features and such telltale names as Morel, Moret, Moreau and the like. And then consider the French Jews—whole ghettos forcibly converted to Catholicism during the Middle Ages and absorbed by the Gentile population, so that the most impassioned of anti-Dreyfusards is very possibly a Jew himself. Finally, count up the Slavic types, even the rare negroid types and the scores of others that complete the vast and variegated midway of living France.

True, France was Roman once; but you will find nothing to show that it was at all extensively peopled with Romans. Quite the contrary. Nor do the French faces one sees today—the majority of them, I mean—the types that predominate—suggest a Latin origin.

Glance round you in Paris any day. Of what does the physiognomy remind you? Of Italians? Of Spaniards? Of Portuguese? Of South Americans? No, of Germans.

And this despite the many, many races that have been compounded to produce what we loosely term the French stock!

Nor has the compounding ceased by any means. Among the upper and middle classes, international marriages are common. By and by, they will be common among the lower class also, and a strange mixture shall we behold then.

For the immigrants refused admission to American ports are allowed to settle in France. Already, Paris has become a veritable dumping ground for undesirables from Southeastern Europe and Asia Minor.

Reporter Used Strategy

Kansas City Star: How a girl student of the Pulitzer School of Journalism at Columbia university got an interview with the altogether unwilling Mme. Montessori recently was told by Talcott Williams, director of the school, at the annual conference of the American Association of Teachers of Journalism in New York. The feat of the girl pupil assumed greater interest for the teachers of the reportorial art in face of the fact that Mme. Montessori was abiding by her decision to see no one to the extent of excluding S. S. McClure, the magazine publisher.

Mr. McClure had brought madame over to this country and was to introduce her to a large audience that night. He wanted to see her perhaps even more than did the young woman from the Pulitzer school. He wanted to know what he ought to say in his introduction, but madame told him to go away. She told the girl pupil the same thing, but with quite different results.

The winsome interviewer went right up the hotel stairs and as she was about to knock at the door a maid flounced out. Then in a minute another maid, and out she went, and then a procession of maids with curling irons.

The student learned that madame wished to have her hair dressed, but she did not like the looks of any of the talent. Thereupon the amateur journalist-to-be slipped half a dollar to the last maid who came out and got her cap and apron, and in she went.

The "lady of the method" said: "Ah! you will do." The new maid at once began to dress the hair of the great educator. The young woman had never dressed anybody's hair before, but she went to work with a will and talked about the Montessori method as far as nervousness and hairpins would let her.

Madame was indeed surprised but immensely flattered, too, for surely her fame had permeated all stratas in America, for here was a maid who knew all about what she had done for juvenile education. Then, according to the rules of the game, as she was going away the interviewer told who she was and why.

"My dear," said the personage, "come back this evening, bring the interview for me to see, and also dress me for the lecture."

Walk and Character.

New York letter to the Pittsburg Dispatch: By their walk you shall know them. Here now is a professor who has invented a machine for recording the human gait. "A person can be identified by his manner of walking as easily as by finger prints," contends the professor. "Watch the man who drags his feet along the ground as if every step were an effort. If he has any of this world's goods it is because it has been thrust upon him. He is the kind of man who would be in the first lifeboat that put out from a sinking ship. The man with the dragging gait is the man without a heart.

"The woman who has difficulty in lifting her heels from the ground when she walks is a whiner. She believes the best she ever gets is the worst of it, and she will go into the minutest detail about trivialities. The woman with a dragging gait is the woman without spine.

"Watch the man who hurries along as if he were anxious to part company with the pavement. His steps are quick and snappy. The man with the snappy step has plenty of pep. When you see a woman planting her feet firmly on the ground and walking with a free swing you may be sure she is wholesome, to be depended upon, capable. She will be your friend, your pal, your sweetheart on rainy days, just as much as or more than when the sun shines."

And a lot of wives whose husbands are given to hitting both sides of the street and the middle coming home will find the gait machine a handy little household object.

Unnecessary Effort.

Life: His Wife—This paper says an army of one hundred thousand men has wrecked a railroad in Belgium.

Railroad Magnate—What a waste of energy! A board of five directors could have done it just as thoroughly.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Vice President Marshall stepped from the senate chamber the other day after presiding over a particularly boresome session, fumbled in his vest pocket for a cigar, yawned, and then squared himself away to paraphrase as follows:

"Sometimes I think I'd rather be wrong than vice president."

To prepare one's self for this brief tale one must keep it in mind that Secretary McAdoo is a tall man, built along the lines of the average greyhound.

A certain United States senator dropped into McAdoo's outer office the other day and asked George Cooksey, the private secretary, if McAdoo were in.

"No," replied Cooksey, "he just this minute went out to lunch. But he'll be back shortly."

"I think I'll not wait," remarked the senator. "If he's half as hungry as he looks his luncheon will occupy two or three hours."

Representative Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee was holding a joint debate with his opponent the year of his first race for congress.

"The only bill of importance ever fathered by my friend here," asserted Byrns—when a man has something particularly mean to say about another man he always refers to him as his friend—"was to get his congressional salary raised from $5,000 to $7,500 a year."

To which the other candidate replied that the increase was necessary because of the high cost of living in Washington.

"Oh, yes," retorted Joe Byrns, "it is necessary if one goes about always clad in spotless linen."

And, fortunately for Byrns, his opponent was wearing spotless white linen, even at that moment, right in full view of the audience. It was futile for him to deny that he wore immaculate white linen. The jig was up. He was defeated.

If one were to rummage through the fascinating pages of back numbers of the Congressional Record in an investigating frame of mind, he might note this coincidence:

That Senator Ollie James of Kentucky will often go for weeks without having much to say, but that he always has something to say whenever there is a speech by Senator Bristow of Kansas.

Bristow making a speech seems to be a great annoyance to James. He is to the Kentucky senator the red flag to the bull, the fly in the ointment, the hind leg in the milk bucket, the sour note in the orchestra. If Bristow gets up to offer a few remarks to the senate, you may be fairly certain that in a minute James will express a desire to ask a question.

And the question will be designed to show that Bristow is entirely wrong in most of what he has been saying.

If it fails to show Bristow in error, James feels that he has talked that day and lived that day in vain.

* * *

Representative John Richard Clancy of Syracuse, N. Y., defeated at the last election, is a man of great candor. When he sets out to give the facts he is likely to be unsparing of himself. His idea of the truth is that it must be the whole truth. When Clancy came to congress two years ago he wrote a brief biography of himself for the Congressional Directory, ending it with the simple statement of his election and the amount of his plurality. After his defeat last November, Clancy revised this biography for the newest directory, and added this:

"Defeated for the Sixty-fourth congress by Walter W. Magee, Republican, by about 8,000."

"It isn't necessary to mention your defeat," his friends told him, "why not let the biography stand just as it was?"

"Because," said Clancy, "it would be incomplete."

The Truth About the War.

G. Lowes Dickinson in the Atlantic: No one even attempts to find in it any romance. No one pretends there is any chivalry. Personal courage and endurance, indeed, are required and are forthcoming to a degree almost incredible. But it is the courage to lie still and be torn to pieces by shrapnel, or to wait in a warship day by day, week by week, in hourly expectation of being blown into fragments by a mine or a submarine. Man is fighting not against man, but machines. And the full horror as well as the madness of this must needs, one thinks, come home at any rate to the combatants. Outside England, the combatants are the nation. Never before have so many men, women and children experienced the horror and brutality of war. Never before, in fact, has war been so horrible and so brutal. Even the idealists of war—whom one feels to be of all idealists the most pernicious and the most contemptuous of facts—must see what this thing that they have been glorifying really is. It will be difficult henceforth to pretend that war is anything but the greatest of follies and the greatest of crimes.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

About Time!

Albert Lea Tribune: Roosevelt rises to remark that the world is tired of reforms and reformers. Sit down then, Teddy.

Practical Administration.

Montevideo Leader: And now it is Governor Hammond and ex-Governor Eberhart. There have been a number of changes already at the state capitol, and more will follow soon. We look for a very successful administration at the hands of the new governor, and believe he will receive the loyal support of all right-minded people. Mr. Hammond is a worker and will insist that the work in all departments be properly and thoroughly done. We doubt if his administration will be brilliant, but feel sure that it will be thorough, efficient and business-like. He will not make a great display, but he will do a lot of thinking and planning, and will insist on the practice of a real and wholesome economy, and a cutting down of all unnecessary expenses in the various offices and in the management of the various departments and institutions. In fact, we look for a thorough-going, practical and business-like administration without frills and one that will commend itself to the people regardless of party.

Pessimist!

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: Minnesota's first non-partisan legislature (with the exception of two Socialist members) is in session, and while we hope for better results than came out of the old way, there is no real good reason for believing we shall get them.

The People Should Worry.

Badger Herald-Rustler: From a movement started in certain political quarters it appears that an attempt will be made to repeal the non-partisan law at this session of the legislature. The bosses are losing control because the party whip was taken away from them, but the people should worry.

Against Indeterminate Sentences.

Bemidji Pioneer: There is no law on the Minnesota statutes which needs revising more than does that concerning the indeterminate sentence. The law is an injustice to the friendless man who is sent to state prison and favors absolutely the fellow who is fortunate enough to possess influential friends. Just why a board which is unfamiliar with the real circumstances of a case should have the privilege to govern entirely is beyond our comprehension. The trial judge, in our mind, should be reinstated with that power to name the length of a term, and then if a prisoner's record is such that he is deserving of release, let it be given, providing his punishment has been sufficiently severe.

May Be Better.

La Porte News: Instead of contributing for simply the temporary relief of the destitute and distressed Belgians, an effort is being made to raise a fund sufficient to bring them to Northern Minnesota and give them a start on our productive farm lands. Temporary relief is necessary and commendable, but there are those who would give for permanent relief who would not give to the other, and the sooner they are given help that will enable them to help themselves, the better for all concerned.

Surely! Peace Is Right!

Stillwater Gazette: The people who keep quiet and do not continue the agitation of the Flowers-Gordon contest are on the right track. The former was elected, Gordon was willing to make it unanimous, and why continue the agitation? Flowers has recognized Gordon as a foeman worthy of his steel and made him chairman of an important committee. Let us have peace.

Hammond's Hit.

Motley Mercury: W. S. Hammond, Minnesota's new governor, starts auspiciously on what appears to be a very promising career as the state executive. His address before the state legislature was good and left no doubt in anyone's mind as to his determination to serve the state in a capable and efficient manner.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinlan, the Sunshine Man.

To waste one's days is to waste the most precious things that come to us. Every day is a golden treasure and should be treated as such.

A lost day is gone forever, for there is no possible way by which it may be called back or regained.

* * *

God's wisdom and goodness is shown in giving to us only a day or an hour at a time. A moment is all we can use, and far more than we can afford to lose.—W. W.

The Shortest Day.

A little day ran past
Without a word from me,
I thought it ran too fast,
But that could hardly be,
Because a little boy next door, they say,
Found time to speak a happy word that day.

A little day was spent
Almost before I knew;
I wondered where it went,
And so, indeed, would you,
If, on a sudden, at the set of sun
You found how very little you had done.

Britain Faced Bread Famine.

London Chronicle: Britain was on the verge of a bread famine during the Napoleonic wars and in 1800 a law was enacted prohibiting the sale of bread till it had been out of the oven at least twenty-four hours. "Food was so scarce and dear," writes F. W. Hackwood, "that a portion of the population refused to starve in silence, and rioting broke out in many parts of England. * * * A royal grant of £500 was made to one Thomas Toden, to enable him to prosecute a discovery made by him of a 'paste' as a substitute for wheat flour. * * * The unfortunate seamen fighting Great Britain's battles on the high seas had to subsist on biscuits so badly made that when the weevils were knocked out there often remained nothing but empty shells." A plentiful harvest the following year saved the situation.

Man Wants But Little Here Below.

Holy.

Life: We cannot but regard the position taken by the English government in its war against Turkey not to include the holy places in the Turkish empire as highly significant. It assures, at least for the future, the protection of all holy places in each country from violation, at least so far as the allies are concerned. We wish that Germany would join. Then, in case we are invaded by any foreign power, we shall know that the offices of the Standard Oil company and the stock exchange will come to no harm.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

FAVORS TRAINING IN MILITARY TACTICS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Having read an article in the Open Court regarding the proposed advocation of military drill in the high school I would like to say a few words in reply.

In my opinion drilling of any sort, military or otherwise is the best exercise possible where all the pupils take part. Building a gymnasium and swimming pool is quite an expensive undertaking and I think the board of education is right in pushing the military drill.

Suppose the United States were at war and the call for volunteers was sent out and some of the high school students responded, there would be very little time to drill and in all proability they would be sent to the front, the rawest of raw recruits. On the other hand if they are drilled thoroughly all that would not be necessary. What chance has a man ignorant of the use of a rifle against a trained soldier?

Does he realize that it was patriotism, that he chooses to call national prejudice, the cause of us always being the victors?

Does he realize that patriotism in the early days of 1775 was what made us the most civilized nation of the world?

Suppose, for example, that America would sacrifice some of her national rights and privileges, is it not possible that some armed power would take advantage of our unpreparedness.

In my opinion, if we were to pursue such a policy, we could not call ourselves a power in the proper sense of the word.

If we are to have international peace all the armed nations must disarm simultaneously. Thanking you for your space, I am.

SOME FACTS ABOUT CHICKEN RAISING.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Having seen quite a little discussion in the Open Court and also in the news items regarding poultry, and being an old hand at the business in a small way myself, I thought I would give you a few facts as I have found them in the last seven years. I saw a news item in The Herald a few days ago in which a man stated that he fooled his hens by having electric lights in his coop during the winter months, and in that way he succeeded in getting 18,000 eggs a year from 150 hens. Now, if you will take your pencil and paper and do a little figuring, you will see that is 120 eggs per hen per year. Now, your correspondent does not state what breed of chickens he keeps, but I imagine it must be one of the American breeds, and if so, it costs him about $2 per hen per year for feed. Then electric lights in a coop 20 by 30 (large enough to hold 150 laying hens) would be four 25-watt lamps, or 100 watts an hour for about seven hours per day, 700 watts, 21,000 watts per month, which at 9 cents per 1,000 (the rate we pay here on that amount) would be $1.89 per month for about six months of the year. Then feed $25 each month would be a total of $26.89 per month for six months and $25 per month for the other six months, and an average of 50 eggs a day would not leave very much profit. Now, I keep pure-bred White Leghorns (Ferris strain), use an open front coop and no electric lights, or any extra care, and for the year of 1914 my chickens averaged 123 1-3 eggs per hen, at a cost for feed of $1.50 each. Of course, I have an extra good strain, paying 50 cents each for day-old chicks when I started, and using a male bird that cost $10. Now, I have kept all kinds of chickens (nearly), and I know what it costs to feed them, having kept an accurate account of it for seven years, so this is no guess work. The best I could do with the American birds was about 108 eggs per year, and for convenience call the price of eggs 25 cents per dozen, that would be $2.25 per hen per year, at a food price of $2. With Leghorns averaging 123 eggs per hen per year, with a food cost of $1.50, it leaves a balance on the right side of the ledger of $1.25 per hen against 25 cents for the larger breeds. Of course, I don't sell all my eggs for 25 cents a dozen, as I am getting 40 cents now, and during the hatching season I get $1.50 per setting of 13, and the difference in the number of eggs you get will make up for the difference in size of chickens, if you want to sell your surplus stock to the butcher, or eat them. Hoping to see more about chickens and less about war in the Open Court, I am, yours very respectfully.

VOICE OF PROTEST WAS SILENCED.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Yesterday afternoon a "mass" meeting was called to consider the establishment of military drill in the high school. When the boys met, however, a speech was made in favor of the drill, and not one statement in opposition was allowed. This is an admission on the part of the advocates of the drill that the opposing arguments are very strong, and is a frank confession on their part that, in order to get the necessary 100 pupils, they had to resort to fooling most of the boys into joining by allowing them to see only the affirmative side of the question. They feared that any opposing arguments might open the eyes of the boys and thereby defeat their plans. Was it fair to those boys that they should have been so lured into the membership of a most direful organization by the thought of brass buttons and real guns?

Besides, the company is to be called the "High School Cadet corps." What right have those who wish the drill to disgrace the name of the Central high school by using that name to designate such an organization as a military company of students?

The advocates of military drill assert that it will provide athletic training. What nonsense! It is evident to every sober-minded person that calisthenics would leave military drill far behind as far as athletic training is concerned.

They also argue that it would cultivate the ability both to give and to execute commands. That is, they would be trained so that they would be able to murder a man at a moment's notice. Is there no other way of teaching obedience?

They say also that it would add spirit to all high school demonstrations, especially on Memorial day. Is it necessary to keep up a military company all year in order to get a crowd out on Memorial day? A lack of patriotism this would certainly show!

Military drill does not develop a spirit of militarism if, as some hold, such a spirit is born in every creature; it does, however, under any circumstances, furnish a medium in which the spirit of militarism can act unrestricted. This is the real danger connected with military drill, which is for this reason, as I say, an abominable and criminal institution.

GREETINGS FROM THE SUNNY SOUTH.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Enclosed you will find the poem, "I'm Tying the Leaves So They Won't Come Down," which is the second request for same. I thought surely someone nearer Duluth would have sent it long ere this or I would have mailed it when I saw the first request. I never miss a copy of The Herald, and sure enjoy the Open Court. Whatever became of the dispute over circulation that the Tribune started and as usual never finished? Hello to all the bowlers up there and tell "Bruce" he ought to be down here and see some of the real "lightweight" fighters at the army post. Sixty-four above here today.

THINKS POLITICS MAKES STRANGE BEDFELLOWS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I am not in the habit of putting letters in the Open Court, but I think it is a good thing to have such a thing and am always interested in what other people have to say through that column. If you will publish this letter I will be very grateful as I think it will do some people good to get waked up, to the fact that honest, well meaning, working people are often mislead by imposters posing under the guise of a friend. I refer to a man who is just now making himself felt through the unions on the lighting question. His name is well known in labor circles and he wants to be considered a leader. That would be all right if he were true to the cause, but when he is not he ought to be shown up.

Now at a recent meeting at West Duluth the other night he sat on the platform. The principal speaker of the evening, at his right was a man whom I know to be unfair to union work. They seemed to be on very intimate terms and were evidently working very closely together. Now I do not say that this man is a union enemy on hearsay but I do say that I, with my own eyes, saw him take a job away from the unions.

Now I call a man who will do such a thing a traitor and the worst kind of a traitor, when to gain some end of his own, (at present not exactly known) he plays both ends against the middle. Will men allow themselves to be blindly lead like a herd of sheep or will they set their own brains to work, attend the meetings that are advertised and learn to judge for themselves. The sooner they do this the sooner will they weed out those who are apt to exploit them as much as the capitalists will.

Thanking you for the space, and hoping to see this in print, I remain,

JAS. A. WEBBER.

GOING BACK OF THE $14,000 REPORT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In your editorial on "Ignorance or Deceit" you make the statement "it would be interesting to know whether these misstatements and false inferences are due to ignorance or whether it is.....just untruthfulness."

I am wondering if you realize that the above clause applies to you when you infer that the loss of electric current would amount to over 11 per cent under the unit system of distribution. When the engineers, to whom the city paid $14,000, said in their report that to deliver 17,000,000 kilowatts 13,000,000 would have to be bought, they had reference to a system of distribution similar to the Edison company's, but with the unit system the loss would be as stated in the Municipal Ownership literature approximately 11 per cent.

Again, The report probably did say that for satisfactory service a 60-cycle current was necessary, but do you know that at the present time the same engineers, or any competent engineer, would say that a 25-cycle current would be as satisfactory as a 60-cycle for lighting circuits and for motors the 25-cycle is to be preferred.

Do you know the above facts or have you simply ignored them? Knowing them as I do simply makes me doubtful of your true interest in molding public opinion and the rest of the statements that appear in your editorial. Yours very truly,

FLOID M. FULLER.

IS MODEST ABOUT HIS OWN COUNTRY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In The Herald of Jan. 11, "A Student of the High School" expressed his opinion of militarism in the high school.

I agree with him that there should not be military drill, but he went too far when he said that "this country is the most civilized nation on the earth."

What history has he studied which brings him to that conclusion?

Then again he said, "Are we fulfilling our duty to the less enlightened nations by setting them such an example?"

True we should set them an example not, however, as a more enlightened nation, but merely to show what a younger and less experienced country can do.

ONE WHO SHOULD KNOW DISCUSSES FORCE MAIN.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Engineer Kelley's report on the steel force main between Lester Park and Lakewood in the News Tribune of this date to me is very interesting and caused a tickling sensation. And the send off that he gave that piece of work would make the ordinary mortal do something rash especially if he had the honor of superintending the building of this steel pipe. I have always felt some pride in my connection with this piece of work. But when this work was being discussed by the citizens of Duluth pro and con as to the limit of its existence when laid in the ground, experts were sought and the best that could be got in the United States at a large expense were consulted on this important matter, and their statements were that the pipe would not last more than ten or twelve years in the ground. The records in the city hall will show these facts. Now then if this main is as Mr. Kelley has stated, what was the necessity of laying 1,500 feet of cast iron pipe to take the place of this steel pipe that Mr. Kelley seems to think is all right, during the past year. Perhaps it was labor for the hard ups or some poor contractor that needed a job. However, when Mr. Kelley's report was first published in the daily papers it was considered by his superiors as not good ethics or very poor politics. But since that time war has been declared, and the need for ammunition is urgent. The strategist of the department is mum but of course is busy laying out new lines of action for the Municipal Ownerships. Thanking Mr. Kelley for the send off whether intended or not. It is appreciated by me and no doubt the contractor will have the report framed for his own use. But if our opinion is worth anything the retaining of that $85,000 in case the manager should decide to lay another section this year of the force main, might be considered good diplomacy later in case the management of the department might suddenly change. You will kindly consider that I am not an expert nor yet a diplomat, only the superintendent of construction of the Lakewood force main. Yours truly,

R. E. PATTERSON.

LENGTH OF LIFE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would you please answer this question through your paper, if you can, and oblige:

Is human life longer today than it was about fifty years ago? Yours truly,

O. J. REPPE.

Keewatin, Minn., Jan. 9.

Statistics on the length of human life now and fifty years ago would be of little value because of the impossibility of securing anything like complete reports. It might be possible to find statistics for some given locality, but hardly for the world at large.—The Editor.

SPEAKS HIS MIND ON THE LIGHTING QUESTION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The writer cannot emphasize too strongly his views relating to the present electric lighting controversy. I have listened with interest to discussions recently by Messrs. Hughes, McEwen and McManus. The manipulating of figures which are submitted lead me to the conclusion that it requires men and voters of experience and training to understand the civic development of our beautiful city. Messrs. McEwen and McManus characterize themselves as proud possessors of the spirit of fairness. Their thought today is hurried and follows short cuts. They think initiative, recall, referendum and commission government is what we want. Novelty and changes are expected and we want them right now with no thought of the dangers inherent in them. Our consideration of modes and means is hasty and erratic. We announce immediate cures for the body politic and the public jumps at the panacea. The result is mistake after mistake; all of them costly. They tell us what a beautiful water system we possess. They tell us to bring this municipal department up to the standard of efficiency by adding the electric plant to it. No attempt is made to cover the field strewn with blunders, failures and political chicanery. Whatever visionary speculations are advanced by the advocates of this municipal ownership league there is nothing to verify the predictions. Wherever the scheme is in operation there is found instead of the high standard of efficiency and the minimum cost of operation, boss rule and the very acme of the maximum cost of operation and prices to consumers.

These so-called reformers are wise in their day and well know that if all these sums of money were asked for at once the levy for taxes would produce dissatisfaction and alarm. For the purpose of averting such consequence, and at the same time carrying the idea that something wonderful is being accomplished for the people, various pretenses and suggestions are made as to how such bills may be paid by loans of money, and in the end, taxes are often made to appear as being reduced. The writer is not seeking notoriety. He is no defeated office-seeker nor aspirant for any political office or a paid servant of the electric light people and writes from a sense of duty only, that the unwary may evade the many pitfalls in that municapal electric plant. Mr. McManus may grow hysterical about this sterilized democracy and offer to buy us wine to come to his rescue. Such offers are absurd. Let the water department make extensions to us and we will buy our own water and not wine. They tell us if we have fault with the commissioner in office, we have right to ask for a recall.

"I'm Tying the Leaves So They Won't Come Down."

Words by E. S. S. Huntington. Music by J. Fred Helf

Playmates were they—girl and lad,
She's home today—lad feels sad—
Doctor who calls—whispers low—
"When the last Autumn leaves fall then she must go"—
Lad with a tear climbs a tree
"I'll keep her here," murmurs he,
Big man in blue sternly cries,
"What are you doing there," lad replies.

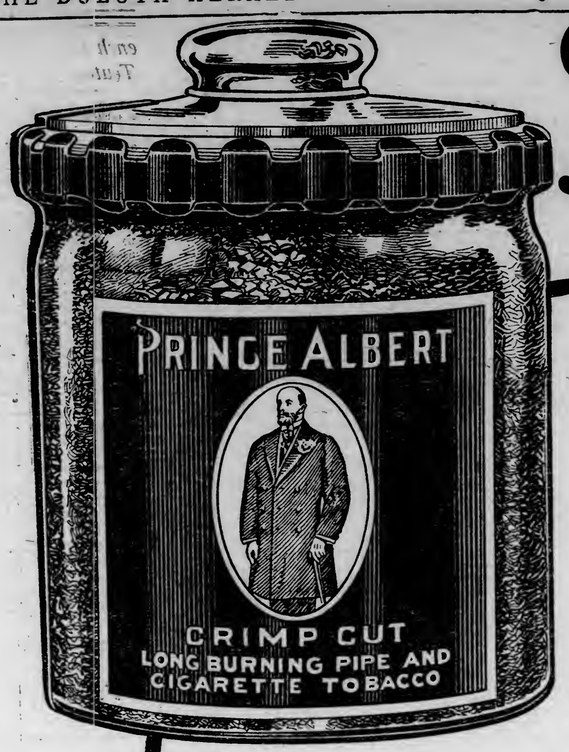

(Chorus).

"I'm tying the leaves so they won't come down;
So the wind won't blow them away,
For the best little girl, in the wide, wide world,
Is lying so ill today
Her young life must go when the last leaves fall,
I'm fixing them fast so they'll stay.
I'm tying the leaves so they won't come down,
So Nellie won't go away"

Sad mother grieves—day by day,
Watching the leaves—hears boy say—
"You mustn't cry, for you see,
I have tied all the leaves fast upon the tree."
Doctor brings joy, one glad day,
Mother tells boy, Nell will stay—
Lad at girl's side, cries with glee,
"That's what I said, one day in the tree."

The Traveling Salesman.

Off the train he jumps at daybreak
With a grip in either hand,
With a stomach mighty empty and
A wish for slumberland.
But he never makes a whimper as
He hops into the bus,
For he laughs at real discomforts
That would bring the tears from us.
Ever laughs the traveling salesman,
And his laughs rings loud and sweet
To the poor old stranded actor
Or the beggar on the street,
Just because the salesman helps them
To their breakfast and their fare,
Even though it takes a greenback
He can ill afford to spare.
On the train he hops at midnight,
And when dawn has come again
You can see him swinging blithely
From the cold and dreary train.
Just another round of calling,
Taking orders in a town—
Orders that he thinks are corkers—
Which the credit man turns down.
Just another round of hustling,
Just a 10-mile drive or two,
Lugging round a bunch of baggage
That would cripple me or you:
Far from home and good home cooking,
Far from baby and from wife,
You can bet it takes a hero to Endure a salesman's life.
Dodging canned stuff with its ptomaines,
Getting steak that's mostly bone,
In some little country roadhouse
Where he creeps to bed alone.
With the same old smile he slumbers,
For inside his watch's case
Is the photo of a wife
And a dimpled baby face.

FAMOUS FOR HER HAIR

Actress Tells How to Obtain It.

Madame Rose the well-known actress who played on one of the leading vaudeville circuits the past winter and who is especially noted for her long, beautiful hair, in a recent interview in Chicago made the following statement: "Any lady or gentleman can promote the growth of their hair and make it soft and glossy with this simple recipe, which they can mix at home. To a half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Apply to the scalp two or three times a week with the finger tips. This is not only the finest hair grower I have ever known, but it prevents the hair from falling out, removes dandruff and scalp humors, darkens streaked, faded gray hair and makes it soft and glossy. The ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost."

When you awaken all headache, indigestion, sourness, foul taste, bad breath, fever and dizziness is gone; your stomach is sweet, liver and bowels clean, and you feel grand.

"California Syrup of Figs" is a family laxative. Everyone from grandpa to baby can safely take it and no one is ever disappointed in its pleasant action. Millions of mothers know that it is the ideal laxative to give cross, sick, feverish children. But get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups on each bottle. Refuse with contempt the cheaper Fig Syrups and counterfeits. See that it bears the name—"California Fig Syrup Company."

BOYS' "Y" HAS MANY PLANS

Indoor Meets, Membership Campaigns and Other Events.

The regular monthly meeting of the boys' department, Y. M. C. A., cabinet was held last evening at the home of J. B. Cotton. The committee reports showed activity along all lines of the club's work. The cabinet is working hard to make the last four months in the present building the best for any period in the club's history. The report from the club's committee showed that the Hustler club, launched last week, is interesting a large number of the members. The teams will be appointed tomorrow and the different groups will meet at once.

The date for the annual minstrel show has been set for Thursday and Friday, Feb. 25 and 26. Edward Scriven, Laurence Duby, Russell Duncan and Lincoln Brown will be the end men and N. D. McLeod the interlocutor. J. R. Batchelor is directing the chorus, which is meeting every Tuesday evening at 7:30. Spencer Sahlberg is the pianist.

The "father and son" banquet which was such a success last year, will be held on Washington's birthday, Feb. 22. Ralph McCarthy and Irving Grover were appointed a committee to arrange the program. A cast was appointed last night for the play, "Father Ex-Officio," which is to be given on Friday, March 19. This is a three-act drama which deals with a father and son who misunderstood each other.

The social committee has planned that for the first annual game tournament, which is to take place next Friday evening, the champions in each of the games played will hold their titles for one year.

Friday, Jan. 22, will be stunt night for all hustlers who want to enter, the program being along the vaudeville line. On Jan. 29, the athletic committee will stage an indoor field meet. There will be two divisions—boys over 15 years and boys under 15 years. A silver medal is to be awarded the champion in each division, and plus to the winners in each event. At the conclusion of the meet all the winning contestants will be entertained at an oyster supper.

Athletic Activities.

The athletic committee is also planning for a Sunday school indoor meet and for the first annual grade school indoor meet. The dates for these two events will be announced later. The high school interclass meet has been planned for Jan. 17, 19 and 21. The meet will be open to students of the high school. Robert Kerr was elected captain of the senior class, F. Hall of the juniors, R. Paine of the sophomores and Gilbert Hokenson of the freshmen. The champion in the final meet will receive a silver medal and the class will receive a banner. The meet will be open to the public.

The membership committee will conduct a quiet hustle this month for members, and have offered a dinner to every boy who gets one new member. The new member will also be invited to the dinner, which will take place Thursday, Jan. 28.

Charles Diers for the extension committee reported that the $75 pledged for missionary purposes was in sight. His plan is to get members to contribute 3, 5 and 10 or 25 cents a week for ten weeks. This money is divided into four parts. One-fourth is sent to South American work, one-fourth for the state Y. M. C. A., one-fourth for the international work and one-fourth to send delegates to the boys' conference, which is to be held at Mankato Feb. 12.

Twenty cabinet members last night started to work for the efficiency test. This test is one that will be used among 100 of the biggest boys' departments in North America. This year it is being confined to older boys and twenty-five of the most capable members of the boys' department will be appointed. The test takes in three activities—athletic, educational and physical. All those who pass the test will receive medallions and bars. The test was arranged by a committee of boys' department secretaries that was appointed at the boys' secretaries assembly held at Culver two years ago.

SUPERIOR

FIXES LIMIT FOR STATE INSURANCE

Court Action Reduces Claim of Superior Normal School.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 13.—That insurance recoverable on state property destroyed by fire is limited to the amount of insurance carried on the property in such fund, as certified by the commissioner of insurance, is the gist of a decision of the supreme court in the mandamus action of the board of normal school regents against the commissioner of insurance. The decision was in connection with the adjustment of the fire loss on the normal school at Superior several months ago. The normal regents claimed a much larger amount of insurance than the commissioner certified.

Are Left Destitute.

The home of Frank Bunnell of Lake Nebagamon was totally destroyed yesterday by fire, which started from a spark from the chimney. As a result, the family, consisting of eight children, is left in destitute circumstances. Mr. and Mrs. Bunnell have both been ill for the past month. Citizens of Superior have been appealed to to aid the family.

RULES AGAINST TERMINAL TAX LAW

Soo Railway Wins Case Against Douglas County.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 13.—The supreme court yesterday held the terminal taxation law unconstitutional in the case of the Soo Railroad company against Douglas county. The court holds that ore docks and freight docks belonging to a railroad company and used only for transferring ore and freight from cars to vessels and vice versa cannot be separated from the balance of the railroad property and subjected to local taxation at a higher rate than the rate applied by the tax commission to the other property of the railroad.

The case affects not only Superior, but other cities that have lake ports and railroad terminals at docks which before were taxed under the ad valorem law.

Would Build Larger School.

The regents of the state normal board will ask for an appropriation of $200,000 with which to build two wings to the Superior normal school building, as well as to complete the building under construction. A bill asking for this appropriation will be introduced into the state legislature by Assemblyman Ray Nye of Superior.

WAS ARRESTED WITH LODY, EXECUTED SPY.

Dr. John A. Lee, a Superior physician, who was arrested on suspicion of being a spy while traveling in company with Hans Lody, who was shot in the Tower of London recently, returned home from Europe yesterday. Dr. Lee was arrested with Body after the two had traveled in Ireland for a week together. Lody was later court-martialed and shot, but through passports produced by Dr. Lee the latter obtained his freedom. Dr. Lee has been studying in Europe and was in Vienna when the war broke out.

Will Take Testimony.

The state industrial commission examiner will hold a hearing and take testimony in several damage actions in Superior at the city hall on Jan. 21. A notice to that effect was received yesterday from Chief Examiner L. A. Tarrell. Several actions will be given a hearing on that date.

Another Burglary.

Another burglary was reported in Superior last night. The Bingham Hardware company's store, 716 Tower avenue, was broken into through a rear window, the thieves stealing nine revolvers and three hunting knives. They left by the same way they entered. No attempt was made to open the till, which contained a small sum of cash. The police have no clew to the robbers.

HOT ON TRAIL OF REV. JAMES DARNELL

Active Investigation Into Matrimonial Ventures of Former Pastor.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Investigation of the matrimonial activities of the Rev. James Morrison Darnell, former pastor of a Kenosha, Wis., church, continued today from several angles.

The Rev. Darnell resigned his charge and left for Chicago after his congregation had been informed that he was the husband of Mrs. Doris Vaughn Darnell of Chicago though they had believed that Ruth Soper Darnell of Owatonna, Minn., and her 5-months-old child were the wife and son of Darnell.

Detectives from the office of the state's attorney today questioned various friends of Darnell and the young woman. M. H. Darnell of Peoria, father of the young minister, announced that he would go to Owatonna to learn the truth concerning his son's relations with the woman regarded in Kenosha as his wife.

Announcement was made that Miss Ethel Spurgeon of Avon, reported to have been a still earlier wife of Darnell, would come to Chicago to help in the investigation. Grand jury action was promised if more than one marriage was proved against Darnell.

FACTS WERE SUPPRESSED

Gathman Tells of Attempt to Sell High Explosive to U. S.

Sold to Foreigners After Repeated Refusals By Americans.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Louis Gathman, an American who claims to be the inventor of the high explosive shells Germany is using in the monster guns which swept away the costly defenses of Liege and Antwerp, told a minority of the senate committee on expenditures in the war department today he had been endeavoring to interest the ordnance officials of the American war department for many years.

He said he had made no effort to give his invention to foreign governments until it had been repeatedly refused by American army officers. He charged that the facts had been suppressed by the ordnance bureau.

Gathman said that in tests in 1897, before American ordnance officers, his shells had blown to pieces six and ten-inch armor plates when merely leaned against the steel and exploded. The whole theory of shell fire had been so changed by the adoption of high explosive shells in place of armor-piercing projectiles, he said, that the coast defenses of the United States virtually were useless because they still used the latter type of projectile.

Rely in Higher Explosives.

Officers of the German navy, he said, had informed him that armor piercing shells had been displaced on German war vessels years ago and that the Germans relied upon high explosives. It had been demonstrated, he said, that armor piercing shells had never sunk a ship.

He cited the case of the Maria Theresa, one of the Spanish ships beached when she took fire after her flight from Santiago. Two 12-inch armor piercing shells had struck the ship and exploded in her, yet it was possible to raise her and send her to the United States. Navy officers had testified, he said, that had a high explosive shell struck the vessel "the whole stern would have been torn off."

Gathman also attacked the coast defense mortars on which the United States, he said, had expended $100,000,000. These, he said, have a range of only six miles, use only armor piercing shells and cannot pierce armor at a mile, as a majority of the blows would be glancing. Equipped with high explosive shells, he said, their fire would be deadly.

CHARGED WITH MURDER OF GIRL

Charles Kimbrough Alleged to Have Killed Rose Fornier.

Saginaw, Mich., Jan. 13.—A complaint was entered in justice court today charging Charles Kimbrough, a negro, with the murder of 8-year-old Rose Fornier, who disappeared from her grandmother's home here on the evening of Jan. 3. The day after the child disappeared ashes were taken from the firebox beneath a boiler in the plant where Kimbrough was employed and sent to Prof. McCotter of the University of Michigan for analysis.

Prof. McCotter's report was sent to Saginaw last night, and it is said the report stated the ashes bore indications of being those of human bones. Kimbrough, who is choir leader in a local church, has been detained by the police since Jan. 5. He protests that he is innocent.

CONEMAUGH CLUB GIVES SKATING PARTY.

The Conemaugh club entertained at a skating party last night at the French rink, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Second street. The party skated until 10 p. m. and then went to the home of Everett Johnson, 2127 West Second street, for a lunch. Games were played. Those present were: Misses Cora Bergquist, Mabelle Dahl, Leon Hathaway, Ruby Fenstedt, Ione Fenstedt, Leana Nisson, Ethel Gibson; Messrs. Carl Flisher, Marshall Peterson, Leo Moerkie, Vernor Hemmerbeck, Percy Stevens, Carl Melander, Sidney Jenson, Ruchen Nelson, Alexander Koefod, Everett Johnson, William Gibson.

The Conemaugh club is a newly-organized club, but all the activities are in full swing. Officers are elected every six months. There is a membership of eighteen boys. They have a cabin at Lakeside and their spare time is spent there. They are taking an active part in basket ball this year and have games scheduled with some of the faster amateur teams. They have not yet been able to decide what flower they want, but it is expected they will practice at the boy department Y. M. C. A. every Thursday night.

CONDITIONAL PARDON GRANTED A. D. BARRETT.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alfred Dawson Barrett, was given a conditional pardon at a special meeting of the state pardon board at noon today. In granting the pardon the board recognized Barrett's attempt at reform. While no member would comment, it is understood that the pardon is granted to Barrett on condition that he live a clean life in the future.

WOULD INVESTIGATE BOARD OF CONTROL.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The legislative investigation of the state board of control's operations during the past two years is proposed in a resolution introduced in the house this afternoon by John Rott, Jr.

The resolution declares thousands of dollars have been expended without proper checking accounts, and proposes that the legislature make a thorough inquiry and report back early.

An investigation of the state treasurer's alleged failure to publish proper reports and a mistake by the state auditor of $300,000 stated in testimony before the state supreme court recently, also are provided for in the investigation resolution.

COWBOYS.

The American Boy: A cowboy, to our modern minds, means a man who herds cattle; yet the original "cowboys," instead of herding cattle, stole them. The name seems first to have been applied to a band of horsemen, part soldiers and part bandits, who fought on the British side during the Revolution. Westchester county, New York, was the scene of their operations, and the most of them were Tories. Because they drove away many cattle on their raids they were called cowboys. Opposed to the cowboys in their raids through the section of New York which lay between the British and American lines were the Skinners, a somewhat similar band of marauders, who espoused the Continental cause.

IS MADE DEFENDANT IN DAMAGE ACTION

MRS. H. M'K. TWOMBLEY.

The widow of the late H. McK. Twombley has been sued by a woman named Ida Bowen for $25,000 damages. The suit is based on an unsigned letter accusing Miss Bowen of theft and warning her to leave the country. This letter she says was written by Mrs. Twombley. The attorney for Mrs. Tmobley denies that she wrote the letter and says Miss Bowen is of unsound mind. Mrs. Twombley was a Vanderbilt.

ALL DOCUMENTS MUST BE CORRECT

Governor Hammond Will Not Sign Them Until He Knows It.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.) — Governor Hammond does not propose to sign his name to any document without knowing that it is correct in every detail.

The statute imposes on the governor the duty of issuing tax deeds. Heretofore the papers in these matters have been transmitted to the governor's office, checked over by a clerk, the deed issued and generally the name of the executive signed by some one else.

Governor Hammond announced today that hereafter all papers in such cases will be transmitted by his office to the attorney general, who will pass on the correctness of all details of the transaction and return the papers to the governor's office with his approval or rejection. If approved, the governor will sign the deeds personally.

The governor also declined to sign a receipt presented to him by the adjutant-general for supplies obtained by the state from the war department for the militia.

"How am I to know," he asked, "whether these articles are all in the possession of the state? I presume they are, but I want to know."

SEEKING GOLD IN THE ARCTIC.

Wide World Magazine: Why nine men of respectable occupations and orderly instincts should have dropped business in a half-dozen widely-separated cities and joined hands in a privateering expedition into the Arctic is a problem not to be compressed into a haphazard formula.

"Man is supposed to love happiness," wrote Robert Louis Stevenson; "it is my contention that he rather loves excitement. Danger, enterprise, hope, the novel, the aleatory, are dearer to men than regular meals." Shall we let it stand at that? The fact that we were drawn primarily by the prospects of gold-mining does not mean that we did not expect some unfamiliar thrills on the trail of the Polar bear, or look forward to the novelty of trading tobacco for Eskimo ivory.

We were, all told, thirty-four souls, twenty-four of a crew and ten passengers or stockholders, including the gentleman to whose "aurora borealis" we went looking for the legendary pot of sovereigns. No doubt there would have been no expedition, no assumption of a running expense of nearly £1,000 a month, had stores of the precious metal not been promised somewhere in the lordly North. But since they were promised—and we being of human clay—there was nothing to do but take the promise as chart and compass and bundle eastward for St. John's.

At this moment the gold story makes sorry reading. We were disappointed; there was no compromise about our complete failure as "money-makers."

CLASSY PEKINESE DOG WINS RIBBON

MRS. R. E. KNIGHT.

At the toy dog show at the Waldorf Astoria Mrs. R. E. Knight's "Tye See of Egham" was declared the best Pekinese. The judge in this class was Lady Adrienne Moor of England. Competition was keen, but the decision gave great satisfaction. "Tye See of Egham" has won a great many prizes at dog shows.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY OF SKIN

By DR. SAMUEL G. DIXON, Commissioner of Health for Pennsylvania.

Few people pay sufficient attention to the care of the skin. A certain number of both sexes devote no little time to the care of that portion which appears above their collars but few understand the real importance of the functions of the skin.

We breathe through the skin. A considerable volume of oxygen is absorbed by the body in this way. Certain poisonous substances are disposed of through the pores of the skin. These poisons are eliminated through the glands in the skin passing off in perspiration.

The skin is one of the body's thermostats that automatically regulate its temperature. If the heat grows excessive the blood vessels in the skin dilate and permit the circulation of an extraordinary amount of blood near the surface. This permits the radiation of the heat from the blood and the corresponding cooling of the body and stimulates a more active combustion.

When the body is exposed to cold if the skin is properly performing its functions it will contract and drive the blood away from the skin to concentrate its warmth near the vital organs.

The ends of the nerves which give us our sense of touch are located in the skin. This sensitiveness is for the continual protection of the body. In order that these various functions may be properly carried out it is essential that the skin be well cared for at all times. If the pores are not kept thoroughly clean, the poisonous excretions instead of being expelled are re-absorbed by the blood. Such a condition also prevents the skin from absorbing oxygen as it should do when properly performing its functions. Then too, there is the question of beauty. A clean, healthy, well groomed skin is genuinely attractive.

Soap and water should be vigorously applied but no soap left on the skin after bathing. Sleep and exercise in fresh air combined with good food and plenty of water are better than all the skin foods and beautifiers and their consistent and regular use will add materially to the general bodily health and well being.

HE WAS.

Philadelphia Star: The minister came to Jethro's house one afternoon to a christening party—he was to christen Jethro's little son, Jeth, Jr. "Jethro," said the minister solemnly, taking his host aside before the ceremony, "Jethro, are you prepared for this solemn event?"

"Oh, yes, indeed, doctor," Jethro beamed. "I've got two hams, three gallons of ice cream, pickles, cake—"

"No, no, Jethro," said the minister with a smile. "No, no, my friend; I mean spiritually prepared."

"Well, I guess yes! Two demijohns of whisky and three cases of beer!" Jethro cried in triumph.

SHE GOT THE CHICKEN.

Chicago News: "Oh, dear," sighed Mrs. Jefferson, "I don't know how I am going to get along with Ambrosia."

"Fire her," replied Jefferson, shortly, not removing his eyes from the latest unauthenticated war news.

"Fire her. That's a pretty idea! How would I ever get along without her?"

"You were just saying you couldn't get along with her, and I was trying to help you out, dear. Has she been putting you in Dutch again?"

"She has placed me in a very embarrassing position."

"That is what I mean. I——"

"If you are going to keep interrupting me, I shan't tell you a word about it."

"If you didn't tell me you'd swell up and burst like a rubber balloon. Go ahead. I'll be the goat."

"It's about the Walterses. She phoned me this morning——"

"Walter Jones' wife?"

"No, silly. You know I haven't spoken to Mrs. Walter Jones for more than a month. It was Mrs. Walters; she phoned that she had a roast chicken and some stuffed potatoes for me, and that I should send Ambzrosia over for them right away. So I said to Ambrosia: 'Run over to Walters' and get me the roast chicken she has for me,' and Ambrosia went."

"That is perfectly dreadful, so far. I believe you will recover, however."

"Please listen and don't try to be as funny as you look! That careless creature went over to Walter Jones' and told Mrs. Jones she had come for my roast chicken—are you laughing?"

"I should say not. And then what happened?"

"She told Ambrosia that she had no roast chicken for me. And Ambrosia replied: 'Yassum, Mis' Jones, yo' is,' and she sat down on the Jones' step and remained there for an hour and a half. Oh, dear!"

"What did Mrs. Jones do?"

"She told Ambrosia to go along about her business, that she had nothing for her, but Ambrosia stuck and hung, and finally Mrs. Jones telephoned to the market and got a chicken and roasted it and gave it to Ambrosia. And just as Ambrosia came into the dining room with it Mrs. Walters telephoned and wanted to know if I was never going to send her after that chicken! Oh, dear! Oh, dear! What ever shall I do?"

"And you got both chickens?"

"Yes, and Mrs. Jones telephoned that she was sorry we had fallen out and that she and Walter were coming over here this evening. What in the world shall I do?"

"Invite the Walterses over to meet them and serve a cold lunch of roast chicken. Walter's wife is all right; you had no business quarreling with her."

"I'd like to know what you would do if Walter imitated your bonnet——"

"Nobody imitates a last year's derby."

"I believe I shall do as you suggest, and maybe you will take all of us to a picture show afterward. But whatever shall I do with Ambrosia?"

"Scold her, and give her a half dollar, as you usually do."

REVISION OF CONSTITUTION

Herbert S. Bigelow of Cincinnati Addresses Members of Legislature.

Describes Ohio's Experiences and the Things Brought About.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—"The test above all others by which good government is proved," said Herbert S. Bigelow of Cincinnati to the legislature yesterday afternoon, "is not that it gives the largest results for taxes paid. It is not that it preserves the best order—you can have good order in a cemetery. It is not that it provides the best streets. But it is that government which most effectively develops in the average citizen the capacity for self-government.

"The highest ideal of government is not that by it we can compel people to do things OUR way—who, knowing that he is human, dares to arrogate that right? The highest ideal of government is to make it possible for the people to do things THEIR way."

Mr. Bigelow, who was president of the recent constitutional convention in Ohio, was asked to address the legislature in the house chamber at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. In the absence of Speaker Plowers he was introduced by Representative G. B. Bjornson.

Ohio's Experiences.

Mr. Bigelow described Ohio's experiences in revising her Constitution—a subject that will be before this session. He said that the Ohio Constitution had been virtually unamendable for sixty years. When it was framed, the friends of Thomas Jefferson were in power, and they followed his idea that the people of each generation should have the privilege of determining their form of government. So it was arranged that automatically every twenty years the people of Ohio should vote on the question whether they should have a new Constitution. They voted "No" until in 1910, when they voted "Yes," and the constitutional convention was the result.

These are among the things the constitutional convention brought about:

They fixed it so that the supreme court could not declare a law unconstitutional unless all but one of its members voted to do so.

They threw down the bars so that the legislature could surround labor with all the protection it might deem necessary.

It authorized a compulsory workmen's compensation act, which the following session of the legislature put into effect.

Home Rule for Cities.

It provides home rule for cities, much more liberally than in Minnesota. All large cities but one have availed themselves of this chance. The forms of the charters vary greatly, but in one respect they are all the same—all include the feature of non-partisanship.

It made it easier hereafter to amend the Constitution, so that negligent voters cannot obstruct progress. All amendments are put on a separate ballot, and any amendment getting a majority of those who vote on this amendment is carried.

It adopted an initiative and referendum measure, similar to the one voted upon in Minnesota last fall.

Mr. Bigelow advocated the resubmission of the initiative and referendum, including in it machinery for making it easier to amend the Constitution.

Speaking of franchises, he opposed the fixed term franchise, and advocated the indeterminate franchise system. Values should be fixed upon the plants, and the companies allowed to earn a fixed profit on these valuations, which should not be increased except by actual investments and upon public authority. No franchise laws should be passed that do not give the people a chance to vote upon all franchises.

STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

MUNICIPAL REGULATION

On the ground that the Nolan bill was directly the opposite of the state regulation idea—which it was—and that the Minette bill was a piecemeal makeshift because it did not include all utilities, Governor Eberhart vetoed both bills.

After one of the hottest fights in the history of the legislature both bills were passed through the house over the veto, and an attempt was made also to put them through the senate. The governor's friends came to the rescue there, and both failed of passage.

The Campbell bill amends Section 2842 of the Revised Laws of 1905, the existing law relating to the control of public service corporations, by reframing the statute so that it will read as follows, with the new matter in capitals:

"The state shall at all times have the right to supervise and regulate the business methods and management of such corporation, and from time to time to fix the compensation which it may charge for its services; and every such corporation obtaining a franchise from a city or village OR BEING PERMITTED BY THE GOVERNING BODY THEREOF TO CONDUCT ITS BUSINESS THEREIN, SHALL BE SUBJECT TO SUCH CONDITIONS AND RESTRICTIONS AS FROM TIME TO TIME may be imposed upon it by such municipality. THE GOVERNING BODY OF EVERY SUCH CITY OR VILLAGE IS HEREBY GIVEN THE RIGHT AND POWER TO PRESCRIBE AND LIMIT THE CHARGES WHICH ANY SUCH CORPORATION, OTHER THAN TELEPHONE COMPANIES, MAY DEMAND OR RECEIVE FOR THE COMMODITIES OR SERVICES FURNISHED BY IT TO THE MUNICIPALITY AND TO THE INHABITANTS THEREOF, BUT THE CHARGES SO ESTABLISHED SHALL NOT BE UNREASONABLE OR INADEQUATE, AND NOT LOWER THAN THOSE AUTHORIZED BY CONTRAST BETWEEN SAID CORPORATION AND THE MUNICIPALITY, NOR IN CONFLICT WITH ANY LAW OF THIS STATE."

While there may be opposition to the bill, the conditions surrounding its defeat two years ago make it very unlikely that it will fail of passage at this session.

Initiative and Referendum.

Progressive members of both branches of the legislature are talking about the initiative and referendum, studying the direct legislation provisions of other states, and trying to agree upon the right kind of an amendment to the Constitution covering this point to be introduced at this session.

For it can be taken for granted that the initiative and referendum will be up before the session, and it is practically as certain that it will pass and be presented to the people again in the election of 1916.

Governor Hammond's suggestion that the amendment should simply authorize the initiative and referendum without prescribing its terms has been received respectfully, and many members are in favor of it.

However, it must be confessed that on the whole, sentiment is against it. Not, by any means, that sentiment is in disagreement with it, but that many friends of direct legislation fear that it will be impossible to put through an amendment along those lines. The question is by no means one-sided.

WOULD HAVE THE STATE INSURE PUBLIC PROPERTY

GEORGE W. BURROWS.
Representative From Breckenridge.

On the governor's fundamental proposition that it is wrong to overload the Constitution with details that ought to be in the statutes instead of in the Constitution there is virtually no disagreement.

But it is becoming apparent that both sides—meaning the radicals and the conservatives—are fearful of the "widen-open" plan proposed by Governor Hammond.

The radicals talk this way: "Suppose the Constitution be simply amended so as to reserve to the people the right to initiate legislation and to cause to be referred to them legislation enacted by the legislature. Suppose that the next legislature be elected by the reactionaries, and that an initiative and referendum law be enacted that is unworkable. Then all the fight for direct legislation is wasted."

What Conservatives Say.

On the other hand, the conservatives talk this way: "Suppose this is done, and that at the next election there is a wave of popular excitement that elects a harebrained legislature. Such a legislature would enact an initiative and referendum law that could be invoked and operated by cranks, to the lasting injury of the state."

Neither side fails to give credit to Governor Hammond for complete good faith in his recommendation—which is merely a recommendation, by the way, because the governor cannot veto a proposed constitutional amendment. But both sides are studying the proposal earnestly, and without doubt both are against it.

On the other hand such unquestioned progressives as Gunnar B. Bjornson of Minnesota are inclined to favor the idea, though not yet committed to it by any means.

One point raised by Representative Theodore Christenson of Dawson is impressing many. This is that if the provisions of the initiative and referendum are left to the legislature, they may be changed at every session, and that the result will be confusing and bewildering. "Very much," said Mr. Christenson to The Herald yesterday afternoon, "as our election laws are now."

Most of this discussion thus far has been among those who are out and out friends of direct legislation. It may be that the governor's idea will be adopted. That is by no means impossible when it finds support even among the most outspoken advocates of the initiative and referendum. But on the whole, the fact is inescapable that so far as the discussion has gone the trend of it is rather adverse.

County Option Bill.

The official county option bill—that is, the bill drafted and approved by the Anti-Saloon league, will be before the legislature shortly, probably this week. This according to Legislative Agent Martinson, who is on the ground constantly, planning the campaign and marshalling his forces.

Though both sides are claiming both branches of the legislature, it seems probable now that county option will fail in one house at least and maybe in both—but by a close vote in any event. It has been assumed by many that the county optionists were correct in claiming the senate by two votes; yet there is creditable authority for the assertion that the senate has a bare majority against the dry program. It is pretty generally conceded that the house is "wet" by a vote or two, though the "drys" are claiming it.

Action on county option in the house will, it is not unlikely, await the result of the two contests that are impending. The seats of Representatives Thomas H. Girling of Minneapolis and George C. Sudheimer of St. Paul are both threatened with contests by "dry" candidates. Mr. Girling defeated Frank Dunning by a vote of 945 to 742, but the defeated candidate has charged violation of the corrupt practices act. Mr. Sudheimer defeated Charles P. Montgomery by the narrow margin of nine votes, and in this case many disputed ballots, besides allegations of corrupt practices act breakages, are in issue.

Gordon's Saloon Hours Bill.

Representative Sam Y. Gordon's bill changing the hours when saloons can be open is similar to one introduced two years ago, but not passed. He would forbid the saloons to open before 7 in the morning or to stay open after 9 at night.

Undoubtedly an attempt will be made by city members to compromise by agreeing to an early closing hour for the country, while lengthening the saloon curfew hour in the cities from 11 o'clock to midnight. Whether the city members who propose this will get away with it is another question, though many country members agree that conditions are very different in the cities and in the country, and that an hour that would be fairly early in the city would be abnormally late in the country.

The senate rules committee is likely to approve the resolution offered by Senator George H. Sullivan of Stillwater, which requires all requests for appropriations to be in early and to be accompanied by full details, the purpose being to give the legislature a better chance to study all items of expense and items, if it pleases, to be able to reduce expenses.

The resolution was referred yesterday afternoon for consideration to a sub-committee consisting of Senators J. D. Sullivan, A. J. Rockne and Ole O. Sageng.

Representative Gunnar B. Bjornson yesterday offered in the house the expected bill appropriating money to pay the newspapers for publishing the constitutional amendments and the attorney general's explanations during the last campaign. The amount called for is $43,062, which is very little more than it used to be under the old arrangement, where the amendments were printed in three newspapers in each county, though last year they were printed in every legal newspaper in the state.

Railroad Liability Bill.

The purpose of the railroad employers' liability bill introduced in the house Monday evening by Representative Tom J. McGrath of St. Paul is to prevent the railroads from finding a twilight zone in which they can find refuge against personal injury suits through the old common law defenses.

The railroads are now deprived of these defenses by the Federal compensation law, and therefore railroad employes were not covered by the workingmen's compensation law of 1913. However, the supreme court of the United States has held that where a railroad man, when hurt, is working on intrastate business—for instance, on cars running between two points in the same state—the Federal law does not apply. The McGrath bill is intended to cover this loophole.

Representative John H. Boyd yesterday introduced in the house a bill authorizing boards of county commissioners, by a majority vote, to appropriate up to 5 cents per capita for the aid of incorporated development associations that will advertise the agricultural resources of their counties and otherwise help in promoting development.

Two years ago this same law was passed, but requiring a unanimous vote of the county boards. While most county boards have contributed to the work of the West Central Minnesota Development association, the Southern Minnesota Better Development association and the Northern Minnesota Development association, there and there a single commissioner has been able to block the appropriation. The purpose of the Boyd bill is to put it up to a majority of each county board.

Fire Insurance By State.

Representative George W. Burrows of Breckenridge, who yesterday introduced in the house the bill authorizing the state to provide fire insurance for county and municipal property, as the state now does for its own property, makes this explanation of the bill:

"At the last session of the legislature a law was passed prohibiting the state from carrying insurance with insurance companies on its property. In lieu thereof, a state insurance fund was established to be created as follows: $125,000 appropriated for the two first years. Out of this $125,000, the commissioner of insurance was to charge the full rate of premium on buildings which is now being charged by stock fire insurance companies, for a period of three years, thereafter 75 per cent thereof to be charged and paid out of such appropriation of $125,000 into the insurance fund.

"This has been a success, inasmuch as the losses have aggregated only $2,702.59, and the expenses of fire prevention work and conducting the account, $3,471.97. As compared with the results which would have obtained had the state continued to insure its property with insurance companies, it may be said that more than $57,000 has been saved.

"A new amendment proposes to extend this law by allowing counties and municipalities to purchase their insurance in the state fund in precisely the same manner that they would purchase insurance from a stock company, the first three years paying the full premium, thereafter 75 per cent thereof."

STATE-WIDE PROHIBITION

agricultural products to belligerents and moved that the rules be suspended and the resolution placed on its final passage. His motion failed to get the necessary two-thirds, getting 76 when it needed 87, with 39 votes against it. So it will take the regular course of a bill.

Magnus Johnson of Litchfield, announcing himself as the farmers' representative, urged the house to go on record on the issue as speedily as possible.

Representative Spooner of Morris, though declaring he might vote for the resolution when it was reached, said there was no need of hasty action.

Representative A. F. Tiegen of Montevideo, in a fervid speech, supported Mr. Spooner in this position.

Representative Carmichael of Framington eloquently supported the Bendixen motion and the resolution.

Representative Hynes of St. Paul, author of a resolution against the exportation of arms, strongly opposed the resolution and urged its defeat.

Representative John H. Boyd of Crookston, taking note of a large surplus in the supply of potatoes, offered a resolution proposing to create a commission under the governor to gather up the surplus and send it to the Belgians and to ask other Northwestern states to join the movement. Representative Lydiard of Minneapolis put it over to tomorrow by giving notice of debate.

Semi-Monthly Pay Bill.

Senator George H. Gardner of Brainerd introduced his semi-monthly pay bill, applying to all public service corporations but especially railroads, in the senate this morning. Representative Hynes of St. Paul introduced a similar bill in the house.

* * *

Senator F. H. Peterson of Moorhead introduced in the senate a bill proposing a constitutional convention to revise the Constitution. Representative Bjornson of Minneota will soon introduce a similar bill in the house.

* * *

Representative Guildford of Minneapolis is the author of a proposed constitutional amendment to make it easier to amend the Constitution by providing that amendments can be made by two-thirds of those voting on the proposition. Representative Sam Y. Gordon's bill to the same effect authorizes ratification by 60 per cent of those voting on the proposition.

House Rules Report.

The house rules committee reported this morning, but the report was laid over for action tomorrow. There may be a debate over two changes proposed. One does away with the provision of two years ago requiring a record to be kept of votes in committees, and the other abolishes the long standing privilege of having a bill that is rejected in committee of the whole excepted from the report of the committee to the house, so a record vote can be had on it. No record is kept of votes in committee of the whole. The position of the committee is that this privilege has been grossly abused in the past.

The senate passed the house bill appropriating $125,000 for the expenses of the session, and members' mileage is now available.

Other New Bills.

Other bills introduced: Representative Lealand, providing that the school census shall include all children between 5 and 21; Representative C. H. Warner, legalizing certain drainage proceedings (passed under suspension of the rules); Representative Guildford, prohibiting a person convicted of killing another from inheriting property from his victim; Representative Bjorklund, providing that where a holiday falls on Sunday, Monday shall be a legal holiday; Senator Campbell of Minneapolis, requiring street railways in cities over 50,000 to maintain flagmen at railroad crossings; Senator Peterson of Moorhead, authorizing courts to be open on Sunday to give additional instruction to juries; Senator W. W. Dunn of St. Paul, authorizing first-class cities to establish restricted residence.

Representative George H. Moeller of St. Paul will tomorrow introduce his bill of of two years ago authorizing limited boxing contests up to ten rounds, with gloves required ranging from five ounces for bantamweights up to eight ounces.

SENATOR E. E. LOBECK
Of Alexandria.

clare, however, that I have withdrawn nothing and will withdraw nothing from my pastoral letter. (Signed)

"'CARDINAL MERCIER,
"'Archbishop of Malines.'"

Note From Governor.

Gen. von Bissing adds:

"As this reply of the cardinal might give rise to misunderstandings, I add thereto the following remarks:

"I certainly caused proofs of the pastoral letter in the printing office to be confiscated and I summoned the priests to give up copies of it in their possession.

"The cardinal never has been arrested nor has his personal liberty in any other way been encroached on. I have merely by means of officers on my staff, requested him to give me explanations of the tendencies of the pastoral letter, and besides this, in order to prevent possible manifestations I asked him to abandon a projected journey to Antwerp.

"If these measures perhaps appear to the cardinal subjectively vexatious, yet they were objectively absolutely necessary in order to clear up the situation. (Signed)

"GOVERNOR GENERAL FREIHER VON BISSING."

WANT IT SERBIAN INSTEAD OF SERVIAN

Servian Legation Asks Adoption of This Spelling of Word.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Jan. 1.—The Servian legation in London has addressed a letter to the press and public, urging the adoption of the spelling "Serbian" and "Serbia" instead of "Servian" and "Servia."

"The latter spelling," says the legation spokesman, "is highly offensive to our people, mainly because it suggests a false derivation from the Latin root meaning 'to serve.' It is a source of hidden pain to Serbians to see that some journals persist in using the corrupt forms."

The same letter requests wider publication and performance of the Servian national hymn. "In restaurants and public places we hear the British patriotic songs and hymns, together with those of your allies, France, Russian, Belgium and Japanese, yet, alas! not that of Servia, which is really a beautiful piece of music."

BLACK SEA SCENE OF NAVAL BATTLES

Further Details of Engagements Between Russians and Turks.

Petrograd, Jan. 13.—Further details of the naval engagements in the Black sea during the first week of January have been received in Petrograd.

The scene of these activities was between Sinope and Rizab, Turkish ports on the southern coast of the Black sea. The Russian ships came up with the Turkish cruiser Mejidieh convoying a steamer, the Maria Rosetta, with a cargo of naphtha for Trebizond. They opened fire on the Turkish ship and did considerable damage. The cruiser escaped, but the Maria Rosetta was sent to the bottom.

The night of Jan. 6, the Russian fleet came up with the cruisers Breslau and Hamidieh.

A spirited exchange of shots followed and finally the Turkish cruisers disappeared in the darkness. In Sourmene bay and in Rizah bay (thirty-five miles east of Trebizond), the Russian warships destroyed fifty-one Turkish boats. The bombardment of the port of Hopa, which is the distributing point for the Tchoruk region, caused a number of fires along the coast.

A strange incident concerning the proceedings of the Turkish fleet in the Black sea has been reported. It seems that the Turkish cruiser Breslau bombarded certain positions held by Turkish troops near Liman, which is to the north of Hopa. Following this bombardment Russian troops occupied without hindrance the positions from which Turkish soldiers had been driven by the fire of their own cruiser.

Combing Won't Rid Hair of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp, and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Advertisement.

TYPHOID CHECKED IN FRENCH ARMY.

Paris, Jan. 13.—The war has demonstrated beyond all question, according to members of the medical commission, the efficaciousness of anti-typhoid vaccination. Most of the members of the active army have been vaccinated before the war, but the reservists and territorials drafted and sent to the front later had not and as a result towards the end of October a large number of cases of typhoid developed.

The medical commission sent doctors to the firing line and they vaccinated a whole army corps of 40,000 men.

By the end of December the good results of this treatment became apparent as typhoid had practically disappeared, the only cases remaining being among the men of two regiments which the doctors were unable to reach.

TO EXPEL GERMANS FROM PETROGRAD.

Petrograd, Jan. 13, via London.—German and Austrian subjects between the ages of 16 and 60 have been ordered expelled from Petrograd and its environs and also from those Russian provinces which border on the gulf of Finland and the Baltic sea, including the gulf of Riga. The order of expulsion provides that all persons concerned must be clear of these provinces by Jan. 27.

The territory affected comprises Livonia, except a portion near Riga; Estonia; the city and province of Petrograd; Novgorod, with certain exceptions; Viborg, Newland; Tavasthus and Abo Bernborg. The exceptions in Novgorod apply to certain portions inhabited chiefly by non-Russian Lutherans.

SHIP MUST LEAVE PORT SOON OR BE INTERNED.

Washington, Jan. 13.—If the former British collier Farn, now under the German flag, does not put out of San Juan, Porto Rico, immediately after provisioning, the United States authorities there will intern the German naval officer in command and his prize crew and turn the ship back to the British owners. The Farn put in there yesterday.

The case had not formally been brought before the state department today, but officials there found in The Hague convention absolute direction for the treatment of such a case.

The Farn is reported to have been in need of provisions after she had been captured by the German cruiser Karlsruhe.

Woman's Health Requires Care

Women are so constituted as to be peculiarly susceptible to constipation, and their general health depends in large measure on careful regulation and correction of this tendency. Their delicate organisms rebel at the violence of cathartic and purgative remedies, which, while they may afford temporary relief, shock the system and seriously disturb the functional organs. A mild laxative is far preferable and, if properly compounded, much more effective.

The combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is ideal for women's use. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

ON THE IRON RANGES

DOMESTIC IS BADLY BURNED

Virginia Girl "Hurries Along" Kitchen Fire With Kerosene, Usual Result.

Attorney McMahon's Home Scene of Near Tragedy in Early Morning.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The practice of "hurrying" along a slow fire by the aid of kerosene brought the usual result here today and may cost a life. A dwelling was endangered by fire, while the person who used the oil to help along the flames is in a hospital in a very serious condition.

About 6.30 o'clock Miss Freda Anderson, employed as a domestic in the home of Attorney M. H. McMahon, 512 Central avenue, started to build a fire in the kitchen range preparatory to getting the family breakfast.

Reaches for Kerosene.

She put some paper in the range with kindling and lighted it, but the flames grew too slowly, so she got a five-gallon can of kerosene and proceeded to pour some of the oil on the fire. An explosion resulted, the burning oil being thrown over her and setting fire to her clothing. Miss Anderson ran screaming from the house out into the street and rolled in the snow. Assistance was soon at hand and the flames extinguished. She was badly burned and was hastened to McIntyre hospital, where it is said she is in a very dangerous condition.

The fire department was called and extinguished the fire in the McMahon home before much damage resulted.

LONG-SOUGHT MAN IS IN MILL CITY

Henry Swanson, Believed to Have Perished Near Chisholm, Much Alive.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Henry Swanson, the bricklayer who was reported lost in the woods north of Chisholm, and for whom hundreds of men spent almost a month seeking, is alive at his home in Minneapolis.

While walking on the streets of Minneapolis, Henry Johnson, the contractor who built the local library, met Swanson. Swanson claims, after becoming separated from John Olson, while hunting, he wandered around for two days in the woods and then came upon a logging camp. Here he remained for a few days and then came to Minneapolis, where he has been ever since, unconscious of the anxiety his absence caused his friends here.

SEEKING CHANGE IN SEWER PLANS

Mining Companies Want Open Ditch From Alice.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Conflictions in carrying out the Alice sewer work developed at the council meeting last night.

Mining companies have devised a change in the original plans, claiming there will be a saving in constructing the work. According to Mayor Power and Village Engineer Hawkes the change asked by the mining companies will prove more expensive than the original plans.

The companies' proposal is to run an open storm and sanitary sewer from Alice to the Penobscot ditch in which all sewage from the village is emptied. According to Mayor Power, in time to come it will be necessary to establish two sewage disposal plants if this change is made. This will entail a greater expense, he says.

Sketches for the proposed courthouse were presented to the council by Architect H. E. D. Puck, but the appointment of an architect was postponed.

M'GHEE QUESTIONS MAYOR'S AUTHORITY

Lively Tilt Enlivens Virginia Council Proceedings.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 13.—Questioning Mayor Boylan's authority to give work to day laborers on the sanitary sewers being built north and south of Chestnut street, Alderman McGhee, at the council meeting last night, started something, a lively tilt with the city executive resulting. The mayor jumped to his feet and denied he had exceeded his authority. McGhee further questioned the mayor's right to employ anyone, intimating the mayor had misconstrued the language of the resolution.

The resolution was produced and it showed the mayor had such authority.

Street Commissioner Christopherson stated that he had been consulted by the mayor and that it was decided to be guided by the mayor's suggestion; that Mayor Boylan had spent a great deal of time ascertaining the names of worthy men who were put to work.

Mayor Boylan then pointed out that the charter provides that no member of the council shall be instrumental in putting men to work on the city pay roll. He said McGhee had violated this provision by recommending a man for this work. The matter was referred to the council which will meet as a committee of the whole next Friday night.

Many Attend Last Rites Held for Josiah Nicholls.

Ely, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Josiah Nicholls was held this afternoon from the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Nicholls, a brother of the deceased. Services were held at the M. E. church, Rev. Williams officiating. The casket was covered with floral designs from friends of many years and the church was crowded. Mr. Nicholls came to Ely over seventeen years ago from Tower and was one of the pioneers in this locality.

LOGGER SHANK AND HOUSEKEEPER WEDDED

Biwabik, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—N. B. Shank, the well-known logging man, and Miss Beda Holst, who has been his housekeeper for some time, fooled their local friends by stealing away to Duluth and Superior and getting quietly married. They returned on a late train last night and this morning the news of the affair "leaked" out. Both are well known and popular here and are being generally congratulated.

CLOSE REACHES COURT BUT NOTHING HAPPENS.

Biwabik, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. J. Close, the Wilpin farmer, who was ordered to appear before Judge Salmon here day before yesterday and answer the charge preferred by Game Warden Wood of having game meat in his possession without the retaining tag, made a 100-mile auto ride and got here yesterday, too late for the hearing. He returned home but just what will be the next development in this rather sensational case is not developing, as Wood will not talk. Mr. Close claims he is being persecuted and further developments may result.

HIBBING LIBRARY IS ASKING FOR $10,000.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—An appropriation of $10,000 to conduct the activities of the Carnegie library for the ensuing year and the purchase of new books is asked by the library board.

Herman Antonelli, a member of the library finance committee, last night presented a recommendation signed by Secretary Mrs. T. S. Silliman to the village council.

Before this appropriation is made, the village council will look up the original contract of the Carnegie library concern. It is probable that several extensions to the library will be made this year, as its patronage taxes the capacity to overflowing.

FERTILIZING MATERIAL TO BE GIVEN FARMERS

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fertilizing material from the village which has hitherto been hauled to the Mahoning dump will hereafter be used to improve farm lands south of Alice.

Robert Prichard headed a delegation from the farmers' club in that section to the council last night and asked if the village would be willing to haul this material to a farm no further away than the dump, to be used by farmers. He said that if this would be done the farmers would increase the number of their employes and it would mean thousands of dollars towards the betterment of farm lands in Hibbing's vicinity.

"We will be only too glad to do this for you," said Mayor Power. "Anything reasonable and legitimate that we can do to help you farmers will be done. It is a shame that so much of this material has been wasted already."

SUMMER HOMES FOR ODD FELLOWS.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 13.—Plans are under way for the erection at Fraser Bay, on Lake Vermilion, of a clubhouse to be exclusively used for the I. O. O. F. lodge members who wish to spend part of their summer vacations there. John Frederickson of Tower was in this city yesterday and left for Eveleth after offering to a few of the I. O. O. To Cure Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected a complete cure after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick tell how they have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear.

Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength), about 75c worth. Take this home, and add to it ½ pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmint is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretions in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form should give this recipe a trial and free themselves from this destructive disease.—Advertisement.

TURKISH ARMY OCCUPIES TABRIZ

which the Turks are aiming, lies along the undefended Russo-Persian frontier to the north of Tabriz. There never has been any necessity for preparing this portion of the Russian boundary against possible Persian attacks.

The opinion is held here that Great Britain and Russia may offer assistance to Persia in the defense of her neutrality as a result of Turkey's dramatic advance. When the Ottoman activities in Persian territory first developed Persia not only announced her neutrality, but asked the good offices of Great Britain to prevent violation of her neutrality. Little could be done at the time as the territory invaded lay within the sphere of Russian influence.

Eve nthough Turkey should fail to push further northward, she will have obtained a foothold on the territory on the eastern bank of Lake Urumiah, which she has long coveted.

Turkish encroachments on the province of Azerbaijan began in 1905, when Russia was weakened in the war with Japan. It has always been asserted that Ottoman pressure on this portion of Persia was backed by Germany, whose economic interests, it was contended, demanded free navigation of Lake Urumiah.

A telegram from Petrograd today says that 1,000 persons of the province of Azerbeijan are fleeing on foot towards the Caucasion frontier before the Turkish advance. Many of these fugitives, it is said, are dying of hunger and cold.

Tabriz is in northwestern Persia and after Teheran, the largest city in the country. It is 100 miles to the east of the Turkish frontier.

Tabriz was garrisoned by a Russian force, it being situated in that part of Persia under the domination of the Russians in the same manner as the southern portion of Persia is considered to be within the sphere of influence of Great Britain.

The town has been evacuated by this Russian force, according to a report sent out by the Turkish government and published last night in Berlin. The announcement from Constantinople added that the Russian garrison had retreated to Djulfa, where the Russians were said to be assembling in strong force to defend the passage of the Araxes river.

GERMANS CHECK ADVANCE OF ALLIES

the Germans to check the advance of the allies in France northeast of Soissons, and near Perthes, marked the principal points today where desperate conflicts are reported to be raging. For six days now the Turks have been making a valiant effort to rally their retreating forces, and aided by a garrison from Erzerum, have been making a surprising fight in view of Russian reports of their recent crushing defeat.

The latest Petrograd official communication says that the fighting at Kara-Urgan is turning in the Russians favor, but both armies are fighting with the handicaps of deep snow and bitter cold. Private Petrograd dispatches claim that the Turks show no signs of weakening.

The Germans again have stormed "Spur 132," northeast of Soissons, in what Paris describes as an "important attack." The result was still unknown this morning. The French took the hill only last Saturday and since then the Germans have made a determined effort to carry it by a counter attack.

The scene of this fighting is the nearest point to the French capital along the battle line, being only sixty miles from Paris.

Violent Fighting.

Similar violent fighting is reported as progressing about fifty miles farther east, near Perthes, where the Germans by a counter-attack succeeded in breaking through and in establishing themselves behind the French advanced position north of Beausejour. The fighting presumably continued all night, but the outcome was not known this morning. The Germans apparently are making great efforts, not only to hold what they have recovered, but also to drive the French farther back, as an advance on the part of the latter would threaten their communications to the north.

Telegrams from Cairo revive the reports of a German-Turkish invasion of Egypt. A dispatch received here today says that the Turkish forces, officered by Germans, which are gathered in Northern Syria waiting to attack, are holding back only until the arrival of expected reinforcements.

Dispatches from Sofia indicate that Roumania plans to start her campaign through Transylvania in February.

French Statement.

Paris, Jan. 13, 2:40 p. m.—Severe winter weather from one end to the other of the battle line in France hindered military operations yesterday, according to the announcement given out this afternoon by the French war office. The French artillery showed some activity, notably near Soissons and between Reims and the Argonne, but no decisive results were obtained. The fighting northeast of Soissons continues with severity. It is evident that large forces of infantry have been engaged. The French retain some of their positions, but were compelled to relinquish others. The statement says:

"The unfavorable weather conditions which have persisted along almost the entire front have hindered operations. In Belgium there has been a sand storm in the dunes along the coast.

"In the region of Nieuport and near Ypres the French artillery directed an effective fire on the earthworks of the enemy.

"On the Aisne, to the northeast of Soissons the fighting around 'Spur 132' continued with great severity during all the day of Jan. 12. The Germans brought very considerable forces into this engagement. We maintained our position on the crest of the hill to the west of 'Spur 132.' To the east our troops were obliged to give up ground. The fighting here continues.

"Between Soissons and Berry-au-Bac shells from our artillery caused explosions at several different points, in the midst of batteries of the enemy.

"In Champagne from Reims to the Argonne, there were yesterday exceedingly violent artillery exchanges.

"In the region of Souain the advance position covering the blockhouse located to the north of the Beausejour farm is still in our possession and we have set up a trench distant sixty yards from the German trenches.

"In the Argonne there have been rain and wind storms; no infantry activity has been recorded.

"From the Argonne to the Moselle there have been intermittent artillery exchanges.

"In the Vosges there have been fogs and a heavy fall of snow."

German Statement.

Berlin, Jan. 13, by wireless to London, 3:25 p. m.—German victories in several engagements on the western front are announced in today's statement from the war office. It is said that the allies were compelled by German artillery to evacuate trenches near the Belgian coast, in the neighborhood of Nieuport and that attacks were repulsed at other points, with the capture of 1,700 French in one instance.

In the war with Russia there are no developments of consequence. The statement follows:

"In the western theater of war fierce artillery duels took place in the neighborhood of Nieuport. They resulted in the evacuation of the enemy's trenches at Pallnsburg, a suburb of Nieuport.

"The enemy's attacks near the canal of La Bassee have been finally repelled.

"French attacks at La Boiselle and the hill of Touvron were repulsed. Yesterday's unsuccessful attacks on the hills near Crony were followed up by a German counter-attack, which ended in the complete defeat of the French and the clearing of the hills northeast of Bussie and north of Crony. Our troops took possession of two French positions and captured 1,700 prisoners, four cannon and several machine guns.

"An attack by French sappers in the neighborhood of St. Mihiel has been successfully repulsed. Our troops took possession of the hills north and northeast of Nomeny.

"The situation in the Vosges remains unchanged.

"In the eastern theater of war the situation has not undergone any change."

Russian Statement.

Petrograd, Jan. 13.—An official statement issued by the general staff of the army in the Caucasus says:

"Fighting in the region of Olti (55 miles west of Kars) continues obstinately, the rear guard of the Turks being on the River Olti and to the west.

"The bitter fighting in the Kara-Urgan region has latterly inclined in our favor. On Jan. 11 we captured the Ninety-second regiment of infantry, including eleven officers, three surgeons and 1,500 men. We also partially destroyed the Fifty-second regiment of infantry, a portion of which, consisting of 250 soldiers and one officer, was captured. We captured a height in Turkish territory and in taking the enemy's camp there we secured depots of artillery and ammunition.

An official statement issued last night says:

"On the left bank of the Vistula on the night of Jan. 11, and all the following day the Germans continued the attempts which have become customary of late, to attack by small detachments at different points along our front, but nevertheless all these attempts were easily repulsed by our rifle fire and cannonading which inflicted grave losses on the enemy.

"The Germans showed a more obstinate offensive which, however, failed in the region of the village of Soutah, making four separate attacks, and also at North Moghely farm, where they delivered two attacks.

"At daybreak on Jan. 11, on a large part of our front, our scouts approached very near to the German trenches and successfully attacked them by means of hand grenades, inflicting severe losses.

"According to supplementary information, the Germans suffered considerable losses in an attack on the night of Jan. 10, in the neighborhood of the village of Samice, abandoning 500 killed on the field. Our field searchlights were of much service during this attack.

"On the other fronts there is no essential change."

Mandan, N. D., Jan. 13.—When Mrs. Benton Roe awakened near this city, while in a berth on train No. 1 of the Northern Pacific, she found her husband dead beside her. They were traveling from Billings, Mont., to Des Moines. Heart disease and complications incident to his advancing age, 68 years, caused the death of Roe.

HAVE YOU HAD THE GRIP?

The debility and depression following an attack of the grip is not a fancied disorder. "Post-grippal neurasthenia" is the medical name for this condition and its seriousness is recognized by all medical writers.

One authority says: "Broadly speaking, every victim of the grip will suffer from post-grippal neurasthenia also. Lowering of nervous tone, with increased irritability is the most striking effect of the disease, with languor of mind and body, disturbed sleep and vague pains in the head and elsewhere."

Every sufferer will recognize the symptoms. What is the remedy?

After the fever has passed and the influenza has subsided the diet should be more liberal but be limited to articles easily digested; rest and sufficient sleep are essential and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the only medicine required in most cases. This treatment should be continued until the patient is completely restored to normal health and spirits. It is a specific treatment and rarely if ever fails.

Send today for the booklet "Building Up the Blood." It is free if you mention this paper. Address the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK TEA

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, and abundant.

WILL OFFER BOXING BILL

Proposal Will Be Made to Permit Contests in Minnesota.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 13.—A state athletic commission is proposed by a bill to be introduced in a day or two by Representative Moeller of Ramsey. It follows, in general terms, the provisions of the law which went upon the statute books of New York through the efforts of Senator James J. Frawley. Under it boxing contests have been held in the Empire state for four years and the game of fistiana has developed a little after being under a cloud there for a long time.

Moeller's bill provides, among other things, that the governor shall appoint three commissioners, one of whom must come from Hennepin and one from Ramsey county, and that they shall hold office for three years from June 1. The commission is to have a secretary.

The body that would be called into being by Moeller's bill would have the authority to license boxing matches before clubs, corporations or associations within the state. The limit of contests is put at ten rounds.

WOULD SEND CREWS TO PACIFIC COAST

Ten Eyck Wants to Race Columbia, Syracuse, Cornell, Harvard and U. of W. at Big Fair.

Jim Ten Eyck outlines a plan to have the Duluth rowing crews go to the Pacific coast in September and row for the world's championship, in a letter received today by The Herald sport department.

"The University of Washington," writes Jimmy, "is endeavoring to have Cornell, Syracuse and Columbia go out to the Pacific coast this summer and row against its crews. Now my suggestion is that Harvard, holder of the Henley title and the crews of the Duluth Boat club be included and that the contests be made for the world's title.

"This plan would make the races the greatest ever held in the United States and would lend some class to the aquatic features of the Panama exposition."

Prestige in the East.

Ten Eyck writes from Rochester. In the letter is included a clipping from one of the Rochester papers, which pays a glowing tribute to the crews of Duluth in an article a column in length.

"This article is further proof of the fact that they realize the worth of our crews down East," continues the letter. "This is but one of several articles that I have seen in the Eastern papers.

"Tell the boys to keep fit as a race out there in September would be right to our liking.

Dave Horak Breaks Collar Bone Sliding to Second Base.

In sliding to second base, Dave Horak, a member of the Chapter team in the Temple Indoor Baseball league, broke his collar bone last evening in the game between the Chapter and the Scottish Rite nine. He was removed to his home.

The game was an exciting one and ended in a victory for the Scottish Rite players, who won by the score of 29 to 22. Anderson and Frederickson were the batteries for the Scottish Rite team, while Kehl and Boerner worked for the Chapter.

This evening Ionic and Trinity will battle and tomorrow night the Shriners and the Chapter will play.

CENTRAL TO MAKE DEBUT

Big Duluths and Students Will Clash at Hockey.

The high school and Big Duluth hockey teams will meet this evening at the French rink in the second game of the Duluth Amateur league schedule. The contest will be called at 8 o'clock.

With Johnny Richards and Parsons in the lineup of the high school seven and some of the best players of the city in the Big Duluth lineup, followers of the game look for a great contest from the start.

It is generally believed that the high school boys have one of the best teams in the league. The acquisition of Richards and Parsons rounded out the splendid material of the hilltop institution and has caused the stock of the students to boom.

Helmer Grenner, one of the stars of the curling club team, will referee the game. Followers of the high school seven are all worked up over the game and there promises to be some real rooting.

Last season some great hockey was played at Central. This season the material developed last year and the addition of some excellent players on the class teams have given the team coaches a large number of candidates to select the team from. A real game is looked for.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Beginning this morning and continuing for the rest of the week, the first annual tournament, under the Northern Bowling association, is now on. Twenty teams have been entered, among the number being Aberdeen and Webster, S. D., St. Paul, Breckenridge and Moorhead in Minnesota, Minot, Jamestown, Grand Forks and seven teams from Fargo. Winnipeg is also expected to send a team. The singles and doubles will be played in the forenoons and the afternoons and the team events in the evening.

BIG CONTEST IS PENDING

Walter Miller and Waino Ketonen May Finally Meet.

Articles for Long Deferred Match May Be Signed Soon.

Negotiations and dickering that began in May 1913 and have continued with only occasional interruptions to the present time, may lead to a meeting in this city between Walter Miller and Waino Ketonen.

The little Finn, with his Lord Lonsdale gold belt, is in Omaha today. The long trek from Worcester, Mass., was made the day before yesterday. Since leaving here Ketonen has not only won the Lord Lonsdale belt, donated by the famous sporting titled Englishman, but he has won a string of more than twenty contests.

Ketonen has several matches in the West, but if the details of the pending contest with Miller are settled, the little Finn will at once drop all of his other contests and start training for the battle of his mat career.

Walter Miller is meeting all comers in St. Paul this week. If the match is made with Ketonen the little Pole will leave for Chicago and place himself under the direction of Ernest Kartje, Charley Cutler and Earl Caddock.

Ketonen Will Gamble.

If the contest is made it is probable under the terms submitted to Ketonen by Tilton Lewis that the little Finn will take the match on terms that call for no money for his work if he does not defeat Miller.

Ketonen is crazy to meet Miller. The fact that he has steadily and unfalteringly pressed his claims for a meeting with Walter for eighteen long months, is the best proof of this statement. All through the negotiations Ketonen has exhibited the right spirit, it is not believed that the Finn will permit any detail of the articles to stand in the way of the match.

It is expected that Promoter Lewis will know definitely tomorrow or Friday whether a contest that has included three trips half way across the continent by two men, and letters and telegrams and challenges galore, is on or off.

Some Battle Promised.

If these boys ever meet on the mat the fans of this city are due to witness a real contest.

Physically alike, with not a legitimate pound difference of weight, two of the few legitimate 158-pounders of the flight of middleweight contenders, and hating one another with the enthusiasm of two pit terriers, the prospective match has all the ingredients of a great contest.

Duluth is one of the greatest wrestling towns in the country for its size, and the man who loses this contest, if it is wrestled, can say a fond farewell to the old place. The loser will be through in so far as Duluth is concerned.

If Miller loses, his boast that he is the greatest man in the world at 158 pounds ringside, will vanish in the thin air, and if Ketonen is beaten by a boy who weighs in on the platform at 158 pounds, it is goodnight to his claims.

This hate is no thin and pale fiction; Ketonen has a long score to settle with the little Pole, and Miller hates Waino with accumulating wrath, because the Finn has been on his trail and has been rude and relentless in his challenging.

If there is a 158-pound man in the world who can beat Walter Miller the fact may be demonstrated.

MONTREAL GIVEN DATES.

In Grand Circuit to Make Up for Two Withdrawals.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 13.—Pittsburg and Fort Erie will not be active members of the Grand Circuit this year. The stewards of the harness racing organization, in session here, have prepared the 1915 racing schedule and added Montreal to the circuit. The Canadian city was given two meetings of three days each to fill the gap caused by the withdrawal of Fort Erie and Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, it was said, decided to remain out of the circuit until the driving club obtained a new track. No reason was given for Fort Erie's withdrawal.

BOTH FIGHTERS SHOW THEIR GAMENESS.

New York, Jan. 13.—Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fireman, broke his left wrist, and Al Reich, former national amateur heavyweight champion, sprained his right wrist in their ten-round bout in Brooklyn last night. Flynn's accident came in the second round and Reich's in the third, but they fought on, using their uninjured hands in offensive work and their other arms defensively.

Reich had the better of it until his wrist was sprained. From the fourth to the ninth rounds inclusive, Flynn outfought Reich. Flynn weighed 187 and Reich 167 pounds.

BIG INDOOR ATHLETIC MEET BEING PLANNED

A big indoor athletic meet for athletes of all schools and athletic clubs in this part of the country is planned for Duluth at an early date.

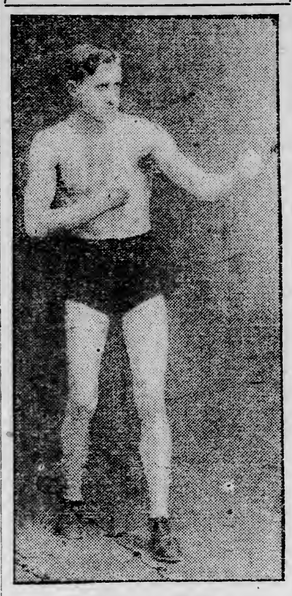

Athletic Instructor Gyler of Central and Physical Instructor Olson of he Y. M. C. A. are the men behind the project. Plans have already been made for what is believed will be the largest and most successful meet ever held in the northern part of the state.

According to the present calculations the meet will be held at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium or the Auditorium.

With more than fifty athletes in the city alone, and with an equal number to be found in the surrounding territory, there is ample material for a great meet. The Y. M. C. A. high school and boat club could furnish a large bunch of husky athletes, while other towns near by would be expected to send in a large delegation of contenders.

There has been an annual indoor meet at the Y. M. C. A. for the last few years. In the event the contemplated indoor athletic meet is carried out as planned, it will surpass any of the previous meetings and will possibly set up some new indoor marks for the Northwest.

DULUTH BOY IS FIGHTING IN WEST

STEVE GARDNER.

Steve Gardner has had a number of fights in the West and has won the majority of them. In Seattle and the surrounding country some of the followers of the game think the Duluth boy has the making of a first class fighter.

DISAGREE ON WHO WILL BE REFEREE.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 13.—The question of a referee for the coming ten-round boxing contest between Jimmy Clabby and Mike Gibbons is beginning to bother promoters of the bout, and it is feared that a serious dispute may result on this point. Clabby's manager has objected to Harry Stout as third man in the ring, while Gibbons is holding out in favor of Stout.

The club has served notice on the boxers that the referee question must be settled by Saturday, Jan. 16.

MANY RINKS EXPECTED AT THE ANNUAL BONSPIEL

It Is Estimated That the Head of the Lakes Will Enter Fifty Rinks, and St. Paul, Minneapolis and Wisconsin Towns Are Expected to Be Strongly Represented.

It is expected that nearly fifty rinks will be entered in the annual Northwestern bonspiel by Duluth and Superior. Secretary Withrow is counting upon Duluth to enter at least twenty-five rinks, West Duluth six rinks, Superior twelve and New Duluth several more.

Joe Rooney's rink of Hibbing was entered yesterday. Johnny Tresise is coming with R. N. Hoople, a former resident of this city. It is expected that Minneapolis will send up something like six rinks.

St. Paul and Minneapolis curlers have been slow in sending in their entries. Whether Bob Dunbar is coming to the spiel is not known as yet. Angus Cameron, one of the veteran curlers of the Northwest, is expected to be here and Tom McDermott is also expected to be on hand. Lem Deficld and others of the veteran squad, who have been coming to spiels for the last decade or more, are expected up.

Big Spiel Is Expected.

With just half a week before the start of the spiel, indications point to one of the best bonspiels in the history of the association.

The small Wisconsin towns are expected to send an unusually large number of curlers up. Reedal is coming. Hibbing is expected to send down a goodly representation, and there is a chance that Grand Forks will send one or two rinks. Virginia, Eveleth and other of the range towns are also looked to for support by the officers of the association.

If the weather man does the square thing, it is believed that the spiel will come near to eclipsing some of the records of the misty past.

Some Concert Planned.

On Thursday night there is going to be some time. At the Lyceum the "concert" will supplant the banquet of the past, and, according to the information that is leaking out, she is going to be "some concert."

In addition to the regular performance of the stock company players, there will be a multitude of special stunts by the curlers. Just the nature of this form of entertainment is not known, but some lively session is planned.

Curlers and others wanting to attend the big social and amusement feature of the bonspiel week are asked to communicate with Harry Hurdon, Dr. Gissipie, Fred Hargreaves, John Ross, J. E. Rockwell, Dr. E. L. Cheney or J. B. Becher. These men have charge of the tickets.

Visiting and Duluth and Superior curlers are going to be surprised by the form of the entertainment.

HIGH SCHOOL QUINT GETTING READY FOR GAME WITH CLOQUET

Coach G. A. Glyer is putting the Central high school basket ball squad through a hard grind preparatory to the game with Cloquet next Friday evening. The "Lumbermen" cancelled one game earlier in the season, but finally agreed to come down, with the understanding, however, that Duluth would play them a return game. This returned contest will be held in Cloquet on March 5.

That the game with Cloquet will be a hummer goes without saying. Last year the boys from the mill town brought down one of the strongest teams that was to be seen in this part of the state, and cleaned the Central team in an exciting contest to the tune of 19 to 13. This year they are returning with the determination and confidence of repeating the trick. Practically the same team which represented them last season will be seen in action on the local floor again Friday evening. This aggregation has been together for several years and has perfected a wonderful combination, with the result that they are an exceptionally hard team to defeat.

Coach Glyer is therefore taking no chances and realizes that the contest of Friday will be a stiff one. He is drilling his men on team work, signal drill and the finer points of the game, and is making rapid strides in developing a strong and speedy combination. Considerable progress has been made since the Northland game and the red and white warriors should make a great stand against the men from "up the river." Judging by the showing of the team in the Northland college contest of last Friday evening they should make a big bid for honors during the season. The Central men, after apparently hopelessly beaten, staged one of the classiest "come-backs" that has been seen on a local floor in a long time and had their older and more experienced opponents held with a tie when the whistle blew. This was a distinct surprise to every one as the Central team was hardly considered a chance against their husky opponents; but it merely goes to stamp the Duluth aggregation as one of real class and one that will surely make a great showing in inter-scholastic fields this season.

In the Northland game the same lineup was kept throughout the contest and proved to be a good one. "Ed" Scrivens and "Izzy" Karon held down the forward positions, "Dug" Moore was used at the pivot position, while Capt "Stan" Solheim and "Locky" Taylor played at the guard stations. There are, of course, a few mistakes and weaknesses that will have to be attended to, but these are being taken care of by Coach Glyer and a great machine is promised.

Last evening a fast scrimmage game was held with the speedy Rotary aggregation, and the Central boys showed up remarkably well. The older men, of course, showed their usual brilliancy and had considerably the better of the argument. Even without Scrivens in the lineup the high school men put up a fine scrap and Coach Glyer and Capt. Solheim are exceptionally well pleased with the team.

The same men will be used by Coach Glyer in the Cloquet contest, and the Rotary aggregation will take their men that played last night on a Western tour, beginning on Jan. 19. The lineup of last night follows:

High School—		Rotary—
Nelson	f	Harris
Karon	f	R. Bradley
Stenberg	f
Moore	c	J. Bradley
Solheim (Capt.)	g	Johnson
Taylor	g	Jeronimus
Farah	g	Solheim

DULUTH IS STILL A MEMBER OF LEAGUE: IT IS UP TO WEBB.

At a meeting of the directors of the Duluth Curling club, held last evening, it was decided to await the coming here of President C. E. Webb and John T. McNamara before making any definite move in the matter of remaining in or withdrawing from the Western division of the American Hockey association.

A telegram to this effect was sent to the manager of the Calumet team. Also a telegram was sent asking that Webb and McNamara be hurried to Duluth, in order that the entire affair could be cleared up and a decision made one way or the other.

Calumet may follow Duluth. If the curling club team withdraws from the league, the Calumet team may follow suit, and if the curling club team decides to remain in the league it is expected that the Calumet team will also continue as a member of the league.

It is expected that Webb and McNamara will be here today or tomorrow.

ACCUSES PUGILIST.

Cohen to Be Charged With Manslaughter at Seattle.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 13.—Prosecuting Attorney Alfred Lundin has announced that he will file an information charging manslaughter against Ike Cohen, heavy weight pugilist of San Francisco. Cohen fought Ludwig Anderson four rounds Friday night and as a result of injuries sustained in the fight, Anderson died the next day.

Lundin added that the Pacific Athletic club, an organization of firemen and policemen, staged the bout in violation of the state law, and charges might be filed against the promoters, and other principals.

Dr. J. Tate Mason, coroner, disclaimed responsibility for the verdict of the coroner's jury, which found that Anderson died from over-exertion. He asserted all witnesses were either financially interested in the match or were employes of the promoters.

A Blood Purifier With a Fine Record

Scarcely a Community in All America But What Has Its Living Examples of the Wonderful Power of a Great Remedy.

Many people have marveled that S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, overcomes a variety of troubles recognized as typical blood disorders. But when we come to realize that all we are, all that constitutes us, everything that goes to make up our completed body is built up out of our blood circulation then we may not be inclined to question that to purify our blood must be the influence that preserves the integrity of our completed body.

We have to deal with three great factors in our daily life. These are the blood that builds us, our nerves which control us, and the germs which disturb us. There is in S. S. S. a product of nature so active, so individual in its characteristics, that from the time it enters the blood until it has served its useful purpose, not even the marvelous powers of the natural chemical secretions of the organs of the body can so change or convert it as to divert its purpose to stimulate the elimination of impurities. This fact has been demonstrated by the disappearance of skin eruptions, it has been conclusively proven by the elimination of catarrhal disturbances; it has been abundantly corroborated by the recovery from painful conditions classed as rheumatism. S. S. S. is absorbed quickly but unlike food it does not undergo such chemical change as to lose its medical nature. Nor does it like mineral drugs, create conditions which themselves must be overcome in addition to the diseases they are supposed to remedy. S. S. S. is therefore a natural blood purifier, it is a natural builder of healthy flesh since it removes from the blood impurities from which no proper nourishment can be derived and which continually aggravate.

The fact that S. S. S. is absorbed and then eliminated is of great immediate importance as it therefore does not remain in the system to create further trouble as do the mineral drugs.

S. S. S. is sold by all druggists and is one of the most staple preparations to be found. S. S. S. is prepared only by The Swift Specific Co., 88 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Write to their medical adviser for any special information regarding blood troubles.

HEALTH TALKS

by William Brady, M.D.

Why Examine the Normal Blood?

FOR the plain family doctor to examine a specimen of his patient's blood is quite an undertaking, because the patient generally sees no use in it. For the consultant in the big city, the internist, to whom the patient may be sent by the family doctor, the examination of the blood is only part of the routine investigation of every case. It is curious, but true, that a patient is ready for any sort of an examination a specialist may demand, but the family doctor has to show cause before the average office patient will submit to blood examination. Nevertheless a blood examination tells the family doctor as much as it tells the specialist.

There are numerous obscure illnesses, conditions which defy diagnosis for a long time, which can be cleared up by the routine blood examination. And this is true even if the blood seems as good as ever.

For instance, a count of the white corpuscles or leucocytes may point to a pus focus when no other symptom would disclose the true state of affairs. Or an increase of the eosinophiles in the blood count (leucocytes taking a red stain) may give the doctor a very useful hint that certain parasites are at the bottom of the mysterious illness.

In obscure cases of serious illness the examination of a drop of blood from a needle prick of the finger or ear lobe not rarely points to the underlying cause and enables the doctor to start the patient on the way to recovery. Many a case of genuine anemia falls to express itself in the complexion; and many a case of supposed anemia proves to be something else when the blood is examined and found strictly normal.

The Wassermann blood test, the Aberhalden test, the test for coagulation-time, blood cultures to determine what germ is causing the illness, the differential count of the leucocytes, these and several other tests tell the doctor things he could never learn without them. And they are as valuable for the patient in the family doctor's hands as they would be in the far away specialist's hands—for there are no secrets in our trade.

Dr. Brady will answer questions pertaining to Health. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Brady will not prescribe for individual cases or make diagnoses. Address all letters to Dr. William Brady, care of The Herald.

Questions and Answers.

Tonsils Must Come Out: My 3-year-old son has very large tonsils. He is beginning to have earaches. If I do not misunderstand you, they can be dried up. My physician ridicules this idea. Will you kindly tell me?

REPLY.

Your physician is absolutely right. We believe only one treatment is fair for the victim of such tonsils, and that is surgical removal of the tonsils. It would be foolhardy to try to treat the tonsils otherwise when ear symptoms are already present.

* * *

"Forbidden Subject": F. E. puts several questions and mentions that he is enclosing a stamp—which, of course, won't do. He asks if lues is a forbidden subject in Health Talks.

REPLY.

Not forbidden, but difficult to discuss in a frank way. Correspondents had better enclose stamped addressed envelope when personal answers are desired.

Fresh "Cold" Every Month: Miss A. B. M., a typist, types that she has a fresh cold about every month in cold weather—hoarseness, hawking, expectorating lumps of phlegm, soreness around palate and in nostrils, the latter prevailing between colds. She breathes freely, except in cold air, when there is some nasal obstruction to breathing. Tonsils and teeth all O. K.

REPLY.

Simple chronic rhinitis, alias simple chronic nasal catarrh without hypertrophy of the turbinates. The series of Talks on Catarrh should help you. A dozen office treatments by your doctor or a specialist on nose and throat troubles would relieve you.

Losing His Whiskers: Please advise me about alopecia areata. It is taking my whiskers all off and has been in my hair, but the hair seems to be coming back. Will cocoa hurt a child 1½ years old?

REPLY.

In these days of sanitary perfection and fresh air it is an enviable disease that permanently removes whiskers. We cannot prescribe. The condition demands personal supervision by your doctor. Cocoa is not suitable for children under 12.

BOWLING

Some good bowling was shown at the Grand alleys last evening. The Big Duluths hung up a season record for one game by bowling 1,034 in the second game. They won two out of three from the Three Winners, thereby assuming the lead in the race.

The Sharkcrafts also went at a great gait, winning three straight from the Park Hotel team.

The Columbia Clothing company won two from the People's Brewing company.

The Big Duluths bowled high three-game total of 2,854; the Sharkcrafts bowled 2,798 total, and the Columbia Clothing company got 2,713.

Whitney and Otterson were tied for high individual three-game total with 649 and Michael bowled a 604 total. Whitney bowled high single game of 257, getting within one pin of Deller's score of 258.

There were seventeen scores of 200 or over bowled during the evening.

Whitney replaced Deller for the lead in the individual averages.

HOUSE DENIES WOMEN BALLOT

Refuses to Submit to State Constitutional Amendment.

Resolution Is Defeated By Vote of 204 to 174.

Washington, Jan. 13.—The house of representatives last night, by a vote of 204 to 174, refused to submit to the states an amendment to the Federal Constitution to enfranchise women.

The vote, the second in the history of congress on the woman suffrage issue, came at the close of a day of oratory, during which the many speakers were listened to with frequent evidences of approval or disapproval by packed galleries. The question was before the house on the Mondell resolution to submit a constitutional amendment providing that the right of suffrage should not be abridged "because of sex."

A two-thirds affirmative vote was necessary to pass the resolution; it was defeated by a majority of 30.

Party Lines Not Strictly Drawn.

Party lines were not strictly drawn in the fight, though Democratic Leader Underwood, voicing the attitude of his party that suffrage is a state issue, strongly opposed the resolution, while Republican Leader Mann was one of the chief speakers of the suffragists.

Enthusiasm mingled with dejection when Speaker Clark announced the result and into the corridors from opposite galleries filed the hundreds of suffragists, with their purple and yellow sashes, and the red rose bedecked anti-suffrage partisans.

This was the second defeat for the suffrage cause in the national legislature within a year. March 19 last, an equal suffrage constitutional amendment proposed by Senator Chamberlain of Oregon received a vote of 35 to 34 in the senate, securing a bare majority, but failing of the necessary two-thirds.

Suffragist leaders were not dismayed. As they left the galleries led by Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt and other champions of the cause, they declared that the fight was by no means over and that the suffrage propaganda would be pressed forward and onward until every woman in America should have the right to cast a ballot.

Anti's Expected Result.

"The result was what we expected," said Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, president of the national association opposed to woman suffrage. "It means that the suffrage movement fostered by hysterical women is on the wane."

Those voting for the resolution included the following representatives from Minnesota, Wisconsin and North Dakota:

Anderson, Lindbergh, Smith, Volstead and Steenerson of Minnesota; Nelson and Frear of Wisconsin, and Young, Helgeson and Norton of North Dakota.

Those voting against the resolution included: Miller, Stevens and Davis of Minnesota, and Browne, Burke, Carey, Cooper, Esch, Konop, Lenroot, Reilly and Stafford of Wisconsin.

Voting for the resolution were 86 Democrats, 72 Republicans, 12 Progressives, 3 Progressive Republicans and 1 Independent. Total, 174.

Against it were 171 Democrats and 33 Republicans. Total, 204.

Often during the earnest and at times bitter debate, preceding the vote, Speaker Clark was forced to interrupt the speakers on the floor and warn both members and spectators that order must be preserved. Several times he threatened to have the galleries cleared unless the disturbance subsided.

Storm of Hisses.

The turmoil culminated in a storm of hisses that greeted a speech made by Representative Bowdle of Ohio opposing the amendment. He had treated the situation humorously and said that the women of Washington are beautiful, but they have no interest in affairs of state.

Opponents of the resolution based their opposition largely upon the argument that for the Federal government to prescribe qualification for suffrage, would be an unwarranted invasion of the rights of the individual states to control their elections, and further upon the contention there was no adequate "public demand" for this amendment.

Advocates of the amendment contended that the widespread demand for woman suffrage, its success in the states where it has been tried, and the principle of "allowing the people to rule" justified the submission of the proposal to the state for ratification.

Preceding the general debate, there was debate of an hour and a half on a special rule providing for consideration of the resolution which was adopted by a rising vote of 209 to 31.

Opposed By Miller.

Representative Miller, the Minnesota congressman from Duluth, sided with the view frequently expressed by President Wilson that the suffrage question was not for settlement by congress, but should be left to the states individually. The amendment, Mr. Miller asserted in a speech near the close of the debate, was "in contravention of all principles of free local self-government."

Representative Hobson of Alabama pleaded for the amendment and asserted that if it failed this time "the forces of nature and nature's God would ultimately extend the franchise to women."

As the time for debate drew to a close, the attendance on the floor and in the galleries thinned, members and spectators hurrying out to eat before setting down to wait for the final vote.

Representative Stafford closed the debate in opposition to the bill, declaring that no argument advanced in the discussion had shown the necessity of Federal action in questions of woman suffrage.

Representative Mann of Illinois, concluding the Republican support for the measure, said the same reasoning which prompted the rules committee in bringing in the amendment to the house, should prompt the house to submit the amendment to the states.

Representative Taylor of Colorado, in the closing speech, declared that the experience of the states where women vote had proved the fallacy of the arguments against woman suffrage.

At 7:45 the reading of the bill for amendment was begun. Representative Cullop of Indiana offered an amendment to submit the suffrage proposal to constitutional conventions in the various states instead of to the state legislatures. This was voted down 108 to 142.

Further reading for amendment was stopped when Representative Garrett of Tennessee moved to strike out the enacting clause of the Mondell resolution. This had the effect of bringing about a direct vote on the question of submitting the constitutional amendment to the states, because under the rules of the house, the striking out of the enacting clause is equivalent to defeating a measure.

JURY FINDS VERDICT AGAINST R. R. MAGNATES

New York, Jan. 13.—Theodore P. Shonts, president of the Interborough Rapid Transit company, which operates the subway and elevated lines of New York city, together with the officers and directors of the corporation, including August Belmont and Cornelius Vanderbilt, are accused of culpable negligence in a verdict returned late yesterday by a coroner's jury sitting in the inquest into a wreck on the Sixth avenue elevated lines, in December, in which two men were killed. The jury deliberated fifteen minutes, agreeing unanimously on the first ballot it was said.

Coroner Patrick R. Riordan refused to grant a request by the company's lawyers that the verdict be modified, and ordered the men accused held to await the action of the grand jury fixing bail of $5,000. The verdict set forth specific charges dealing with equipment and methods of inspection, provision of safeguards and extra crew men. One charge read:

"Failing to substitute relatively fireproof cars for wooden cars on the elevated railroad."

Renting an Underwood typewriter a sound investment; certain to increase your income. "The Machine You Will Eventually Buy." 333 West First St.

Equity Co-operative Exchange Cannot Bar Stockholders From Books.

Supreme Court of North Dakota Upholds Judge Pollock's Ruling.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The officers of the Equity Co-operative exchange must permit stockholders to examine the books. That was the decision of Judge Pollock of the district court and it has been affirmed by the state supreme court. Last summer a stockholder of the company made a demand upon the officers for an inspection of the books. The request was refused. President Anderson and other officials of the organization took the ground that the stockholder did not want to make the inspection merely because of his financial interests but because he was opposed to the present management and wished to learn something that he might use against the officers of the exchange.

Goes Into Court.

When his request was refused the shareholder took the matter into the courts and sought and secured a writ of mandamus. The court held that it would be against public policy if the officers of any business association could bar stockholders from information concerning the business of the company.

The supreme court has affirmed Judge Pollock. The Equity exchange has since the suit was started removed its Minnesota location from Minneapolis to St. Paul, but it still maintains a headquarters here and the books must be submitted to an inspection unless the supreme court grants a rehearing.

The suit and the refusal of the officers is the outgrowth of the differences existing within the organization. There is opposition on the part of some of the shareholders to the methods of J. M. Anderson, president, and George Loftus, the sales manager.

MADE IN FARGO EXHIBIT PLANNED.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Fargo Manufacturers' association is completing its arrangements for a big "Made in Fargo" exhibit during the Tri-state convention to be held here Jan. 19-22. The association has secured the lower floor of the new Auditorium, which is the armory part of the building and practically every booth in the entire floor space has been assigned. It is planned to make the exhibit bigger than any of the former displays. As it is to be held immediately underneath the place where the convention will be in progress it is anticipated there will be more spectators than have ever attended one of the local shows. There are about sixty members of the local manufacturers' association and it is planned to have as many as possible make exhibits.

Lineal Descendant of David Brewster Buried at Aitkin.

Aitkin, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of David M. Scriven, who died last Saturday at his home here, was held yesterday afternoon from the M. E. church. Rev. A. L. Richardson conducted the service, assisted by Rev. W. E. Hammond and Rev. C. C. Sutton. Mr. Scriven was a native of Pennsylvania and was born Oct. 5, 1829.

He was a lineal descendant of David Brewster, one of the passengers on the Mayflower. He came to Aitkin county in 1883 and ran a ferryboat across the Mississippi river before the bridge was built. Afterward he engaged in farming until his health failed.

Seven children survive, the wife having died twenty years ago. They are W. D. Scriven of Saskatchewan, Mrs. Ida Brande, Tacoma, Wash.; Charles S. Scriven and Mrs. Clara Somers of Idaho; Mrs. F. B. Clow, Superior; E. S. Scriven, Libby, and Mrs. Frank Kinney, Aitkin.

UP TO LEGISLATURE TO GRANT 3 CENTS

Upper Peninsula Railroads Will Ask Lawmakers for Increase.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 13.—The railroads of the Upper Peninsula at a conference of officials held here Monday decided to ask the Michigan legislature to be allowed to increase passenger tariffs in this territory to 3 cents a mile on intrastate traffic.

The railroads represented at the conference were: The D., S. S. & A., Chicago & Northwestern, Soo line, Milwaukee, Mineral Range, Copper Range and M., M. & S. E.

A similar conference of representatives of the lower state roads will be held within a few days, when plans for appealing to the legislature for a minimum two and a half cent fare below the straits will be discussed.

The situation was thoroughly canvassed here. It was decided to appeal to the territories served by the several roads to make the movement for more adequate fares a popular one, and confidence was expressed by the railroad men that a large measure of co-operation of this valuable nature can be enlisted. The commercial bodies in the various towns will be approached and shown the data that the roads assert warrant their appeal. Already the movement has the unreserved endorsement of the Marquette Commercial club.

South Shore Hard Hit.

"The appeal for a more liberal fare finds the South Shore in one of the most critical periods of its career," W. W. Walker, the general manager, said. "As the Upper Peninsula public well knows, this road of late years has bent all its energies to giving the best of service. Even in the face of hostile legislation that has materially reduced our earnings, there has been a large measure of improvement in motive power and passenger equipment, in shops, terminals and trackage. The Upper Peninsula public is as deserving of good passenger service as any in the country, and the South Shore has gone the limit to see that it has had it. And what is true of the South Shore is true of the other roads. No part of the country of equally sparse population can boast of better railroad service."

VOTE ON FIRST PAPERS.

Wisconsin Supreme Court By Ruling Increases State's Voters.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 13.—That people of foreign birth who are residents of the state and satisfy the other legal requirements may still vote if they have taken out their first citizenship papers is the text of an opinion announced by the supreme court Tuesday.

Speaking through Justice Marshall, the court declares that the constitutional amendment passed in 1908 requiring all persons to have full citizenship papers after 1912 in order to be able to vote was declared to have been improperly passed and to be of no effect. This leaves the requirements for citizenship in the original status as before the amendment was passed. It will result in readmitting to the ballot many thousands of citizens of the state.

BARRETT NOT PARDONED.

Former Minnesotan, Returned From Detroit, Must Wait for Clemency.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 13.—Alfred Dawson Barrett, who escaped from the St. Cloud reformatory in September, 1912, failed to obtain a pardon at yesterday's meeting of the state pardon board. His application was taken under advisement.

Barrett was located in Detroit, Mich., last fall, where he was leading an honorable life with a wife and child. He also was holding a responsible position there. When his predicament became known, public sympathy was aroused and his requisition was staunchly opposed by his employers who with others came to his aid.

Barrett brought habeas corpus proceedings, but the hearing was postponed until after the Minnesota pardon board had acted. What action he will take now is not known.

IS CHARGED WITH WHITE SLAVE TRAFFIC.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Jan. 13.—Deputy United States Marshal Frank Tufts brought to this city Monday John E. Johnson of Bemidji, who is charged with white slavery. He is placed under $2,000 bonds. His trial will occur at the spring term of the United States court.

FINDS CHUNK OF WOOD IS A DYNAMITE BOMB.

Washburn, Wis., Jan. 13.—Just as John Kowalski was about to put a chunk of wood in the stove something caught his eye. Investigation showed it had been made into a bomb and contained enough dynamite to blow the house to atoms. It is claimed other attacks have been made on the family. Recently the drinking water was poisoned. Previous to this a barn was burned, and last fall the entire potato crop was stolen. The family has no enemies, they claim.

BEQUEST FOR FLOWERS ON HUSBAND'S GRAVE.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 13.—In her will filed in probate court Tuesday, Mrs. Annette E. Leavitt bequeathed $200 to the Lakewood Cemetery association to insure that flowers be kept blooming every summer for twenty-five years over the grave of her husband, R. C. Leavitt.

According to the will, Mrs. Leavitt, who died Dec. 27, 1914, left an estate valued at $20,000. Twenty-five heirs were named.

HEARING STAYED IN BEMIDJI INJUNCTION.

Bemidji, Minn., Jan. 13.—Alfred Jaques, United States attorney, in behalf of the government, and Former Judge Marshall A. Spooner, counsel for the Bemidji Brewing company, have stipulated whereby a stay is agreed to in the injunction case against the Indian agents. This case, in which a restraining order has been in effect during the past several weeks, was to have been heard before Judge C. W. Stanton this week.

In the stipulation it is agreed to stay the hearing until the next term of court in this county, which convenes Feb. 9. The restraining order prohibited H. A. Larson, chief special officer, L. W. Carson, special officer, and J. C. Le Marr, deputy special officer, from in any manner disturbing the property of the brewery.

Since the order was made the company has shipped three carloads of beer from the territory of the Indian treaty and will send the rest of the $10,000 stock as soon as it is sufficiently matured. The entire stock on hand has been sold.

With conditions as they now are it seems probable that the injunction case will never be tried as the stipulation covers a period of time during which the brewery is almost certain to ship what remaining beer it has on hand, rendering further litigation useless.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 13.—Peter H. La Londe and Victor Maki, lifers at the Marquette prison, were taken Tuesday to the Ionia asylum for the criminal insane by Deputy Warden Catlin and William Quarters. She said she married the Rev. Mr. Darnell secretly on Oct. 2, 1913, at Hammond, Ind., and displayed a marriage certificate to substantiate her story. The certificate bore a notarial seal but no witnesses' names.

"This certificate was made out in duplicate," she explained. "One copy was handed to me and the other to Rev. Mr. Darnell. The one has the names of witnesses. I do not recall the names."

BROTHER STOPS SUICIDE; SISTER IS BLINDED.

Menominee, Mich., Jan. 13.—Catherine Rasmussen, aged 27, is in a hospital, blind and perhaps dying, as a result of a tussle with a younger brother who attempted to prevent her from committing suicide with carbolic acid. The girl bought the poison ostensibly to clean clothes. She raised the bottle to her mouth, and as her brother struck her arm, the acid spilled over her face and body. Her sight was destroyed and she is expected to die. She was engaged to marry last week.

Crosby, Minn., Jan. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—An old-fashioned charivari greeted Sam Olsen, a local business man, and his bride, formerly Miss Hagg of Pillager, who were married on Saturday, on their arrival here Monday. The couple took the boisterous greeting in good humor, and the affair was a pleasant one all around. Mr. Olsen contemplates selling out here and farming near Pillager.

YOU cannot begin too soon to use Ivory Soap for washing dishes. For the sooner you do, the sooner you will save your hands from the injurious effects of the ordinary soaps usually used.

Ordinary soaps being intended only for rough work, are full of strong chemicals which make the skin red and sore.

Ivory Soap being made for toilet, bath and very fine laundry purposes, contains only the highest grade materials. It cleanses the dishes but does not injure the hands. They become only softer, smoother and whiter for its use.

WHAT DYSPEPTICS SHOULD EAT

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE.

"Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble are, nine times out of ten, due to acidity; therefore stomach sufferers should, whenever possible, avoid eating food that is acid in its nature, or which by chemical action in the stomach develops acidity. Unfortunately, such a rule eliminates most foods which are pleasant to the taste as well as those which are rich in blood, flesh and nerve building properties. This is the reason why dyspeptics and stomach sufferers are usually so thin, emaciated and lacking in that vital energy which can only come from a well fed body. For the benefit of those sufferers who have been obliged to exclude from their diet all starchy, sweet or fatty food, and are trying to keep up a miserable existence on gluten products, I would suggest that you should try a meal of any food or foods which you may like, in moderate amount, taking immediately afterwards a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia in a little hot or cold water. This will neutralize any acid which may be present, or which may be formed, and instead of the usual feeling of uneasiness and fullness, you will find that your food agrees with you perfectly. Bisurated magnesia is doubtless the best food corrective and antacid known. It has no direct action on the stomach; but by neutralizing the acidity of the food contents, and thus removing the source of the acid irritation which inflames the delicate stomach lining, it does more than could possibly be done by any drug or medicine. As a physician, I believe in the use of medicine whenever necessary, but I must admit that I cannot see the sense of dosing an inflamed and irritated stomach with drugs instead of getting rid of the acid—the cause of all the trouble. Get a little bisurated magnesia from your druggist, eat what you want at your next meal, take some of the bisurated magnesia as directed above, and see if I'm not right."

DEBATERS NOT CHOSEN

Ray Hughes Will Probably Be One of Speakers at Auditorium.

Opponent Probably Will Be McEwen, McManus, McKnight or Day.

Some time this afternoon Ray M. Hughes, chairman of the Citizens' Referendum committee, and Chris E. Evans, chairman of the Municipal Ownership league, the two forces in the present electric lighting campaign, will meet and plan the public debate to be held Saturday evening at the Auditorium. This debate and meeting will be the most important of the campaign and will virtually close the fight before the election next Tuesday.

The speakers have not yet been selected, but it is probable that Mr. Hughes will speak in behalf of the 6-cent ordinance, while members of the M. O. league declare they are not yet ready to announce the speaker for their side. It is understood, however, that he will be selected from among W. E. McEwen, A. E. McManus, Dr. D. H. Day or Alex McKnight.

The time limit for the direct arguments and the rebuttals will be decided on at the conference to be held this afternoon. In addition a chairman and several other speakers will be selected by Mr. Hughes and Mr. Evans. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock and will be open to all the men and women of the city.

Mr. Hughes challenged the M. O. forces to the debate sometime last week and shortly after it was accepted by Mr. Evans. The issues to be argued involve the three ordinances to come up at the election next Tuesday, these being the 4-cent, 6-cent and unit plant ordinances.

Tonight's Meetings.

Three large meetings are scheduled for this evening at the Franklin school, the Lester Park Improvement club and Duluth Heights. Mayor Prince, A. G. McKnight, Richard Funck and A. E. McManus will speak at the Franklin school; T. T. Hudson, Mayor Prince and Capt. C. C. Teare at the Lester Park meeting, and W. E. McEwen and A. E. McManus at Duluth Heights. Speakers for the other side have not been selected.

In addition to these meetings the Socialists will discuss the questions at their meeting at 18 Lake avenue north. Speakers will be sent by both forces The Plasterers' union will also hear the arguments by local speakers at their meeting to be held at the Kalamazoo hall.

A public meeting will also be held at the Hazelwood church. Thirty-ninth avenue west, where Bert Wheeler and G. W. C. Ross will speak for the M. O. league.

There will be public mass meetings tomorrow at the Woodman hall and the Merritt church and at the Bryant school Friday evening.

But three days of the $24.50 choice of the house sale, at the Friedman Shop.

FLOUR PRICES ARE SOARING

Have Jumped $2.20 Per 200-Pound Sack Since July 30.

Bakers Have Made Two Reductions in Size of Loaves.

Consumers are being offered an object lesson on the effect of the European war in the advancing cost of flour.

Since the end of July the wholesale quotation on a 200-pound sack of flour has advanced $2.20 with its figure today at $6.80, as compared with $4.60 on July 30. Since the first of the month there has been a jump of 80 cents, and the end of the long upturn is regarded by millers as by no means in sight.

As a result of the higher flour market, Duluth bakers have been forced to make two reductions in the weight of their loaves, and the majority of them are now making 13 and 26-ounce loaves, selling at five and ten cents respectively.

It is pointed out that many of the local bakers are farseeing in contracting for a considerable supply of flour ahead at from $5.50 to $6 a sack, otherwise the reduction in the size of the loaf of bread would have had to come much sooner than it did. Said Laird Goodman, sales manager of the Duluth Universal Milling company, this morning: "The majority of our customers supplied themselves for some time ahead at around $6 a sack and lower. We went after the business then and booked a large flour tonnage both here and in Superior, and in the East. Our mill is now busy getting out flour to make deliveries."

NORMAL BOARD IS PROMISING ECONOMY

No Appropriations for Additional Buildings to Be Asked.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 13.—The state normal school board, through its president, Ell Torrance of Minneapolis, announces that it will not ask the legislature for any appropriations for new buildings during the coming biennium.

"The board is attempting to eliminate the elementary course, which formerly attracted two-thirds of the students at the five normal schools. While this process has resulted in a slight diminution in enrollment, the board believes the schools are becoming true normal schools instead of remaining high schools in part.

Cost for 1914.

The normal schools at Winona Mankato, St. Cloud, Moorhead and Duluth for the school year ended July 31, 1914, cost $399,322.71, and the board promises to ask less than this for maintenance in 1915 and 1916.

The total value of the normal school property is approximately $2,000,000, including the grounds, some of which are extensive. The five libraries contain 56,051 volumes.

GROW BOLD IN DEMANDING MEALS

Police Start Campaign to Oust Beggars From East End.

It is reported in the neighborhood of Fourth street and Seventh avenue east that beggars in that locality are becoming too numerous to please the housewives. Many complaints have been made within the last few days by the residents of that district. One housewife complains that she was visited by a particularly aggressive beggar, who walked into her kitchen, took a seat at the table, and refused to leave until he had been served with a meal. The woman in question was too much frightened to refuse the man food, but after he had gone she notified the police.

John A. Eklund, E. J. Wickman and John A. Sunnarborg, commissioners appointed by the district court several months ago to determine the feasibility of constructing a judicial highway connecting St. Louis and Carlton counties, yesterday afternoon filed their report with the clerk of the district court. The commissioners recommended that one-half of the road be constructed this year and one-half in 1916. The total cost is estimated at $11,574.55. The petition for the road was presented to the court more than a year ago by John Niemela and others. The road will furnish the most direct outlet from St. Louis county to the Carlton county farming district.

IS AWARDED $500.

Abram Camncer Gets Decision in Personal Injury Case.

Abram Camncer was awarded a verdict for $500 from John, Felix and Alex Tarnowski by a jury before Judge Fesler in district court yesterday afternoon, for injuries sustained by himself and for damage to his rig, which was struck by the Tarnowskis' automobile on the evening of July 22, 1914. The accident occurred on the Pike Lake road. Camncer was driving to town with a light wagon behind which two or three head of cattle were trailing. The Tarnowskis came around a bend in the road and struck the Camncer rig, throwing the plaintiff out. He was brought to the city in the machine and placed in a doctor's care. Camncer sued for $4,535 damages.

CADET CORPS IS FORMED

Central High Students Organize to Study Military Tactics.

Oratory, Prepared for Mass Meeting, Is Kept Bottled Up.

The mailed fist of constituted authority descended with squelching effect on the militant and anti-militarist spirit at the Central high school yesterday afternoon.

A mass meeting had been called for the purpose of discussing whether or not the high school cadet corps should be formed. Irving Grover and Jacob Garon, who have been active leaders on the opposing sides, had prepared speeches, and a sizzling debate was in prospect. But the government was again the anti-militarists, and Principal Young decided that there wouldn't be any debate. The meeting was turned over to the militarist party for the purpose of organizing a cadet corps.

The oratory of the anti-militarists was stifled for the time being, but they are far from giving up the fight. Several of the boys immediately prepared scorching letters to The Herald about it, and the result of the meeting seems to have but added warmth to their opposition.

The subject has stirred the students as nothing in recent years has, but meanwhile efforts are being made to muster a quorum for the cadet corps.

KENNETH JONES.

The anti-militarists want the cadets, if they must drill, to drill with broomsticks, but the prospects are that the corps will have guns.

Have 100 Recruits.

About 100 students signified their intention of taking an active part in the work.

The board of education has practically agreed that it will give its consent if at least 100 boys wish to take part. The board holds its next meeting early in February and at that time the official consent will be sought.

Principal Leonard Young opened the meeting with a short talk. He urged the students to consider the project very seriously and if they once decided to become active, not to lag or to be a hindrance to the organization. He explained the absolute necessity of being serious and of being able to take commands, as this was a truly military body and one that was not to be jested with. He said that he would not stand in the way of the decision of the students and if they decided to organize such a body he would help them as much as possible.

The two students who have been most active in boosting the idea are Kenneth Jones and Irving Grover. The former, some time ago, foresaw the possibility of such an organization and together with Irving Grover, started on a campaign to procure members. Names came thick and fast, but not as well as had been expected. Upon investigation it was found that there were a great many in, as well as out of the school, who were decidedly opposed to the project.

The question was openly discussed, both sides claiming many able supporters, and the meeting yesterday marked the culmination of a hot and vigorous campaign waged by those who looked with favor upon the idea. The non-militarists argued that such an organization would tend to develop a militaristic or fighting spirit, one of the chief causes, they argued, of the great struggle which is convulsing all of Europe. On the other hand, the supporters of the idea denounced the opinion of their opponents and adhered closely to the belief that no such spirit would or could possibly be developed; not only because that was not their aim, but also in that it was merely designed as a means of effectively reaching the true goal of mental and manual dexterity and alertness, the ability to efficiently give and take commands, and to obtain an erect and graceful carriage and promote physical exercise with a view of obtaining better health.

Start Work Soon.

Kenneth Jones, who, along with Irivng Grover has been the biggest booster from the student body, believes that a big step in the organization has been completed and will keep pushing the work right along. He will work in conjunction with C. C. Jones, second lieutenant of the Aad patrol, and expects that by the next meeting he will have accomplished a great deal and that drilling may soon be commenced. The drilling will be done either in the school gymnasium or else in the Armory, and will be under the direct supervision of Mr. Jones. There is a possibility that suits will be donated and the government will furnish the rifles.

When interviewed on the subject, Supt. Denfeld spoke enthusiastically. He said that he did not believe in any "mollycoddle" bringing up of high school boys and said that he could see no disgrace whatever in being able to handle firearms.

"I admire an alert and erect young man," said Mr. Denfeld, "and can certainly see no disgrace whatever in being healthy. As far as the idea of the developing of a militaristic spirit is concerned, I think that there is no danger whatever and that argument is not worth much."

SALE OF SEALS SETS RECORD

Receipts Last Season Exceeded Those of 1913 By $336.11.

Dorothy Arnold, 13, Turns in $250; Wins First Prize.

Returns in the Red Cross Christmas seal sale completed yesterday afternoon show that $336.11 more was taken in during the recent holidays than in 1913.

For the last three weeks returns were made by those who sold seals, and the final check was completed yesterday afternoon by Ruben Johnson, secretary of the health department, and Miss Louise Schneller, visiting nurse, who was in charge of the sale. As a result, Miss Schneller announced the names of the school children who are winners in the contest for $22 awarded to those who sold the most seals.

Little Dorothy Arnold, 13 years old, 221 West Third street, wins the first prize of $10 for having sold the most seals. She turned in $250 to Miss Schneller, while Alice McComber, 10, 1117 East Seventh street, who brought $62.15, wins the second prize of $7. Paul Kempton, 11, of the Buffalo flats, and Viola Palmquist, 13, 1214½ East Fourth street, were tied for third prize, and the $5 was divided evenly between them.

The sales of seals during the recent holidays brought in a total of $1,290.79 for the fight against the white plague, while in 1913 the total added to the fund was $954.68.

The money is to be used in caring for poor victims of tuberculosis, for the purchase of linens, medicines, blankets and other necessities during the coming year.

But three days of the $24.50 choice of the house sale, at the Friedman Shop.

Prisoner Once Granted Leniency Is Now in Jail.

August Larsen was arrested at the work farm and brought to the city jail from that institution by Officer McDonald on a charge of assault, instituted by Supt. Frederick Ward. It is alleged the victim of assault is Louis Baroffi, another prisoner at the farm. Larsen is 61 years old and was sentenced to serve thirty days for vagrancy not quite a month ago; when he begged in the city court to be sent to the farm, as he was without work or a place to stop. Judge Cutting gave him thirty days on the farm.

Twelve prisoners, eleven men and one woman, who were indicted by the January grand jury at this term of court, appeared before Judge Bert Fesler in district court this afternoon and entered pleas of not guilty.

Mary Traverse, indicted for assault in the first degree, was the only woman. She is accused of having attempted to take the life of Pearl Ball by shooting her with a revolver Dec. 16.

The others who were arraigned and who maintained their innocence were: John Henrik Keranen and Frank Victor Wirta, jointly indicted for grand larceny in the second degree; Charles R. Cherrier and Samuel Hood, jointly accused of burglary in the third degree; Alfred Nelson, grand larceny in the second degree; Nikalai Heikkila, assault in the second degree; Mike Miselberg, assault in the second degree; Jack Maki, grand larceny in the second degree; John Moran, grand larceny in the second degree; and Gust Avikalos, grand larceny in the second degree.

Carl Dittman, indicted for murder in the second degree, also appeared and pleaded not guilty. He shot and killed Anton Kleimek, 19, on Nov. 9 last, but asserts that it was done in self defense. Dittman is 66 years old.

DENY REHEARING IN GILBERT CASE

Permission to Annex Adjoining Territory Stands as Granted.

According to advices which have been received from St. Paul, the supreme court has denied a rehearing of the Gilbert village annexation case, which was recently decided. Under the court decision the village is permitted to go ahead and annex contiguous mining property to the extent of about 1,800 acres, which will boost the village's assessed valuation from $275,000 to $5,500,000.

It is understood that Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell, attorneys for the mining companies, who resisted the annexation proceedings, asked for a rehearing, which was denied. Mr. Bailey of that firm, who has been handling the case, was out of the city today and could not be reached. Whether or not the rehearing was denied could not be confirmed.

DENIES BEING PAID BY CITY

Frank Crassweller Declares J. H. Norton's Statement Is Falsehood.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I am reliably informed that John H. Norton, for many years a neighbor of mine, at a public meeting at New Duluth yesterday evening, stated that for many months past I had been receiving pay from the city council at the rate of $100 per day. This is an absolute and unqualified untruth, and I can conceive of no cause which would justify the telling of such an untruth, not even the advocacy of the Duluth-Edison Electric company's side in the present controversy.

I desire to state, in as clear language as it can possibly be said, that since the establishment of the commission form of government in this city, I have received not one cent of pay from the city for any legal services, or any other services whatever that I may have rendered in connection with the electric lighting question or any other question. I have stated positively, and re-state it now, that I will not accept from the city of Duluth, or from any other person or party, one dollar for any services that I may render in regard to this matter. The resolution adopted by the city council appointing me as associate counsel to the city attorney, expressly added, at my request, the words "without compensation."

The only compensation I can remember ever having received from the city was the pay of $25 per month which I received as alderman some fifteen years ago.

Will you kindly publish this letter in a conspicuous place in your paper. Yours very truly,

FRANK CRASSWELLER.

MEXICAN MONEY CAUSES DEBATE

Resolution Asks What Is to Be Done With Vera Cruz Taxes.

Washington, Jan. 13.—An attack on President Wilson's use of his constitutional powers, criticism and support of his Mexican policy and political speech-making mingled today in a senate discussion of Senator Cummins' resolution asking what the United States intended to do with the taxes collected during the occupation of Vera Cruz.

John Sharp Williams, defending the administration, said it was well known the money was to be turned over to any government in Mexico eventually recognized.

"You cannot embarrass the administration nor befoozle the American people with any such resolution," said he. He declared if "a certain American had been in the White House there would have been stern messages to congress climaxed with: 'Come on, boys, charge!'"

"Woodrow Wilson will be renominated for the presidency," said Senator Williams, "and re-elected, not as a minority, but as a majority candidate. This is so because the American people have found him not only good enough to take the place of men about whom they were quarreling, but also good enough to stand in his own stead."

Senator Cummins insisted congress, not the president, should decide what shall become of the Vera Cruz money, and then, paying a tribute to President Wilson's integrity and ability, added:

"I am simply objecting to his position that he is trying to run the United States. It appears in every utterance that falls from his lips. He assumes that under the Constitution he is the final arbiter of all these things. I have no doubt he assumes it with perfect honesty and with the most careful consideration."

THE OUT-OF-WORK PROBLEM

What the Larger Cities Are Doing to Relieve Unemployment.

(Exclusive Service The Survey Press Bureau.)

Inquiries made in a number of our larger cities as regards emergency winter distress and the measures that are being taken to meet it show an increase of applications to charitable societies varying from 30 to 100 per cent over the same period last year, though last winter was not a normal one. In one city inquired of, however, there was an increase of only 10 per cent. This city is the capital of the country. The largest Washington industry, legislation, is not seriously affected by hard times. Washington reports a novel cause of unemployment which many social workers would like to see aggravated. Employes have lost their work in nearly 200 saloons, closed by the operation of a new license law.

Provided Real Work—Not "Hand Outs."

It is an encouraging advance over any period of industrial hardship that, in most cities which have made appropriations with the emergency in view, action has taken the form of providing real work at real wages. Philadelphia is the only large city that has voted money for emergency relief only. City money to the amount of $50,000 is to be disbursed there by the emergency aid committee—a committee of women organized originally for war relief work. Philadelphians have made no successful attempt as yet to increase the number of men employed upon needed public improvements. The leading secular charities of the city have urged the extension of public work and have refused to act as distributors of the city's substitute relief fund.

Chicago's public policy presents a contrast. That city is not only holding public works employes on for three or four months longer than usual, but is doing extra park development work, extra street widening, and extra school construction—schools, that is, which were to have been built next spring have been begun now. Chicago social workers and certain of her public officials are also using their influence to persuade larger employers of labor to begin projected work sooner than had been intended. The new union station, for instance, was to have been started in March, but a special committee is urging an earlier start.

In New York City Mayor Mitchel has appointed a committee which is now proceeding along the lines of a plan carefully drawn by City Chamberlain Bruere. This covers both emergency relief—with continuance of work already contracted for on public improvements as part of the program—and long range study of methods whereby unemployment may be prevented in the future.

Pushing Public Improvements.

In quite a group of cities the social workers have made a special study of the public moneys already appropriated for public work but unused. Pittsburg is now spending, in this way, $100,000 in public work that might not, otherwise, have been underway. A delegation representing the leading family rehabilitation agencies of Baltimore urged upon the mayor an extra appropriation for street cleaning, and $55,000 has been voted for this purpose. Recommendations such as these have usually been accompanied by the suggestion that the work be given to residents and heads of families, and that the choice of workers be in strict accord with the principles of business efficiency.

In Minneapolis a mayor's committee secured increased city work and new work at sewer building. In addition, the park board turned over to the Associated Charities, for the employment of men whose families were in distress, the task of clearing a strip of low land soon to be flooded by the building of a dam in the Mississippi. There were no commercial bids for this clearing; it will improve the city's appearance and sanitation, and the work itself is interesting—a thing which cannot be said of most task work.

Next to furnishing additional public employment under good work conditions, the most important service, probably, that a city or state can render at a time like this is to apply science and brains to the disorganized business of finding employment. But in most cities the development of public employment bureaus is coming too slowly to affect this winter's situation. The emergency has given this form of service a new stimulus, however.

Homeless Wanderers.

Nothing demoralizes a local unemployment and relief situation in any city more completely than the crowding in of homeless wanderers for whom no special provision has been planned. The municipality can do much to steady this situation by providing separate care and a work-test for the homeless. St. Louis reports a re-opened municipal lodging house. Buffalo a special conference with officials to close the police stations to lodgers and to increase the right kind of accommodation provided for them by the county lodging house, where there are baths and the individualized service that can be rendered by social workers. Chicago has given recognition to the need of such service by adding quite a large staff of social workers to her municipal lodging house equipment.

All of the foregoing—public work, employment exchanges, decent and disciplinary care of the homeless—are examples of the things the government can do at a time like this. Examples of public action, of a sort considered unwise by relief experts are few in the cities reporting. Pittsburg's mayor arranged a bundle day and encouraged the collection of nineteen carloads of clothing for the poor, and Philadelphia's emphasis upon the non-constructive side of a grave situation has already been mentioned.

But what of private effort? Conspicuous, as a good sign of the times, is the circular letter of the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce association asking all employers, large and small, to do two things: (1) To consider carefully whether it is not possible to keep every employe at work throughout the winter, and urging this as a civic responsibility; (2) to decrease work, if decreased output is an absolute necessity, by diminishing the number of hours' work per day rather than the number of workers. Similar appeals to their membership have been made by commercial bodies elsewhere.

Making Odd Jobs Count.

The United Charities of Chicago has had a good response to a folder which it has distributed, entitled "About That Work You Want Done." This enumerated the kinds of odd jobs for which it was prepared to furnish men and women. The Memphis Associated Charities has posted at the various exchanges—the real estate, the merchants', the cotton, etc.—lists of the men (giving age and equipment, but no name) for whom it was seeking jobs.

Workrooms for women were not a feature of the relief measures of 1907-8. They have been numerous this year, owing, in part at least, to the fact that war relief in England had, perforce, to take that form. In some places the attempt has been made to organize an employment bureau for women in addition to giving them the help of the workroom. Chicago has been markedly successful in this.

The private family agencies on which so heavy a share of the winter's burden must rest have succeeded often in uniting the other social agencies of their several communities for a joint urging and backing of the public measures already mentioned. This is notably true of the charity organization societies, which have usually taken the lead in such a plan of campaign.

The societies have made ready for the increased demands upon them in three ways: By seeking increased support; by employing a larger staff of social workers; by welcoming and using to the uttermost the services of socially minded volunteers. These last are coming forward as they have never come before. Many are deeply stirred by the need of the hour, by the obvious need for something more than general measures, however well planned. They recognize in genuine neighborliness, democratic and whole-hearted, the best service of all.

When, however, the desire to do something takes the form, as it has in some places, of starting new and temporary relief agencies, social workers feel that effort is duplicated and the situation unnecessarily confused. They point out that he who gives his time and money to the strengthening and extending of well-established and responsible relief work "gives twice" quite as truly as he who gives quickly.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: To hurry the cooking process of anything cooked in a double boiler add salt to the water in the outer boiler.

The best way to make boiled ham juicy and tender is to leave it in the water in which it is boiled until quite cold.

The secret of frying fish crisp and brown without either egg or bread crumbs is to dry it well, dredge both sides with plenty of flour and plunge into boiling fat. Be sure that the fat is boiling and have plenty of it, as upon that depends the crispness and brownness of the fish.

To keep the nickel on your stove shining wipe it with a wet cloth while hot and shine with a woolen cloth.

When cleaning a stove that has been splashed with fat from the frying pans the best plan is to take a piece of rag and dip it into the soft soot at the back of the stove, rubbing the greasy parts before applying the blacking. This improves the appearance of the stove and you can polish it without difficulty.

WHEAT BULGE ON EXPORTS

Market Has Sharp Advance With Urgent Bidding By Foreigners.

Flaxseed Upturn Continues With Crushers' Buying and Light Stocks.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 13.—The market took another upturn at the close. May wheat closed 2¾c up, and July 3½c up. May durum closed 2c up and July 2c up.

Oats closed ¼c off at 50¼c for on the track; rye ½c up at $1.10@1.11; barley unchanged at from 60c to 70c, and corn ¼c off at 67⅜c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ¼c off at 58⅝c.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.33⅝ bid, and calls at $1.40¼ bid.

A feature on the Duluth market today was the sale of a full cargo of No. 1 northern spring wheat for export, reported by Julius H. Barnes from New York. This is the first actual export transaction in spring wheat since early last fall, and is taken to foreshadow considerable foreign business in it from now on. The working of foreign trade in spring wheat has been forecasted of late in the inquiries coming on this market. It is said to have been brought about through the strong situation in the winter wheat markets, and the belief that surplus supplies are being rapidly cleaned up. A bullish development comes in the fact that all Europe is now looking to the United States for supplies, and that sales have recently been made to Iceland, Algeria and Australia, countries that never before bought over here. It is considered to be now just a question of how much grain this country can spare.

Export sales at Duluth, Chicago, the gulf ports and the seaboard were estimated today at over 1,500,000 bu, and the aggregate put through during the last two days is placed at over 3,000,000 bu.

The market was strong at all points. Locally advances of over 2c were scored, and cash wheat at Omaha was up 1¾c, and at Kansas City 2@2½c. Liverpool advanced sharply with heavy bidding for the cash article. Argentine freight rates have been again advanced, leading to the supposition that German cruisers are still lurking down that way.

May wheat opened ¾c at $1.36¼ and it advanced 1¾c more up to the noon hour. July sold up 2¼c to $1.35⅞. Unusual buying turned up in durum and its May quotation was advanced 2½c over yesterday's close to $1.57½. It later eased off ½c.

Big Bulge in Flax.

Crushers' demand for flaxseed continued and under that impetus its price was again advanced sharply. Quotations in the seed came today to within 2c of the price set last July before the war began. It bulged from the opening, and the close was strong at the top.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.78, and closed ¾c up at $1.81¼ bid.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 3½c up at $1.59⅝.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Wheat was strong at Liverpool today, with sales of No. 2 hard winter put through at 7½d per quarter higher than yesterday.

Durum is steadily moving East all-rail to cover export contracts. Yesterday 35,000 bu was loaded out from the Peavey elevator. Over 60,000 bu more durum has been ordered out from the Great Northern elevator.

* * *

At Duluth today cash wheat sold at 2c under May; durum at the May price, and flaxseed at 1½c under May.

* * *

C. H. Canby, president of the Chicago board of trade, says: "Opinions attributed to me in the morning papers are grossly inaccurate. I have made no statement blaming anyone for the present situation in products. An unparalleled world's situation is the cause of present values. The law of supply and demand is the factor governing values now."

* * *

Minneapolis cash market was firm on the top grades, with No. 1 northern 2@3¼c over May and velvet chaff at ½@2c under May. Flour sales were moderate. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from $1.33½@1.38½, and No. 2 northern at from $1.30½@1.36¼.

* * *

Price Current says: "Snow disappeared from most of the winter wheat belt last week and reports say that the plant looks all right. There has been freezing weather since the melting and the plant is now in a situation to be damaged should very cold weather develop on top of rain or wet fields. Changes of this sort are what cause the winter killing of wheat. Country deliveries of grain show an increase with the opening of the new year except in wheat, which has been running at an extremely heavy volume for some time. Corn had a decided increase, while oats were slightly over the previous weeks."

* * *

In reply to a cable regarding the possibility of the opening of the Dardanelles, Broomhall says: "Russia's quota for actual export at this time would be small, but large quantities would be immediately available from Bulgaria and Roumania."

* * *

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "There was a very firm undertone this morning, with offers light and the demand urgent incident upon the strength in American and Argentine markets and unfavorable weather in Argentina, with spot market strong and advancing. American winters are purchased at 7½d advance and Plate at 6 pence advance from yesterday with spot market 1½d to 3½d higher. Our agent cables that there are rains in Argentina and that Argentine freights have further advanced. Prospects for shipment during February and consequent arrivals here are causing apprehension."

There are estimates that 200,000,000 bu of American wheat and flour will have been exported from the United States during the present season up to Feb. 1.

* * *

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following wire from New York: "All the cash brokers report very good inquiry, but they cannot get freights. It is the opinion of a big broker, and I judge he is figuring on what inquiries he has, that the amount of wheat that could be closed right now totals over 1,000,000 bu, but the lack of boats is the only thing preventing a very large business. Some selling is going on at around $1.40 on some discouraging private cables from Liverpool."

* * *

A sale of 100,000 bu No. 1 northern wheat was reported by a line company in North Dakota today at 4c over May, to be delivered in February.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Big Sales to Europe and Active Demand From Millers Sends Wheat Up.

Chicago, Jan. 13.—Big sales to Europe and a continuance of active demand from domestic millers today made the wheat market swing decidedly higher. There were also reports of unfavorable harvest weather in Argentina, and it was said the disappearance of snow protection in most of the United States winter crop belt left the plant exposed to serious danger in case sudden cold came while fields were wet. Opening prices, which ranged from 5⅞@⅞c to 1¼@1½c up were followed by additional gains.

Selling by one of the largest houses here caused a setback but then prices mounted higher than before. Country holders refused as a rule to part with their wheat. The close was strong at 2c to 2⅛@2⅝c above last night.

Corn selling in Liverpool at nearly a dollar a bu had the hardening effect on prices here. Strength of wheat counted further against the bears. After opening a shade to ⅛@⅜c higher, the market scored a slight extra ascent.

Subsequently, notices of liberal consignments to Chicago brought about a decline. The close was unsettled, ⅛@⅛c to ¼c net lower.

Oats sympathized with the bulge in other cereals. There was no important selling pressure.

Higher prices for hogs lifted provisions at the outset. Packers unloaded, however, and material weakness ensued.

Oats—No. 3 white, 51¾@52½c; standard, 52½@53¼c.

Rye—No. 2, $1.15½; barley, 69@78c; timothy, $6.00@7.50; clover, $12.50@15.00.

GOOD ACTIVITY IN MINING STOCKS

Better Situation in Copper Helps Stock Trading.

Mining stocks were strong at Boston today, with a larger volume of business put through than in some time back. Improvement in the metal market was a factor. Good business was recorded in Butte & Superior on the estimate that the company is earning at the rate of $275,000 a month, with spelter at 5.65c. It closed unchanged at $39.75. North Butte was active, closing $1 up at $23.50. Alaska Gold closed 50c up at $27.87; Greene-Cananea, a fraction off at $24.38; Calumet & Arizona, a shade up at $54.50; Copper Range, 25c up at $31, and Granby, 50c up at $62.50.

At St. Louis, lead closed at 3.55c and spelter strong at 5.85@5.95c.

Preliminary estimates of the annual report of Isle Royale indicate a profit of about $100,000 from operations after payment of $25,000 on account of the Montezuma lands.

A New York wire to Paine, Webber & Co. said: The Inspiration mill will be in operation in March. There has been a good demand for the stock as the company should be producing on a large scale before the year ends.

In the Boston curb list as reported to Paine, Webber & Co., Calumet & Corbin sold at 10¾@14c; Jumbo Extension at $1.88; First National Copper at $1.25; Stewart at $1.62; Davis-Daly at $1.06; Goldfields Merger at 34@35c; Atlanta at 41c; Calaveras at 97c and New Baltic at $1.50@1.63.

The Iron Mountain Mining company expects to resume operations at its mine early next month. The new boiler plant is being shipped to the property today by the Gogebic Boiler works. Ten carloads of ore from the mine have been sold to the Lake Superior Iron & Chemical company and is now being shipped out.

STOCK RISE IS CHECKED

Trading Lighter, With Moderate Liquidation in International List.

Absence of Demand and Stocks Weaken in Late Dealings.

New York, Jan. 13.—Metal shares supplied the bulk of the early trading in stocks today, mostly at advances. Amalgamated, Utah and Inspiration coppers recorded gains, presumably on the increase of home and foreign demand. Other parts of the list displayed some uncertainty, with little or no change in favorite issues. Among the railways, Northern Pacific, Atchison preferred and Western Maryland rose fractionally, with like declines in Union Pacific preferred and Seaboard Air Line. Rumely went to a new low price and motor issues yielded slightly. Dealings were far below the preceding session, both as to volume and scope.

Dullness was the most characteristic feature of today's early session, the business of that period being less than half of that transacted yesterday. Prominent stocks assumed a more irregular tone, Steel, Reading and Union Pacific showing increased heaviness on reviving of rumors of foreign liquidation. This theory was upset, however, by a smart advance in Canadian Pacific and its subsidiary line, "Soo," each gaining over 2 points. Such isolated issues as United Railways, Woolworth and Goodrich rose from 1 to 3 points, while Public Service dropped 5½ to its minimum.

Bonds were firm, with some activity in obscure issues.

The market became more stable after midday, prominent stocks rising slowly under the lead of Amalgamated, which gained nearly a point. There were traces of liquidation in low-priced Southern stocks and some minor specialties also were weak.

A further halt in the recent rise of stocks was recorded today. Trading was lighter, with indications of moderate liquidation in the international list.

Attempts to market small amounts of stocks disclosed an absence of demand and prices weakened in the late dealings. The closing was heavy.

SIX RINKS WILL BE REPRESENTED

Curlers Announce Decision to Enter the Big Bonspiel.

At least six rinks will represent the Western Curling club at the annual bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling association to be held at the Duluth Curling rink beginning next Monday. The six skips who have announced their intention of entering in the big 'spiel are: Frank H. Wade, Emil J. Zauft, Thomas Quinn, Charles Iltis, Alex Donald and Melvin Olson.

These players expect to be able to get away with some of the "jewelry." The Zauft, Donald, and Wade rinks have been playing strong games this year and expect to give the old-timers hard work. It is expected that at least two other rinks will be formed to enter in the bonspiel before Friday night.

Play in the Manley-McLennan event has been almost completed. The Zauft rink and the Mallory rink will be two of the four that will represent the club in its contest with Superior. Only one game is required to determine whether Quinn or Evered will be included in the four, and this game will be played tonight. The question of the fourth rink still is undecided among Judson, Wieland and Wade. Judson and Wieland will play tonight in addition to the Evered-Quinn match, and a game for the club buttons will be played between McDonald and Donald. The latter has control of the buttons at present.

Two games were played last night, Mallory winning from Iltis by a score of 13 to 6, and Wade winning out in the semi-finals of the Union match event from Melvin Olson by a score of 8 to 7.

CURLERS PLAN TO ORGANIZE

Games May Be Played at West Duluth and New Duluth.

Curling fans met last night at the office of Dr. O. S. Olson at Morgan Park, and discussed the possibilities of an organization within a short time. C. C. Sampson was chosen temporary secretary and Dr. Olson temporary chairman. Members of the new curling club are looking for invitations to try their skill against rinks at West Duluth and New Duluth.

At present arrangements are being made for securing a number of stones for the members. When these arrive games will be played during the remainder of the season on the ice on the river. A meeting will be held next week at which a permanent organization will be formed.

DULUTHIANS BACK FROM EUROPEAN TOUR

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Darling Return Sooner Than Planned Owing to Increasing Dangers From War Conditions.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Darling of 522 West Third street returned today from an extended tour of Europe. Leaving here on April 6 last year, Mr. and Mrs. Darling arrived at Montreal on Nov. 26. The voyage to Europe was made by the way of Naples, the return being from Liverpool.

Before the outbreak of hostilities Mr. and Mrs. Darling toured the continent. They were in Christiania, Norway, when war was declared, and except for seeing some of the Belgian refugees who sought shelter and food in Norway, saw nothing of the titanic struggle and few of the sidelights.

"We were in London five days before sailing for Montreal," said Mrs. Darling today. "We naturally met and talked with many persons and gained some idea of what the English think of the war. But as far as seeing any real warfare, or being near the fighting front, we saw but little. We enjoyed the tour of the continent. We had intended to remain in Europe during the entire winter, but thought that perhaps conditions would grow worse in the future, and that it might be a very good idea to go while the opportunity seemed favorable. One of the considerations that hastened our departure was the fear of mines. We thought that perhaps the danger in this regard might be even greater later on."

Mrs. Darling stated that the visit in Europe of many other people is being cut short, and that the majority of Americans believe that the United States is a very good place to get back to.

GORDON MEN GET GOOD PLACES FROM FLOWERS ON HOUSE COMMITTEES

St. Louis County Members Are Well Treated By the Speaker.

Chairmanships Are Given to Borgen, Ribenack, Murphy and Bessette.

Rules of the House Are Agreed to Without a Fight.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Speaker Flowers will announce his committee assignments this afternoon, having decided to gain a day by doing this, and the house having recessed at noon for the purpose of meeting this afternoon to receive the appointments. It is understood the speaker has dealt liberally with the leading members of the Gordon element and that there will be general satisfaction with the assignments.

The St. Louis county members were all well taken care of. Following are the probable assignments of the members from St. Louis and Lake counties:

WIRELESS NOT BEING EMPLOYED ON LAND.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Geneva, Dec. 28.—A Swiss officer, who spends most of the year in an Alpine fortress says that wireless telegraphy is not being employed on land. "In peace," he says, "we are constantly receiving wireless messages in the Alps from liners in the Atlantic, and at the beginning of the war we received (involuntarily) many military messages in cipher, both from Germany and France. But they have stopped. The armies found that wireless messages are too dangerous, and they have been replaced by the field telephone at the front."

STATE POLICY HAS CHANGED

Wisconsinites Now Demand Help for Industries, Says Governor.

Philipp Urges Stricter Economy in Expenses in Message.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 14.—That the people of Wisconsin have reversed the political policy which they have followed for the last ten years and "now demand a government that will encourage rather than hamper the development of industry," was the keynote of the first message which Governor Emanuel L. Philipp delivered to the legislature today. He said that this message would be followed by special messages dealing more completely with the problems of state government.

Governor Philipp recommended stricter economy in state expenses. He said that the people were overburdened with taxes and that the cost of government had increased from $6,046,565 in 1900 to $15,142,779 in 1914. He urged closer adherence to constitutional government and the enactment of a law to give the executive some measure of supervision over the expenditure of commissions.

Some Recommendations.

Governor Philipp also urged the abolition of the legislative reference

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Hammond this morning appointed Carlos Avery of Hutchinson a member of the game and fish commission, and the board probably will make him executive agent, a position he formerly held. It is understood that Executive Agent Rider will resign from the board, and that F. B. Myers of Biwabik will be appointed to the vacancy.

TO EXPEDITE SENATE WORK

Sullivan Rule, Governing All Appropriation Bills Is Adopted.

Bill to Aid the Crusade Against Habit-Forming Drugs.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The senate rules committee yesterday afternoon agreed unanimously upon the proposed rule governing appropriation bills proposed last week by Senator George H. Sullivan of Stillwater, and it was reported back to the senate by the committee this morning and was adopted.

The changes made in it by the committee are not extensive, and as it stands will expedite the work of the finance committee, will give the committee and the senate greater opportunity to study all items of expense, and should help materially to keep appropriations down to the basis of absolute need.

It will not accomplish this result automatically, of course; but it will increase the prospect of such a result if the senate is disposed to seek it.

Text of the Rule.

As reported by the committee, the rule is as follows:

"That each department, board, commission, bureau, official, society or association being part of the administration of the state of Minnesota or whose expenditures in whole or in part have been or shall be provided for by any appropriation of the state of Minnesota, requesting or desiring an appropriation to be made by the legislature of the state of Minnesota at the 1915 session thereof, be and each thereof is hereby required and directed to submit to the secretary of the sen-

WEIL CHARGED WITH ATTEMPTED BRIBERY.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Jan. 14.—A. Leo Weil, one of Pittsburg's leading attorneys, was arrested on a train at Williamstown, W. Va., early today by Sheriff Bonner Hill of Charleston.

He is charged with attempting to bribe C. H. Bronson of the public service commission in an effort to influence a decision in which the Manufacturers' Light & Heat company of Charleston is interested. Weil is the company's attorney.

Judge A. G. Dayton of the Federal district court here immediately was asked for and granted a writ of habeas corpus for Weil's release.

The company Weil represents is the most important natural gas corporation in West Virginia.

C. H. Bronson is a brother-in-law of Governor Henry D. Hatfield and has been very active in the work of the commission.

Attorney Weil is president of the Voters' Civic league of Pittsburg and several years ago was active in the prosecution of Pittsburg councilmen for alleged malfeasance in office.

FURIOUS FIGHTING HAS BEEN RESUMED IN RUSSIAN POLA[N]D

RUSSIANS ARE FORCED BACK

Germans Make Four Violent Attacks Within Forty-eight Hours.

Struggle Continues in West Theater of War Over "Spur 132."

Petrograd, via London, Jan. 14, 3:10 p. m.—Furious fighting has been resumed in Russian Poland. The Russian forces in the north which are pushing toward East Prussia, in the region near Mlawa, have captured a number of villages.

In the center the Germans have made four violent attacks within the last forty-eight hours. They forced back the Russians and occupied considerable ground.

London, Jan. 14.—Like the stubbornly contested battle in the early days of the war, on which hinged the German occupation of West Flanders the struggle for the knoll of ground northeast of Soissons, known as "Spur 132," still remained undecided today, according to information received in London. The Germans, however, by their counter-attacks appear to be in the better position to the eastward of the spur.

In view of the relatively small amount of ground gained the losses have been heavy on both sides, but the Germans show no signs of giving up

STANDARDIZATION WILL BE OPPOSED

Minnesotans to Urge Retention of State Grain Inspection.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

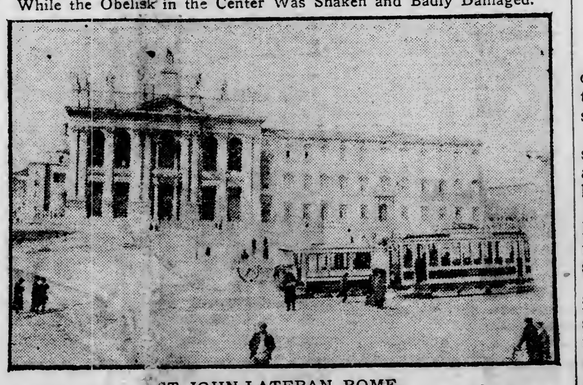

Washington, Jan. 14.—Commissioners C. E. Elmquist and O. P. B. Jacobson of the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission and F. W. Eva, chief inspector, and A. W. Chambers of the board of appeals of the state grain inspection service are in Washington to appear before the senate committee on agriculture in opposition to the Moss bill for warehousing and standardizing grains.

They will urge that the state system of grading and inspecting grains is superior to the proposed standardization and that the state service should not be superseded.

ANXIOUS TO SEND COTTON ON ITS WAY

State Department Trying to Arrange for Departure of Steamer.

Washington, Jan. 14.—The state department is trying to arrange with the British government for the immediate dispatch of the steamship Dacia from Port Arthur, Tex., to Rotterdam with a cargo of cotton on the basis of a temporary voyage.

The question of principle of the right of transfer of belligerent owned ships to American registry will be waived if the Dacia is privileged to make this one voyage free from seizure.

Issues Serious.

London, Jan. 14.—The Morning Post in an editorial article today follows the line of argument set forth in the London Times yesterday to emphasize the seriousness of the issues involved in the transfer of the Hamburg-American line steamer Dacia to the American flag and the use of this steamer to carry cotton to Germany.

"It is of importance to the allies," the Post says, "that the Dacia should be stopped, but here we enter upon a question of law complicated by the declaration of London."

Continuing, the Post says that the whole question is "thorny and difficult, the more so as it has certainly been contrived by Germany to embroil Great Britain with the United States.

"A simple way out of the whole difficulty is to denounce the declaration and declare all the enemy's goods liable to capture. The declaration has been repeatedly violated by Germany in the present war."

OFFICIAL ESTIMATES PLACE THE DEAD AND INJURED AT 50,000

Convulsions of Earth in Central Italy Cause Catastrophe Second Only to Messina in 1908.

Most Disastrous Disturbance Centers at Avezzano, Where 15,000 Persons Are Killed or Wounded.

Rome, Jan. 14.—With every hour, as additional and more accurate details are received, the horrors of yesterday's earthquake increases, threatening to place it in the list of similar catastrophes in Europe second only to the Messina disaster in 1908.

The list of dead, dying and injured has increased from a relatively small figure last night to more than 50,000, according to an official announcement today, and it is expected that this number may grow before the day is over.

The full extent of the property loss has not yet been determined. Here in Rome priceless statues, century-old buildings and structures that for years have been the Mecca of all visitors, have been destroyed or injured.

Though the loss of life, and possibly the damage may be less than it was in 1908, the area of the disturbance greatly exceeds the Messina earthquake. It covers the whole central portion of Italy, extending from Naples on the south to Ferrara on the north.

Centers at Avezzano.

The most disastrous disturbance, from all reports, seems to have centered in the vicinity of the town of Avezzano, where 15,000 persons have been killed or injured, according to the latest official reports. Reports of damage in varying degrees of severity have come from Latium, Abruzzi, Umbria, the Marches, Tuscany, Aezlia, Campania and Apulia.

The earthquake belt is estimated to be about 300 miles long, extending practically from one side of Italy to the other. In Abruzzi, Latium and Campania the 'quake reached its highest degree, described by scientists as "catastrophic," and in other places it varied between the seventh and the tenth degrees.

Relief measures for the thousands who have succeeded in escaping from their ruined homes in safety, but are in want and without shelter, are going ahead with all possible speed. Special trains have been dispatched carrying physicians and nurses and government officials have been ordered to provide all necessaries for the stricken people.

LIKE A TRAIN OVER BRIDGE

Eye-Witness Tells of Deep Rumbling Preceding Earthquake.

Moment Later Walls Began to Fall in All Directions.

Rome, Jan. 14.—A young Italian driver, who left Avezzano a few minutes before the earthquake, gave a brief account of his experiences when he reached Rome at an early hour this morning.

His first intimation of trouble was when the horses of his carriage suddenly stopped, trembling, and refused to go further. At the same moment there came a deep rumbling like the roar of a railroad train going over a bridge. Three minutes later the standing walls of some quarries along the road had crumbled and were lying in dust-covered heaps.

From Avezzano came the cries of frightened people. Amid the roar of falling houses could be heard the voices of women calling on the saints to help them. The city was under a cloud of dust. To the driver it looked as if the earth had opened to emit columns of white smoke.

He tried to drive back to Avezzano, but he could make no headway. He

BRITISH CRUISER AGAIN ON GUARD.

New York, Jan. 14.—The converted British cruiser Caronia, which has been absent from nearby waters for nearly a month, took up again today her old position east of the Ambrose channel lightship, relieving the cruiser Lancaster.

The Suffolk, stationed about seven miles south of Scotland lightship, continued to patrol the southern and southeastern steamship lanes.

GUTIERREZ IS AGAIN CHOSEN PRESIDENT

Renamed By National Convention to Serve Out Diaz Term.

Mexico City, Jan. 14, via El Paso.—It was reported that the national convention has renamed Gen. Euladio Gutierrez as provisional president of Mexico. Gen. Gutierrez, it is said, will serve out the unexpired term of Porfiro Diaz, which would terminate in November, 1916.

Approved By Villa.

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 14.—The re-appointment of Gen Gutierrez as provisional president of Mexico by the national convention is understood to have the full support of Gen. Francisco Villa and his northern troops. Its acceptance, however, by the followers of Gen. Zapata, the southern chieftain, was held in doubt by well-informed officials here. Gutierrez, it was understood, would serve out the unexpired term of President Diaz, which had been interrupted by the Madero revolution. President Madero began to serve out the Diaz term when his death occurred incidental to the Felix Diaz-Huerta uprising. Gutierrez thus would become the third president to attempt to complete a single six-year term of office.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Russia has once more undertaken an offensive movement against two of the three nations she is fighting.

After a long period of inactivity, her forces in the north are attempting to penetrate from two directions into East Prussia, where Russia several months ago sustained one of the most severe defeats of the war. In the Caucasus Russian forces are again engaged in heavy fighting with the Turks, who, according to official Petrograd advices, have sustained large losses in the late encounters.

In Galicia and Bukowina, where Russia's activities are directed against Austria, there is now little activity, severe weather having checked military operations.

On the western battlefields the fighting in the region of Soissons has developed into unexpectedly large proportions. Both the Germans and the allies apparently have thrown in heavy reinforcements, and definite defeat for either side might result in the reshaping of the battle line over a long section of the front.

Not only in the Soissons region, but elsewhere along the front, Germany is believed to be sending in more troops in response to the movement of England, which is pouring in fresh soldiers weekly by the thousands. Ordinary pasenger traffic over the railroads in Germany has been suspended for several days, and it is assumed that extensive movements of troops are under way.

Although the Russian forces in Northern Persia apparently offered no resistance to the Turkish advance on Tabriz, small forces of Persians defended their country from invasion, but with no success. Of a guard of 400 Persian horsemen at Miandoab, the "gateway to Persia," all but four were killed.

LEGS CRUSHED UNDER CARS

William Johnson Not Expected to Recover From Accident.

William Johnson, age 40, had both his legs so badly crushed in the Northern Pacific railroad yards this morning that it is doubtful if he can survive an amputation operation, which the doctors declare necessary to save his life.

The man has been employed as bridge carpenter by the road for some time. It was while he was attempting to remove a fire hose that was lying across the tracks, that the accident occurred. A Duluth & Iron Range logging train was approaching and Johnson seeing the train, stepped on the adjoining track, not knowing that the train was to be switched and the rear car of the logging train was shunted directly down on him before the unfortunate man could jump out of the way. Both his legs were terribly mangled, and a hurry call was sent in for the emergency ambulance, at police headquarters. Jailor Louis Johnson and Officer Kreager responded and the injured man rushed to St. Mary's hospital, where an examination by Dr. A. J. Braden showed the patient to be too weak from loss of blood to stand amputation of his limbs.

When seen in the hospital Johnson seemed to be suffering a great deal of pain and kept calling continually for his wife whom the authorities were doing their best to locate, having dispatched a special messenger to Woodland in search of her. He has also two children and the family is said to reside at the end of the Woodland car line.

KIDNEY TROUBLE CAUSES INTENSE SUFFERING

CITY'S CLERKS BEING USED

Men on Municipal Payroll at M. O. Headquarters, Is the Charge.

Affidavit From One of Them Secured—City Addressograph Used.

That city employes have been giving their time to the work of sending out campaign literature for the Municipal Ownership league, while drawing pay from the city, and that the city addressograph has been used at M. O. headquarters, is the claim of the members of the Citizens' Referendum committee.

For the last two weeks, the claim is, several employes from the city hall have been spending much of their time in the headquarters of the Municipal Ownership league in the Phoenix block. The addressograph, which is used in the health office for the mailing of the monthly bulletins, has been moved to the headquarters, where it is still being used for the addressing of campaign literature.

"Leased" the Machine.

Commissioner Hicken, head of the public safety department, who is the head of the health department, said that he leased the machine to the Municipal Ownership league, while from other sources different explanations are given. City Clerk Palmer said that he arranged with the officers of the league to lend them the machine, in return for which his employes would be permitted the use of the headquarters for the mailing of the sixty-four-page booklet ordered by the city commission, and also be given the current to run the machine. Officials of the M. O. league declare that the addressograph was borrowed from the city health department, in return for which the campaign committee has agreed to donate the power, the space at the headquarters and half payment of the 12,000 stencils necessary for the addressograph. They also claim that their employes assisted those working for the city.

Because of the presence of the addressograph in the M. O. headquarters, the health department has so far been unable to mail out its bulletin for January. The health officer, who has charge of this work, was compelled to take all his work down to the Phoenix block.

No Room at City Hall.

City Clerk Palmer claims that there is no room in the city hall for the mailing of the 12,000 booklets and that as the M. O. league is working in behalf of the city's efforts to acquire the plant or change the electric lighting rates, he felt no hesitancy in accepting their offer. As a result, he claims the city was saved the expense of renting space, additional employes, power and half the cost of making the 12,000 stencils. As the M. O. league needs the same stencils for the mailing of its literature, he said this morning, the city was saved the entire expense.

When told that the city employes were working in the Phoenix block, Commissioner Hicken said that he did not know of that arrangement, as he had only discussed the offer of leasing the addressograph until the election. The city clerk, he added, was instructed to mail out 12,000 booklets and it was up to him to make the necessary arrangements for that feature. Both Commissioner Hicken and City Clerk Palmer say they feel justified in the action they took.

Chris E. Evens, chairman of the M. O. league, declared that it was a business deal and that no fault can be found with his committee. He showed his payroll to prove his claim that no city employes were on it.

The Citizens' Referendum committee, it is claimed, has an affidavit from R. E. Grant that he was employed by the city clerk from Dec. 10 to Jan. 8 and paid $69 for his services by the city. The last three days of this time, the affidavit is said to show, he spent at municipal ownership headquarters working under the direction of E. T. Young and sending out campaign literature.

MURCHISON WILL ASK FOR $12,000

Commissioner Murchison will introduce an ordinance at the meeting of the commission next Monday afternoon ordering the appropriation of $12,000 for the purchase of street-cleaning and construction equipment for the public works department.

The ordinance will receive its first reading Monday and after two subsequent readings will come up for passage. The other members of the commission are in sympathy with the proposal and no opposition is expected. The purchase of this equipment will greatly facilitate the work of the department, Commissioner Murchison said this morning.

The $12,000, it is planned, will buy a road roller, one motor flusher, two concrete mixers, two dump wagons and one grading machine.

CARRIES GUN; ARRESTED.

Prisoner Says He Feared "Bums" at His Boarding House.

Kodor Mutrich was in the city court this morning charged with carrying concealed weapons. He pleaded guilty to carrying a gun, but claimed that there were so many "bums" at his boarding house that it was absolutely necessary for his self-protection and the protection of his wallet, said to contain no less a sum than $100. When asked to produce the coin in court, the prisoner could not do so. A thorough investigation by the jailer revealed nothing of any value. The gun was taken from the man on his arrest by Officer Le Beau in a West Superior street saloon. He was flourishing the weapon in a careless manner and interfering with the business of the saloon when arrested.

COTTON EXPORTS NEAR NORMAL IN DECEMBER.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Cotton exports became almost normal during December, 1,202,115 bales having been sent abroad as compared with 1,239,830 bales in December, 1913.

The exports for the first five months of the cotton year, however, showed a falling off of more than 50 per cent from the same period of 1913, the total being 2,607,151 bales, compared with 5,437,480 bales.

Of the month's exports the United Kingdom by almost 100,000 bales and Italy by about 120,000 bales. Germany's takings, however, showed a decrease of 279,000 bales.

Big Mill City Fire.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 14.—The plant of the Minneapolis Feed company, Thirty-seventh avenue northeast, and Fifth street, was destroyed by fire of unknown cause yesterday, the loss being estimated at $45,000 to $50,000. It is partly covered by insurance.

WHAT POVERTY COST COUNTY

Nearly $100,000 Spent for the County Poor in Last Year.

Levy for Coming Year Is Approximately Same—Poor Farm Costs Most.

St. Louis county in 1914 spent $97,213.80 in caring for its pauper population according to figures which have been available since yesterday afternoon at the office of the county poor commission. It is believed that St. Louis county will lead all other counties in Minnesota by a wide margin. During the year 1913, $70,479.03 was expended or $28,734.77 less than this year. The levy for the coming year has been fixed as $195,000.

The poor farm, which is maintained a short distance outside of the Duluth city limits, proved to be the largest item of expense. During the past twelve months $40,836.47 was expended in caring for persons cared for at the county almshouse, county hospital and tuberculosis sanatorium for paupers. The annual report of the superintendent showed that 883 people were cared for there. Some of the money went for improvements.

A statement showing how the $97,-836.47 was spent has been prepared briefly as follows:

Poor farm	$40,836.17
Improvements	6,286.94
Care of sick	17,049.94
Groceries	12,068.00
Fuel	4,380.77

Burials	1,853.75
State institutions	2,396.73
Salaries	5,315.00
Miscellaneous	3,128.71
Total	$97,213.80

September was the costliest month, as shown by the following table showing the expenditures by months:

February	5,967.24
March	6,665.41
April	6,637.10

The cost per capita for persons cared for at the three institutions at the poor farm last year has been figured out as follows: For tuberculosis patients, $1 per day; for hospital patients, 75 cents per day, and for inmates of the almshouse, 30 cents per day. The average cost per capita was 56 cents. The average number cared for at the farm daily was 199.

HELD AS SUSPECT IN MAIL ROBBERY

One of the cases that has been under the investigation of the Federal grand jury in Duluth is that of Arthur Ferestad of East Grand Forks, who is alleged to be connected with the robbery of the East Grand Forks mails. Ferestad was arrested some time ago, and has been at liberty under $1,000 bonds. Owing to the fact that there will be no term of court in the Sixth Federal district of Minnesota for some time, the case was transferred to the Fifth district.

Ferestad has arrived in Duluth accompanied by his father, Andrew Ferestad, and his attorney, Judge Rasmussen. It is understood that witnesses for the government have been before the grand jury giving testimony against Ferestad. If an indictment is returned, it is expected that Ferestad will be tried during the present term of court.

DESERTED WIFE SUES.

Young Woman Asks Divorce and Custody of Her Children.

Susanna Schropp, 23, alleging desertion, started suit for divorce against Jacob Schropp, also 23, in district court yesterday afternoon. She claims that he abandoned her a short time before her second child was born and that she was compelled to take in sewing and depend upon the charity of neighbors for support.

They were married in Michigan on March 26, 1913, and according to the complaint he deserted her the following December. She has neither seen nor heard from him since, she says. Mrs. Schropp asks permission to resume her maiden name, Susanna Schmidt, and the custody of her two children.

ARRESTED IN TONOPAH.

Christian Koch Must Face Charge of Presenting Fraudulent Claim.

Christian Koch, age 30, wanted in Duluth on a charge of having defrauded the Duluth & Iron Range Railway company out of $1,000 for pretended injuries, was located and arrested in Tonopah, Nev., according to a telegram received last night by Chief of Police C. H. Troyer. It is said the man will resist extradition proceedings.

The fake injuries on which he was able to collect so large an amount for damages are alleged to have occurred while Koch was alighting from a train at Two Harbors. It was claimed paralysis resulted. He was discharged from the hospital just before the holidays. Koch's arrest is due to the persistent work of a special agent of the Oliver Iron Mining company, who trailed him as far east as Michigan and later west to Nevada.

QUAKE LEAVES SORROW TRAIL

Duluth Italians Fear for Relatives in City of Avezzano.

Royal Consul Here Will Help to Supply Death Lists.

Attilo Castigliano, royal consular agent of Italy in Duluth, said today that there were many Italians in Duluth and on the range who had relatives in Avezzano, the Italian town that has been almost completely destroyed in the earthquake.

Whether he will be requested by local and range Italians to ascertain the names of the killed and injured, Consul Castigliano does not know as yet. So far, he has received no inquiries from any Duluth Italians in regard to information concerning the dead.

"Many of the Italians of Duluth and the various towns of the iron ranges are from Avezzano," said Consul Castigliano. "It would seem almost impossible not to have many of the relatives of local and range Italians killed in the terrible catastrophe. Avezzano is or was quite a little city. It had a normal school and a gymnasium, which was considerably different from the gymnasiums of the United States, and a garrison with two companies of soldiers. Many of the young men and women of Avezzano have gone to different parts of the United States. The death list of the little Italian city will affect many of the Italian-born people of this country, and the grim tragedy will leave a trail of sorrow in almost every large city of this country.

"Whether I will be asked to supply information to former residents of Avezzano now living in Duluth or the surrounding country, I cannot say. I am ready to render any assistance possible and do whatever I can to supply any information."

BREAD PRICES EXPECTED TO RISE

Bakers Will Act If Flour Market Continues to Fluctuate.

Bread prices in Duluth are expected to go up shortly as a result of the European war. At a meeting of the Bakers' association last night, it was decided to advance the price of bread if fluctuations in the flour market continue to work unfavorably to the bakers. The bakers said that they were anxious to maintain present prices as long as possible, but if flour continued to advance, that higher bread would necessarily follow.

POLICE EXPECT BIG CROWD AT BALL

The twenty-sixth annual ball of the Police Relief association will take place on Feb. 11 at the Third Regiment armory. The members of the department are looking forward to a large attendance as the dance is always a popular affair in Duluth and well patronized by the officers, relatives and friends. Music will be furnished by the regimental band and there will be a police "punch" for everybody. This isn't nearly as formidable as it sounds, being concocted largely of the harmless ingredients of lemonade, pineapples, cherries, etc. The recipe is a secret with the entertainment committee, but the beverage is said to be cheering and not inebriating.

The ball held every year is the principal source from which the Police Relief association derives its revenue. The association, which is of local origin, is to aid disabled officers or the widows of deceased members. In the case of Edward Jensen, late municipal court officer, his widow was paid $500 death benefit the day following the officers demise. The families of associate members receive benefits according to the length of time that the officer has been a member. One year calls for payment of $100, two years, $200, and so on up to five years, which is the highest benefit paid, $500. Capt. A. G. Fiskett is president of the association, Court Officer Youngberg, vice president; Gust E. Lahti, treasurer, and Lieut. Frank Schulte, secretary.

WILL BE BROUGHT HERE FROM HELENA

Donald Gordon, 38, has been arrested in Helena, Mont., at the request of the Duluth police department. He is wanted here on a charge of having passed a worthless draft for $30 July last. The victim of a transaction is Dr. C. M. Wilson, Palladio building, having been an old friend of the man's family in Ohio. Dr. Wilson did not hesitate to advance the amount on the draft when requested. Donald Gordon is a son of the late William Gordon, a Grand Army man and a prominent citizen of the Ohio town. He is thought not to have tarried long in Duluth after securing the money on the fake draft, which was drawn on an Evanston, Ill., bank. Deputy Sheriff McDonald has a warrant for the man's arrest and will leave tonight for Helena. Gordon agreed to return to Duluth without extradition papers.

DEBATERS WILL CLASH FOR TITLE.

The Stump Debating Society of the Duluth Central high school at a meeting yesterday afternoon accepted the challenge of the Atheneum Debating society for a contest to decide the championship of the school.

Richard Smith, Earl Hanson and Raymond Larson were appointed by the Atheneum society to decide upon a question for debate and to fix the date. The formal challenge will be made Friday evening. Harold Rachlin, Paul Oberg and Edwin Skinner compose the sophomore committee. Dates for the tryout of the Stump men have not been set, but will probably be held the latter part of next week.

DULUTHIAN PRESIDENT.

Generally Expected C. P. Craig Will Head State Agricultural Society.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 14.—While the election of officers of the Minnesota State Agricultural society, now in session here, does not take place until tomorrow, discussion of politics is quite keen and prophesies of who will be elected are heard.

John J. Furlong, now president, is expected to retire and C. P. Craig of Duluth is said to be slated for the place.

So far no opposition has developed to this part of the program. F. B. Logan of Royalton, who is superintendent of agriculture, will be a candidate for a place on the board of fair managers to succeed C. P. Craig. Robert Crickmore, member of the board of fair managers, will be a candidate for re-election. Eli Warner of St. Paul, first vice president, is not expected to be a candidate for re-election. This will leave the place open for a scramble.

OFFICER ARRESTED FOR SPITTING ON FLOOR.

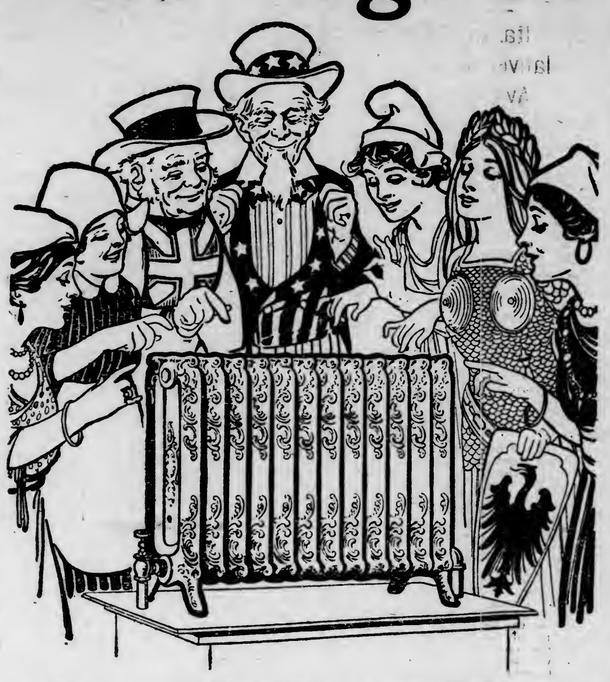

Even an officer is sometimes liable to arrest for lawbreaking. Yesterday afternoon Elmer J. Williams, special agent for the Northern Pacific railroad, was arrested on complaint of Frank Eaton, janitor of the courthouse, on a charge of having expectorated on the courthouse floor.

He pleaded not guilty and trial was set for Jan. 22. The arrest is the first to occur on that charge since the police regulation prohibiting expectorating on streets and public places was posted by the police department.

LIE PASSED IN DEBATE

Sensational Session Over Lighting Question at Lester Park Church.

W. C. Sargent and Commissioner Hicken Have Lively Tilt.

What Former President Roosevelt termed the "shorter and uglier word" was freely passed at the debate on the electric lighting question held last evening at the meeting of the Lester Park Improvement club, and it is believed that only the presence of quite a number of women in the audience averted a possible physical encounter.

The meeting was held at the Lester Park M. E. church and the small auditorium was crowded. Dr. C. A. McFadden, president of the club, presided and T. T. Hudson, Neil Beaton and Mayor Prince had already talked, when the argument began.

W. C. Sargent, who was in the audience, asked Mayor Prince if the latter had meant in his talk that the Duluth-Edison company was operating without a franchise. The mayor replied that the franchise had expired and that the company was conducting its business under a contract with the city.

Following this Mr. Sargent turned to Mr. Hudson and asked the latter if the water main extensions were being made out of the surplus fund and if that fund consisted of the earnings or the money obtained from the sale of bonds. Mr. Hudson replied that all extensions were made from the fund, which comprises the earnings of the water department.

Never Made Money.

At this point Mr. Sargent declared that the water and light department had never really made any money, anyway. Commissioner Hicken, who was in the audience, was aroused at this remark and, jumping up, accused Mr. Sargent of always being against the best interests of the city.

"Before we listen to Mr. Sargent," said Commissioner Hicken, "we ought to know the relations between him and the old water and light company."

Mr. Sargent then jumped up and declared that his record was clean in this respect. Commissioner Hicken declared that Mr. Sargent was always with the corrupt influences that worked against the city's interests. This declaration brought the short and ugly word from Mr. Sargent and in a few minutes "You're a liar" was heard from several parts of the room. Others entered the fray and Dr. McFadden was unable to obtain order for a time but finally introduced Maj. C. C. Teare, who started in to talk while the argument was going on and in a few minutes was able to get the attention of the audience. Following Maj. Teare's talk the meeting adjourned.

Wonderful Skin and Wrinkle Removers

The method of removing bad complexions by absorption seems to have come into general use in this country. Ordinary mercolized wax, applied nightly like cold cream and erased mornings with warm water, gradually absorbs the coarse, faded or discolored outer film skin in almost invisible particles. Soon there's a brand new complexion, formed by the younger, healthier under-skin. No cosmetic or artificial treatment can possibly produce a complexion of such radiant, youthful loveliness. Druggists all have mercolized wax; it is seldom that more than one ounce is necessary.

Thousands have also reported great success with the famous saxolite wrinkle-removing formula. One ounce of pure powdered saxolite is dissolved in a half pint witch hazel and the solution used as a face wash. The effect is almost magical. The deepest wrinkles and crow's feet, as well as the finest lines—whether due to age, illness, weather or worry—completely and quickly vanish. No one need hesitate to try this simple lotion, as it won't harm any skin.—Advertisement.

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 14.—After a period of several years' freedom outside of penitentiary walls, John Speldel and William Love, both former inmates of the Marquette prison, who were released on the expiration of their terms, have been returned to the institution by Sheriff Andrew Anderson of Mason county. Each was convicted of robbery a few weeks ago and was sentenced to serve from ten years to life.

BIG DEMAND FOR HORSES IN WOODS

St. Croix Company Buys Sixty-Six Animals for Its Camps.

Renewed activity in the lumber camps is indicated by the sale of sixty-six heavy draft horses, costing $272 each or $16,864 for the lot, to the St. Croix Lumber company by the Barrett & Zimmerman sales stables of Duluth and the Twin Cities. The purchase was negotiated by Capt. Baker for the company, and the animals will be shipped to the company's camp a short distance from Ely.

Representatives of the company say that there has been such a general revival of business that it is now impossible to hire horses as could be done a short time ago, and that purchases are now necessary. Farmers and others now require the use of their horses.

The same condition is true of settlers on homesteads. They have until recently been able to hire horses, but now they must buy them outright.

The increase in acreage expected in Canada and the Northwest next spring is creating a greater demand for horses on farms.

FOREIGN MISSION INCOME $17,168,611

American Board Makes Public Its Report for the Year 1914.

New York, Jan. 14.—The total income of American foreign mission boards during 1914 was $17,168,611, according to statistics made public today at the annual meeting of the foreign missions conference.

These figures cover the work of all American organizations doing educational and philanthropic as well as missionary work outside the United States and Canada, except that work conducted under the auspices of certain other mission boards in Mexico, Cuba, Porto Rico, Hawaii and Alaska. For this work $509,510 was contributed during the year.

Statistics show that contributions fell slightly below the amount received in 1912, the banner year, and exceeded by more than $1,000,000 the contributions of 1913. In 1901, the first year for which statistics were available, the contributions totaled $6,228,173.

Natives in foreign mission fields, the report asserts, contributed $4,243,967 to work conducted by American missionaries. There are 9,969 missionaries enrolled by the several organizations and 159,286 persons were baptized during the year—a gain of 37,475 over 1913. A gain of 510 churches is reported, bringing the number up to 9,946. There are 606 colleges, theological seminaries and training schools and 12,969 other schools with a total attendance of 547,730.

Great Britain and Continental Europe again fell below America in the amount of contributions, according to the latest available figures, which are those for 1913. The amount of their contributions was $13,884,411. All Christendom, the report asserts, contributed $32,151,224 to foreign missionary work in 1913. America contributing approximately one-half.

NO CHANGE IN THE BALLOT

Court Decides in Favor of City in Mandamus Action.

Nearness of the Special Election Will Prevent an Appeal.

The alternative 4-cent lighting rate ordinance will have a place on the ballot, which will be submitted to Duluth voters at the special referendum election Tuesday, Jan. 19.

In district court this morning, Judge Dancer denied the application of Anton Gronseth for a writ of mandamus requiring city officials to correct the form of ballot proposed to be used at the special election next Tuesday by elliminating all reference to the 4-cent ordinance. The court also dismissed the order to show cause why the correction should not be made.

No Contest in Supreme Court.

Owing to the fact that the election is less than a week off no contest will be made in the supreme court. The higher court, to which an appeal might be taken, could not review the proceedings in time to render a decision before next Tuesday and in the meantime the present status of affairs so far as the ballot is concerned would be unaffected even if an appeal was taken.

The court recognizes the right of the city council, as conferred by the city charter, to submit to the voters at a referendum election an alternative ordinance to the one which has been initiated, as was the 6-cent ordinance, which provides for the acceptance of a contract with the Duluth-Edison Electric company on a basis of lighting current at six cents a kilowatt hour.

Anton Gronseth, relator in the mandamus proceedings instituted against Charles S. Palmer, city clerk, and members of the city council, brought the suit as a citizen and taxpayer. He was represented in court by Harris & Pearson, local attorneys. The city's side of the case was presented by City Attorney Clapp and Frank Crassweller of the firm of Crassweller, Crassweller & Blu, as special counsel for the city in the matter. The case was argued for eight days. It was submitted to Judge Dancer late Monday afternoon.

In a memorandum, which accompanies the decision, Judge Dancer outlines the position of the court in the matter, declaring that the relator had not clearly established his right to the relief asked for and for that and other reasons his application should be denied. The memorandum follows:

Summary of the Case.

"This is a summary proceeding instituted under the provisions of a statute designed to provide a speedy remedy to correct errors in the preparation of official ballots. There is no practicable right of appeal. The action of this court will be final so far as concerns the form of ballot to be used at the coming election.

"The interest of relator is simply that of any resident elector and taxpayer of the city who desires to avoid the expense and moral effect of a void election or the adoption of an invalid ordinance; and the delay and confusion incident thereto. The interests of the general public and of the Duluth-Edison Electric company are more vitally concerned.

"If the ordinance in question should be erroneously stricken from the ballot, there is no assurance that the error could ever be corrected, because, in the first place, it could never be definitely known just what effect such error had upon the outcome of the election. On the other hand, if the ordinance be erroneously permitted to remain upon the ballot, and if it be declared adopted in accordance with the provisions of the charter, the electric company may still protect its rights and contest the validity thereof by an appropriate action in which either party may appeal from an adverse decision.

"It has been held in proceedings of this nature that before the court will make such order the right thereto must be so clear as not to admit of any reasonable controversy," (citing cases: State vs. Anderson, 100 Wis., 523; State vs. Brainerd, 121 Minn., 182).

Has Not Established Case.

"For these and for other reasons, the court is of the opinion that in order to have the ordinance stricken the relator must establish clearly his right to that relief. This, in the opinion of the court, he had not done.

FLOODWOOD SETTLER'S EYES ARE AFFECTED.

Floodwood, Minn., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joe Nehring, foreman in the local cedar yards of the Coolidge-Schussler company of Minneapolis, was taken to the St. Mary's hospital at Duluth yesterday afternoon by his wife and Charles Handle. His eyes became affected so badly that he could not even open them, nor see through them, when they were open, and it was thought best to consult some eye specialist, in order to restore the eyesight. Mr. Nehring belongs to the pioneers of this country. He has a home of his own and family of five.

ALL CHRISTIANS IN MIANDOAB KILLED

Turks Massacre Those Remaining in City After Its Capture.

Petrograd, via London, Jan. 14.—The correspondent of the Bourse Gazette at Tiflis sends a statement made to him by Schodja Ed Daculeh, the former governor of the province of Azerbijan, Persia, who has arrived in Tiflis. He is one of four survivors of a guard of 400 horsemen who defended the bridge at the entrance to Miandoab, "the gateway of Persia." He fought the Turks for ten hours, enabling refugees to escape to Maragha, 50 miles south of Tabriz. All Christians who remained in Miandoab, he stated, were massacred.

"When I heard that the Turks were advancing," he said, "I posted 1,500 troops in one of the Miandoab forts and 1,200 in another. I myself with 400 relatives and friends fought a hopeless battle at the bridge until all but four were killed by the Turks' quick-firers. I then fled on horseback from Tabris to Julfa.

"All the members of the consulates and banks escaped from Tabriz."

FLOODWOOD SALOONS PAY ALL EXPENSES

If Four Places Are Closed Village Income Will Be Hit.

Floodwood, Minn., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council Tuesday night granted a saloon license to Charles Handle, who bought out Jean New, when the latter was appointed postmaster. Owing to the general scare, felt over this part of Minnesota that the saloons may be closed, it was thought Mr. Handle would not apply for the renewal of a license. Floodwood pays no village tax; the revenue from the four saloons amounting to $5,000 a year taking care of all the local taxes. The present administration is handicapped in undertaking new improvements, for the reason that under the recent ruling of the attorney general of Minnesota the authorities are required to refund part of the license money when the saloons are closed by the Federal government.

WRONGFULLY ACCUSED MEN BACK FROM ST. PAUL

Louis C. Andrews and James P. Jennings, who were arrested here last Friday, charged by a St. Paul publication for which they were soliciting, with "withholding two receipt books of the value of 75 cents each," and taken to St. Paul for trial, returned this morning. It has already been related how Mr. Andrews was released, as it was found that there was no ground for the charge, trivial as it was.

Mr. Jennings stood trial, but before the trial was half over the judge dismissed the case on his own volition, and censured the complainant and his attorney for making such a charge and taking up the time of the court. Both defendants were wholly vindicated.

They are considering the matter of starting suit for slander against their former employer.

LADING BILL NOT SETTLED

Grain Shippers and Vessel Men Still at Loggerheads.

Question of Shortages and Averages Still to Be Decided Upon.

The Cleveland papers publish a story to the effect that the question of a bill of lading for grain shipments has been settled. This is entirely erroneous, according to those who went from here to the Detroit meeting between grain shippers and lake carriers, held last week. M. L. Jenks, who, with Watson S. Moore and G. G. Barnum, attended the meeting, representing the Duluth board of trade shippers, said today that there has as yet been no settlement. Mr. Jenks said that certain plans were submitted to the shippers, but that they decided that they must have thirty days in which to come to a decision. This was granted. Mr. Jenks said today that matters are by no means settled, and there are several things that must be conceded by the other side. A meeting will be held soon at some place yet to be decided upon, to which Watson S. Moore has been named as a member of the committee to which it has been left, where the whole situation will be gone over, and a report made to the other shippers, they to hold a meeting later and decide on what is to be done. The story as published in the East is in part as follows:

"An allowance of one-quarter of a bushel to the thousand of cargo as tare will relieve the ships of all responsibility for shortages or overages at the unloading terminal. Such is the main specification in the bill of lading that will prevail on grain shipments by water on the lakes hereafter.

Assume Responsibility.

"Several minor matters are yet to be determined. The shippers are forming a company to guarantee the out-turn of grain cargoes, and will probably follow the same plan that prevails on deep water. In ocean shipping the vessels are not held for shortages nor allowed overruns. A mutual company assumes responsibility, and it is understood the shippers sometimes receive a dividend and never have been called upon to pay a very large assessment.

"One of the questions yet to be determined is the price that shall be paid for grain allowed as tare, the lower price for grain at the shipping port or the delivered price at the unloading elevator. Inspection expenses that may result in cases of damaged grain also must be decided.

"A letter sent by Chairman Archie W. Thomsen of the Lake Carriers' committee and the sub-committee of vessel owners says that the conference at Detroit resulted in an understanding between shippers and vessels had been reached whereby the ships will be relieved of responsibility beyond the tare by the allowance of the tare and will have no claim for overruns.

"Copies of the letter were mailed to all shippers and vessel owners participating in the agreement. The committee appointed to handle the questions that are still to be settled will meet at the call of either side whenever it is deemed necessary to clear up details. The contracts made under the tare clause are binding without further notice on all ships and shippers from Jan. 6.

"Copies of the clause have been printed and will be distributed among shippers and vessel owners for use in making bills of lading. The clause follows:

"'The vessel shall make no claim for any over-run in the out-turn of cargo, and assumes no responsibility for shortage, but shall allow a fixed amount of one-quarter bushel per 1,000 as tare to be deducted from the freight. All grain on board is to be delivered and freight is to be collected on the actual out-turn.

"'Where two or more shipments are carried in the same compartment of the vessel, the shortage, if any, resulting upon unloading the last of these, shall be borne pro rata by the shippers.

"'This clause is to form part of the attached bill of lading and is to supersede anything to the contrary contained therein.'"

CLAIM PROFITS OF $106,000 FOR WATER AND LIGHT PLANT

Annual Report of Manager Reed Submitted to Commissioner.

Net Income for Gas $7,646; New Water Rates Profitable.

Gross revenues of the Duluth water and light department totaled more for 1914 than during 1913, while the net income for the last year, after deducting $151,025.07 for interest on bonds was $106,443.32.

Both Mr. Reed and Commissioner Merritt, to whom the report was submitted, are well pleased with the showing of the department for 1914. Because of a reduction in the water rates on Jan. 1 of last year from 17½ cents to 15 cents, it was expected that the net income for the year would be reduced, although at the same time the minimum scale was raised from 2 to 8 cents for large consumers.

Mr. Reed explains that a summary of the report will shortly be made and a comparison of the new rates made with the old. The committee, appointed by the city commission last year, will begin work early in February and report shortly after.

In 1913 the revenues of the water department were $299,953.00, while last year they were $322,041.75, making an increase during 1914 of $23,085.75. The revenues of the gas department for 1913 were $256,862.44 and 1914, $264,210.17, making an increase for the last year of $7,347.73.

Depreciation Charges.

In the expenses of both the water and light accounts, Manager Reed included a depreciation charge of $50,748 for the former and $22,663 for the latter. There was no depreciation included in the report of 1913.

During the year just passed the department paid out $112,008.71 in interest on outstanding bonds, as compared to $109,499.85 paid out in 1913 from the gross income of the water department, while from the gas department $37,855.62 was paid out in 1913 and $39,017.36 was paid out last year. During the year the city reduced the bonded debt of the water department from $3,421,000 to $3,401,000.

The adjusted surplus at the beginning of business in 1914 was $966,437.58. Adding to this the department's total net income of $106,443.32, the city's proprietary interest on Jan. 1 of this year is $1,072,880.90.

Manager Reed's statement and the complete financial reports of the gas and water accounts for 1914 follow:

New Water Rates.

"At the time the special committee, consisting of Halford Erickson, W. B. Rittenhouse and myself, were appointed to investigate and report upon the question of water rates for the city of Duluth, early in the year, a change in the rates had been made immediately previous to that time, viz, Jan. 1, 1914, and after several meetings of the committee had been held at which discussions were had as to what suitable rates would be, and if the rates as adopted on Jan. 1 were proper, and after Mr. Erickson had submitted estimates of the valuation of the plant, earnings and other data in connection with the investigation, it was decided that a final report should be deferred until the results of a year's operation under the new rates could be determined.

"A very complete analysis of our expenses and earnings embraced in a lengthy report made at this time by Mr. Erickson indicated that our total expenses, including interest, depreciation and taxes, were $323,190.66.

"Bearing in mind that the allowance for interest covers sinking fund as well as interest on bonds, it does not seem apparent that the rates established a year ago, which returned to the department gross earnings of $322,041.75, could be very much out of the way.

"It appearing that the rates adopted were quite approximately what the committee would advise and from the fact that soon thereafter recommendation of the rate committee of the New England Water Works association filed its report, in which nearly all the features recommended by them corresponded almost exactly to the rates now in force, it was decided to defer the report until further experience was obtained with the present rates.

"The full data for the year is not available, but probably will be within a few weeks, at which time it is proposed that the committee shall make its final report."

FORMER DULUTHIAN WINS IN POLITICS

Son of Former Methodist Pastor Becomes Sheriff of North Dakota County in Face of Heavy Odds.

R. W. Craig, son of Rev. R. H. Craig, who was pastor of the Grace Methodist church from 1891 to 1895, and pastor of the Merritt Memorial church for the year following, has just been installed as sheriff of Ransom county, N. D. The peculiar feature of his election was that Mr. Craig was elected on the Bull Moose ticket in a county that had only 100 registered Bull Moosers and has a normal Republican majority of from 600 to 800.

Sheriff Craig spent $50 in his campaign. His entire canvass was made on horseback. During the campaign last fall he traveled in this manner over 600 miles. In a letter to local friends he claims that the fight was one of the most bitter in that county in years and that as a result of the fall election machine politics has received a severe setback. Several of the Democratic candidates were swept into office as a result of the campaign.

Mr. Craig was born at Racine, Wis., in 1886. Following his common school education he attended St. Andrews college at Toronto, Ont., and finished at the North Dakota university. Lately he has been studying law and expects to take his examination for the bar next June.

Rev. Mr. Craig is one of the best known pastors in North Dakota. He is now located at Bismarck and is chaplain of the North Dakota state senate.

CITY BEGINS WORK ON TWIN LAKES

Will Reconstruct Beauty Spot on Rogers Boulevard.

The city park department has placed a few men at work reconstructing the embankment, the breaking of which, nearly six years ago, destroyed the Twin lakes. Harry Cleveland, superintendent of city parks, is in direct charge of the work and, according to a statement given out by him yesterday afternoon, he expects to do the work at about half the price that it would cost the city if the job was let by contract.

The Twin lakes formed one of the beauty spots of the Rogers boulevard drive. The lakes were divided by the drive at a point near Thirteenth ave-

"I tried plasters and medicine, but nothing I did seemed to help me until I took Peruna.

"This splendid medicine took right hold of me, drove every bit of the disease out, and built me up until I felt stronger than I had for years.

GREATER ERA OF PROSPERITY IN VIEW

Secretary Redfield Makes Optimistic Speech in New York.

New York, Jan. 14.—A greater era of prosperity is in view for this country, Secretary of Commerce William C. Redfield said last night in addressing the fourth annual dinner of the Queensborough chamber of commerce.

Secretary Redfield responded to the toast, "Optimism and Prosperity." He discussed American trade relations and industrial conditions resulting from the war in Europe, cited the advance in freight rates granted to the railroads and the opening of the Panama canal as factors leading toward an improved business status and expressed the hope that American goods waiting for shipment may soon find means for transportation. Discussing the country's foreign commerce he said:

"Our floating debt to Europe, which it was once felt might have to be paid fully in gold, has instead been paid in goods and more than paid, and so there seems to have begun an inward flow of gold responding to the reduction in the price of exchange."

W. Morgan Shuster said that in furnishing supplies to the nations at war, the United States was handicapped by an inadequate merchant marine.

"Any other nation," he said, "that possessed our wealth and opportunities, given the present conditions in world politics, would long ago have obtained full control of the world's trade."

LONDON DIRECTORY SHOWS A SHRINKAGE.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Jan. 1.—For the first time in years a new edition of London's city directory shows a shrinkage. The 1914 directory weighed exactly 15 pounds. The directory for 1915 has wasted away to 14 pounds, 14 ounces. Part of the two ounces loss is due to the disappearance of German and Austrian firms. This directory contains the names of business houses, professional men and householders, but the population living in hotels or boarding houses is not mentioned, so that it is difficult to ascertain the shrinkage due to enlistments.

EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY

Provisions of Bill Now Before the North Dakota Senate.

Measure Introduced in the House to Tax Wheat Buyers.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator H. A. Bronson's employers' liability act, the first measure introduced in the senate, comes before the legislative assembly with the approval of the North Dakota Federation of Labor, and that organization will endeavor to secure its enactment.

The state affairs committee of the senate, to which it was submitted, already has commenced work on the act. The first section provides that surviving spouse or next kin are entitled to damages from the employer in the event of the death of the employe through accident while engaged in his duties, provided wilful neglect, proved before a jury, does not exist.

Carelessness of a fellow employe, or that the employe had accepted the risks inherent in his work, is declared an unsound defense in the second section. Negligence of the employe, unless willful, is not accepted as a defense.

Employers not accepting these provisions are also barred by the act from taking advantage of other defenses that may be provided by law at the time of the passage of this act.

The burden of proof in establishing willful neglect is placed upon the defendant.

No claim for legal services or disbursements pertaining to any demand or suit brought under the provisions of the act shall be an enforceable lien against the amount paid as compensation unless approved by the presiding judge. Report of the terms of settlement must be made to the commissioner of agriculture and labor.

Elective Compensation.

Under the second part of the bill, known as elective compensation, common carriers are declared exempt when engaged in interstate or foreign commerce; nor does it apply to farm hands, domestics, etc.

When an employe of a common carrier engaged in interstate commerce is killed or injured, it shall be presumed prima facie that such employe was engaged in such commerce.

Employers and employes who come under the terms of this section of the law must accept the schedule of compensation provided for in the act, except in case of willful negligence or intoxication.

All other bases of settlement are surrendered by both parties when they adopt this schedule.

All contracts made after the time of the passage of the act will be understood to come under the election clause, unless otherwise expressly stated in the contract in writing or printed notice.

Election not to participate under the section must be noticed by written or printed notice posted in his shop or place of business. Likewise, it is encumbent upon the employe to notify the employer, in writing, if he choses not to accept the provisions of the section. Thirty days' written notice is required, by either party, to terminate the agreement.

Schedule of Compensation.

For injuries producing temporary total disability, 50 per cent of the wages received at the time of the accident, subject to a maximum compensation of $10 weekly, and a minimum of $6; provided that if he receives less than $6 a week, he shall receive the full amount of such wages weekly. Three hundred weeks is the maximum length of payment allowed.

In cases of temporary partial disability, 50 per cent of the difference in wages formerly earned, and the wages he is now capable of earning, must be paid. The same maximum length of payment is provided.

For the loss of a thumb, 50 per cent of the wages for sixty weeks; for the loss of the first finger, 50 per cent of the wages for thirty-five weeks; for the loss of the second finger, 50 per cent for thirty weeks; for the loss of the third finger, 50 per cent for twenty weeks; for the loss of the fourth finger, 50 per cent for fifteen weeks.

The loss of the first phalange of the thumb, or any finger, shall be considered to equal the loss of one-half the thumb or finger, and compensation shall be one-half the amounts specified. The loss of more than one phalange shall be considered as the loss of the entire thumb or finger.

Would Tax Wheat Buyer.

Representative Burnett seeks to tax the wheat buyer in a bill providing a tax of a half a mill on wheat and flax bought by elevators or firms and corporations engaged in buying "on the track." On all other grains it provides a tax of a fourth mill. Failure to report the proper amount of grain handled makes the operator liable to a fine up to $500, plus the costs of prosecution.

Representative Bratton of Pierce county has introduced a bill amending the present law relating to the publication of notices of delinquent tax sales. He would have such notices published in three "successive" issues of a newspaper, instead of three issues, as at present.

Representative McClellan of Golden Valley county is much interested in securing the passage of the resolution approving 640-acre stock grazing homesteads. His resolution declares there are 673,000 acres of government land in North Dakota which is rough, broken and non-irrigable, more suitable for grazing and stock raising than for any other purpose. This land, he maintains, would fall into private hands if permission was granted for 640-acre stock grazing homesteads, and the state would benefit materially through the increase of taxable lands, more settlers, etc. The resolution declares there is no danger of choice agricultural lands being gobbled up under the 640-acre law if congress passes it.

Vacancies on the university and agricultural college boards of trustees will not be filled by Governor Hanna until action is taken by the assembly on the question of creating a board of regents for the control of all educational institutions except the three normal schools which already are being operated under the direction of a single board.

TRINITY TEAM WINS.

The Trinity indoor baseball team defeated the Ionic nine last evening in one of the closest games since the Temple league was started last fall. The final score was 22 to 21, and the victor was not really known until the final play was made.

Erickson and Anderson were the batteries for the Trinity team, while Grociau and Fenton did the work for the Ionic players.

This evening the Shriners will meet the Chapter nine.

How Thin People Can Put On Flesh

A New Discovery

Thin men and women—that big, hearty, filling dinner you ate last night. What became of all the fat-producing nourishment it contained? You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there, but your food doesn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of thin folks the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation, are sadly out of gear and need reconstruction.

Cut out the foolish foods and funny sawdust diets. Omit the flesh cream rub-ons. Cut out everything but the meals you are eating now and eat with every one of those a single Sargol tablet. In two weeks note the difference. Five to eight good solid pounds of healthy, "stay there" fat should be the net result. Sargol charges your weak, stagnant blood with millions of fresh new red blood corpuscles—gives the blood the carrying power to deliver every ounce of fat-making material in your food to every part of your body. Sargol, too, mixes with your food and prepares it for the blood in easily assimilated form. Thin people gain all the way from 10 to 25 pounds a month while taking Sargol, and the new flesh stays put. Sargol tablets are a scientific combination of six of the best flesh-producing elements known to chemistry. They come 40 tablets to a package, are pleasant harmless and inexpensive, and Boyce Drug store and all other druggists in Duluth and vicinity sell them subject to an absolute guarantee of weight increase or money back.

PROPERTY OWNERS OPPOSE PAVING

West Third Street Men Want City to Bear Part of Cost.

The proposed paving of West Third street from Vernon street to Fifty-Fourth avenue will have considerable opposition, according to the protests that are already being made. The city commissioners on Monday afternoon passed a resolution initiating the movement to have the street paved at an estimated cost of $175,000 and unless a formal protest is filed within sixty days from that time the work will be started in the spring.

It is intimated that a number of property owners intend to oppose the paving of the street on the ground that they should not be called upon to stand the entire cost. They aver that Third street is a residence street and, therefore, if paved and paid for by them, it should not more than thirty feet in width. The resolution calls for a paving of forty-six feet wide.

Bert N. Wheeler, one of the property owners on Third street, said this morning that he believed that the city at large should stand at least the cost of paving the sixteen feet additional. He said that in all probability a meeting of the property owners would be called and this question taken up.

"I am not opposed to the paving of the street, but I do not believe it fair to ask us to pay for paving a street the width of a business street when we contend that it is a residence street," said Mr. Wheeler. "The district affected will never amount to anything as a business street. The heavy users such as the wholesale firms and the city at large should bear its part of the cost."

Some of the property owners on Oneota street are disappointed because it was Third street instead of Oneota street that was ordered paved. It is proposed by them to ask the city to initiate an order to have this thoroughfare improved in case an adverse petition is filed by the property owners on Third street.

DIVORCE SOUGHT FOR SECOND TIME

Clementsons, Separated and Remarried, Are Again in Divorce Court.

Clement H. Clementson, 35, is the plaintiff in a divorce suit filed this morning against his wife, Maude E. Clementson, 38. The divorce is the second asked by the couple during their matrimonial career, the first having been sought two years ago by Mrs. Clementson and granted. Later the same year they remarried.

Clementson bases his complaint on cruelty, the charge being that his wife consorted with other men and has gone to other cities in their company.

The married life of the Clementsons began with their first marriage on April 15, 1904. On Jan. 15, 1912, Mrs. Clementson was granted a divorce on grounds of desertion. They remarried Sept. 25, 1913. Until recently they have been living together in West Duluth.

Clementson is at present being held at the West Duluth police station on a charge of violation of a parole. He was arrested some time ago on a charge of non-support preferred by his wife and released on parole on promise to provide for her. He was rearrested yesterday because of violation of the provision of the parole.

AUSTRIAN FOREIGN MINISTER RESIGNS

Vienna, Austria, Jan. 14, via London.—Count Leopold von Berchtold, Austrian foreign minister, has resigned and his resignation has been accepted, according to the Vienna Fremdenblatt. Count von Berchtold will be succeeded by Baron Stephen Burian von Rejecz, minister of the royal court in the Hungarian cabinet.

Count von Berchtold was one of the main factors in the situation which led to the Austrian declaration of war on Servia, which in turn precipitated the European war.

As Austrian foreign minister, Count

COUNT VON BERCHTOLD.

von Berchtold was largely responsible for formulating the policy which resulted in the declaration of war on Servia. On several occasions recently it has been reported unofficially that he would resign. The appointment of a Hungarian to succeed him in control of Austrian foreign affairs is believed to indicate that henceforth Hungary will assume a more prominent place in shaping the policy of the dual monarchy during the war.

Speakers in Election Fight Assert Water Department Is Too Lavish.

Hughes Tells of Alleged Failure of Seattle's M. O. Experiment.

Charging the water and light department with having increased its expenses without any reasonable cause and declaring that the proposal to operate the Duluth-Edison plant under municipal ownership is the height of folly at this time, John Jenswold, Jr., and Roy M. Hughes addressed a large gathering at a public mass meeting held last evening at Woodman hall in the West end.

"I have always favored municipal ownership and still believe in it, but I do not favor such a foolish experiment as that now contemplated," said Mr Jenswold. "I cannot understand how the commissioner of public utilities, who is supposed to be the servant of the people, and who claims to be running his department so cheaply, can account for the increased expenditures in the water and gas department."

"One instance of lavish expenditure in the water and light department is shown by the increase of Manager Reed's salary from $250 a month in December, 1913, to $323.34 a month in December, 1914."

Seattle's Experiment.

Mr. Hughes also mentioned what he termed increased expenses and declared that every one in the department was benefited except the laborer. The speaker also referred to the Seattle board, which is municipally controlled, and he declared that the experiment in the Washington city has proved a failure.

"Our city engineers say the first unit will cost $85,800," said Mr. Hughes. "In Seattle they estimated the entire plant would cost $840,000 and voted bonds for that amount. They found, however, that the plant has cost them $3,210,000, in addition to an incidental $1,000,000 in general taxation."

Other Meetings.

Four other meetings were held last evening in various parts of the city. These were at the Franklin school, Duluth Heights, Hazelwood church and the Kalamazoo hall.

Mayor Prince, Richard Funck, H. A. Carmichael and Maj. Teare spoke at the Franklin school; W. E. McEwen and A. E. McManus at Duluth Heights, and E. G. W. C. Ross and Bert Wheeler at the Hazelwood church. The plasterers' union conducted the fourth meeting at the Kalamazoo hall.

PRESIDENT PRO TEM OF WISCONSIN SENATE

Madison, Wis., Jan. 14.—Edward T. Fairchild of Milwaukee was last night chosen as president pro-tempore of the senate of the Wisconsin legislature. A compromise was effected whereby the Philipp forces were to choose a president for the senate and the La Follette forces were to retain the chairmanships of all the committees.

Lawrence C. Whittet of Edgerton, Wis., was elected speaker of the assembly, the Republican caucus putting through its entire slate without a hitch.

library, the repeal of the state fire insurance law, a reduction in the amount of state printing, the transfer of the duties of deputy income tax assessors to local town assessors elected by the people, the repeal of the law creating a county board of education, and the enactment of a law creating a central board of education that will supervise and direct the affairs of the state university and the normal schools.

He urged that the work of reforestation of the cut-over lands in Northern Wisconsin be stopped and that all lands within the state forestry reserve that were agricultural in character be sold to settlers, and he urged the repeal of the water power law and the enactment of a new act that will encourage the more rapid development of the water powers of the state.

Initial Service by County Judges.

He would have the initial service under the workmen's compensation act performed by the county judges and favored greater development of the county training schools for teachers.

The message declared that too many laws had been enacted in the past and that many of them should be repealed. He also favored a higher tuition fee at the university for non-resident students.

"The most important problem that confronts us at this time," said Governor Philipp, "is to introduce economies in the management of our state affairs that will produce substantial reductions in state expenditures and make a reduction in state taxes possible. The people demand retrenchment. The people have expressed a demand for closer adherence to constitutional government, and to the use of sound business principles in government."

HORROR OF EARTHQUAKE INCREASES

protests of government officials, who urged the international situation in Europe as a reason for his staying in Rome, left early today for the vicinity of Avezzano to do whatever he could, and by his presence give stimulus to the relief work.

Queen Helena, still in bed, since the birth of a daughter, has expressed the keenest regret that she could not go to the scenes of devastation as she did at Messina.

Relief committees are being organized in each locality that has been stricken, to work under the direction and in co-operation with the central committee in Rome, which is under the supervision of Premier Salandra.

Soldiers have been rushed to the scene and by night will have established tent colonies in which the homeless thousands may find temporary shelter.

Wires Down.

Lines of communication, especially railroad tracks and telephone and telegraph wires, have been interrupted seriously throughout the entire earthquake belt, and the transportation of supplies furnished by the government and private sources is going forward by automobile and horse drawn wagons.

The forces at work relieving distress face scenes of the greatest tragedy. Families have been separated, fathers have returned to their shattered homes to find their children and wives dead or missing. Children are fatherless and wives have become widows.

In every stricken section temporary hospitals have been established and to these have gone nurses and doctors to care for the injured. The list includes the duchess of Aosta, who has gone to Monterodunli as a nurse.

No one was killed in Rome, but there is considerable material damage. Several of Rome's historical structures were damaged, but it is hoped not irredeemably so. About 100 persons were killed in towns near Rome, according to reports.

Relief Work Under Way.

Relief work is already under way and it is stated that King Victor Emmanuel will himself visit the most severely stricken districts at the earliest possible moment.

Premier Salandra has personally taken charge of the relief work. He has established headquarters in the home office from which he will direct the rescue work in the earthquake district. Special trains, with doctors, medicines, ambulances and nurses have already been dispatched and government officials have been given carte blanche to provide all necessary comforts to the stricken people.

Queen Helena has expressed deep sorrow at the fact that she is still obliged to remain in bed, owing to the recent birth of a princess, as she ardently desired to go personally and give succor to the victims. The duchess of Aosta has gone to Monterodunli, where she has installed herself as a hospital nurse for the wounded.

Pope Benedict is awaiting a report from Mgr. Sagni, archbishop of Aquila, on the gravity of the situation and the probable loss of life. He has expressed a desire to go to the spot if his presence is necessary to encourage and comfort the distressed.

The anxiety concerning the province of Potenza seems unnecessary as the latest reports say that while the earthquake damaged buildings there, it caused no loss of life. The greatest injury occurred in the village around the extinguished volcano Vulture.

Director Friedlander of the International Volcanological institution at Naples says the origin of the earthquake is geological and not volcanic with its epicentrum in the valley of the Garigliano river. The registration of the earthquake at the observatory lasted forty seconds and was so violent that the needles broke.

Mount Vesuvius, according to the observers in that district, has shown no signs of unusual activity.

King to Avezzano.

King Victor Emmanuel at a late hour last night left in a motor car for Avezzano, accompanied by Gen. Brusati, one of his aides.

Before leaving the city the king was reminded of the international situation, it being thought that this might keep him in Rome. To this suggestion the king replied:

"The sufferings of my people are nearer my heart than anything else."

From the most recent reports it appears that comparatively few escaped from the city of Avezzano.

Those who got away and were only slightly wounded insisted upon returning to search amidst the ruins of their homes for relatives and friends. Survivors dug frantically into heaps of plaster and stone, often stained with blood. The grewsome search was only too often successful.

In many instances survivors fainted as their dead were brought to light in the ruins of the home. Then the heartbroken searcher had to be cared for by the members of the hastily organized relief committees.

Insane on Finding Body.

At Scurcola a woman who unearthed the body of her 3-year-old child became insane. At Popoli a young husband, returning from the fields where he had been at work, rushed to his home and found it a heap of ruins. He tore away the fallen masonry and entered what remained of his home, only to find his wife lying dead with their baby in her arms. At Sora an old grandfather, the sole survivor of his family, insisted on forcing his way through the shattered walls of what once had been his home.

KING GOES TO AID OF HIS STRICKEN SUBJECTS

VICTOR EMANUEL OF ITALY

Suddenly the walls collapsed and the old man was buried with the other members of his family.

A railroad train, which yesterday was reported missing, has been found near Avezzano. It had run off the tracks.

There is nothing like satisfactory communication with the stricken district and consequently exact figures as to the losses in lives and property are impossible to obtain. Railroad traffic between Avezzano and Tagliacozzo still is interrupted.

Reports Grave.

Very grave reports are coming in from Bussi, Popoli, Pescinello, Hansanicio, Ocre, Paganacia, Pescina, Aversa, Sourcola, Magliano and Cappadoccia.

The center of the disturbance appears now to have been the extinct volcano of Fucino in the province of Aquila.

The work of rescue and the search of the ruins in the hope of finding people still alive was continued all through the night. Bonfires were lit at torches brought into use. The soldiers who early were ordered to the scene of the disaster did excellent work.

Medical men are beginning to talk of the possibility of epidemics among those who escaped. A very large number of people fled from the stricken area and will have to spend some time without adequate shelter. They undoubtedly will suffer from exposure and from lack of food.

Damage in Rome.

In the capital itself, so far as known, there was no loss of life, but a great deal of damage was done, churches and statues suffering the most. For a time, the people were stricken with fear and there was a veritable panic in the hospitaus, monasteries and convents. The buildings on both sides of the Porta Del Popolo, the northern entrance to Rome, threatened to fall and the eagle decorating the gate crashed to the ground. The obelisk in St. Peter's square was shaken and badly damaged, while the statue of St. John Lateran, and the statues of the Apostles surmounting the Basilica are in danger of collapsing. The famous colonnade decorating St. Peter's square was lowered four feet, while the adjacent house, once occupied by the sisters of Pope Pius X, was badly cracked.

So violent was the shock that the dome of the church of St. Charles Catinari was cracked. A large piece of the cornice of the Jesuit church of St. Ignatius broke and fell with a crash which added to the fright of the persons in the neighborhood.

Ceilings in many houses fell, a number of persons being injured in that manner.

In the Abruzzi.

Avezzano, the town from which the greatest number of casualties had been reported as the result of the earthquake, lies in the province of Aquila, in the Abruzzi department, 62 miles east of Rome, and a short distance from the base of Mount Velino. It is an ancient town and had a population of some 10,000. One of the well-preserved buildings there was the towered castle built by Gentile Virginio Orsino in 1490.

Most of the towns in which damage has been done are situated virtually in the heart of Italy, in a line running northeast and southeast from Rome, eastward toward the Adriatic sea. The country in the province of Rome and the department of the Abruzzi is mostly mountainous, but thickly populated. Numerous villages and towns dot the territory. Monte Rotondo has a population of about 5,000. It was here in 1867 that Garibaldi defeated the papal forces. At Tivoli, where one person is said to have been killed, there is a population of some 14,000. It lies 18 miles northeast of Rome and retains many relics of the old Roman days, among them the temple of Tiberius and the Villa d'Este, celebrated for the beauty of its architecture. Tofi is a village of some 4,000 inhabitants.

Zagarolo, Paliano, Vereli, Pereto, Poggio, Nativo and the other places which are damaged or had fatalities, are all small towns.

Many Earthquakes.

Italy in past years has had numerous visitations from earthquakes in which thousands of persons have perished and from which millions of property damage has resulted.

It fell to the lot of Italy to suffer what has been the greatest disaster from an earthquake that the world ever saw. This was in December, 1908, when in Sicily and Calabria, 76,485 persons were killed, 95,470 injured and 1,100,000 made homeless.

The financial loss never was accurately computed, but it ran into many millions of dollars.

Up to the time of this catastrophe, the earthquake at Lisbon, Portugal, in 1755, which cost 60,000 lives, caused the greatest number of casualties.

Nineteen hundred and six was the worst period for seismic disturbances on record. During this year great disasters occurred the world over. The destruction of San Francisco and Valparaiso and the razing of eighteen villages in Calabria occurred in the spring and summer of 1906. The province of Esmeralda in Ecuador was shaken in the following January, and a great tidal wave followed, drowning many persons and devastating the city of Esmeraldas.

A month later on the island of Formosa, the village of Kagi and three other towns were destroyed with the loss of thousands of lives and material damage estimated at $15,000,000. A month later Kagi again was shaken, with much loss of life and property damage.

Five Hundred Killed at Frisco.

Then followed the San Francisco disaster, in which 500 were killed and 250,000 made homeless, with a property loss of $300,000,000. A few months later Valparaiso was destroyed by earth shocks and a conflagration. Two thousand inhabitants were killed and a monetary loss of $250,000,000 resulted. Within four days from the first earth shock the region for hundreds of miles around Valparaiso was visited by 382 quakes, in which the towns of Los Andes and Melphilla, with an aggregate population of 13,000, were destroyed with their inhabitants. Santiago, Chile, lost 55 persons killed and suffered $1,500,000 damage.

In 1907 came the disaster of Kingston, Jamaica, in which over 1,000 lives were lost and $25,000,000 damage done. Cartago, Costa Rica, lost 1,500 lives in 1910 from an earthquake, and in Turkey in 1912 3,000 persons perished, while 4,600 were made homeless in a similar disaster.

Last year Sakura, Japan, was visited by an earthquake and the eruption of a volcano, which caused much property damage, but did not result in a large loss of life. Last May in Sicily 200 persons were killed and 1,000 injured.

LIKE A TRAIN OVER BRIDGE

and his horses were blinded by the dust. Soon he saw survivors struggling to make their way from the city. Many had received injuries and were dragging themselves through the dust and confusion in pitiable plight. Some were so weak they fell by the roadside. The objective of the refugees was the railroad station, which was soon crowded with half-frantic men, women and children.

Before the driver left the vicinity, organized efforts were being made to convey the most severely wounded to nearby hospitals.

Dead at Avezzano.

London, Jan. 14.—The dead at Avezzano are estimated at 15,000 by the correspondent of the Express in Rome. In his story of the earthquake he says that the shocks were felt with varying results throughout the whole district between Rome and Naples. In Rome, he declares, it is established that there was no loss of life although many ancient works and buildings were severely damaged.

"The serious loss of life occurred outside of Rome," the Express correspondent continues, "especially in the mountain towns on the road to Naples. The towns entirely destroyed include Bussi, Scurcola, Capelle, Magliano and Cappadocia. The shock was severe in Naples, but the damage is slight.

"The heaviest casualties undoubtedly occurred at Avezzano, where 15,000 persons are reported buried in the ruins."

House Rules Adopted.

The house agreed to its rules this forenoon without a fight, the representatives of the Gordon and Flowers factions having met last evening and agreed upon every detail. One amendment requires a majority of the whole house instead of a majority of those present to suspend proceedings under a call of the house; another restores the privilege of excepting a defeated bill from the report of the committee of the whole and getting a recorded vote upon it; a third provides for a record vote in committee meetings on demand of any committee member.

Representative Spooner of Morris introduced in the house this morning a resolution providing for a special committee of fifteen to handle the report of the efficiency and economy committee, no standing committee having been provided for, by agreement. The special committee will have power to compel testimony. Mr. Spooner said he had hoped to have a joint committee representing both houses, but the senate having acted without reference to that plan he would drop his resolution introduced last week calling for a joint committee.

Among the house appointments announced by Speaker Flowers was that of George Taufman of Duluth as page of the house.

Bills by Peterson.

Senator G. H. Peterson of Duluth will soon introduce bills relieving merchants from payment of fees for state inspections of weights and measures, and making more definite the requirement that food products must be sold by weight.

* * *

Senator Campbell of Minneapolis introduced a bill repealing the law authorizing voting machines, claiming the machines were rigged against him in the last election.

* * *

Senator Benson introduced a constitutional amendment lengthening probate judges' terms to four years.

* * *

Senator Denegre of St. Paul, introduced a bill authorizing first-class cities to sell bonds at higher rates than the charters allow.

* * *

Senator W. A. Campbell introduced a bill increasing death benefits under workmen's compensation act.

* * *

Senator J. D Sullivan introduced resolutions calling on the board of control for a statement of architects' fees paid the last three years, and the amount of Minnesota stone used in state buildings.

* * *

The senate adjourned to tomorrow and the house may adjourn to Monday.

Delegation Organizes.

The St. Louis county delegation met this noon and organized for the session by electing Representative E. R. Ribenack of Duluth, chairman, and C. T. Murphy of Aurora, secretary. It was decided not to adopt the unit rule. The meeting was entirely harmonious.

ate, on or before Feb. 1, 1915, a statement of the total amount requested or required, together with an itemized statement thereof, with a brief explanation of the purpose and necessity for each item and the period during which the same is to be expended, and in case any appropriation has been made for any such item by the legislature of the state of Minnesota at or since the session of 1909, or in case any expenditure of state funds has been made for any such purpose or item since Jan. 1, 1909, such statement shall show the amount so expended or appropriated in each year and for what purposes, and if any increase in any item is requested a brief explanation of the reason therefor shall be included therein. Such statement shall be made in duplicate and one of such duplicates shall be immediately delivered by the secretary of the senate to the chairman of the finance committee. As soon as may be after Feb. 1 the secretary of the senate and chairman of the finance committee shall compile an abstract of all such statements in convenient form for reference and shall cause said abstract to be printed as a part of and bound with the Journal of the senate, and also cause to be printed such additional copies thereof for distribution as may be ordered by the senate. Every such statement shall be indorsed by the official head of every such department, bureau, commission, association or society with his or their recommendation concerning the same.

"On or the first legislative day after March 15, 1915, the committee on finance shall report to the senate an abstract of all requests for appropriations from individuals, firms or corporations having claims against the state or requesting appropriations upon any account, together with a brief explanation of the reasons therefor and the views of the committee in reference thereto.

"Each bill providing for an appropriation, except for legislative expenses, shall remain on general orders at least five (5) days before being recommended for passage by the committee of the whole.

"Every bill providing for any appropriation, except for legislative expenses, shall be reported upon by the finance committee on or before the twentieth legislative day prior to the last day of the session."

Habit-Forming Drugs.

The bill regulating the sale of habit-forming drugs introduced in the house the other day by Representative Frank E. Nimocks of Minneapolis is about as drastic a measure as could be imagined, and if it is passed, as seems likely, it can be made the basis for a crusade against the abuse of such drugs that should go far to wipe it out.

There has been an alarming increase in the use of drugs in the Twin Cities recently, and the Nimocks bill has had the approval of many public officials, druggists' organizations and civic bodies that have become interested in the problem of curbing the drug evil.

The bill amends the present cocaine law, broadening it to cover eucaine, morphine, chloral, heroin, opium and any derivatives of these drugs.

No druggist can sell any such drug except on the written prescription of a physician, which must give the date and the name and address of the person prescribed for and must be signed by the physician. The druggist who fills the prescription must affix his own name and address and the date of filling, and must keep the prescription on file for three years in a book open to the inspection of all public authorities including health authorities and the grand jury.

No physician can prescribe a habit-forming drug for the victim of a drug habit except on consultation with two other reputable physicians. Wholesale dealers must also keep full records of sales, also open to inspection. Violation of any provision of the bill is made a felony, punishable by one to five years in state prison, a fine of $100 to $1,000 or both such fine and imprisonment.

The Election Laws.

There has been so far much less talk about the primary and other election laws than was expected, though there is plenty of time yet for much of it. No determined spirit to slay the primary law has made its appearance, though there is considerable talk among Republicans of devising a scheme for arranging for party conventions, at least to make platforms if not to pick candidates to be submitted at the primary elections.

This convention proposal is supplementary to the primary law, not in lieu of it, however, and so far not a soul has threatened to repeal it.

SAMUEL D. WORKS SUCCEEDS PREUS

Appointed By Governor Hammond to Be Insurance Commissioner.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Hammond announced three appointments yesterday afternoon:

For insurance commissioner, Samuel D. Works of St. Paul, succeeding J. A. O. Preus, now state auditor.

For state librarian, Elias J. Lien, reappointed.

For dairy and food commissioner, James J. Farrell of Carver, succeeding Joel G. Winkjer.

Mr. Works last evening announced the appointment of Moses Winthrop of Minneapolis as his deputy.

It has been generally understood for some time that Senator Works would be appointed insurance commissioner. He is a former member of the state senate, and was active in the Hammond campaign.

Important appointments yet to come include that of member of the tax commission to succeed J. G. Armson of Stillwater, whose term expires, and that of member of the state board of control to succeed Charles E. Vasaly of Little Falls. Mr. Vasaly's term does not expire until April.

Albert Lea, Minn., Jan. 14.—Willie Brant, 13 years old, St. Paul; Walter Vanderford, 16 years old, Faribault; Lester McCord, 15 years old, Thief River Falls, and Roy White, 14 years old, who had escaped from the school for feeble minded at Faribault early Sunday night, were caught at Walters, just south of here, Monday and were brought here, cold and half starved. The boys said they made their escape from the institution by jumping from a window, and then walked to Owatonna.

FURIOUS FIGHTING HAS BEEN RESUMED IN RUSSIAN POLAND

their attempts to retake the hill. In fact, it is said that General Von Kluck himself is now in command of the German forces, which would seem to lift the battle out of the ordinary run of conflicts along the western battle front.

Farther east, near Perthes, where another sharp fight is still in progress, the situation has not changed materially, judging from dispatches received here.

Turks in Foreground.

In the eastern theater of war, in the absence of any radical developments in Poland and Galicia, the Turkish operations hold the foreground of interest with the much heralded but equally doubted reports of a Turkish advance into Egypt, said to be virtually ready, and with the occupation by Turkey of Tabriz in the Russian sphere of influence in Persia.

This city of 200,000 population apparently was taken without fighting. In view of the fact that the small Russian garrison maintained in Tabriz in times of peace had been withdrawn, it is believed that the sufferers by the occupation, if any, are the Armenians, whom the Kurds constituting the Turkish advance guard are always ready to attack.

Invasion Continues.

Today's dispatches from Petrograd say that the Turkish invasion of Persia continues and that the Turks are penetrating farther into the country.

The Russians still claim to hold the upper hand in the fighting in the Caucasus, in the vicinity of Karaurgan, but also lack of details suggests that the battle, which has now been in progress for seven days, has not yet resulted decisively for either side.

The principal feature of today's news in London is the resignation of Count Von Berchtold, the Austrian foreign minister. Some maintain that his action indicates that a crisis in the affairs of the dual monarchy is at hand. Others suggest that the appointment of Baron Stephan Burian Von Rajecz to Von Berchtold's place is a move to placate the dissatisfied Hungarians.

French Statement.

Paris, Jan. 14, 2:40 p. m.—The French official statement on the progress of the war, given out this afternoon, shows the fighting yesterday north of Soissons was most determined. The French could make no material progress on the left side of their Soissons line; they held their positions on the center, and were compelled to yield on their right. The French troops are described also as taking up positions on the south bank of the River Aisne.

Spirited artillery exchanges continued yesterday at other points on the battle front.

The text of the communication follows:

"In Belgium the firing of our artillery was interfered with by the fog; nevertheless the cannonading yesterday was very spirited in the vicinity of Steenstraat and around Ypres. Certain detachments of Belgian troops blew up, at a point to the southwest of Stuyvekenskerke, the buildings on a farm which were serving the enemy as a depot for his ammunition.

"Between the Lys and the Oise, in the region of Lens, our artillery were successful in dispersing a group of German pioneers on the outskirts of the hamlet of Angres, and it bombarded effectively the German trenches to the southeast of the capital of Notre Dame De Lorette.

"To the north of Soissons there was determined fighting all day yesterday. The engagement was localized to a section of ground situated to the north of Crouy. We hold only the first slopes of these hills. On our left in this field our counter-attack made slight progress, but without succeeding in recording a material advance. On the center we retained our positions around the village of Crouy in spite of repeated efforts of the enemy to dislodge us, but on the east, in front of Vregny, we were obliged to yield.

"The flood stage of the River Aisne has carried away several of the bridges as well as some of the temporary foot bridges which we threw across the river. The lines of communication for our troops were consequently made uncertain. Under these conditions we established ourselves on the south bank of the river in the region between Crouy and Missy, with bridge heads on the north bank in our possession.

"Along the remainder of the front on the River Aisne there was yesterday nothing more than artillery exchanges.

"In Champagne the region of Perthes continued to be the scene of local engagements for the possession of German trenches on the second and third line of defense. To the north of Beausejour, we blew up some of the enemy's positions to make impossible his laying of mines. The Germans, believing they were being attacked, manned their trenches. We then opened a violent artillery and infantry fire on these positions.

"There is nothing to report on the rest of the front."

German Statement.

Berlin, Jan. 14, by wireless to London, 3:45 p. m.—The war office gave out today the following statement:

"In the western theater of the war, in the dunes near Nieuport and southwest of Ypres, artillery combats are going on. The enemy directed an extremely strong fire on Westende which they soon will have entirely destroyed. Their torpedo boats disappeared quickly as soon as they received our fire.

"In continuation of their activities on Jan. 8, northeast of Soissons, our troops again made an attack on the heights of Vregny and cleared this elevated plain of the enemy. In a pouring rain and deeply sodden clay, trench after trench was taken by storm until dark, and the enemy was driven back to the border of the elevated plain. Fourteen French officers and 1,130 men were taken prisoners and four cannon, four machine guns and a searchlight were captured, a brilliant feat for our troops, under the very eyes of their uppermost war lords.

"Northeast of the camp of Chalons the French attacked again yesterday in the morning and afternoon with strong forces to the east of Perthes. They penetrated at certain places our trenches but were repulsed by energetic counter-attacks and driven back with heavy losses into their own positions, leaving 160 prisoners in our hands.

"In the Argonne and the Vosges nothing of importance has occurred.

"In the eastern theater of war Russian attacks to the southeast of Gumbinnen (East Prussia) and to the east of Lowtzen have been repulsed, and many hundreds of prisoners have been taken.

"The situation in Northern Poland is the same.

"Our attacks west of the Vistula are being continued. Nothing of importance has occurred on the eastern bank of the Pilica."

Russian Statement.

Petrograd, Jan. 14.—The official statement issued by the general staff of the commander in chief last night follows:

"Cannon and rifle fire prevailed on the night of Jan. 12 all along our front. Engagements of more importance took place in some districts on the road followed by our vanguard column advancing in the region to the east of Rosog, East Prussia.

"Our troops, having repulsed the enemy's cavalry supported by infantry, occupied several villages, one of which, strongly fortified, could only be cleared of Germans by a bayonet attack. To the southwest of Mlawa, we advanced in the direction of Radzanowa. On the front comprising Kozlow, Biskupe, Zakrzew and Sucha, the Germans, after having prepared the ground by an intense artillery fire, made an offensive movement against the southern section of this front. We, however, repulsed them easily.

"In the region of Borjimow, Galmino, Wolia and Szedlowska, the enemy made many unsuccessful attacks. The Germans in their advance against Galmino tried to take cover under shields.

"In the region to the south of the Morhely farm, the enemy delivered a series of attacks, all of which were easily repulsed."

DEFECTIVE PAGE

Woman's Realm

"John says it will ruin the city," said the bride of a month, as she nibbled at a wafer, during a lull in the "just-drop-in-and-bring-your-sewing-afternoon."

"Nonsense," said the Young Matron. "Jim says that municipal ownership is a good thing. He says that if we have a lighting plant we can get our electricity for nothing, and the profits of the plant will pay all our taxes."

"But how are we to have any profits if we get the light free?" queried the attorney's wife, with a reflection of her husband's best witness stand attitude.

"I don't know any of the details," said the Young Matron, "but that's what Jim told me, and he has studied the subject thoroughly, and read all the literature sent out and all the newspaper articles."

"My bill was so small I didn't bother paying it at all," said the Bride of a Month.

The attorney's wife looked at her coldly, disdaining such unbusinesslike methods.

"No wonder," said the Young Matron, "you and your lovey-dovey sit in the same room together all evening, and most of the time have only one light or none at all."

The Bride was still new enough to blush.

"Just look at what they did in Winnipeg," said the Young Matron, hopping to her subject enthusiastically. "Why up there they paid for the plant out of the profits in two years, and then gave away electricity free to the poor people. They didn't charge hardly anything for it, and whenever you come out short all you have to do is to issue bonds, Jim says."

The attorney's wife stopped sewing. "Ah," she said, pointing her finger at the Young Matron, "but don't you realize there is a duty on electricity in this country. Over there they can buy forty bicycle current free of duty, but here we have to buy sixty bicycle electricity, and the trust owns it all, and we have to pay duty on it."

The Young Matron was silenced, for a moment.

"But they didn't in New Orleans," she said. "Jim says they give away electricity in New Orleans because the city owns the plant. And they have a lovely bond issue that the city gets interest on besides. New Orleans is in this country, isn't it?"

"That wasn't the experience they had in Atlanta," said the attorney's wife, coldly. "Down there they had to put the city through bankruptcy, because the lighting plant lost so much money. They had to sell the school buildings to pay the taxes. John said that no business man would invest money in Atlanta because they were afraid they couldn't get enough electricity, as the city plant was always breaking down."

"I don't know anything about Atlanta," said the Young Matron stiffly, as she rose to go, "but they certainly got cheap lights in Pasadena. I know because my sister's husband used to live there, and he told her his bills were lower than they are now."

"Yes," insisted the Attorney's Wife, following the Young Matron to the door, "but you know why, don't you. In Pasadena it is so much cheaper to make electricity. In that warm climate it is much cheaper than in a cold climate like Duluth. They can make it for about a tenth of what it costs here."

The Young Matron fled precipitately.

"My," said the Hostess, who hitherto had taken no part in the debate, "You know an awful lot about the lighting discussion. Where did you learn it all?"

"I didn't," said the attorney's wife, smiling, "I just make it up as I go along. It is lots of fun. I can get any kind of statistics I want, by just inventing them. I argue with my husband every night about it, until he gets mad and quits, because I know more statistics than he does. He doesn't guess that I invent them as I go along. They all sound so silly anyway, that I though I could make some of my own just as good as his."

"Isn't she clever," said the Bride. "Now John—"

"Please forget John," said the Attorney's Wife. "You haven't quoted anybody but John this afternoon."

The lighting question is being discussed over the teacups in Duluth.

FRENCH PROGRAM GIVEN.

Cecilian Society Meets at the Home of Mrs. W. C. Winton.

"French Music" was the subject of the meeting of the Cecilian society held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. C. Winton, 1509 East First street. Mrs. E. F. Burg was the assisting hostess and Mrs. S. P. Stocker was the leader.

A sketch of Daudet's "L'Arlesienne" was given and Mrs. W. C. Sargent and Mrs. Carl Anderson gave duets of incidental music for the play. Mrs. Bruce Ter Bush played a cello obligato for Mrs. Winton's vocal number, "Elegie," by Massenet; Mrs. Louis Dworshak played a piano number, Debussy's "Reverie;" Mrs. Leo Bail sang an aria from Massenet's "Herodiade," and Mrs. Harry Strong gave a piano solo, "Pan," by Godard.

Trios, Barcarolle from Offenbach's "Les Contes d'Hoffman" and Pierne's "Serenade" were given by Miss Emily Smith, violinist; Mrs. Ter Bush, cellist, and Mrs. Stocker, pianist.

Flonzaleys Will Play.

The members of the Flonzaley String quartet, who will appear this evening at the First Methodist church at 8:15 o'clock under the auspices of the Matinee Musicale, persist in their faithfulness to practice even in the cramped quarters of a Pullman car. In their stateroom they rehearse their programs effectively, if not conveniently. The Flonzaleys are great travelers, as their tours cover not only the entire United States, but all the civilized musical countries on the other side of the Atlantic.

A critic has said of them: "It is almost uncanny—the degree to which they succeed. One would swear that there is only one player on the stage. The eye belies the thought and you notice that, however much they play like one, each is an entity as different from the other as the 'cello is different from the viola, or the viola from the violins. Yet it is amazing to observe how one player takes the lead during a brief portion of a phrase, only to retire in favor of another."

At the concert this evening the Third street doors of the church will be used.

MALTESE TERRIER AT HEAD OF HIS CLASS

MRS. J. G ROSSMAN.

At the toy dog show Mrs. J. G. Rossman's "Sweetslr of Dyker" won the prize for the best Maltese Terrier.

PIANO TEACHERS MEET.

Round Table of Matinee Musicale Discusses Classics for Children.

"Musical Classics for Children" was the general subject at yesterday's meeting of the Piano Teachers' Round Table of the Matinee Musicale. The opinion of the majority was that a child should be given the best music in a simple form, a little at a time, as his taste as well as his technique should be considered.

Miss Ida Botten read "The Study of Bach," a paper that was presented at the state convention of music teachers in Minneapolis last June by Donald Ferguson. The paper was obtained by Mrs. K. W. Ostergren, the chairman of the department.

Howard-Thompson.

On the anniversary of her grandparents' wedding Miss Leola Howard, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. George Franklin Howard of St. Paul, became the bride of Mark J. Thompson of Duluth. The ceremony was performed Tuesday evening by Rev. Thomas A. Printon at the home of the bride's parents in the presence of the immediate family, the bride and bridegroom standing before the fireplace that was transformed into an altar of ferns, smilax, narcissi and white roses.

The bride, who entered alone, wore a white satin gown made with a train. The overdrapery was of imported chiffon embroidered in the national flower of Switzerland. Her veil, which fell to the hem of her skirt, was arranged with a cap of duchess lace, and pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Nina Howard was her sister's maid of honor and her only attendant. She wore pale apricot colored crepe de chine trimmed with chantilly lace and carried an arm bouquet of sunburst roses.

Francis A. Cornea of Glencoe, a college classmate of the bride and bridegroom, was the best man and James W. Thompson of Minneapolis was the usher.

The ceremony was followed by a reception for about 125 guests. Receiving with the members of the bridal party were the parents of the bride and James Thompson, an uncle of the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson are graduates of the college of agriculture of the University of Minnesota of the 1911 class. The bride is a member of the Phi Upsilon Omicron sorority of the home economics department and the bridegroom is an Alpha Zeta and a Sigma Xi.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson left for a trip to New Orleans and Galveston. They will be at home after May 1 at the Northeast Experiment station in Duluth.

Circuit of Stock Companies.

Duluth is now part of a circuit of stock companies.

Walter G. Baldwin is now in Atlanta, where he is opening a new stock company to be operated by the Klaw & Erlanger interests. The opening performance will be given on Jan. 24, and "Our Wives," which is being used here this week, will be the attraction. Later a company will be opened by Mr. Baldwin at Birmingham, and he has already installed one at New Orleans, which is having a successful run. These three companies, in conjunction with one at Chicago, will work in harmony with the Duluth company in securing new plays for stock purposes, and will give the local company much better facilities for getting high-class attractions. The Duluth company will remain absolutely independent of the others, but will co-operate with them only in getting the rights to plays.

Will Reopen Empress.

The Empress theater will be reopened during the latter part of the month.

Manager Abrahamson has made arrangements for a musical stock company to occupy the theater, presenting musical comedies. The plans for securing a franchise on the burlesque circuit fell through because of a disagreement as to the guarantee to be demanded from the Duluth theater, and musical comedy will hold the boards at the Empress.

Dramatic Critics Turn Actors.

One of the bright comedy spots of this week's program at the Orpheum is the original travesty offered by Waldemar Young and William Jacobs, assisted by Miss Ethyl McFarland, entitled "When Caesar Ran a Paper," wherein modern slang phrases and modern newspaper methods are intermingled with the "Ye Gods" and the "Thees and Thous" and the style of dress of Caesar's day. Mr. Young and Mr. Jacobs were both newspaper men of San Francisco, and wrote dramatic criticisms for two of the leading California dailies, and conceived the idea of their present vaudeville venture, which is an unusually clever burlesque. The piece abounds with clever lines and choice comedy.

Duluthian Breaks in.

Dr. David Henry Day's one-act play, "A Pair of Crooks," will be produced by the Baldwin Players next week.

Early last fall Walter G. Baldwin, Sr., read the play and agreed to produce it as a curtain raiser, buth the company closed its fall engagement before this could be done. With the opening of the winter engagement, Mr. Baldwin, Jr., again took up the sketch, and next week it will be used as a curtain raiser to the three-act comedy "Lost Twenty-four Hours." The sketch is a political melodrama, calling for a cast of four people.

New Bill at the Grand.

The new bill at the Grand this afternoon promises a diverting array of vaudeville talent. Nick Santora, a prize ring laddy whom boxing fans will remember as having achieved considerable celebrity in the fall of 1908, has turned actor and will be seen in a clever little skit, "Marty Hogan's Win." The playlet has for its climax a three-round bout. Five people appear in the piece with Santora and the action is said to be replete with sensational episodes and heart interest. Bensee and Baird offer a humorous Scotch turn. The woman is a winsome young artist who trills some songs and does some dainty dances including the fling. Their voices are above the ordinary, and as comedians they score. A lively juggling act is that of William De Hollis and company. The Imperial Japs, three of them, offer a clever balancing act concluded with a backward slide for life by one of the company from the topmost point in the gallery to the stage. It is a daring and thrilling spectacle. The Hearst Selig News contains an exceptionally interesting number of war pictures and other views of interest. "The Escape on the Limited," one of the Helen Holmes series of railroad stories; "The Plot," a Vitagraph drama with plenty of heart interest and "She Landed a Big One," an Essanay comedy are among the photoplays.

"Wives of the Rich."

"Wives of the Rich," the latest offering of Claude Gillingwater, author-actor, is to be one of the headline features of the next week's bill at the Orpheum. Mr. Gillingwater's last appearance on the legitimate stage was as "Father" in "The Only Son." Some of the other plays which he has contributed to Broadway are: "The Strenuous Rehearsal," "Five Thousand Dollar Reward," "The Awakening of Minlar Reward," "The Awakening of Minlar Cerva," "The Wrong Man," "The Cacherva," "The Wrong Man," "The Cacher's Secret" and "The Man From Buck's Secret" and "The Man From Buck's Klondike." Mr. Gillingwater in his vaudeville offering has a company of six, which includes Miss Edith Lyle, who formerly played the leading role in Klaw & Erlanger's production of "The Winning of Barbara Worth."

Another feature of the bill will be Miss Ray Samuels, "The Blue Streak of Vaudeville."

"Custer's Last Scout."

"Custer's Last Scout," a two-reel Indian and military drama, the story of which is told before the camera by Alfred L. Chapman, an aged veteran of the Dakota Indian fights and the last surviving witness of Custer's last stand, will be shown at Zelda theater today, tomorrow and Saturday. The action of the story, told by Scout Chapman, is re-enacted by all the great company of 101 Bison players, including hundreds of Indians and cavalry men in costume. A real descendant of Chief-Rain-in-the-Face, a aant of Chief-Rain-in-the-Face, a graduate of the Carlisle Indian school, plays the role of his ancestor in the drama of Custer's massacre. The action of "Custer's Last Scout" takes place in 1876, when our Indian wards decided to exterminate the white soldiers. Gen. George A. Custer is in command at Fort Lincoln, with him as chief scout is Alfred L. Chapman. Washington hears of this and Custer receives orders to pacify the red men. To that end he takes with him the Seventh cavalry and starts after the Indians. Chapman is sent ahead but is unfortunate enough to fall into the hands of the Indians, who submit to the usual tests for cowardice. After an interval, Chapman escapes his captors and heads back to rejoin his command. Underestimating the force of the Indians, Custer splits his command, sending Capt. Bates and a troop up Little Big Horn.

Custer and his troop go down river, leaving Reno and his men at a fixed post. The plans of attack call for a simultaneous movement from three sides. Reno, however, is drawn into an ambush and loses nearly half of his command. Bates is cut off and Custer, unaware of these events, advances upon the Indians. His attack proves a failure, for the Indians are massed and he is compelled to fight a hand to hand conflict.

"A Pair of Sixes."

One of the reasons for the success of "A Pair of Sixes," which H. H. Frazee sends to the Lyceum next week, is the fact that the plot furnishes one unending surprise and as Mark Twain once defined laughter as a spasm indiced by a sudden shock or surprise, the inference is that there is considerable laughter at the unusual situations in "A Pair of Sixes." When the comedy was first suggested, there was dissent from the wise ones and some concern as to whether the title would draw full houses. The wisdom of the author has been demonstrated. The never-ending complications resulting from the use of the little pair of sixes causes laughter and merriment unrestrained and surprises and shocks are so frequent that the average audience finds it difficult to regain its equilibrium.

"The Sign of the Cross."

Wilson Barrett and a mammoth supporting cast, appear on the screen at the Rex theater tonight in a stupendous film version of the famous dramatic triumph, "The Sign of the Cross," by Wilson Barrett.

The play is, foremost, a work of the imagination, yet strengthened and emphasized by the grim realities that inspired it. The play brings out the gorgeous pageantry of Paganism into sharp and clear relief against the towering dignity and primitive simplicity of the early Christian faith, and even discloses the plot and license of self-indulgent Rome, as it were at the very feet of the ascent to Calvary.

The motion picture version is naturally more elaborate and detailed than the original stage production of the play, and the great Roman gardens, baths, palaces and forums, with their incidental wealth of costume and settings, enrich the production and make it a faithful copy of the times and environments it typifies.

THE HAIR THAT ARTISTS ADMIRE

Ask an aritst what he considers the chief charm of beautiful hair and he will answer that he looks for even color, brilliance and a looseness that eliminates any hard, definite lines. Naturally beautiful and healthy hair are obtained by retaining a perfectly clean head. In washing the hair it is not advisable to use a makeshift, but always use a preparation made for shampooing only. You can enjoy the best that is known for about three cents a shampoo by getting a package of canthrox from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.—Advertisement.

OBSERVATIONS

—By PEGGY PEABODY—

Uplift the Morals of the Stage.

In view of the promiscuous attendance of the old and young at theatrical and moving picture performances, good, bad and indifferent, it seems as though it might be to the interests of all cities and towns to keep a closer guard on the moral tone of the plays to which young people of the susceptible age are admitted.

There is positively no way of estimating the harm done the young of both sexes by their freedom to attend anything in the way of entertainment, irrespective of whether it is or is not fit for youthful minds.

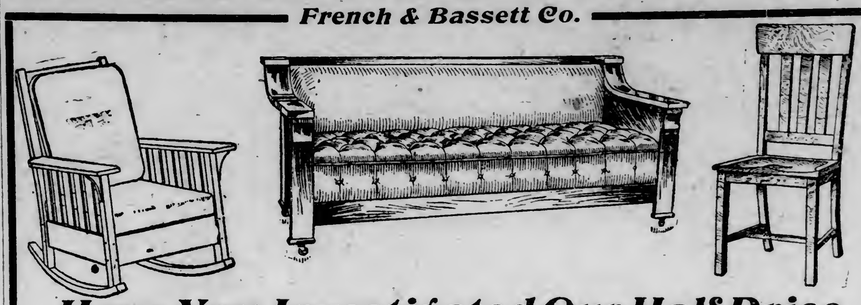

Some plays are not fit for anyone to witness, but, of course, unless some law is enacted to suppress the indecent ones, it is impossible to withhold admission to people who have reached manhood and womanhood and are supposed to have ideas of right and wrong firmly imbedded in their minds. Even those of us of strong opinions and some comprehension of the real workings of the "butterfly life," as it is called, have on occasions been carried away by the beauty and cleverness of some stage heroine in her portrayal of a wronged and wronging woman, until we have developed quite a little sympathy. Once out under the stars in the clear night air, however, the illusion is dispelled and the whole thing becomes nauseating.

It is not so with every man and woman who attends a theater, though. Some of these go away envying the actors and actresses, their play adventures and triumphs, both good and bad, their beautiful clothes and the easy, happy existence they seem to lead. It is all very real to them, and they are so ignorant of what constitutes real happiness, that many of the methods adopted by the players, in working out the interests of the play, seem to them well worth imitating in real life.

The very worst feature of these theatrical performances of questionable moral tone rests in the admittance of school girls and boys. No line is drawn and unless their parents interfere to some purpose, they are permitted to absorb some very harmful ideas of the way vice is cloaked and accepted, if not as virtue, then as something that answers the purpose.

Sooner or later, if some of these over ambitious producers and "under-moraled" playwrights continue to seek for success in America there will be some general movement along the lines of censorship which will be drastic, to say the least.

FEELING "TOO WELL."

Professor Bishop of the medical department of Fordham university has started the scientists and others to talking by issuing a warning against "feeling too well."

When a man feels the best, he says, then he is in the greatest danger. If you wake up in the morning well rested and with a good appetite for breakfast, and ready to do a big and hard day's work, look out! The best thing to do then is to chase right off and see the doctor, or else go back to bed and send for the doctor to come and see you.

Tut, tut, professor! What kind of talk is this? Are we to become a nation of hypochondriacs just because we are not, as a people, addicted to ill health? Or are we to try to increase the business of the medical profession and drug stores by filling our systems with drugs and stimulants and narcotics just when we are the most comfortable without these agents?

"Look out!" says the professor. Look out for what, pray tell? Apparently he would have us look out for death. But is that anything new? Is it not the common lot of mankind to die, sooner or later? And can any man say that he will not die on any particular day or within any particular time? Is it not true that quite as many deaths occur at times when the person is not feeling well as at times when the person does feel well?

Forget it, professor. Let us enjoy good health and comfort when we have it, or think we have it. Don't make us uncomfortable when we might just as well be comfortable. Don't try to spoil the happiness and satisfaction of "feeling like a fighting cock," when we might revel in that feeling.

We must die sooner or later, of course. We all understand that. And the best we can do is to be ready for death at any time, whether we feel well or not. But that is no reason we should think of death just when we are the happiest, and he who is wise will tell Professor Bishop to keep such theories to himself, and let the professor's friends drink to his long life and continuous illness.

Republican senators are objecting to having the president tell them what to do. Perhaps they are more accustomed to getting their instructions from outside the visible government.

MAKE IT A MARK OF HONOR.

Much attention has been given the proposal to emphasize American manufactures by labeling goods produced in this country "Made in America." More recently the phrase has been modified to "Made in U. S. A.," and under this change the proposal is gaining still wider attention.

In the Dry Goods Economist for January 9 the proposal is given the heartiest of indorsement, coupled with a warning that all goods so labeled should be of the best quality for their kind, and that it should be a matter of personal pride and patriotism on the part of the makers to see that they came up to that standard.

Whether it is made a matter of patriotism or not, there can be no question that any article labeled with the words "Made in U. S. A." ought to be of first class quality, not only for the benefit of foreign trade, but for the guidance of American buyers. It takes only one experience with poor goods that are advertised as good to turn a possible customer into an active detractor. How often have you heard a neighbor say, "I tried that once, and—never again"? How often have you heard one say, "I bought some stuff there once, and I'll never give them another chance to sting me"?

Suppose you were a German or English or Italian or South American business man and you were persuaded to buy something from an American firm, though you had always traded with other nations. If the goods bought failed to come up to specifications, would you ever buy American made goods again if you could possibly get what you wanted somewhere else? Not by a good deal! And other men are like yourself in this.

But suppose there were some way that a check could be put on the misuse of the label "Made in U. S. A." so that only goods of standard quality, or at least that were all they were represented to be, should be entitled to bear that label—think what an impetus it would give to American trade abroad, and still more to the manufacture and sale of reliable goods in this country. How long would it be before people began to demand articles bearing that label, and to refuse all others? And what chance would any business house have of success if it came to be known that its products were not sufficiently reliable to be entitled to the American label?

Here is a plan, for example, that with some possible modifications might be found to work well:

Let congress adopt the label "Made in U. S. A." as a national trademark. Then give the department of commerce power to forbid the use of that trademark on the products of any manufacturer whose goods failed to come up to all that was claimed for them. It need not take an army of inspectors to handle the matter, for the matter of complaints about goods could safely be left with the consumers themselves, just as today a victim of a fraud perpetrated through use of the mails can complain to the postoffice department and have the matter looked into. But in the case of goods there is clearer evidence right at hand than is often to be found in postal frauds, and it is probable that there would have to be but little change in the present government machinery to handle such a proposition.

Accompany this plan with the fullest publicity, and how long would it take the people themselves to put a commercial straight jacket on the manufacturer who failed to live up to the ideal of the label?

Perhaps the suggestion is idle, but at any rate it seems worth considering. At least it would be a material help to the honest manufacturer by helping to expose the maker of under grade goods.

Will the Italians take this earthquake as a punishment for not getting into the war, or as a warning to keep out of it?

SUFFRAGE BEATEN AGAIN.

The woman suffrage question has been beaten again at Washington, and some of its advocates are grievously disappointed. Why there should be disappointment it is hard to understand, for surely nobody conversant with the situation had any idea that the resolution would pass the house. Its defeat was a foregone conclusion and insistence on its submission seemed to many a tactical error, as its defeat might be construed as weakening the cause.

But there is no reason for deep disappointment among the suffrage advocates. Rather they should be glad the plan was rejected, for now their way is the clearer for the campaigns in the different states, and it is in the state campaigns they have heretofore won their greatest advances.

Woman suffrage is coming, as surely as anything can be predicted. It is rather a question of education, now, than of fighting against strenuous opposition to the principle. And that educational work can be carried on better state by state than it can as a national propaganda. It has succeeded admirably in many states, and is getting farther and farther in others. Indeed, it seems very probable that the state by state method will bring nation-wide woman suffrage in considerably shorter time than would the national method, with its long waiting upon the separate states for confirmatory action.

And it is better that it should be taken up as a state measure, because this is one of those questions so intimately affecting the individual that to make a law governing it without giving the voters a chance to pass directly on the proposition would be to run the greatest risk of imposing the will of a minority on a majority of the people.

The Herald favors woman suffrage, and believes that it will come when the people are ready for that step. But we also believe the suffragists are to be congratulated rather than condoned with on account of the failure to get congressional action, because with the states acting separately on it, it will come not only as the expressed will of the majority, but in all probability much sooner than it could by the national method.

"Look out when you feel well," says a professor. Usually it's more advisable for the other fellow to look out when you feel well.

Yes, How Does It?

Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph: The lady of the house was explaining things to the new maid.

"An' what's this, missus?" asked the girl, indicating a metal bottle.

"That is a bottle which will keep things either hot or cold whichever you desire," replied the mistress.

"Well, foh the land sake?" ejaculated the girl. "How is it gwine to know whether you want things hot or cold?"

As It Looks From Japan

Editorial in the Springfield Republican.

A Japanese writer in the Japan Times is amazed by appeals for divine aid in the Christian countries at war. He is not surprised that war should quicken religion, for fighters in all lands have been firm believers in their religion, whatever it might be. But Christians have the same religion, and must be supposed to have a higher conception of it than formerly: "Of all religions, Christianity claims to be divine in origin and to be founded preeminently on love, good will, justice and righteousness. How can Christians then tolerate war and yet be true to their religion?"

It is an awkward dilemma which Christian missionaries have had to deal with as best they can. The writer in the Japan Times lends a helping hand, but only to withdraw it as soon as offered. Perhaps, he suggests, it is tolerated as a righteous war, a war of justice against injustice. But in trying to follow up this line he finds that Christian neutrals, who should be in the best position to judge, do not appear to know which side is in the right: "If the really right side wins it would be by its might, not by the justice of its cause, and that would be a retrogression of Christian religion."

Even when the war is over, he fears, this "unreasoning religious devotion to their countries" will keep hatred alive, which would mean international distrust and secret intrigues involving the risk of further disturbances: "To avoid such a turn of affairs, the belligerents' prayer should be that fervently as they supplicate for the victory of their country, they would resign themselves to what the war brings them as God's wise dispensation and not harbor ill-will after the restoration of peace." Possibly this Japanese writer is not aware that this would be a return to the older Christianity, or rather to the Teutonized Christianity of the age of chivalry and the ordeal by combat as exhibited in "Lohengrin."

Single combat was indeed viewed by the humane in the Middle Ages as a divine institution and a merciful substitute for war. "Whatever is acquired by single combat," argues Dante in the "De Monachia," "is acquired with right." "When we have exhausted all other ways of obtaining justice in a dispute, we may finally turn to this remedy by single combat, compelled thereto by the necessity of justice." But the combatants should enter the field by common consent, "not in hatred, or in love, but in a pure spirit of justice." If so, "are they not met in the name of God, and is not God in the midst of them? And if justice cannot fall in single combat, is not that which is acquired by single combat acquired by right?"

It seems crude and primitive reasoning to the twentieth century, but at the present moment is the twentieth century in a position to smile at its unsophistication? If the ordeal by single combat is absurd, what shall we say of the spectacle which so disturbs this Japanese observer? It is to be feared that the war will not help the missionaries in their work of bringing the world to Christ.

And What Has Been Gained?

Detroit, Mich., News: Six million men were killed, wounded or missing Jan. 1, 1915. One million, two hundred thousand was the toll for each month of the war up to that date.

The estimate of the total number of dead is a million men. A million men with their careers stopped shortly after the beginning! A million sons brought into the world to be sacrificed to hate!

Then there is the cost, $7,000,000,000, which is $1,400,000,000 a month. The monthly expenditures of the fighting nations were very nearly four times the entire cost of the Panama canal. England's share of this cost was $225,000,000 a month, according to Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer, although Premier Asquith had given an estimate of from $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 a day. Two hundred and twenty-five million dollars is within $128,000,000 of the canal total.

The loss due to the paralyzing of industry and the stagnation of commerce must be considered. This is held to equal the direct war expenditures. Another loss is the ruin wrought. The damage to Belgium being estimated at $1,000,000,000.

But why cite further figures? War is waste and waste is loss.

John's Bargain.

Youth's Companion: "I see you have one of those cake pans that Bargun's 10-cent store sold last week at their special sale," said Mrs. White, as she was visiting at Mrs. Brown's kitchen one morning.

"Yes. Isn't that good value for 10 cents?" replied Mrs. Brown, holding the pan up proudly.

"Indeed it is," said Mrs. White, taking the pan in her hands. "I wanted one, but the good ones were all gone before I could be waited on. How did you manage it?"

"Oh, I sent John," smiled Mrs. Brown. "I was busy and couldn't go that morning, and you know John passes there each morning about 8 o'clock, when the store opens. So I asked him if he wouldn't stop and get me a pan, and he said he would."

"I should think you would be afraid to trust him to buy one. Some of them were quite badly damaged, you know," said Mrs. White.

"Oh, John is careful," Mrs. Brown assured her. "He always gets the best of everything. The one he got me is absolutely perfect as far as I can see."

"Well, isn't that wonderful! I didn't see a perfect one in the store. But didn't your husband object to carrying the pan home? Mine would, and they never deliver anything sold at the special sales."

"They delivered this," said Mrs. Brown. "John is well known and the stores are anxious to accommodate him. Then he has a way of getting things done."

"I shall certainly send Robert to Bargun's the next time they have a special sale," said Mrs. White. "Why, this pan is just as good as the ones they sell for a quarter at Jones's hardware store, next door to Bargun's."

"Yes, it is exactly the same," said Mrs. Brown, triumphantly. "I thought it was, but I wanted to make sure; so I went into the hardware store the other day and asked to see their pans. They showed me one for a quarter that is exactly like mine. I told the man I had got a pan just like it for 10 cents, and then he made the funniest mistake—he said he had sold John one only a few days ago. Wasn't that queer?"

"It certainly was," said Mrs. White.

Not Even a Symptom.

The President and the Senate

(By Savoyard.)

Washington, Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Here is the United States senate that assumes to be the greatest deliberative body in the world, in a sweat about peanuttery—whether this man or that man shall have an appointive office. When you see the American senate appealing to its "courtesy" and supporting its plea with its "dignity," you recall the lady who proclaims her chastity, the soldier who vaunts his courage, the merchant who boasts his honesty, the scholar who is vain-glorious about his learning.

The senate of the United States at this reading is labeled a Democrat. Is it fit for the job? Possibly. Is it a Democrat? We shall see. Will it throw away its great opportunities in order to feed the vanities of a few of its "Democratic" members of and about whom you can never think without reminder of Balzac's regret, which is too coarse for a polite man like myself to quote?

A senator in congress who degrades himself and cheapens his station over a miserable bit of patronage ought to resign. Can you imagine Clay, or Calhoun, or Webster, making warfare on a president of his own party because one of his henchmen was not preferred for a postoffice or other place in the gift of the president? I can see how a Gorman, or a Quay, a Platt or a Penrose, would raise a row in such a quarrel. But a great senator, unless Roscoe Conkling be an exception, never yet made a miserable bit of patronage an excuse for opposition to his own party leader.

Stephen A. Douglas—and it would be rather difficult for you to name his superior among all the members of the present senate—had a serious quarrel with Buchanan, a Democratic president of his own party. Mr. Buchanan gave all the "patronage" of Illinois to the adversaries of Douglas in that state. Did Mr. Douglas invoke "courtesy" and appeal to "dignity?" Not a bit of it. He loftily said: "If I am to be dependent on such miserable expedients as that I would rather resign and return to the carpenter's bench, the plane, the saw and adz." I was reared to hate the very name of Charles Sumner. In my father's household he was same as anti-Christ, or a little "samer," but he was above wrecking his party on a question of "pap." He was too lofty for that. And he had a big quarrel with Gen. Grant at that, but not about "patronage."

Here is Reed of Missouri, who has sought to embarrass the president of his own party ever since Mr. Wilson allowed him to name the postmaster at St. Louis—the biggest piece of pie in the state. Mr. Reed lays the law down that unless the president shall name a man he has chosen for a certain district attorneyship in Missouri he will appeal to senatorial courtesy and see to it that no one else shall have that office. The president nominated Mr. Bland, son of one of the best-loved men Missouri ever produced.

In an interview, Mr. Reed is reported as saying that he has nothing to suggest against the character or the capacity of Mr. Bland; but that he had other views and preferred the office for another man. What is that but a usurpation of the president's power to appoint? Can you imagine Thomas H. Benton or George G. Vest arrogating to himself such unwarranted power? Hardly. It is another brand of senator who must be reinforced by "patronage." It is not your great senator who must lean on senatorial courtesy and senatorial dignity. It has been suggested that the wisest way out of the difficulty would be for the president to feed the slops to certain senators, but in my opinion Wilson is not that sort of man. He will stand "till death hath made him marble" for the rights of his place, senatorial courtesy to the contrary notwithstanding.

If the Democratic senate shall seek to rebuke the president because he will not surrender his constitutional right to nominate executive officers then so much the worse for the Democratic party and woe to each and every Democratic senator who opposes the president in this behalf. If the Democratic senate insists on cutting the political throat of the Democratic president, let the senate take the responsibility.

We are fallen on new times. The war in Europe has defeated all the calculations of all parties. The Republicans will be as much embarrassed as the Democrats are if they shall come in in 1917. A new order is risen in the affairs of all mankind. A new page has been opened for the story of a new age and no man can imagine what shall be writ on that page. All are at sea, fathomless and seemingly shoreless.

That we should escape the injurious consequences of the destruction of life and property in Europe was an idle optimism. That war gave the Republicans all they got out of the elections of 1914. It is not yet over, may not be over for a long time, and our country is going to have a hard row to hoe for years after it shall be over, whatever its issue.

Meanwhile, why should a Democratic senate turn down a Democratic president for the triumph of four or five Democratic senators who have sought to defeat the president from the beginning of his administration? Why?

Dancin' Still.

Lots of the old boys dancin' still,
'Specially down by the cider mill.
Lots of the graybeards loosenin' tongue
Because of the spell that has turned them young
With the feel of the autumn, the splendid wine
That tingles the heart till it's feelin' fine.

Lots of the old boys singin' away,
'Specially out where the sunbeams play
Over the apples piled high to be Turned into toddy—Oh, mercy me!
Lots of 'em waitin' to take their turn
Where the ripples run and the bubbles burn.

Lots of the old boys smilin' yet
Over the things that they can't forget—
Days of autumn, with tang and smack
Of sparklin' cider and applejack,
And maybe a fiddle to play all night,
With the moon in the blue sky silver and bright.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fasting is one of the two chief diversions of Senator Robert L. Owen, the part Indian statesman from Oklahoma. His other sport is golf. Between playing golf and abstaining from food, Owen derives a certain amount of pleasure out of this life. He is extremely fond of both these pastimes, but my impression is that if he were forced to decide between the two he would lay aside his golf implements rather than quit his fasting.

The beauty of fasting for Owen's purposes is that it serves a dual purpose. It is not only a hobby and a sport, but a feature of his religion.

Some years ago Owen became addicted to the Battle Creek school of thought in matters of diet. Although at heart he is comparatively omnivorous in his impulses, he confines himself for the most part to vegetables and cereals when he desires to eat food. But he does not always desire to eat, or if he does he throttles the desire, for every now and then he takes the veil, gastronomically, and enters upon one of his fasts.

These periods of total abstinence from food vary with Owen from a day to a week. Sometimes he will fast all day and not take so much as a drink of water. A great many misguided persons go for days without water, but the trouble with them is that they use certain liquid substitutes. Owen does not.

One of the great advantages of fasting, says Owen, is the benefit to one's health. Giving one's digestive outfit a furlough, he believes, can only make for good. But aside from that is the great boon to one's will power, which gets much lively gymnastics when one is staying out of restaurants and dining rooms. With true Indian stoicism Owen sometimes goes on a fast, even when his health is first-rate, just for the sporting phase of the proposition—that is, to ascertain if his will power is strong enough to carry him through.

If he has an important speech to get out of his system in the senate Owen is not unlikely to precede it with a brief fast to tone up his system and place him in good fettle.

A little while ago, however, Owen met with a grave disappointment. He desired to reduce his weight. Statistics showed him that for one of his height, habits, age and frame of mind he was about fifteen pounds too heavy. So he began one of his fasts. It lasted five days. When he again began to frequent eating places he had a good appetite and ate with no little relish. In fact, he ate heartily—more heartily than he realized. After three days he again chanced to step on the scales. And he had gained back the fifteen pounds that it required him five hard days' fasting to lose—showing a net loss of two days.

Another thing that Owen practises at odd times is calmness—calmness of speech and of demeanor. Temperamentally he is inclined to be a table-pounder, and chop the air into shreds. So, just because he would like to shout in ordinary conversation, Owen aims to do just the opposite. When he is really trying, he can talk as calmly as a maiden aunt in one of the old-fashioned Pansy books. However, I often think of the first time I ever talked to Senator Owen. It was before he took up being calm as a daily exercise. Our conversation drifted to the subject of the initiative and referendum, which the legislative engineers were still tinkering before placing on the market. As he told me about the initiative and referendum he became more and more vehement. There were moments when I was actually uneasy lest he might revert to type and undertake to scalp me, by way of illustrating what the initiative and referendum would do to the wicked politicians. Part of the things he told me I missed entirely, for I was busy making estimates of the probable time it would take me to get to the door if things came to the worst.

The Family Loaf

Chicago News: Heavy exports of wheat, due to foreign demands, have sent the price for that great cereal soaring. January wheat has been quoted at more than $1.37 and millers and bakers are soberly considering the effects of the high prices upon their products and shaping their actions accordingly. The European war is, of course, responsible for this untoward condition, which has come about in spite of the fact that last year's wheat crop in this country was the largest on record.

Although talk is of a wheat famine, it is possible that the individual consumer need not pass sleepless nights of worry over such a prospect. For the individual consumer, if the price of white flour rises and if the white loaf becomes dearer or begins appreciably to shrink in size, has the happy alternative of substituting other kinds of bread that might have a beneficial effect upon his general health.

In such a time, no doubt, many readers of the Daily News will recall the preachments of Dr. Albert S. Gray, who has sought to explain why the refining of wheat into white flour deprives the grain of important elements needed for the upbuilding of the people's health and strength. Foods prepared from whole wheat flour or from corn, rye and other coarser flours supply these needs. Not long ago tests were made which are said to have proved that even Kafir cornmeal could properly replace one-half the wheat flour used in many recipes. Such grains, ground into meal, are cheaper than white flour. At the present time there appears to be no scarcity in the supply.

Use of these coarse flours ought to become more common and the war will have served a useful purpose if it proves the indirect cause of a more general intelligent use of such cereal products in this country.

Canned.

Harper's Magazine: Mrs. Fletcher went up to the city one morning to do some shopping. She was looking for some house furnishings, and went to a large department store.

Walking up to a tall, blond floorwalker, who was walking slowly down the aisle in a languid and elegant manner, she said:

"Will you please tell me where I can see the candelabra?"

"All canned goods two counters to the right," replied the official guide, briefly.

Suggestions to The Lawmakers

Advice of State Press to Incoming Legislature.

Makes Good Start.

Hill City News: Lieutenant Governor J. A. A. Burnquist says he will get along without any secretary of the senate this session and thus save the state about $1,000. Fine! Now if some more of our state officials will only wake up to the fact that they can do without a lot of expensive hangers-on there will be a long step made on the road to real economy.

Of Course.

Luverne Herald: The Minnesota legislature has convened for another ninety-day talkfest and to vote upon a thousand and one measures proposed by a multiplicity of interests. Some of the measures will be good and many will be bad or senseless. This largely is true because it is not more laws that the people need, but a strict enforcement of the laws now on our statute books. If any of the laws are bad, public sentiment will not tolerate their enforcement and will demand their repeal. If the laws are good, public sentiment will support their enforcement.

Head Off Freak Bills.

La Porte News: It is hoped that there will be enough "safe and sane" legislators in the coming session of the legislature to head off any freak legislation which may be possible by the adoption of the ninth amendment to the Constitution. The experiment will bear careful investigation.

Good Advice.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: Both Governor Hammond and Speaker Flowers want the county option taken up and settled by the legislature at an early day. This is good advice. If county option is held over the brewery influence will be mixed up in every piece of legislation proposed.

Has Hope, Anyway.

Warroad Pioneer: The legislature has begun its work for the season, and the north country hopes for some good measures toward development.

Sets Good Example.

Red Wing Eagle: Lieutenant Governor Burnquist sets a good example at the opening of the legislative session by discarding his $10-a-day private secretary, claiming that there is nothing for that functionary to do that cannot be done by the messenger. If this same spirit were to penetrate the entire assembly maybe a few scores of $5-a-day lackeys might also be dispensed with without serious loss to the service. Perhaps, for instance, a $25-a-month kid could watch a cloakroom just as efficiently as a $150-a-month man.

Commends Resolution.

Stillwater Gazette: Senator Sullivan of Washington county proposes that the senate, at least, shall know, when it is voting for appropriations of the money of the taxpayers of the state, that the appropriation is either necessary or unnecessary. The senator's resolution provides for an amendment to the permanent rules of the senate requiring the production of itemized accounts of all bills against the legislature with an explanation of the purpose of each item and the necessity for the same. This resolution, if adopted, means in effect that as far as the senate of Minnesota is concerned, it will have established the budget system for expenditures, the system that is in force in all private business of magnitude that is well managed and successful and that long ago should have been adopted by the state of Minnesota.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinlin, the Sunshine Man.

Little self-denials, little honesties, little passing words of sympathy, little nameless acts of kindness, little silent threads of gold, which, when woven together, gleam out so brightly in the patterns of life that God approves.—Cannon Farrar.

The work of righteousness shall be peace; and the effect of righteousness quietness and assurance forever.—Isa. xxxii, 17.

Oh, if like children straying guilelessly
Down some fair lane of childhood, filled with flowers,
My thoughts today run sinlessly for me
In the sweet path of all the day's glad hours;

And if today my words, like flowers, spring
Upon the wayside of the world's hot road,
And words melt into deeds that haply bring
Relief to some bent brother of his load;

Why, then, tomorrow I shall wake at morn
From sleep so sweet, that, wondering, I shall say:
"If from unselfishness such rest is born,
Oh, make today, dear Christ, as yesterday."

Dayton, Ohio.

Freedom of Simplicity.

From "The Journalist and His Betters," by F. M. Colby: And there is another burden that the newspaper man is free from. He does not have to talk about his work as art, or to feel oppressed with that sense of responsibility for Nature's priceless gifts. Being without worries of this kind, he has more chance to meet people on equal and agreeable terms. That is the greatest thing about being unliterary and unclerical. You do not have any of these dreadfully serious duties toward yourself. You are not obliged to sing psalms to the holy things inside you or to act as if you were a special little ark of the covenant for something that no one but yourself knows the value of. That leaves you leisure and a light heart—a low level, but with its humble joy. A newspaper man does not envy the general run of authors. He would be scared to death by the consciousness of all that talent. Indeed, if he should ever feel inside him what certain literary characters sometimes call their "muse," he would see a doctor and take something for it.

Liberty.

Life: A small boy went up to the soda water clerk and said:

"Give me a ptomaine cocktail."

"What's that?"

"I want a ptomaine cocktail."

"That's a new one on me. Explain what it is."

"Well, I've just escaped from my home and I can do what I like. Now, every time I have seen anything I particularly liked, my mother would say, 'No, you can't have that. It's got ptomaines in it.' And so I want a ptomaine cocktail, with all the ptomaines you can squeeze in. I'm out for the time of my life."

25-CYCLE AND 60-CYCLE CURRENT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

On page eight of the Pillsbury-Clausen (1911) report is a paragraph saying that as the energy for a light plant, furnished by the Great Northern Power company would be 13,000 volt, 25 cycle, and as it is necessary to distribute current at a lower voltage and higher frequency for reasons of safety on one hand and more steady and therefore more satisfactory illumination on the other it is necessary to provide motor-generator sets in the power plant for bringing about this transformation.

After recommending this system of 60 cycles and saying that the 25-cycle system is unsatisfactory, they finish by informing us that the 60-cycle system is in use by the Duluth Edison company.

We paid $14,000 to find out that the 60-cycle system was the satisfactory one, then we hired Rittenhouse at the request of the Goops and made him an engineer of national prominence at a cost of $10,000 to tell us that a 25-cycle transformer plant would do. Why? Not because 25-cycle systems have proved satisfactory in the last three years or because they are being used more now than three years ago but because the staff knew the taxpayers would not stand for a bond issue and a $1,000,000 plant, but might fall for an $85,000 transformer with wires on both sides.

The staff thought they might get the unsatisfactory unit now and when it was in politics change to 60 cycles that was recommended before Rittenhouse became an exnert. A 60-cycle motor now in use would have to be sold for scrap and a 25-cycle purchased to use the M. O. service. Would the public make the change at their expense? Well, a dentist might.

Don't be a Goop, think it over.

SOME QUESTIONS OF AMERICAN HISTORY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you kindly through the medium of your Open Court give me the following information, the lack of which has caused a few arguments at International Falls.

1. During the revolution between America and England what was the strength of each army?
2. How long did this war last?
3. When did the war finish and how?
4. How strong were both armies at the close of that war?
5. Where did the war end and who was in command of the United States army and ditto the English army?

Trusting you will oblige and thanking you in anticipation. Yours respectfully. REGULAR SUBSCRIBER.

International Falls, Minn., Jan. 10.

1. The strength of the two armies varied greatly during the long conflict. At Bunker Hill the Americans were credited with having only 1,200 men and the English, 2,500.
2. The first battle of the war was on April 18, 1775, and the Peace of Paris was declared on Sept. 3, 1783.
3. This question is answered in the answer to No. 2. A treaty was signed at Paris.
4. At the siege of Yorktown, the English defenders numbered about 8,500 and the forces of the besieging allies, about 16,000.
5. George Washington and Lord Cornwallis commanded the opposing armies at Yorktown.—The Editor.

COMPLAINS OF PREJUDICE. BUT IS HE NOT PREJUDICED?

To the Editor of The Herald:

I herewith send you what you term a "pittance" under a letter from a writer in the Open Court—$4 for subscription. I would like to air my feelings and thought a little too. I am then in the first place of the same opinion regarding the war as Mr. Schneider(?) was, viz, that you are unfair against the Germans and cater to the demands of the English to be considered as angels. I do not like your hypocrisy. I know that your sympathies are on the right side. Your first editorials should have been adhered to, where you put all the blame for this terrible war where it belongs—on "treacherous Albion." I am neither of German nor English descent, and cannot be prejudiced. I am neutral and would like you to be the same—or still better, fair and sincere! It is nothing less than disgusting to see a newspaper propagate what it does not believe in.

Are there really so many Albionese among your readers that it would hurt you financially, hard enough if they forsook you, because their ears could not bear to hear the truth about facts—hard enough for you to trade your conscience?

For these five months you have been continually telling us about the progress of the Russians on one side and the French, Indians, Moroccans, or Algerians and English on the other side, that a perfect "endosmos and exosmos" ought to have taken place! You talk about pessimism, but you have nothing to say about a too strong navy. The Germans have made themselves well armed against treacherous and envious neighbors—a much needed precaution as this war will show—but the English have a navy large enough for every ocean. They have shown what they keep it for. Have they not terrorized all the seas, showing respect for none—not even for U. S. A.? Another thing disgusting to readers is—that the Americans believe that the English have no friendly feelings for them. Persons who have lived in England know well that the English have a supreme disdain for everything outside of England. They look down, not only on the continent of Europe—France, Russia, Scandinavia included—but also on their own lands—Ireland, Canada, the colonies wherever they are. And America is not excepted. They laugh at us and think us inferior. They marry our daughters, but they send them away after having squeezed the most out of them. It ought to be under the dignity of America for her people to call themselves "cousins" of the English—for we may think such a relationship is a cause of pride—but the English certainly do not.

About editorials or leaders let me say—a newspaper should never try too hard to make or create opinions. All it has to do is to report facts. The public will do its own thinking on the basis of facts. Give every one and everything a square deal.

As for your party standing, let me say—you go too far in both con and pro. If Wilson blows his nose, you will say that no man on earth can blow his nose so tactfully as he. And as for his or your political opponents—you not only kill them literally (Roosevelt) but you rob them of every quality of good intention, honor or capability which they may possess (Eberhart.) Respectfully.

CARL FRIDELOM.

SLIPPERY PAVEMENTS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

So much has been written about the slippery condition of the paved avenues in the East end in summer. I wish the city officials could realize what they have been the past few weeks—simply impassable for horse traffic. People living in the Congdon Park residential district will find it most difficult in winter to have provisions and coal brought to their houses, as the newly paved avenue (Thirty-first) has been such a sheet of glass that teams have used the grass plot at the side. When sidewalks are laid that will be unavailable, and there is no other way to reach these new homes. Even automobiles are using the old dirt roads where they can be found.

Before any more avenues are paved—so few are left now—the city should forbid anything but sandstone or crushed rock. Property owners are not competent, in many cases, to judge of material—and for this reason mistakes have been made in the past, and other people must bear the brunt of these glassy pavements. I as a citizen, do protest. A TAXPAYER.

A LOYAL OPEN COURTER.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Enclosed find copies of songs asked for in the Open Court.

If the person who asked some time ago for "The Gypsy's Warning," also desires "The Answer to the Gypsy's Warning," I will send them to her.

I also have the reply to the song "In the Shadow of the Pines." I am for a bigger and better Open Court.

THE SKI CLUB.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have several questions concerning membership in the Duluth Ski club, which I should like to have you answer.

What is the membership fee?

Is there a special fee for the use of the toboggan slide only?

Who is the secretary and what is his address?

AN ADMIRER.

Duluth, Minn., Jan. 13.

The membership fee is $2.50.

A member may rent a toboggan for 50 cents an hour or he may use his own toboggan and have it stored free of charge.

The secretary is George Jensen, whose address is 2117 West First street.—The Editor.

THE "SKY PILOT."

To the Editor of The Herald:

Anent the editorial on the Sky Pilot in Jan. 6 issue of The Herald allow me space in the Open Court for the thoughts it prompts me to express.

In all candor and without malice, I believe the last good to humanity from Frank Higgins, the lumberjack Sky Pilot's lifework lies in himself tragically proving the failure of it all. He failed to better the lumberjack's life either socially, intellectually or spiritually. This, if anything, must have been his mission. So far as facts prove, the Sky Pilot himself was the only beneficiary, and herein lies the irony of it all.

Whether from material self-interest or not, we shall refuse to judge, nevertheless, Frank Higgins raised himself from the degrading conditions of a woodsman's life to that of comparative affluence. Economically, the condition of the lumber worker was never any worse than today, with the Damocles sword of want ever threatening and worrying his life. Admittedly, in fact and in even tempo with Mr. Higgins' missionary work, the real lumberjack, a sturdy working man of the woods, has been replaced, due to the economic oppression of our day, by a lower strata in society designated as the tramp and hobo.

Will anyone deny that even in the Sky Pilot's short span of life capitalist oppression has destroyed the very tradesman, the lumberjack, that he hoped to raise to a more exalted life? Indeed, "economic determanism" has scored again. Should we still believe man can be elevated without providing for his material wants?

Against the social crime of oppression of the poor, Mr. Higgins is not known to have raised his voice. That, as against Jesus' teachings, makes him "safe and sane," dubbed the "Sky Pilot," and earning him the plaudits of the system's retainers.

With economic conditions all awry, Frank Higgins' missionary work has been no more effective than the two thousand years of Christendom, which could not save us from the world war.

The supporters of an unjust social system have nothing to be exalted over in the results reaped from their press, school or pulpit. Where 95 per cent of our population own 5 per cent of the wealth, time is ripe for a more sober intellectual thought.

Enforced poverty never made a better man; only by escaping it can we rise.

Unless social evolution can swing into peace and power the useful mental and manual worker, we can hope for no elevation of man for future intellectual and ethical progress.

However, in Frank Higgins' case, who probably had the makings of a great and good soul, I assume, I am charitable in believing only ignorance of economic relations could have caused him to bow his head to existing social wrongs.

I herewith thank The Herald for space in its Open Court.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the following poems:

"In the Shadow of the Pines" and "The Cruel Hiss," from Mrs. Christine McLauchlin.

"In the Shadow of the Pines" from Esther Nicholson of Carlton.

"I'll be All Smiles Tonight," "Will You Love Me When I'm Old" and "In the Shadow of the Pines," from Mrs. H. C. Montgomery of Carlton.

"Richmond on the James," from Mrs. H. Murphy of Duluth.

Requests have been received for the following:

"Those Wedding Bells Shall Not Ring Out," from H. Kenno of Jamestown, N. D.

The poem, the first stanza of which is as follows:

"Keep a watch on your words, my darling,
For words are wonderful things.
They can bless like the warm, glad sunshine;
Like the bees, they have terrible stings."

from Christine Olson, Duluth.

The words for a song that begins, "Oh, the Big, Fat Swede," and also information as to where to get the music from C. O.

Will You Love Me When I'm Old?

I will ask of you, my darling,
A question soft and low,
That gives me many a heartache
As the moments come and go.
Your love, I know, is truthful,
But the truest love grows cold;
It is this that I would ask you:
Will you love me when I'm old?

Chorus:

Life's morn will soon be waning,
And its evening bells be tolled,
And our hearts will know no sadness
If you'll love me when I'm old.

Down the stream of life together
We are sailing side by side,
Hoping some bright day to anchor
Safe beyond the surging tide.
Today our sky is cloudless,
But the nights may clouds unfold,
And its storms may gather round us—
Will you love me when I'm old?

When my hair shall shine as snowdrifts
And my eyes shall dimmer grow,
I would lean upon some loved one
In the valley as I go.
I would claim of you a promise,
Worth to me a world of gold;
It is only this, my darling—
That you'll love me when I'm old.

I'll Be All Smiles Tonight.

I'll deck my brow with roses,
The loved one will be there.
The gem that overcame him
Shall shine upon my hair,
And even those who know me,
Will think my heart is light;
Tho' my heart may break tomorrow,
I'll be all smiles tonight.

Chorus.

I'll be all smiles tonight, love,
I'll be all smiles tonight;
Tho' my heart may break tomorrow
I'll be all smiles tonight.
And when the dance commences
Oh, how I will rejoice!
I'll sing the songs he taught me
Without a faltering voice.
And flattering ones around me
Will think my heart is light.
Tho' my heart may break tomorrow,
I'll be all smiles tonight.

Chorus.

And when the room he entered
With his bride upon his arm,
I stood and gazed upon her,
As tho' she were a charm.
I saw him smile upon her,
As once he smiled on me;
They knew not how I suffered,
They saw no change in me.

Chorus.

And when the dance was over
And all had gone to rest,
I tho't of him, dear mother.
The one that I love best.
He loved me once, believe me,
Tho' now his heart is changed.
He sought not to deceive me,
False friends have caused the change.

Chorus.

Richmond-on-the-James.

A soldier from Missouri,
In early manhood prime;
Lay with the dead and dying,
On the Mississippi line;
On the blood-stained field of Corinth,
Where his life was ebbing fast,
His comrades faint and bleeding,
In crowds were hurrying past.
He saw his young companions
His friends in other days;
Retire before the conflict,
Or before the cannon blaze;
Along the line all tarried,
Where their starry lace entwine;
The flag that they had carried,
From near the Kansas line.
He saw a young companion,
Who raised his drooping head;
While with unfaltering accents,
The dying soldier said:
"Adieu to you my young friends,
"A long and last adieu,
"Though you may shortly follow,
I will ne'er return to you.
"With me the war is over,
"My marching is at an end;
"But now a dying message,
"By you I fain will send;
"Go bear it to my kindred,
"To some distant friends of mine;
"For I have friends and kindred,
"Along the Kansas line.
"I have an aged mother,
"You know that mother well;
"Go tell to her the tidings,
"How I in battle fell.
"Go tell her I remember
"In anguish her advice;
"To stay at home in quietness,
"Nor join the rebel price.
"If I only had but heeded,
"The good advice she gave;
"I would not now be hurrying to fill a rebel grave;
"But I heeded other counsels,
"And left that home of mine;
"That home of peace and comfort,
"Along the Kansas line.
"You know my brothers also,
"Tell them the mournful tale;
"While I in death lie sleeping,
"That they might faith bewail;
"They know the thing that drove me,
"Away from them and home;
"And the phantom life that caused me,
"In distant lands to roam
"Take this sword unto my brother,
"And this star from off my breast;
"To my young and gentle sister,
"Whom I used to love the best;
"And one lock from off my forehead,
"To my mother that still dreams;
"Of her soldier boy at Richmond,
"Fair Richmond-on-the-James.
"And now upon my bosom,
"Close lay those dark brown braids;
"Of she who was the fairest,
"Of all the village maids:
"We would have been wedded,
"But it was death the bridegroom claimed;
"And far is she who loves me,
"From Richmond-on-the-James."

In the Shadow of the Pines.

We wandered in the shadow of the pines, my love and I,
As the winds were blowing freshly from the sea,
And a sudden fit of darkness came across the summer sky,
And a shadow came between my love and me.
Some hasty words were spoken, and then almost unawares
Hasty answers to unthinking anger led
And our hearts sick, bitter longings and our weeping and our prayers
Ne'er can make those false, cruel words unsaid.

Chorus:

Come back to me sweetheart, and love me as before,
Come back to me, darling, and leave me nevermore:
In life's dull pathway the sun no longer shines;
Come, love, and meet me in the shadow of the pines.

You took the ring I gave you, nor you cast a glance at me,
As you held the jeweled trinket in your hand;
And then you turned and tossed it in the waters of the sea,
As the waves were splashing idly o'er the sand:
You went your way unheeding, the tears I could not hide;
You went your way and not a word was said—
But my stubborn heart was breaking underneath it's mask of pride,
And the pinetrees sobbed in pity overhead.

Chorus.

I wake from bitter dreamings but to call aloud your name;
I sleep again to dream of you once more,
But my stubborn pride has left me, I admit I was to blame—
Forgive, dear, and love me as before.
For the future is o'ershadowed with darkness of despair.
In the sky of life love's sun no longer shines;
I would give the whole world gladly once again to meet you there—
Reunited in the shadow of the pines.

Chorus.

Uncle Sam Sends His Soldiers and Sailors

To the Hot Springs of Arkansas, for the Relief and Cure of Rheumatism and Blood Disorders.

(See List Below)

The great Army and Navy Hospital located here reports ninety per cent of its patients as being returned to duty. This is a fair indication of the certainty of cure or relief that sufferers may expect.

Many years ago, when Thomas Jefferson was President, the U. S. Government awaked to the fact that the Hot Springs of Arkansas was the most valuable asset in America for the curing of human ailments. So all of these springs were set aside and became a park reserve, under the direct control and supervision of the Government.

It is beyond comprehension the thousands upon thousands of lives that have since been saved through the healing powers of these springs.

The waters are so charged with radium—known technically as radioactivity—that they accomplish results in the cure of disease that would under other treatment be considered impossible.

The ailments that most readily yield to these baths are Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Malaria, Locomotor Ataxia (earlier stages), Bright's Disease (when not too far advanced), Liver and Bladder troubles, Catarrhal troubles, Skin and Blood diseases, troubles peculiar to women, and other troubles of a nature kindred to those above mentioned.

Regarding these springs as America's greatest gift to the sick, the Government has never allowed them to be exploited for private gain. The prices charged for the baths are strictly regulated—hotel charges are extremely low—and every consideration is afforded the visitor.

The city of Hot Springs is one of the most delightful resorts to be found anywhere in the world, and its visitors are by no means confined to those seeking health.

The best of hotel accommodations, ideal climate the year around, picturesque mountain scenery with drives made beautiful by U. S. expert engineers, all contribute to make this the ideal resort of America.

Splendid facilities for all outdoor sports, excellent tennis courts, one of the finest 18-hole golf courses in America. Base Ball parks, etc.—lively with the gaiety of thousands of visitors from all parts of the country—Hot Springs offers rest, comfort, enjoyment and health.

Write for information, handsomely illustrated souvenir booklets, Government reports and other interesting and valuable matter.

WANTED TO REMOVE BONE IN LEG

After suffering for years with a running sore on the leg a lady in Hartford, Connecticut, was informed that the only cure was to remove eight inches of bone. She refused and used Allen's Ulcerine Salve instead and it cured the sore completely. (Name and address on application).

Allen's Ulcerine Salve is one of the oldest remedies in America and since 1869 has been known as the only salve powerful enough to reach chronic ulcers and old sores of long standing. Because it is so powerful it often heals burns and scalds without a scar in a remarkably short time.

Allen's Ulcerine Salve heals from the bottom up and draws out the poisons. If applied on new cuts and sores it heals in one-third the time that common salves and liniments take. Sold by The Spencer Pharmacy Co., and other leading druggists.

POWDER DOES NOT PRODUCE RAIN

Heavy Rains in England and France Not Due to War.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Jan. 1.—English scientists have again been compelled to assure the public that neither the smell of powder nor the concussion of gun-fire has the slightest connection with rainfall. From several sources it had been asserted that the heavy and persistent rains recently experienced in Southern England and Northern France were attributed to atmospheric disturbances produced by artillery fire at the seat of war.

"Like the supposed influence of the moon upon weather, the popular belief that powder brings rain is baseless," writes a scientist in the Times. "About four years ago the first load of the admiralty was gravely asked in the house of commons whether he would instruct the fleet to carry out its heavy gun practice at some other period of the year than in the middle of harvest time, 'when the resultant heavy rains may cause serious loss to the farming community.' The idea is absolutely without foundation. Experiments made in America and on the continent show that in dry weather no amount of concussion has the slightest effect in the production of rain.

"At the present time there is one fact which should at once dispose of the cherished theory. There is no reason for thinking that gun firing at the front is more violent than it was in the earlier stages of the war. The rain should, therefore, have commenced shortly after the outbreak of the war. As a matter of fact, nothing of the kind took place. In August and September the rainfall was much below the average.

"At Shoeburyness, where big guns are being tested almost daily, year in and year out, the average annual rainfall is smaller than in any other part of the United Kingdom."

LITTLE WHITE GIRL HAS COLORED FATHER

Minneapolis Negro Proves Claim to Milwaukee Miss, Taking Her Home.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 14.—Courts, police, district attorney and probation officers have passed decision in the strange case of Rosie Jones, aged 11, known for six years as Rosie Williams, and for three years foster-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Heck, 743 Second street.

Rosie, prize pupil of the Fourth Street school, and who has always believed herself to be a little white girl, must leave the home of her Milwaukee foster parents and in future make her home in Minneapolis with her real father—who is a colored man.

The remarkable story of the little girl was revealed to the authorities when Charles Jones, 38, colored, Minneapolis railroad man, arrived in Milwaukee. He presented undeniable proof that Rosie is his daughter, and the authorities advised Mr. and Mrs. Heck that they must part with the girl. The foster parents, heart-broken over parting, complied.

Born of White Mother.

When Rosie was born in Chicago, her mother, who was white, died. Her grandmother and aunts went to live in Iron Mountain, Mich., and when she was 4, the father applied to the courts for her custody, and was successful, he says. The grandmother, however, brought the child to Milwaukee and it is said, assumed the name of Williams. Although he searched the country over, Jones was until recently unsuccessful in finding trace of her, according to his story to the authorities.

We Made a Mistake

The Columbia's BIG Ten-Day Sale was to end tonight. When we started it last week, however, we quite forgot to consider the fact that thousands of men connected with railroads, and some other concerns, have their pay-day on the 15th of the month. While this sale has been a tremendous success in bringing in the needed cash, and while we have no great desire nor can afford to continue selling EVERYTHING at a loss, we feel that we owe to our many railroad-men-customers the consideration of a chance to partake in this unusual money-saving bargain feast. We shall therefore correct our mistake by

Extending the Sale For TWO Days

It will be kept up as before on tomorrow and the day after, but will positively end at 10 o'clock on Saturday night.

Reasons which you railroadmen know only too well from your own experience forced us to do something desperate to dispose of the enormous stocks of Men's and Boys' Winter Wearables left on our hands at New Year. War and warm weather didn't do a thing to us. The loss had to be taken. Might as well do it cheerfully. If you have seen our ads in the papers and our windows, you'll know that there is hardly a whole price left in our store. All Underwear, Overcoats, Winter Suits, in fact, most everything, is either out at a special price or at a straight 20 per cent discount.

Don't forget now—

Friday and Saturday For Railroad Men and others who are paid on the fifteenth. One of the main purposes of this sale being the turning of good merchandise into ready cash, we repeat that under no circumstances will exceptions be made from the rule that NOTHING IS TO BE CHARGED AT THE CUT PRICES. Please remember this, so that there will not be any ill feeling on your part when the salesmen follow their orders not to write any charge slips.

All SUITS and OVERCOATS for men are now reduced to $8.15, $13.15 and $19.15.
Savings from $3 to $15.

All Boys' SUITS and COATS are down to these prices, $2.15, $4.15 and $6.15.
Savings from $2 to $4.

Men's Work and Dress PANTS can be had at these cut prices, $2.15, $3.15 and $4.15.
Savings from 50c to $3.50.

Boys' Overcoat EXTRA SPECIALS at 98c and $3.85.
Savings—it sounds ridiculous—as high as $9.

MACKINAWS for men, $3.85, for ladies, $2.95, for boys, $2.95.
All others at least at a discount of 20 per cent.

A dozen great Men's UNDERWEAR Extra Specials.
A score of all sorts of Bargain for Boys.

Important offerings in SWEATERS, SHIRTS, TIES, GLOVES, HOSIERY, HATS, CAPS.

Last, not least, SHOES—all of them—at Cut Prices.
Special lots for men at 95c, $1.95, $2.45 and $3.85.
Special lots for women at 95c and $2.45.
ALL others for men and women, $2.85, $3.15, $3.85 and our highest priced Hanan Shoes at $4.85 and $5.85.

Remember—20% off most everything that is not specially mentioned.

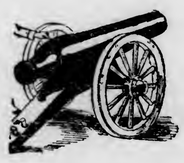

The more you spend, the more you save.
But hurry—Saturday night sees the Wind-Up.

HUSBAND ALSO WANTS DIVORCE AND $10,000.

David Ogilvie, defendant in a divorce suit brought to trial in district court before Judge Ensign today, not only wants a divorce himself but is also desirous of sharing his wife's worldly possessions.

In a cross bill he asks the court to grant him the divorce and award him judgment for $10,000 against Henrietta M. Ogilvie, to whom he was married in 1885. He is 61 and she is 53. Ogilvie was county surveyor of Hubbard county in the early '90s and later was employed by the government as an engineer in the Panama zone.

Mrs. Ogilvie asks for the divorce on the grounds of cruelty and desertion. She alleges that her husband's conduct has been such during the times he has lived with her as to break down her health. During the last ten years she says that he has contributed practically nothing toward her support. In his answer he denies the charges and names A. B. Loud as co-respondent.

The court will hear testimony in the case this afternoon.

"ONE SPOONFUL ENOUGH" SAYS DRUGGIST

W. A. Abbett, druggist, 205 West Superior street, states that the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adleri-ka, is causing great surprise because just ONE SPOONFUL relieves constipation, sour or gassy stomach almost IMMEDIATELY. It is so thorough a bowel cleanser that it is used successfully in appendicitis. Adler-i-ka acts on BOTH lower and upper bowel and the INSTANT effect is astonishing. It never gripes and is perfectly safe to use.

ENTER PLEAS OF NOT GUILTY

Several defendants against whom secret indictments were returned by the January grand jury which concluded its work Monday evening were brought into court this morning on bench warrants and arraigned before Judge Fesler. All entered pleas of not guilty. They were:

Helmer Jentoff for receiving stolen property. Jentoff is accused of having on Dec. 11 last received eighteen sacks of wheat which had been stolen from the Northern Pacific Railway company.

Bert Kohagen for receiving stolen property. He is charged with having had three turkeys in his possession, which were stolen Dec. 22 from H. J. Kolling & Co., commission merchants.

Julius Paul and Edward Fitzpatrick for receiving money under false pretenses. It is claimed that they defrauded A. N. Friedman out of $50 by false representation.

John Hoy for grand larceny in the second degree. Hoy is accused of having stolen seven tubs of butter from a Northern Pacific box car Dec. 10.

George K. Robertson and Joseph Regali for grand larceny in the first degree. The two men were jointly indicted for the theft of $3,000 worth of copper anodes from the Northern Pacific Railway company in November, 1913.

Louis Anderson of Pike Lake for illegally selling liquor. Anderson, it is claimed, sold C. A. Hazelton a pint of whisky for 50 cents on Sunday, Dec. 13.

Goes to Princeton.

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 14.—The trustees of Princeton university announced today that Prof. Dina Carleton Munroe of the University of Wisconsin has been called to the chair of mediaeval history.

Keeping in Good Condition.

Many people suffer from indigestion and constipation and do not know it. A feeling of dullness and languidness, bitter taste in the mouth, headache, bilious fever—most of those conditions when you "are not sick, but don't feel right"—can be traced to sluggish bowels and torpid liver. Foley Cathartic Tablets cleanse the system, arouse the liver, banish indigestion and make you "feel good all over"—light, energetic and ambitious. Sold everywhere.

SPEAKERS ARE CHOSEN

Hughes and Jenswold Will Oppose Moore and McManus.

Each Side Will Have Hour With Fifteen Minutes' Rebuttal.

Ray M. Hughes and John Jenswold, Jr., and Watson S. Moore and A. E. McManus will represent the two sides in the present electric lighting controversy at the public debate to be held Saturday evening at the Auditorium.

Mr. Hughes, chairman of the Citizens' Referendum committee, and Chris E. Evens, chairman of the Municipal Ownership league, met yesterday afternoon and announced the speakers for the two sides, besides arranging for the time limit for the direct arguments and the rebuttals. A chairman has not yet been selected.

Mr. Hughes and Mr. Jenswold will each talk thirty minutes on the 6-cent ordinance, and against the unit plant, while the other two speakers will present the arguments for the M. O. league. Each side will then be allowed a total of fifteen minutes for rebuttal. This will make the debate two and one-half hours long.

Mr. Evens also announced that T. T. Hudson and W. E. McEwen are the alternates and will speak in the place of the other two in case of an emergency. Mr. Hughes did not select any alternates. The meeting will start at 8 o'clock and will close the campaign now on. It will be open to all the men and women of the city.

Other Meetings.

Besides the debate Saturday evening, several other important meetings are scheduled for tonight and tomorrow. The debate is the only meeting planned for Saturday night by either side.

There will be a public mass meeting this evening at the Woodman hall in the West end, where addresses will be delivered by Mayor Prince, Watson S. Moore, W. E. McEwen, Rev. A. F. Elmquist of Minneapolis and Rev. J. J. Daniels. Both forces will be represented at the meeting of the Socialists in the Finnish hall at 18 Lake avenue north, while B. N. Wheeler will speak at Smithville for the M. O. forces. The Machinists' union will meet at Woodman hall, while the Odd Fellows will hold a discussion on the questions at their meeting in the I. O. O. F. hall.

The meetings scheduled for tomorrow evening follow:

It is believed that Larsen is mentally deficient, and it is known that he was confined in an insane asylum in Alaska about three years ago. There will be an examination into the man's condition. DULUTH GIRL IS BIGAMIST'S VICTIM

A story comes from St. Paul to the effect that a former Duluth girl is the victim of the wiles of an alleged bigamist and that the man in the case is now under arrest. The former Duluth girl, who says she was married to the man on Dec. 23, last, was Miss May E. Holliday. The name cannot be found in the city directory, but that is the information she gave the St. Paul police.

The name of the man is Paul Leayn. Her suspicion was aroused when she found in her erstwhile husband's pocket a letter from Mrs. May Leayn of Milwaukee, in which the latter blamed him for non-support of herself and their two sons, aged, respectively, 12 and 6 years. The girl wrote to the Milwaukee wife with the result that the latter went to St. Paul, swore out a warrant and caused the arrest of her erring husband.

IS GREATER THAN MESSINA

Earthquake Damage Believed to Surpass Even One of 1908.

London, Jan. 14.—A news dispatch received here from Rome says the member of the chamber of deputies for Lipari has telegraphed to the capital that the disaster of yesterday surpasses the Messina catastrophe. The ruin is more widespread and the injury to life and limb will be greater.

An employe of the municipality of Avezzano, one of the few survivors of the city, says the dead include the sub-prefect and the members of his family; the whole staff of the prefecture; the staff of the law courts; the mayor and all the members of the municipal council. Ninety-five out of the 100 soldiers who comprised the local garrison lost their lives, as did four out of the seven customs officials, and eight out of the nine local policemen.

The man was on the street when the shock came. To him it seemed as if everything fell to pieces at once. An immense cloud of dust arose from the ruins and completely veiled the sky. The few survivors of Avezzano assembled in Torlonia square. Suffering from shock, if not from actual wounds, they were not able to help the wounded buried in the ruins.

Destruction Complete.

Rome, Jan. 14, via London.—The destruction of the town of Avezzano, a community of some 12,000 people in Aquila province, by the earthquake yesterday, is virtually complete. There is good authority for the statement that not more than 10 per cent of the population survived the disaster.

Troops are arriving constantly to assist in the work of rescue. The survivors are in a pitiable condition. Hardly one is without relatives in the ruins of the town, buried under the wreckage of their homes.

The streets of the city are nothing more than huge piles of stone and brick. Through this the rescuers are digging wherever they have reason to believe they may find survivors. Their work is enormously difficult.

The towns of Samtelino, Paterno, Cenchio, Collarmele, Pescina and San Benedetta also are in large measure destroyed.

The towns of Avezzano, Cappelle, Magliano, Marse, Massadalbe, Collarmel, Cerchio, Celano, Lelli, Paterno, San Felino, Giosamarsi, Scurcola, Capistrello, Antrocano and Castronovme have been practically destroyed.

Pescina, Ortonamarsi, San Benedetto, Ortucchio, Cocullo, Bizgna, Balsorano, Canistro, Civitelladantino, Castellafiumi, Pagliotra and Sorbo received serious damage.

Tagliacozzo, Ovuedoli, Cappadoccia, Santa Marie, Poggio Filippo, San Donato, San Stefano, Rocacerro, Carsoli, Peraoluco and Trasacco were all more or less damaged. Every one of these towns shows a casualty list.

At Sora, in the province of Caserta, a town of over 6,000 population, the victims of the earthquake are estimated at 400. The town itself has been much damaged. Two-thirds of the houses have been razed, while many of the others are so damaged that they will have to be pulled down. The Rossi palace is ruined. Twenty workmen are buried in the wreckage.

Reports reaching Rome today of the casualties counted last night set forth that at Sassa five persons were killed and forty wounded. At Popoli two persons were killed. At Antrosano there are seven dead and thirty wounded, while at Cocullo there are nine dead. Twenty persons lost their lives at Torre, ten at Picenze and six at Bussl.

MISSING FARGOAN IS CAUGHT IN KENTUCKY

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. M. Knight, who disappeared from Fargo three years ago and was arrested today in Louisville, Ky., where he had since been living under the name of Thompson and prominent in church work, is well known here, where he resided for many years. He is said to have deserted a wife and three children, while a number of Fargoans, including some of his relatives, claim to have been his victims for large amounts of money. He conducted an investment company and his stories of big profits and stock market deals induced many to invest with him. He was secretary of the Eagles and the Red Men. He is said to have been short in his accounts with the latter organization. Mrs. Knight when informed today of her husband's arrest asserted she knew nothing of the affair or of him, and was unaware of his present location.

EMPEROR WILLIAM WITNESSES BATTLE

Berlin, Jan. 14, by wireless to London.—Emperor William was present in person during the spirited battle on the Vregny plain, to the northwest of Soissons, which resulted yesterday in that elevated ground being cleared of the French, and which is described in the German official statement given out this afternoon. In this engagement the Germans claimed to have captured fourteen French officers and 1,150 men.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

Written for The Herald By Rev. J. S. Kirtley, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: JAN. 17.

Judges vi, 11-40; Call of Gideon.

CONNECTION.

The ups and downs continued. Their partial obedience to God about driving out the former inhabitants of the land kept them in a position to be corrupted, more because they were themselves less civilized than those heathen, were crude in their notions of God and found it hard to think the false gods of those people were "no gods at all." But God allowed an enemy to humiliate them, for He was bent on saving them at any cost. Now the children of the east are brow-beating and subduing them. That means Arabs, whether we call them Midianites or Amalekites, or Kenites. They were the same race of people that Moses' wife belonged to. Heber was one of them, and there were several other families that came with Moses or at different times. Now they are coming by the ten thousands. The people are again penitent and God has a man to deliver them.

THE LESSON.

I.

Gideon Called and Prepared. 11-16.

"And the angel of Jehovah came, and sat under the oak which was in Ophrah, that pertained unto Joash the Abiezrite: and his son Gideon was beating out wheat in the winepress, to hide it from the Midianites. And the angel of Jehovah appeared unto him, and said unto him, Jehovah is with thee, thou mighty man of valor. And Gideon said unto him, Oh, my lord, if Jehovah is with us, why then is all this befallen us? and where are all His wondrous works which our fathers told us of, saying, Did not Jehovah bring us up from Egypt? but now Jehovah has cast us off, and delivered us into the hand of Midian. And Jehovah looked upon him, and said, Go in this thy might, and save Israel from the hand of Midian: have not I sent thee? And he said unto Him, Oh, Lord, wherewith shall I save Israel? behold my family is the poorest in Manasseh, and I am the least in my father's house. And Jehovah said unto him, Surely I will be with thee, and thou shalt smite the Midianites as one man."

1. SELECTED.—From all others he was selected. There were reasons. He had personal gifts that fitted him. One gift was looks, for he and his brothers were said to look like the children of a king. Another was strength, a real mighty man, with force and will and influence that won recognition. He had power to become absorbed in an enterprise. His faith needed training, but he was capable of the training. God always has a man ready for any work He wants done and the man is always equal to the task with God's help. He had some valuable connections, perhaps.

2. TRAINED.—His previous training had been helpful, but God must take him through still further preparation, for he needs it. He is rebellious against God. A prophet had told them of God's providential kindnesses and of their ungrateful and complaining way, and Gideon didn't see how it could be. Now, when God's angel came—perhaps God's Son, who was afterward to come to the world and be known as Jesus—Gideon asked "if God is with us how could all this happen to us? He is to be trained in three things especially—confidence in God, courage in action, and he is given the task of destroying the altar to Baal which his father Joash, had built and was the custodian of, and that would get his blood hot with courage; a wholesome humility, and that started with a sense of his unfitness, for in the light of that task he thought of himself as the weakest member in the humblest family of a small tribe, a humility that was at first affected to hide his fears, but became real. His success with the altar of Baal would prove that God was with him.

II.

He Gathers the Hosts for War. 33-35.

"Then all the Midianites and the Amalekites and the children of the east assembled themselves together; and they passed over, and encamped in the valley of Jezreel. But the spirit of Jehovah came upon Gideon; and he blew a trumpet; and Abiezer was gathered together after him. And he sent messengers throughout all Manasseh; and they also were gathered together after him; and he sent messengers unto Asher, and unto Zebulun, and unto Naphtali; and they came up to meet them."

1. ENEMY.—Just then the enemy appeared in great numbers. They were Arab tribes, from down in the Sinaitic peninsula, who were too busy being Arabs to raise their own crops and they need not do it as long as they could forage on such industrious people as Israel. So, here they came to get the crops Israel had produced. The people lived in dread and went into caves to live, slipping out with their reap hooks to gather what they could and then thresh it out with falls in the caves, or in some obscure place like the well concealed wine press, such as Gideon was using. Now Gideon is worked up thoroughly. The call of the angel stirred him; the fight he had on his hands when he broke down the altar of Baal, cut down the post, or Asherah, built an altar to God and offered his father's ox on it stirred him more; now the presence of the bold, brutal and scornful enemy worked him up to a frenzy.

2. ARMY.—They came from the neighborhood and tribes most imperilled, beginning with the people of Abiezer and taking in the tribes of Manassah, Zebulon, Asher and Naphthali. The response was good. God's Spirit was in charge of Gideon and aroused the people, through his call. They are assembling near where the enemy are encamped in Jezreel in the vale of Esdraelon.

III.

The Final Sign of God's Presence. 36-40.

"And Gideon said unto God, If Thou wilt save Israel by my hand, as Thou hast spoken, behold, I will put a fleece of wool on the threshing-floor; if there be dew on the fleece only, and it be dry upon all the ground, then shall I know that Thou wilt save Israel by my hand, as Thou last spoken. And it was so; for he rose up early on the morrow, and pressed the fleece together, and wrung the dew out of the fleece, a bowlful of water. And Gideon said unto God, Let not Thine anger be kindled against me, and I will speak but this once: let me make trial, I pray Thee, but this once with the fleece; let it now be dry only upon the fleece, and upon all the ground let there be dew. And God did so that night; for it was dry upon the fleece only, and there was dew on all the ground."

1. HIS FEAR.—The Bible never hides the weaknesses of the heroes. As he sees the enemy, four times as strong in numbers as his own and many times better fed, coming to put down the rebellion they had heard of, his heart trembles. We don't blame him. He had frankly expressed his doubts of God to the angel, had been taught in his ignorance, had pleaded his poverty, weakness and inability, to all of which God had been gracious. Now he asks one more proof that God is with him. It is one that would readily occur to him, for the dews are very heavy there. If the dew falls on the fleece alone and not on the ground it will be God's sign of cheer. It was not a trial of God; not the demand of unbelief but the cry of faith for more strength.

2. PATIENCE.—Because it was the cry of faith for more light on duty God grants the request and the second request that the ground have the dew the next night and the fleece be dry. God deals with us as He finds us, adapting Himself to our weakness. He tries to give us more experience that will teach us. He will not break the bruised reed nor quench the smoking flax.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

When God commanded His servants in the Old and New Testaments to any task, he never gave them their entire equipment at the outset. He expected them to show some confidence in Him. He supplied what they needed when they needed it. All great missionary enterprises have been entered upon in that spirit. Our noblest missionaries went out feeling their dependence on God. Carey did. Judson did. Faith is not folly, of course. We are not to run before we are sent. But when we are sent we ought to go, feeling that this is our sufficient might, that God has sent us.—Goodchild.

Every true preacher knows what it is to nurse people from one experience to another, guarding true Christians against their weaknesses as well as utilizing their strength. So God deals with all of us, and even when He deals with us in our sins He is wonderfully tender and gracious, and long-suffering, though never indulgent.—Van Ness.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. Why is it true that God always has a man ready for an important task?
2. Why is it that the man is seldom an importation from abroad?
3. What is the difference between captious criticism and anxious faith?
4. While training leaders does God neglect the masses?
5. To what extent is it right for us to ask signs from God?

An Old, Family Cough Remedy, Home-Made

Easily Prepared—Costs Very Little, but is Prompt, Sure and Effective

By making this pint of old-time cough syrup at home you not only save about $2, as compared with the ready-made kind, but you will also have a much more prompt and positive remedy in every way. It overcomes the usual coughs, throat and chest colds in 24 hours—relieves even whooping cough quickly—and is excellent, too, for bronchitis, bronchial asthma, hoarseness and spasmodic croup.

Get from any drug store 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Full directions with Pinex. Keeps perfectly and tastes good.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. It quickly loosens the dry, hoarse or painful cough and heals the inflamed membranes. It also has a remarkable effect in overcoming the persistent loose cough by stopping the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes.

The effect of Pine on the membranes is known by almost every one. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract combined with guaiacol and other natural healing pine elements.

There are many worthless imitations of this famous mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex," and do not accept anything else.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

PATROL PLANS ACTIVITIES

Masons Will Give Series of Entertainments and Dances.

Will Begin Program of Drills; Get-Together Meet a Success.

Plans for the coming year, the meeting of the imperial council of the Shrine at Seattle this spring and a proposed series of entertainments and dances were talked over at a meeting and get-together party of Arab patrol, Aad temple, held last evening at the Holland.

The first part of the evening was spent at cards, after which a program of music was rendered by Prof. A. F. M. Custance, Don Cole of the Scottish Rite quartet and Miss Maybelle Messersmith, one of the Holland entertainers. Following this a supper was served, after which the meeting was held, with the entertainment committee in charge.

Beginning tomorrow evening the patrol will start its program of drills for the year. This was announced by Capt. A. H. Paul, who gave a short talk, outlining the plans of the body for the coming twelve months. Capt. Paul was recently re-elected head of the patrol for the fourth successive year.

In addition to the address by Capt. Paul, short talks were also made by Potentate Lyndel Ayres of Aad temple, Past Potentates A. P. Cook, H. W. Richardson, Jesse Norton and Henry Nesbitt, First Lieut. Wallace Welbanks, First Sergeant George Sherwood, Dr. C. F. Haney and Prof. Custance. Potentate Ayres announced that a dance will be given on Friday evening, Feb. 19, for the Shrine girls.

The get-together meeting last evening is the first of a series planned for this year by the entertainment committee appointed last evening. Arrangements are now being made by the committee for a sleighride party some time next month. Harold Giertsen, Frank Scribner, Theodore Larson and A. B. Kapplin constitute the committee.

MEN GET "THREE SQUARES" IN NAVY

Uncle Sam Is Offering Something More Than Foreign Travel.

While the benefits of foreign travel have always been held up as a charm to lure young men into the United States navy, Uncle Sam is now holding up the temptation of "good pay," "three squares" and a good bed. Training for a trade and the association of a high class of men are also a prominent feature of the navy bulletin. Peter Coyle, local recruiting officer, gives The Herald the following:

"But the pay in the navy is the thing for you to think about. The average per man in the navy is over $35 per month, with good board and lodging free. Note that I say good board and lodging.

"Thus at the end of each month the average amount which each man has left in cash is about $35. Do you have any such amount left at the end of each month? It isn't the wages you get, it's what you have left that counts. And you get your pay in the navy just the same whether you are idle, on furlough, or sick; whether times are good or bad; and if you spend thirty years in the navy, you retire on three-fourths pay for the remainder of your life"

ORE INDUSTRY IS GROWING

Explorations in Morrison County Are Bringing Good Results.

Former Congressman Buckman Expects Revival in Iron Trade.

The iron ore industry in this state will undoubtedly take on new life and be much more widely distributed in the near future, according to C. B. Buckman of Little Falls, former congressman from Minnesota and now deputy United States marshal. Mr. Buckman is in Duluth attending the January term of the United States district court.

Former Congressman Buckman was at one time one of the best known politicians in the state, and served in the state senate and the Federal house of representatives. He now says, however, that he is entirely out of politics, but was willing to discuss any other matter of interest.

"The discovery of iron ore near Brainerd and Little Falls has caused widespread interest in that district of the state," said Mr. Buckman today. "Many samples of ore have been tested and the quality of the ore found to be excellent. New explorations are being made and capital is at hand to finance any undertaking, however great, that may develop.

"During the last year, of course, the iron ore industry has suffered from the general slackness of business in industrial circles, but this is merely temporary. I expect to see a remarkable revival in ore business in the near future. Just how soon this will be is still uncertain as the business of the country is now adjusting itself."

Electric Railroads.

Mr. Buckman said that Morrison county is on the upbuild and transportation facilities are about to be improved. Two companies are now looking over the territory with the view of putting in an electric line connecting Little Falls, Brainerd and other flourishing cities of that section in touch with the Twin Cities. An electric line, Mr. Buckman says, would be better for Little Falls than connections with a steam line. Little Falls at present has only one railway entering the city, and for years there has been an attempt made to get better transportation facilities.

Mr. Buckman expects to be in Duluth several days. He is well known here and has been associated in an official capacity with many men of this city.

Several delightful musical and literary numbers followed the installation ceremonies.

ENGLISH TO MAKE ANILINE DYES

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Jan. 1.—No official statement has been issued regarding the scheme for a national aniline dye industry, but committees have been formed and a company organization mapped out.

The company, it is understood, will be capitalized at 3,000,000 pounds ($15,000,000), on which the government will advance 1,500,000 pounds at 4 per cent interest, principal repayable in twenty-five years. The interest and sinking fund to repay the loan will come out of the company's profits, and not touch the capital.

The stock is subscribed by textile manufacturers, the principal users of synthetic dyes, and by contracts binding users to purchase their supplies from the company for five years after peace is declared. By that time, it is believed that all the dye needed for home use, at least, will be British made. Heretofore, Great Britain has been almost as dependent on Germany for aniline colors as the United States is.

To Stop Falling Hair

Falling hair—the forerunner of baldness—is nearly always due to the presence of a parasite known as the dandruff germ. If your hair falls out, the chances are ten to one that the dandruff germ is the cause of it, and you cannot do better than to get your druggist to make you up a bottle of the old reliable formula, consisting of 6 oz. Bay Rum, 2 oz. Lavona de Composee, and ½ dram Menthol Crystals. Apply night and morning, rubbing briskly in the scalp with the finger tips. This preparation, which enjoys a world-wide reputation as a hair grower and dandruff destroyer, is claimed by many to restore gray hair to its original color as well as making the hair grow and destroying the dandruff germ.

SKIS USED IN SCOUTING

Thousands of Soldiers in Galicia Move About Noiselessly.

Sometimes They Are Obliged to Fight and Fight Hard.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Vienna, Dec. 26.—Use of skis in this war, previously described in these dispatches, has been developed on a large scale out in the Carpathians and on the hills and dreary plains of Galicia, where thousands of Austro-Hungarian soldiers move about rapidly and noiselessly in this manner. Their first duty is scouting, but now and then they are obliged to fight and fight hard.

While some of the ski organizations have white uniforms, others have to make use of white blankets to render themselves as invisible as they possibly can.

A ski patrol's experience of a night is here related by the officer in charge. The patrol had left camp in the evening, and wrapped in white blankets, the men were speeding through a Carpathian forest late at night when the breaking of twigs cautioned the officer to order them to cover.

An Alarm Signal.

"A second later," he says, "I heard an alarm signal given by one of my corporals. I decided to investigate and with three men proceeded in the direction whence the signal had come. Near an ice and snow-covered bramble bush one of the patrol signalled caution and then informed me that near him on the right there was a Russian scouting party.

"There was nothing to be seen, however. Though the moon shone brightly, the tree trunks, snow-covered undergrowth and a shower of powdered silver sent down by the gently moving branches of the trees, hampered the view. So we crept under the brambles and saw to it that the powdered, cold silver entered by our collars.

"The ensuing wait was none too pleasant. We were measuring the snow with the length of our bodies, which is not the finest pastime I know.

"Right ahead of me there was an open stretch of snow and I had been watching the filagrees thrown upon it by the moon as its beams broke through the branches of the tall beeches and oaks, when a long, black shadow appeared from the right.

Three Cossacks Appear.

"The next instant three Cossacks entered the clearing. Their horses were small and shaggy and white, and the men seemed to hang in the saddles rather than sit in them. They were wrapped in thick furs. The bright moonlight showed they were Asiatics—broad faces with strong chins, prominent cheekbones and long, black beards with the frost clinging to the hair.

"A sign from me and my men were on their feet—another moment and the Cossacks were off their horses. They were a most surprised lot. Abject terror stood in their eyes and they had difficulty understanding that we were no evil spirits of the forest.

Russian Infantry Comes.

"The Cossacks had hardly been taken to the rear by one of the men, when the vigorous tramp of Russian infantry was heard. Back under the bramble bush. Twenty yards away from us the Russians marched past."

The writer then recounts how the ski patrol followed the Russians into a village. Later in the night he was able to get in touch with the commander of a German contingent, which occupied a quarry on the other side of the village. Towards morning he also discovered how the Russians, who had taken the village, could be outflanked. With dawn everybody was in his place and fire was opened. The Russians were forced to retreat in disorder, leaving behind many killed and wounded in addition to prisoners.

"We are known as the 'white ravens,'" concludes the account.

ORE STOCKS IN FURNACE YARDS

Surplus Above Normal Is Being Steadily Cut Down.

Recently compiled figures on Lake Superior iron ore show that iron ore stocks in furnace yards are approximately 2,200,000 tons larger than normal for this time of the year.

During the season of 1914, 32,140,000 tons of ore were brought down from the Lake Superior region. It was generally estimated the iron ore stocks of the furnaces using Lake Superior ore were 5,000,000 tons larger than normal at the beginning of 1914. During 1914 the iron ore consumption by these same furnaces was estimated at 34,900,000 tons, or 2,800,000 tons larger than production. On this basis the iron ore stocks are 2,200,000 tons larger than normal.

Considering the low percentage of capacity at which steel mills of the United States operated during the last quarter of 1914 the surplus above normal of only 2,200,000 tons is rather a good showing. At one time it was reported only 25 per cent of capacity was in operation.

Since Jan. 1 last, the mills have reached 40 per cent of capacity and the outlook is for an increased production. The material improvement in the iron and steel business the last few weeks will, it is believed, soon offset the surplus of iron ore, but it will require an uninterrupted improvement materially to affect the lake trade early in the season.

Those who are accepted as authorities on lake matters are not sure that the season of 1915 will be remarkably busy. At best they do not see anything like briskness in the ore trade before June or July. It is their opinion that up to that time business will improve, but will not be so general as to assure steady business for the lake boats throughout the season.

In the only trade now taking ships, the grain trade, there is very little activity. Brokers offer grain at Chicago at 1⅜ cents under the new bill of lading. There is some negotiating being done at 2 cents, and the new bill of lading alone is acceptable to the owners of the ships.

JUDGMENT IS ENTERED.

Final Action Taken in Case of State Against Longyear Lake Fee Owners.

Formal entry of judgment was made in district court yesterday afternoon in the Longyear lake mining case in which the state of Minnesota sought and obtained an injunction against Eliza Korrer and other fee owners of mining property on Longyear lake near Chisholm from interfering with the public waters of the lake. The court ordered judgment for $111.18 costs in favor of the state.

Judgment was entered in conformity with a decision of the supreme court handed down several weeks ago. The supreme court, in granting the injunction, reversed the decision of Judge Cant of the trial court.

President Salvador.

San Salvador, Jan. 14.—Carlos Melendez was chosen president of the republic of Salvador in the presidential election, which terminated yesterday. Alfonso Quinorez was elected vice president. There was virtually no opposition to these two men and members of all the political parties expressed satisfaction at the result.

The Doctor's Advice

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any cases of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood streets, Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Young Woman:" "For several years I have doctored for distressing stomach symptoms, such as sour stomach, belching, accumulations of gas, heart-burn, drowsiness after eating, sleeplessness, coated tongue, bad breath, inertia, and I am getting thin and weak, my complexion is poor, and so far have not been improved by the medicines I have taken."

Answer: Your need is medicine to aid digestion, overcome dyspepsia and tone up the stomach, liver and bowels. I advise you to take "double-four stomach and bowel medicine," sold in sealed packets, by druggists, with complete directions.

Miss Adele writes: "My hair is combing out, my scalp itches and dandruff is very annoying, and I want something to cure these conditions.

Answer: For hair and scalp troubles I have never found anything to equal the beneficial results of a thorough treatment of plain yellow minyol. It is cooling, cleansing and invigorating, and thousands now use it regularly as a hair and scalp tonic.

Henry J. C. writes: "Something seems to be wrong with my system and I don't know what it is. I have huge puffs under my eyes, my eyes are bloodshot in morning and my feet and ankles are swollen. Sometimes I have chills and feel weak and tired most of the time."

Answer. Your eliminating organs, such as liver and kidneys, are in need of treatment. Begin taking balmwort tablets at once. Get them in sealed tubes with full directions of any well-stocked druggist.

C. M. C. asks: "Please relieve me of a coated tongue, foul breath, headache, constipation and general ill health."

Answer: If habitually constipated, you should take three-grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur) and arouse the organs which eliminate waste material from your body. These tablets purify the blood and improve the health by acting on the liver, kidneys and bowels. Obtain in sealed tubes with full directions.

"Sarah" says: "Can anything be done for one who is bothered with rheumatism. If so, please reply."

Answer: You can be relieved of your rheumatism if you take the following: Mix by shaking well and take a teaspoonful at meal times and at bed time and you will soon be relieved. Comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; syrup sarsaparilla comp., 5 ozs.; wine of colchicum, one-half oz.; sodium salicylate, 4 drams; iodide of potassium, 2 drams.

Miss Bertie L. asks: "What remedy can you recommend to reduce obesity safely? I want to reduce about thirty pounds."

Answer: I rely on five-grain arbolone tablets as being the most effective and convenient treatment to reduce abnormal fat. Druggists supply this in sealed tubes with complete directions. After the first few days a pound a day is not too much reduction.

Mrs. M. D. D. asks: "Do you think it is possible for me to increase my weight from 97 pounds to about 125 pounds?"

Answer: Yes, I believe that the regular use of a special tonic tablet will do this for you as it has for thousands of others. Ask your druggist for three-grain hypo-nuclame tablets in sealed package with full directions. Take them for several months to get the full benefit.

"Ray" writes: "Can a sufferer from bronchial troubles be relieved? Doctors do not seem to help me, what would you suggest?

Answer: To relieve chronic cold, sore throat bronchitis, I would advise the use of concentrated essence mentho-laxene. Purchase this at any drug store in 2½ oz. packages and mix according to directions given on bottle and you will very shortly be relieved of all bronchial trouble. This will not only relieve, but will correct, and is very pleasant to take.

M. G. W. asks: "What can one do for a bad catarrhal condition? I have suffered a long time and am unable to find relief. In addition to catarrh in throat and nostrils, I am also affected with pelvic catarrh (or leucorrhea).

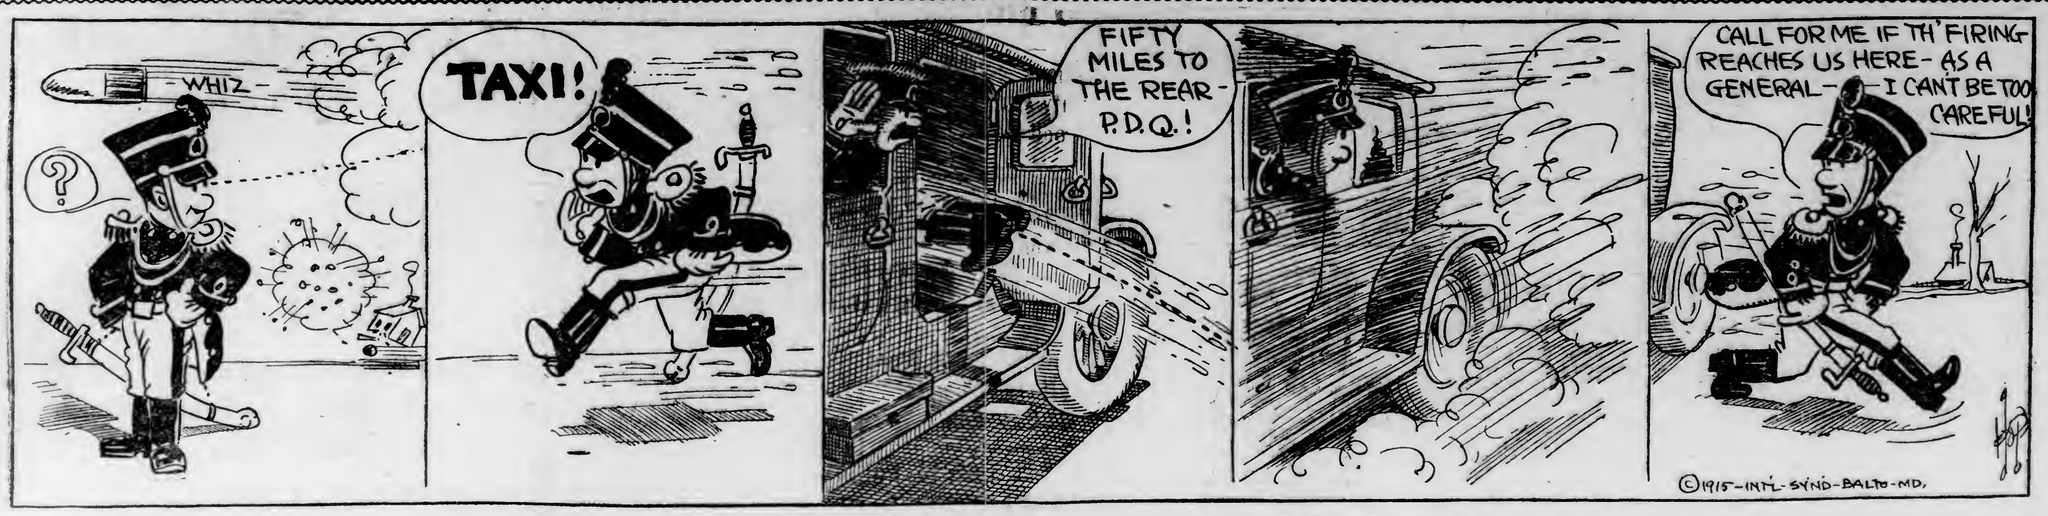

Answer: A good tonic and builder such as three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets should build up your vitality, while using antiseptic Vilane powder for local treatment. Get either a two or eight-ounce package of the powder and complete directions with package will tell you how to use.

John C. L. writes: "I find my natural strength and nervous system failing me. I do not recuperate as of yore. My food and rest seem not to benefit as they should. Am weak, despondent and unable to perform the duties which were assumed earlier in life, while my ambition for work and pleasure is slowly going."

Answer: I think a powerful, harmless tonic and nervine medicine will rejuvenate and restore the functions of digestion, assimilation and elimination by invigorating the nervous system. Obtain three-grain cadomene tablets, packed in sealed tubes, and take as per directions accompanying. — Advertisement.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

EXPECT FINE CORN DISPLAY

North Dakota Boys Will Compete With Parents in Exhibits.

Development of Corn Industry to Be Shown at Fargo Show.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the interesting features of the corn show to be held here Jan. 19-22, will be the fact that many of the boys who were winners in the state-wide contest under the auspices of the better farming section of the North Dakota Agricultural college, will compete against their own fathers and other adult farmers of the state.

Among the exhibits will be those from the fields of the winners in the state acre contest. Ransom county has won the state prize for two years. Traill, Richland, Cass and other counties have won considerable fame for their high-grade corn and many of the exhibits will come from near the Montana line and others from along the international boundary, demonstrating the widespread area over which high-grade corn is being grown in this state.

Judged By Experts.

The corn will be judged by experts and scored closely for the benefit of farmers and seedmen interested in the development of the crop. Many seekers for high-grade seed will be in attendance, not only to secure some of the actual prize-winning ears, but to get in touch with its growers for seed in large quantities, as the value of acclimated seed has been so thoroughly demonstrated that those interested in corn culture will no longer take any chances on seed that is not of the highest quality.

President Randlett of the corn show anticipates a much larger display than in former years. It is probable there will be 1,500 individual exhibits. There have been a large number of cash prizes hung up for the different leading types of corn and in addition to the honor that goes with the winning, there will be sufficient financial reward to interest the exhibitors.

Those who have been doing missionary work for some years to encourage the growth of corn in North Dakota now feel they are seeing a most remarkable development, not only in the quality of the corn grown but in the cultivation of the crop over such a wide area in the state.

Jelly Roll Recipe

Only Two Eggs Required

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

This Jelly Roll is fast becoming very popular on account of the way it keeps fresh. With proper handling it should keep fresh a whole week, providing it isn't eaten up in the meantime, for it is every bit as good as it looks. 33

K C Jelly Roll

One cup sifted flour; scant half teaspoonful salt; 2 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; grated rind of 1 lemon; 2 eggs beaten light; 1 cup sugar; ⅓ cup hot milk; glass of jelly; powdered sugar.

Beat the sugar into the eggs; add the lemon rind, then the flour, sifted three times with the salt and baking powder; and, lastly, the milk. Bake in a buttered dripping pan; turn out on a damp cloth, trim off the crisp edges; spread with jelly and turn over and over into a roll while still warm. Dredge the top with powdered sugar.

Hot milk used in the jelly roll enables it to be rolled without danger of cracking. Have the milk scalding hot, also be careful to have the eggs and sugar beaten together until very light and creamy. Bake in a moderate oven.

K C Jelly Roll is illustrated on page thirty-two of the new and handsomely illustrated 64-page K C Cook's Book, which may be secured free by sending the certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the Jaques Mfg. Co., Chicago, Ill.

CARLTON WANTS WATER.

Present Drilling Down Nearly 1,000 Feet Does Not Yield Drop.

Carlton, Minn., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The monthly meeting of the Carlton Commercial club Monday evening was well attended and officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, J. A. Gillespie vice president, Carlton Wall; secretary, J. V. Barstow; treasurer, John F. Hynes.

The principal topic discussed was the water works proposition. The citizens of the village had been invited to attend and express their views to the council an intimation of the public sentiment regarding the well drilling matter. The drillers have gone to a depth of 900 feet and have found no indications of water, the work being constantly in a formation of granite and slate. Unless the formation changes within a few days it is probable that the work will be discontinued and an attempt made to secure a supply of water from some other source.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush Your Kidneys Occasionally If You Eat Meat Regularly.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular ineat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

THE DAILY ROLL CALL; A COLUMN OF SPORTS

BY BRUCE.

DON'T say Federals to us. To our point of view they look yellow and tainted with the the ochre of poor sports. Apparently beaten in the game of bidding for ball players, losing in the game of gate receipts, like spanked kids the Feds, the baker and brewer crew, run to the Federal authorities and attempt to kill the game all of us have loved in the past.

On the level it is getting fierce in this country. Someone makes some money, and out goes the hammer. Suppose some of the magnates have made money, it is to be presumed that it required nerve, business acumen and hard work to get the clubs. There have been losing years that the public has wotted little of.

Some of the baker-brewer crowd saw roseate visions of fortunes. All you had to do was to come in and the old mazuma would be there. The Feds lost money, that fact is pretty well established now, and the big yelp has gone up, the big yellow streak has been shown.

There was undoubtedly sympathy for the Feds. When it came to a game of bidding real money for ball players, even if the outlaws were establishing a dangerous precedent, the public was encouraging the new comers. But this attempt to have the United States courts put an end to the game, is about the poorest display of sportsmanship anyone could expect from sporting personages.

We for one hope that the Federal league is driven to the wall. It has caused little but trouble and threatened the very life of the game. Goodnight.

Will They Wrestle.

WILL Miller and Ketonen ever meet on the canvas and settle once for all the controversy as to who is the better man?

A definite answer should be known from both men today or tomorrow. The contest trembles on the very precipice of the making—and yet it means so much to both boys that it is hard to believe that they will wrestle before the articles are signed.

Miller has been postponing the day of final wrestling judgment. Walter knows if his shoulders are pressed to the mat by this sensational, side-rolling Finn, who works with more mysterious power and subtler moves when underneath than on top, that he is through and that all of his claims of years will come tumbling down around his ears.

It is to be also presumed that Ketonen knows that if he loses he is dead, speaking from the athletic sense, as the proverbial door nail.

Jim Corbett dodged Bob Fitzsimmons for some considerable space of time. The pair finally met and Bob was the winner. Tommy Burns encircled the globe in the lusty endeavor to escape a meeting with Jack Johnson. The result of the encounter is well known. Jeffries put off the meeting with Johnson until a late and rueful day.

The day Walter Miller shouted to the world that no 158-pound wrestler lived who could take his measure, he awoke a ready response from Ketonen. In addition to the question of supremacy, there is the element of bitterness, the old score that will be settled if the men meet.

It should be a great match; to the loser it means oblivion. The Finn is ready to take a gambling chance on his ability to defeat Miller. Walter Miller is wrestling the best he has ever shown. He defeated in decisive form Theodore Peter. Can he beat Ketonen?

In the rosy prime of his career Nap Lajoie received $2,400 per year, and now in the mellowness of his 40 years he gets $9,000 every annum. No wonder the Federal fizzers are mystified and discouraged with the devious methods of the game.

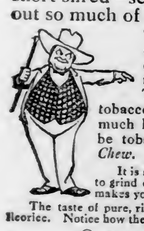

THE VILLAGE COUNCILMAN WELCOMES THE GOOD JUDGE.

FOR friendly comfort and contentment there's nothing can equal a small chew of "Right-Cut."

That's why men tell each other about it—call it the Real Tobacco Chew. The news spreads every day.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—cut fine, short shred—seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

ROWING MEN WILL DINE

Annual Feast to Be Held This Evening at St. Louis.

Whether the 1915 regatta of the Amateur Rowing Association of America will be held in Duluth, may be decided early next month. There is some sentiment against the holding of the national here this summer. One of the reasons is because of the fact that the European war has demoralized rowing in Canada; another is that Duluth wants the regatta in a year when the full strength of the whole of North America will be represented.

Early in March the directors of the national association will hold a meeting in New York. Duluth will be represented, and at that time it will be decided whether Duluth is going to make a bid for the big regatta.

Oarsmen's Dinner Tonight.

The annual get-together dinner of the oarsmen of the Duluth Boat club will be held at the St. Louis hotel this evening. Following the dinner the oarsmen will attend the Orpheum theater in a body.

The outline for the season will be made at the meeting. A monthly bulletin is to be issued during the coming season. It is expected that the 1915 season will be the greatest in the history of the club and every means is to be employed to stimulate interest. It is expected that a letter from Jim Ten Eyck will be read at the gathering of this evening.

CLASSY CONTEST IS LOOKED FOR

Central and Denfeld Basket Ball Teams Will Clash; Both Speedy.

The Central high school "gym" class basket ball team will clash with the Denfeld high school five tonight in what promises to be a classy exhibition. The "gym" class has been winning most of its games this season and has been playing a strenuous schedule.

They developed a speedy aggregation and will probably soon lay claim to the city championship honors in their class. They have three speedy forwards in Rosenberg, Shaw and Pedrizetti and "Lanky" Gogins plays a great game at center. Christoferson, Mason and Garon are used at the guard positions.

Under the supervision of D. W. Heistand, formerly a Central pedagogue, the new Denfeld quintet has developed into a machine of high caliber and they stand an excellent chance of lowering the Central gymnastic men. From all indications the game should be a hummer.

MAY SHUT JOHNSON OUT OF MEXICO

Carranza Likely to Prevent His Battle With Jess Willard.

El Paso, Texas, Jan. 14.—For the reason that some of the proceeds of the Johnson-Willard fight would go to enrich the war chest of Gen. Francisco Villa, the Carranza government may prohibit Jack Johnson, negro pugilist, entering Mexico.

Andres Garcia, Carranza consul here, has wired this recommendation to the "first chief" at Vera Cruz.

Johnson is matched to fight Jess Willard in Juarez on March 6. The negro is now at Buenos Aires, Argentina, or is on his way north from there.

BROWN AND MANDOT MAY BE MATCHED AFTER ALL

Range Battler Sends Word That He Is Willing to Do Business.

Abrams Will Talk to Pal Over the Long Distance Wire.

Pal Brown and Joe Mandot may meet across the bay after all. Yesterday Sig Abrams received a long distance telephone message from Colle Munroe, stating that the iron range battler was ready to talk business again and was ready to fight at the Head of the Lakes for what the promoters on the Superior side of the bay considered a reasonable figure.

Negotiations have been dropped with Mandot. Brown's refusal to consider the 25 per cent divvy, grounded the switch. Whether Tommy Walsh, the manager of the Frenchman, will take up the thread of the discourse where it was left off, is a question that various wire messages are endeavoring to ascertain.

Match May Be Changed.

In the case Mandot has been thrown off the eager scent of desire by the failure of Brown to sign at the appointed time, there is a possibility that some other lightweight will be secured for a meeting with Brown. And yet the promoters on the other side of the world's champion harbor have let it be understood that they are not exactly falling over one another in the mad scramble to sign the range battler.

Sig Abrams is to get together over the wire with Munro some time today, and it is understood that Brown will be at the Munroe elbow, ready to assent or disagree to any proposition that may be suggested between the Superior promoter and the pilot of the little Chisholm mauler.

Joe Shugrue, the present fighting sensation of the East, Milburn Saylor, the lad who made a sensational record of thirteen straight knockouts in Australia, and the same lad who is given credit by a lot of followers of the game of knocking Freddy Welsh out in the Winnipeg bout that was awarded to the present champion on a foul, or Johnny Griffiths of Akron, Ohio, are other lightweights that may be considered by the Superior promoters, should Mandot now refuse to come up here and meet Brown for the original named ante, $1,000.

Fans Want the Bout.

From the considerable amount of interest engendered by the negotiations for the Brown-Mandot contest, it is as certain as all such things can be that a fight between Mandot and the range boy would draw a big crowd to the arena.

Brown is popular, even though it is doubtful if his following is so large or enthusiastic as it was before his poor start against Johnny Tillman. But the very fact that in Mandot Brown would be meeting one of the real title contenders, would serve to stir the pot of public interest to the boiling point.

DULUTH MAY QUIT LEAGUE

Hockey Games With Calumet Will Be Only Exhibitions.

President Stephen H. Jones of the curling club stated today that unless President C. E. Webb of the American Hockey association could devise some plan whereby an entirely new Portage Lake team could be placed in the league, or that some other team could be substituted for the Portage Lake seven, that gave so unsportsmanlike an exhibition here last Friday, that the curling club team was out of the Western division for the season.

Webb may or may not come to Duluth. He has been expected here during the present week. Games with Calumet will be played, if Calumet so desires, only as exhibition games, pending the definite and final settlement of the threatened disruption of the Western division.

DUNBAR NOT COMING TO DULUTH SPIEL.

It is not believed that Bob Dunbar is coming to the Duluth spiel. St. Paul will send at least two rinks here and also at least two to the Manitoba event. According to information received today from St. Paul, Dunbar is going to the Winnipeg bonspiel.

Lem Deficl is also going to the Winnipeg spiel, according to the dispatch from St. Paul.

TROY AFTER A DULUTH CONTEST

New York Basket Ball Team May Meet Rotary Five.

Lawrence Duby, manager of the Rotary basket ball team, classed as one of the crack teams of the West, yesterday received a communication from the Troy, N. Y., quint. The management of the Troy team wants to come here for a contest with the Duluth five.

Sunday the Duluth boys will leave for the long trip that will take the team as far West as Billings, Mont. The members of the five are practicing every afternoon and evening. The other evening a practice game was played with the high school team and the showing of Duby's boys was of a sensational nature.

Overtures have been made to Duby to have the boys entered in the big Western basket ball tournament that will be held in Minneapolis some time in February. It is expected all of the crack teams of the country will play for the Western title. If the Duluth team makes a good showing on the trip there is no doubt, according to the statement made today by Manager Duby, but that Duluth will play in the big tourney.

DULUTH ATHLETE ENTERS SYRACUSE

JIMMY OWENS.

JIMMY OWENS HAS LEFT ST. PAUL FOR THE U. OF SYRACUSE.

Jimmy Owens has gone to the University of Syracuse. This school, whose oarsmen are coached by the elder Ten Eyck, is getting to be a haven for Duluth athletes. Walter Glass, Art Osman, Bunk Harris, Mat Brown, Joe Dumoe and Dunne are some of the Duluth boys who are there.

Owens started at the University of Minnesota last fall, but could not get his course fixed to his satisfaction. He played on the St. Paul Athletic club hockey team and made a sensational showing against the Portage Lake team.

Speaking of the St. Paul victory over Portage Lake, which was assisted in so largely by Jimmy Owens, it might be stated that congratulations were sent to Ray C. Johns, manager of the St. Paul team, and Capt. Nick Kahler by the officials of the curling club team.

CURLING

Colie Naughton, Ed Deetz and Dr. Gillespie went into the sixteens of The Herald event last evening. Naughton won from Ed Furni's rink by the score of 11 to 10, and Deetz won from Matzke and Gillespie from Walter Harris, which was something in the the nature of a surprise.

As a result of the play of last evening seven rinks are in the sixteens of The Herald.

Walter Hall went into the thirty-seconds of the Bagley through the defeat of Dr. Patton. There are no rinks in the sixteens of the Bagley, but eighteen skips are enjoying the greatest of expectations in the thirty-seconds.

There is a chance for some of the rinks in The Herald to go into the eights before the week is over and play is suspended for the big spiel.

Play in the Universal is proceeding at a lively rate.

SHUGRUE MAKES GOOD WITH LEACH CROSS.

New York, Jan. 14.—Joe Shugrue of Jersey City had the better of Leach Cross of this city in seven rounds of their ten-round bout here last night. Both lightweights fought cleanly and cleverly.

In the seventh round Cross was knocked down by a left over the heart after receiving a right on the jaw. Shugrue weighed 133 and Cross 131½ pounds ringside.

WILL PLAY SUPERIOR.

Portland Basket Ball Team Will Tackle Y. M. E. A. Quintet.

Tonight the Portland basket ball aggregation will journey over to Superior and will meet the fast Y. M. E. A. team on the latter club's own floor. The Portland quint have been playing a great game all season and have been winning nearly all of their games. They will be up against a much heavier and more experienced team than their own when they line up against the speedy Superiorites tonight.

The Duluth boys expect to put up a great scrap even if they are defeated. The lineup of the two teams will be:

BIG DULUTHS WIN FAST CONTEST FROM CENTRAL

High School Hockey Team Defeated in Well Played and Exciting Game By 7 to 5 Score—Both Teams Exhibit Great Form.

Duluth Central high school went down to an honorable defeat in the second hockey game of the amateur league schedule last evening at the French rink, the fast Big Duluth septet snatching the wreath of victory by a score of 7 to 5.

Surpassing the high school boys in the perfection of team work, and working combination passes with a trifle more smoothness, the clothiers squeezed out a narrow win after a game in which the bird of victory hovered first over one team and then the other.

Oulette at goal was one of the rocks upon which the hopes of victory of the studes were dashed. The clever cage guardian of the Big Duluths played a remarkable game. Many of the shots of the hill-toppers went past the first line of defense, only to be cleverly stopped by the alert defender of the cage.

Game Is Fast.

In six minutes after the call of time Right Wing Lindgren of the Big Duluths shot the first goal. The shot was a daisy, Lindgren shooting it in from nearly the center of the ice.

Parsons, right wing of Central, evened the score at the conclusion of fifteen minutes of play. Kerr made a nice flight down the side lines, passing the puck over to Johnny about fifteen feet in front of the cage, and Richards shot a pretty goal, which feat brought out the scholastic yells of the followers of the studes and the other members of the high school team who do not study.

Rover Gunderson of the high school team placed his team in the lead three minutes later by shooting the puck in from a lively scrimmage directly in front of the net. Two minutes elapsed and then Hogan, the doughty Turk, took a clever pass from Olson after the latter hand carried the puck neatly down the ice, and slipped it into the cage.

Olson scored the final goal of the first half from scrimmage just before the end of the first half.

The Second Half.

With the score of 3 to 2 in favor of the clothiers, Central was confident of turning the scales of battle in the second period. Olson for the Big Duluths increased the lead of the merchants immediately after the call of time by shooting the puck by Johnny Richards on a side line attempt. One minute later Olson came back and caged another shot, carrying the rubber from center ice, along the side lines, to directly in front of the net, where he shot a beauty.

Miller and Lindgren added two more scores to the merchants end at the expiration of three and five minutes of play. Miller was in the combination rush down the ice, taking the rubber on a pretty pass from Olson and shooting it by Richards. Lindgren shot his goal from scrimmage.

Gunderson shot a pretty goal for the studes and then Hegardt tried his best to win the game ofor dear old Central by shooting two gials. Central came to life and gave a pretty exhibition of team work. Gunderson received the rubber in a combination rush down the ice and shot it by Oulette. Hegardt's first goal came in a mixup with Olson in front of the net, while his final net came as the result of as pretty a play as was pulled during the evening.

Hgeardt carried the puck, unaided, from his own goal to near the net of the opposition and made a running shot that was a beauty. This goal came three minutes before the call of time and ended the scoring for the evening.

The contest was fast all the way through and was a fine exhibition of the great, old winter game. Neither the students nor the Big Duluths have struck their stride as yet. Brilliant individual plays were pulled, but both of the teams will have more finished team work before the season is very much older.

FORESTERS NEED NOT PAY UNUSUAL LEVY.

Watertown, N. Y., Jan. 14.—Supreme Court Justice Emerson handed down a decision yesterday in a test case which affects all Foresters in the United States who joined the order prior to 1899.

The decision holds that such Foresters need not pay extraordinary assessment levied in 1912, which amounts to virtually $260 on $1,000 of insurance. The case is that of Henry McClement vs. the supreme court of Foresters.

AMERICAN TOOLS IN GREAT DEMAND

Shell and Ammunition Factories in France Pay High Prices.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Cassel, Picardy, Jan. 1.—American automatic machine tools are in such extraordinary demand for extending the capacity of shell and ammunition factories that the price of these American tools is 100 per cent higher than it was five months ago. The French manufacturers appear willing to pay that and more for quick delivery.

Upon the recent assumption of the offensive by the allies, it was reported that Gen. Joffre placed 4,000 shells per day per gun as the minimum with which the artillery should begin the forward movement.

It was said that the reserve of artillery ammunition had accumulated to nearly 10,000,000 rounds. Large as this reserve would seem to be, it could all be shot away in 333 minutes with 2,000 guns in action at once, according to an expert's figures, but under the most probable intensity, the reserves would suffice for twenty-five days of high pressure, not counting the additional supplies, manufactured during that period.

TRADE VIEWS OPTIMISTIC

Duluth Jobbers Report Decided Upturn in Business Over Northwest.

Retailers Placing Orders More Freely Than in Several Months Back.

Marked revival in business over the West is reported by Duluth wholesalers and manufacturers. The views of country merchants in Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana and Wisconsin are said to be optimistic, and orders in all staple lines are being placed more freely than in several months back. The high prices realized for their crops have put more money in circulation in the country districts, and collections and the inclination to place orders have improved correspondingly.

Change for the better is noted in practically every section, including the lumbering districts, where there had been a marked hesitancy for several months.

Grocery Trade Satisfactory.

Business in groceries was reported generally satisfactory by the Barthe-Martin company of this city, and the Twohy-Elmon Mercantile company of Superior. The call for canned and dried fruits and vegetables is said to be good for the season, attributable largely to the lower prices prevailing as compared with a year ago. No special changes in quotations through the general list are noted this week, with the exception that imported goods are showing an advancing tendency due to the continued falling off in importations.

Sugar prices are firm with raws up slightly. Refiners are still holding standard granulated sugar on a basis of 4.95 cents at New York.

Coffees are steady and quotations are thought to be scraping along the bottom. It is noted that the visible supply of coffees in the United States on Jan. 11 was much lighter than a year ago, being reported at 1,764,302 bags as compared with 1,963,478.

Dry Goods Orders Improve.

Improvement, both in mail and travelers' orders was note by F. A. Patrick & Co. The various departments in the warehouse are now busy shipping out spring orders. Gratification was expressed over the success thus far attending the house's special campaign in patricks. The regular salesmen in that line are reporting increased business over last year from the same grounds and the additional men put on are making satisfactory bookings. The local house is now covering the whole upper tier of states in patricks from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, besides Oregon, Colorado, Oklahoma and Texas.

Hardware Dealers Optimistic.

The two local whole jobbing establishments advise that they are starting the new year well in the way of general orders. Selling forces have been augmented and, taken on the whole, a fair increase is noted. "Business is good and we are satisfied with the outlook," said the sales manager of one of the houses today.

The iron and steel markets are firming up and that is leading to more confident buying on the part of retailers. An advance of 5 cents per hundred pounds in nails came about this week.

Good Stationery Demands.

A good early call for building and roofing papers from the territory and steady business in general stationery was commented upon by the Peyton Paper company. Business was said to be comparing favorably with last year, both in number of orders and the aggregate amount involved. There have been no marked price changes of late in either the stationery or paper price lists.

Furniture Trade Looking Up.

"Trade has run ahead of a year ago with us during the last two weeks," said C. E. De Witt, president of the De Witt-Seitz company. Salesmen, he said, report better conditions over the entire territory from Minnesota to North Dakota and Montana. A surprising aggregate furniture business was taken by the company's salesmen covering the range ground on this first trip of the year.

Warm Weather Affects Shoes.

Salesmen of the Northern Shoe company are out over their grounds after their visit to the factory during the holiday season. Though sales of heavy footwear are being hampered through the light snowfall over the West so far and the mild brand of weather prevailing during the last ten days, orders in other lines are said to be in fair volume.

The company's special hockey and skating shoe met with a gratifying reception in sporting and athletic circles. Shipments of them were made to some of the leading centers, including Chicago.

IMMIGRATION LAWS RIGIDLY ENFORCED

Hardships of Americans in Canada Told By Official.

Immigration laws existing between the United States and Canada were never so rigidly enforced as at present according to a United States government official stationed across the border, who is now in Duluth. Americans who are ignorant of this fact, are being put to a great deal of trouble in securing return passage to the United States because they fail to provide themselves with any means of identification.

"Any American going to the Dominion, should provide himself with proper means of identification," he said, "and this will save him time and money. A great many Americans who go there for just a few days, find it impossible to return until they identify themselves, if they carried only a bank book, letter, or any other simple means of identification, their difficulties would be slight. I would urge that cities along the border give publicity to this fact so that travelers would take the proper precautions."

Since the European war broke out immigration has been greatly curtailed, and rigid enforcement of laws will be kept up.

ACTION TO RECOVER CERTIFIED CHECKS

Duluth Contractors Sue School Board and Bank.

Gust Frederickson and Otto Pearson, contractors, started suit in district court yesterday against P. M. Olson, R. A. Manheim and Paul Sabrowski as members of the board of education in School District No. 71, Rice Lake township, and the First National bank. Possession of two certified checks totaling $526.80, which were drawn on the First National bank and which are retained by the board, is sought.

Frederickson & Pearson were the lowest bidders on a schoolhouse for the district. The bid was for $5,628, and certified checks for 10 per cent accompanied it. The bids were opened Sept. 30 last, but the contract was never let, owing to a dispute which arose in connection with the nature of the bond to be furnished by the contractors. The plaintiffs declared they offered to surrender the contract, but that the checks were never returned.

THROUGH THE PANAMA

Program for Trip of Ships of U. S. and Other Nations.

Vanguard Will Go Through Great Waterway on Feb. 26.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Plans for the cruise of the Atlantic fleet and visiting foreign war craft to San Francisco in celebration of the opening of the Panama canal were announced last night by Secretary Daniels. The proposed great international rendezvous at Hampton Roads has been abandoned, and instead the program provides that the ships shall proceed directly to Cristobal at the eastern entrance to the canal to be passed through to the Pacific side at stated intervals.

Consent of congress will have to be obtained for the change, as the law authorizing the cruise expressly set forth that the United States should invite the maritime nations of the world to send naval vessels to Hampton Roads for the event. Secretary Daniels said he had no doubt that the necessary legislation would be enacted at once. He said that the isthmus would be a convenient gathering place both for the American fleet and the few visiting vessels that would participate. Only Spain, Portugal, Argentina and Cuba so far have indicated their intention of sending ships.

Feb. 26 is fixed as the date for the passage of the vanguard of the Atlantic fleet. Other vessels will go through day by day, until March 10, when President Wilson is due to arrive on the battleship New York, and transfer to the Old Oregon for the trip through the canal.

Cruise to San Francisco.

Secretary Daniels announced the following program for preliminary operations and the cruise to San Francisco:

"The following named foreign vessels are expected to take part in the celebration incident to the opening of the Panama canal:

"Argentina will send the battleship Moreno, flying the flag of Vice Admiral Onofre Betbeder; Cuba will send the cruiser Cuba; Portugal will send the cruiser Almirante Reiz and the dispatch boat Cinco de Outubro; Spain will send the battleship Espana. Vice Admiral Don Ramon Estrada Cateiva has been appointed by the Spanish government as its naval representative.

"The battleships of the Atlantic fleet and the destroyer flotilla will proceed to Guantanamo and Guacanayaba bay on Jan. 17 for extended fleet exercises and target practice, seventeen battleships participating in the maneuvers. The Georgia, Texas, South Carolina and Minnesota will remain at their home yards undergoing overhauling until Feb. 15. These vessels will proceed to Southern waters the latter part of February.

"The Texas will remain at Hampton Roads to escort the president to Panama in the New York; the New York proceeding to Hampton Roads from Cuban waters about Feb. 15, prepared to receive the president on March 5.

"It is intended that the Washington relieve the Delaware in Mexican waters as soon as practicable, and that the Delaware and Rhode Island will join the fleet in Cuban waters. The Rhode Island has been ordered from New Orleans to Norfolk for docking and on the completion of docking, about Jan. 22, will proceed to Guantanamo to join the fleet.

"The battleships and the destroyers of the active flotilla (about twenty-three) will remain in Cuban waters, carrying on drills and exercises, until Feb. 25, and will then proceed to Panama, all twenty-one battleships going through the canal to San Francisco.

Schedule of Movements.

"The schedule of movements from Guantanamo Feb. 25, is in general as follows subject to such changes as may be necessary.

"Feb. 26—Vestal, Yankton, Solace and tugs arrive at Colon: proceed to Gatun lake, coal and proceed to Panama.

"Feb. 28—Fleet flagship, first and second divisions, arrive at Colon; proceed to Gatun lake, coal, thence to Panama, arriving March 2-3.

"March 3—Third and fourth divisions arrive at Colon and follow first and second divisions through canal, arriving Panama, March 5-6.

"March 4-8—Foreign men of war arrive Colon and pass through canal, coaling at Gatun lake from colliers.

"March 5—President leaves Hampton roads on New York; Texas as escort.

"March 8—Celtic arrives Colon, coal at Gatun lake and arrives Panama, March 10.

"March 10—New York and Texas arrive Colon: proceed to Gatun lake, coal, oil and go to Panama. (President transfers to the Oregon and goes through canal.)

"March 10-12—Functions in canal zone and at Panama.

"March 12—The Oregon, Olympia, Yankton and Celtic proceed to anchorage off San Francisco.

"March 13—The president, on the New York, accompanied by the Texas and one division of destroyers, steams through the fleet and proceeds to San Diego. The fleet, flotilla and train steam to San Francisco. Foreign vessels proceed independently.

"March 24—The president, New York, Texas, one division of destroyers and the Pacific fleet will arrive at San Francisco. The president steams through the fleet.

No Parade in Canal.

"There can, of course, be no parade of the fleet as a whole through the canal. This would result in congestion in Colon and in the canal, with serious delay.

"The Oregon and Olympia will take part, to be in Colon prior to March 5, filled with coal and ready to proceed.

"Besides the twenty-one battleships of the Atlantic fleet, all vessels of the Atlantic torpedo boat flotilla, including the Birmingham, Dixie and Arethusa, will accompany the fleet to San Francisco. The reserve torpedo flotilla, Atlantic fleet, will not proceed to San Francisco. The auxiliaries accompanying the battleship fleet will be the Vestal, Celtic, Yankton, Solace, Sonoma, Ontario, Patapsco, Patuxent and the colliers Cyclops, Orion, Neptune, Jupiter and Vulcan."

Gladstone: Great Example of Temperance

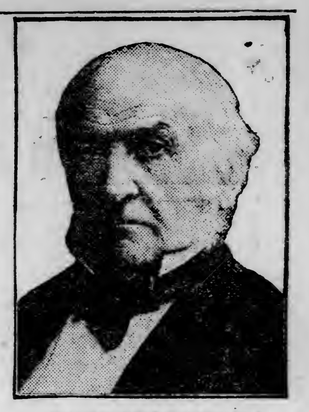

ENGLAND'S "GRAND OLD MAN" CHAMPIONS PERSONAL LIBERTY

No one will question the sincerity of the late Mr. Gladstone in the cause of temperance when in 1864 he wrote:

"How can I, who drink good wine and bitter beer all my life in a comfortable room among friends, coolly stand up and advice hard-working fellow creatures to take the pledge?"

Charles Dickens, the most popular writer of the English language, says: "There is no intrinsic harm in beer, far from it."

T. C. Flanagan, the famous Canadian athlete and trainer, says: "I have always maintained that beer is the best upbuilder and sustainer next to beefsteak that a man under a steady grind for long periods can take. There must be moderation, of course, in this as in other foods."

KIESELGUHR FILTER
LATEST TRIUMPH IN BREWING

Why is Fitger Natural Beer filtered instead of pasteurized?

Because pasteurization, the old method for "keeping" bottled beer, spoils the taste. Kieselguhr filtration, the new method used to "keep" Fitger Natural Beer, preserves the taste.

Heretofore people have always preferred draught beer to the pasteurized bottled article. Now they prefer Fitger Natural Beer in bottles to the finest draught.

They prefer it because Fitger Natural Beer has the full, delicious taste and aroma of the finest draught, because it is filtered brilliantly clear of the yeast cells which draught beer contains, because it comes in convenient, scientifically clean bottles sealed at the brewery and opened by themselves.

DULUTH TWIN PORTS ELECTRIC LINES SUPERIOR

DON'T COAST ACROSS A STREET CAR LINE EITHER ON SLEDS OR SKIS!

A STREET CAR CAN'T DODGE

We want to impress this fact upon the children of Duluth, and upon their mothers and fathers as well, at this season of the year.

With the first snowfall, coasting weather is here again, with all its pleasures, and also with its many dangers. Every year brings its toll of accidents, and sometimes fatalities, due to coasting. We want to eliminate that list this year, if it can be done, and it can be if children and their parents will give us their co-operation.

Coasting across street car tracks is inviting a fatal accident. A street car CAN'T DODGE, and when a loaded bobsled comes skimming down an avenue a motorman has little or no warning no matter how careful he may be. The sled is under the fender almost before he can think what to do. Often after a snowfall the rails are slippery, adding to the difficulties of the motorman and making it impossible to stop the car within several times its length.

There is only one rule to follow:

There are countless hills in Duluth suitable for coasting, where the street cars do not run, and where the sport may be enjoyed in safety. We ask the parents of Duluth to see that their children use these hills and only these. It may save you the horror of having a mangled little body brought home to you some afternoon or evening. It may save you from having a child who will be a helpless cripple all his life. You owe it to your child to protect him from this danger. We owe it to the people of Duluth to issue this reminder, and to instruct our motormen to exercise every possible precaution. We have done this, but there is only one sure way to prevent accident, and that is to observe this rule, which is also a police regulation:

Don't Coast Across a Street Car Line Either on Sleds or Skis.

HEALTH TALKS

By William Brady, M.D.

Poisoning the School Children

IT was a chilly day. Worse still it was a damp day. The teacher was half past 40 and the clock was half past 2. The principal—well, perhaps he was innocent of any intentional harm to the children, but in this day of hygiene it is up to the principal to see that children under his supervision are not poisoned by their own excretions, no matter how old-fashioned and one-sided the teacher may be about it.

Well, the outdoor air was just fine—cool and moderately moist, and enough wind blew to make it bracing where still air might have been depressing. But inside the school room, how about it? The air there was simply rotten. We dislike to use the word, but no other will suffice. The air was so bad that it was almost impossible to remain in the room and look pleasant. Yet the teacher smiled and smiled, and even some of the poor little unfortunates there at her mercy tried bravely to smile.

Suddenly the physical culture instructor hove in sight on the street, approaching the school. • • • Teacher rushed and opened some windows—we don't understand exactly why • • • maybe the physical culture instructor was a bit cranky on the fresh air question. • • • Wish the school board would detail one physical culture crank for each school room presided over by an old-fashioned teacher.

Yes, yes, the school board employs medical inspectors and furnishes blanks for medical examinations—and the blanks say nary a word about sight or hearing—and the board even employs visiting nurses, all in the interest of the health of the school children. But what can doctors and nurses do when the board employs teachers who don't like fresh air unless it is artificially warmed to about 76 degs. and standing perfectly still?

Each His Own Bed: G. R. inquires whether it is proper for brothers and sisters, up to 12, to sleep together if the children are well brought up.

REPLY.

It doesn't matter how well they are brought up; each individual, child or adult, should sleep alone. Twin beds, at least, but separate rooms if possible.

Anemia Always Secondary: S. E. J. incloses a clipping about "eizenzucker" for anemia. She asks if we intended to say it was a suitable remedy for persons who are somewhat anemic.

REPLY.

Eizenzucker is saccharated or sweetened iron oxide. It is as suitable as any other remedy for anemia—but anemia is only a secondary symptom, and it is useless to take medicine for it unless you treat the underlying cause at the same time.

No Answer: Some letters begin like this: "Three weeks ago I wrote you, asking some questions, but have seen no answer in the paper. Please," etc.

REPLY.

To all such communications we may say that there are several reasons why certain letters cannot be answered. First, the subject may not be of general interest. Second, it may be unsuitable to publish in a newspaper. Third, it may be a request for diagnosis or a prescription. We try to reply to all inquiries when stamped, addressed envelope is furnished.

Bunions: I am nearly crippled with bunions on both feet. Have had them several years, getting steadily worse. One has a hollow center and is very painful. Please tell me if they can be cured.

REPLY.

Only by one method—operation. When bunions reach the stage you describe surgical removal of the diseased joints is necessary. It puts you off your feet for two weeks or longer, but when you get back on your feet you feel glad they are your feet once more.

• • •

Pin Worms: Kindly tell us in your column the cause and cure of pin worms. Is it a common ailment?

REPLY.

This subject was considered in detail in the Talk for Oct. 27, 1914.

Dr. Brady will answer questions pertaining to Health. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Brady will not prescribe for individual cases or make diagnoses. Address all letters to Dr. William Brady, care of The Herald.

STEALS OVERCOAT; BOY IS PAROLED

Court Is Lenient With Charles Unden Who Admits Guilt.

Charles Martin Unden, 19, was paroled under a 90-day work-farm sentence by District Judge Fesler yesterday afternoon when brought before the court for sentence. On Tuesday afternoon Unden appeared before the court and entered a plea of guilty to a charge of grand larceny in the second degree. He admitted the theft of a $60 overcoat from the Auditorium. The coat belonged to J. F. Reynolds of Minneapolis. The boy's father appeared in court yesterday and interceded in his behalf. The parole will depend upon the boy's conduct. If he breaks its conditions he will be taken to the work farm to serve his sentence without any preliminaries, the court informed him.

DECREE FOR RAILWAY.

Death Claim for $15,000 Against Great Northern Is Lost.

A district court jury late yesterday afternoon returned a verdict in favor of the Great Northern Railway company, defendant in a wrongful death action instituted by Attilio Castigliano, as administrator of the estate of Alfonso Capozzi, in which $15,000 was asked.

Capozzi, a member of a track repairing gang employed by the Great Northern in the Minnesota Transfer yards between St. Paul and Minneapolis, was struck and instantly killed by a fast-moving train. The evidence showed that the man stepped from one track to avoid a train headed for St. Paul and was struck by another train traveling in the opposite direction.

DECLARES SHE WAS VICTIM OF FRAUD

Mrs. Edin Says Property Values Were Misrepresented to Her.

Trial of an action in which Mrs. Christine Edin, a widow, alleges that she was the victim of fraud at the hands of James F. McNaughton in a real estate deal, was started before Judge Cant and a district court jury yesterday afternoon. Barbara Hallfrisch and Henry Hallfrisch are joint defendants with McNaughton in the action.

Mrs. Edin claims that McNaughton on Aug. 14, 1914, with intent to defraud her, represented to her that the Hallfrischs owned property worth $1,400 on which there was $800 indebtedness. She was the owner of two lots in Hazelwood addition, which McNaughton, she says, persuaded her to turn over to him for $600.

Instead of receiving a deed to the Hallfrisch property, as she supposed that she would receive, she was given an assignment of a contract of sale from the Hallfrischs to McNaughton. She denies that the property is worth $1,400 and asks the court to declare the transaction void.

OLD RED TROUSERS CLAIMED TO BE BEST.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Dunkirk, Jan. 1.—In defense of the old red trousers of the French soldiers' uniform, which the government now proposes to replace with a uniform of slate-gray, the French, troops assert that the red color, with the blue of the coat, is far less conspicuous against a background of autumn forest and field than a gray or khaki uniform. The red and blue soon grow dull, and when spattered with mud and ingrained with dust and grease, form a sort of natural "heather mixture," which is said to be as protective as anything else against ordinary French backgrounds in a French climate.

Khaki is only good after it has seen some use. It was originally adopted, the French soldiers point out, for use in a brilliant sunlight against yellow sands, for which it was eminently suited.

BOOKS ON WAR NOT WANTED BY WOUNDED.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Amsterdam, Jan. 1.—"What kind of books shall we send to the hospitals?" was the question dispatched by a Berlin charitable organization to the head of one of the German field hospital divisions.

The answer came back promptly: "Whatever you send, don't send war literature. The wounded like best of all a good love story. The young men, especially, are rather tired of hearing about the war. It is better for them, too, that they should have a rest from that sort of thing."

How to Cure a La Grippe Cough.

"Coughs that hang on" demand treatment. Stop and think! Reason and common sense tell you that it is folly to "grin and bear it." Those racking la grippe coughs that wrench the body and cause soreness and pains in the lungs yield more quickly to Foley's Honey and Tar than to any other treatment. Forty years' record of successes proves this. For coughs, colds, croup and other distressing ailments of throat, chest, lungs, larynx and bronchial tubes, you can find nothing that will compare with this reliable remedy. Sold everywhere.

CHISHOLM TO FURNISH JOBS

Village Council Will Provide Employment for Forty Married Men.

Call of Unemployed for Work Is Heeded By Village Lawmakers.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.) Frank G. Harris, chairman of the committee appointed to present to the council a resolution passed at a mass meeting of working men, appeared before the council at the meeting last night, accompanied by the committee and many working men out of employment. Mr. Harris read the resolution, which was printed recently in The Herald, asking the council to employ as many married men with families depending upon them for support as possible at sewer work or any other kind of work that could be done as well at this season of the year as at any other time.

President Austin spoke strongly in favor of giving the married men employment, and suggested that a storm sewer be built on Oak street and on the lake front. He advocated placing at least forty married men at work at once; that the first forty be given two weeks' work, and a second batch of married men be then put in the places of the first forty, each forty to alternate until the mines opened up. He also requested the papers to make it known that all married men should register their names with the village recorder, so that none should be left out of employment when their turns came. Mr. Austin also suggested that the men should not be compelled to wait until the end of each month for their pay, but that they should be paid at the end of the two weeks' work.

Forty to Get Work.

It was then decided by vote of the council to place forty married men at work immediately. Mr. Harris thanked the council on behalf of the committee and the working men of the mass meeting for its favorable consideration of the resolution, and assured the body that its action would relieve much distress among the wives and children of the working men of Chisholm.

Renewals of liquor licenses were granted to Elmer Swanson, Steve Gervais and Steve Zgonce. The transfer of the liquor license of T. B. Jones, recently of the Neally hotel, was held up pending investigation of financial matters.

All bills were passed for payment.

It was decided to defer placing the name of Miss Ellis, recently appointed assistant librarian by the library board, upon the payroll until the library board had been heard from.

The water, light, power and building commission was requested to furnish the recorder with a monthly account of the expenditures of the commission so that a more detailed report could be made to the village council.

Two File Claims.

Miss Mary Brooks, through her attorney, Alger R. Symee, made a claim against the village for $2,000 for injuries sustained through slipping on the sidewalk in front of the Sapero store, claiming that the sidewalk was kept in a dangerous condition. The claim was referred to the village attorney.

Mike Jerkovich also presented a claim through his attorney, Victor L. Power, for damages, the amount not stated, for injuries sustained through slipping on a neglected sidewalk. This claim was also referred to the village attorney.

The fire chief's report, previously reported in The Herald, was read and accepted.

The oath of Mrs. C. R. Woods, recently appointed a director of the municipal library, was accepted.

A cigarette license was granted to Lovro Cerevino, 194 Oak street.

The report of the state board of examiners on the condition of the books of the village during the term of Frank L. Austin, deputy recorder, was read and proving favorable, was received and filed.

CANADA FEELING EFFECTS OF WAR

Eveleth Physician, Just From Calgary, Brings Gloomy Story.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. J. V. Johnson has returned from a visit of three weeks with George Mulligan at Calgary, Sask. It was his first visit to that territory.

Dr. Johnson states that Canada is in a bad way commercially, as a result of the war. Calgary, where formerly houses could not be obtained, has 3,000 empty dwellings, while many of the wealthiest men are hard up. Many business houses are closed, few theaters are still operating and many business men face bankruptcy.

The third contingent of troops is now being assembled to send to training camps abroad. The third contingent is made up of a fine body of men, Dr. Johnson states, and in the ranks that he saw drilling at different points there were many who were quite evidently Yankees.

Loyal to Mother Country.

Canada is solidly with England in the war. "All we have we owe to England," they say, and will stand with England to the last. The attitude of the United States in the war is being closely watched by the Canadians, Dr. Johnson says.

Dr. Johnson states that the family of George Mulligan, who formerly lived here, is well with the exception of Mr. Mulligan. He was suffering from an abscess of the neck and Dr. Johnson remained for a week longer than he intended to assist in an operation.

VIRGINIA CLUB TO ELECT OFFICERS

M. A. MURPHY.

WILLIAM J. ARCHER.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Much interest attaches to the meeting of the Commercial club, to be held tonight when officers will be elected and there will be a general discussion of county divisions. Steps will be taken to arrange for sending a big delegation to St. Paul to work for county division. It is expected that at least 300 well known citizens will appeal to the legislature to divide St. Louis county.

Among those being mentioned for president of the club are: Former Mayor M. A. Murphy, Charles L. Eaton, William J. Archer, U. G. Halloway and J. R. Hall.

VILLAGE ALLOWS HALF OF ESTIMATE

Hibbing Makes Partial Payment on Its Proposed Water Works.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council has agreed to pay the Layne & Bowler company one-half of its estimate of $38,000 for work already done towards the completion of the water system, their contract for which was $400,000.

In order to get the check for $19,000 the company had to deposit a bond for the entire amount of the contract, which, providing the amount of water specified is not developed, will be void and the village under no financial obligations to the company.

Could Force Completion.

According to Mayor Power, technically the village could force the company to complete the contract before paying any money, but as the council will do all it can to help the contractors push the work ahead the estimate was recognized.

M. A. Morehouse, who is engineering the work, says that one of the wells has been completed. Drilling is still going on and it is expected that a large amount of water will be developed within a short time.

MAYOR CAN HELP DESERVING POOR

Virginia Council Appropriates $500 for Such Purposes.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—To enable the city during the present depression to more effectively aid deserving poor a resolution offered at the last meeting of the council authorizing the city clerk to draw an order in the sum of $500 payable to Mayor Michael Boylan, was adopted. This step was made necessary because the poor fund is insufficient to care for the city's poor.

The reports of the fire chief, chief of police, superintendent of the water and light commission, the municipal court, the city clerk and the inventory of the city's supply in the department compiled by the street commissioner were accepted.

The water and light commission reported the cost of several sewer extensions including that to the Mud Lake road.

I used Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, and was relieved in a day or two. In one month I was cured. This was six months ago and the trouble has never returned."—(Signed) Mrs. C. C. WHEAT SETS HIGH MARKS ON EXPORT SALES AT DULUTH

Heavy Business Is Put Through on Urgent Buying By Export Houses.

Flaxseed Scores Another Sharp Bulge With Crushers After Supplies.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 14.—The market was strong up to the close and new high marks were set today. May wheat closed 1¾c up at $1.40 and July 1½@1⅝c up at $1.39¾@1.39⅞. May durum closed 1½c up at $1.59 and July 1½c up at $1.57½.

Oats closed ¾c up at 50½c for on the track; rye 2½c up at $1.12½@1.13; barley 1c up at 61@71c, and corn unchanged at 67⅜c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ½c up at 59¼c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.34 and calls at $1.40½.

Five cargoes or around 1,750,000 bu of spring wheat have been sold for export on the Duluth market during the last forty-eight hours. It started yesterday with sales of two cargoes, and three more were disposed of up till the noon hour today. Exporters are still in the market, and it is thought that a further tonnage will be worked before the day is over. This development in the foreign demand for spring wheat has started up Eastern millers, and they were reported to be doing some climbing this morning. It is now estimated that all but a small lot of the wheat in elevators and afloat at Buffalo is now controlled by one Duluth house, and that with the foreign competition for it, millers will find difficulty in filling their needs, and may be compelled to pay substantially higher prices than those now ruling.

The present situation was foreshadowed by a Duluth operator several weeks ago. At a time when Eastern millers appeared to be holding back in expectation of picking up grain at a lower range later he said: "They will be tearing their insides out to buy this wheat before very long."

Buying from Chicago of Duluth May wheat was reported this morning, with Armour and another big operator associated in the trades.

Spring wheat set new high records on the crop today. The May option opened ½c up at $1.38⅝, and it advanced to the $1.40 mark up to the noon hour. Fair trading was also put through in the July future, which sold up 1⅝c to $1.40.

Trading in durum became comparatively quiet with spring wheat monopolizing attention, but the market in it was strong. The May option opened unchanged at $1.57½, and advanced ½c.

Current receipts even under the spur of the prevailing higher prices were light, amounting to only 21 cars against 44 last year. At Minneapolis marketings were liberal, following buying by millers, amounting to 455 cars against 257 last year.

Big Bulge in Flax.

Holders of flaxseed again had it all their own way in today's market. On continued urgent buying by crushers, while offerings were limited, the quotation in the seed was advanced 5c at the close. The opening was strong and the market continued so through the session, casing up ⅝c at the close. May wheat opened ⅜@ up at $1.82 and closed 5c up at $1.86¼ bid. Heavy buying also materialized at Winnipeg, the May future there closing 5⅜c up at $1.66¼.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Minneapolis cash markets were firmer, with thelower grades firming up. Choice top grades were scarce. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at 2@ 8¼c over May, and velvet chaff at 1½@2c under May. Flour reports still indicate moderate orders being booked. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from $1.35¼@1.46¾, and No. 2 northern at from $1.32¼@1.38¼.

* * *

A New York wire said: "I know of oats sold for export and at the highest prices on crop. A private Liverpool cable on corn says: Look for healthy demand, all depends on the LaPlata; American mixed on a parity. Parcel lots of hard winter in Liverpool sold this morning 2⅝c per bu better than yesterday."

* * *

The price of bread in London, England, has been raised to 7 pence or 14 cents a loaf, an advance of 3 cents since the beginning of the war.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "There was a firm undertone this morning with offerings light. Spot advanced and cargoes were firmly held. Strong Argentine markets and unfavorable weather there helped the advance. American winters sold at 4½d advance and LaPlata at 9d advance with the forecast for Argentine shipments light. Fears of damage in Argentina from the severe storm, and a belief in a growing scarcity in America is causing the firmness. The general demand, however, is not urgent and western ocean freights are easier.

"Corn was quieter with some pressure as a result of freer American offers and a forecast of larger Argentine shipments this week."

There has been a severe cyclone in Argentina and fears are entertained of extensive damage but it is impossible to calculate. Interior communications are broken. In the northern part of the province of Buenos Aires it is raining and harvesting is being hindered. The forecast is for general rain.

* * *

The situation in Austria is grave. Wheat is being hoarded and the official price as fixed makes it practically impossible to obtain the necessary supplies for current needs, and as a result many mills have closed."

* * *

On the urgent demand cash No. 1 northern wheat sold on the Duluth market today at 1c under the May price

In other words, about eight weeks' supply at 8,000,000 bu a week. The exports from both coasts, to last Saturday night, were 228,000,000 bu."

Chicago—An urgent demand for flour, both domestic and export.

* * *

Charles E. Lewis & Co. had the following closing letter from Chicago: "Prices today made a new high record on the crop. Cash and export demand continues unabated with prices paid a secondary consideration. Stocks of wheat in winter storage are being rapidly depleted. The Northwest has also closed a large business. Speculative interests were on both sides, some new buying coming into the market, while profit-taking was liberal at times. July wheat was under pressure, some selling on the theory that war will be over and that the increased acreage will assure a large crop. At the present rate of export demand our surplus will rapidly be absorbed, hence we can see nothing but higher prices."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Skyscraper Prices in Wheat Make Less Venturesome Dealers Cautious.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—Sky-scraper prices in the wheat market today made the less venturesome dealers cautious, and there was free selling to realize profits. On an early advance, quotations had risen to within 1⅛@¼c of the topmost pinnacle reached since the war began. Urgent demand from exporters continued, and so too did the difficulty of obtaining supplies from first hands. Besides, there were reports of big damage by tornadoes in Argentine. After opening ¼@¾c higher, prices hardened a trifle more and then receded to a little below last night's level.

Signs of rapidly decreasing stocks in all directions and of total exhaustion here and on the Pacific coast sent the market later to a new high war level. The close was unsettled at the same as last night to 2@2½c net advance.

Corn showed heaviness owing to large receipts. Wheat strength, though, exercised somewhat of a restraining influence. The opening, which was unchanged to ¼c down, was followed by a moderate decline all around.

Subsequently the market rallied owing to the extraordinary bulge that developed in wheat. The close was steady at the same as last night to a shade above.

Oats ruled easy in sympathy with corn. Changes were narrow, and trade rather scattering.

Lower prices for hogs weighed down provisions. Most of the business was of a general commission sort.

Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.40½@1.43⅞; No. 2 hard, $1.40½@1.43⅞.

Corn—No. 2 yellow, 70@71c; No. 3 yellow, 68½@69½c.

GOOD UPTURN IN COPPER METAL

Metal Sells at 14 Cents, Highest Price in Several Months.

Large sales of copper were reported at Boston today at 14 cents a pound, the highest price at which it has stood since early last summer. At the time of the war outbreak, its quotation stood nominally at 13 cents, but its actual market was about ½ cent under that figure.

Duluth investors in mining companies are largely interested in this latest development in the situation. It is said that if any stability is shown in the metal market, a number of mines now closed down awaiting a turn in it will resume shipping. These include North Butte, Shattuck and Butte Alex Scott.

Butte & Superior was the feature in today's market at Boston, selling up $1.50 to $41, and closing a shade off from that figure.

Alaska Gold closed 63 cents up at $28.50; Copper Range unchanged at $81; North Butte 32 cents up at $23.50; and Shattuck 50 cents up at $21 bid.

At New York, Amalgamated Copper closed 63 cents up at $55.50.

Referring to the copper mining situation, Thomas F. Cole in a wire from Butte, Mont., said: "I cannot see sufficient improvement in sight in the copper industry to justify an increase in output of mines, but this is an excellent opportunity to push development work, which we are doing in the North Butte and in our Arizona and Michigan mines. There is no present prospect of resumption of exploratory work in the Rainbow lode. Available funds are being used to complete payments on claims under option."

FLAX NEAR TOP FIGURE

Prohibitive Freights From Argentina Causes Rapid Increase.

The condition of the flax market, except as to prices, has not changed from what it was a week ago. The same reasons for the advance in prices exist, and the same interests are in the market. Freight rates from the Argentine are what rule the situation at present, and are likely to be the controlling factor for some time to come, unless the war embargo—in the way of risk—is likely to cease, and the most sanguine do not look for that. The rates are practically prohibitive, so that the seed from the South American republic is practically out of consideration.

The advance in the price of flax has been exactly—cash seed considered—12 cents in the last week, up to last night, and there is no indication of a check, for crushers are after it, and with the fear of the invasion from Argentina out of the way, it is likely to plow ahead for some time yet.

The market closed yesterday only 7¾ cents under the high point of the year, which was on July 8, five days before the war was declared. It was quoted that day at $1.88 a bushel, but on the following day dropped 14¾ cents in response to the rumors of war. Since then, until within the past two weeks, it has either been suffering from inertia or has been doing a toboggan stunt.

Many a trader is, these days, rehabilitating himself for what he lost when the slump came; but still a good many others are afraid to tackle the seed, fearing that something will happen.

Early Irregularity in Stock Market Gives Way to Firmness.

Moderate Reduction in Baltimore & Ohio Dividend Causes Rise.

New York, Jan. 14.—Speculative issues showed all of their recent uncertainty at the opening of today's stock market, United States Steel and Reading selling lower, while Union Pacific and Amalgamated Copper were fractionally higher. New York Central was strongest of all the railway issues, soon rising a point. Baltimore & Ohio, whose directors meet today to act on the dividend, held steady, despite the general belief that a lower rate of disbursement will be declared. United Railways Investment preferred added a point to yesterday's gain while the common yielded fractionally after opening at an advance.

Leading stocks continued to react during the morning, Steel selling at yesterday's low quotations. Other speculative favorites showed little disposition to move forward. Toward midday, however, improvement in Amalgamated, Smelting and some of the motor shares stiffened the list elsewhere. Baltimore & Ohio issues were the real features of the railway group with a gain of 1¾ for the common. Canadian Pacific made an initial rise, but fell back, presumably on weakness in "Soo" issues, the preferred falling five points to its minimum. United States Rubber, Goodrich and Western Union gained a point or more.

Bonds were steady.

Gains continued in low-priced specialties, but the list as a whole was sluggish. Trading in market leaders was light, but with an upward trend. Union Pacific advancing on moderate demand.

Early irregularity in the stock market gave way to firmness in the final dealings today. Much of the early rise was lost in the last hour under the lead of Baltimore & Ohio, whose directors were then in session. When it became known that the common dividend for the half year had been reduced only ½ per cent that stock, together with some more active issues, advanced vigorously to best prices of the day.

REPORT BY GRAND JURY

Federal Body Returns Nine Indictments—Seven Prisoners Sentenced.

The Federal grand jury, which has been in session at the Federal building since last Tuesday, returned a partial report today. Nine indictments were returned and seven sentences were meted out this afternoon by Judge Page Morris.

Frank Rojette, aged 15, who was indicted for robbing the mails at East Grand Forks, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to two years at the reformatory at Red Wing. Arthur Perestad, who was held as being implicated in the robbery, was given a lecture by the court and allowed to retain his liberty under $1,000 bond. The latter boy's father appeared in his behalf, and will take charge of the boy while he is under parole.

Martin Lechane, who was indicted for robbing box cars at Winona, was sentenced to two years at Ft. Leavenworth. The cars robbed were doing interstate business and for that reason came under Federal jurisdiction.

Leslie Baker, partner of Lechane, was given a sentence of six months in the county jail at Winona. Leniency in the latter's case because he had formerly had a good record and this was his first offense.

Joseph Fiedler, aged 19, who was indicted for breaking into the postoffice at MacGregor, Minn., was sentenced to pass eighteen months in the reformatory at Red Wing.

Adolph Grenier, indicted for selling liquor to Indians at Bemidji, was sentenced to sixty days' imprisonment in the Ottertail county jail at Fergus Falls and to a $100 fine.

M. L. Jampa, indicted for attempting to secure a pension under false pretenses, was given a sentence of six months in the Hennepin county jail.

Frank and Peter Ninkkanen, who were indicted on a charge of counterfeiting at Duluth, pleaded not guilty and will stand trial.

The grand jury, following its report, went into secret session again, and will sift another bunch of charges.

OBJECTS TO PAID COACH

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 14.—President John Grier Hibben of Princeton university, in his annual report presented to the board of trustees today, expressed the hope that paid coaches in athletics would soon disappear. Athletics are suffering from an over-organized system of coaching, he said, and he believed that more responsibility should be placed on team captains.

President Hibben in the report said: "Our athletics, not only in Princeton, but throughout the country, are suffering from an over-organized system of coaching. I hope that the time may soon come when the paid coach will disappear. He and his ever-increasing number of assistants, all of whose expenses prove a heavy drain upon the athletic treasurer and tend to keep up the gate receipts of intercollegiate contests at an abnormal figure, render intercollegiate sport an unduly expensive affair.

Captain Should Manage.

"Particularly in the game of football, the captain of the team should be the sole responsible person for the management of his men, devising and directing their play in practice games, so that in the critical situations of a great contest he and his team will rise to the occasion and win or lose with honor.

"It is quite absurd, when one comes to think of it, that the control of the team in all preliminary games should be in the hands of a body of men who are relegated to the side lines when the play is on. After all, it is an undergraduate affair and the game should be planned and played by undergraduates. If you place upon them the responsibility, they will respond to it, for it is certain that responsibility always provokes efficiency.

"If we release our undergraduates from the unnatural domination of their sports by graduate coaches we will simplify the whole athletic situation and liberate intercollegiate sport from the abnormal incubus of a superimposed system which tends to make puppets of the players."

URGES LEGISLATION FOR RURAL CREDITS

Houston Says Helpful Agencies Are Needed for Farmers.

Topeka, Kan., Jan. 14.—Secretary Houston of the department of agriculture took an optimistic view of the future of American agriculture in an address here today before the state board of agriculture, in which he strongly urged early enactment of rural credits legislation.

"More helpful agencies are operating on rural life today," declared Secretary Houston, "then ever before in the history of the nation. The American farmer need not fear the competition of the world. He will inevitably control the home market except for things which cannot be produced here, and will be called upon increasingly to supply the demands of foreign nations."

Declaring that he strongly favored both Federal and rural credits legislation, Secretary Houston said:

"I favor a Federal land mortgage banking system for long-time loans on amortization principle operating through private funds, and I favor legislation, especially by the states and if possible also by the Federal government, stimulating and encouraging personal co-operative credit unions.

"I do not favor intervention by the Federal government or the state to the extent of voting money out of the treasury or of using the credit of state or Federal government to support either system, which would mean in effect to take money contributed by all the people to lend to a particular class of the people. This notion runs counter to our fundamental governmental principles. Such aid or subsidy is neither necessary nor desirable."

CARLTON COUNTY'S NEW JAIL HAS BEEN FORMALLY ACCEPTED

UP-TO-DATE $30,000 STRUCTURE.

Carlton, Minn., Jan. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new $30,000 county jail which has been under course of construction since last spring has been formally accepted by the county board and approved by the state board of control.

The building is of red brick and located on the county property immediately north of the courthouse. The plans for the building were prepared by the state board of control architect and every appointment meets with the strictest requirements of this board. The jail is complete in every detail with separate wards for men, women and juveniles and a detention ward for the insane. A pressure tank in the courthouse provides running water throughout the building and all modern conveniences have been installed.

The sheriff's residence which occupies the north part of the building is handsomely finished and well arranged and is now occupied by Sheriff Harry W. McKinnon and his sister, Miss Ella McKinnon.

SOVEREIGN RIGHTS ONLY

State Has No Proprietary Interest in Ore Under Lakes.

Final Chapter in Famous Piece of Litigation Is Written.

The closing chapter to the history of a famous piece of litigation which has dragged in the courts since 1909 was written yesterday afternoon when final judgment was formally entered in the case of the state of Minnesota against Eliza Korrer and others. The action is known as the Longyear Lake case.

The action was begun in September, 1909, by Attorney General George T. Simpson on behalf of the state against the White Iron Lake Mining company, the Euclid Iron Mining company, Eliza Korrer and other fee owners of mineral bodies lying under Longyear lake, which covers about 150 acres on the outskirts of the village of Chisholm.

The state asked the court for an injunction restraining the defendants from interfering with public waters and removing ore from beneath Longyear lake near Chisholm. The state's claim was that it owned the ore in a proprietary capacity. The defendants claimed that the state's ownership of the bed of the lake was in its sovereign capacity, and that it had no proprietary or money interest, or interest which it could sell, in the ore. The state asked that the defendants be enjoined from interfering with the lake or removing any ore from under the lake, and be required to pay to the state for all ore which had been removed from the lake bed.

Stipulation Made.

A stipulation and order of court was made permitting the ore to be removed from below low water mark, and providing that it was finally determined that the defendants did not own the ore the state should be paid for it at the rate of 60 cents per ton.

The supreme court held that Longyear lake was a body of public water, and that the state had a right to enjoin the interference with the bed of the lake below low water mark, and reversed the judgment of the lower court upon that ground, although everything that had been done with reference to removing ore or interfering with the lake bed had been done under a stipulation and order in the case.

The right of the state to prevent interference with the lake if it was public water and capable of any substantial public use was at all times admitted by the defendants, so that the legal principle upon which the state obtained its reversal was never at any time in dispute, and this was not in any sense the important question in the case.

Only Question.

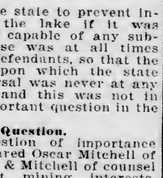

"The only question of importance in the case," declared Oscar Mitchell of Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell of counsel for the defendant mining interests, "was whether the state was the owner of the ore in a proprietary sense which would give it the right to mine it or make any use of it other than require it to remain in place to protect the lake.

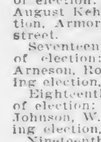

"Upon this point, the only one of consequence in the case, the decision of the lower court was upheld. The supreme court held that the state could not recover any amount for the ore that had been removed from below low water mark, and the final judgment of the court, entered under direction of the supreme court, is:

"'That the state of Minnesota is not entitled to recover any amount from any of the defendants herein on account of any ore mined or removed from any part of the premises described in the complaint herein, including the ore mined and removed from the bed of said Longyear lake below low water mark, and the state of Minnesota is not entitled to any accounting against any of the defendants herein on account of any such ore so mined and removed.'"
